'PLAINS WON GAME.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Scotch Plains, July 14—The local ball team, accompanied by a large number of rooters, journeyed to Roselle Saturday afternoon and took the crack team of the Roselle Field Club into camp by a score of 7 to 3.

The game after the second innings settled down to all that could be desired. Scotch Pains went to the bat first and before the Roselle team knew it had 5 runs tallied. In their second half two more were added. After this Tabor, who was in the box for the home team, settled down and Scotch Plains was retired in one-two-three order for the rest of the game. Roselle managed by timely batting, assisted by several errors, in ther half of the sixth, to tally two runs and another was added in their half of the ninth.

The game abonnded with double plays, heavy batting and base stealing. Brogan, of the Scotch Plains team, succeeded in making a daring steal from third to the plate during the first inning, and Pete also distinguished himself by making a home run drive to right field.

Saturday afternoon the team will meet the crack Xavier Deaf Mutes, of New York on the local diamond.

Following is the lineup and score by innings:

Horse Fell on Her.

In trying to raise one of her horses which had become cast in its stall, Miss Mary V. Stickle, of East Fifth street, met with an accident, yesterday morning which will confine her to her home for several weeks. She had partially gotten the animal to its feet when it fell on her pinning her down. Her left knee was parially dislocated and she was painfully bruised. Dr. Long was called and reset the injured limb.

Of What the Foreign Nations Are Talking

Political, Industrial and Commercial Notes Gathered in Many Lands.

THE long drawn out war in the south of Africa that has been just closed, has not entirely diverted attention upon the part of the English people, ever seeking new worlds to conquer, from their territory along the east coast of the same continent.

Probably in no other of the dark continent has civilization made such rapid strides after it once secured a permanent foothold as in Uganda and around the shores of Lake Victoria Nyanza. In the days of the explorations of Dr. Livingstone and Henry M. Stanley there was no darker spot in all Africa than this same east coast. Lake Victoria, Nyanza, was then almost inaccessible, and the great fertile, tropical region lying around it was practically closed to any advancement of civilizing influences.

But the route to Central Africa has been so changed by the building of the Uganda railway that it is now a very easy matter to reach the Victoria Nyanza. Most travelers proceed by the German mail boats from Marseilles to Zanzibar, or direct to Mombasa, or by the Messageries Maritimes vessels from Marseilles to Zanzibar, returning by coasting steamer to Mombasa. Passengers by P. and O. or British India steamers tranship at Aden, and proceed by a smaller boat direct to Mombasa, but it is to be hoped that before long direct communication by British steamers will be possible to a place that owes its existence solely to British work and money.

The passage from London to Mombasa, via Marseilles, occupies about 20 days. Communication from Bombay is through Aden by British India steamer, or direct by German steamer, the time occupied on the direct journey being about 12 days, or longer in bad weather. In prerailway days, the "jumping-off place" for travelers bound for the interior was Mombasa, and anything left behind there had to be done without for the rest of the trip. Much trouble was experienced in getting a caravan together. If any bullocks, camels, donkeys or horses were taken it was quite possible that none would survive the first 220 miles of the route. Desertions among the porters were common, and it was quite understood by many of them that getting an advance of three months' wages and disappearing after a fortnight's work paid very well, and seldom resulted in being caught. The rule has now been altered to one month's wages in advance, on engagement, and desertions are uncommon, the privations, dangers and discomforts of the road having disappeared. The Swahili porters being natives of a hot country and very susceptible to cold, were naturally adverse to crossing the high ranges between the coast and the lake, and it is not surprising that the naked Wakavirondo living near the lake should have the same objections to caravan work over the cold hill tops. Once over the hills, and in the land of plenty, the Swahili is quite happy and contented.

Anyone now wishing to travel up country, lands at Mombasa, and from the new Grand hotel can walk across to the Mombasa terminus and get into a first-class sleeping carriage, in which he can travel through in comfort to the lake shore.

At present there is only one steamer working on the lake, a small vessel 75 feet in length, the parts of which were made in Glasgow some 11 years ago and which, in 1900, were carried up to the lake and put together under the superintendence of the chief engineer of the railway. Two larger steamers, 175 feet in length, and properly fitted for passengers and cargo, are now being built to extend traffic over the lake. The trains will run alongside the steamers, and passengers will run from the coast to the west side of the lake in three and one-half days, on the completion of the permanent line.

DEEP CUTTING ON UGANDA RAILWAY.

There is a good club at Mombasa, and another at Nairobi, the railway headquarters, 320 miles from the coast, which any properly accredited traveler can use as an honorary member. Telegrams can be sent to all parts of the world from any station on the railway, and telephonic communication was established in 1900, by the railway telegraph staff, between railhead and Uganda headquarters, and Mengo, lately known as Kampala, the capital of the king of Uganda. The telegraph is now permanent as far as Port Florence; the telephone wire takes messages on to Uganda, and another telephone wire, also laid by the railway staff, connects Nakuro station and the Ravine Government station. Stores exist at all the larger stations, such as Voi, Makindu, Nakuro and Port Florence, while there is a large bazaar at Nairobi, and several European shops, at which most articles required can be got at fairly reasonable prices. The climate, after the first 200 miles are passed, is pleasant enough, and much resembles that of the lower hill stations of India.

As in the hills of India it is quite possible to get fever. The fact of its being a tropical country should not be overlooked by those desirous of making a home there, and those who may have to work in the less elevated parts of the railway route would have to reckon on a certain amount of ill health from exposure to the sun, bad water, fever, etc. The railway runs through the game reserve of East Africa from the Tsavo river for a distance of over 200 miles, the north boundary of the reserve being one mile north of the railway line and parallel to it, as far as the Stony Athi river; it then runs down the Athi river some 30 miles to the northward. Shooting is permitted inside a ten-mile circle from Kikuyu Fort.

Game of all descriptions can be often seen from the train as it passes through the country. In the Taru desert the tiny "paa" is frequently passed close to the line, hardly caring to turn its head to glance at the train. Herds of impala and Grant's gazelle often cross the line in front of the train, always clearing the track at a bound. Most wild animals appear to be afraid of treading between the rails, except the rhinoceros, whose deep imprints are often seen on the banks, although he never appears to have got so far as to attempt rooting up the rails, or to dispute the passage of a locomotive. From Voi to a short distance beyond Kibwezi (195 miles) there are few animals to be seen without hunting, but from there on to near Nairobi, vast herds of game can often be seen where the bush is open, or on the grassy plains.

Good fishing can be obtained in the Athi river, but followers of the gentle art would be well advised to be careful how they enter the water, crocodiles of large size and abnormal appetite being known to frequent it.

The actual construction of the railway line was done with coolie labor imported from India, the greatest number employed on the line being about 23,000. For surveys and other work beyond the actual construction, Swahili porters were used, and did excellent service. The Morendat cutting and viaduct on the Mau Escarpment give some idea of the heavier portions of the work.

The railway surveys were, during 1900, extended round the northern, or British, half of the Victoria Nyanza, and very large additions to our knowledge of the country made thereby. Two steel sectional boats were used by the surveyors employed on this work.

Several natural arches, the finest being the one illustrated, were found on the lake shores and its islands, a great number of which were visited and surveyed for the first time, the Sesse Group alone numbering about 90, including all its smaller islets. Ingira island from Nakaranga Point will be remembered by the readers of Sir H. M. Stanley's book, "Across the Dark Continent," as the spot where the great battles took place between the Waganda and the Wavuma in 1873.

The salt fields of Kisingere, in Kavirondo, and about 50 miles from Port Florence, is a well-known place to which canoes constantly come from all around the lake to buy salt of a poor description that is obtained by the natives from the earth taken from the shallow excavations.

Ottoman Railroads.

According to an imperial Turkish irade recently issued, the Haifa-Damascus railroad concession, including the five or six miles already constructed, will be bought back from the English company, in whose hands it is at present, by the Turkish government, for the sum of $682,000. It is intended to make Haifa the port of arrival for pilgrims arriving by ship across the Mediterranean, and the Haifa-Damascus railroad is to be connected with the proposed Damascus-Mecca railroad now being built, at Irbid. Dr. Schumacher (the United States consular agent), the engineer in charge of the Haifa-Damascus railroad operations, has not as yet received instructions to hand the property over to the Turkish government, but the latter's representative (Hamdy Pacha) has arrived on the ground with his staff, and a transfer may be looked for any day on payment of the money. It is intended to enlarge the harbor facilities at Haifa. Already, Beirut has a protected harbor.

In the bay of Alexandria, the Anatolian Railroad company (German) is planning a modern harbor in connection with the Bagdad railway. According to a statement in a late issue of the Moniteur Oriental, the popular subscription for the Damascus-Mecca railroad now amounts to about $1,640,000.

The Forests of Prussia.

Of the 86,151,083.3 acres of land in Prussia, 20,435,499.8 acres, or 23.7 per cent., are occupied by forests and orchards. More than one-third of the area of Hessen-Nassau, Hohenzollern and Brandenburg is covered with forests. In Schleswig-Holstein, on the other hand, forests occupy less than one-fifteenth of the area of the province.

The ownership of the forests is as follows:

Ownership.	Area. Acres.	Per cent.
State property	6,319,672	30.5
Crown property	178,960.8	.8
Forests partly owned by the state	2,865.2	.01
Communal property	2,727,109.7	13.3
Forests owned by institutions	242,089	1.2
Forests owned by companies	584,216.2	2.8
Private property	10,381,156.5	50.8

The areas occupied by deciduous trees and trees of the pine family are, respectively, 6,317,446 acres, or 30.9 per cent., and 14,118,053.8 acres, or 69.1 per cent.

Of the entire area of the kingdom, 7.3 per cent. is occupied by forests of deciduous trees and 16.4 per cent. by those of the pine family.

These forests yielded in wood, in the year 1900, 861,050,775 cubic feet, in addition to 2,709,030 cubic feet of oak tanning bark, 3,408,052 cubic feet of oziers, and 1,809,729 cubic feet of other wood, a total of 868,977,586 cubic feet, or 105.9 cubic feet per 2.471 acres of the entire forest area.

Russian Agriculture Commission.

The Russian government has appointed a commission to investigate agricultural methods and the condition of the peasantry in Russia, with a view to improving both. For some years past the efforts of the minister of finance have been directed to the development of manufacturing industries; but the results, owing to lack of experience in management as well as to the dearth of skilled labor, have failed to meet expectations. The present stringency in the money market and the depression in all classes of business, combined with continued failure of crops in many provinces and the resulting famine, have induced Russian authorities to turn their attention to the study of means for improving and developing the millions of acres of land upon which subsist 90 per cent. of the 128,000,000 people of the empire. The powers accorded the commission are the widest, and it is authorized to present proposals for bettering agriculture and agricultural labor in every way possible.

The New Woman At Work

SHE goes on her way rejoicing, gain and victory all along the line! Men, poor dears, do not yet know what is just best for themselves, but they are giving legal and civil rights to woman as fast as they learn that these are as good for her as for themselves. And I must say they are on the whole doing well. The Woman's Journal lately brought out its good old dove with the olive branch to celebrate the enactment of the law giving Massachusetts mothers equal guardianship with fathers over their children. This is a victory that strikes at the very heart of the sex tyranny, and men passed the law. We thank them; women everywhere do. But Massachusetts mothers, mothers everywhere, do you know through whose persistent work for nearly a generation this just and humane law was passed? Well, it was the woman suffragists. It was not the antisuffrage women. The antisuffrage women never yet had a law passed that benefited their sex, and they never will do so. The Woman's Journal remarks also that it ought to have a whole flock of doves to commemorate the splendid triumph of women in Australia. That triumph is the greatest that the feminine sex has ever achieved. The women of all Australia, throughout its six provinces of New South Wales, Tasmania, Victoria and East, South and West Australia, now have full and complete suffrage, precisely the same as men, and are equally eligible to office. Thus Australia has advanced several degrees of civilization beyond the United States, with all its vaunted liberty and equality. Australia, too, is under a hereditary monarchical government, but it is this day freer than the greatest republic upon earth, and its people in general are better off financially. I really feel tempted to break away and go to Australia to live.

Miss Ida Murphy, who started in life as a trained nurse, has invented a churn that will bring first class butter in forty-five seconds. An attachment also of Miss Murphy's invention can be applied to it, converting it into an egg beater or an ice cream freezer at pleasure. Miss Murphy is an emancipator of woman in the country.

Several American women are really skilled animal painters. One, Miss Matilda Lotz, living in Paris, makes pictures of lions, horses, camels and cattle. She is called the American Rosa Bonheur. Mrs. Georgia Timken Fry, who has recently returned to America after being in Europe eight years and who will probably settle in New York city, has made a specialty of sheep, with distinguished success. Miss Elizabeth Strong, who obtained her first art instruction in San Francisco, is also a promising young animal painter. She tried to establish herself in her native land, but failed to get encouragement. Then she went back to Paris, where her student life was passed after leaving San Francisco, and there she resides. Her specialty is dogs and children. She tried dogs alone at first, but could not make a "go" of them. Then she added children and is now very successful.

The highest examination rating ever given to an applicant for license to practice pharmacy in New York state was received by a woman, Mrs. Marietta Harmon of Syracuse. She has a drugstore of her own. How about that gray matter?

According to British census returns, nearly a third of all the women in England must remain husbandless. Miss Collett congratulates the empire on the possession of this "compact band of well instructed, healthy minded, vigorous, permanent spinsters." But unfortunately the spinsters by no means unanimously look at it in that congratulatory light.

A white male voter in Michigan who undertook to write his own will was so ignorant that he put down the word "indignant" when he meant indigent and thus left his property to establish a home for "indignant old women." The indignation came in when it was found that because of the intelligent white male voter's misspelling the will would not stand.

Minnesota has a woman, Dr. Adele S. Richardson, on its state board of medical examiners. Another woman physician, Lillian G. Bullock, is president of the Massachusetts Eclectic Medical society. The world has moved since the men medical students of forty years ago mobbed, hissed and insulted the noble young women who were trying to become physicians.

The men public school superintendents in New York city have recommended that the board of education make the ruling that women teachers shall not be eligible to promotion, advancement of any sort or even to take the examination for high school teachers after they are forty years old, but that men—"we men"—shall be eligible till the age of fifty. A lively editor has recently written an article trying to prove that the hog is not yet the national emblem of the United States, but this looks as if he were, doesn't it?

ELIZA ARCHARD CONNER.

A KNAVE . . . OF CONSCIENCE.

By Francis Lynde.

In a week's time Mr. Thomas Griffin had learned more about Wahaska than the ordinary summer visitor would have learned in a year's residence. He knew Jasper Grierson and his ambitions, and Jasper Grierson's daughter and hers. He knew all about the social teapot tempest, and could identify the adherents of each of the factions. He knew that Andrew Galbraith was a guest at the summer hotel on the point, and was soon able to draw his own conclusions touching the growing intimacy between Grierson and the New Orleans banker. The drawing of these conclusions cost the detective a trip to the pine-land region in the northern part of the state, and the information he sought and obtained had no bearing upon the bank robbery. Jasper Grierson held the reversion of some worthless pine land which he was trying to sell Andrew Galbraith; that was all.

But in another field Griffin sent his arrows of investigation nearer the target, and that without knowing it. He came to know all about the Raymers, the iron works company, and the reorganization of the same with one Kenneth Griswold for a partner. Probing a bit deeper into this, more to account for the oddity of a man like Griswold interesting himself in a business affair than for any other reason, the detective unearthed a thing which the prime movers in it were not bruiting abroad. Jasper Grierson had all but succeeded in smashing young Raymer's enterprise; would have smashed it but for Griswold's intervention. That was fact the first. And fact the second was this: That Jasper Grierson repulsed was not Jasper Grierson defeated. Having failed to smash Raymer, he was now trying to obliterate both Raymer and the new partner. To this end he was fashioning two weapons. The railway and all other work controlled by Grierson and those to whom he dictated was withdrawn from the reorganized iron works company. That was the weapon legal; the other was more deadly. In the height of the Raymer-Griswold prosperity a deputation of workingmen had waited upon the partners with demands which could not be met. And the alternative was a strike.

CHAPTER XXI.

As Raymer had foretold Griswold's initial visit to the Grierson mansion on the lake's edge was but the beginning of an acquaintance which soon ripened into intimacy with the daughter of the house. For one thing, Griswold was always sure of his welcome at Mereside; and, for another, he was beginning to find the atmosphere of Margery's sitting-room the one environment where the remaking of the book could go on, and that Margery herself was the one person with whom he could discuss it with helpful freedom.

Do what he might he could not bring himself to the point of taking Charlotte into his confidence in the matter of the book. Though it was wholly undefined in his own mind, the barrier was the one which had been builded on the voyage up the river. The more he saw of Charlotte, and the more his love for her grew and throve, the less possible it became to look forward to a day when he might hope to tell her all with a fair probability of winning her approval of the thing he had done.

But with Margery no such difficulty existed. Her sympathy was always quick and intuitive, and she seemed to have the gift of saying instinctively the thing he craved most; the thing he might have suggested if she were not always beforehand with him. He was not so besotted as to believe that he had discovered in her that other half of the artist's always incomplete circle; the one person in the world who can fully understand him. On the contrary, in his soberer moments he thought he knew her for what she was. But these disillusions grew less frequent as visits to Mereside became more frequent, and in time they began to disappear altogether. For Mistress Margery was wise in her generation, knowing many things well and the heart of a man better than any.

But about the book, which was to settle once for all the vexed question of the rights of man, they did not always agree. As first conceived, the story was merely a vehicle loaded to overflowing with the socialistic protests of its author. But in the rewriting a new plot had been substituted; suggested, nay, even outlined, by Mistress Margery herself; and on the keel thus laid the venture built itself into something more like a novel and less like a preachment. Griswold saw the growth of it under his hand; saw the far-reaching possibilities of it; saw also that it was departing, despite his most strenuous efforts, from the course which he had pricked out on the chart of the former endeavor. In other words, the new book bade fair to grow into something which the publishers might accept and the public might buy and read, but of the rights of man there was coming to be less and less as the work progressed.

Being first of all an enthusiast, Griswold dug deeply for the cause of all this, and thought he found it in his new relation as an employer of labor. At first he had told himself that he would be a silent partner in the iron works, leaving all the activities to the practical Raymer; but he soon found this blankly impossible. And with personal interest and the shifting point of view came a change, gradual and almost insensible, in his attitude toward mankind in general and toward the workers in particular. So it came about that while he was writing a book, designed to overturn the existing social order, he was drifting slowly but surely into the ranks of the oppressors.

The first open confession of this change of creed came when the threat of a strike rose storm-cloud like on the iron works horizon. Raymer was for temporizing with the men, and for yielding something if need be; but this Griswold fought stoutly, growing more stubborn as the threatening cloud increased in size. If the men could not see for themselves what was for their best interests, they must be made to see.

But in reality it was Margery who was responsible for the major changes in the book. Caring nothing at all for the ethical question involved, she cared a great deal for the success of the author, and she was shrewd enough to arrive quickly at a double conclusion; that Griswold was well able to write a successful book; and that, left to himself, he would assuredly spoil it with his theories. So she labored faithfully to keep him in a broader road and not without a goodly measure of success.

"But, Margery,"—(they were well past the "Mr." and "Miss" by this time)—"I can't do that," he said one morning when they had been reworking the plot through one of the cozy sitting-room talks.

"Don't you see it begs the entire question of labor and capital?"

"I see that you can't help doing it unless you are deliberately false to your art," retorted the literary oracle.

"You have put these people on the stage, giving them certain characters, and they must go on and do the things that are consistent."

"Not if the consistent things are going to make the entire picture out of drawing."

She laughed. "How impossible a man can be," she rejoined, sweetly. "How many times must we go back to the original question. You must choose between saying it all and having nobody read it and saying a little and having everybody read it. I'm not saying anything against your theory—it's lovely. But unless you make it a good story, first, last and all the time, you will never get a hearing."

"Then I may as well give it up," Griswold confessed. "If I may not preach a little I have no excuse for saying anything at all."

"Oh, you may preach a little. But in this particular instance you must make Rathbone stern and inflexible, cruel, if need be. You needn't be afraid of its effect upon the girl. She will condone anything he may have to do—it's a way girls have."

Domestic Bliss.

"Now, where's my hat, I wonder?" said the business end of the combination, as he was about to start downtown.

"I'm sure I don't know, dear," replied the bride of six months.

"Well, you ought to know," said the party of the first part. "It isn't where I left it, and you know I have a place for everything—or, at least, you ought to know it by this time."

"Yes," answered the woman of it, with a soft pedal sigh. "I know you have a place for your late hours, but I don't know its location."—Chicago Daily News.

The Forces of Nature.

"Heat," remarked the scientist, "is a powerful force."

"Aye," replied the actor, thoughtfully. "I've known a woman to make it so warm for her husband that, forsooth, he had to pass out many shekels and straightway hustle for more. 'Tis a great force when properly applied."

"And so is frost," said the scientist.

"Aye," returned the actor, feelingly. "Ere this a frost has made me walk many miles along the pathway of the iron steed."—Brooklyn Eagle.

The Lease Was Signed.

"But the parlor is so awfully small," said the prospective tenant."

"Yes, and the parlors in the adjoining houses are just as small," replied the agent. That's the beauty of it."

"That's not much comfort for me."

"O! yes. You see, neither of your neighbors have room for a piano."—Philadelphia Press.

Another Good Way.

Chimmy—Wot's de best way to teach a girl to swim?

Johnny—Well, yer want to take her gently by de hand, lead her gently down to de water, put yer arm gently 'round her waist, and—

"Oh, cut it out! It's me sister!"

"Oh! Push her off de dock!"—Puck.

The Fun of It.

"If there was as much pleasure in catching fish as there is in lying about it," remarked the Observer of Events and Things, "I believe really there would be more fish caught."—Yonkers Statesman.

Speed of Carrier Pigeons.

A carrier pigeon's speed in calm weather, is 1,200 yards a minute. With a brisk wind prevailing, and blowing in the direction of its flight, a pigeon has been known to make 1,900 yards a minute.

BUILDS HIS OWN COFFIN.

Octogenarian Says He Wants to Be Sure That He will Rest in a Comfortable Box.

Richard B. Light, of Dunkirk, N. Y., who will be 88 years old next July, has for several months been planning and building his coffin, not, however, on account of any presentiment of approaching death, but merely because he has taken a fancy to have it exactly as he wished, and to have it made by his own hands.

The coffin is an oblong box made of white pine of a very fine quality. The sides are 1¼ inches thick. The bottom board is of another kind of pine, not being easily penetrated by water. A false bottom of matched pine boards is placed inside so as to leave a space of 1½ inches between it and the real bottom. The sides are lined with thin pine boards a quarter of an inch thick in a manner that leaves the inside opening for the body shaped like the old-fashioned diamond form of coffin.

At the head is a wooden frame which will support a sling of strong cloth for a head rest. This sling and a little black cloth to cover the wooden part of the head rest will be the only pieces of cloth used, as the owner and builder of this structure, destined to be his last house, does not intend to have any draping of silk or satin, or any other sort of cloth inside or outside of it. The inside is painted a soft shade of drab. The outside is stained to appear like black walnut. The cover is a single thick board, and will have no opening in it for glass or any other purpose. There are six handles of bronze.

To show what an exact fit he had secured, Mr. Light mounted a chair which stood beside the coffin the other day, stepped into it with the agility of a boy, and lay down in the position in which he expects to lie in his last sleep. Looking up smilingly, he asked: "Isn't that all right?" Then he added: "You see, I cannot be easily shaken out of place in this."

Mr. Light, who has lived in Dunkirk since 1853, was born in England. He was once armorer on the British warship Cornwallis. He has invented many useful tools for which he has secured patents.

MONKEY WITH A GUN.

Entertains Crowd on the Street and Incidentally Puts Out Eye of Ohio Inventor.

F. S. Leider, of Columbus, well known in Ohio as an inventor, complained to the police the other morning that the sight of one of his eyes was destroyed by a monkey. The accident was a most remarkable one.

Tuesday evening Mr. Leider was standing in the edge of a crowd which surrounded an Italian organ grinder, who had a performing monkey which was amusing the crowd. The monkey danced and gave an exhibition of sword drilling. The performance concluded by the monkey firing a gun, which was loaded with a light wad.

When the gun was fired the wad struck Mr. Leider in the eye. The injury caused great pain, and Mr. Leider states that his physician has informed him that the sight was destroyed. He wants the Italian located and the monkey suppressed.

Here's an Honest Lawyer.

There is one honest lawyer in St. Louis. He recently announced to a client who had been injured in a railroad accident that the company had agreed to give the injured man $5,000 in settlement of the case. "How much of it do I get?" asked the client. "All of it," replied the lawyer, "and you can pay me just what you like. I spent only about five minutes in talking the matter over with the officers." The client was so overcome with emotion that he almost dropped dead from heart disease.

MGR. JOHN N. FARLEY.

Protestant Clergyman Thinks Present Coadjutor Should Be Made Archbishop of New York.

Those who know the history and general lines of the work of Mgr. John N. Farley feel an especial gratification that he has been so constantly mentioned as the probable successor to Archbishop Corrigan in the diocese of New York.

Mgr. Farley, writes a Protestant clergyman in the New York Herald, is not an American by birth, but almost wholly an American by education, and as private secretary for a long period to Cardinal McCloskey, created monseigneur in 1883 by Leo XIII. in view of his faithful services; for many years pastor of St. Gabriel's, administering that great ecclesiastical plant with its multitude of parishioners and host of school children with singular wisdom and executive ability; and, above all, bearing himself with that wise moderation and grace of action which have always characterized him, it would seem even to the Protestant mind that New York and its interest, so far as they are part of the care of the Roman Catholic church, would be in hands pre-eminently safe, and under direction singularly wise, should the choice for the archbishopric of the diocese of New York fall upon this painstaking and cultivated priest.

MGR. JOHN N. FARLEY.

As adviser of the late archbishop he knows the diocese. As parish priest he understands the people. As he is coadjutor bishop he is in the natural succession. If one ultra-Protestant may be allowed the expression of an opinion, it seems to the writer of this article that those things which as Protestants we most value and those things which Catholics most love would be well cared for by the elevation of Mgr. Farley to the archbishopric of the diocese of New York.

DUCHESS OF BUCCLEUCH.

She Does Not Approve One of King Edward's Associates and Plainly Tells Him So.

An incident which is causing considerable commotion in royal circles is the disagreement between King Edward and the duchess of Buccleuch, a member of the old-style, exclusive aristocracy, who has not countenanced the so-called "smart set." The king was to dine with the duke and duchess of Buccleuch and intimated his desire that a woman of his surrounding be invited.

DUCHESS OF BUCCLEUCH.
(Mistress of the Robes to the Queen of Great Britain.)

This is usually tantamount to a command, but the duchess of Buccleuch, nothing daunted, refused point-blank to ask the king's friend to make one of the dinner party. His majesty was furious and threatened to cancel his promise to dine with the Buccleuchs, whereat the duchess of Buccleuch retorted that she was willing to send her resignation as mistress of the robes to Queen Alexandra.

Later in the day the king thought better of it, informed the Buccleuchs that he accepted the exclusion of his favorite and forbade the duchess to resign.

Many members of the nobility, especially old country families, make no secret of their disapproval of various events in the king's social life.

Horned Rooster in Missouri.

A horned rooster delights the heart of J. A. Short, of Joplin, Mo. The horns are on each side of the head, where the ears should be, and it is supposed that the fowl hears through its horns. It is a remarkable fact that the rooster has no spurs on its legs.

Big Dock in Rotterdam.

The biggest excavated dock in the world is in course of construction in Rotterdam. Its area is 150 acres, with a depth of water of 14 feet. The dock will be subsequently dredged until the depth is 23 feet.

SPORTING NEWS

TENNIS.

In completing the semi-final at tennis for the Fourth of July cup, men's singles, on the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club courts Saturday afternoon, Duncan Bulkley, 3-6, handicap, defeated G. H. Taylor, 2-6 handicap, 3-6-, 6-1, 6-4. In the finals Bulkley, 3-6, handicap, defeated Frederick W. Goddard, scratch, 4-6, 4-6, 6-2, 6-0, 6-3. Goddard won the first two sets and his friends were predicting that he would win the other three. The matches attracted a number of enthusiasts and they were watched with considerable interest.

PERSONAL.

Caleb Dickinson, of Newark, spent Sunday with friends in Plainfield.

Charles L. Strong, of Park avenue, has returned from a few days' stay at Quincy, Mass.

Miss Lillian Sutton, of Liberty street, has returned from a visit with New York friends.

Geore Allen, of Pearl street, left last evening for Schenectady, N. Y., to be absent four months.

T. S. Armstrong, the druggist, has returned after spending a short time visiting his mother at Camden.

Jacob Burkhart, of Brooklyn, has returned home after a pleasant stay with Charles Meyer, Jr., of South Second street.

Max and Otto Hart, of Brooklyn, have been visiting the latter's brother-in-law, Charles F. Meyer, Sr., of South Second street.

—Keep in mind the excursion of Trinity Reformed church Sunday-school and Marconnier chapel to Asbury Park next Thursday. Everything points to a successful outing and as many as possible should arrange to enjoy this day's outing.

James R. Blair, Herbert C. McVoy, Percy McVoy, Ray McVoy, Charles Duvier and William Doud, of Plainfield, accompanied by Hazelwood Keller, George Wood and Mr. Linbarger, of New York, have gone to Green Lake, New Foundland, N. J., where they will camp out for a time.

Sprained His Ankle.

Henry Leifke, of the insurance and real estate firm of Leifke & Laing, of Park avenue, met with a slight but painful accident recently. He was descending the back steps at his home, when his feet slipped. His left foot came down with much force, resulting in a severe sprain, which causes him to walk lame.

Will Change His Charge.

Rev. M. S. Purdy, who has had charge of Marconnier chapel all winter, when he has completed the present year in September, will probably accept a call to a Reform church at Bogota, Bergen county, where he will preach every Sunday, as at Marconnier.

Peter E. See Property Sold.

The Peter E. See property, corner of Somerset street and Manning avenue, has been sold to Mayor N. B. Smalley and George F. Brown, of the borough. The purchase price was about $6,000, which makes it a very cheap property.

Another interesting event of the afternoon was the team match between Hillside and New Brunswick, although the latter was completely out of its class. The home team gave the visitors an overwhelming defeat, the score being 35 to 2. Thomas R. VanBoskerck was the only Hillside man beaten. He was 2 down. All of the others scored, with the exception of C. W. Abbott and he was even up on his opponet. The younger members of the team scored the most number of points, as the summary will show. E. L. Stevenson was the only man on the visiting team to score.

The summary of the team match is as follows:

BUILDING STOPPED.

Sigmund Frucht Had Plans Which Didn't Comply With Ordinance.

The work of erecting a building in the open space adjoining the building occupied by Miss Lincoln on Park avenue, is temporarily stopped by Sigmund Fruch, owing to the stringency of the building ordinance. There is a difference to be overcome in the kind of a roof and its position and Mr. Frucht claims it will cost him $150 more to build the roof according to the ordinance and he also claims that others have not adhered strictly to the ordinance in this respect.

Mrs. J. R. Blair and children, Madeline and Marion, of Duer street, left today for a month's visit with relatives at Troy, Saratoga and Lake George. Mrs. Blair's mother, Mrs. Thomas Doud, accompanies her.

HARD LUCK ALL HIS WAY

MANY MISHAPS FALLEN TO LOT OF CONTRACTOR BOOTH.

He Has Contract For Driving Wells For Dover's Proposed Water Supply System.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Dover, July 14—Contractor Booth, who has the contract for driving wells for Dover's proposed water supply system, has met with more mishaps than ordinarily fall to the lot of any one man. His bad luck began when he started his first well. After waiting several days for the casing to arrive, he started drilling without it, and when the casing came he had the hole down some fifteen feet or more to a bowlder, which kept turning as he drilled. This would not have happened if he had started with the casing. The result was that he had to abandon the hole and start another.

The second attempt was successful until he got down 100 feet, when he found that he could not drive the eight-inch casing any farther down, and from that point he continued with six-inch casing to a depth of 230 feet, making it a six-inch well instead of an eight-inch well, as called for by the contract. He then successfully drilled another well 210 feet deep, and began to think his luck had turned. A third well was then begun and then he struck bed rock at 210 feet without getting the expected flow of water. He lowered dynamite to the bottom and exploded it, hoping by this means to increase the flow. The result was contrary to his expectations, however, for instead of getting more water he got an unending flow of quicksand, which indicated that he had shattered his casing.

His next well was drilled without mishap until he got down seventy-five feet, when he had the bad luck to drop a part of his drill and was unable to recover it, necessitating its abandonment. His next well he abandoned when, after drilling down 156 feet, he drove his pipe through the "shoe" at the upper end.

His next well was down seventy feet when it had to be abandoned, the drill getting stuck and refusing to go deeper. Then he drilled another about 200 feet to the south of his last several attempts and managed to go down 200 feet without mishap, but without getting much water.

His last well he had to abandon when, at a depth of seventy feet, he struck a stratum of impenetrable sand and was unable to drill deeper. While all these misfortunes do not cost Dover anything, this town had bad luck itself when several years ago another contractor drilled a test well 228 feet deep at $4 a foot without getting water. As the contractor was, on account of some hitch, unable to get his money from the then "city" of Dover, it virtually ruined him. The claim was subsequently paid by the town of Dover to parties to whom the contractor had in the mean time assigned it.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

One day recently several members were congregated at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club looking at the scores being posted for the event of the day. Among those present was Rev. Dr. Richards, who goes to Brick Presbyterian church, New York, in the fall. A friend remarked to him that he supposed that next year he would be playing golf at VanCourtland Park, whereupon the doctor replied that he thought Hillside course would be good enough for him.

The bad spell of a New York bank clerk led to some trouble in opening a safe some months ago. It was the duty of the clerk to close the safe, which had a combination lock. One night he closed it as usual and on the following morning was too ill to go to the bank. He told a comrade the combination with which he closed it was the word "girl." At the bank this failed to open the safe and an appeal was made to the young man who replied that he spelled it "g-h-i-r-l."

Back to Pulpit.

Rev. L. R. Howard, of West Fifth street, occopied the pulpit of Hope Memorial chapel, last evening, for the first time in three weeks, having been absent on a vacation of that length in New York State.

New House.

Richard R. MacDonald, the janitor at the North Plainfield High School, broke ground today at the corner of Mountain and Watchung avenues for a new house. H. Hansen will do the carpenter work.

FAMILY HOTEL MAY BE BUILT

Number of Plainfield Citizens Interest in a Scheme to Build One Very Soon.

ARE CONSIDERING SITES.

Success of John D. Bailey at Park Avenue Hotel Despite Many Obstacles Leads to Belief That the Plan Will Succeed—May Build on Site of Park Ave. Hotel.

During the last two or three months a number of Plainfield citizens, who have the best interests of the city very near to their hearts, have been at work quietly seeking a site for a handsome new hotel for Plainfield. The successful management of the Park Avenue Hotel in this city has demonstrated to these men, as well as to many others, that the operation of a larger family hotel in this city would be profitable to the promoters. The necessity of such an abode is well known, and has been for some time.

Plainfield is fairly well supplied with hotels for the accommodation of transient guests; but there has always been a lack of accommodation for our well-to-do citizens and their families, who for one reason or another wish to live at a hotel, either temporarily or permanently. John D. Bailey has evidently managed the Park Avenue Hotel in such a manner as to fill the requirements of a family hotel so far as it lay in his power to do so. This hostelry was built many years ago, however, and it can never be made a modern house. During the last two years it has been filled all the time, notwithstanding the many drawbacks which Mr. Bailey has encountered.

The men concerned in the new hotel proposition have secured prices and information on several available sites, and it is not unlikely that a meeting will be called to consider the matter of building at no distant date. It is even possible that the Park Avenue Hotel will be abolished and a new structure placed upon that site.

It is proposed to erect a handsome brick structure with about one hundred sleeping rooms arranged in large and small suites for family accommodation, and supplied with every possible convenience. Such a structure would cost about $100,000, and could be made ready for occupancy within a year.

Aside from their endeavor to provide what is most assuredly a growing necessity for Plainfield, the promoters of this new enterprise feel certain that they can receive ample remuneration for their investment. The fact that the one hotel of this character in the city has been overcrowded for over two years, seems to indicate that a modern structure of about twice the size would be filled rapidly. Those interested in the matter say that the investment would pay at least six per cent. per annum, and possibly very much more.

No plans for the new structure have yet been drawn, as the company has still to be formed, and the site settled upon. There seems to be no doubt, however, that the project will be accomplished ultimately with profit to those involved, and certainly for the betterment of this community.

FOR THE SOLDIER.

Reception Given to Charles Gregory at Which His Friends Gathered.

In honor of his son, Charles Gregory, who lately returned after three years' service in the Philippines, John Gregory, of West Fourth street, entertained a party of friends at his home, last evening. The usual social features pased the evening pleasantly which concluded with a collation Before the guests departed the returned soldier presented each of his friends with a little memento of the islands in which he has been doing service.

Quarantine Removed From Small-Pox Patients at Hilltop.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, July 15—The Township Committee of Bridgewater will remove the quarantine from the home of Arthur Wahl, at Hilltop, this week, and the smallpox patients will be given their liberty. Mr. Wahl and his two children have recovered from the dread disease, and the committee has watched the patients so carefully that the smallpox had no chance to spread. Now the house and furniture will be thoroughly fumigated. The entire cost to the township will be only about $125.

OFF FOR CAMP WAWAYANDA

BOYS' SECRETARY ROBBIE AND THIRTEEN BOYS LEFT THIS MORNING.

They Will Spend Two Weeks at the Y. M. C. A. Camp in Orange County, New York.

Kenneth Robbie, the newly appointed boy's secretary of the Y. M. C. A., accompanied by thirteen members of the association, left this morning on the 7:35 train for Camp Wawayanda, Orange county, New York, where a two weeks' vacation will be spent. The boys who went on the outing were Ernest Jackson, George M. Rittenhouse, Jr., Arthur VanArsdale, Malcolm VanArsdale, George E. Kenney, Robert S. Hamilton, William L. Heath, Frederick McClintock, Byron McClintock, Carl A. Steiner, Jerry L. Manning, F. C. Emmons and William Burtis.

Camp Wawayanda has been open since July 1, and a new group of boys has taken possession each fortnight. Accommodation is afforded for seventy-five, and when the section of which the Plainfield contingent is a part will have completed two weeks the camp will close for the season. A paper has been published weekly by the boys called the "Wawayanda Whirlwind" a breezy and interesting sheet, redolent of camp pranks.

A MID-SUMMER HOP GIVEN

SOCIAL EVENT OF SUMMER SEASON AT THE PARK AVENUE HOTEL.

Orchestra Was a Little Delayed, But the Affair Was a Great Success Notwithstanding.

The mid-summer hop at the Park Avenue Hotel was given last evening with Mrs. John H. Bailey, Mrs. G. Harry Squires, Mrs. H. L. Stathoff and Mrs. John H. MacManus as patronesses.

The orchestral instruments arrived on time, but the performers were much delayed. This slight hitch in the arrangements did not interfere, however, in the slightest degree with the enjoyment of the evening by the following well known young people: Frank Allen, Laurens H. VanBuren, Mr. and Mrs. Jno. H. MacManus, Miss Helen MacManus, Miss Edith Brower, Mrs. Addison Wood, Mrs. W. Mason, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Barrett, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Webb, Ralph Bloomer, Miss Sadie Stimson, Miss Louise Mundele, Mr. and Mrs. Dr. Iler, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Stathoff, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Cameron, J. Harry Stathoff, Miss Elizabeth Somerville, Mrs. L. Somerville, Mrs. Wm. Clifton Todd, Miss Carolyn Kampman, Miss Marie Kampman, Douglass Murphy, Hugh Clay, Hugh Pierce, Mrs. Pierce, Eugene O'Connor, Lester O'Connor, Dr. Chas. G. Davis, Miss Helen Davis, Miss Anna Davis, Harold Davis, Jefferson Davis, Miss Angela Brady, Miss Wycoff, Mrs. Brady, Mr. and Mrs. Roger F. Murray, Miss Leila Howard, Homer Smith, Harold Chandor, Miss Perkins.

Before the refreshments were served, and they were most alluring, William Bailey obliged those present by responding to repeated demands for a flute obligato from "The Mid-Summer's Night Dream."

Sang Scotch Songs.

Following a meeting of the Thistle Club, held last evening at the home of Wm. Wilson, of East Fourth street, the members were entertained in a most enjoyable manner. In addition to instrumental selections, a pleasant feature was the singing of Scotch songs in which all joined heartily. Refreshments were served before the affair terminated.

WHAT LED TO START OF THE BABY CAMP

Mrs. F. G. Mead Told of the Work of the City Union of King's Daughters.

GROWTH OF THE CAMP.

UNION OF KING'S DAUGHTERS CIRCLES WAS THE FIRST OF ITS KIND.

Mrs. Mead Spoke at Christian Endeavor Meeting Held at Trinity Reformed Church Last Evening—Informal Talk Followed.

At the Christian Endeavor meeting in Trinity Reformed church, last evening, Mrs. Frederick G. Mead, of East Front street, who is greatly interested in the City Union of King's Daughters, and especially so in the King's Daughters' baby camp on the mountain, spoke in a most interesting and instructive way. A good-sized audience was present and deeply appreciated the engaging discourse.

After touching on the work of the King's Daughters in general Mrs. Mead told of the organizing of the City Union of King's Daughters in Plainfield, embracing all of the various circles hitherto established, and brought out the interesting fact that this union was the first of its kind to be organized in the whole United States. The placing of a bed in Muhlenberg Hospital marked the inception of active charitable work by the organization. A trained nurse was afterwards procured to look after the deserving poor of the city and minister to them in their illness. The services of the nurse have always been in demand, and with the moral and financial support of the Daughters she has done a great work in caring for those who might otherwise have been neglected.

It was five years ago that the camp on the mountain was inaugurated, but in the second season of its existence it was destroyed by fire. The camp was then rebuilt on the present site, and with the erection of the addition which has just been completed last week, it is now possible to keep the babies on the mountain night and day, without reverting to the former method of bringing them to the city in the evening and having them brought to the mountain again in the morning.

While the King's Daughter's regular nurse is engaged in looking after the tots on the mountain, Mrs. Mead announced that the services of a second nurse had been secured to perform the work of ministering to the poor of the city, as necessities arose, no matter to what denomination they might belong, whether they were colored or white.

After the address there was an informal talk over matters relating to the camp, in which Mrs. F. S. Martin, of Hillside avenue, answered a number of questions and related some touching incidents that came under her notice. It was brought out that yesterday Henry DeMott, of Somerset street, who has the contract to take the babies and their mothers to the camp for the trolley terminus, made a presentation to the institution of 100 pounds of ice, and that recently the King's Daughters Union had provided the police department of the city with an emergency box for infants.

A collection was taken up netting the sum of $12 which will be equally divided between the three camps at Netherwood, Westfield, and on the mountain. During the evening Miss Minnie Williams sang most acceptably a solo, "Keep My Savior Near My Side."

Last evening for the first time, the babies who have been during the day enjoying the healthful surroundings on the mountain were retained at the camp all night.

CHURCH IS SAVED.

Pastor and Deacon Raised Necessary Money to Prevent Sale of Calvary Baptist Church.

The Calvary Baptist church property is not to be sold. Rev. Scott Wallace, the pastor, and Deacon Spencer Conway succeeded in raising, through a Newark building and loan association, the necessary amount of money to liquidate the indebtedness. Yesterday William Newcorn received a check for over a thousand dollars to satisfy the claim of William Smith, the contractor. The pastor and deacon also gave a bond to the building and loan association to fulfil their further obligation. The association now holds the first mortgage.

DRAKE ADMITS THE ASSAULT

Declared in Justice Mattison's Court That He Struck Korman With His Fist.

NOW AWAITS RESULTS.

Korman Still Unconscious at Hospital—Several Who Saw the Affair Claim That a Club Was Used—Both Men Were of Good Reputation—Quarrel a Surprise.

The condition of Edward Korman, the young man who was assaulted on Harrison street Friday evening is slightly improved today. He is suffering from a concussion of the brain, and although still unconscious there is a noticeable change for the better in his condition. Dr. Pittis, his physician, thinks there is every chance for his recovery. His assailant, Drake, after a preliminary hearing before Justice Mattison yesterday, was committed to Somerville jail, there to await the action of the Grand Jury in case the man should die.

It now appears that previous to the striking of the felling blow there was no quarrel, as has been stated several times, and which is still an outside but apparently erroneous belief. When Drake was questioned by the court, yesterday afternoon, he admitted that he struck Korman in the face with his first, and stated that the young man fell backwards from the force of the blow. In brief, Drake admitted the assault but denied the intent.

It is said that several people witnessed the affair, including some who were sitting on their verandas, and it is claimed that the attack was made with a club. A heavy bludgeon is said to be in the possession of one man, which just fits into the depression in Korman's derby hat. Drake is known to have had a grudge against Korman and it is believed he laid in wait for him to give him a thrashing.

Up to this time Drake had never gotten into any trouble. Korman, too, was a man of exceptionally good reputation, very popular with all who knew him, and much sympathy is felt for him in his present condition.

PUBLISHED DENIAL.

E. R. Ackerman Writes to Deny the Story Published in New York Times About the Hospital.

To offset the erroneous article appearing recently in The New York Times about the plans for the new hospital in Plainfield, Ernest R. Ackerman, chairman of the finance committee for that institution, wrote a communication to The Times.

It was printed last Saturday on the editorial page and is as follows:

To the Editor of The New York Times:

My attention has been called to an article published in your edition of Saturday, July 5, on Page 7, and entitled "Hospital Board's Quandary," and, on behalf of the Board of Governors of the hospital, I wish to state that you have done serious injustice to the hospital by reason of the entirely unfounded statements contained in your news item.

No application for a loan of $10,000 was made to the City National Bank, nor has the bank ever refused any accommodation to the hospital. We have not withdrawn our account from that institution, and have no idea of doing so, and, while the demands upon us for greater accommodations would be gratified if the amount in hand for the building of the hospial was larger, yet, for what we have instructed the architects to do the entire amount is provided for, without necessitating the borrowing of a dollar.

Your statement being entirely wrong, on behalf of the board, I will thank you to give as much publicity to this letter as you did to the news item.

Ernest R. Ackerman,
Chairman of Finance Committee of Muhlenberg Hospital, Plainfield, N. J.

SERVICES IN MEMORY OF OCEAN'S VICTIMS

Funeral Held at Sandy Hook Residence of Captain T. N. Horn Yesterday Afternoon.

THE STORY OF ACCIDENT.

FATE OF MRS. HORN'S BODY WAS NOT LEARNED UNTIL SUNDAY.

Memorial Services Held Yesterday—Little Daughter Buried at Greenwood—Story of the Disaster and Finding of the Dead Bodies.

When the ocean-going tug McCaldin Brothers returned to her dock in South Brooklyn Sunday, a deep sea mystery was disclosed. Captain E. G. Cutler declared that on his outward trip to sea, Saturday morning, when twenty miles off the Highlands of Navesink he found the body of a young and richly dressed woman. From the minute description given this was undoubtedly the wife of Captain Tieman N. Horn, who was recently drowned near Sandy Hook, as the rings removed from her fingers bearing the initials "T. N. H. to M. R., November 28, 1894," gave unmistakable evidence as to the identity of the body.

The woman was about twenty years old, with handsome features, and had long, light-brown hair. Her clothing consisted of a white silk shirt-waist, heavy dark skirt, white underwear, black stockings and low shoes. The body had been so long in the water that it could not be taken on board. Captain Cutler ordered that it be weighted and buried at sea. The rings were returned to Captain Horn, who identified them.

So many of Captain Horn's friends in Plainfield desire to know the particulars of the terrible calamity which befell him that a brief account is herewith given.

Captain Horn with a party of eight, went for a sail on Sandy Hook Bay on Sunday, July 6. A light breeze was blowing and everything was going smoothly, when a sudden squall struck the sail, causing it to swing about, the boom striking several occupants of the boat. In an instant the boat was capsized and sunk and the occupants were in the water. A steam launch, being near by five persons were soon rescued, but just then the machinery failed to work and three were drowned, these being Mrs. Horn, the captain's wife, his daughter, Frances, and Miss McMahon, from Nyack.

Those saved were the post surgeon, Dr. Waterhouse, and wife, Miss Bessie Horn, and the two-year-old son of the captain, who were rescued by a hair's breadth. The captain himself was the last one rescued, more dead than alive with exhaustion from his efforts to save the rest. Two of the drowned were recovered the middle of last week, Frances, the four-year-old daughter of the captain, and Miss McMahon, of Nyack.

Mrs. Horn's body, as stated, was recovered Sunday, and was positively identified by the inscription on her wedding ring. She was buried at sea and not until yesterday did Captain Horn learn the particulars which appeared in a New York paper. The body of Miss McMahon was interred at Nyack.

Yesterday a memorial service for the wife and a funeral service for the daughter, was held at the captain's residence at Sandy Hook. The garrison turned out as one family, to pay the last tribute to the beloved dead. A guard of honor, consisting of four non-commissioned officers, stood "at guard," while the impressive Episcopal service for the dead was read by Rev. Dr. Lord, of Atlantic Highlands. After the singing of the beautiful hymn, "I do Not Ask Thee Lord That Life May be a Pleasant Road," by E. E. Runyon, of this city, the guard lovingly bore the white casket with all that remained of the little daughter, to the government steamer in waiting, which with flag at half-staff, steamed to Fort Hamilton, where the hearse and carriages were in waiting and soon the dear one was "asleep on the breast of mother earth" in beautiful Greenwood. The grave was literally covered with choice flowers.

Small Chimney Fire.

The fire department was called out this morning for a chimney fire in the house on New street occupied by Miss Lillian Lang. Little damage was done.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Emmons Henry, of West Fourth street, have returned from a three weeks' stay with relatives at Whitehouse.

FIFTH BIRTHDAY.

Miss Adele Freeman Celebrated the Event With a Party.

Miss Adele Freeman, of Park avenue, celebrated the fifth anniversary of her birthday Friday afternoon last, when twenty of her young friends gathered at her home. The afternoon was spent in playing games, following which a bountiful repast was served to the delight of all.

Among those present were Katherine Terry, Ethel Noe, Nettie Cooper, Olive and Ada Mills, Mabel Dickson, Bertha Bodine, May Titus, Edna Smith, Ruth Freeman, Lulu Trewin, Ralph Titus, Earle Smith, Rowland Reighton and Frank Cooper.

RODE INTO HORSE'S PATH

LITTLE GRACE FILMORE WAS KNOCKED OFF OF HER WHEEL.

Met With an Accident While Bicycling on East Front Street Yesterday Afternoon.

While little Grace Filmore, the eleven-year-old grand daughter of Mrs. Caroline Vermule, of North Front street, was riding down along East Front street, yesterday afternoon, she was gazing behind when she rode her bike directly under the head of a horse coming in the opposite direction.

The horse became frightened and reared, the animal's knee catching the little girl in the stomach. She was thrown from the wheel by the impact, and a passer-by carried her into the store of Rushton & Hansen. The little girl complained of a severe pain in the stomach. After receiving treatment, she was taken to her home in a carriage.

The team belonged to William Pangborn, the contractor, and was driven by one of his men. No blame attaches to the driver, who had just started off, and was unable to hold up in time to prevent the accident. Roundsman Mattox took the names of a number of bystanders for reference.

OPERATOR WENT TO SLEEP

THEN THERE WAS A MERRY TIME FOR SOME OF THE SUBSCRIBERS.

The Morning's Complaints Were Unnecessary as the Operator Was Discharged.

Subscribers to the local telephone company who had occasion to use their instruments, early yesterday morning, had a merry time of it trying to get the necessary connection. From shortly after midnight until 6 o'clock they were unable to get any response to their constant ringing and most of them gave up in disgust, but not without uttering maledictions against the company which permitted its service to be suspended during the night.

One of those who tried to make a call was Sergeant Frederickson, of poicle headquarters. He rang again and again during the small hours of the morning and as it was important he should have the call he sent a patrolman to the local office. Then, for the first was the mystery explained. A new operator, putting in his first night alone, had succumbed to the weariness of his lonely vigil and was fast asleep in front of the switchboard, while the call bell rang loud and long but unheeded. The board was a mass of raised "drops" each of which represented some one calling. The sleeper was aroused but the damage had been done.

Yesterday morning a batch of complaints was forwarded to the office but they were unnecessary. The operator is no longer an employe of the company.

NEXT TROLLEY PARTY.

Retail Clerks Planned for Another Outing in the Near Future.

At a meeting of the Retail Clerks' Mutual Benefit Association, held last evening, a committee was appointed to complete all arrangements for the second trolley party to be given in the near future. There were also six propositions received and four candidates initiated. At the close of the meeting the members enjoyed a social period while disposing of refreshments.

TROLLEY LINE ON MOUNTAIN

Planning to Connect North Plainfield With Chimney Rock and Bound Brook.

WILL INCORPORATE IT.

Meeting of Interested Capitalists Will be Held Tomorrow—When Company Will be Incorporated—Planned by S. D. Drake—Has Secured Necessary Capital.

The Watchung Scenic Electric Railway is to be one of the latest attractions for Plainfield and vicinity. If the plans as now formulated are successfully carried out early next spring in this vicinity will have an opportunity of taking a delightful trolley ride along the Watchung mountain between North Plainfield and Chimney Rock, a distance of five miles, and thus be able to appreciate more than ever the beauties of Plainfield.

This scheme was originated by S. D. Drake a year ago, and tomorrow there will be a meeting of Philadelphia and Trenton capitalist to incorporate a company for the purpose named. Mr. Drake has taken the initiative in the matter and he has succeeded in getting the necessary capital together.

The trolley line will be entirely independent of any other line, although it will have a terminus at both ends so that the Plainfield Street Railway and the Middlesex and Somerset Traction Company will act as feeders as well as receive passengers from this line. The line will run into Somerset street, North Plainfield, to a point near the trolley line now operated there. The same arrangement will be made at Bound Brook, where the line will be extended from Chimney Rock into the town near the trolley in the latter place.

Those interested in the scheme met this morning and looked over the proposed line. It is planned to build the line 300 feet high on the mountain. This will be 100 feet lower than the top of the mountain, yet sufficiently high to afford a fine panoramic view. As now planned it is proposed to have the trolley in operation by next spring. It is predicted that such an improvement will result in the building of handsome residences on the mountain the entire distance of the line.

GOING UP.

G. E. Firstbrook, a Local Newspaperman, Aspires to Wander Among Clouds as an Aeronaut.

To demonstrate that he possesses the nerve and also procure copy for a sensational "story" George E. Firstbrook, a local newspaperman, has completed arrangements to make a balloon ascension from Galvin's Park, Sunday evening, July 27.

For the past few weeks he has assisted Brof. Hutchinson, the aeronaut, to begin his flight in the air and a request by Firstbrok to ascend alone and drop with a parachute was agreed to. He will don the usual suit of tights for the occasion, and if the first attempt proves successful a second will be made by him at night, when he will discharge pyrotechnics from the rising balloon.

PROVIDED FOR TIE.

An Extra Series of Games Will be Played in That Event.

Provisions for a series of three games, to be played in the event of the teams tying for honors in the pennant race, was arranged for at last evening's meeting of the City Baseball League. There is a chance of two of the nines reaching first place at the close of the season, and the supplementary games will terminate the deadlock.

Other business transacted at the session was the entering of five new players, Michael Scully and John Meajers for St. Marys, George and Skinner Wilhelm for Safe Works, and W. M. Brown for the Y. M. C. A. The umpires for Saturday's games were apportioned as follows: Hope-Safe Works, Brown and Townley; St. Mary-Y. M. C. A., Young and Melvin.

So Accusers of Principal Thomas, of Cranford, are Preparing to Carry Case to State School Board.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Cranford, July 15—Complainants against Supervising Principal Thomas, of Cranford's public school, are preparing an appeal to the State Board of Education, and will push the case to the bitter end. They are exasperated at Mr. Thomas's refusal to make a specific denial of the charges of discourteous treatment of some pupils and their parents. The general denial made is wholly unsatisfactory to them. They insist that Mr. Thomas's refusal to take the witness chair and submit to an examination is evidence that he was afraid to meet the charges in the open.

They also allege that Chairman Plume's rulings favored the principal, and are taken as an indication that the board of trustees are resolved to dismiss the charges and sustain Principal Thomas.

This action, they claim, is made necessary from the fact that the board re-engaged Mr. Thomas for another year before the annual school meeting instead of after, according to the usual custom. Mr. Thomas regards the case as closed, as far as he is concerned, and has gone on an extended vacation trip.

Chairman Plume, when asked if a meeting would be called soon, answered that he did not know. The next regular meeting of the board will be held July 26.

A Roman Holiday at Manhattan.

Ancient Rome as a spectacle and the way in which it is presented in Pain's Amphitheatre, at Manhattan Beach, is conceded to be the most realistic stage representation of its kind that has ever been seen there. It is crowded with incidents and during the performance it is one succession of stirring scenes. A large ballet and a good chorus help to enhance the magnificence of the stage picture. The chariot races are most spirited, and when it's borne in mind that these charioteers drive over an oval course of fully 1,200 feet, it must be admitted that there is ample opportunity to work up an audience to a great display of enthusiasm. The burning of Rome is a remarkably fine display of stage realism, and the fireworks display at the close is a most brilliant exhibition of fireworks. c

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

The July number of "The Black Diamond Express," published by the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company, is out. It is now edited by S. K. Monroe, chief clerk of the advertising department of that road in New York City, and he resides in Plainfield. It is an interesting publication and contains much valuable reading.

Two most interesting illustrations were displayed recently in the Railroad Gazette, of New York. One was a fine line cut of the first hard coal burning engine used on the Lackawanna Railroad, and in striking contrast was shown on another page a photo-engraving of one of the twenty-five big Brooks engines which the Central Railroad of New Jersey has purchased recently.

Colonel Collins, the new commander of the Second Regiment, of which Company K is a part, has been identified with the National Guard for fourteen successive years.

He enlisted May 2, 1888, as a private in Company D, of the old Fourth Regiment, and was elected corporal February 12, 1889. A year later he was transferred to Company C, Third Regiment, entering the company as a private.

By a faithful performance of his duties, he was soon given a non-commissioned office, only to lose it again by asking to be transferred to Company E, of the same regiment.

The transfer was asked principally to receive a commissioned office, and August 23, 1894, he was commissioned a first lieutenant. A few months later he was placed in command of the company, and shortly after the reorganization of the National Guard he was commissioned a major, which he held until the outbreak of the Spanish-American War, when he resigned to accept a commission of captain of Company E, Third Regiment, New Jersey Volunteers.

He resigned October 15, 1898, and the following May he was made lieutenant-colonel of the Second Regiment.

Colonel Collins is very popular with the men and is a strict disciplinarian.

THE CAMPANILE FALLS.

Historic Tower In Venice a Heap of Ruins.

VENICE, July 15.—The campanile of St. Mark's has fallen on the piazza. Where it once stood is now a heap of ruins.

The cathedral and the doge's palace are quite safe, and only one corner of the royal palace is damaged. The loggia of Sansovino was injured. It is thought that no lives have been lost, but it is not certain as yet. A cordon of troops is keeping the piazza clear.

The first intimation of danger was the sudden appearance of a longitudinal crack in the corner of the wall facing the clock tower and the breaking of two windows. The ruins are piled up to a height of 100 feet, and the Piazza di San Marco and the adjoining squares are covered with debris and dust.

Professor Belar, head of the seismic conservatory at Laibach, Austria, is of the opinion that the earthquake at Salonika, European Turkey, completed the destruction of the campanile of St. Mark's, in Venice, which had shown the effects of the recent disturbances of earth and sea in northern Italy.

Professor Belar says he noticed a marked inclination of the campanile at Easter.

The municipal council has decided to open a preliminary fund of 500,000 lire (about $100,000) for the rebuilding of the campanile and the Sansovino loggetta. A public subscription will also be opened for the same purpose.

Queen Margherita and Count von Bulow, the German imperial chancellor, have wired expressions of regret at the ruin of the tower to the municipal council.

In all Venice there was no object of more historic interest than the campanile of St. Mark's. It stood 322 feet in height. It was founded in 888 and restored in 1329. In 1417 a marble top was put on the old tower, and in 1517 it was crowned with the figure of an angel nearly sixteen feet in height.

The loggetta or vestibule on the east side of the campanile was erected by Sansovino, the famous architect, in 1540. It was once a rendezvous for the nobility and was afterward used as a waiting room for guards during the sessions of the councils. There were bronze statues of Peace, Apollo, Mercury and Pallas and some reliefs on the coping that were also of Sansovino's creation. There were bronze doors that had been cast in 1750. In the interior was a Madonna and Child with St. John in terra cotta, also by Sansovino.

CHAFFEE ORDERED HOME.

He Will Succeed General Brooke at Governors Island.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—General Chaffee has been relieved of command in the Philippines and ordered to the command of the department of the east by an order issued by Secretary Root. The order reads as follows:

"By direction of the president Major General George W. Davis will relieve Major General Chaffee of the command of the division of the Philippines Sept. 30, 1902. On being relieved General Chaffee will, with his authorized aids, repair to Governors island, New York, and assume command of the department of the east."

The status of the commanders of the department of the east as qualified by this last order is as follows: General Brooke is at present in command, but he is to retire at the end of the present month. General MacArthur is in command of the department of the lakes at Chicago, but he will be temporarily ordered to New York after General Brooke's retirement to command the department of the east while the combined maneuvers are going on. He will retain the command until relieved by General Chaffee, probably about November next, when it is expected General MacArthur will return to his present command in Chicago.

Alpine Tourists Killed.

VIENNA, July 15. — Reports have been received here of the killing of three tourists in the Austrian Alps last Sunday.

BUSINESS SUFFERING

Chicago Freight Handlers' Strike Causes Heavy Loss.

QUESTION OF A HALF CENT PER HOUR.

All Effort to Bring About a Settlement of Differences Proves Fruitless—Mayor Harrison Pledges Protection to Business Men.

CHICAGO, July 15.—While the wholesale business of this city is almost completely paralyzed and while its business men are suffering a loss of $1,000,000 per day the striking freight handlers and the railroads are in a deadlock and announce their determination to fight to the finish over the question of one-half a cent per hour per man, or a total of about $500 for every twenty-four hours, this sum being divided on one side between twenty-four railroads and on the other between 10,000 men.

The situation is more serious than at any time since the commencement of the trouble, and at no time since the walkout have the points at issue been so obstinately maintained. Three times yesterday the freight handlers sent committees to meet the general managers, and three times they came back without result. The first call was made without giving warning to the managers, and when the committees arrived they were unable to find any of them for the reason that the managers were having a meeting of their own and were not at their offices. The second call produced more effect, as several of the committees saw the managers, but nothing definite resulted. The last committees were sent out by President Curran of the freight handlers at the demand of the teamsters, who wanted something attempted toward a settlement. This time the committees were started so late in the afternoon that it was a foregone conclusion that they would not find many of the general managers in their offices. All the committees reported, as before, that they had failed of any result. The committee that went to the Milwaukee and St. Paul road came back bearing the information that they had been refused admission and were informed that their former employers did not care to receive them, that they had all the men necessary in their business and that hereafter no deputations would be received from employees who had gone on strike. The officials declared later that they would maintain this position.

After this had been reported at the headquarters of the strikers President Curran announced that the fight was on to a finish and that hereafter when the railroads had any overtures to make or wished to do any business with their employees they would be compelled to transact such business through the officers of the Freight Handlers' union. Both sides now declare that they have reached the limit and that absolutely nothing will be conceded. The men demand 17½ cents. The managers say that they will not under any circumstances pay more than 17 cents.

The business men of the city, particularly those who deal in perishable goods, are growing restive and declare they can endure the situation but a short time longer. It is costing them more than either the strikers or the railroads, and they say that if the strike shall not be settled within a week many of them will be badly crippled. To bring about an end to the blockade which is maintained by the strikers and their friends, the teamsters, the commission men of South Water street met to take matters into their own hands. It was out of the question for the employers to look to the teamsters to drive to the depots, and they therefore determined to drive their own wagons to the depots today and remove from them all the goods that had been consigned to them, much of which is being rapidly ruined. A message was sent to Mayor Harrison asking if police protection would be given them, and word was received that ample protection would be afforded. Just at this time, however, word was received that President Young of the Teamsters' National union had arrived in the city and that a meeting of the executive officers of that body would be held to consider the advisability of ordering the men now on strike to return or of calling out every teamster in the city who is affiliated with the union. The merchants then decided to await the result of this meeting.

Plan to Settle Strike.

WILKESBARRE, July 15.—Rev. J. J. Curran of this city, who claims to have a plan by which the miners' strike can be settled, has left town. It is said his destination is Philadelphia. Rumor has it that he will first seek an interview with President Baer and then go to New York to see the presidents of the Lackawanna, the Delaware and Hudson and the Erie companies. The local operators say that no plan Rev. Mr. Curran can propose at this late day will be entertained by the operators and that if he went to Philadelphia and New York in the hope that he can interest the presidents of the big coal companies his mission will be a fruitless one.

Increase For Faithful Employees.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., July 15.—The Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company has announced that a 10 per cent increase in wages would be paid in this region to employees who had remained at work since the strike started. The strikers say this increase is intended as a bait to lure them back to work.

Boers Reach New York.

NEW YORK, July 15.—Among the passengers who arrived by the steamer Pretoria from Bermuda were 108 Boers who had been prisoners there.

BALFOUR AS PREMIER

The Chancellor of Exchequer, Hicks-Beach, Resigns.

OTHER CABINET CHANGES LIKELY.

Unionists Rejoice That Commons Leadership Will Remain Unchanged—Chamberlain to Retain Portfolio of Colonies.

LONDON, July 15.—A. J. Balfour is now formally greeted as Great Britain's premier, and the new regime has begun its work. The momentous change was marked by only one really dramatic incident—namely, the resignation of Sir Michael Hicks-Beach from his post of chancellor of the exchequer. Yet this lack of outward show and public prelude to a new chapter in English history is by no means representative of the disturbance which the sudden transition created among the undercurrents of political life.

It is safe to say that Sir Michael Hicks-Beach is only the first of several whose names have figured largely before the public in the last half century who now will disappear from the political arena. Nothing absolutely definite is yet settled, but the Unionist party expects shortly to hear of the resignations of Earl Halsbury, lord high chancellor; Lord James of Hereford, chancellor of the duchy of Lancaster, and Earl Cadogan, lord lieutenant of Ireland.

For Sir Michael Hicks-Beach's place Right Hon. R. W. Hanbury, now president of the board of agriculture, is the favorite. In the pending reconstruction, which may not be completed for some time to come, Mr. Balfour, much to the delight of the Unionists, will remain the leader in the house of commons and first lord of the treasury, with Mr. Chamberlain still in command of the colonies as his first lieutenant. If Earl Halsbury, on account of his age, fulfills predictions by retiring, Baron Alverstone will succeed to the woolsack, Sir Richard Henn Collins becoming lord chief justice, Sir R. B. Finlay succeeding him as master of the rolls, Sir E. H. Carson, now solicitor general, becoming attorney general and probably Charles Alfred Cripps, attorney general to the Prince of Wales, succeeding to the solicitor generalship.

On one point the members of the house of commons seem practically unanimous, and that is that Austen Chamberlain, financial secretary to the treasury, will be promoted, a majority mentioning him as likely to succeed Mr. Hanbury should the latter take the chancellorship of the exchequer. Friends of Mr. Balfour also say he is certain to require the advice in his cabinet councils of his great friend, George Wyndham, now chief secretary for Ireland.

Grand Banks Fishing Good.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., July 15.—Returning fishermen from the vicinity of the Grand Banks report the largest fares of both fresh and salt fish made for some time. The schooner Gossip, Captain Courant, came in with a catch of 225,000 pounds of fresh fish, the largest ever recorded. Captain Courant made the best previous catch, which he accomplished last year, when 220,000 pounds were landed. Captain Hines of the Nellie E. Hines has also reached port and reports a haul of 310,000 pounds of salt fish.

American Gets Lost Cash.

BERLIN, July 15.—A laborer walking on the beach at Eckernfoerde, Prussia, on an inlet of the Baltic, recently picked up a pocketbook containing 30,000 marks in notes which an American had dropped in the water from a yacht during the regattas. The finder learned that the American was still stopping at Kiel, returned him the money and was rewarded.

The Illinois Damaged.

CHRISTIANIA, Norway, July 15.—Owing to faulty steering gear the United States battleship Illinois struck bottom as she was entering port here yesterday. She will be compelled to go back to England and be placed in drydock there. The Illinois, flagship of Rear Admiral Arent S. Crowninshield, was accompanied here by the cruisers Chicago and Albany.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

Mont Pelee in eruption drove out the inhabitants of Morne Rouge and other villages.

Plans are ready for Lipton's Shamrock III. to challenge for the America's cup in 1903.

The cruiser Brooklyn, with the remains of the late Embassador Pauncefote, reached Southampton.

The emperor of Korea has accepted the invitation for his country to participate in the St. Louis exposition.

CASTRO IN COMMAND.

Says He Will Crush Venezuela Rebellion at Once.

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad, July 15.—President Castro has taken command of the Venezuelan troops at Barcelona. The force numbers about 3,900 men. President Castro found the troops in a destitute condition and has spent the time since taking command in reorganizing them, and they now offer a much better appearance. President Castro asserts that he will have crushed the revolution headed by Senor Matos within fifteen days.

The revolutionist forces which were marching on Caracas and Rolando from the neighborhood of Barcelona have ceased their advance and retired. They apparently do not intend to accept battle in that vicinity, but to force General Castro to engage them near Urica or farther in the interior, where the country is very uneven, easily defended and well known to the revolutionists. Into this trap, the revolutionists believe, General Castro's impetuosity will carry him.

The rebels are receiving re-enforcements daily. Hernandez Ron is reported to be coming with a hundred men from Pascua and General Lorenzo Guevara with 900 from Piritu.

Military events in Venezuela during the next week will, it is believed, decide President Castro's future. To predict the result is impossible. Anarchy is reported to exist in many places, and the misery is said to be indescribable.

Carupano was evacuated Sunday by the government forces and was immediately occupied by the revolutionists.

Puerto Cabello Threatened.

WILLEMSTAD, Curacao, July 15.—Advices received here from Venezuela say that 900 revolutionists under General Penaloza are approaching Puerto Cabello, a city of the state of Carabobo, Venezuela, and that 400 men from the local bands are now concentrated near El Palito. The Venezuelan government has fortified and intrenched Puerto Cabello. An attack on that place by the revolutionists is expected shortly. If this occurs, the city will be shelled, as in 1899, from Fort Holman and Castle Libertador. The German cruiser Falke and the Dutch cruiser Keningin Regentes have left La Guayra for Puerto Cabello.

KING'S MOVING DAY.

British Monarch Will Be Taken to Royal Yacht.

LONDON, July 15.—The specially constructed ambulance in which King Edward is to be removed from Buckingham palace to the railway station was taken to the palace yesterday afternoon. Six bluejackets who have been selected to remove the king went through a rehearsal by removing the couch on which the king has at times been resting to the ambulance under the direction of the nurses.

His majesty when he is taken from the palace today will be accompanied by Queen Alexandra, Prince and Princess Charles of Denmark, Sir Francis Knollys, the king's private secretary, and the attending physician.

It is understood that no bulletin regarding the king's condition will be issued until his majesty shall be safely on board the Victoria and Albert this evening.

As the outcome of a petition from south Londoners voicing the disappointment felt at the abandonment of the second day coronation procession, King Edward has consented to a tentative arrangement in accordance with which he will drive through south London in the autumn, probably in October.

The Kansas Floods.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 15.—At Argentine, Kan., water from the Kaw river broke through an improvised earth dike and flooded a large tract of land, rendering forty-five families homeless. The Missouri and the Kaw rivers here are both higher than at any time since the present flood began. At Manhattan fear of further floods is past, the Blue and Kaw rivers having fallen nearly five feet within twelve hours. The receding water has revealed several bad washouts on the Union Pacific east of here and makes more apparent the loss to wheat and oats. Thousands of dollars' worth of grain has been destroyed.

German Embassador Going Home.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—Mr. von Holleben, the German embassador at Washington, called at the state department yesterday to say farewell to Secretary Hay before sailing for his native land to spend the summer. The embassador brought to the department Baron Ritter, secretary of embassy, who will be charge d'affaires here during Mr. von Holleben's absence.

Relief For Peary.

NEW YORK, July 15.—The Peary relief ship Windward finished loading her supplies late yesterday afternoon and sailed away. She passed quarantine at 7:40 p. m. The Windward will go direct to Sydney, C. B., where she will take on coal and then head for the arctic region. Mrs. Peary and her daughter will join the ship at Sydney.

Hailstorm at Saratoga.

SARATOGA, N. Y., July 15.—During an electrical storm here early last evening hailstones of an unusual size fell. The mercury reached 86 degrees in the shade in the afternoon and dropped to 72 in the evening.

THE MONROE DOCTRINE.

John Quincy Adams Declared to Be Its Author—Now a Dead Letter.

CHICAGO, July 15.—The Monroe doctrine and President Monroe were discussed by Professor Albert B. Bushnell Hart of Harvard university in a lecture at the University of Chicago last night. "Monroe was not the father of the so called doctrine," said Professor Hart, "and it is doing him too much honor to attribute it to him. It was solely the work of John Quincy Adams, who kept urging Monroe to take the step until he yielded, rather against his will. Monroe was an honest, God serving man, who went to church and paid his debts, but he was no statesman. Adams wrote the doctrine himself, and it appeared in President Monroe's message in exactly the same form in which Adams put it."

The Monroe doctrine—as the lecturer called it, the doctrine of paramount interest—was declared a dead letter. "It is useless to attempt to police all of the American continent," he said, "and we will get involved in costly wars if we stick to it."

Secretary Hay was complimented by the lecturer and classed as not only the greatest secretary of state that the United States has had, but the greatest living diplomat in the world.

THE COMING CONVENTION.

Delegates to National Miners' Meeting Gathering at Indianapolis.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 15.—Whether or not there will be a general suspension of work among the bituminous coal miners in support of the great anthracite strike may be determined in Indianapolis by the end of this week. The national convention called to settle the matter will begin Thursday. Delegates from more than ten states representing the most powerful labor organizations in the world are on their way to Indianapolis.

There will be nearly a thousand delegates, representing about 30,000 miners.

It is conceded at this time that the convention will either favor a suspension of work throughout the entire bituminous fields or will provide for a defense fund greater than their treasury now offers, although it is said the miners have nearly $2,000,000 in the national and among the locals.

Ralph Easley and other representatives of the National Civic federation are expected.

Secretary Wilson says that no invitations have been extended to any outsiders to speak at the convention.

CAUSE OF JOHNSTOWN DISASTER

Recent Seismic Disturbances Suggested.

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 15.—Colonel Henry C. Demming of this city, acting state geologist, has written a letter to Mine Inspector Evans at Johnstown suggesting that the apparent uplift of a part of the state of Pennsylvania caused by the recent earthquakes in Martinique and other islands of the West Indies may possibly have been the direct or remote cause of the catastrophe at the Rolling Mill mine.

Colonel Demming has also written to Charles D. Wolcott, director of the United States geological survey at Washington, calling attention to several rifts of earth and rock that have been found in Pennsylvania since he made his report in June; also to the record of the mercurial barometers in the United States weather bureau at Harrisburg that in May and June this city and vicinity had been uplifted nearly seven feet.

BOLD TRAIN ROBBERY

A Hold Up on the Denver and Rio Grande.

THE PASSENGERS LOSE HEAVILY.

Two Safes and the Car Containing Them Blown to Pieces—Mail Car Not Molested—The Engineer Roughly Handled.

DENVER, Colo., July 15.—General Manager Herbert of the Denver and Rio Grande has received the following report of the train robbery on that road:

The train was held up by four masked men at a point known as Mill Switch, two miles east of Chester, at 8:50 a. m. yesterday. They blew open two safes in the baggage car and demolished the sides and roof of the car. The express company advises that no money was lost. The mail car was not molested. All the passengers were ordered to go to the rear of the train and get out on to the ground. After using three charges of dynamite the robbers succeeded in opening the safes and took the contents. They then went back to the passengers and relieved them of their money and jewelry. Many of the passengers threw their money, jewelry and transportation into the grass and rocks. An engine and coach will be returned to the scene with the passengers in order that they may recover their property.

One of the robbers addressed remarks to Engineer Ruland, who did not understand what was said, and before Ruland could ask him to repeat his remarks the robber struck him a blow with a Winchester rifle, breaking the stock of the gun. Ruland will be able to handle his engine through to the terminal, but his head is badly swollen. No passengers or trainmen were hurt. The conductor has been instructed to secure the names and addresses and losses of the passengers, and Special Agent Brown has been instructed to go to the scene. Sheriffs of the county in which the robbery occurred and in the surrounding counties have been notified.

The train is the most important operated on the narrow gauge line, carrying passengers for Gunnison, Lake City, Ouray, Telluride and other mountain towns in the western slope.

Hamlin's Pacer Makes a Record.

DETROIT, Mich., July 15. — C. J. Hamlin's splendid black pacer Direct Hal, with Driver Ed Geers in the sulky, made the opening of the Detroit Driving club's blue ribbon meeting at Crosse Pointe yesterday afternoon memorable by winning the first heat of the Chamber of Commerce Five Thousand Dollar stake in the record time of 2:00¾. This is a world's record for the first winning heat of a green horse. A severe thunderstorm flooded the track after two heats in both the Chamber of Commerce stake and the 2:15 trot had been driven and necessitated putting the finish of these two events and the 2:19 trot and 2:07 pace over.

Trouble Again at Silk Mills.

NEW YORK, July 15.—Trouble broke out anew yesterday in the Schwartzenbach silk mills in West Hoboken and Union Hill, N. J. All the weavers in three mills reported for work in the morning, but only a few girls, who were nonunion hands, ran their looms. The others sat at their looms, but did nothing. The majority were resolved not to resume work until fourteen girls who refused to join the Silk Weavers' union had been discharged. A committee laid the proposition before Superintendent Ruegz, and he refused to discharge the girls. To do so, he said, would be a recognition of the union on his part. Neither side shows any signs of yielding.

Deadly Fight With Knives.

PHILADELPHIA, July 15. — In a fight with knives Martin Schreiber, aged twenty-two years, was killed almost instantly by his antagonist, Edward Duffy, nineteen years of age. The men, with several women, had been drinking in a house at 1226 Wallace street. A dispute arose between the men over the ability of Schreiber to cook a piece of meat which resulted in both men seizing knives and fighting until Schreiber dropped to the floor with a wound in his heart.

Miss Morrison In Prison.

LANSING, Kan., July 15.—Miss Jessie Morrison has arrived at the state penitentiary at Lansing to begin her twenty-five years' sentence for the murder of Mrs. Olin Castle at El Dorado. She had started for Lansing at midnight after being taken to her home, where she bid farewell to her parents and brothers. At the penitentiary she was very much downcast.

Whatcheer Has a Cloudburst.

DES MOINES, July 15.—A cloudburst at Whatcheer washed away nine buildings, entailing a loss of $25,000. A wall of water four feet high came rushing down a dry run in the heart of the city at 3 o'clock. Residents barely had time to escape with their lives and were unable to save any property.

COUNTY BOULEVARD.

The scheme of Frank Bergen to construct a county boulevard from Elizabeth to Plainfield never reached a complete fulfillment and there is no apparent likelihood that it ever will. It was started, however, and a thoroughfare after the kind he planned has been built from the county seat to Roselle. United States Senator John Kean offered to pay a quarter of a million dollars for a franchise for a trolley line the length of the proposed boulevard and the offer was accepted.

Saturday saw the trolley cars running over the new boulevard as far as it has been completed but not under the management of the United States Senator. Some time ago he disposed of his trolley interests, including that franchise to the rival company, the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Street Railway Company, and the line has since been opened up by the latter.

This new line now parallels the original line of the company from Elizabeth to Roselle but is across the railroad tracks from it. In course of time, there ought to be enough traffic for both lines but it seems rather doubtful if there is now. At one time there was considerable talk of extending the old Kean line over to Springfield and thus link that corner of the county with the county seat. The fact, however, that the company, which owns these lines, has just allowed its franchise for a line to Springfield to go by default does not give the impression that any such move is contemplated at present anyway.

The alliterative correspondent of the Evening Post has written recently of "Pleasant Plainfield" in a vien to make those who live here congratulate themselves on the fact that their "lines have fallen in pleasant places, and to make those who do not live here covet the charms of such an ideal place of residence. The best of it is that all that the correspondent affirms is true, and those who know Plainfield best can endorse the writer's estimate of the beauty, healthfulness, harmony, ease of access, social advantages and good moral tone of "Pleasant Plainfield'.

The Third Regiment is now in camp at Sea Girt under the general supervision of Brigadier-General Gillmore. Careful training at West Point and then as an officer in the regular army has given Gen. Gillmore plenty of opportunity of seeing how a military camp should be conducted. It is his intention that the State camp shall be run along proper lines and, from the reports of the happenings at the camp since the Third Regiment has been in possession there, he has lost no time in putting his ideas into practice.

The custom of serenading a newly wedded couple is perfectly harmless in itself but when shot-guns are used as musical instruments there is the possibility of serious damage being done. The unfortunate circumstance, which recently happened at Liberty Corner, and resulted in the death of one and injury of two others, is likely to put an end to serenades of that nature for some time to come.

As a precaution against accidents which may result from incorrect time, the Jersey Central Railroad is going to have the time-pieces of its employes all in good order. As a means toward that end, an inspector has been appointed.

Miss Emma Faulks is confined to the house by illness.

Mother Always Keeps It Handy.

"My mother suffered a long time from distressing pains and general ill health due primarily to indigestion," says L. W. Spalding, Verona, Mo. "Two years ago I got her to try Kodol. She grew better at once and now, at the age of seventy-six, eats any thing she wants, remarking that she fears no bad effects as she has her bottle of Kodol handy." Don't waste time doctoring symptoms. Go after the cause. If your stomach is sound your health will be good. Kodol rests the stomach and strengthens the body by digesting your food. It is nature's own tonic. L. W. Randolph.

READY FOR CAMP.

What Members of Company K Will Carry When They Go to Sea Girt Saturday.

The members of Company K, under the dircetion of Captain W. Kempton Browning, will go into camp at Sea Girt, Saturday. Last year a few of the men had some trouble about getting away on account of their employers' objections. There will be no such trouble this year. Every member of the company who wants to can go this year and it is believed that everyone will go.

Captain Browning has furnished a list of things necessary for every man to take with him. This list includes comb and brush, tooth brush, soap, towels, two pair of shoes, change of underclothing, two pair of socks, a bottle of sperm oil, plenty of gun rags, three dozen Sun cholera mixture tablets. These are absolute essentials. Any member who has not his haversack can get the same by applying to F. J. Pope, 505 Watchung avenue.

TESTING THE WATER SUPPLY

ELIZABETH IS GIVING NEW PLANT AT SPRINGFIELD A TEST.

To See If Elizabeth is Getting Five Million Gallons a Day According to Contract.

A fifteen days' test of its new water plant at Springfield was started last Friday by the Elizabethtown Water Company to ascertain if the guaranteed supply of 5,000,000 gallons of water is being received every twenty-four hours. If the test is satisfactory the contractor, Arthur J. Connelly, of Newark, will be relieved of further responsibility.

The work has been in operation exactly two years and one month, and with its completion the city of Elizabeth will be assured of a pure and wholesome water supply. The permanent pumping plant is located, and it is that which is in operation.

There are forty-five wells of eight and ten inch pipe, driven to an average depth of 300 feet. The test is conducted by the reading of indicators on the pumps at stated periods, and for this alone four men are engaged. They are two to represent the company and two the contractor. These men are in squads of two on day and night turns, a representative of one acting with the representative of the other. The permanent plant which is now installed consists of four boilers of 100 horse power each, one duplex air compressor of high and low pressure, and a triple expansion Worthington pump of a capacity of 6,000,000 in twenty-four hours. This machinery is housed in an engine house 60x66 feet and a boiler room 60x 60. The water is pumped by compressed air from the wells into a large concrete catch basin, and from there pumped into the delivery main.

Pastor's Vacation.

Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass, pastor of the First M. E. church, is planning to be absent on his vacation the last two weeks in August and his pulpit during his absence will be occupied by Rev. James R. Bryan, of Albert street. Mr. Bryan formerly lived at Somerville and several years ago was a pastor of the First M. E. church.

Makes Daily Trips.

A guest at the Hotel Netherwood is J. A. Munn, of Galveston, Texas, who is superintending the building of a tank steamer at Nixon's ship yard in Elizabeth. Mr. Munn is the representative of a Texas oil company and rides to and from Elizabeth every day in his automobile.

Y. M. A. Meeting.

The Y. M. A. of Hope chapel will hold a regular business meeting this evening. All members are asked to be present.

To Aid Relief Association.

The offering at the Crescent Avenue church Sunday morning was for the Plainfield Relief Association.

FREEHOLDERS DOING THINGS

COMMITTEES WERE APPOINTED TO MAKE VARIOUS REPAIRS.

S. S. Childs Wants to Lay Pipe Lines Through Bernardsville — To Paint Bridges Over Raritan.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, July 15—The Somerset County Board of Freeholders met at the bridge below Hub Hollow, near Peapack, Saturday, and transacted some important business. It was decided to rebuild the platform bridge there and lower the roadbed. A proper retaining wall will be constructed. The committee appointed to take charge of the work includes Messrs. Whitenack, Philhower, Codington, Mobus and Lutkins.

An application was received from Samuel S. Childs for permission to lay a pipe line for carrying water and a pole line for conveying electric current, along the county road through Bernardsville. This was granted, if, after a careful examination in the matter, it meets with the approval of Director Logan, Engineer Doughty and Counsel Frech.

The iron bridge across the Raritan river at Bound Brook, the Somerville bridge, the Raritan bridge and the North Branch bridge will be repainted. Bids for the same will be received until Tuesday, August 12, when they will be publicly opened in the Court House. The committee in charge of these improvements includes Messrs. Gibson, E. B. and R. W. Hoagland, Cruser and Logan.

THE WAY THEY DO IT.

I. C. T. Club Will Have a Parlor Car For Its Use on Excursion.

The officials of the I. C. T. Club believe that what is worth doing at all is worth doing well. The club will go on the Junior excursion to Atlantic City in a body and the trip both ways will be made in a parlor car attached to the train for the exclusive use of its members. Accommodations for serving meals to the members while at the beach have also been arranged for with one of the leading hotels.

Opened Second Restaurant.

The Codington Luncheon Company has opened a second restaurant in New York at 52 Twenty-third street, near Sixth avenue. The other restaurant is at 116 Fulton street. This company is composed of P. M. Codington and L. M. Codington, of Somerville; W. R. Codington, E. H. Bird and E. M. Laing, of Plainfield. P. M. Codington is president, L. M. Codington is treasurer, and W. R. Codington is secretary, while E. H. Bird and E. M. Laing are directors.

An Architect Now.

Charles L. Force, of Somerset place, has been notified by the Board of Architects, No. 1 Exchange place, Jersey City, that he has passed as an architect and is now registered.

LAURIER A SICK MAN.

Canada's Premier Expected to Retire in a Few Months.

Announcement Looked For After Coronation of King Edward—Has Important Bearing on Dominion Politics.

The statement is made at Ottawa, Ont., with somewhat startling emphasis, that Sir William Laurier has sat in the dominion parliament, as the prime minister of Canada, for the last time. The report to this effect, which gained considerable currency a few days before the prorogation of the recent parliamentary session in Ottawa, was at the time received with unfeigned surprise by the general public, but not so by the personal friends of the premier. Although the latter ridicule the idea, there is, nevertheless, said to be ground for the statement which is now being discussed by government supporters throughout the country with mingled incredulity and dismay.

It is even added that the announcement of the final retirement of Sir Wilfrid has been set for a time not later than the coming autumn. The principal reason assigned for the premier's withdrawal from active public life is his persistent ill-health, which requires constant care and restfulness. He is from time to time compelled to take long rests at home, where, it is said, his physician is summoned to attend him frequently, and he is constantly subjected to severe diet.

Immediately after the close of the parliamentary session Sir Wilfrid left for a rest in the Adirondacks prior to embarking for England to attend the conference. To discredit the disquieting reports as to the premier's ill health, his friends point to the fact that, during the past session of parliament, he was seldom absent from his seat in the commons chamber, and was as alert and keenly responsive to the moods of the house as ever. Nevertheless, it is remarked that the nature of his ailment is none the less grave, because he was thus able to keep pace with his parliamentary duties.

SIR WILFRID LAURIER.
(Premier of Canada Who May Retire Early in the Autumn.)

It is pointed out as apparently confirmatory of the unwelcome reports, that, upon the termintaion of the coronation ceremonies and conferences, Sir Wilfrid and Lady Laurier, accompanied by some personal friends, will travel on the continent for a season, and it is believed that the premier's final decision to retire from the government will not be taken until it is seen whether his health shows permanent improvement or not by the change.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier is now in his sixty-second year. He has about reached the zenith of his popularity in the dominion, and in the empire as well. He is the idol of his party, irrespective of nationality, and is the admiration even of his political opponents. His forced retirement, at the present juncture, is viewed with regret and alarm by the liberals, since such a step would undoubtedly change the whole situation, not only as between the two great political parties in Canada, but also as between the English and French races of the Dominion. His political following is naturally apprehensive that, should he cease to lead his party, history will repeat itself and the present government to go to pieces just as did the conservative administration shortly after the death, in 1891, of its great leader, Sir John A. Macdonald. Sir Wilfrid Laurier's administration is almost sure to live so long as he remains the prime minister of Canada, for nothing short of some great political upheaval could now oust him from power.

The question of Sir Wilfrid's successor to the premiership is naturally being debated quietly in political circles. The man who stands out most prominently in the public eye, among the other members of the cabinet, is the minister of finance, Hon. William S. Fielding. He is essentially a self-made man, who began life as a newspaper reporter and rose to the editorial chair. Mr. Fielding became prime minister of Nova Scotia in 1884, which office he held continuously until 1896, when he resigned to enter the federal government as the finance minister of the then new liberal administration of Canada.

To Detect a Cheap Shoe.

"It takes a rainy spell to show up a cheap shoe," says a shoe dealer. "It can be spotted by an observer on a rainy day though it may have come within an hour from the shop. A cheap shoe always slips when the pavements are wet. Smooth asphalt pavements especially show them up. The sole of a cheap, common shoe is often made of imitation leather, composed of pressed paper, and water softens it and makes the wearer slide along while walking."

TWO GREAT MISTAKES.

Acquisition of Philippines and South African War, Says Lord Chief Justice of Canada.

During the past month Washington has seen much of one of the famous men of the Dominion of Canada, Rt. Hon. Sir Henry Strong, lord chief justice of Canada and a member of the British privy council. Sir Henry would be singled out as a striking looking man in any assemblage of distinguished persons. He is of commanding figure and presence, and his fine English type of features indicates culture and education of a high degree.

Sir Henry has been at the capital as the chief arbiter of the Salvador Claims commission, and with Former Postmaster General Don M. Dickinson, of Michigan, and Dr. Don Rosa Pacas, a famous Central American lawyer, has listened to arguments for and against the demand for $50,000 made by the United States against the republic of Salvador because an American company was ousted from a big concession that it had obtained down there.

SIR HENRY STRONG.
(Lord Chief Justice of the Dominion of Canada.)

Those who have made the acquaintance of Sir Henry Strong have said of him that he is a wonderful example of the vast amount of learning that one may acquire by constant study and investigation. Sir Henry talks like an authority on almost any subject that may be brought up. In the extent and variety of his general information he much resembles Senator John T. Morgan, of Alabama.

The lord chief justice of Canada remarked the other day to a Brooklyn Eagle correspondent that in his opinion the two great blunders of the present age were the acquisition of the Philippine islands by the United States and the war with the Boers contracted by the British.

EMPEROR IS SCORED.

Pan-Germans, the "Knownothings" of the Empire, Oppose Gift of Statue of King Frederick.

The Pan-Germans do not approve of Emperor William's proposed gift of a statue of Frederick the Great to the United States, nor, for that matter, of any special efforts on the part of his majesty to win the good will of the people of the United States. Dr. Hasse, a member of the reichstag, and a prominent professor of Leipzig, spoke in this connection before the annual meeting at Eisenach, of the Pan-German association. He said:

FREDERICK THE GREAT.

"The present official German effort to promote German culture in the United States rests upon a misconception. German culture can never make the Yankees Germans; it will only result in increasing the nobility of the race, in adding to their education and their wealth, and, consequently, making them more dangerous, in the same manner that the Poles were affected by the introduction of German culture. The United States is and will remain the grave of German characteristics." Dr. Hasse's remarks were greeted with applause.

Another speech delivered before the Pan-German association, in which the granting of English scholarships to German students by the late Cecil Rhodes was denounced as a "shrewd plan to get Germans to act as Anglomaniac apostles in Germany," was received with enthusiastic applause and resolutions calling upon German students to reject the Rhodes scholarships were unanimously adopted by the association.

The Berlin Tageblatt says it understands a committee of New York citizens is arranging to offer Emperor William a statue of George Washington in return for his gift of a statue of Frederick the Great to the United States.

DEMAND FOR WOMEN'S HAIR.

Agents Scour the Countries of the Old World to Buy Tresses for the Elite.

Never has the demand for women's hair in Europe been greater than it is now, and men are going from town to town in France, Germany, Switzerland and Russia buying all they can get. It has been said that one enterprising dealer has sent some agents to China for this purpose, says a London paper.

The finest hair in France is furnished by Brittany, for the Breton women have very luxuriant tresses, which never fail to fetch a high price in London. Most of these women are poor, and are quite willing to sacrifice their hair, especially as they wear bonnets which completely cover their heads, and thus effectually hide them when shorn.

France furnishes more brown and black hair than any other country, and fair and golden hair is furnished, as a rule, by the women of Germany and the north of Europe. Gray and white hair is always in demand, and if of good quality, fetches a high price.

A French woman's hair weighs generally five ounces and a half, an Italian woman's six ounces, and a German woman's nine ounces. It requires much tact to persuade some women to part with their hair, and it is therefore no wonder that a man who possesses this tact and who is a good judge of hair, can readily command a salary of from $4,000 to $6,000.

THE AMERICAN TYPE.

Chicago Professor Says a Distinct One Is Not Possible to Evolution.

Is such a thing as a distant physical type of American possible to evolution? According to an interesting series of experiments made by Prof. Philip B. Woodworth, of Lewis Institute, Chicago, and described in an article called the Physical American in Leslie's Monthly, it is not.

He waives all lines of the parallels, and instead of pointing to mean temperatures as the source of differentiation in statures and temperaments, he finds that moisture in the air is the great agency that is to stamp the Floridan with the color, stature and bulk of the Welshman, and the resident of Arizona with the lank proportions, high cheek bones and leathery complexion of the Arab. Three generations should accomplish the evolution of either type, and the atmospheric moisture or lack of moisture should be the agency.

From this out-of-doors study the professor has come to in-door temperatures, in which most men exist most of the time and almost all women live nearly all the time. In a series of experiments and observations extending through ten years, in the classroom and elsewhere, Prof. Woodworth has reached some interesting conclusions.

GATHERING OF GINSENG.

A Peculiar Product of Illinois and Indiana That Goes Mostly Abroad.

The ginseng crop, which is found in the rural districts along the Ohio river in Illinois, but principally in the state of Indiana, will soon be ripe, and already "sang" diggers are getting ready to harvest the crop, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat of recent date. Ginseng is one of the most peculiar crops of this country, having no local consumption, and going far from home before it finds a use.

Local agents buy the output and ship it to agents at San Francisco, who ship the root to China, where it has a wide use, being put to a variety of purposes. The larger roots are carved into idols and carried to keep off the evil spirits which constantly hover over the Chinese; by many it is used as a medicine, which will cure any of the ills flesh is heir to, and others use it as a seasoning and flavor for foods.

In olden times the virgin forests of Illinois and Indiana overflowed with the root, and an experienced digger could make good wages. It is now difficult to find and it takes an eagle eye to discover the peculiarly formed leaves that indicate its presence. In the market to-day it is worth from $3.60 to $4 a pound.

SOUP FOR BREAKFAST.

A Novel Experiment to Be Tried on the Soldiers of the French Army.

Soup for breakfast may be the latest thing from France.

It was tried last year in the army when it was issued to the men in one or two units in the morning in place of coffee, and this alteration was so much liked by the soldier, and gave such satisfactory hygienic results, it has been determined to give it a more extended trial. Accordingly, an order has been issued by the minister of war that until August 31 next a soup ration shall be issued to all ranks in the Sixth army corps, instead of coffee, every day excepting Saturdays and Sundays.

Early in September reports are to be sent in by the commanding officers of all units and by the medical officers, as to the results of this substitution of soup for coffee, and the commanding officer of the Sixth army corps is to forward them with his own remarks thereon to the minister of war, with a view to the alteration of the ration, or, if it should seem advisable, some modification thereof being adopted throughout the army.

Casualties of War and Peace.

An English writer calls attention to the fact that more lives are sacrificed each year on the railway than the total casualty list of the eight biggest battles in the Boer war.

WOMAN'S MUSCLES.

What She Can Do With Them When They Are Developed.

How Charles Reade would glory in the physical strength and activity of a certain Oregon family of sisters! It was a favorite theory of his that the muscles of a woman's body below her waist are stronger than those of a man, and the feats of the Walker sisters show that at least in the mysteries of cutting out a steer and lassoing a wild horse a girl cowboy is as expert as a man when she has been initiated. There are eight of these Oregon sisters who do a man's so called work upon a wild, rough range.

The young women are employed on the range belonging to their father, a man distinguished for his high character. They have been in the saddle ever since they were old enough to bestride a steed, for, dear lady and gentleman, these fine girls ride astride and have always done so. No woman rides any other way in that mountainous region, where narrow trails edge dizzy precipices and a horse must jump like a rabbit over bank and bowlder. And, besides, how could a woman ride upon a sidesaddle and rope a steer?

When one of the Misses Walker needs a new horse, her pa does not go to the training stable and select it for her, examining every point to see that it is perfectly gaited and warranted safe and gentle. The girl springs upon a horse she has already broken, and away she gallops into the midst of the wild herd bearing her father's brand. She looks at them till she finds one that suits her fancy; then she lassoes it unerringly, brings it to the ground and breaks it in like a rough rider in the wild west show. It snorts insanely, struggles and bucks frantically; but it bucks against fate, for the young lady is its master. When it was a wild colt a year old, this same girl or one of her sisters lassoed it, threw it and helped to brand it. Woman's weakness has been effectually developed out of her by the brave, free bringing up the Oregon sisters have had.

In addition to their other accomplishments, they are unerring rifle shots and carry gun and blanket with them when in the saddle. Woman's cowardice has here also been eliminated, and the woman is all the better for it. She will love her children just as devotedly when she has them and will be all the better able to take care of them.

At one of the state agricultural schools woman is proving that she is physically strong enough to take on herself the farmwork that it has been supposed hitherto only men could do. Girls at this school are being trained not only to manage farms, but actually to perform with their hands the labor. At any time in the season young lady students may be seen plowing, harrowing, planting, sowing and reaping and doing all scientifically under the eye of a professor. A woman may not perhaps as yet be able to throw a stone, but she undoubtedly has proved she can cut a straight furrow with the plow. What is more, when the young lady student has done her stint at plowing or harrowing she must unharness her horse, feed, water, halter, stall him and curry him. No detail is omitted that will accomplish her as a practical farmer, and every one of the girl students has proved she has the physical strength to stand up to her work; also that this strength increases with the exercise of it; also that it is wholly compatible with perfect womanly refinement and gentleness.

The young ladies who are graduated from this agricultural school will be prepared to take entire charge of a country place as farm superintendents. The course of instruction also includes dairying, live stock raising and horticulture.

In fruit culture and dairying there is certainly a promising field for women skilled in the practical knowledge of them. It can no longer be said that a woman has not strength to do farmwork, especially the lighter kinds, when she is proving that she is equal even to the heavier part. On the abandoned little rocky farms of New England, which are near to a good market, thousands of dissatisfied, dependent women might today be earning a noble living at dairying, poultry rearing and fruit and flower culture.

SUSAN PEPPER.

A Lucky Woman.

Jennie Higgetts, a domestic servant, has received by the will of her late mistress some magnificent jewels and the income of $30,000 for life because she was such a good girl.

A KNAVE . . . OF CONSCIENCE.

By Francis Lynde.

He looked at her narrowly and then the film of abstraction came between.

"I wonder if you really mean that? Are women so ready to condone?"

Her laugh was mocking. "You make me blush for you," she said. "Isn't an author supposed to know more about us than we know about ourselves?"

"I don't know about the supposition. But the man who knows the heart of one woman—"

She stopped him with a little gesture of impatience.

"Tell me what it is you don't know and I'll turn traitor and betray my sex."

At that his gaze went beyond her again and he said: "I wonder if you would?"

"Try me and see."

He hesitated a moment, and then plunged into the depths of it.

"Then tell me this: If Rathbone should go on and do all the hard things you say his character calls for—things which Priscilla believes to be wrong—would she put her conscience aside and stand with him?"

Miss Grierson's reply was brief and very much to the point.

"A woman in love has no conscience. The man she loves has to furnish enough of that commodity for two."

Griswold winced. "What a merciless little cynic you are," he declared.

"It is true, and when you are saying true things where is the use of taking the roundabout way. I don't say the woman wouldn't be hurt. She would be, and the hurt might turn up afterward in a way to make the man sorry. But that has nothing to do with the fact that a woman's conscience can't hold its own against her love."

Griswold shook his head in deprecation. "I don't like to believe that. I'd like to believe that a man may go on making a good woman's conscience the touchstone by which his own conceptions of right and wrong may be corrected."

Margery laughed lightly. "And so you may, if you don't first go about to make the woman love you. But you can't eat your cake and have it too."

Griswold folded his manuscript and put it back in the envelope. Then he said what was in his mind.

"These are generalities, Margery. Would you be that loyal to the man you loved?"

Miss Grierson's shrug was barely perceptible.

"I like that," she said. "That is certainly personal enough." And then: "You mustn't endow me with a conscience."

"Why?"

"Because I think it was denied me in the general distribution of things good but unhappy. I am afraid the question I ask oftenest is whether I want the thing hard enough to try to get it."

"As if anyone would believe that of you!" said Griswold, at parting.

But afterward, when he came to think of it, the thin edge of belief found a crevice and would not be denied its entrance therein.

CHAPTER XXII.

"I tell you, Griswold, there is no doubt about it; we have Jasper Grierson to thank for every move in this block game of ours. Every dollar's worth of work that we have lost has been taken away from us by his orders; and when we shall come to the heart of this strike business we shall find out that he is at the bottom of that."

The partners were closeted in the private office of the iron works, discussing the discouraging outlook in general and the ultimatum of the workmen in particular, and thus far Griswold had been unable to offer any helpful suggestion.

"I don't like to believe that, Ned," he protested. "It is a terrible charge to bring against any man. Besides, what motive could he have?"

"The one motive he has for everything he does—greed. He meant to swallow me whole when he lent me the money for the enlargement of the plant. You stepped in and stopped that, and now he means to swallow both of us."

Griswold shook his head. "I can't conceive the hardness of it, Ned."

"If you should accuse him of hardness it would make him laugh in your face. He would say it was business. But that is nothing to him. He is something more than a driver on the Juggernaut-car of business. He is a robber, out and out, and one who sticks at nothing. Have you heard of that deal he is engineering with the old banker from New Orleans?"

"What banker?"

"Old Andrew Galbraith, of the Bayou State bank."

If Griswold did not turn pale at the mention of Andrew Galbraith's name it was because his face was always colorless. Yet he forced himself to ask the question:

"I haven't heard of it; what is it?"

"Grierson is about to stick the old Scotchman for a cool million in the Red lake pine lands. You know what they're worth—or, rather, how utterly worthless they are."

"Oh, I think you must be mistaken, Ned. It would be sheer robbery."

"I am not mistaken; it came as straight as a string. It is a family matter and I ought not to mention it even to you. Young Blanton drew up the papers and, as you may have guessed before this, he and Gertie have no secrets from each other. The deal is all but closed."

Griswold went silent at that, sitting quiet for so long that Raymer wondered a little, and would have wondered a great deal if he could have known what a lion's net of responsibility his bit of information had flung over the silent one.

Truly, of all men living, Kenneth Griswold should have been the last to feel any conscientious promptings toward the saving of the man whom he himself had robbed; and yet the promptings were there, full-grown and insistent. He was still wrestling with them when the noon whistle of the iron works jarred sonorously upon the air, and Raymer got up and walked to the window commanding a view of the gates. And it was Raymer's voice that broke his reverie.

"It has come," said the ironmaster; and Griswold quickly joined him at the window.

The men were filing soberly out at the great gates with their dinner-pails and other belongings. The strike was on.

CHAPTER XXIII.

It was late in the afternoon of one of the matchless summer days when Griffin became an involuntary Crusoe. It was in the second week of the strike and the fourth of his sojourn in Wahaska, and being no nearer the solution of his problem than he was on the day of theory-framing when he had made sure that Charlotte Farnham's robber-lover would in due time make his appearance, he had fallen into the way of killing time in a rowboat on the lake. It was weary work, this waiting for a man who might never turn up, and there was a limit to the satisfaction to be gotten out of prying into the affairs of a small city whose history one might read as he ran. So Griffin took to the rowboat and the lake, pulling slow-races against time, wrestling with his problem meanwhile, and calling himself hard names; saying that it was only the inertia of the place, and not the hope of success, which was keeping him.

In the afternoon of the Crusoe hazard he had pulled out to the islet in the middle of the lake, had drawn the light boat up on the sand and had climbed the low bluff to smoke the pipe of reflection in the shade of the trees. It was here, with his back to the bole of a great oak, that sleep found him, smiting the pipe from his teeth and blotting out the hour in which the sun was sinking behind the western hills and the wind was rising. From this sleep unawares he was awakened by the whipping of the branches overhead and the crash of tiny breakers on the beach; and when he came alive to the realities he sprang up quickly and ran down to the little cove where he had left the boat; ran and looked and congratulated himself ironically; for the boat was gone.

"By Jove! I ought to have a leather medal for this, and I'll get it if they ever find out at headquarters," he jeered. "Hello, there! Boat ahoy!"

THEY ALL SAY SO.

Not Only in Plainfield, But in Every City and Town in the Union.

If the reader took the time and trouble to ask his fellow residents of Plainfield the simple question given below, he would obtain the one answer. If he would read the statements now being published in Plainfield which refer to this answer, it would surprise him to note that they number so many. As many more could be, and may be published, but in the meantime ask the first person you meet what cures backache? The answer will be, Doan's Kidney Pills. Here is a citizen who endorses our claim:

Mrs. Wm. H. Ludlow, of 88 Jackson avenue, says: "I had backache and a sort of dull pain across my loins for several years. If I sat for any length of time and tried to rise, I had a sharp pain in my kidneys. Walking any distance or standing aggravated the difficulty. I could not rest well at night from the fact that I had to be constantly changing about from one position to another trying to free myself from pain. I used quite a number of remedies but got no permanent relief. I was prevailed upon to get Doan's Kidney Pills from L. W. Randolp's durg. store. I must say they did me a great deal of good. It is seldom that I feel any pain in my back and when I do a few doses of this remedy never fails to relieve me. I know others who have used Doan's Kidney Pills with good results."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name Doan's and take no substitute.

MASTER OF CEREMONIES.

Time Is at Hand When Such an Official Is Absolutely Needed at the White House.

The necessity for an official "master of ceremonies" to be connected with the state department, and whose services would be at the command of the chief executive, is becoming more and more apparent, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. Every foreign visitor's reception, every state dinner, every public exercise participated in by the president, and the congress emphasizes [illegible]. The necessity is apparent [illegible] state funerals held at the capital. The United [illegible] court is jealous of its [illegible]. The diplomatic corps is [illegible]. Individual members of [illegible] insist that the precedence of [illegible] be observed in the [illegible]. The supreme court insists [illegible] of the highest coordinate branches of the government, its members should rank with the members of the diplomatic corps. Members of the corps believe, because they are the personal representatives of their sovereigns or governments, they should rank next to the president of the United States. Embarrassments multiply at every state function. If a state dinner is to be given at the white house half a dozen officials of the state department must give hours of study to the relative rank of the guests to be invited and determine in what order they shall be seated. It is even necessary to trace the lineage of some of these diplomats of apparently equal rank back for two generations to discover which should rank the other.

Maj. Pruden, who died a few weeks ago and who was one of the assistant secretaries to the president, made a specialty of such things, but with his death his accumulated knowledge and experience was lost. At the funeral of Admiral Sampson the differences between the United States supreme court and the diplomatic corps were so grave that it became necessary to seat them respectively in seats exactly the same distance from the front and on opposite sides of the central aisle of the church where the ceremonies were held. This seemed to solve the problem until they each contended that they should be seated on the side of the aisle where the president and his cabinet were seated. A compromise had to be effected. The democratic tendency of the people in this country oppose them to a master of ceremonies. The republic of France has such a functionary, and the republic of the United States may have to come to it some day.

Berlin as a delegate to the international shipbuilding convention. He is one of the most distinguished officers of the navy, and since 1897 has been chief of the naval bureau of ordnance. The admiral entered the navy in 1861 as master's mate on the Cumberland, and was present at the capture of Forts Hatteras and Clark in August of that year. He fought in the famous engagement with the Merrimac in 1862, and on that occasion rescued Lieut. Morris from drowning. He was promoted to the rank of rear admiral in April, 1901.

Long Sitting of Parliament.

The longest recorded sitting of the British house of commons was in 1881. On Monday, January 31, 1881, the house, having met at 3:45, continued sitting until Wednesday at 9:30—a continuous sitting of upward of 41½ hours. The next longest sitting occurred in 1877. On Tuesday, July 31, 1877, the house, having met at 3:45, continued sitting until Wednesday afternoon at 6:15, a period of 26½ hours.

IN TIME OF DANGER.

Many Lives Saved by What Is Called Presence of Mind.

Men, Women and Children Who Averted Death by Thinking and Acting Quickly—Story of a Canine Hero.

There are certain mysterious attributes of the human mind which baffle even the most searching scientific investigation. For instance, who can account with any degree of satisfaction for that mental condition inspired by emergency and commonly designated as presence of mind? Hundreds of lives are saved every year through the brain function which makes it possible for human beings to think and act quickly with seemingly supernatural powers, yet no one can say positively whether he possesses a mind so endowed until opportunity opens the way for a practical demonstration.

By considering cases where lives have been spared through presence of mind it will be seen that even in accidents of the most shocking character persons are snatched out of the jaws of death by the ability of the mind to remain active even under exceedingly trying conditions. Oftentimes it is the person who afterwards is heralded as a hero who displays wonderful presence of mind, and not infrequently it is the victims themselves. But the general principle is the same in both cases. Another remarkable feature about the mental activity known as presence of mind is that it is as well developed in children as among grown persons.

This fact is proved by the heroic conduct of 6-year-old Edith Ruthem, of New Brunswick, N. J. The tot started from her home to take her small brother for a walk. The children passed directly in front of a rapidly approaching trolley car. The mother shrieked a warning and with wonderful coolness the little girl pushed her brother out of harm's way and then, unable to escape, jumped into the fender of the car and hung on until the motorman, white with fright, brought it to a standstill. She was unhurt save for a slightly bruised side.

It was surely presence of mind that saved Kate Collins from a horrible death in a silk mill at Haverstraw. While working near a rapidly revolving machine her hair caught in the wheels and she was being drawn with terrifying swiftness to a frightful death when her presence of mind asserted itself and she grasped her hair with both hands and pulled with all her might, thus retarding its progress. Then she fainted and a young man, who also had presence of mind, rushed to the power wheels and threw off the belt.

The fact that Gregory McGregor, a master plumber of Elizabeth, N. J., was a thin man with presence of mind, also saved his life. He was crossing the iron girder bridge of the Jersey Central when an express train overtook him. To continue across the bridge was an impossibility, and there was no way for him to get out of the path of the train except by pressing himself tightly against the iron work of the bridge. The situation flashed across his mind in an instant, and, by accepting the one avenue of escape, he saved his life.

Animals are frequently no less heroes than human beings, and an incident of the recent burning of the steamer City of Pittsburg near Ogden Landing presents a striking illustration of this fact.

Michael Burt and his family took the steamer at Owensburg, Ky. It was a family of 13, and but one survives, a girl of ten years. When the family boarded the steamer a large Newfoundland dog followed them on the boat in spite of the fact that every effort was made to keep it off. When the animal saw that it would be forced to leave the steamer it ran in hiding until the boat was under way, and during the trip would sulk along and hide, afraid to come out for fear of punishment at the hands of the master or some member of the crew.

When the fire broke out on the steamer the dog saw members of the family perish, and finally the ten-year-old child, with whom it was accustomed to play, plunge into the water. The child had no sooner fallen than the faithful animal went after her, caught her dress in its teeth, and swam with her to the shore, where it kept watch until the child was taken in charge by rescuers.

ON THE DIAMOND.

The hitherto undefeated Marquette A. C., of Brooklyn, with their sixteen strike out record pitcher, Hughes, in the box, fell before Westfield's all-star aggregation Saturday, 7 to 0. The game was the most interesting played so far, and but for errors by the visitors in the first inning should have been 3 to 0. Next Saturday the Pearsalls, of Greenville, go against Westfield. This team is considered the snappiest of any hereabouts. They keep their team intact, play two games each week and put in solid evening practice. As it is their ambition to wipe out the 14 to 0 defeat handed them by Westfield last year, they are coming with blood in their eyes and reinforced by a crowd of rooters.

GOLF.

From now until September 1 it is not expected that there will be other events at Hillside than the weekly competition for the Boys' and Golf Committee cups, as most of the members will be away during that time.

CHURCH TROUBLES.

Enumerated at Somewhat Stormy Session of Mt. Olive Baptist Church Last Evening.

There was a somewhat stormy business meeting at the Mt. Olive Baptist church last evening.

The members have felt for a long time that the present church is not adequate for their needs and they are anxious to raise the $1,000 mortgage so that a new edifice can be erected or alterations made to the present building. They also want the saloon opposite the church moved, and they want the First Baptist church to help them. Another grievance is that the church wanted the money this year it cost for the excursion to put on the church. Their request was not granted and no reply was made. They say they are tired of being obliged to go to the same place every year.

Paster Jackson has received a call to a large church in North Carolina and it is possible he may accept.

—Delicious Jenny Lind melons are to be found in abundance at Neuman Brotners.

—The regular meeting of Freedom Castle, Knights of the Golden Eagle, will be held this evening. Following the transaction of business several games will be played in the quoit tournament.

STOPPED SALE.

Lot in Former Mayor Randolph's Park Cannot be Sold Until the Suit Is Settled.

Before Vice Chancellor Pitney in Jersey City yesterday, on motion of Hetfield & Hetfield, a writ of injunction was granted, restraining the sheriff from selling the lot claimed by F. W. Bird, situated in the centre of the park laid out by Former Mayor L. V. F. Randolph opposite his residence on East Front street. It will be remembered that an action was brought by Mr. Bird against Carrie C. Boice and others, with a view to compelling the specific performance of a contract, for the non-fulfillment of which contract and to satisfy a judgment obtained, the lot in question was advertised for sale on July 30. This sale is now restrained until the termination of the suit for possession, which has been brought in the Supreme Court by Mr. Bird in the form of an action of ejectment against Mr. Randolph, who is supposed to have bought the Boice judgment.

Conductor Slightly Hurt.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, July 15—Traffic on the New Jersey Central's east-bound tracks was suspended, for several hours, early yesterday morning, owing to a wreck which occurred shortly after midnight. A coal train parted and came together, derailing six gondolas and strewing their contents over both tracks. Condcutor James P. English, of this place, was slightly hurt.

Trial Delayed.

Mrs. Brennan, arrested on a charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduct, came up for trial in the borough court last evening, but the case was held over till today. A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Martin Duffy on a charge of assault preferred by Joel Scheurlein.

To Give Chance to Vacate.

The case of Smith against Krinehope, a suit for the possession of a farm was adjourned in Justice Smalley's court this morning, for one week, to give the plaintiff an opportunity to vacate.

Another Stage Connection.

The Lehigh Valley stage between this city and South Plainfield has inaugurated a new trip. It leaves this city at 4:20 in the afternoon, connecting with the Wilkesbarre express.

Poisoning the System.

It is through the bowels that the body is cleansed of impurities. Constipation keeps these poisons in the system, causing headache, dullness and melancholia at first, then unsightly eruptions and finally serious illness unless a remedy is applied. DeWitt's Little Early Risers prevent this trouble by stimulating the liver and promote easy, healthy action of the bowels. These little pills do not act violently but by strengthening the bowels enable them to perform their own work. Never gripe or distress. L. W. Randolph.

BIRDS AND FISH TO HELP IN THE FIGHT

Leader in the Mosquito War Wants Permission to Investigate Their Share in It.

WILL HAVE TO KILL FEW

WRITTEN TO PRESIDENT OF THE STATE GAME COMMISSION FOR PERMISSION.

Mr. Frothingham Will Present the Request, But Is Skeptical as to the Theories Involved—Summit Wants Minnows.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Pompton Lakes, July 15—The battle that is being waged in New Jersey against the mosquito is disclosing some very curious and interesting facts and theories. That certain birds and fish are the enemies of the mosquito and can be utilized in the existing conflict is among the novel features.

Howard P. Frothingham, president of the Fish and Game Commission of the State, resides here during the summer. He has received some requests that show what the troublesome insect must encounter, if the statements made are correct.

Professor Smith, of Rutgers, the leader in the mosquito war, has written a letter to President Frothingham, in which he says: "Under the law I am expected to study the natural enemies of the mosquitoes. To do this will require the killing of some birds that are either popularly credited with destroying mosquitoes or which we know do feed on the insects. We wish to ascertain the relative rank of the various birds as mosquito killers. There are only a few species involved, and probably it would not be necessary to destroy any large number of specimens to prove our point one way or the other.

"W. P. Seal, of Delair, formerly a member of the United States Fish Commission, a thoroughly competent, scientific man, has this branch of the work in his charge, and I would like to have for him a permit that will allow him to kill such birds as may be necessary for our investigation. As this is a State matter, possibly the ordinary fee and bond can be dispensed with; but if you decide to the contrary, there will be no difficulty in complying with the provisions of the law. I would like you to send me the necessary blanks, if they are necessary, and such other information as may be desirable to secure the prompt issuance of a permit."

From Dr. J. Edward Rowe, health officer of the Board of Health of Summit, President Frothingham has received the following: "I have been requested by the Town Improvement Association of this city (Summit) to procure from you a sufficient quantity of top minnows to put in ten ponds to destroy the larvae of mosquito contained in surface of such ponds. Any information that you can give me relative to the number required for a given area of water surface will be fully appreciated. If there is any charge for these fish please send me the bill and I will remit at once."

Mr. Frothingham wrote to both Professor Smith and Dr. Rowe that their communications would be referred to the Fish and Game Commission at the next meeting, which will be held in a few days. The commissioners are more or less skeptical of the theories involved and doubt the wisdom of granting permits to kill birds in violation of the law for the purposes named.

As to the use of the top minnow in the mosquito combat, it may be the commission will grant the Summit request, although the request produced a broad smile on the face of the president. It is a problem, perhaps, whether the moqsuito can properly be deemed to belong to the realm of fish or game.

Trip to Atlantic City.

A splendid opportunity is offered Plainfielders to visit Atlantic City, the acknowledged leading Jersey coast resort, next Tuesday. On that day Benevolent Council, No. 256, Jr. O. U. A. M., will conduct an excursion to the place at a greatly reduced fare for the round trip. The train will stop at Dunellen, Clinton and Grant avenues, the North Avenue station, Netherwood and Fanwood and will have parlor car accommodations.

Gathering in Wheelmen.

By reason of so many violations occurring, the police have commenced a crusade against bicycle riders who fail to equip their machines with lamp and bell. One arrest was made last evening and others are to follow in quick succession. The victim was Walter Sampson who appeared in the city court, this morning, and was given a reprimand.

Rev. and Mrs. W. M. Downey, of Washington avenue, are spending the summer at Merrick, N. Y.

PERSONAL.

Mr. and Mrs. William Pipe, formerly of this city but now of Newark, have returned after a short stay with Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey F. Colthar, of Duer streer.

Alex. Muir, of Essex street, left last evening for Richmond, Va., where he will erect a safe for the Hibbard-Rodman-Ely Company. He will be absent ten days.

Fire Horse Injured.

In answering the gong at the 5 o'clock drill, yesterday afternoon, "Ted," one of the fire horses attached to the chemical engine, slipped and sprained a leg. He was taken in charge immediately by Dr. Pocock and it is thought will be all right in a day or so.

Same Old Story.

A bunch of keys, lost by J. D. Macnab Sunday and advertised in The Daily Press last evening, were returned to the owner within an hour after the paper was on the street, having been found by Mrs. A. H. Wilson, of Craig place. The moral is obvious.

Arrived in Safety.

A cablegram dated from London was received by Warren Marsh, this morning, announcing the safe arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Craig A. Marsh. They sailed from New York on the Minnehaha, July 5.

Recovered Diamond.

B. A. Mumford, who lost a valuable diamond scarf pin, worth $300 at the Y. M. C. A.-Safe Works game, has recovered the property.

A PRODIGAL PRINCE.

Notable Instances of the Extravagance of a Scion of the Royal House of Hawaii.

Prince David Kawananakoa, who is a nephew of the late Queen Kapiolani of Hawaii, and who, with his brother Cupid, inherited her fortune, is one of the most prodigal of Hawaiians, says a San Francisco correspondent of the New York Tribune. When the Buffalo expedition ended a quintette of Hawaiian musicians, who had been playing in the Midway plaisance there, went to San Francisco to take a vessel for Honolulu. Prince David was staying at the Occidental hotel in San Francisco, and when he met his countrymen dissuaded them from sailing at once for their homes, and engaged them for a month to play at his pleasure. The guests of the Occidental hotel enjoyed exceedingly the music and songs of the native musicians, who were ordered by Prince David to play two or three times a week during the serving of dinner at the hotel. This whim of the prince cost him a pretty penny.

In Honolulu, where Prince David has a magnificent home at Waikiki, he often entertains a hundred or more of his friends for a day at a time. When he was making the campaign for delegate to congress 1½ years ago he at one time gave a feast to 1,200 of his constituents. This banquet was served in the open air, as is the custom in Hawaii, and beginning at nine o'clock in the evening did not end until day broke.

FOUND DEAD IN A FIELD

Aged German Gardener Had Successfully Attempted to End His Own Life.

TEMPORARY INSANITY.

His Health Had Never Been Good Since a Sunstroke Two Years Ago —Body Was Found by Little Margaret Wilcox, While Picking Berries at Trolley Terminus.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, July 16—While looking for blackberries in a vacant lot near the Front street trolley terminus at the place yesterday afternoon, little Margaret Wilcox stumbled on the body of a man. It was that of Matthias Schmidt, an aged German, who had the night before successfully attempted to take his own life.

When the little girl saw the dead man lying there, she screamed and ran away. She notified the neighbors who hastily summoned Dr. Brakeley. It was then found that the man was dead and had been for some time. He lay on his back with a brand new 38 calibre revolver grasped tightly in his right hand. There were two exploded cartridges in the revolver. A pocketbook and a silver watch were found in the man's clothes. There was no money in the pocketbook but it contained a paper on which was written the dead man's name and the names of his five children, and also a receipt from the American Express Company at Tarrytown for a telescope bag.

It was evident that the act was done with much deliberateness. The body was found beneath a tree, on a limb of which was found hanging the man's cane. The first shot passed through the abdomen and the second through the heart. The latter wound apparently caused death. It is thought that the deed was committed about 10 o'clock Monday night as two revolver shots were heard then by residents of that neighborhood. The body laid there until yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock when little Margaret Wilcox was the first to see it.

Matthias Schmidt was born in France sixty-five years ago. He came to this country thirty years ago. For several years he was employed by Dr. J. Ackerman Coles, of Scotch Plains, as head landscape gardener and took much pride in working on the beautiful grounds surrounding Dr. Coles' fine residence. Afterwards he and his son managed the greenhouses on East Front street, now owned by A. D. Shepard. He was also employed as a gardner about Plainfield for a number of years.

Two years ago, he suffered a sunstroke and since that time he has been somewhat irrational at times. It is believed that he had one of these attacks of temporary insanity when he took his own life. The first of the year he went to the Industrial Home to live. May 1, he went to the home of Samuel McMann near Dunellen, having a fancy that he would be poisoned if he remained. He remained at the latter place until eight days ago when he went to Tarrytown to visit a son who is employed at the home of one of the Vanderbilts. Of late, he has been complaining of sickness and a buzzing in the head.

At Tarrytown, he received some money with which he purchased a revolver. He evidently came to this place with the express purpose of making way with himself as he was seen by no one here and did not visit any of his accustomed haunts.

The body was removed to Runyon's undertaking parlors last night and was viewed by Coroner Carroll this morning. A burial permit was then issued. The funeral will be private.

He leaves three sons, Peter, of this city, John, of Scotch Plains, and Matthias, Jr., of Tarrytown, and two daughters, Miss Lillian, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. Maggie Coley, of this city.

Good Weather Promised.

The weather conditions for Thursday will no doubt be ideal for the annual excursion of Trinity Reformed church Sunday-school and Marconnier chapel to Asbury Park. By all means make arrangements to go on this excursion and have a good time at the shore. Train leaves Plainfield at 8 o'clock, and returning leaves the shore at 7 o'clock.

INDIAN RELICS GO.

Disposing of Col. Scott's Valuable Collection to Various Museums and Private Collections.

Through the representatives from the Field Museum of Chicago, a large number of the valuable Indian relics in the Col. Scott collection, have been purchased and they were shipped to Chicago yetserday. They include Indian suits, Buffalo skin cases and many other Indian articles of rare value.

Other valuables, including the pottery, will likely go to the Natural Museum of History in New York, that institution having secured an option of them. The representatives are now waiting to get H. P. Scott's price on them.

J. E. Linde, of Brooklyn, has also purchased considerable from the collection amounting to between $100 and $200. He has a large collection himself and is constantly adding to it.

H. P. Scott will probably return to his home in Kansas this week. He will come back to Plainfield next fall, when he will make arrangements to sell the valuable paintings in the collection. They will likely be sold in New York.

KORMAN IS NOW IMPROVING

HAS REGAINED CONSCIOUSNESS AND ABLE TO TAKE NOURISHMENT.

Lawyer Wm. G. DeMeza Will Soon Ask the Court to Release Drake on Bail.

Edward Korman, the young man who was assaulted Friday, is decidedly better at Muhlenberg Hospital today. He has regained consciousness and this morning was able to take a glass of milk. Great hopes are now entertained for his entire recovery, although his chances are still no more than even.

William G. DeMeza has been retained as counsel for Charles Drake. As soon as there is a sufficient improvement in the condition of Korman, Lawyer DeMeza will go before the Court of Special Sessions and ask that bail be fixed for the release of his client. An erroneous impression was given the public, it appears, from the fact that Drake was arrested at Westfield. He had not fled thither to avoid arrest but had gone there to attend to his work, having obtained a position as motorman a few days previous to the unfortunate occurrence.

NEW FACTORY BUILDINGS.

Permit Granted to L. J. H. Grosbart for Four Large Buildings.

Building Inspector T. O. Doane has granted to George Buss a permit for the erection of a dwelling on West Second street, near Rock avenue. W. H. Clum is the architect, Wm. Thompson, mason, and Titus & Pope, the carpenters. L. J. H. Grosbart, on behalf of the Pederick & Ayer Company, of Philadelphia, has been granted a permit for the erection of four buildings at the corner of Clinton avenue and West Front street. The largest will be 388 feet deep by 100 feet front.

MAY SEND DELEGATION.

Warren Engine Company Expects to Act on Invitation to Atlantic City.

There will be a special meeting of Warren Engine Company some night this week to consider the invitation recently received from the fire department of Atlantic City to take part in the grand parade and celebration to be held there in September at the time of the firemen's convention. It is probable that the North Plainfield firemen will make arrangements to send a delegation.

Dr. Bryan Will Speak.

At the Young Men's Christian Association, Sunday, Rev. Dr. J. R. Bryan, of this city, will address the men's meeting at 4 o'clock. Vocal selections will be rendered by Miss May Grant. Lemonade will be served free to all who come. All men are invited.

Will Remember It.

Miss Ethel Searing, of Park avenue, will always have occasion to remember her ninth birthday anniversary, for yesterday she was agreeably surprised by the gift of a handsome upright grand piano faom her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Searing.

Repainting Old Cars.

All the closed cars of the local street railway are being repainted a bright yellow and relettered with the initials of the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Railway. New trucks are also being put under the majority of them.

Mrs. William Smalley, Jr., of Somerset street, has gone to Princeton to spend a few days visiting friends.

MAKING A NEW TIME TABLE

Vast Amount of Labor is Required in Changing Schedules on the Jersey Central.

HOW IT'S ACCOMPLISHED

Trains Are First Laid Out on a Monstrous Chart, and Not Until They Are All "Clear" is The Working Schedule Made Up—Takes Many Weeks to Complete It.

Very few of the thousands of passengers who are daily patrons of the railroads which pass through or near Plainfield have any idea of the vast amount of labor required to make a timetable, and a less number are aware that what is termed "working" timetable must be as carefully balanced as the accounts of the United States Treasury. Every railroad of any pretensions has one or more experts, who, while not employed exclusively at this particular work, can be called upon at any time to revise an old schedule or to make up an entirely new one.

Most of the large roads have recently issued new schedules with additional trains and changes in time incidental to the summer vacation season. This task required nearly a month. It is one of the most vital features in railroad work, for a single error might mean loss of life, and damage to rolling stock. When it is necessary to change a timetable a meeting of the general manager, general passenger agent, general superintendent, division superintendents, trainmaster and assistant trainmasters is called, and the proposed changes discussed in an informal way.

Each official offers suggestions, which are noted and discussed. It is decided how many trains shall be added to the schedule or taken off, and at what hours they shall leave terminal points. Then the expert takes up the work. His intimate knowledge of the system and branches enables him to make up an advanced copy of the new schedule on paper. In order to do this he must be acquainted with the grades along the line and the capacity of sidings at passing points. He must also be particular to have no trains that move in opposite directions pass at a station where no fence divides the main line tracks.

The expert must make due allowance for crews at terminal points to have sufficient time to turn their engines, take water, coal and do the necessary switching. If this time was not allowed the train would be obliged to leave late, and the whole schedule of a division would be apt to be disarranged. Having figured out the new schedule on paper, the next work is to prove it, and this is the most intricate part of the expert's work.

The most improved system now in vogue and in general use by the large roads is what is known as a proof chart. This varies in size according to the number of trains run. One of the largest in use in this section of the country is in the trainmaster's office of the Central Railroad of New Jersey at Jersey City. It measures eighteen feet in length and is over six feet high. On this chart the movements of over 200 trains are traced.

The back of the chart is constructed of wood pulp. It has been found that all kinds of wood would warp, but the pulp, bound with iron, retrains its form. Over this is spread a blue print, the size of the board. This gives the name of all the stations and passing points, and covers a time period of twenty-four hours. It is ruled off to show the distance from New York to Easton and the distances between stations. Every minute of the twenty-four hours is ruled off on the board. First class or passenger trains are shown by red silk strings if they move south or east, and with yellow strings if moving north or west. Freight and second or third class trains are denoted by pink strings.

In order to prove its timetable, the train master or his assistant starts at the point indicated as New York on the chart. A pin is driven in the chart and the time the train would make on the new timetable is carefully noted as it progresses across the chart to its stopping point. A string is wound around each pin, which is driven in the chart at the points indicating stations where the train is scheduled to stop. Tags giving the number of the train are attached to both ends of the string.

The fast express trains having been disposed of, the same method is followed with the locals, and then with the fast and local freights. When all the movements of the trains of all classes have been traced, the trainmaster seats himself in front of the chart and makes a careful study of it. He finds that some of the trains, if run according to his first schedule, will meet where there are no sidings to accommodate them. So time must be added to or subtracted from the running time to overcome this trouble. Then a freight train is discovered to be likely to get in the way of a passenger train, and the time of the latter must be altered, or an express is found to pass a station at the time a local is discharging passengers, and to avoid danger another change is made here.

It is not until the chart is "clear" that the expert calls in his superior officers, who carefully go over his work to suggest changes in running time. By this time the chart looks like an enormous spider's web, but to the experienced railroad official it is as plain as a map is to a school boy. Every time the strings cross he notes a passing point, and every pin head is a stop for the train, but even when the chart is "clear" the work of making up the timetable is but half completed. The conductors and engineers have no chart to guide them, and the working table must now be made up.

On an average the timetable governing each division and branch must be gone over and corrected four times before they will be found satisfactory. The working tables are for the government and information of employes only, and bear marks and symbols that would not be understood by the general public.

The last stage in the issuing of a timetable is the revision of the printer's proof, and this is a large undertaking in itself. As a rule many errors have to be corrected before the orders to print are given. The figures must be absolutely correct, and every official in the operating department must be sure that they are. When the working tables are printed, copies are sent to the general passenger agent, and from these the folders issued for the information of passengers are printed. It is not until every employe, who has in any way anything to do with the operating of trains, has received and signed a receipt for a copy of the timetable that the issue is regarded as complete. The chart is then placed in a cabinet until the next change in time is anticipated.

Before making a change in a timetable it is often necessary for the superintendent, trainmaster or his assistants to make a number of trips over the road, in order that the trains that have caused delays on the old schedule may be so handled under the new that no excusable waste of time can be claimed by operators or train hands.

HIT BY ROLLING STONE.

John Snyder Was in Cellar of New Building When Stone Came Down.

John Snyder had a narrow escape from serious accident yesterday while engaged on the masonry work of Lafayette Rosenstiehl's new building on Somerset street. Wm. Smith, of Washington Valley, was unloading stone, when a big block rolled from the surface and fell into the cellar, striking Snyder in the side. He was knocked out for a few minutes but an examination proved that he was not seriously hurt.

Enlarging His Store.

E. H. Clevely, of North avenue, has leased the store adjoining his restaurant, which was formerly occupied by Conover, the expressman, and the work of improving the place was started today. Mr. Clevely will join this store with his main room, so that he will have a sufficient amount of room to meet his increasing trade. He is now having a tile floor put in the new part.

Native Cloth From Philippines.

Mrs. S. R. Struthers, of West Front street, is very proud of a fine piece of native cloth made by a Filipino and sent to her by her niece, whose husband is a United States soldier in the Philppines. Mrs. Struthers proposes to make a shirtwaist of the piece of cloth.

Picture of Reinhart.

The last issue of Harper's Weekly contains excellent pictures of Frank O. Reinhart in his match play with Conklin on the Morris county golf course, recently, when the former was defeated.

Tells About the Order.

Under the direction of Grand Master Workman V. W. Nash a handsome pamphlet has been issued in the interest of the Ancient Order United Workmen, giving full particulars about the order.

PRETTY WEDDING AT A PLAINFIELD HOME

Marriage of Miss Annie Kirch and Charles O. Smith Took Place Last Night.

WILL RESIDE HERE.

THE CEREMONY WAS PERFORMED BY REV. JOSEPH O. M'KELVEY.

Attractive Home Wedding Which United the City and Borough—Attendants on the Bridal Couple—To Live on West Fourth Street.

One of the most attractive home weddings of the season was that of last evening, when Miss Annie Kirch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Kirch, of Liberty street, and Charles O. Smith, of 243 Somerset street, were married at 7:30 o'clock in the presence of the immediate relatives. It was a quiet affair, none outside of the relatives being present. Rev. Joseph O. McKelvey, the pastor of Warren chapel, officiated.

The bride was gowned in white organdie, trimmed with ribbon, and she carried a beautiful bouquet of white roses. She was attended by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Phillip Kirch, who was also gowned in white. The groom was attended by Phillip Kirch. The wedding march was played on the piano by Louis M. Hummer, of the borough.

The home was prettily decorated with the season's choice flowers, and especially attractive were the decorations in the dining room. Following the ceremony and the congratulations, supper was served. Later in the evening the bride and groom left Plainfield to enjoy a short wedding trip. Upon their return they will reside on West Fourth street, between Liberty and New streets, where the groom recently purchased a home. They were the recipients of a great many presents, both useful and handsome.

Mr. Smith is employed by William G. Debele, of Somerset street, and is popular among a host of friends. His wife is also highly esteemed in a large circle of acquaintances.

STREET SIGNS.

Somerville Decides to Follow the Example of Plainfield in That Respect.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, July 16—The Board of Town Commissioners, at its regular meeting Monday night, decided to hustle a little and make some necessary improvements to the town. Signs at street corners will be renewed and the board is going to pattern after Plainfield, as Commissioner Houston said, and have enamel signs, even if they do cost a little more than ordinarily.

At the next meeting an important ordinance will be adopted in regard to licenses. When that goes into effect the license clerk will have the privilege of charging shows either $5, $10, $20 or $50 as he may see fit, whereas heretofore he has been obliged to charge either $5 or $50.

He will be supplied with a plate with the words "Somerville License" on it and will have a rubber stamping outfit to put the name of the one who takes out a license and the date on the plate.

ELKS BIG TIME.

New Brunswick Lodge Will Hold Its Festival at Riverside Park.

The New Brunswick Lodge of Elks has completed arrangements for the holding of its annual midsummer night's festival. It will take place Tuesday, July 29, at Riverside Park, the new resort recently opened by the Middlesex and Somerset Traction Company, situated on the Raritan river. A feature of this season's affair will be the appearance of the celebrated Gordon Highlander Band, of Canada, which is now giving nightly concerts before thousands of people in Willow Grove Park, Philadelphia. It numbers forty musicians and a chorus of twenty sweet-voiced singers, bagpipe players and specialists who give Scottish dances and other acts. It costs the lodge $500 to secure this one attraction.

In Justice Mattison's Court.

Papers have been served in the contract case of James K. Arnold against John M. Schorb, Jr. The summons is returnable Saturday morning in Justice Mattison's court.

—Have you tried Tier's bisque or French vanilla or peach? More varieties of ices, and sherbets than at Delmonico's.

AUTOMOBILE LINE.

Capitalists Said to be Considering Project of Running From Freehold to the Seashore.

It is said that New Jersey capitalists are seriously considering a new and interesting experiment with automobiles. It is proposed to build a road between two places in this State where there is considerable travel and establish and run thereon a line of automobiles for carrying passengers.

The idea is for the automobile company to own the road just as a railroad company owns its tracks, and for it to be used exclusively for the running of its passenger machines. They could then go at a high rate of speed without endangering other vehicles and would make pleasant and, it is believed, very popular lines of travel

There is some talk of such a road from Freehold to the seashore. Should such automobile road be built and prove successful they would be likely soon to supplant many trolley roads. Such a road from Trenton to Point Pleasant, through Lakewood, running in the summer on a half hour headway, would probably get all the passengers it could carry.

GRAPPLED WITH BURGLAR

MRS. WM. SCHOMP, OF NEW MARKET, ATTACKED MIDNIGHT INTRUDER.

But He Was Too Quick and Plunged Through the Window—Posse Pursued Him.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Market, July 16—An attempt to burglarize the residence of William Schomp, of this place, early Monday morning, was foiled by the pluckiness of Mrs. Schomp.

She awoke from her slumbers just as a man crawled through a window of her room on the first floor. She made no outcry but bided her time and getting an opportunity, sprang from bed and grappled with the fellow, at the same time calling her husband. The would-be burglar struck her several stunning blows and wrenched himself loose, plunged headlong through the window.

Mr. Schomp was close behind him but the fellow disappeared in the darkness. A posse of citizens headed by Justice VonMinden scoured the vicinity but without success. Mrs. Schomp is positive the fellow was a negro.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL CONVENTION.

Middlesex County Will Hold One at Jamesburg, September 11.

The annual session of the Middlesex county Sunday-school convention will be held at the Presbyterian church at Jamesburg, Thursday, September 11. The executive committee of the convention met recently and left the arrangements of the programme in the hands of the president, Rev. M. E. Snyder, and the secretary, H. B. Zimmerman and they have just completed their work.

Three sessions will be held during the day. The committee has arranged for a list of able speakers: Miss Angie W. Wray, Rev. Linn E. Wheeler, of New Brunswick, E. V. D. Foster, of Jersey City, president of the State organization; Rev. J. W. Marshall, of the Broadway M. E. church, Camden; Rev. Dr. A. J. Lawson, Rev. Prof. F. E. Dager, Rev. J. Madison Hare.

TO SELL OLD TRUCK.

Fire Committee is Advertising Old Truck For Sale.

The fire committee of the Common Council has again decided to advertise for sale, the small hook and ladder truck, now doing service at headquarters in place of the Hayes truck, which is being repaired. It has been stationed at the West End house but with the arrival of the new combination chemical engine and truck it will not be needed. The machine is in excellent condition and can be had at a reasonable figure.

I. C. T. Business.

At a meeting of the I. C. T. Club, held last evening, Charles Burdette Morse and Ralph Leighton Morrow were unanimously elected to the honorary membership of the organization. Arrangements were also concluded for the club's outing to Atlantic City, Tuesday, when the members will make the trip in a private car attached to the Junior excursion train.

Sent Her Home.

Martin Duffy, up in the borough police court last evening, charged with assault on the complaint of Joel Scheurlein, was fined $3. Mrs. Brennan, whose case was held over from the day before, was sent to her former home in Ireland, the money being furnished by friends.

ENDEAVORERS IN SESSION

State Christian Endeavor Convention Began at Bridgeton Last Evening.

WHAT'S YET TO COME.

Preliminary Session Was Held Last Night—Delegates Are Gathering at Bridgeton Today and All-Day Sessions Are Being Held—Tomorrow's Programme.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bridgeton, July 16—The sixteenth annual convention of the New Jersey Christian Endeavor Societies was opened last evening. with a very large number of delegates in attendance. More will arrive today and remain until the close tomorrow evening. Last evening the preliminary session was held in the Second Presbyterian church, when the State executive and local committees held a meeting to arrange for the large meetings to follow.

This morning at 9:30 o'clock the State executive committee met in Christ Lutheran church for prayer, conference and business, and this afternoon there will be the reception session, after which the convention will be called to order by the State president. There will be the address of welcome by Rev. Dr. W. W. Moffett, of this place, and the response by Rev. W. T. S. Lumbar, of Moorestown. Then will follow the report of the secretary, Miss Ida B. Stevens, of Hackettstown; report of the treasurer, Rev. T. E. Davis, of Bound Brook; appointment of committees; press department report by A. B. Johnson, of South Orange; correspondence, by F. A. Taft, of Newark, to be followed by a closing address, "The Power of Persuasion," by Rev. Addison Moore, of Jersey City.

Following the afternoon session there will be a secretaries' conference conducted by Miss Ida B. Stevens. This evening Rev. Dr. Cornelius Brett, of Jersey City, will preside, and after the devotional exercises by Rev. Dr. D. H. King, of Vineland, there will be the president's address by Rev. W. T. S. Lumbar, of Moorestown. A feature of this evening's session will be an address by J. Willis Baer, of Boston, Mass., to be followed by the "quiet hour" conducted by Rev. Dr. Eben B. Cobb, of Elizabeth, and the convention sermon by Rev. Dr. W. H. Fishburn, of Camden.

All of the sessions are being held in the Central M. E. church, a large edifice well adapted for the purpose. It is believed that this convention will be one of the largest in the history of the society and one of the most successful, as there will be no international convention this year to detract from its interest.

KIRCH AND HUMMER LEAD.

The quoit pitching contest was continued last evening by the members of Freedom Castle, No. 42, Knights of the Golden Eagle. Kirch and Hummer now lead with 800 per cent. The scores to date are as follows:

Kirch and Hummer, 800 per cent.; Niles and L. M. Hummer, 715; Kenney and Hoagland, 667; Buch and Runyon, 663; Vail and Koller, 600; Cranston and Cranston, 545; Day and Martin, 455; Bowman and Randolph, 455; Allen and Luckey, 375; Curren and Voorhees, 333; Carver and Forestel, 250; Buchanan and Vail, 250; Fisher and Clark, 000; Bailey and Rosentheil, 000. It is expected that two more games will conclude the tournament.

Going by Lakewood.

The New Jersey Central train which will take the Plainfielders on Benevolent Council's excursion to Atlantic City, Tuesday, will take the new and what is considered the most picturesque route to the pleasure resort. It will be by the way of Elizabeth and Lakewood, through the famous pines of the latter place. The ride is itself considered to be a feature of the trip.

Benefit Euchre.

A benefit progressive euchre in aid of the Netherwood Fresh Air Camp will be held at the Hotel Netherwood on the evening of July 24. A small fee will be charged those who take part and an invitation to be present is extended to all those who hold tickets for the summer functions at the hotel.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

A Cranford justice of the peace who has just made a reputation as a "nipper" of prize fights, should be prepared to act when the Board of Education there holds its next session over the charges against School Superintendent Thomas.—Newark News.

Assemblyman Wm. F. Hall, the member from Cranford, makes announcement over his own signature that he will be a candidate for renomiantion and re-election on the Republican ticket. It was reported in and around Cranford a few weeks ago that Mr. Hall had decided not to run again, but such is not the case. Just how this announcement will affect the candidacy of Freeholder Emmor K. Adams, who is desirous of securing the nomination for sheriff, remains to be seen.—Elizabeth Journal.

Now that Congressman Fowler has made public the name of the young man who passed the most successful examination in the competition for the appointment as cadet at West Point, the Democratic press of the new Fifth District will have to hunt up some other charge against the Congressman, or else return to the Standard Oil story. That seems to be about the only old standby that promises to be of use in this campaign unless a new version of "where did he get it" can be unearthed.—Newark News.

Housekeepers should take warning from the operations of the young woman, who, by having herself employed as a domestic in several Newark houses, has only remained long enough in each to steal whatever money and valuables she could lay her hands on. The general carelessness of housewives and other employers of family servants in examining the records of those who come to them looking for work is largely responsible for a condition that makes possible such wide swindling operations as those in which this young woman has been engaged.

For mutual protection, housekeepers should make it a rule to ask for references from all servants before engaging them, and then to take the trouble to hunt the references up. It is the easiest thing in the world for a girl to bring to a prospective employer forged letters of recommendation, or, as the conditions now stand, to name well-known residents as former employers, as in neither case is there likely to be any investigation. When the security of the home is at stake, as it really is in the employment of domestics, surely as much precaution should be exercised as is customary in the business world in similar circumstances.—Newark Advertiser.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

In the society notes of The New York Mail and Express the following reference is made to Mrs. di Zerega, Sr., the mother of Mrs. Samuel Huntington, of Franklin place. KING SEES RUSSIA'S TROOPS.

Big Parade In Honor of Victor Emmanuel.

KRASNOE-SELO, Russia, July 16.—About 39,000 troops commanded by the Grand Duke Vladimir, uncle of the czar, were paraded in honor of King Victor Emmanuel of Italy. The arrival of the czar and the king was greeted by the playing of the Italian national anthem by the massed bands, the troops applauding thunderously. The czarina and other ladies of the imperial family were driven to the scene in open carriages.

During the march past King Victor Emmanuel remained mounted in front of the imperial tent, which was festooned with Russian and Italian flags. The czar galloped to the head of the troops and led them before the king. Subsequently the czar and the grand dukes presented their various regiments and saluted the king, who was visibly impressed by the spectacle.

Last night the Grand Duke Nicholas, whose wife is the queen of Italy's sister, gave a dinner to the royal guest.

Fatal Seaboard Air Line Wreck.

NORFOLK, Va., July 16.—Running at the rate of forty miles an hour the Seaboard Air Line morning express, northbound, collided with a lumber laden flat car four miles north of Raleigh. The car was on the main line, but it was dark, and the engineer could not see it in time to stop his train. Engineer J. H. Watson was killed, and his engine badly wrecked. The fireman saved himself by jumping. No passengers were injured.

Oil Tank Struck by Lightning.

JENNINGS, La., July 16.—Lightning struck the big tank in the oilfields here. The tank, with its contents, was burned and is a total loss. The flames spread to the pools of oil surrounding the Jennings well No. 2 and later to the well itself, burning the derricks, but doing no further damage. There were many other wells near by, but they were saved by covering them with earth, thus relieving the danger of the spreading of the fire.

Severe Storm at Albany.

ALBANY, N. Y., July 16.—A very severe hail and rain storm passed over this section late yesterday, and it is believed has damaged growing crops to the extent of many thousands of dollars. The storm was accompanied by high winds which leveled numerous fruit trees. Several barns outside of the city were struck by lightning, but so far as can be learned no one was injured.

Child Fatally Burned.

LITTLE FALLS, N. Y., July 16.—While Mr. and Mrs. Michael Moore of Middleville were absent from home their children started a bonfire. The clothes of a daughter, Bessie, aged nine years, became ignited, and before neighbors extinguished the flames she was so badly burned that she died in a few hours.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

Congressman Wachter of Baltimore was badly bitten by a mad dog.

Two persons were drowned by the capsizing of a yacht in a squall at Chicago.

James McBride, in an attempt to commit suicide, leaped from the Brooklyn bridge and may live.

A memorial service for the late Lord Pauncefote was held at Chapel Royal, St. James' palace, London.

Senator Thomas C. Platt quietly celebrated his sixty-ninth birthday and declined to be interviewed.

American shippers quoted to Johannesburg merchants a rate of $2.50 per ton for freight from New York to Natal against $8.50 from England.

THE GREENE-GAYNOR CASE.

Motion to Quash Habeas Corpus Writs Answered.

QUEBEC, July 16.—Messrs. Gaynor and Greene have filed their answers to the motions made by counsel for the United States to quash the writs of habeas corpus issued by Judge Caron on June 20 and 21. Should the writs be set aside the extradition proceedings will be heard on their merits. Among the reasons set forth by counsel for Greene and Gaynor for denying the motion to quash the writs were the following:

That motions and all proceedings in connection with the demand for their extradition were not authorized by the United States of America, which are entirely strangers in the case.

That no power of attorney nor credentials from the United States government have been filed in the record by the supposed counsel for the United States, although frequently asked for.

That the present proceedings do not in any manner conflict with those taken before Judge Andrews, as previous to the latter rendering his judgment the accused had abandoned their writs of habeas corpus then pending before Judge Andrews.

That when Marion Erwin made the complaint upon which the demand of extradition was made before Commissioner La Fontaine he rendered himself unworthy of continuing said proceedings in his name, as he had offered the accused to compromise by abandoning the demand of extradition on their payment of a sum of $500,000.

That Erwin, with the object of raising public opinion in the United States, transmitted to Attorney General Knox a report of the proceedings in this case very injurious to the administration and judicial authority of Canada. In conclusion the accused protested against Mr. Erwin's conduct and reiterate their accusation that he offered to settle the present case for $500,000.

A Macedonian Uprising.

LONDON, July 16.—Cabling from Vienna, the correspondent there of the Daily Mail says official reports received describe a formidable Macedonian rising in the vilayet of Monastir, European Turkey. According to these reports, the rebels, intrenched on the banks of the Ostrovo, withstood the attacks of a thousand Turkish regulars and several hundred bashi-bazouks for a week. Finally the Turks placed the Macedonian women and children in the front as a screen and stormed the position of the rebels. The latter maintained a murderous fire, and many women and children were killed by their own husbands and fathers. After dispersing the rebels the Turks massacred the population and looted and burned the houses of the inhabitants.

Chinese Cruiser Destroyed.

VICTORIA, B. C., July 16.—News was received by the steamer Empress of India of the destruction of the Chinese cruiser Haichee at Nanking by an explosion. The Japanese cruiser Atago arrived at Hsiakuan on June 21, and the magazine of the Haichee was opened to salute her. Then came the explosion, and of the crew of 200 to 250 but two escaped. The cruiser went up like a flash, the shock being heard for five miles, and showers of debris were scattered far and near. Three small boats lying alongside were destroyed with their occupants. The United States cruiser Helena, which was in the vicinity, picked up the two survivors from the wreckage.

Morgan Adds to Gem Collection.

NEW YORK, July 16.—J. Pierpont Morgan has sent to the American Museum of Natural History as a gift two of the most magnificent sapphires in the world. They are to be added to the collection donated by him to the institution. This collection, which is considered among the finest existing, was gathered by Tiffany & Co. to be exhibited at the Paris exposition, after which it was bought by Mr. Morgan at great cost. Professor Bumpus, director of the museum, said yesterday that the value of the collection had never been appraised exactly, so far as he knew.

Miners In Good Demand.

ROANOKE, Va., July 16.—Employment agencies in this city are receiving inquiries for hands from the coalfields, and agents from that section are scouring the country getting every available man to go to work. About 1,000 men have passed through Roanoke within the last few days en route to different places in the fields, where they are put to work immediately. The number of cars loaded is daily increasing, and still the demand for coal is much greater than the supply.

Miners' Delegates Go Uninstructed.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., July 16.—The delegates from District No. 1, United Mine Workers, have left this city for Indianapolis. Only a few of the delegates are pledged to vote for a general strike. The majority are uninstructed, but will vote for any relief plan that may be brought up in the convention. All interest now centers in the convention in the west, and there will be little doing in the strike region until it finishes its labors.

Many Cattle Killed by Lightning.

HOOSICK FALLS, N. Y., July 16.—A terrific electrical storm struck this place last night. Two clouds met and caused a violent downpour of rain. Hailstones of large size fell. The storm seemed to be a continuance of Monday night's fall, which was very destructive, many head of cattle being killed by lightning.

CORN CORNER OFF.

The Famous Gates Operation Comes to an Abrupt End.

BUBBLE PRICKED; SHORTS SETTLE.

July Price Responded by a Quick Drop of Over Fifteen Cents a Bushel—Estimated Profit of $1,500,000.

CHICAGO, July 16.—The famous John W. Gates corner in July corn came to an abrupt termination when it became known that shorts to the extent of a good many million bushels had effected private settlements with Harris, Gates & Co. and that the deal was at an end so far as the steel magnate was concerned. The July price responded to the settlement by a quick drop of 15¾ cents, to 65¼ cents. Later it recovered a fraction and closed at 65½ cents, substantially the price of the cash article.

Just how many bushels were subject to private settlement will probably never be known, nor is there much chance that the identity of the "big fellows" in the trade, who doubtless contributed liberally to the fortunes of Mr. Gates and the friends associated with him in the deal, will ever be positively known. Mr. Gates is at present in New York, and Mr. Scotten, manager for the Harris-Gates house, would admit only the fact of a settlement by the outstanding shorts.

No special excitement attended the premature puncturing of the bubble by the man whose property it was. The trade has all along admitted Mr. Gates was right and also his ability to do what he pleased with corn, and if he chose to close the deal a couple of weeks prior to the time at which it would have ended by limitation there was no one to say him nay.

Manager Scotten would not discuss the settlement price. This price, however, was not a matter of decided interest to the trade generally. With the knowledge that Monday night's closing price was 81 cents and the opening yesterday from 79 to 80 cents the consensus of opinion among the outsiders was that Mr. Gates had demanded either 80 or 81 cents from the people who were foolish enough to sell him corn all the way from 60 cents up.

To form an estimate of the apparent profit by the deal would necessitate a knowledge of the average price at which the property was bought. This can never be known unless some time later Mr. Gates chooses to divulge it. It is estimated, however, by close observers of the transaction that Mr. Gates' profit will not exceed $1,500,000. This amount will be divided up between ten or a dozen millionaires who were interested in the deal. Mr. Gates and his friends have between 4,000,000 and 5,000,000 bushels of cash corn which they must dispose of before the corner can be called absolutely settled.

The corner at one time promised many millions of profit, and the farmers whose well filled cribs line the tracks of nearly every railroad entering Chicago are held responsible for the disappointing ending of the corner. There were substantial reserves from the bumper crop of 1900 and the large yield of 1901. This corn has been held for a satisfactory market. The farmers did not begin to take advantage of the situation until the price of July got to 70 cents, and when it finally reached 90 cents the Chicago market was deluged with cash corn.

Taft Gets Washington Advices.

ROME, July 16.—William H. Taft, governor of the Philippine Islands, yesterday received a long cable dispatch from Secretary of War Root giving the basis upon which the reply to the last note from the Vatican regarding religious affairs in the Philippines shall be framed. Judge Taft and his advisers are now engaged in the compilation of this reply so that it may be delivered to the Vatican today.

Riots In Ireland.

BELFAST, Ireland, July 16.—A report has reached here that a score of policemen and a district inspector were injured while attempting to quell a riot last night at Newry, counties of Down and Armagh. A number of the Orange and Nationalist combatants also were injured. H. Bredin, a Presbyterian clergyman, was knocked from his bicycle and severely injured by a blow on the head with a stone.

Suicide at Niagara Falls.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., July 16.—Nina A. Phillips, twenty-three years old, good looking and well dressed, committed suicide here by jumping into the rapids on the American side of the river from Goat Island bridge. Her body was swept over the falls. Miss Phillips came here from Cattaraugus, N. Y., some time ago.

STEEL MAKES REPLY

Company's Answer to Injunction Suit Filed.

SWORN STATEMENT BY SCHWAB.

Annual Earnings Stated to Be More Than $140,000,000 — Conversion Plan Included Payment to J. P. Morgan of $10,000,000.

NEWARK, N. J., July 16.—The answer of the United States Steel corporation to the suit brought by J. Aspinwall Hodge, William H. Curtiss and Bernard Smith, who asked for an injunction to prevent the company from carrying out its bond conversion plan, has been filed before Vice Chancellor Emery. When the case came up before the vice chancellor, it was put over until July 23. The answer is sworn to by Charles M. Schwab as president.

For the first time since the organization of the steel corporation a detailed statement of the assets of the properties of the subsidiary companies is furnished. These assets, it is stated, include 400 producing mills of the value of $300,000,000, seventy-five blast furnaces of the value of $48,000,000, iron and bessemer ore properties of the value of $700,000,000, coal and coke properties of the value of $100,000,000, natural gas fields of the value of $20,000,000, cash in bank to the amount of $66,000,000 and over $80,000,000 of materials in process of manufacture.

The total value of the company's property, including cash and cash assets, is placed at $1,400,000,000 by Mr. Schwab in an affidavit which is part of the corporation's reply. The company's earnings are stated to be at the rate of more than $140,000,000 a year. A saving of $30,000,000 a year is credited to the ore properties, and it is estimated that the ownership of transportation facilities saves the company $10,000,000 annually. The earnings of the coal and coke properties are stated to be more than $1,000,000 a month.

These statements as to values and earnings were presented to disprove a charge by the plaintiffs that Mr. Schwab, the president, and Mr. Trimble, the secretary, made a false certificate when they certified that in their judgment the properties were worth at least the par value of the preferred stock after deducting all indebtedness.

The answer admits that the conversion plan includes a payment of $10,000,000 to J. P. Morgan & Co. It denies that any of the acts contemplated will work fraud or injury to the complainants, but says that, on the contrary, such acts when consummated will be greatly to the benefit of corporation and stockholder.

Naval Movements.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Rear Admiral Higginson has sailed from New York with the battleships Kearsarge, Alabama and Massachusetts for the eastern end of Long Island, where active work in evolutions, drills and target practice will take place in the neighborhood of Block Island to fit the squadron for the coming maneuvers next month. The Olympia, from which the admiral transferred his flag to the Kearsarge, will be docked at the New York yard to undergo additional repairs. When they are completed, she will join the squadron at sea.

Engineer Killed.

LONG BRANCH, N. J., July 16.—Peter Tilton, engineer of a gravel train, was killed near Branchport in a collision on the New York and Long Branch railroad. The trains that came together were a gravel and a passenger which was bound for New York. It is thought an open switch caused the accident.

The New Maine on Trial.

PHILADELPHIA, July 16.—The new battleship Maine, built at Cramps' shipyard to replace the vessel destroyed in Havana harbor, started yesterday afternoon on the builders' trial trip off the Delaware capes. A party of about thirty guests were on board the battleship to watch her speed trial.

Secretary Root at West Point.

WEST POINT, N. Y., July 16.—Secretary of War Root arrived here unheralded and is in conference with Colonel Mills, the superintendent, in connection with the expenditure of the $5,000,000 recently appropriated by congress for new buildings and improvements at the Military academy.

Cyclone Does Much Damage.

CHALON-SUR-SAONE, France, July 16.—A violent cyclone visited this city last evening, doing immense damage. Several vessels on the river were sunk, the alcazar was destroyed, and the streets and shops were flooded.

BOERS IN NEW YORK.

Weather Beaten Prisoners From Bermuda Complain of Treatment.

NEW YORK, July 16.—Ninety-one weather beaten and powerful looking Boers fresh from the British detention pens at Hamilton and other cities in the Bermuda islands are at the Union Square hotel and will leave for their homes in South Africa as soon as the means of transportation is furnished them.

The treatment they received while in the stockades of Bermuda is said to have been very hard. One Major Morris of the English army came in for particularly severe censure from some of the men who spoke of their imprisonment.

One of the most interesting figures in the party is General A. P. Cronje, uncle of the famous leader. He served at Ladysmith in command of part of the forces and was at Spion Kop, where the battle lasted days and the Boers were opposed by General Buller.

General Cronje, who is seventy years old, has been all through the battles of both Boer wars. He was at Majuba Hill in the first war. He was at Sanas Post when De Wet captured 400 English and had De Wet under his command at one time.

Money Gone, He Sought Death.

PHILADELPHIA, July 16.—Rather than face a committee of his creditors at a meeting which was to have been held today Joseph G. Mariner, proprietor of the Philadelphia Wall Paper mills, committed suicide in Smyrna, Del. Mr. Mariner was heavily involved financially, and a week ago a committee was appointed at a meeting of his creditors to take such action as might seem necessary to protect their interests. Loss in business and in speculation is given as the cause of his financial embarrassment. Mr. Mariner was ostensibly on a visit to the home of his parents in Smyrna when the tragedy occurred. He went into the stable, and soon afterward a revolver shot was heard. It was found that he had fired a bullet into his right temple. Death was almost instantaneous. The liabilities of Mr. Mariner are estimated to be $160,000. To cover this amount there are assets in sight of only $7,000.

Steamer Michigan Disabled.

ERIE, Pa., July 16.—The accident which happened to the United States steamer Michigan yesterday was quite serious. The Michigan was lying at her dock when the freighter M. B. Grover hove in sight from the Pittsburg dock. While under full headway the captain of the Grover evidently lost control of his boat, for she stove into the Michigan, driving her down the bay fully 150 feet. The crash was a terrific one. The nose of the Grover plowed into the Michigan, tearing her from her fastenings and held her in front while the Grover carried her all that distance. Commander Winder of the Michigan estimates the loss at $10,000. This includes the ruining of two six pound Driggs-Schroeder rapid fire guns of an improved pattern and a whaleboat valued at $400.

FOUR ROADS SETTLE

A Portion of the Striking Freight Handlers at Work.

VICTORY FOR ARBITRATION BOARD.

Other Roads Centering at Chicago Will Probably Agree With the Strikers, Thus Ending a Long Struggle.

CHICAGO, July 16.—With agreements reached between four railroads and their employees, the great strike of the freight handlers and teamsters that has paralyzed the industries of Chicago for a week is apparently broken. A majority of the strikers returned to work this morning. By tomorrow, according to the present outlook, there will be few evidences of the strike. Some of the more radical unionists may refuse to accept the terms accepted by representative committees, but apparently they will be able to wield but little influence with the majority of the strikers. It is possible, however, that the radicals may prevent the strike from being called off.

The four railroads that have entered into agreements with their men are the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern, the Chicago and Northwestern, the Nickel Plate and the Illinois Central. Of the four the Northwestern and the Illinois Central accepted the proposition made upon advice of the teamsters' board of arbitration. The Nickel Plate and Lake Shore succeeded in getting their men to sign the scale presented by the railroads July 1.

Consequently neither the freight handlers nor the railroads claim a victory. As the employees of the Lake Shore were the first to sign, however, the railroads are expressing the greatest satisfaction over the break in the strike.

The freight handlers return to work without having obtained recognition of their union, time and a half for overtime or the abolishment of the probation period. On the other hand, the freight handlers have obtained increases in pay, the smallest one being 25 cents a day, procured by the truckers.

While the signing of the agreements breaks the strike, it does not end it. It is still in progress as far as twenty of the twenty-four railroads in the city are concerned. President Curran and a few of his supporters are still unreconciled and state they will not recognize any of the agreements.

The adjustment of the controversy was brought about by Chairman Job of the state board of arbitration. The basis of the settlement for wages was:

Check, transfer and receiving clerks for first three months, $55; check, transfer and receiving clerks after first three months, $60; delivery clerks for first three months, $50, and after that period $55; storers per hour for first three months, 18 cents, and after three months 18½ cents; callers for first three months, 17 cents, and after that 18 cents per hour; truckers per hour for first three months, 15 cents, and after three months 17 cents.

Fatal Mining Accident.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., July 16.—John Savach, a Slav, aged thirty-six, was instantly killed, Roger Harvey, Sr., aged fifty-five, seriously and John Yelis slightly injured by an explosion of dynamite in No. 34 mine of the Berwind-White Coal Mining company at Windber. Savach was preparing a stick of dynamite for use when from some unknown cause it exploded, together with sixteen sticks which were lying near by. Savach was blown to pieces.

Fisherman's Ghastly Catch.

NORFOLK, Va., July 16.—While fishing off Ocean View yesterday C. S. Sherwood of Portsmouth hooked to his line the body of David F. Kronacher, assistant paymaster in the United States navy, who was drowned Saturday night near Ocean View while out on a launch party. The face had been badly disfigured by crabs. The body will be shipped to Kronacher's home in New York.

Chamberlain's Improvement Slow.

LONDON, July 16.—Joseph Chamberlain, the colonial secretary, who was severely cut on the head in a cab accident last Monday, is slowly improving, but it is not likely that he will return to his duties yet. He lost so much blood that he has suffered from an intermittent pulse and consequent weakness, and complete rest and a change of air have been ordered.

No Clew to Tracy.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 16.—The posses are without a clew to Tracy's whereabouts. Sheriff Cudihee's orders for all deputies in the outlying districts to report at his office in Seattle is being obeyed slowly. Sheriff Cudihee himself remains at Ravensdale with a small posse. Absolutely nothing is being done by the posses toward continuing the search.

Skull Crushed by a Milking Stool.

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., July 16.—George Lafleur is dead at the city hospital here from injuries received at the hands of Herman Amon at Racket River bridge. The men jointly occupied a farm. While milking a quarrel arose, and Amon struck Lafleur with a milking stool, crushing his skull. Amon is under arrest at Messina.

Eight-year-old Stabs Playmate.

NEW YORK, July 16.—Two eight-year-old boys living in the same house got into a quarrel over a game of marbles, and one of them, Isidor Mintz, stabbed his playmate, John Connolly, in the back with a pocket knife. Dr. O'Connor sewed up Johnny's wounds, and Isidor was arrested.

UTILIZING THE MOUNTAIN.

There is no doubt that the summit of the first range of the Watchung Mountains is a delightful place to spend these warm summer days. The prospect of a trolley line along the brow of these hills is an alluring one and promises a cool outing even on the warmest days of the summer. The only wonder is that the advantages of these mountains have not been called upon before to yield financal profit to some wily promoter.

The only recent attempt to secure commercial benefit from the heights above the borough was in the erection of the Mountain Park Inn and the adjacent cottages. The difficulty in reaching that hostelry has been a serious obstacle to its success in the past. The attempt to run the trolley to the Inn was blocked by certain property owners on the proposed line. Years ago, a hotel was built at Washington Rock, but it was not a success owing to the fact that it was so difficult to reach. Then it was destroyed by fire and the owners never rebuilt it. Chimney Rock has a picnic grounds but they have never been a remarkable success from any standpoint.

This latest proposition, to build a trolley line along the brow of the mountain from the gap, just north of North Plainfield, west to Chimney Rock Notch, north-west of Bound Brook, seems to contain the elements of a modern successful enterprise. There are no great engineering difficulties in the way. Many roads have been built under far greater difficulties than that one presents. The question of capital has been solved, so it is claimed by the men who are behind the movement.

There is more, perhaps, in the project than appears at first sight. A trolley will work wonders in opening up that section along the summer of the range which has heretofore been of practically no use. What was impracticable at Washington Rock, heretofore, on account of the lack of transportation, may soon become possible. New sections will be opened up. With proper transportation, the mountains would make an ideal site for a summer home. For these reasons, if for no others, it is to be hoped that next spring will see the work of building the line well under way.

While Plainfield seems well supplied with hotels for transient trade, the recent success of the Park Avenue Hotel in caring for patrons of a more permanent character seems to demonstrate the fact that there is a field here for a large modern family hotel, equipped in up-to-date fashion. There are many families who do not like to take up the cares of housekeeping and who are not fond of the usual boarding house life. For them, the family hotel offers particular attractions. As this class appears to be quite numerous in Plainfield, such an establishment ought not to have any trouble in securing the requite amount of custom.

The sympathy of this community has certainly been extended to Captain Tieman R. Horn in the sudden and terrible catastrophy which has wrecked his once happy family. Although no longer a resident of Plainfield, that officer numbers a host of Plainfielders among his friends. He was a graduate from the Plainfield High School and in a competitive examination won the appointment to West Point, from which he subsequently graduated with honor very near the head of his class.

Periodically the police wage a campaign against offending cyclists. The trouble seems to be that wheelmen will obey the law for a time but, when not held closely to its terms, that they fall off from the straight and narrow path. Then they go from bad to worse and the result is a new crusade against them by the police.

The action of the Jersey Central officials in tearing down the curb which stood in North avenue in front of the railroad station is much appreciated by the public as The Daily Press said it would be.

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

Warm weather equipments—knatty, stylish, and not at prices to break the bank at James R. Blair's, Park avenue.

Smalley's butcher shop on North avenue is a model establishment—and the quality of the meats is up to the standard of the surroundings.

W. W. Dunn, the Park grocer, does a lively trade—all because he has an eye to the interests of his customers, and can please the most fastidious among them.

Dorflinger's rich cut glass in all shapes and sizes, designs useful and ornamental, is to be seen at Gavett's. Fancy pottery in all shapes, too. Drop in of an afternoon and see the display.

Ice cream is one of the summer's indispensable luxuries. It is craved by old and young, rich and poor and relished by all—that is, if it's Warnock's. The cream disposed of at his West Front street parlor is luscious.

J. Hervey Doane, the Park avenue jeweler, has the reputation for doing the best work at reasonable prices. He has a first-class watchmaker and repairer at his store and all work is guaranteed. He also carries a full line of jewelry.

No grocery store in the city, carries a larger or better stock of groceries than Callahan & Son, of Richmond street. They buy with discretion, avoiding high prices and then give their customers the benefit. Why not be one of them?

It is said that the largest stock of men's and boys' clothing is to be found at the New York Clothing Company's store on West Front street. Whether this is true or not, it is known that Mr. Weinberger has a faculty of pleasing every customer.

A great improvement to any house is a coat of paint, of the best quality and put on right. This will be done at a reasonable price by Charles Conover & Company, of Elmwood place. The firm has been doing some of the best work in the city and has given entire satisfaction.

A more complete stock of goods will not be found in the city than at the store of the Gayle Hardware Company, corner of Park and North avenues. Cutlery, garden hose, hammocks, lawn mowers, refrigerators, screens and in fact everything one should find in a first-class hardware store is in this stock.

Outing at Shore.

The First Presbyterian, Congregational, and Park avenue Baptist Sunday schools will go on an excursion to Asbury Park and Ocean Grove, Thursday, July 24. The train will leave Plainfield at 8.05.

ACROSS STATE.

Trenton and Brunswick Railroad Will Open Line From Trenton to Jersey City—Soon to Philadelphia.

The Trenton and New Brunswick Railroad will be completed early in September, and this will afford continuous connections from Trenton to Newark and Jersey City, as well as the entire North Jersey section.

The Camden and Trenton Railway Company expects to have its cars running into Camden in September also, and it will then be possible to go to Jersey City by trolley from Philadelphia with very few changes.

It will be necessary to change after leaving the ferry in Camden at Stanton Street, City Hall, Interstate Fair Grounds, Trenton, Milltown, New Brunswick, Dunellen, Westfield, Elizabeth and Newark, landing at the ferries in Jersey City, or when the new tunnel for trolley lines is completed under the Hudson, cars may be boarded in Jersey City direct for New York, via the trolley tunnel at Fifteenth Street.

But by that time there will doubtless be a through trolley line between Philadelphia and New York.

Cars may be running from Philadelphia direct into Trenton this year, via Frankford, Bristol and Morrisville, as plans are now arranged.

SUBURBAN NEWS

A Department Devoted to the Minor Events in Greater Plainfield's Suburbs by Our Own Correspondents.

DUNELLEN.

The funeral services of the late Jane M. Evans took place this afternoon at 2 o'clock from her late residence on Dunellen avenue. The services were conducted by Rev. Frank Fletcher, of the First Baptist church. Interment was made in Hillside cemetery at Plainfield.

As soon as the fact became known that a man had committeed suicide in town the usual curious crowd assembled and a good chance was offered for an officer of the law to have taken charge of the body.

Two electric light wires on Prospect avenue were blown down by the storm yesterday. Superintendent Bache has been notified.

Adam Dealaman has returned home from Mt. Pocono where he has been staying for the benefit of his health.

The Craig Manufacturing Company has received a large shipment of lumber for its new factory.

Miss Ada Rollston, a former resident of this place, is visiting friends here for a few days.

Some improvement has been made in the condition of the boundary road, Jefferson avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. James L. Manning, of Washington avenue, visited in Plainfield yesterday.

Jacob Ginder and family, of Washington avenue, have moved to Philadelphia.

Frederick Dickerson and family left today for a week's stay at the seashore.

Prayer meeting will be held in the local churches this evening at 7:30.

Mrs. William Dickson spent Tuesday with friends in Raritan.

The Juniors met last evening and transacted routine business.

Mrs. Bernard Siriski visited friends in Somerville yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Runyon visited out of town yesterday.

Rev. Aug. Todd is entertaining out of town residents.

The brass band met last evening for practice.

NEW MARKET.

Monday night this place was evidently a mecca for burglars as besides Schomps' several other places were entered. J. Y. Rupell's house was entered but the burglars were evidently frightened away before anything was taken. The case was the same at Krauses. A number of other people were also alarmed in the night but no other places were found to be entered.

Fishing still continues to be good along the pond. On Sunday a large number of fishermen was out.

The boilers for the new factory have been put in place and the machinery is being put up.

Walter Bent, of New York, has been spending a few days in Piscataway.

The ball team is practicing hard for Saturday's contest with the Orange F. C.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Chick Crusins at short for the local baseball team is putting up a fast article of ball this season but few errors are recorded against him and considering the chances he takes this is remarkable as he is always behind a ball ready to back up any play on the infield. His grand stand stop of Barrett's hot grounder at Roselle Saturday afternoon won deserved applause from everyone.

Everyone who enjoys the national game of baseball, will want to attend the game Saturday afternoon between the local team and the crack Xavier Deaf Mutes of New York. The Xaviers come high but Manager Johnston has been assured that his efforts to please the ball loving public will be backed up by a large attendance. Game will be called at 3:30.

Rev. and Mrs. G. M. Shott and daughter, Miss Ruth, Mr. and Mrs. George L. Dunn, Mrs. Nettie Atwood and Edw. Johnston, all of who have been attending the National B. Y. P. U. convention at Providence, returned home today. All report having had a most enjoyable time at both the meetings and the pleasant side trips arranged for delegates during their stay.

John Coles, who has been detained at home for a week with illness, is improving very nicely and will soon be able to resume his position again with the Central Railroad.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Curley, former old residents of the village but now of Bayonne, have rented property in town for the summer.

Arthur Haskard, who has been enjoying a two weeks' vacation, has returned to business in New York.

Wm. Hueston, of Brooklyn, is visiting at the home of his aunt, Mrs. John Marsh, of Park avenue.

Mrs. Louis Frentz and family removed today to New Providence, Mrs. Frentz's former home.

There will be dancing at Ivamy's pavillion tonight, music by Naylor's orchestra.

Frederick Clark has sold a fine team of mules to an Elizabeth party.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

A number from here will join the excursion of Trinity church, of Plainfield, and Marconnier chapel, to Asbury Park tomorrow morning.

The Middlesex Water Co. has begun laying the new pipes for the new wells which they have dug.

Albert Manning has secured the carpenter job of building a new pair of scales at the mill.

Jeremiah TenEyck is entertaining a friend from out of town.

To Arrange Another Shoot.

The Independent Shooting Club will hold a meeting at the clubhouse on Maple avenue to make arrangements for the holding of another tournament.

FOWLER'S OPPONENT.

Will be Named at Democratic Convention at Washington, N. J., Tuesday, July 29.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Washington, N. J., July 16—The Democratic Congressional committee of the Fifth district has decided to hold the convention to nominate a candidate for Congress at Washington Tuesday, July 29, at 11:30 o'clock in the opera house.

Under the call there will be 201 delgates entitled to a vote in the convention. divided as follows: Union, eighty-five; Morris, sixty-two and Warren fifty-four.

Claims Overdrove Horse.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, July 16—John L. Boyd was lodged in the county jail here yesterday by Officer Sebring, of Bound Brook. Boyd hired a rig of George W. Olmstead, of East Millstone, and, it is alleged, overdrove the horse to such an extent that it was badly injured. Recorder Brampton held him for the Grand Jury.

Democrats on County Boards.

Governor Murphy has issued commissions to John L. Crowell, of Rahway, Union county; J. W. Miller, of Warren county, and John H. Mattison, of Somerset county, as Democratic members of the county election boards. The Republican list has not yet been filed, although the time for doing so expired July 1.

The Trocha is Gone.

In response to the request of the Councilmanic street committee, the stone wall erected in North avenue opposite the station has been removed by the railroad company. The wall was always considered a nuisance as it never answered the purpose for which it was built, that of keeping hackman away from the station.

Rusty Nail Through Foot.

A rusty nail, which penetrated the foot of George Whitman, of Richmond street, Sunday, has caused a very painful injury which will keep him confined to the house for several days, at least. The wound has swollen and for a time there were symptoms of blood poisoning.

—The Ladies' Aid Society of the German Reformed church held a regular monthly meeting in the basement of the chuch this afternoon.

Mother Always Keeps It Handy.

"My mother suffered a long time from distressing pains and general ill health due primarily to indigestion," says L. W. Spalding, Verona, Mo. "Two years ago I got her to try Kodol. She grew better at once and now, at the age of seventy-six, eats any thing she wants, remarking that she fears no bad effects as she has her bottle of Kodol handy." Don't waste time doctoring symptoms. Go after the cause. If your stomach is sound your health will be good. Kodol rests the stomach and strengthens the body by digesting your food. It is nature's own tonic. L. W. Randolph.

A. O. H. CONVENTION PLANS

WILL BE HELD AT JERSEY CITY ON DATE SOON TO BE ANNOUNCED.

Change in Relations With Board of Erin Likely—A Banquet Will Follow the Convention.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Jersey City, July 16—Arrangements are being made for the annual State convention of the Ancient Order Hibernians of America. The event will take place within the next few weeks at St. Lucy's Hall, Grove and Sixteenth streets, and the exact date will be duly announced. The officers of the various divisions will attend the convention as delegates and nearly every county will be represented.

James Clenton, of Mercer county, is State delegate, Edward J. O'Connor, of South Amboy, Middlesex county, State treasurer, and Richard McGinn, of Paterson, Passaic county, State secretary.

Every division in the State will be fully represented at the convention, and the State officers will render statements of the utmost importance to the order in New Jersey. The report to be submitted by State Secretary Richard McGinn will, it is known, be of special import, dealing as it will with the other branch of Hibernianism known as the Board of Erin.

County President James Brennan has charge of the arrangements for the convention, and it is expected that several noted clergymen will take part in the proceedings.

A banquet will follow the adjournment of the convention and several prominent city and county officials will be among the guests.

Broke Thigh in Fall.

Councilman and Mrs. George P. Mellick have gone to Norfolk, Conn., where they were called by an accident to their son, Roger Mellick. The young lad was playing tennis and becoming entangled in the net was thrown to the ground with the result that his thigh was fractured. The injury is not considered a serious one, although the lad will be laid up for a while.

To Wear Proper Initials.

All the trolley cars operated in this city and between Plainfield and Elizabeth will in a short time bear the initials of the company. E. P. & C. J. S. R'y Co. The cars not now in use are being overhauled.

Loaned Bird Collection.

A. J. Gavett, of West Fifth street, has loaned his collection of stuffed birds to the Public Library, and they will probably be on exhibition next week.

PLANNING FOR THEIR CAMP

CHIEF TOPIC OF DISCUSSION AT THE HOPE Y. M. A. MEETING.

Another Committee Appointed to Take Charge of the Selection of a Site Near Hopatcong.

Discussion of the camping trip which the association proposes taking late in the summer was the most important feature of the Hope Y. M. A. meeting, last evening. Encouraging reports were presented and after their acceptance a committee appointed for the purpose advocated the pitching of tents near Lake Hopatcong. The association acquiesced and a further committee, consisting of William N. Runyon, chairman, John H. Cose, Thomas Muir and G. E. Firstbrook, was appointed to visit the region of the inland water sheet and select the exact site. They were also authorized to complete all arrangements.

The association proposes making it one of the best and largest camping trips ever leaving the city. At present, the committee has in hand the names of forty members who intend participating and this number will in all probability be increased by half as many more. The party will be housed in four tents while a commissary tent will also be used. The latter will be in charge of an experienced scullion and he will have as assistants members of the party appointed for the purpose each day. The trip to and from the camp will be made via the High Bridge branch of the New Jersey Central. Owing to an agreement made for transportation facilities, only members of the association will be taken.

Other business transacted during the evening was the election of one new member and the receiving of several propositions. No report was presented by the committee completing the County Fair business and the exact amount cleared by the association was not made known.

A communication was read from the I. C. T. Club extending the use of its parlor car to the Hope Y. M. A. members who propose visiting Atlantic City, Tuesday, for which the secretary was authorized to return a vote of thanks.

How He Found Diamond.

B. A. Mumford, of Arlington avenue, who lost his $300 diamond pin Saturday, recovered it yesterday on St. Mary's baseball field. He witnessed the entire game there Saturday, after which he went to the other game. After leaving St. Mary's field he missed the stone. Yesterday he went to the latter field and when within a few feet of where he was Saturday he saw the stone sparkling in the sunlight.

SOME BABY ARMIES.

Diminutive Forces Maintained in Various Parts of the Globe.

They Make Up in Ardor What They Lack in Numbers and Are Ready to Defy the World, in Words at Least.

In the heart of the Pyrenees there is a microscopic state known as the Andorra republic, which maintains its independence among the formidable giants of Europe who surround it on all sides. Its nominal sovereign is a bishop, and it has an army of 600 stalwart mountaineers, ready at any moment to die for their national dignity and independence. There is something quite pathetic in the spectacle of the handful of armed men drilling and strutting in their mountain fastnesses, while on one side is Spain, which can produce 1,000 soldiers against one of the republic, and on the other side the army of France, which outnumbers them by nearly 6,000 to one.

A still more diminutive army is that which nominally protects the dominion of the prince of Monaco. As the principality is little more than a dozen times the size of Hyde park, London, it is not surprising that the soldiers who guard it only number 126, or that their duties are chiefly confined to making a brave show in their uniform and having a good time in generally.

Another army whose importance is by no means to be gaged by mere numbers is that of Luxemburg, which, when every available man is summoned to arms, numbers a round 500 warriors, all in gorgeous uniforms and full of military zeal. There are, in fact, no keener soldiers anywhere than these few hundreds of Luxemburgers, who are responsible for the safety of a population roughly equal to that of Leicester, and there is not a man among them who is not perfect in drill and soldierly accomplishments.

There is no more interesting state in Europe than San Marino, which

THE PRINCE OF MONACO.
(Commander in Chief of an Army of Just 126 Men.)

from its rocky eminence has seen unmoved for centuries the convulsions of Europe, and has watched the birth and growth of new nations, compared with which it is the veriest pigmy. Perched on a high rock, it is better guarded by nature than even by its own valor; although, with the courage of a David, it has always been ready to wage battle with any giant who was daring enough to provoke it.

Much more ornamental is the army which forms the bodyguard of the pope, and which outnumbers fewer units than the rival army of Italy counts thousands. But if its numbers are small it is the most aristocratic and cosmopolitan army in the world, for its members are recruited from every nation of Europe, and many of them are of noble blood. This, of course, is an army which is not meant to fight, although there is not one of its soldiers who, if occasion demanded, would not die for his sovereign pontiff.

The army of the prince of Montenegro is a much more businesslike body, for it consists of 35,000 hardy and fierce mountaineers, who are certainly among the bravest soldiers in Europe. The number is remarkable when one considers that the prince's subjects are scarcely more numerous than the inhabitants of Salford; so that at least one in every two males capable of bearing arms is a trained soldier.

The Honduras republic, with a population less than that of Birmingham, has a standing army of only 500 men to protect a country almost as large as England, although in time of war it could easily multiply this force by 20; and the Nicaraguan republic stakes its existence on the valor of the 2,000 men who form its army of defense.

Will Do No More Sliding.

A sliding pole in the engine-house facilitates the descent of the firemen when they are in a hurry to reach the ground floor. Four ladies visited an engine-house in Yonkers, N. Y., and one of them, Miss Sallie Eisler, who weighs 306 pounds, thought it would be a grand thing to slide down the pole, as she had seen the firemen descend. When half-way down she released her clutch, and she dropped with such force that her leg was broken.

American Leather the Best.

American kid leathers are growing in favor abroad, especially in Australia. Recently one of the largest morocco manufacturers in Lynn, Mass., made a shipment to that country of 3,500 dozen skins, which shipment is said to be the largest ever made from there for foreign parts. It is not so very long ago when the best kid shoes were made from shoes imported from France. Now France is buying large quantities of kid from this country.

GREAT AMERICAN 'QUAKES.

Two Besides That at Charleston, S. C. —One of Them Swallowed a River.

Besides the Charleston earthquake of 1886, in which 41 lives were lost and about $5,000,000 worth of property was destroyed, there have been two other notable earthquakes in the United States within historic times—one near the head of the Mississippi delta in 1811-12, and one in the Inyo valley, California, in 1872.

The former, known as the New Madrid earthquake, was remarkable for the length of time which its phenomena covered. There were several shocks at short intervals for several months, and the whole series of shocks lasted two years.

The country was sparsely settled, and no scientific records of the disturbance were made, but it is related that the aluvial land of the river bottoms was traversed by visible waves which rocked the trees to and fro and uprooted many. Huge fissures were opened, and lakes were drained by the escape of their waters into them. The largest sunken area is said to have been 60 or 80 miles long and nearly half as broad.

The Inyo valley earthquake was caused by a renewed movement along the great fault plain at the eastern base of the Sierra Nevada. The chief shock lasted only a few minutes, but others of less violence continued for two or three months.

A tremendous fissure was formed along the base of the mountain range for about 40 miles. The land west of the fissure rose, and the land east of it fell several feet.

Owens river was temporarily swallowed up. In the village of Inyo all the houses were thrown down, and one-tenth of the inhabitants were killed.

ENGLAND'S DEATH RATE.

Remarkable Increase Shown, Against a Decrease in Marriages and Births.

The return of the registrar general of births, marriages and deaths for the year 1900, the first complete year since the war broke out, shows a decline in marriages and births and an increase in deaths, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. The marriage rate was 16 per 1,000, compared with 16.4 in 1898-99. The births in 1900 numbered 927,062, or a rate of 28.7 per 1,000, the lowest record, and 1.3 per cent below the mean rate for the last ten years. The illegitimate birth rate was 1.1 per 1,000, which is the lowest record. The deaths numbered 587,830, or 18.2 per 1,000, as against 17, 17.4 and 17.8 in the previous three years. Of the deaths, 3,683 were immediately due to alcoholism or delirium tremens. The death rate from alcoholism was 132 males and 95 females per 1,000,000. Both these rates were the highest on record. The deaths from tubercular riseases were 10.14 percentum of the deaths from all causes, aggregating 61,302. The strength of the army at home and abroad was 383,037. The deaths were 10,554, giving a rate of 27.6 per 1,000, as compared with 10.12 and 10.5 in the preceding three years. The mortality in the army abroad was 36.1 per cent. per 1,000, as compared with an average of 14.5 in the preceding five years. The death rate at home was 8.2, as compared with an average of 4.3 in the preceding five years.

RIPENING OF CHEESE.

A Recent Discovery Which It Is Expected Will Revolutionize the Business.

A hitherto unknown element in milk, a new ferment, has been discovered, called galactose, which is proving of value in the ripening of cheese. The properties of this ferment are similar to the secretion of the pancreatic organ in the human body, says Scribner's. Old cheese is a predigested food, and the digestion is wrought by the galactose. It was found that the galactose would go on working at very low temperatures, temperatures at which bacteria were practically inert. Cheese was put into refrigerators and kept frozen for months. Other cheese was kept just above the freezing point. It was found that the finest cheese is cured at from 40 to 50 degrees Fahrenheit. Practical cheese manufacturers had maintained that 50 degrees was the lowest temperature at which cheese could be worked without becoming bitter and worthless. The new discovery will, it is believed, revolutionize cheese manufacture, doing away with all curing-rooms, the cheese being sent directly to the refrigerator.

Free Doctors in Germany.

Under an insurance law enacted in Germany several years ago, 30,000,000 people receive in return for a nominal sum free medical attendance. The theory was that suffering humanity would receive cheap and effective relief from its bodily ills, but in practice there are many drawbacks. The doctors hired by the state hold that they are expected to do too much for the pay they get. In Munich they get only about $75 per annum. In order to keep down expenses the doctors are inclined to impress upon the patients that nothing is the trouble with them.

Why Girls Can't Throw.

A London physician, having made a long and careful scientific investigation of a girl's inability to throw a stone as a boy does, says that it is due to the physical conformation of her shoulder. A boy throws with a free movement of the arm that is not possible with a girl, because her collarbone is larger and sets lower than the boy's. The girl may excel in sports where this action is not required, but she can never learn to throw like a boy.

STEALING AN IRONCLAD.

How a Chilian Man-of-War Was Dismantled and Carried Away Piecemeal.

The most audacious piecemeal robbery on record was that effected by some Peruvian irregulars during the war with Chili, in the summer of 1879.

For fear of the Huascar, which was cruising along the Chilian seaboard, and which for power and weight of metal was infinitely superior to anything the latter nation had then afloat, the Chilian man-of-war Pareja was temporarily hidden away in a creek some 50 miles south of Valparaiso; and, as fighting men were urgently needed elsewhere, her crew was taken off, and she was left in charge of a corporal's guard of marines.

These were overpowered one dark night, and the bodies tumbled overboard; after which the adventurers proceeded to carry away the whole of the internal fittings of the ship. And this apparently impossible task they actually accomplished, relates Stray Stories.

The Pareja's guns, her stores and ammunition, 1,200 stands of small arms, even her machinery and boilers, were lowered into a number of fruit boats which had been chartered for the purpose, and safely carried northward into Peruvian waters, where they were afterward used to outfit another vessel.

And when, some months later, the Huascar having been sunk by the Chilian fleet, the lawful owners of the Pareja came to look for her, and bring her out to sea again, they found only the empty shell of a ship, silent and deserted, and without so much portable property aboard as would have sufficed to fill a decent-sized portmanteau.

TREASURE ISLANDS.

When They Are Found the "Untold Riches" Are Never in Evidence.

One feature characteristic of all treasure islands is their lack of treasure. It is a dull seaport that is without at least one old salt with a story to tell about some fabulous amount of gold buried somewhere. Writers of fiction delight in tales of this sort, for they are easy to write and easy to sell, says the Tacoma Ledger. It is no uncommon thing for an individual to turn up with a map of the district where the treasure awaits a claimant. As a rule this map has for its basis a tale that was originally the substance of a dime novel. The usual explanation of the possessor of the map is that it came to him from the hands of a penitent and dying pirate who had never dared to expose the truth, for be it known this pirate had been one of the pirate crew that used to cache its loot in the sands of the far-away isle. Usually he had been the last survivor, all his associates having killed each other or died before getting their nerve to the proper pitch to make the revelation. Listening to this, some person of adventurous turn believes it, fits out a boat and away he sails. To find the island is not a difficult matter. There is never any profit in finding it. If there had ever been treasure there somebody else knew it and reached the spot first. The pirate of the raging main, even while actively in business, did not have in mind the benefit of future generations.

MOUNT ETNA STILL SLUMBERS

The Great Sicilian Volcano Has Remained Quiescent Since the 1899 Eruption.

The height of Mount Etna, the famous volcano of Sicily, has long been fixed at 10,866 feet. Its height has recently been more accurately measured by trigonometrical processes and the exact elevation is found to be 10,775. The difference is not important, but the more exact determination will, of course, be given on the maps hereafter published. The main crater has a width of 1,728 feet and a depth of 826 feet. Mount Etna has periods of almost complete quiescence. Six years had elapsed after the eruption of 1892, when in the autumn of 1898 blue flames began to emerge from the mouth of the largest crater and a great deal of vapor was emitted from the lesser orifices. It was then announced that Etna seemed to be preparing for an effusion of lava, probably on the south or southwest slopes. The expected eruption, however, did not begin till the morning of July 19, 1899, when great volumes of smoke and lava began to issue from the main crater, but after several days the activity gradually subsided, and Etna soon resumed its peaceful aspect and has since seemed to be in a slumberous condition.

If the Pope Lives a Year.

It is pointed out that if Leo XIII. is spared to see the year 1903, that year will be to him one of quite exceptional interest, a veritable "annus mirabilis," says the London Tablet. As everybody knows, it will be his silver jubilee of papacy (elected pope February 20, 1878); but more than that, it will also be his golden jubilee as cardinal (proclaimed by Pius IX. in the consistory of December 19, 1853), and his diamond jubilee of episcopacy (preconized archbishop of Damietta by Gregory XVI. on January 27, 1843, and consecrated February 19). uch a triple jubilee, if his holiness lives to celebrate it, will probably be unique in history.

Serve Four Meals.

Washington hotels are said to be the only ones in this country that serve four regular meals every 24 hours—breakfast, luncheon, dinner and supper—the latter being served in some cases as late as midnight.

What They Talked Of

THREE women happened together at the home of one of them. Being familiar acquaintances and friends, they talked freely and said what they pleased. The sun was shining when they began, but it went down across the river, and the stars sprinkled thickly the sky ere one woman sprang to her feet with a start at the sound of a church clock striking and exclaimed:

"I declare, it's 9 o'clock!"

They talked all that time, and, though a man would scarcely believe it, not one of them uttered a word of scandal, gossip or criticism of a sister woman. The three ladies did not even discuss the celebrated question whether a woman can love two men at the same time. Once, and once only, they grazed the edge of the sarcastic in regard to either man or woman when one of them remarked in a tone expressing detestation not unmingled with horror:

"I know a lady who earns considerable money writing papers for club-women to read at their meetings."

But instantly another one of the three, who had lived in Washington, replied:

"That's nothing. Congressmen get their speeches written for them all the time."

Well, it was some comfort, anyway, to find that woman is no more of a fake than man.

But what did they talk of? Mutual friends and acquaintances were mentioned frequently, it is true, but it was to say something good of them every time. One actually told the others what a sweet old lady her mother-in-law was—mother-in-law lives with daughter-in-law—and how Mother Perkit poured out love, devotion and service at the feet of Daughter-in-law Perkit till Son Perkit declared his nose was out of joint and that if he died Mother Perkit would not miss him half so much as she would Daughter-in-law Perkit. I am telling you fact, I assure you.

Then another of the three said that any home might be happy if people only resolved they would be harmonious no matter what fell out. It came about then that all three of the women were deeply interested in the theory that by power of mind one could fashion outer circumstances to one's liking.

"I know it can be done," said the lady who loved her mother-in-law. "I have tried it enough to know there is saving power in it. We're none too well off at our house. I don't always have money to get new dresses and hats enough to make me look really up to date. This worried me in the old days when I let myself worry about anything, but now I say to myself: 'Never mind. The new things will come.' Then I dismiss it all from my thoughts. I just know they'll come and that ends the matter. It is wonderful the way they really do materialize when I take that attitude. If, however, I allow myself to feel worried and to wonder whence they will come or whether I shall get them at all, then I don't get them. Being worried and anxious drives them away from me, I've noticed."

"And I've noticed," said one of the trio who had dabbled in women's clubs, occultism, vestibules of mystery, psychometry, alchemy, magic and fads and ologies no end, "that hardly any of us ever knows exactly what she does want. That is why our wishes do not oftener come true along the thought and will line. Today we wish we had this, tomorrow something else, and women's minds especially are apt to be a scrap bag jumble of half formed purposes.

"It is a scientific axiom that every power and faculty of the human mind is latent in every mind. The beginning of doing or getting anything whatsoever is an intense desire, then a consciousness of power at the center to do or obtain the thing. This consciousness of power can be cultivated. A prime point is to know exactly what we do want most of all. We must get a clear and powerful mental conception or picture of the thing to be attained, then fix our undivided attention on that. LAURA WARREN.

A KNAVE . . . OF CONSCIENCE.

By Francis Lynde.

A small cat-boat with two women and a man in it was scudding down the lake, and the involuntary Crusoe yelled himself hoarse. But the wind was against him, and the cat-boat held its course toward Wahaska, heeling smartly to the flaws.

Griffin climbed the bluff and measured his chance of escape in a glance that boxed the compass. Off to the southward a steam-launch was making for the hotel pier, but there was no other craft in sight save the cat-boat. Whereupon he refilled his pipe and prepared to take the consequences of his carelessness philosophically, as he did most things.

"I guess I'm safe to make a night of it, but it won't be the first night I've slept out of doors. All the same, I hope this wind won't blow up a rain. I wonder if I couldn't rig up a shelter of some kind under the lea of this kingdom of mine."

Coming down to the bluff edge to see, his attention was once more drawn to the yawing cat-boat. The wind was coming in sharper flaws, and the seamanship of the man at the tiller of the small craft was a thing to be admired. He was evidently making for one of the private landings below the hotel, and as the boat came under a hill-broken lea of the shore the alternating gusts and lulls called for a quick eye and steady nerves. Griffin was a bit of a sailor himself, and he gave the unknown skipper of the cat-boat his due meed of praise.

"By Jove! he's no fresh-water sailor. Most of these countrymen up here would have had that sail double-reefed long ago. I wonder who he is?"

The answer to the query was suggested when the cat-boat came up into the wind at the small pier on the water front of the Farnham grounds, and the suggestion was as the spark of fire to a train of powder. There was a swift succession of minor explosions as the spark ran along the train of conclusions in the detective's mind, and then the crash of a great one. Griffin sat down on the edge of the bluff and held his head in his hands.

"Heavens and earth! What wooden-headed tobacco signs we all are when it comes to a show-down!" he ejaculated. "Here I've been agonizing over this thing for a month when the answer to all the answerless questions has been parading in plain sight every day. I said when I should have found Miss Farnham's lover I should have my man, but I had to be marooned out here in the middle of the lake before I could put two and two together. Mr. Kenneth Griswold—alias anything you please—it will be unlucky for you if you can't prove up on your record."

From apostrophising the man to observing his movements at long range was but a step, and Griffin whipped a field-glass from his pocket and focussed it upon the boat and the Farnham pier. He saw the big sail shiver down, and a moment later Griswold handed the two young women up to the pier. There was a little pause, apparently of expostulance, on the part of the women, and then the big sail went up again, flapping and shivering in the wind like a huge white flag. The cat-boat edged away from the pier, fell off, came about, and pointed its sharp cutwater straight for the island. Griffin shortened the glass and dropped it into his pocket.

"Well, now; that's more than good-natured," he muttered. "You may be a robber of banks, Mr. Griswold, but you've got a kind heart in you."

When the rescuer's purpose to bring up under the lea of the island became evident the castaway scrambled down the low bluff and made his way around the southern point, to be ready to climb aboard. The boat doubled the northern sand-spit and it was waiting for him in the sheltered cove behind the island when he came in sight of it. Griswold hailed him cheerfully.

"Thought you had come across another Skipper Ireson, didn't you, when we went on and left you? I saw you waving, but the young ladies were a little nervous and I thought I'd better land them and come back after you. Can you make it from that log?"

Griffin could make it and did; and a moment afterward the cat-boat shot out from the island shelter, put her lee gunwale under and showed her bottom strake to the setting sun. Griffin crawled aft and balanced himself on the uplifted weather rail beside the helmsman.

"You have the courage of your convictions," he remarked, nodding upward at the full sheet of the straining sail. "I looked to see you reef before you put out again."

"I know the boat," was Griswold's rejoinder. And: "I hope you are not nervous."

"Not at all; I've sailed a little myself."

"Good. We'll get it decently fresh when we are out in the open, but we'll make it all right."

The prophecy was fulfilled in both halves, but the detective held his breath more than once before the cat-boat had thrashed its way through the perilous middle passage of the open lake to the calmer water in Wahaska bay. At the pier he helped his rescuer make fast and stow the sail, and they walked uptown together. At the hotel entrance Griffin introduced himself by name and made shift to thank the man whom he meant to bring to justice.

"I owe you one, Mr. Griswold," he said, at the hand-grasp, "and I'm afraid I shall never be able to pay it in kind."

Griswold laughed. "It is not a very heavy obligation. At the worst you might have had an uncomfortable night of it."

"Perhaps it wouldn't have been any worse than that. Well, maybe I can save you an uncomfortable night sometime. Won't you come in and smoke a cigar?"

Griswold thought at first that he would not, and then changed his mind. He was invited to dinner at Dr. Farnham's, but it was yet early. Now there is nothing like good tobacco for speeding an acquaintance between two men, and Griffin's single extravagance ran to fine brands of cigars. So the chat in the hotel office went hither and yon, and finally came down to the topic which was at that moment engrossing the town—the strike at the iron works.

"They are a hard-headed lot of fools," said Griswold, not without warmth, when he came to speak of the strikers. "They are just like all the rest; they don't know when they are well off. We meant to go into the profit-sharing with them next year, but the way they are acting now you would think that Raymer and I are their sworn enemies."

"Violence?" queried the detective.

"Threats of it; plenty of them."

"What will you do?"

"We haven't decided yet, but my idea is to import what labor we need and go on."

"That will be pretty sure to make trouble, won't it?"

"Oh, I suppose so. But we've got to fight it out sooner or later."

"No chance for a compromise, eh?"

"Not in the least, now; in fact, there never was any. Their demands were most unreasonable."

"So I think," said Griffin, coolly.

Griswold looked at his companion curiously. "I thought you were a newcomer," he said.

"I am; but I was here before the strike began, and I've looked into it a little—just for idle curiosity's sake, you know. There's a good-sized nigger in the woodpile, and I've been wondering if you and Raymer knew about it."

Griswold glanced around to make sure that no one else was within hearing. "The men were stirred up to it, you mean?"

Griffin nodded.

"Raymer said as much, but I couldn't believe it."

"It's a fact," said the detective, with the same air of assurance; "a fact susceptible of proof."

Griswold came awake to the possibilities in a flash.

"Could you prove it?" he asked.

"Perhaps; if I wanted to.

The defender of the rights of man puffed thoughtfully at the good cigar for a moment. Then he said: "Who are you, anyway, Mr. Griffin?"

The detective's smile was no more than grimace. "Perhaps I am the walking delegate of the Amalgamated Ironworkers," he suggested.

"Perhaps you are, but I don't believe it," Griswold rejoined. And then he apologized. "I had no right to ask the question, and I beg your pardon. But I'd give a good bit to be at the bottom of this strike business."

"You are at it already, if you will take your partner's word and mine. The whole thing is a put-up job to break you."

"But the proof," insisted Griswold.

"It can be had, as I said; but it is immaterial. Just go on the supposition that a certain capitalist is trying to smash you and act accordingly."

"But if your supposition is the true one we should be only postponing the evil day by giving in to the men. If this man whom you and Raymer suspect has stirred up trouble once he can do it again."

FALL OF VOLCANIC DUST.

An Immense Amount from the Soufriere Came Down on Barbadoes.

The Barbadoes Agricultural Reporter has sent to this office a specimen of the volcanic dust which fell on that island on May 7, 8 and 9, reports the New York Tribune. "Borne from St. Vincent," it says, "in the upper strata of the air, and there suspended, this stuff obscured the sunlight, and produced the phenomenon of darkness. In color and consistency it resembles Portland cement." It quotes the following description of the dust by W. G. Freeman, of the local department of agriculture:

"From the calculated results of a series of observations made in Strathclyde on the fall of volcanic 'ash' it would seem that, at a low estimate, about 13 ounces fell per square foot between the hours of five p. m. on Wednesday and five a. m. on Thursday. This, perhaps, may not appear a large amount; but look at it from another point of view. Thirteen ounces per square foot means 117 ounces per square yard, or, to express it in familiar terms in an agricultural community, no less than 16.2 tons per acre.

"Leaving for the while minor units, such as acres, we find that 10,240 tons of volcanic ash were rained onto every square mile of this island during the last 12 hours of darkness. Supposing the fall to have been approximately equal in depth over the whole island, the almost incredible amount of 1,699,840 tons of solid matter was added to the Barbadoes last night."

SAW A VOLCANIC ERUPTION.

Vesuvius in Action Described by Senator Proctor, Who Witnessed the Spectacle.

Senator Proctor, of Vermont, knows what it is to see a volcanic eruption. Twenty years ago he stood upon the side of Vesuvius while that mountain belched forth lava and smoke, says the Washington Post. "We had gone up part of the way in carriages," said Mr. Proctor, recently, relating his experience, "but when we came to the place where we were to take the cog railway, we found that there had been an accident, and the cars were not running. About dark the manager sent everybody away, with the statement that no ascent would be possible until the next day. Being compelled to leave Naples on the following day, and having letters to the manager, I persuaded him to let me have some guides and try to ascend the volcano on foot. He consented, and we started. We could not get close to the crater because the fire and lava were pouring forth, and even where we stood a shower of pumice was falling. We tried to get the guides to take an American coin and get an impression of it in the soft lava, but they would not do it. The stuff was too hot. I remember that it was midnight when we reached the highest accessible point on the summit; but the stream of red-hot lava made the locality as light as day."

LIVE LONG IN THE LAND.

Family of the King of Denmark Is Noted for Its Remarkable Longevity.

King Christian of Denmark is the oldest monarch in the world, and there is every likelihood that he will live and reign over his people for many years to come. He has passed his eighty-fifth birthday. He is one of ten brothers and sisters, of whom one died at 21, and the next at 59. Four are still living, at the active ages of 91, 84, 78 and 77. Queen Louisa was one of a family of five, of whom one died at 81, two between 60 and 70, and two at 81. All the six children of the king and queen are living.

It is a curious fact that during the last 200 years every Danish king has either been a Frederick or a Christian. His present majesty is, of course, Christian IX., and his father, whom he succeeded in 1863, was Frederick VII. In the same way, should all go well, he will be succeeded by his son, called Frederick, and a grandson, called Christian, the last named having been born in 1889. Thus, like the late Queen Victoria, the king has lived to see four generations in the direct male line of his family.

Glasgow Old-Fogyish.

"Glasgow is quite free from corruption, but there is considerable bosh about the ideal municipal government of the city," said a Glasgow man now touring this country, to an interviewer the other day. "The public improvements are far behind those of many cities in the United States. The electric lights are queer, old-fashioned things, and the city permitted the construction of overhead wires for the street railways. Commissions were sent to various cities to look into electric light systems and electric railway systems. I can't imagine where they went, for they brought back a lot of very old-fashioned ideas."

Highest Point of the World.

The highest point in the world—that is to say, the highest mountain top ever reached by a human being—rests now upon the writing desk of the king of England. It is a letter weight, made of a piece of stone taken from the summit of Mount Gaurisankar, the highest mountain on the globe. It was presented to his majesty by a British officer.

A New Zealand Geyser.

A new giant geyser of Rotomahana, N. Z., is attracting attention. A mass of boiling water half an acre in extent rises in a great dome, from which a column of water and stones rises to 200 feet, while immense columns of steam ascend as far as can be seen.

LEADER OF SCIENCE.

Lord Kelvin and Some of His Greatest Accomplishments.

He Comes from a Family of Mathematicians and Scholars—His Work in Connection with the Atlantic Cable.

Lord Kelvin, who is considered the most distinguished leader in what has been preeminently a century of scientific discovery and advancement, has been visiting the United States as the guest of George Westinghouse, of electrical fame.

Lord Kelvin, or as he is often termed the "Grand Old Man of Science," was born in Ireland in 1824. Shortly after his birth his family removed to Scotland, and his father, Prof. James Thomson, is remembered by the alumni of Glascow university as a skilled teacher of mathematics. William Thomson was eight years of age when his father was appointed to a professorship in the university, and two or three years later he began to attend classes himself. His proficiency in mathematics and natural philosophy was early noticeable, but under the careful supervision of his father, who valued, too, the "Old Humanities," he had the benefit in addition of sound logical and linguistic training. While a boy he was interested in such subjects as the "Figure of the Earth" and "Fourier's Theory of the Flow of Heat." While a student at Cambridge, Lord Kelvin was noted for his enthusiastic participation in all college sports. He was a fellow at St. Peter's, Oxford, and afterward entered the laboratory of the famous Regnault in Paris.

In 1846 Lord Kelvin was called to the chair of natural philosophy, and from that day to this the history of his life work has been the history of the progress of physical science. There is no department of that science which has not been enriched and extended by his discoveries and there is hardly any theory in dynamics, heat or electricity of which his theorems, experimental discoveries and views do not form a fundamental part. In the domain of physical optics, Lord Kelvin has recently shed much light on disputed questions by his lectures and papers.

LORD WILLIAM KELVIN.
(Great Britain's "Grand Old Man of Science.")

It was, however, Lord Kelvin's work—then Prof. Thomson—in connection with the Atlantic cable which brought him international fame. When in 1856 Cyrus Field began to realize his gigantic dream of uniting England and America by submarine cable, a difficulty arose, which threatened to defeat the project. It was found that electric signals passing through the cable did not attain the speed hoped for, and the financial success of the scheme, in consequence, was questioned. Many theories were advanced by scientists as a solution for the problem, but it remained for Prof. Thomson to enunciate the law of retardation, and so enable engineers to design a cable which would give a satisfactory speed to messages. The directors of the Atlantic Telegraph company speedily recognized his ability and engaged his services. It is no exaggeration to say that he contributed more than any other scientific man to the ultimate success of that enterprise which was so repeatedly baffled and postponed. On returning to the old world Prof. Thomson was knighted for his distinguished service and became Lord Kelvin.

It is unquestioned that he has done much for electrical science by introducing accurate methods of measurement. His most useful inventions in this line are two valuable electro-meters, and a perfected type of his original invention, the "mirror instrument," which has become the mainstay of the electrician. A machine for predicting the level of the tides in any part of the world is probably his chief non-electrical invention.

Lord Kelvin has carried on a large number of experimental and mathematical researches in every department of natural philosophy, but the true citadel of his genius lies in his faculty of of applying mathematics to the solution of physical problems.

Lord Kelvin was endowed with every requisite for success—power of will, intellect and energy—and is in reality one of the world's great men. As the Napoleon of natural philosophy, his name will go down to posterity with Galileo, Newon and Pascal.

Refrigeration for Consumptives.

A Russian medical man proposes to establish a sanitarium for consumptives in the polar regions. He has observed that the members of exploration parties returning from the polar regions are always in perfect health, owing to the purity of the air and complete absence of all harmful microbes. In the polar regions bronchitis, laryngitis, influenza and other contagious diseases are unknown.

ON THE DIAMOND.

Michael Scully, the new man signed by the St. Mary's, is a graduate of the strong High Bridge team. His right place is in the field where he is a sure catch, but his reputation has been made with the bat.

League games scheduled for Saturday are Hope against Safe Works, on Hope Common; St. Mary against Y. M. C. A., on St. Mary grounds. In the event of the Hope team losing and the Y. M. C. A. winning, it will take the former from the lead for the first time.

In all probability, the line-up of the Hope team will remain until the close of the season, the same as it was Saturday. The important changes was those of Martin to third and Shortman to short stop. Both men covered their new positions well and played a fast game. Dalley, also, held the first bag in capital style.

The game between the Scotch Plains team and the Xavier Deaf Mutes, at the 'Plains Saturday, promises to be one of the best games seen in this vicinity in years. Every baseball enthusiast knows the reputation of the Mutes and what kind of ball they put up. And Plainfielders know full well of what the 'Plains team is capable. The game will undoubtedly be witnessed by a very large crowd.

George Taylor continues to demonstrate his ability to some day be numbered among the professional players of the country. His running catch of Dalley's long drive to deep left, in Saturday's game, was one of the best ever seen in the city. It robbed the Hopes of at least two runs. Taylor also continues to get a couple of hits at least, in every game. Two of the five made of Montross, Saturday, were secured by him, one of then being for two bases.

GOLF.

The team from the Hillisde Tennis and Golf Club will play the Harbor Hill team at Harbor Hill Saturday, and the chances are Hillisde will win.

It is the general opinion of all at Glenview that no such gallery numerically or enthusiastically, has ever witnessed a national golf tournament in this country.

In the preliminary round for the amateur championship of the United States Golf Association, which began at Glenview yesterday, 137 of the 159 entered started in the premier golfing event of the year. Walter J. Travis and George A. Ormiton tied for low gross at 79. Frank O. Reinhart, of this city, who is being watched by his many friends, qualified with an 86, finishing fourteenth. In the second half of the first round today, Reinhart will be paired with O. D. Thompson, of Allegheny, who made a net score of 91 in the preliminary round.

TENNIS.

A good deal of interest is being shown in tennis at the Y. M. C. A. at present. Plans are being formulated for two grand tennis tournaments in the month of August, one in the boys' and one in the men's department. Members of the association wishing to enter the contest may hand in their names at any time.

FUNDS INCREASING.

The funds for the King's Daughters' Baby Camp on the mountain and the Netherwood Fresh Air Home are gradually being increased from day to day. This morning there was received by The Daily Press through Mrs. Margaret K. Howard, treasurer for the Ladies' Aid Society of Hope chapel, $5 for each of the above charties, making $10 in all. The funds at present are as follows:

GARBAGE DISPOSAL IS A VEXING QUESTION

Engineering News Tells How Many of the Cities Have Attempted to Answer It.

IS OF INTEREST HERE.

INFORMATION SECURED IN COMPILING THE MUNICIPAL YEAR BOOK.

Only Ninty-Seven Out of the 1,524 Cities Have Garbage Cremation of Reduction Plants—Most of These Are in the Larger Cities.

A recent number of the Engineering News is an article on the garbage disposal question of interest in view of the local troubles in the past in satisfactorily settling the question. In opening his article the writer expresses regrets that American communities cling to such primitive methods of sanitation as is witnessed to by the reports of "The Municipal Year Book." Only 97 of the 1,524 cities included in the book have garbage cremation or reduction plants.

In collecting information for "The Municipal Year Book," an attempt was made to learn the final disposition of the garbage of every place of 3,000 inhabitants in the United States. Many of the reports were so indefinite as to render impracticable a summary for all methods and places. The most common method of disposal, however, is to dump garbage on vacant land, with more or less, and generally less, pretence of covering it. Frequently the reports stated that the garbage was buried, or used as fertilizer, or fed to hogs. Occasionally it is dumped in some convenient river or other body of water. In 107 cities and towns the reports stated that the garbage was burned. Doubtless, a few of these places have garbage crematories, but neither the reports to "The Municipal Year Book," nor information on the subject collected by Engineering News for a number of years past, indicate that the burning is done in garbage furnaces. In fact, there is good reason to believe that the material burned is not garbage at all, but merely paper and other more or less light, inflammable rubbish, which is burned in the open air. To help settle this point the names of the places which reported their garbage burned are given in a separate list herewith, in the hope that interested readers will correct and supplement the information now at hand.

The 97 plants are distributed among four classes of population, as follows: Places with over 30,000 have 57 plants; 10,000 to 30,000 have 26; 5,000 to 10,000 have 11; 3,000 to 5,000 have 3. In the 38 cities of the United States which have populations of over 100,000 there are 15 with reduction plants, 6 with crematories and 17 which employ such miscellaneous methods of disposal as dumping on land or in water, or feeding it to hogs. At Worcester, Mass., the hogs in question are owned by the city.

Of the cities whose populations are 100,000 or over the following methods are employed:

Chicago, Ill., dumped, except very small portion cremated; Baltimore, Md., not given; New Orleans, La., dumped into Mississippi river; Newark, N. J., used for filling or dumped; Jersey City, N. J., used for filling; Providence, R. I., used for fertilizer; Kansas City, Mo., dumped into river; St. Paul, Minn., dumped; Rochester, N. Y., used as fertilizer; Denver, Colo., fed to hogs; Toledo, O., used as fertilizer or dumped; Worcester, Mass., fed to hogs owned by city; New Haven, Conn., not given; Fall River, Mass., fed to hogs; St. Joseph, Mo., dumped into river; Omaha, Neb., not given; Los Angeles, Cal., burned.

Crematories are projected at Long Branch, N. J.; Charaleroi, Pa.; Columbia, S. C.; Canton, O.; Elgin, Ill.; Greenville, Tex.; Spokane, Wash., and Fresno, Cal. These places range from 36,848 to 5,930 in population.

Perhaps sufficient emphasis has not been placed upon the fact that nearly all the reduction plants are in large cities. It has already been stated that fifteen of the twenty-two reduction works are in places of 100,000 and upward. It may be added that of the fourteen places of 200,000 population and over which employ improved means of garbage disposal ten have reduction and only four cremation works. Also that only three of the reduction plants are in places of less than 40,000 population, namely, Vincennes, Ind., Belleville and Mount Vernon, Ill. Possibly, some mistake has been made in one or more of these three cases. In fact, the Mount Vernon report has been queried.

In conclusion, it is evident that providing improved means of garbage disposal affords a large opportunity for engineers and contractors, and is bound to become a most common, as it is already a most perplexing, municipal problem. The problem, however, is essentially engineering in character, and many of its perplexing features will rapidly disappear with a growing recognition of that fact.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Lawrence Myers, of East Front street, is registered at the Mountain Lodge, Old Forge, New York.

Among the guests registered at the Howland Hotel, Long Branch, are Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Goldsmith, of Plainfield.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Beal, of Netherwood, are spending a few weeks with their daughter, Mrs. W. Gage Snow, at the latters's summer home on Buzzards Bay, Mass.

Mrs. T. L. Murphy, of this city, left today for Capon, W. Va., where she will remain for several weeks. She will be accompanied by her brother from Philadelphia.

Notes from Newport announce that Henry Marion Hall, formerly of Plainfield, with his wife, is visiting his grandmother, Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, at her Newport home.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Fancy Georgia peaches and plums, of the highest quality to be obtained, are received fresh daily by Neuman Brothers.

—The Christian Endeavor Society of the First Baptist church will hold its regular consecration meeting Friday evening.

—Robert Fulton and family have rented the furnished house at 519 Central avenue and will take up their residence there for the months of July and August.

—Miss Eldora Beekman, formerly bookkeeper for D. J. Galbraith, of North avenue, has accepted a similar position with Smalley Brothers at their meat market on North avenue.

TO PITTSBURG.

Plans for Combination, Including Jersey Central, for Short Cut to That City of Pennsylvania.

Officers of four railroads, of whom W. G. Besler, representing the Central of New Jersey was one, met at Williamsport, Pa., yesterday, to discuss a plan by which through trains may be run between New York and Pittsburg. A through passenger service between these two points will probably be established from New York over the Jersey Central, to Tamaqua and thence by way of the Reading and the Beech Creek line of the New York Central into Pittsburg. The route named is much shorter and could be made faster than any now in operation.

Another railroad report is to the effect that the interests which control the Pennsylvania and the Baltimore and Ohio roads have secured a majority of the Philadelphia and Reading common stock.

Can Go by Trolley.

Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass, of this city, will give his illustrated lecture "Impressions of England," in the Dunellen M. E. church tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Thomas McDonald will sing. There will be no admission fee but a voluntary offering will be received for the church debt. Persons going from Plainfield should take the 7:30 o'clock trolley from the North Avenue station.

Sunday Excursions.

Sunday excursions will be run over the Lehigh Valley Railroad to Mauch Chunk, Glen Onoko and Switch Back, Sunday, July 20, and every alternate Sunday till August 31 inclusive. A special train will leave South Plainfield at 9.09 o'clock. Special fares will be obtained by consulting agents.

Stone Dislocated Shoulder.

While William Boe, of the borough, was unloading stone at Bound Brook yesterday afternoon, a large block fell upon him, dislocating his shoulder. He was taken to the city and placed in Muhlenberg Hospital, where he now lies.

Gave Him a Surprise.

A large party from the borough went up to the home of John Wendell, at Mt. Bethel, last evening, where there was a surprise gathering in honor of Mr. Wendell's birthday.

Died at Hospital.

Mrs. Wm. Taylor, of West Front street, died at the hospital today noon, where she had been under treatment for dropsy. She leaves a husband.

Poisoning the System.

It is through the bowels that the body is cleansed of impurities. Constipation keeps these poisons in the system, causing headache, dullness and melancholia at first, then unsightly eruptions and finally serious illness unless a remedy is applied. DeWitt's Little Early Risers prevent this trouble by stimulating the liver and promote easy, healthy action of the bowels. These little pills do not act violently but by strengthening the bowels enable them to perform their own work. Never gripe or distress. L. W. Randolph.

FIXING CITY'S TAX RATE

BOARD OF ASSESSORS HELD A MEETING LAST NIGHT.

Will Complete Its Labors This Evening—Rate Will Probably be $2.50.

The Plainfield Board of Assessors met last evening in the office of Collector F. H. Smith and started the work of computing the assessment for the year for the purpose of ascertaining the tax rate. The board was unable to complete its labors last evening and another meeting will be held this evening together with the Mayor and finance committee from the Council.

As stated on Monday the rate for this year will probably be $2.50. The total assessed valuation last year was about $8,600,000 and it is the opinion that it will be over $9,000,000 this year. After this is computed the board is obliged according to law to report its findings to the County Board of Assessors, which in turn reports back to the Common Council. The latter body will meet in August and make its final report in the matter.

WALKED TO TRENTON.

Hugh R. Knox, of Webster Place, Tramped Forty Miles on a Wager Monday.

Hugh R. Knox, of Webster place, until recently traffic manager of the National Starch Company, tramped all the way to Trenton, Monday, on a wager, covering the distance of forty miles in fourteen hours and twenty-two minutes. The bet was made with an army officer, Saturday night, in the course of a conversation held on the porch of the Hotel Netherwood.

To make it interesting it was wagered for $100 a side that Knox could not walk the distance in eighteen hours. Another condition was that $10 was to be paid for every hour above or under the limit.

Knox left this city at 6 o'clock in the morning and arrived in Trenton at 8:22 in the evening. By his feat he won $40 over the wagered amount making the total purse $140.

PACKING BOXES BLAZED

Threatened Neighboring Buildings in Business Section So That Fire Department Was Called Out.

A crowd of boys, playing in the rear of Compton's alley, this morning, set fire to a huge pile of packing boxes belonging to the Woolworth store which had been placed dangerously near buildings in the vicinity. The flames mounted high in the air and fearing that some of the wooden stairways would catch, an alarm was sent in from the keyless box by William Moffett. The firemen had to lay two streams and use the chemical engine to extinguish the blaze. A cornice on the old Music Hall building came very near igniting.

The proprietor of the store was afterward informed by Chief Doane that although there was no law to stop him, every building in the block was placed in jeopardy by the indiscriminate piling up of inflammable boxes and that it would be best to discontinue the practice.

HIGH HONOR.

Plainfield Trust Company Named as Transfer Agent.

A high honor has just been accorded the Plainfield Trust Company by the Farmers Loan and Trust Company, of New York. The latter company has been appointed registrar for the Federal Sugar Refining Company, of New York, recently capitalized at $50,000,000, of which amount $25,000,000 is preferred and $25,000,00 is common stock. The Plainfield Trust Company has been made the transfer agent for this company and it means the bringing of a certain portion of the account to Plainfield.

Every stock certificate will bear the name of the Plainfield Trust Company and besides giving additional prestige, it will bring considerable money to this city. The appointment is one that is eagerly sought for by any financial institution and the fact that the Plainfield Trust Company has secured it speaks well for the institution and its officers, all of whom are well-known in banking circles.

OLD SOLDIER PASSED AWAY

Major Coleman, Veteran of Two Wars, Died at Hotel Netherwood Last Night.

WAS PAST THREE SCORE.

Came to This City Three Years Ago and Assumed Management of Hotel Netherwood—Suffered Paralytic Stroke a Few Months Ago, Which Was Cause of Death.

Major Frederick W. Coleman, died at the Hotel Netherwood at 6 o'clock last evening. He was sixty-five years of age. His death was not unexpected. He had been ailing for a long time, having suffered a paralytic stroke a few months go, but the direct cause of his demise was due to heart trouble. A wife, one son, Lieutenant Frederick W. Coleman, of the Thirteenth U. S. Infantry who is at present on his way home from the Philippines, and a daughter, Miss May Coleman, survive him.

The Major had been buoyed up for the last few days in the hope of seeing his son who had recently, on account of his father's illness, been granted a furlough by the Secretary of War. Yesterday was Lieutenant Coleman's birthday and during moments of consciousness his father did not fail to remember the fact and made frequent mention of it. At the time of his death he was surrounded by the other members of his family.

Major Coleman was widely known in Plainfield. He came to this city three years ago to assume charge of the Netherwood hotel, and during his residence here he had made many new friends who will greatly regret his death. In April last he gave up the management of that hostelry when he was succeded in the place by Thomas L. Brown, the present incumbent.

Funeral services will be held at the hotel this afternoon at 5 o'clock. They will be of a private nature. The body will be placed in the receiving vault at Hillside cemetery, to await the arrival home of his son, Lieutenant Coleman, when the interment will be made in Arlington cemetery, Washington, D. C., with military honors.

Frederick W. Coleman was born in New York in 1837, and was a son of the late Colonel Robert B. Coleman. He received his education at the Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N. Y. Before reaching his twenty-first year he was a chief engineer on the construction enlargement of the Erie canal. On the outbreak of the Civil War he raised his own company of which he was made captain, the One Hundred and Fifty-first New York Volunteers. For gallant and meritorious services in the face of the enemy he was three times breveted during the course of war. Captain Coleman was twice wounded in engagements, once at Cold Harbor and once at Spottsylvania. After peace was declared he received an appointment to the regular army and was created major of the Fifteenth U. S. Infantry. When the Indian war broke out, Major Coleman again went to the front and added to his reputation as a brilliant and daring soldier. On the death of his father, Colonel Robert B. Coleman, he succeeded to the proprietorship of the Carrolltown Hotel at Baltimore, where he resided up to the time of his coming to the Netherwood there years ago.

Office Fixtures Complete.

The furnishings at the Plainfield Trust Company are now complete. Handsome metal signs have been placed at each window in the several departments, and the teller's department is provided with a strong cage, thus securing absolute safety in the care of money and valuable papers.

Ping-Pong is Popular.

Pin-pong is becoming so popular a pastime at the Y. M. C. A. that it has been found necessary to add another table to the equipment. There is now one on the second floor and a new one is being made for the third floor.

To Prepare for Excursion.

There will be a regular meeting of Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., this evening, when final arrangements will be made for the annual excursion to Asbury Park.

Smith Picnic.

The annual reunion of the famous Smith family will be held in the grove near Peapack on the last Wednesday in August.

A NEW RESORT.

Junior's Excursion Offers an Opportunity to Visit Atlantic City.

Although Asbury Park and its twin sister, Ocean Grove, are pretty resorts continued excursions to them and nowhere else have become monotonous. There are many Plainfielders who prefer to spend a day in other places and for that reason Benevolent Council, No. 256, Jr. O. U. A. M., will conduct an excursion to Atlantic City, Tuesday. The cheapness of fare will give everyone an opportunity to visit this watering resort, hitherto out of bounds. The train will leave this city at 8 o'clock in the morning and will leave the beach at 9 o'clock in the evening.

NO TRACE OF PRIVATE BOWDEN

JOHN T. BOWDEN CAME BACK FROM THE PHILIPPINES.

Was Honorably Discharged From Service and Returned in Transport—No Word Since.

Relatives and friends of John T. Bowden, of this city, who for the past three years has been a soldier in the Philippines, are fearful that he has met with some mishap, or possibly be consigned to a watery grave.

He was a corporal in Company H, Sixth United States Cavalry, and his relatives received word in April last from him, that he had secured his discharge and would sail for home from Manila on May 11. The transport he was to take has long since arrived in San Francisco, but with yellow fever rampant among the soldiers. The officers reported a number of deaths during the voyage and as nothing has been heard from Bowden, it is thought he may possibly have been numbered among the victims.

His uncle, David Bowden, of West Fourth street, and Fred Bowden, his brother who recently returned after three years service in Cuba, have written to Adjutant General H. C. Corbin in hope of getting some trace of the missing man but so far they have met with no response.

Bowden was very well known in this city before he entered the army six years ago and was a magnificent specimen of the typical soldier. He was a member of Hope chapel and at one time formed a military organization among the young men of the place and drilled them for a long time. He made his home with his uncle on Grant avenue.

SILENCE REIGNED.

Thousand Deaf Mutes Gathered at Boynton Beach for a Picnic Yesterday.

Silence reigned supreme at Boynton Beach, yesterday. It wasn't due to a scarcity of picnickers because there were 1,000 or more of them but they were all deaf mutes from New York institutions. The usual hum of conversation was stilled. In fact the attendants' voices sounded hollow when they were beaten back by the incoming tide. But to the casual visitor it looked like the stock exchange on a busy day with the bulls and bears gesticulating wildly.

The mutes came in on one of the Starin boats, bringing their own orchestra, which no one but themselves could see any use for as they danced by keeping time to the violinist's bow. From the smiles which constantly lighted up their faces they evidently enjoyed the day's outing and were satisfied with their surroundings.

Four Score Years.

Mrs. Rhoda Martin, of Jackson avenue, mother of Horace J. Martin, celebrated her eightieth birthday at the residence of her son-in-law, Charles Steiner, yesterday. There was an informal gathering in the evening and during the day many friends called to congratulate the venerable woman, who is hale and hearty for her years.

Vacations for Carriers.

Frank Clarkson, of the local letter-carrier staff, resumed duty yesterday after a two weeks' vacation spent at various points of interest. Carriers Charles Glaentzer and Oliver R. Pearson commenced theirs today. Both are members of Company K and will spend one week in camp at Sea Giet and the remainder at mountain resorts.

Moncton's Hearing Postponed.

The case of Frank Moncton, a familiar figure in the borough police court, was postponed last evening. The charge is the same old one—drunkenness.

Special Meeting of Warren.

A special meeting of Warren Engine Company is called for tomorrow evening to consider matters of importance.

PROGRESS MADE BY NEW MILK COMPANY

Contracts Already Signed With Dealers Controlling 1,000 Quarts a Day.

MORE WILL FOLLOW.

THE COMPANY'S REPRESENTATIVE NOW WORKING WITH THE PRODUCERS.

M. J. Briggs, Representing the Promoters, Explains Aims and Plans of Proposed Plainfield Hygienic Dairy Company—His Interview.

Progress is being made in the attempt to consolidate the local milk dealers in one concern. Melancthon J. Briggs, who represents the American Pure Milk Company, promoters of the enterprise, is now in Plainfield and is quite sanguine in his belief of its success.

Contracts were sent to a number of milk dealers yesterday and they were offered good prices for their milk routes. Already contracts enough have been signed to give the new concern control of routes amounting to over a thousand quarts a day. It is expected that the new company will considerably enlarge that amount in a few days. Now Mr. Briggs is negotiating with the milk producers and does not anticipate much trouble in securing nearly all of them. He says that they will get good prices and offers to make contracts for five, ten or fifteen years.

Concerning the aim of the new company, which is to be knwon as the Plainfield Hygienic Dairy Company, Mr. Briggs was free to talk.

"Many well meaning citizens of Plainfield who are not fully advised of this method of the proposed hygienic milk company," he declared, "call the enterprise a 'trust' and are alarmed lest it ruin the present milk dealers and, after it has driven them out of business, fear that it may oppress the farmers and practice extortion upon its city customers. A simple statement of a few facts demonstrate how groundless are these apprehension.

"Instead of 'running the present dealers' the new company offers to buy the property of all who wish to sell and to pay them $4 per quart of their average daily sales for the good will of their business. The usual price paid is $1 dollar per quart and there are not a half dozen milk dealers in the city who would not jump at an offer of $2 per quart if offered by any one else.

"The new company will employ all the competent milkmen who can be induced to remain in the business and will pay them good salaries by which they can make more clear money than they do now.

"So far from 'opposing the farmers' the company will contract with all for five years or as much longer as any may desire, to pay ½ cent per quart more than the present high prices. This means a gain of $73 a year for each can made daily for that period. The company is simply adopting the Borden method of paying farmers to make clean milk.

"It will be impossible to practice extortion on city customers because the charter of the new company will forever prohibit it from charging customers at retail more than 3½ cents per quart more than it pays the famers.

"The people of Plainfield will get clean and healthful milk produced by cows properly fed, stabled and regularly inspected. This milk will be clarified, pasteurized and bottled in our up-to-date plant and will be guaranteed by a responsible company.

"There will be no more epidemics of scarlet fever, diphtheria or typhoid fever started by your milk supply as has been the case in recent years. Hundreds of cases of intestinal diseases and scores of deaths of babies and young children that now occur annually and which the medical profession have discovered to be simply 'milk poisoning' will be prevented by the general use of pure and healthful milk. I have yet to hear of the first doctor in Plainfield that does not cordially endorse our effort to give the people pure milk."

Vacations for Police.

Roundsman John J. Flynn and Patrolman Overbaugh of the local police force, will return to duty tonight after enjoying a ten days' rest. Patrolmen Vanderweg and Gamo will commence their vacations tomorrow.

Mrs. Marion L. Heath, of Fairview avenue, left yesterday for Asbury Park.

ENDEAVORERS STILL IN SESSION AT BRIDGETON

State Endeavor Convention Will Continue Today and End This Evening.

MUCH INTEREST SHOWN.

FEATURE OF MORNING SERVICE WAS ADDRESS BY J. WILLIS BAER.

A. M. Pierson, of Westfield, Speaks on Fresh Air Work at This Evening's Session—Other Features of the Day's Meetings.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bridgeton, July 17—The sixteenth annual convention of the Christian Endeavor Societies of New Jersey was continued his morning in the Central M. E. church with an increased attendance and enthusiasm.

The devotional exercises were held at 9 o'clock with J. T. Sproull in charge. The leader was Rev. H. W. Barras, of Millville. Then followed the conference of the evangelistic department in charge of Rev. F. C. Klein, of Newark, and the Bible study, report and conference, in charge of Rev. H. B. McCauley, of Trenton. A feature of the morning programme was another intreesting address by J. Willis Baer, of Boston, followed by a report from J. P. Blackledge, of Closter, superintendent of the missionary department. Mrs. Florence Randolph, of Jersey City, presented the report on the colored work, followed by denominational rallies in eight different churches.

This afternoon's sessions was opened by Rev. George C. Horter, of Camden, followed by his report of the Junior Endeavor work. The children's hour will commence at 3:45 o'clock, followed by a parade. Rev. George C. Horter, of Camden, will deliver an address and a crayon talk by C. Edgar Rosencrans, of Germantown, Pa., will precede exercises by children led by Mrs. Luther Mickel, of Bridgeton.

This evening there will be an address on "Fresh Air," by A. M. Pierson, of Westfield, a report on "Christian Citizenship," by Rev. J. Madison Hare, of Camden, and the presentation of the banner by Rev. W. T. S. Lumbar, of Moorestown; report on resolutions, election of officers, address and roll call, Rev. Dr. Cornelius Brett, of Jersey City, after which the convention will adjourn.

RICH HARVEST IN PROSPECT

HUNTERDON AND SOMERSET COUNTIES WILL DO WELL THIS YEAR.

Peach Crop in Particular Promises to Be Unusually Large and Healthy.

The farmers of Hunterdon and Somerset counties will reap a rich harvest this year. Not in many years has the outlook for all kinds of fruit been more encouraging. The crop of corn will be the largest in a decade. Hay will probably be light because of the continued dry weather during the early spring. However, what will be lost in the yield of hay will be gained in wheat and rye. The wheat and rye, from present observations, will not be affected with weavel and this will mean hundreds of thousands of dollars to the farmers in fertile Hunterdon. The conditions of the weather have favored the corn crop from the time it was planted and a poor field of corn in this county is a rare sight this season. Oats are growing fine and are well filled, so that this crop will surpass many former yields.

Almost the normal cherry crop was marketed and the price realized was almost double that of former years.

The strawberry yield was also large this year. The truckmen report that the blackberry and raspberry crop will be greater this year than has been gathered for many years. A good crop of apples and pears will also be gathered.

The most jubilant of all the farmers are those who are fortunate enough to have large peach groves upon their tracts. The trees this year are healthy in appearance and are loaded with fruit. During the last three or four years, Hunterdon's peach crop has been almost a failure. When the peach growers have a big yield about $1,000,000 is brought into that section, the greater portion of which is spent among the merchants there, who join in the belief that this will be a banner year for everybody in Hunterdon and Somerset.

GREAT CHANGES AT GRACE M. E. CHURCH

Will Redecorate Interior, Put Down New Carpet and Purchase a Pipe Organ.

TO BE DONE AT ONCE.

THEN A WEEK'S SERVICE IN HONOR OF THE REOPENING.

Committee Appointed by Official Board Believes There Will be no Trouble in Raising the Necessary Funds.

Extensive improvements are in contemplation for the interior of Grace M. E. church. For a long time a great many members of the church have felt the need of an entire renovation of the edifice and on their initiative work will be begun in the near future. At a meeting of the official board held last week the question was brought up and thoroughly discussed. It was proposed to decorate the building in keeping with its purposes, to put down a new carpet, and to purchase a new pipe organ.

In view of the fact that the church had given within the past year nearly $3,000 towards the lifting of the debt, it was deemed unwise to proceed with the execution of such a broad plan without first placing the proposition before a meeting of the whole congregation. A committee was appointed to ascertain the cost of the contemplated changes and improvements, and also to secure the views of the membership and friends of the church, and should the latter approve, to receive their subscriptions.

Several voluntary subscriptions have already been received, the majority of them being separate sums of $100 each. The members of the committee are convinced that the amount necessary to proceed to with the work and carry it to a satisfactory completion will be easily obtained. They propose to have the work done during the summer months and in the coming autumn, when the work is completed, there will be a whole week's service in honor of the reopening.

This reopening service will in the history of Grace M. E. be an epoch-marking event. One of the distinguished bishops of the church will be secured to be present on the occasion and prominent speakers will be extended an invitation to take part in the proceedings. The committee in charge of the plans to bring the matter before the members of the congregation and their friends is as follows: Dr. H. K. Carroll, John Valiant, E. E. Winckler, Edward A. Vermeule, John Steiner, Rev. Dr. Edwin L. Earp.

IONA COUNCIL MEETING.

District Meeting of Degree of Pocohontas Was Held Last Evening.

The regular district meeting of the Degree of Pocohontas was held last evening in the rooms of Iona Council in Park avenue, when there was a large attendance of members and visiting Councils. There were large delegations present from Perth Amboy and New Brunswick. Among the prominent members present were Great Pocohontas Mrs. Morgan, of Newark; First Great Scout Mrs. Ragan, of Paterson; Great Prophetess Mrs. Wolf, of New Brunswick.

During the evening there were addresses by these officers and by Past Great Sachem William Newcorn. There were also recitations by John Flynn, of Perth Amboy and vocal solos by Miss Daisy Snyder, Miss Burk and Miss Margaret Kennedy, and piano solos by Miss Cortright, of Iona, and Miss Wolf, of New Brunswick.

A feature was the drawing for the silk pillow. W. J. Connors, of West Sixth street, held the lucky ticket bearing the number 1,524. After the addresses and entertainment refreshments were served by a committee from Iona Council.

FOUGHT IN FRENCH.

Neighbors Up in City Court on Account of Verbal Troubles.

Mrs. Mary Ellig, of Plainfield avenue, a comely young French matron, was arraigned in the city court, this morning, charged by her neighbor, Mrs. Ernestine Bohrere, with disorderly conduct. With the aid of Felix Boutes, as interpreter, the defendant's side of the story was told but she put in so many side remarks in French and acted generally the role of termagant applied to her by Mrs. Bohrere that City Judge Runyon decided she was guilty. His disposition of the case was a suspended fine of $10 or twenty days.

CAUGHT IN A SMOKESTACK

PAINTER BILYEU WAS NEARLY SUFFOCATED BY GAS AND SMOKE.

Fireman Misunderstood and Opened Draft When Bilyeu Was on the Top of Stack.

George Bilyeu, the painter, who several days ago was engaged painting the smokestacks at the electric light plant, had a narrow escape from being suffocated to death.

He was working at the top of one of the stacks and it was arranged that the fires should be banked and the drafts shut off while he was on the stack. Through some misunderstanding the fireman at the plant opened the drafts, allowing the gas and black smoke to pour forth in a dense black volume.

Bilyeu had all he could do to maintain his position long enough to set in a safe place. Before he could get away from the top of the stack his face was black as coal and it was only by a hair's breadth that he escaped suffocation. With an unusual amount of presence of mind he descended the stack and reached a place of safety.

He did not return to the top of the stack until the draft was shut off and there was a full understanding about the matter.

PASTOR'S EYES.

That Was the Cause of Rev. Geo. A. Francis' Resignation From Westfield Charge.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, July 17—The resignation of Rev. George A. Francis, as pastor of the First Baptist church, tendered to the church and acted upon last spring, takes effect next month.

Rev. Mr. Francis said yesterday that his resignation is positive and that he had not as yet heard that the church had selected a pastor to succeed him. He stated that in the future he was not going to look for a charge and that he did not believe he would have much trouble finding a church if he searched for one. Mr. Francis stated that he did not intend to preach again at any permanent place, but would supply pulpits in Bayonne during August.

The reason given by the preacher for his decision was on account of his eyes. Of late he has been greatly troubled and has been forced to give up reading books, which was previously a great pleasure, he usually having read from two to four books a week.

Mr. Francis declared he must rest his eyes and work more out of doors, and that therefore he had decided to accept the district agency of the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company, of Newark, and that his district would be Somerset county. Mr. Francis and his family will still reside here.

BLACKFORD PARDONED.

Court of Pardons Released Plainfielder Who Was Given Three Years in Prison for Bigamy.

During a session of the State Board of Pardons, held at Sea Girt, yesterday, 103 applications were presented of which eighty were considered. Among the latter was a petition from the friends of John L. Blackford, of this city, who was sentenced to three years in January 1900, for bigamy. The Board accepted their pleas in his behalf and his pardon was granted. It makes but a little shortening in Blackford's original term as deducting the time off allowed for good behavior he would have been released in a few months.

WATCHUNG AVE. TO BE WIDENED

One Way Suggested at Conference of Relieving Conditions at Trolley Terminus.

SEVERAL OTHER PLANS.

Councilmanic Street Committee and Representatives of Trolley Company Held a Conference Tuesday Evening, But Nothing Very Definite Was Accomplished.

There was an important conference of the Councilmanic street committee and representatives of the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Street Railway Tuesday evening in the office of Street Commissioner Gavett, when several matters pertaining to the improvement of the service of the trolley road and in reference to relieving the congested condition of affairs on Watchung avenue, were discussed. Several plans for helping the crowded condition were talked of, but nothing definite resulted.

One suggestion was to put in another switch from Watchung avenue to Fourth street and have the through cars run through Fourth street to Monroe avenue while the Somerset street cars would go out Arlington avenue. Another plan was to have the different lines of cars meet at Watchung avenue at an interval of five minutes.

A plan that was received with much favor by the city officials was that to widen Watchung avenue on the east side between Third street and Front street twenty feet, while still another scheme was for the company to buy property and establish a station. The representatives of the company suggested running cars on either East Second street or East Front street, so that a belt line could be established.

The company agreed to operate its cars on Arlington avenue every fifteen minutes during the summer. That line has paid $12 a day since January 1, and when the receipts reach $15 the Council can compel the running of cars every fifteen minutes. The company was informed that it must keep cars off West Fourth street at night and agreed to do so, also to sprinkle Park avenue below Randolph road.

Those present at the conference were Councilmen Tolles, vanHerwerden, Lee, Daniel, of the committee, also Council Buckle, Murphy, Coriell, Mayor Jenkins, Street Commissioner Gavett, and Col. E. W. Hine and General Manager J. H. Ackerman, of the trolley company.

MIDSUMMER DANCE.

Given Under Auspices of the T. A. B. Society at Its Hall Last Evening.

Under the auspices of the T. A. B. Society, a midsummer night dance was given in T. A. B. Hall, last evening. One hundred young people were in attendance and glided over the waxed floor until an early hour this morning. Professor O'Reilly furnished the music. The committee in chrarge consisted of Edward Lynch, Thomas O'Keefe, Richard Birmingham, James Monohan, Thomas Carty and Bernard Clark.

Excursion Postponed.

Excursionists to the number of several hundred gathered at the North Avenue station this morning, all prepared to enjoy the Trinity Reformed church outing to Asbury Park today. But the downpour of rain and the threatening aspect of the clouds, presaging an all day drizzle, prompted the committee to postpone the event till a more auspicious occasion.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

It is really unkind of Frederick W. Park, of Cranford, to demand that the Democrats of the new Fifth district give him the nomination for Congress this year. Mr. Park must know that all the arrangements have been made to bestow the honor on Congressman-elect DeWitt Clinton Flanagan, and that it would cause a decided ruction in the party should the Morristown millionaire be thrown overboard. It is true that the Cranford man has a claim on the nomination, for the way in which he withdrew from the race two years ago in order that Mr. Man, of Bayonne, might reap a little glory, was then considered so magnanimous that it entitled him to the consideration of the party at the first opportunity. This fact was recognized when the Union county Democrats proceeded to give Mr. Park the nomination for Assemblyman and he declined to accept, giving as the reason that it was beneath the dignity of a man who intended to run for Congress to demean himself by participating in a race for such an insignificant State office.

The only excuse that the party can give for refusing to recognize the claims of Mr. Park is a financial one. His barrel does not begin to size up with that owned by Mr. Flanagan, or with the one in possession of Mr. Fowler. The money question is to play an important part in the coming campaign, and an exhibition of hard cash is one of the requisites. Mr. Park should take warning from the fate of his townsman, Mr. Osgoodsby, who was a candidate for a day for the Republican nomination, and withdraw from the racetrack before he is kicked off.—Newark News.

The Elizabeth Journal a few days subsequent to the convention at Belvidere which renominated Representative Fowler was moved to ask:

"Will those newspapers that have had so much to say recently about factional fights in Union county please note the harmony in the Belvidere convention, and change their former opinions according to the facts?"

Unfortunately it will require something more than the surface harmony shown at Belvidere to overcome the evidence of Republican dissensions in Union county. Hardly had the delegates returned to their homes when the Senatorial candidacy of Charles J. Fisk, of Plainfield, was announced. Mr. Fisk trains with the Fowler end of the party, and his candidacy at the present time is attributed, rightly or wrongly, to a determination on the part of Mr. Fowler and his friends to prevent the re-election to the Senate of that staunch Kean adherent, Senator Joseph Cross. Rumors have connected the name of Governor Murphy with the Fisk movement. It has been reported that the Governor has Senatorial aspirations, and would not object to being Senator Kean's successor. The same rumor has it that Mr. Fisk, if elected Senator, might not be averse to aiding the Governor with his vote, while it would be hopeless to attempt to seduce Senator Cross from his allegiance to Senator Kean.

But it must be said that this story, so far as it affects the Governor, lacks the elements of probability. Fisk, if elected Senator, would hardly dare desert a Union county man. While his support might be perfunctory, it is unlikely that he would do otherwise than vote for Kean as against any outside candidate. There is, however, a possibility that Mr. Fisk might find himself in a position to vote for a Union county man and still not vote for Mr. Kean. It is not beyond the bounds of probability that Mr. Fowler may cherish an ambition to wear the toga. If he should indulge in such dreams, naturally his first move would be to secure the support of the Senator from his own county. Perhaps here is the secret of Mr. Fisk's candidacy.—Newark News.

STORM BRINGS HAVOC

North Dakota Towns and Farms Laid Waste.

TELEGRAPH LINES OUT OF BUSINESS.

Over a Wide Extent of Territory Come Reports of Great Damage to Buildings and Growing Crops.

FARGO, N. D., July 17.—A section north and south of Grand Forks has been visited by a terrific wind and hail storm, causing great damage to telegraph and telephone wires and buildings of all kinds. At Conway the hail was the worst ever experienced, and the damage to crops was serious. The storm was noticed first at Larimore, thirty miles north of Grand Forks. At Thompson, south of Grand Forks, three churches were demolished, one house broken into splinters and the passenger depot and platform partially carried away. At least 75 per cent of the telegraph poles between Grand Forks and Thompson, fourteen miles south, were blown down. At Winnipeg Junction the wind struck a freight train, and the caboose was blown into a ditch and two trainmen injured.

At Belmont the wind destroyed the Lutheran church, a big two story schoolhouse and the farm residences of Broke Bros. No fatalities were reported. At points off from the railroad and telegraph lines great damage is feared.

Mere fragments of information come from El Dorado, but these indicate the destruction of that town, of about 250 people. Neither of the reports from Thomson or El Dorado speak of loss of life.

A Gale In Illinois.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., July 17.—This county was struck by a southeasterly storm which almost approached a cyclone. Trees and small buildings were blown over and considerable damage otherwise reported. Lightning that accompanied the heavy rain fired numerous buildings throughout the county and the loss will reach a considerable sum. It is reported that a terrific wind and rain storm swept over the country north of Peoria. Telephone and telegraph wires are down, and it is impossible to get definite information concerning the losses. At Chillicothe the lightning did considerable damage. The steamer Speed was blown ashore at Henry island, but not seriously damaged. All wires on the Rock Island are down.

Heavy Damage In Minnesota.

SAUK CENTER, Minn., July 17.—About $400,000 damage has been done to the crops within four miles of Sauk Center by a hail, rain and wind storm at midnight. Corn is almost a total loss, and wheat and other crops will average little more than one-third. Hail nine inches in circumference fell.

Minister Wu Notified.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—Minister Wu has received official confirmation of his recall to Peking to assume a connection with the new Chinese foreign office. He had previously received a copy of the official decree naming himself, with Shen Chai Pen, as the compiler of a new code of laws for China, but he was not certain that the new duty could not be discharged in Washington without the surrender of his mission. Now, however, he is informed that he is to come to Peking. The date of his departure has not been set, as it depends on the arrival here of Liang Chen Tung, who is to succeed him, from London. The change cannot be made inside of a month or six weeks.

Fierce Storms In France.

PARIS, July 17.—Violent storms have swept over southeastern France. At St. Etienne, department of Loire, there was a torrential rain, accompanied by hail and thunder and lightning. Streets and cellars were flooded, and tramway service was suspended. The river Furens overflowed its banks, and forty persons were swept away. Many bodies were seen floating in the river. Some of the streets are completely blocked with heaps of mud and sand. The damage to property is very great. Seventy-five feet of the wall of the railway station has fallen.

Mackay Stricken In London.

LONDON, July 17.—John W. Mackay of San Francisco was prostrated by heat on Tuesday and is now ill at his home in Carlton House terrace. Inquiries made there by a representative of the press elicited the information that the rumors that Mr. Mackay was in a dangerous condition are without foundation; but, it was added, the doctors have ordered that he be kept perfectly quiet for several days. The exact nature of his illness appears to be as yet unknown.

Nonunion Steam Spurned.

SANDY HILL, N. Y., July 17.—The firemen employed by the Union Bag and Paper company here have struck for an eight hour day and an increase of 15 to 25 cents an hour. The works shut down at noon. The paper makers refused to work with steam furnished by nonunion men.

Wilhelmina to Return Home.

THE HAGUE, July 17.—Queen Wilhelmina, who has been convalescing at Castle Schaumberg, near the Rhine, is so far restored to health that she will return home on Saturday with her husband.

A Bad Enterprise.

SARATOGA, N. Y., July 17.—James Enterprise of Buffalo is under arrest, charged with being implicated in the robbery of the postoffice at Schuyler Junction, Saratoga county.

TAFT WILL NOT WAIT

An Ultimatum Presented to the Vatican.

NEGOTIATIONS MAY BE BROKEN OFF.

July 24 Set as the Limit For a Decision at Rome—United States Denies Desire to Violate the Treaty of Paris.

ROME, July 17.—Governor Taft will leave here on July 24 for Manila whether or not the negotiations for the purchase of the friar lands in the Philippines are concluded by that time. He has been instructed to explain to the Vatican that should the basis of an agreement not be reached by that time he will be compelled to break off the negotiations here and resume them at Manila.

An ultimatum setting forth the necessity for a definite assurance from the church as to the withdrawal of the friars has been presented to the Vatican by Governor Taft.

The following is in part Judge Taft's note. It is addressed to Cardinal Rampolla, papal secretary of state, and begins thus:

"In reply to the two notes of your eminence of June 21 and July 9 I have just received a communication from the secretary of war in precise and exhaustive terms, which are here reproduced integrally. Secretary Root says he is glad to see by the two notes received from the Vatican that the holy see is animated by the best intentions to come to an understanding with Washington about the relations between church and state in the Philippines, that his eminence has declared the Vatican to be disposed to give clear and precise instructions to the friars to occupy themselves with religion only, abstaining from politics, and that the holy see proposes to introduce little by little ecclesiastics of other nationalities, especially American. Secretary Root adds that he cannot do less than acknowledge the wisdom of these propositions, but that he must observe that they would not solve the question.

"The United States has no desire to violate the treaty of Paris and seeks not a forcible but a voluntary withdrawal of certain persons who happen to be Spaniards and whose previous experiences in the islands had fortuitously thrown them into antagonistic relations with the people and with the Catholic laity and native clergy, many of whom have left their parishes and can only be reinstated by using material force, which the United States cannot permit. This proves that the government of the Philippines has no intention to propose measures contrary to the interests of the Vatican and, in fact, its interest in the church. If the question of withdrawal be left unsolved now that the Washington government has persuaded the ecclesiastical authorities to see the necessity of carrying out this step, the later withdrawal of the friars under order of the religious superior could not be regarded as anything but voluntary and would not violate the treaty of Paris. Nor could such order be regarded as affirming or admitting any accusations against the friars, because the American government made no such accusation. The United States did not desire the withdrawal for itself—it was indifferent to the presence of the friars—but in the interest of the whole people of the Philippines, who were bitterly opposed to their presence.

"It was thought by the generous proposal of a contract which would bind the Philippine government to certain financial and other obligations to secure the much longed for desire of the Philippine people in the withdrawal of the friars. Now that the Vatican does not see its way clear to make a definite withdrawal the American government has deemed it wise to recur to the methods of settlement of the various questions at issue suggested by Cardinal Rampolla's first communication of June 21.

Secretary Root in his communication declares that Judge Taft's journey is quite compensated for by the fact that it is possible to fix general lines on which later can be amicably resolved all the questions now pending. Meanwhile, as a preliminary, he wishes Cardinal Rampolla to send to the Philippine government four lists of the property considered to belong to the religious orders.

Secretary Root concludes by instructing Judge Taft to express to Cardinal Rampolla his pleasure that the visit of the American representative has resulted in a broad basis for harmonious settlement, his thanks for the courtesy shown by the Vatican to Judge Taft and for the promptness with which the Vatican has acted and his hopes that, though no specific agreement has been reached, the Vatican will ultimately find it just to do what has been suggested.

Judge Taft concludes his note to the Vatican thus: "In obedience to Secretary Root's dispatch I request that the future negotiations on the points raised be held in Manila between an apostolic delegate and the governor after the information suggested above by Secretary Root has been ascertained and presented."

The Vatican is buzzing with comments on the last American note, the contents of which were somewhat unexpected, as it was thought that Washington would make counter propositions.

Americans at Rome Indignant.

LONDON, July 17.—The Daily Chronicle's Rome correspondent, referring to the closing of Judge Taft's negotiations, says great indignation is felt among the Americans in Rome, who are astounded at the utter want of appreciation the Vatican has shown for American courtesy. The correspondent reports an interview with an American prelate in which the latter is quoted as saying: "The Vatican has befooled us and has missed the greatest chance offered to her for prestige for a century. The treatment meted out to our representatives and the exposure of the unbusinesslike methods of Rome is an incident in our history which Americans will never forget."

CHICAGO STRIKE ENDED.

Freight Handlers Gain Nothing For Their Ten Days' Strike.

CHICAGO, July 17.—After ten days of strife the Chicago freight handlers' strike has come to a sudden end in an unqualified victory for the railroads. A meeting of the strikers, presided over by President Curran, resulted in an almost unanimous vote to return to work, leaving the wage scale and other questions for settlement between the men and their respective roads.

At the conclusion of the meeting the strikers went by hundreds to the warehouses to apply for their old positions, and the teamsters who have remained out in sympathy again took up their reins. Within a few hours immense quantities of freight which had been held back for days were being rushed to the railroads or taken from warehouses and cars. Where stagnation had ruled commercial activity again reigned. Chicago merchants expressed unbounded relief at the termination of hostilities, but they were scarcely less happy than the men themselves, although the strike is estimated to have cost them $10,000,000, to say nothing of the trade that has been permanently lost to them.

It is believed the roads generally will allow the truckers 17 cents an hour and minor concessions granted by the proposition of July 1.

Rhodes' Dream to Come True.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—Before many years the world may be astonished to find that the long fostered dream of the late Cecil Rhodes for the opening up of the Dark Continent has become a reality and that a consecutive line of steel rails stretches from Cairo to Cape Town. The state department has made public an interesting report on railroad development in Africa from United States Consul Ravndal, at Beirut, bearing date of May 10. The consul says that by an agreement signed at Brussels the previous month by Robert Williams with the king of the Belgians the German route was abandoned and the railway from Cairo to the Cape is to be carried through the Kongo Free State to the upper waters of the Nile. From Stanley Falls, on the upper Kongo, a railway is to be built to Mahagi, on Lake Albert Nyanza, and this connection will supply the missing link between the Cape and Egyptian railways.

Texas Democrats Nominate.

GALVESTON, Tex., July 17.—At the Democratic convention here Judge John B. Reagan, the only surviving member of the Confederate States cabinet, presented the name of Congressman Lanham for governor. In his speech he referred to the fact that Lanham probably would be the last Confederate soldier to serve as governor of the state of Texas. There were no contests for any of the state offices. The only contest of the convention was the selection of a chairman of the state executive committee to serve during the ensuing two years. The platform says, "The Democrats of Texas in convention assembled declare their faith in the principles of the party as set forth in the Kansas City platform." It is noticeable that neither Bryan nor free silver was mentioned specifically.

Street Car Strike at Richmond.

RICHMOND, Va., July 17.—Richmond's first big street railway strike is on. Practically no cars are running, and owners of all sorts and conditions of vehicles are using at ten cent fares all their wagons, carriages, buggies and busses. A committee representing the local street car men's union after two conferences with President Sitterding of the Virginia Passenger and Power company, which now owns the whole Richmond system, at which they were unable to get together on the wage question, ordered the men on the cars out.

Italian King's Russian Visit.

KRONSTADT, Russia, July 17.—Emperor Nicholas H. yesterday paid a ceremonious visit to King Victor Emmanuel on board the Italian flagship Carlo Alberto amid much firing of salutes. All the vessels in the roadstead were gayly decorated. The emperor evinced great interest in the wireless telegraphic apparatus on the flagship, which was explained to him by Signor Marconi. After an inspection of the ship had been made by them King Victor Emmanuel and the czar went to Admiral Mirabello's cabin, where champagne was served.

Castro's Fall Predicted.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, July 17.—It is believed here, and the opinion is said to be founded on good authority, that President Castro of Venezuela will be overwhelmed within two weeks. President Castro took the field against the revolutionists July 6. Twenty-four persons were killed by a shell which fell in Caracas recently.

No Pardon For McAllister.

NEW YORK, July 17.—The board of pardons of the state of New Jersey, the members of which held a session at Sea Girt, refused a pardon to Walter McAllister of Paterson, who was one of the young men convicted of the murder of Jennie Bosscheiter. McAllister has served fifteen months of a thirty year sentence.

MINE WORKERS MEET

National Convention Opened at Indianapolis.

SUCCESS PREDICTED BY MITCHELL

Sentiment Among Delegates Appears to Be Against Declaring a General Strike—Anthracite Men Strongly Favor It.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 17.—The national convention of the United Mine Workers assembled in Tomlinson hall this morning to discuss the advisability of calling a strike to aid the anthracite men who have been out in the east for several weeks.

The action of the convention is uncertain, although the situation last night indicated that there will be no walkout of the soft coal men. There are so many circumstances, however, that may change the situation that speculation regarding the result of the convention is practically worthless. If President Mitchell would declare his personal preferences, it would not be difficult to foretell the outcome. At present he controls the situation absolutely and can swing the delegates either way. He will not say openly what he wishes, however, asserting that it is the province of the delegates to decide regarding the strike, and that, while he is willing to advise, under no circumstance will he assume to dictate to the convention what it shall do. When it comes to discussing the result of the convention, the sphynx of Egypt is a howling dervish compared to Mr. Mitchell. He said yesterday afternoon, however, that the convention would take action which would result in the settlement of the strike.

PRESIDENT JOHN MITCHELL.

President Mitchell's statement was as follows:

The convention which will meet tomorrow will before it closes take action that will settle the strike of the miners in Pennsylvania and West Virginia."

At the same time he reiterated his confidence that the strike would end in a victory for the men. When asked whether these utterances could be construed into meaning that he was in favor of a strike, Mr. Mitchell was seized with a paroxysm of reticence. If no strike shall be ordered by the convention, it is likely that action will be taken with the object of curtailing the output of soft coal, and every effort will be made to keep it out of the anthracite region. To this end the bituminous men will decide to work fewer hours a day, and no more coal will be mined than is necessary. If it shall be decided that this policy can be carried out, the chances of a strike will be greatly lessened.

The sentiment among the delegates, as far as it can be determined from those who are already here, is against a strike. John P. Reese, president of the Iowa miners, declares that he is for a strike only as a last resort. J. W. Howe, president of the Tennessee miners, will not declare himself, saying he will use his best judgment, but the members of his delegation say they are not in favor of a strike if it can be avoided.

Daniel Young, president of the Maryland delegation, takes the same position as Mr. Howe and his followers as do those of the Tennessee man, that they do not wish a strike if they can keep out of it. The Missouri men are against a strike and are instructed to fight against it on the convention floor.

The delegates from the anthracite regions are strongly in favor of a strike, but they are urging their views with moderation. There seems to be but little selfishness in the attitude of any of the delegations, and all practically declare themselves as being anxious for the greatest good of the greatest number of the organization.

Strikers Return to Work.

SCRANTON, Pa., July 17.—It is given out officially from the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western offices that in the company's twenty-eight collieries there are now at work 110 miners and laborers who went out on strike and were reinstated at their own solicitation. Superintendent C. C. Rose of the Delaware and Hudson said his company had fifty ex-strikers at work. Other companies report returned strikers, but would not give figures. The miners and laborers who have returned to work for the different companies are not employed in cutting or loading coal, but in cleaning up the mines and making repairs.

Curran's Mission Failed.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., July 17.—Rev. J. J. Curran of this city, who went to Philadelphia and New York to lay before the presidents of the coal carrying railroads a plan for the settlement of the miners' strike, says he will make no further effort to bring about peace, as the coal operators have made up their minds not to grant any concessions to the miners or to recognize their committees.

A DANGEROUS COURSE.

It is a habit of many local merchants to heap up the empty boxes, in which their stock is received, in the rear of their establishments. While there is no law which will prevent any such course, as a matter of precaution it would be well if these boxes were not allowed to accumulate too rapidly. Yesterday's fire was an instance of what may be expected. Luckily there were no serious consequences from yesterday's blaze but there would have been every opportunity for them but for the prompt arrival of the fire department.

Small boys are always a factor to be reckoned with and while their intentions may be the best, they are just as likely to be the indirect cause of another such conflagration at any time. Then there are sundry other ways in which inflammable material like packing boxes may catch fire. If there is no other property close at hand, there is no danger, but when these boxes are piled close to some of the largest buildings in the city, it is admittedly dangerous. When the boxes happen to be half filled with excelsior and other materials used for packing, the danger is still greater.

There are some of the large establishments in Plainfield which have a special place for unpacking their new supplies and store away the boxes and packing material where there is no danger of fire. While there is no city ordinance which will compel a merchant to follow out such a course, there ought not to be one who would willingly jeopardize any property, no matter to whom it belonged. A little thought on the subject will convince anyone of the danger of such a practice and that is all that ought to be needed to bring it to a stop.

Somerville is wise in one way at least. The Board of Town Commissioners of that place has just decided to place street signs at street corners. They will be similar to those now in use in this city. Not because it happened to be Plainfield that started the ball rolling but because it is a wise move, any city is moving to the advantage of its people when it places in position signs that will properly designate the streets. There are many cities and towns in this part of Jersey which are sadly lacking in that respect. It was not very much over a year ago that Plainfield was equally as badly off. That is all changed now and there is no municipality in the State where the stranger has an easier time of it in finding out where he is than right here in Plainfield. North Plainfield is equally as well equipped. In course of time, there will accidents happen to some of the street signs. The city officials should see that each one is properly replaced and the good work of last year continued indefinitely.

That it is important to make the name of the advertiser the most prominent feature of an advertisement was shown by an instance reported in Printer's Ink, comments the Philadelphia Record. In a recent street-car card there was a fine picture. Of five persons who admired it only one was able to give the name of the advertiser. The picture had overshadowed every other feature.

Saturday's League baseball games will still make it possible for the two leading teams to maintain their advantage. They will both have to play good ball, however, if they hope to keep in their present positions. The second group of teams are not anxious to bring up the rear of the column and the result will be some hot contests Saturday.

Water meters would greatly equalize the water rates. At present, it often happens that a man with a family of three is compelled to pay more than one with a household of ten, just because the former happens to have a faucet or two extra in his home. That is not fair to anyone and the trouble should be remedied.

The latest improvement which the Jersey Central management has planned is to the Jersey City and New York terminal. A half of a million dollars is to be spent there. It will certainly be a [profitable investment.

COLUMN FOR THE SHOPPERS

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

For a real good cigar, one with body and flavor that will be a pleasure for you to smoke, go to Dobbins, North avenue.

Those miniature painted portraits made by the Plainfield Art Store are admired wherever seen. Any picture can be copied and special sittings are given.

Your ancestors always told the time by gazing at the sun, but on a rainy day they carried a watch purchased at L. Moraller & Son's, Park avenue, Plainfield.

To ensure satisfaction buy your groceries from George Kirch, the Liberty street grocer. A line unsurpassed for quality and quantity at prices to please everybody.

Its impossible to make good bread from poor flour. The breadstuffs made by John Wirth are sweet and wholesome because the material is of the best and the workmanship skilled.

The A. and P. Tea Company's household staples and groceries are used in all parts of the globe. The local store handles them all at prices lower than the regular grocery houses.

By purchasing ice of McDonough Brothers you will save a good deal of money during the season. They will furnish you with this necessary article regularly for a moderate sum.

Putnam & DeGraw have just received a fine line of Sanspareil plaited bosom shirts for men in a wide variety of sizes and colors. They are the proper thing for summer wear giving comfort and a dressy appearance.

If you will loan Willett & Son your feet for a few minutes they will properly fit them with a pair of comfortable, dressy shoes for a reasonable price. They also carry a full line of Oxford ties for men and women, just the thing for summer wear.

There is hardly an ill that human flesh is heir to but what nature has provided a remedy. Sometimes, however, unscrupulous persons attempt to palm off inferior goods or others that have been criminally adulterated and their properties are lost. Shaw, the West Front street druggist, has nothing but pure drugs and medicines, that always cure.

Did you ever think what a blessing it is to have a first-class and well-appointed drug store in a community, one where you are sure of always getting pure drugs and toilet articles and having prescriptions properly and accurately compounded? Such a store is that of L. W. Randolph's on West Front street. He is also up-to-date in serving soda water and refreshing summer drinks.

SUBURBAN NEWS

A Department Devoted to the Minor Events in Greater Plainfield's Suburbs by Our Own Correspondents.

DUNELLEN.

The Watchung Water Company is coming in for a good deal of criticism these days for the slack way in which the affairs of the company are run. At present there is no local superintendent so that if any breaks occur or there are any complaints to make there is no way to remedy them. The water is at such a low pressure if a fire was to occur the fire engine would be made practically useless. It is said that the complaints will assume a more active form before long if the matter is not remedied.

The sort of game of ball that "Ike" Ettinger is putting up at present is pleasing to the local cranks. He is not only pitching well but is getting in some good stick work. His home run Saturday with two men on bases was one of the best hits made here this season.

The funeral of Matthias Schmidt will take place this afternoon. Rev. Frank Fletcher will officiate and interment will be made at Hillside cemetery.

A lecture will be given this evening by Rev. W. C. Snodgrass, of Plainfield, on "Impressions of England," in the Methodist church.

Miss Anna Estey, of Gardner, Maine, is spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. C. D. Boice.

Washington avenue from Dunellen avenue to First place is being repaired and macadamized.

Prayer meeting was held in the local churches last evening and was well attended.

Miss Emma Nelson has returned home after spending a few days out of town.

The Castello children are considerably improved from their recent illness.

Henry Garretson made a business trip to New Brunswick yesterday.

The regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held this afternoon.

Mrs. John VanMiddlesworth visited in Plainfield this morning.

A contest will be held at tennis on the Park courts Saturday.

NEW MARKET.

The annual reunion of the Dunham family will take place today at the residence of William Dunham of this place. Members of the family will assemble from many different points to celebrate the day.

A hot contest is expected in Saturday's game between New Market and the Orange F. C., which has had a most successful season. Still the locals are playing well and do not fear the outcome.

The Whitford children have fully recovered from their recent attack of scarlet fever.

The brass band will hold its regular weekly practice this evening in Recreation Hall.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The members of the Epworth League, of the Methodist church, tendered a pleasant surprise party Tuesday evening to Miss Minnie Meyers who sailed this morning with her father for Germany. The members gathered at a home nearby and shortly after 8 marched in a body to the home of Miss Minnie, taking her completely by surprise. She was equal to the occasion and in a few minutes had recovered and was the life of the merry party. The evening was passed very enjoyably playing games and exchanging social chat. During the evening refreshments were served and it was not until near the midnight hour that the members began to leave for their homes with best wishes for a safe voyage and pleasant visit.

The Xaviers Deaf Mute team, of New York, which is to play the local team Saturday afternoon, has sent word that the team expects to have Degan the deaf mute twirler in the box. Degan was given a try out on the New York league team last season and has since been pitching for some of the best semi-professional teams in the country. A good game is assured the fans as Manager Johnston's colts are in fine form and playing fast ball at present.

Henry C. Meyers and daughter, Miss Minnie, left on the North German Lloyd's Line this morning for an extended visit with relatives in Germany. Mr. Meyers expects to be absent seven weeks but Miss Minnie will be gone a year.

Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., will meet in its rooms tonight at 8 o'clock. A full attendance of the members is desired as business of importance will be transacted.

No preaching service will be held Sunday at the Methodist church during the rest of July. The only Sunday service being the Sunday-school session at 3 o'clock.

An exhibition of moving pictures and illustrated songs will be held every evening for the remainder of the week at Ivamy's pavillion.

Mrs. Frank Putnam and children, of Plainfield, were the guest yesterday of Mrs. Putnam's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Frentz.

The weekly prayer meeting of the Methodist church has been changed from Friday to Saturday evening.

Miss Gladys Marsh spent Wednesday with Miss Evelyn Buckley, of South avenue, Plainfield.

Miss Beulah Coles has returned from a two weeks' visit with friends at Elizabeth.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Peter LaTourette, at present living at Clinton avenue, will reside, in the future in the village. He expects to move into the house now occupied by George Smith.

Murray Smith is able to be out again after being confined to the bed for several days.

Several good catches were made in the mill-pond, yesterday, of catfish and eels.

Camp No. 41, P. O. S. of A., will hold its regular weekly meeting tonight.

JAPANESE TEA.

Ladies' Aid Society of Hope Chapel Entertained by Mrs. J. B. Higgins.

The members of the Ladies Aid Society, of Hope chapel, were pleasantly entertained at a Japanese tea given by Mrs. J. B. Higgins, of West Front street, yesterday afternoon. The parlor was tastefully decorated with Oriental hangings, while the dining room decorations were in keeping with the occasion. During the afternoon musical selections were given by various members of the society.

Thrown From Trolley Car.

Miss Minnie Lude, of DeKalb avenue, while returning to East Orange on a Bloomfield avenue trolley car Sunday evening, was thrown from the car as it made a sharp turn around a curve, She fell in the street and received a severe shaking up. Miss Lude was standing at the time, the seats being filled with passengers. Her injuries are not serious, but she is suffering from a severe nervous shock.

Entertained Their Guest.

The Misses Blimm, of Somerset street, entertained a dozen friends at their home last evening in honor of their guest, Miss Sadie Brown, of New York. The evening was spent in dancing, while Marcus Hoyt and Bert Simpson entertained the guests with vocal and instramental selections. Later in the evening refreshments were served, after which the happy affair terminated.

Installed at Red Bank.

Supreme Prelate Mrs. William J. Ford, of the Star of Plainfield Lodge, Shepherds of Bethlehem, installed the officers of Monmouth Star Lodge, at Red Bank, last evening. This evening she will attend the installation and anniversary celebration of Jersey Star Lodge, No. 29, at Long Branch. She will be accompanied by other members of the lodge.

Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Pearson, of Manson place, left today to spend ten days with Mr. Pearson's parents in Newark.

REINHART STILL A CANDIDATE

WON HIS MATCHES IN THE FIRST AND SECOND ROUNDS.

One of Four Eastern Golfers Left In The Sixteen Still Left for National Championship.

Four eastern golfers and twelve westerners are all that are left of the sixty-four who qualified in the preliminary round of the National championship at Glenview yesterday. As the result of the first and second rounds at match play to eighteen holes, which took place over the course yesterday, forty-eight contestants were eliminated and there were several crack players dropped.

The four eastern players who survived the crucial play yesterday are Walter J. Travis, Dr. L. L. Harban, Percy Pyne, 2d, and Frank O. Reinhart, who recently defeated Travis.

In the first round play Reinhart was paired with O. D. Thompson, of Alleghaney, and he defeated his opponent by 7 up and 5 to play. In the second round Reinhart defeated L. T. Boyd, of Milwaukee, by 2 up and 1 to play. In the third round today Reinhart will meet Harold Smith, who won yesterday 5 up and 4 to play in his match with M. Hibbard.

A well-known member of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club speaking this morning of the championship play at Glenview, said that he believed that Reinhart is a superior player to any in the championship play, outside of Travis. He declared the latter to be in a class by himself.

A prominent Yale man last week selected three contestants as probable winners and wagered that one of these three would win. One of the three is Reinhart. The latter has great possibilities. He is a strong player and has the advantage of not losing his nerve in competition.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—There will be good speaking, singing and music at the Rescue Mission tonight.

—Georgia peaches, Jenny Lind and Rocky Ford melons are features in Neuman Brothers' large fruit display.

—Miss Molly Pratzner, of West Front street, and Miss Jennie DeCamp, of Linden avenue, have entered the employ of the Crescent Embossing Works.

—Willard Martin, of Jackson avenue, has accepted a position with the Central Railroad of New Jersey in the superintendent's office at Jersey City. Mr. Martin assumed his duties Monday.

Success in the West.

A friend living in this city has received a letter from Paul Whitall, a former Plainfield boy, an ex-member of Company K and, up to the time of his departure, very prominent in gymnasium work at the Y. M. C. A. Mr. Whitall is located in Butte City, Mont. He has succeeded admirably since casting his fortune in the vast west and speaks in hopeful terms of the future of that part of the country.

Booklet on Atlantic City.

The local ticket agents at the North Avenue station have received for distribution a handsome booklet on Atlantic City, which has been issued by the passenger department of the New Jersey Central. It contains pictures of that famous resort and gives interesting data concerning the place, how one can spend a day or longer with pleasure and profit there.

Photographed Truck.

The small hook and ladder truck which is advertised for sale by the fire committee of the Common Council was photographed yesterday afternoon. A photograph of the wagon will be sent on request to prospective purchasers.

Trolley Party Planned.

A number of West End young men are making arrangements for a private trolley party to Riverside Park, on the Raritan, some evening next week. The trip will be made in one of the Middlesex cars directly from this city.

Not Settled for Sebring Building.

The insurance company has not yet settled with Mrs. Sebring for the loss of her building on West Front street, adjoining the Babcock building. The loss is a total one and the chances are the company will settle in full.

Mrs. W. D. Manning, of LaGrande avenue, is spending a few days with friends at Elizabeth.

Mother Always Keeps It Handy.

"My mother suffered a long time from distressing pains and general ill health due primarily to indigestion," says L. W. Spalding, Verona, Mo. "Two years ago I got her to try Kodol. She grew better at once and now, at the age of seventy-six, eats any thing she wants, remarking that she fears no bad effects as she has her bottle of Kodol handy." Don't waste time doctoring symptoms. Go after the cause. If your stomach is sound your health will be good. Kodol rests the stomach and strengthens the body by digesting your food. It is nature's own tonic. L. W. Randolph.

REVOLUTIONARY HOUSE GONE

"THE BATTERY" AT BOUND BROOK BEING TORN DOWN.

Scene of Many Exciting Times in the War With Great Britian—Was 160 Years Old.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bound Brook, July 16—The oldest house in Bound Brook is being torn down. It is known as "The Battery" and is 160 years old.

This old house is located at the east of Main street at the junction of the roads to South and East Bound Brook. It received its name from the fact that Gen. Benjamin Lincoln occupied it during the Revolution and built a block house in front, in which were placed cannon to guard the river crossing to New Brunswick. Lincoln was surprised early one morning by Cornwallis and his army and fled to the mountains in his night clothes, losing sixty men and all his papers, baggage, and artillery.

After the war the house was occupied by the Connet family up until about 1840, after which Mrs. Nester kept a hotel there for awhile.

The house looked forlorn, but the timbers were well preserved and were massive. The lathing used in its construction was all hand made, as were also the iron nails. The walls were filled in with mud and straw a foot thick.

Several attempts were made to burn the building down on the eve of July 4, and so the present owner, Essex Yawger, decided to demolish it.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning July 20—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Topic.—Means of growth.—Phil. iii, 12-16; Col. i, 10-14.

Christian growth is a necessity. It is necessary because we can never in this life come to a state of moral and spiritual perfection. At least this was Paul's opinion. After nearly thirty years of most devout and zealous service and consecration he declared that he still pressed forward, "not as though I had already attained, either were already perfect; but I follow after, if that I may apprehend that for which I am apprehended of Christ Jesus. Brethren, I count not myself to have apprehended." Language could not be plainer. Paul at least knew nothing of perfection here, and hence he mus needs always press on toward the goal. The same necessity for the same reason rests upon all Christians.

Paul was actuated in his desire for Christian growth and progress by a profound reason. Christ had apprehended or laid hold of him for salvation, and, if he failed in apprehending that for which he was apprehended in Christ, then Christ's work for him would be made vain and ineffective. Therefore he was zealously anxious to follow out and to lay hold on the eternal life which Christ had apprehended for him by His death. This profound motive should influence us all in desiring to persevere unto salvation. Christ died that we might be saved, and lest His death be in vain we should accept Him as our Saviour and persevere in Christian faith and life until the end.

Paul's method of progress or of growth is also set forth in the topical reference. It consisted of singleness of aim. "This one thing I do. * * * I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus." Christianity must have the supreme place in our lives if we are to grow as we should. Christian progress can only be made by putting Christ first and making all things revolve about Him as the planets revolve around the sun. And that we may press forward with singleness of aim Paul suggests that we must forget the things that are behind. Paul's past would have interfered with present progress. But God had blotted out the past, and why should he dwell upon it to the detriment of his advancement in Christian faith and service? The past and everything else that interferes with our constant growth must be forgotten or brushed aside. One thing, singleness of aim, is our only sure method of success.

The goal set before us is worthy our utmost endeavors. It is "the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus." The prize is the crown of eternal life, and God on high calls us to it. What an inspiration! The contestant in the Grecian games thought it an honor to win a mortal crown. What should we think, therefore, of a fadeless, immortal crown? And God calls us on. How can we falter or refuse?

BIBLE READINGS.

Ps. i, 1-6; lii, 7-9; Jer. xii, 1, 2; Hos. xiv, 5-7; Mal. iv, 1, 2; Matt. xiii, 31-33; Luke i, 8-10; Eph. ii, 19-22; I Pet. ii, 1-3; II Pet. iii, 17, 18.

A Call to Duty.

Every one may help to keep the standard of intellectual honesty at a lofty pitch, and what better service can a man render than to furnish the world with an example of faithful dealing with his own conscience and with his fellows? This, at least, is the one talent that is placed in the hands of the obscurest of us all. And what is this smile of the world, to win which we are bidden to sacrifice our moral manhood; this frown of the world, whose terrors are more awful than the withering up of truth and the slow going out of light within the souls of us? Consider the triviality of life and conversation and purpose in the bulk of those whose approval is held out for our prize and the mark of our calling. Measure, if you can, the empire over those of prejudice unadulterated by a single element of rationality and weigh, if you can, the huge burden of custom, unrelieved by a single leavening particle of fresh thought. In the light of these things a man should surely dare to live his small span of life with little heed of the common speech upon him or his life, only caring that his days may be full of reality and his conversation of truth speaking and wholeness.—John Morley.

The Best Training.

It is never in ease or luxury, with freedom from sense of need and care, that the world's best and strongest helpers are trained. Those who have grown up in the midst of common human conditions, knowing care and the pressure of life's burdens, feeling the press of need and the pinch of narrow limitations, meeting trial and enduring struggle, learn in these very experiences to be sympathetic and helpful to others.—Forward.

Freely Give.

Christian beneficence is a duty, but what is the measure of it? We cannot fix a measure the same to every one, but the Scripture teaching is clear and is a sufficient rule, "Freely give." The giving should be with a free spirit, the spirit of giving, and it should be liberal, and liberality is measured by the means at command. Do you give "freely?"—United Presbyterian.

Unfinished Work.

There is no ruin like an unfinished work. The incomplete stands for hopes never to be realized and prayers to which no answer will ever come.—Presbyterian Journal.

The Whiteness of the Soul.

The man who in this world can keep the whiteness of his soul is not likely to lose it in any other.—Alexander Smith.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning July 20, "The Programme of Christianity"—Text, Matt. iv, 23; x, 7-8.

Preach, teach, heal.

The connection of soul and body is very close. Religion has much to do with both. A pure soul in a sound body is the need of every one. Jesus had much to do with healing when He was on earth and had entered upon His three years of ministry. We have no account of any cures performed by Him previous to His baptism. After that event His whole course seems a continuous series of healings of the sick.

When He sends His disciples out to prepare the way before Him in the towns and villages, He tells them to proclaim the nearness of the kingdom of heaven and, in token of it, to heal the sick.

The work of the Christian church is not done when men have been brought to repent and forsake their sins and to serve God. The work has, in fact, just begun. Now there must be training in all manner of work of mercy and beneficence. How to live rightly must be discovered and practiced and taught. Social conditions must be understood, their evils recognized, remedies found and applied.

In all ages the duty of giving alms has been recognized as binding upon Christians as truly as the duty to worship in the sanctuaries of God, but such almsgiving has not always been wisely directed. The effect on the one receiving has not always been good. Not always has the giver stopped to inquire or care what the effect was, but often the act of bestowing has been taken to be all meritorious regardless of results. Now, a better and more intelligent view is coming to be held. We are to give, but give in such a way as to benefit the receiver. God is honored only as we help our fellows. Good intention must be followed by good deed.

A broad and comprehensive view of the history of the church shows a gradual progression and widening of the scope of Christian activities. Men no longer place the chief emphasis on what is held as opinion on matters of doctrine. The form of service is not considered all important, so that all must conform to one ritual and ceremonial of worship. Many things once held as of vital importance are now forgotten or viewed with indifference.

But new emphasis is being placed on the relief of the distressed, the diseased and the unfortunate. How to cure sicknesses and relieve pain is coming to be studied as a Christly work. Christian physicians, trained nurses, sisters of charity, deaconesses, are coming to hold a place of much importance in the work of saving a sick and sin cursed world. Hospitals are rising side by side with schools and churches.

The reform of the vicious and criminal is engaging attention increasingly, and men are finding that punishment of crime is not the true end of justice or the function of government. To reform the evil is the true object of all correction. We are to save the sinful and cure the suffering. The blessedness of strength is best realized in helping the helpless to be strong.

The Sin of Magnifying Trifles.

The habit of magnifying trifling matters is very common. Most of us regard it as a weakness rather than a sin. Certainly it is a weakness, but it also is a sin. It involves self deception and often the deception of others; it is a violation of truth; it means the substitution as an object of thought and endeavor of something of little consequence for something of real importance, as if their actual value were reversed; it causes distorted views of life, misdirected effort, unsatisfying results and mental and spiritual unhappiness. They who are guilty of it soon lose the confidence of others in some measure because it becomes evident that their judgment cannot be trusted even if nothing worse is believed of them.—Congregationalist.

Thoughts.

Let the heart speak freely, but see also that it speaks prudently.

If we are like Christ, sorrow is on the surface an unfathomed depth of joy.

They hear the song of the angels who are waiting for the coming of the Saviour.

This expresses the Christian confidence: "If God be for us, who can be against us?"

That is the best gift of love which will in some way be helpful to the person receiving it.—United Presbyterian.

In His Own Power.

Circumstances are beyond the control of man, but his conduct is in his own power.—Disraeli.

A Sunday Morning Hymn.

Dear Lord, Thy sacred day's at hand,
The dearest of the week;
We now obey Thy just command
Thy house of prayer to seek.

We thank Thee for this blessed day,
This day of rest and praise;
We put all worldly thoughts away;
Our thoughts to Thee we raise.

We Thee adore, O blessed Lord,
For our atonement made!
Exalt Thy name with one accord
On whom our hearts are stayed.

We come to Thee with contrite hearts
To seek Thy pard'ning grace,
To seek the peace Thy grace imparts,
To see Thy smiling face.

We thank Thee for Thy promise sure
The sinners cry to hear,
To keep repentant hearts secure,
To free from ev'ry fear.

Help us, dear Lord, our lives to Thee
In loving trust to give;
From evil's thralldom make us free
That we for Thee may live.

In Thee we live, in Thee we die,
Thy will, dear Lord, be done;
With Thee on earth, with Thee on high,
Eternal life is won.

paint is usable. To be worth putting on it must be durable, and to be durable it must be top quality. The general war of wind, sun and rain upon houses knows no cessation or truce. Paint is the main defense. Put your faith in something that will not fail you. A reliable article at a top price is cheaper than something else sold way down.

THEY ALL SAY SO.

If the reader took the time and trouble to ask his fellow residents of Plainfield the simple question given below, he would obtain the one answer. If he would read the statements now being published in Plainfield which refer to this answer, it would surprise him to note that they number so many. As many more could be, and may be published, but in the meantime ask the first person you meet what cures backache? The answer will be, Doan's Kidney Pills. Here is a citizen who endorses our claim:

Mrs. Wm. H. Ludlow, of 88 Jackson avenue, says: "I had backache and a sort of dull pain across my loins for several years. If I sat for any length of time and tried to rise, I had a sharp pain in my kidneys. Walking any distance or standing aggravated the difficulty. I could not rest well at night from the fact that I had to be constantly changing about from one position to another trying to free myself from pain. I used quite a number of remedies but got no permanent relief. I was prevailed upon to get Doan's Kidney Pills from L. W. Randolp's durg store. I must say they did me a great deal of good. It is seldom that I feel any pain in my back and when I do a few doses of this remedy never fails to relieve me. I know others who have used Doan's Kidney Pills with good results."

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that an ordinance entitled "An Ordinance to amend an ordinance entitled 'An Ordinance concerning the construction, maintenance and repair of sidewalks', approved April 10, 1899", a copy of which is subjoined to this notice, has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading; and that it is the intention of the Common Council to adopt such ordinance at the regular meeting of the Common Council to be held at the Council Chamber, No. 149 North Avenue, in the City of Plainfield, N. J., at 8 o'clock p. m., on Monday the fourth day of August, 1902, at which time and place, prior to the adoption of said ordinance, said ordinance will be considered by the Common Council, and all persons interested may be heard before the Common Council with reference to the proposed ordinance.

By order of the Common Council,
JAMES T. MACMURRAY, City Clerk.
Dated July 7, 1902.

AN ORDINANCE

to amend an ordinance entitled: "An Ordinance Concerning the Construction, Maintenance and Repair of Sidewalks", approved April 10, 1899.

The Inhabitants of the city of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That section 3 of the ordinance the the title of which is stated in the title to this ordinance, be and the same is hereby amended as follows: after the words "also on both sides of Arlington Avenue from West Ninth Street to Randolph Road" insert the following—"also within the portion of said city described as follows: beginning at the southerly corner of West Seventh street and Monroe Avenue, and running thence along the southeasterly side line of West Seventh Street to the city and county line; thence along said line in a westerly direction to the southwesterly side line of Clinton Avenue; thence along said line to the northwesterly side line of Dunellen Avenue; thence along said line to the northeasterly side line of Compton Avenue; thence along said line to the northwesterly side line of West Front Street; thence to the southerly corner of South Second Street and Monroe Avenue; thence along the southwesterly side line of Monroe Avenue to the place of beginning; also on both sides of Randolph Road from Plainfield Avenue to Central Avenue."

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the following Ordinance has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the Council to adopt the same.

J. T. MACMURRAY, City Clerk.
Plainfield, N. J., July 7, 1902.

AN ORDINANCE

For the repairing and permanent improvement of Prospect avenue, from the easterly curb line of Hillside avenue, to the westerly curb line of Woodland avenue.

The inhabitants of the city of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That the roadbed of Prospect avenue, extending from the easterly curb line of Hillside avenue to the westerly curb line of Woodland avenue, be forthwith repaired and spread with broken stone for a width of sixteen (16) feet, and a depth of six (6) inches in the centre and four (4) inches at the sides, at the general expense of the city, to be paid for (after first applying the direct contribution of property owners) out of money raised by tax for the improvement of streets as provided by the Act of the Legislature, entitled "An Act to Authorize Cities to make Permanent Improvemets in the Roadbeds of Streets at the General Expense," approved May 13, 1884.

Section 2. That before any work shall be done under this ordinance, the property owners along the line of the proposed improvements, shall deposit with the City Treasurer the sum of Seven Hundred and Sixty-Five Dollars and Twenty Cents ($765.20.)

to Provide Separate Sewers or Drains to Carry Off the Surface Water in Portions of Arlington Avenue.

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That the Common Council doth hereby direct and order that separate sewers or drains to carry off the surface water, or the water flowing into Cedar Brook and Green Brook, be constructed in and for the said City of Plainfield in Arlington Avenue from West Fifth Street to Cedar Brook, with six inlets at West Fifth Street, six at West Sixth Street, two at West Seventh Street, four at West Eighth Street and six at West Ninth Street, all with the necessary manholes and appurtenances to complete the same, said separate sewers or drains to be of the dimensions and materials, and to be laid in said street and along such lines and at such grades and in such manner as indicated and specified on map on file with the City Clerk of the City of Plainfield, entitled, "Map of Storm Sewer in Arlington Avenue from West Fifth Street to Cedar Brook, City of Plainfield, N. J. Andrew J. Gavett, City Surveyor, May, 1902."

Sec. 2. That the cost and expenses to be incurred under this ordinance shall be paid with money to be raised by taxation (by general tax for street improvements) pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, as other moneys are raised in said City.

Adopted by the Common Council July 7, 1902; approved by the Mayor July 7, 1902.

OLIN L. JENKINS, Mayor.

NEW MOURNING GOWNS.

Costume For a Widow—Fashions of the Day.

I know more than one person who would be willing to be a widow provided she could be dressed in the new style of mourning which follows the modes of the day and is even more pronounced in some cases. The illustration shows a house gown for a widow. The skirt is made with fan shaped insets, only that they are not folded or plaited, but just set in flat, over the dress material, be it understood. These reach to the waist and taper to nothing at the top, spreading to ten inches wide at the bottom. There is but one kind of crape for this, the old English Courtauld, as none other is made of sufficient body for the purpose. The skirt is made of the jet black, frosty eudora, with the silk warp just being visible in some occult way, enough to give the soft luster required to set off the crape. The waist is slashed with insets of the crape, and there is a shaped bertha entirely of the crape, and this is wrought into a jabot in the front. The sleeves are of the eudora, with three ruffles of the crape at the wide shaped bottom. The dainty white hemstitched mull collar is a pretty adjunct to a black gown, as black is generally very trying to the complexion when against the neck. Anybody might envy the becoming little cap and floating white veil. The cap and veil are of crepe lisse, than which nothing is more becoming.

For more ordinary wear there are many different materials, such as soft armure, cashmere, silk warp henrietta, veilings, black pongee and many small figured stuffs; also plain black wool grenadine. Anything almost that is black will answer if there is a bit of crape somewhere as a sign.

Few young women, except widows, now wear black veils save for church in first mourning. Hats are made in all the most fashionable shapes with crape trimming for the first three months. After that taffeta ribbons and chiffon can be used to trim with. Black quills are seen oftener on hats for young people than anything else. Mingled with black lusterless ribbon they are quite proper for any girl under sixteen.

Just now few wraps are required, but for very recent mourning some sort of coat is almost de rigueur. A short box shape with the bottom flaring somewhat is shown in one place, and there is a pointed yoke of crape, finished at the edge with a roll of the same. Below this are deep lengthwise folds of the eudora, front and back. The collar is a standing one with folds of crape at the edge, and inside this is a narrow roll of white crepe lisse.

Black armure parasols and glace gloves are fashionable, and jewelry is of fine Whitby jet, in some cases surrounded by fine gold wire, twisted. This we have seen before many years ago, but it is not so ostentatious as diamonds. And because a woman has lost her loved one is no reason why she should not wear something to lighten the somberness a little.

Handkerchiefs for mourning are often seen with borders more than an inch deep, and then again we will find others where the black line is quite narrow. Others are all white, but are hemstitched with black silk. These are very refined. Some are all white with a black monogram in one corner. So one can obey her own pleasure in the choice of such a conspicuous article. There are some very dainty little fancies in neckwear, quite appropriate all of them. One has the stock of white crepe lisse shirred closely to the foundation, and over that are laid four milliner's folds of black crape. The bow with its long ends is of black with tiny lines of white crepe lisse around them.

Boas made of black chiffon, with a roll of crape bound around the edges and down the long ends, are quite proper for outdoors, and even the dress in the illustration can be worn in the street with one of these boas and a small hat; but this must have a veil when for a widow, old or young.

For full mourning cotton or silk gloves are not to be worn, no matter what the weather. This remark is made because a lady was seen only yesterday in a grand and elegant costume—all but the cotton gloves.

HENRIETTE ROUSSEAU

By Francis Lynde.

This time Griffin's smile was child-like.

"There is one sure way to tie his hands, and I wonder that it hasn't occurred to you," he said.

"Griswold laughed. "We are not big enough to buy him off."

"It doesn't ask for money; it asks for a little finesse. The man we are talking about is a law unto himself, but there is a power behind the throne."

"His daughter, you mean?"

"Yes."

Griswold puzzled over it for a moment, and then said: "I don't see the application."

"Don't you? Well, I'll tell you. If this young lady knew what is going on she'd stop it."

"Why should she?"

"I'm not going into particulars," laughed Griffin. "If you can be Ned Raymer's partner without knowing what the whole town is talking about a stranger couldn't give you a pointer."

"By Jove!" said Griswold, as one incredulous; but a little later, when he got up to take his leave he thanked the observant one.

"Don't mention it," said Griffin. "I may have to do you an ill turn some day, and this will serve to show that I'm not malicious. Are we square on the score of the uncomfortable night I might have had?"

"Rather more than square," Griswold acknowledged, and he went his way with many new stirrings of the conscience-pool.

The detective stood at the hotel entrance and watched his late rescuer out of sight. After which he went in and had speech with the clerk.

"Griswold stopped awhile with you when he first came here, didn't he?" he asked.

"Yes; he was here sick for awhile."

"When was that?"

"It was some time last spring."

"Could you give me the date?"

The clerk could and did, or thought he did. But it was surely the very irony of chance that some one should distract his attention at the critical moment of date-fixing, making him miscall the month and so give Griswold 30 days more of residence in Wahaska than he had really had. Griffin's eyes narrowed and grew hard; and then a slow smile took the hardness out of them. He turned away to climb the stair to the dining-room, and the smile outlasted the ascent.

"I'm d—d if I'm not glad of it!" he confided to the hatrack when he was going in to his dinner. "But it knocks me silly just when I was sure I had my man. I wonder when I can get a train out of this dead-alive town?"

CHAPTER XXIV.

The threatening storm had blown over and the moon was shining fair and full upon a placid lake when the family dinner party at Dr. Farnham's adjourned to the veranda. Griswold and the Raymers were the only guests, and in the marshalling of chairs Griswold was skillful enough to cut Charlotte out of the group and so secure her for himself.

At the dinner table the talk had turned upon the pivotal point of the strike, but that subject was coming to be pretty well threshed out, and on the veranda Charlotte spoke of the wind-blown incident of the afternoon and of the castaway on Oak island.

"It was a terribly reckless thing for you to do—to go out after him in the Sprite," said Miss Farnham.

Now next to being exalted as a demigod by the woman of his choice a man loves best to have her believe him fearless. So Griswold dismissed the matter lightly.

"What is a man for?" he asked. "But as for that, the danger isn't worth mentioning."

"You may think so, but Gertrude and I did not. We stood up here on the veranda and watched you, going and coming. Gertrude says I pinched her black and blue grabbing her and saying: 'Oh, she's gone!' when the scud or a big wave would hide you."

Here was a small admission which no mere human sympathy could account for, and Griswold pinched himself black and blue in the ecstasy of it. It was coming, slowly, perhaps, but surely, and the name of it was love.

"But think of it," he said, willing to make that string vibrate some more; "think of how you and Miss Gertrude would have shone in the borrowed effulgence of me if I had been capsized. The Morning Argus would have had you out to identify the remains, and—"

"Oh, please hush!" she said, and her hand was on his arm; whereupon he went obediently from the grewsome to the matter-of-fact.

"Really, there wasn't any danger worth speaking of; and the fellow was glad enough to be picked up, I assure you."

"Who was he?" she asked.

"No one whom you know; a man named Griffin—a summerer, I fancy."

"I do know him," she asserted. And then: "I don't like him."

Griswold was both puzzled and curious.

"May I ask how and why?—how you came to meet him and why you don't like him?"

She was silent while one might count a score, and when she spoke her rejoinder was a half reluctant question.

"I wonder if I might dare to tell you about it?"

"I have been hoping that the time would come when you would dare to tell me anything."

She passed over the implication and went on, following out her own thought.

"It is rather dreadful, and I haven't told anyone about my part in it; that is, not anyone but this Mr. Griffin, and he had a right to ask," she said; and from this as a beginning she told him the story of the bank robbery in New Orleans, and of her part in the apprehension of the robber.

Griswold's lips were dry and there was an invisible hand clutching at his throat when she came to the end, but he made no sign.

"They arrested him in St. Louis, you say?"

"Yes; but he escaped again."

He moistened his lips to say: "I didn't hear of that—I mean I didn't read of it in the papers."

"Nor did I," she admitted. "This Mr. Griffin told me."

"Then he is a—a—"

"A detective; yes. It seems that he came to the conclusion that a woman had written the letter to Mr. Galbraith. He took the Belle Julie's passenger list and sought out every one of the women on it till he came here and found me. I was sorry, but I had to tell him what I knew."

"Of course. But why should you be sorry?"

"How can you ask! Is it so light a thing to help ever so little to set a snare for the poor fellow!"

Griswold's laugh was almost harsh. "I shouldn't waste any sympathy on him if I were you. He is a hardened criminal, by his own admission to you."

"No, he was not that," she said, quickly. "I understood him better than that—better than I have made you understand him. He was not a hardened criminal."

Griswold's blood, which had been slowly turning to ice in his veins, began to thaw out again at that.

"Then you don't condemn him utterly? You are willing to admit that his own conscience may have acquitted him?"

"I am very sure that it did; or, at least, I am sure that his own point of view was so obscured by what he had suffered that he could not rightly see the guilt of the thing he had done."

"But you saw the guilt of it?"

"How could I help seeing it?"

"True. There is no excuse for him."

"I shouldn't say that. There may be many excuses for him."

"But no justification?" He tried hard to make the saying of it an impersonal abstraction, succeeding so well that she did not remark the note of despairing eagerness.

"Certainly not. Nothing could justify such a deed of lawlessness."

It was as he had prefigured. Her womanly pity had in it the quality of mercy. It went out toward the lawbreaker as the divine compassion enfolds even the impenitent sinner. But her conscience arraigned and condemned him.

He bowed his head and went dumb before the woman who had judged him; but when he would have changed the subject he found it mightier than his will to break away from it.

"Your verdict is doubtless that of the world," he said. "And from what you tell me I fancy the end is in sight."

"Oh! Do you think so?" she quavered, and her voice, and the tears in it, were of womanly inconsistency.

"Surely. This man Griffin has made a long step on the way to the end. When he discovers the identity of the man who talked to you on the Belle Julie, the world won't be big enough for the fugitive to hide in."

She caught her breath in a little gasp. "And it was I who set the hunt upon him; not only once, but twice."

Then it was Griswold forgot his peril and turned comforter. "You mustn't grieve about it," he said, gently. "You have done no more than your plain duty. He made you do it in the first instance; he would have made you do it in the second if he could have known the circumstances."

She turned upon him quickly and he dared not look into her eyes. "How do you know he did that?" she queried; and though he would not trust himself to look, he felt all that he might have seen if he had lifted his eyes to her face. But he was equal to the emergency which his slip had brought upon him.

"You forget what you have just been telling me."

"Did I tell you that, too? I didn't mean to." She paused and looked away from him, adding: "And—and I don't believe I did."

He laughed. "Then I must have read your thoughts. How else could I have known it?"

"I don't know," she said, absently; and at the end of the silence which fell between them the talk went back to the strike.

STONY POINT ANNIVERSARY.

Battlefield Reservation Dedicated With Appropriate Ceremonies.

STONY POINT, N. Y., July 17.—Fifteen thousand or more people witnessed the exercises here which marked the dedication of the Stony Point battlefield state reservation. The exercises were held under the auspices of the American Scenic and Historic Preservation society (custodian), with the co-operation of the Empire State society, Sons of the American Revolution and the Rockland county citizens' committee. It was the one hundred and twenty-third anniversary of the capture of Stony Point by the American forces under Brigadier General Anthony Wayne.

It was after 3 o'clock when Walter Seth Logan, vice president of the society, called the assemblage to order, and the Rev. Dr. Murray of New York city offered prayer. Then followed the address of welcome by Alonzo Wheeler of Haverstraw in behalf of the custodian society. Mr. Logan then made a short address in behalf of the same society, after which he introduced Governor Odell, who was received with cheers.

At the conclusion of the governor's address the "Star Spangled Banner" was played by the West Point band, and William Wayne, Esq., of Paoli, Pa., a lineal descendant of General Anthony Wayne, raised the flag on the reservation. Following this there was a salute of twenty-one guns each from the United States cruiser Olympia and the light artillery battery from West Point.

Then followed addresses from Congressman Tompkins of Nyack, Samuel Pennypacker of Philadelphia, president of the Pennsylvania Historical society; Thomas Lee of Stony Point and Clarence Lexow of Nyack.

Vermont Local Optionists Nominate.

BURLINGTON, Vt., July 17.—P. W. Clement of Rutland was unanimously nominated for governor by the Local Option league convention yesterday afternoon. F. W. Agan of Ludlow was nominated for lieutenant governor, and the convention indorsed the balance of the ticket named at the Republican convention at Montpelier. The convention was called to order by J. C. Jones of Rutland. F. W. Agan of Ludlow was elected chairman and H. G. Smith of Rutland secretary. When the delegates were called upon to adopt a platform, it was decided not to incorporate a paragraph personally attacking General McCullough, the Republican candidate for governor, as originally planned. An attempt was made to commit the delegates in favor of a nine hour labor day and a weekly payment system, but it failed. The platform demands the repeal of the prohibitory law and favored the substitution of a high license local option statute and calls for more stringent laws governing party primaries. The resolutions declare that prohibition is ineffective and demoralizing.

Plan to Seize China's Throne.

VICTORIA, B. C., July 17.—Peking correspondents of Chinese papers received here state that a big rebellion is being organized by the ex-Boxer leaders, General Tung Fu Siang, Prince Tuan and Lan King, who are at Ningshai, and that they have the assistance of the army of General Tung Fu Siang, whose army was ordered disbanded, an order which the soldiers refused to comply with, but instead took their arms and joined the rebels. The intention is to invade Peking and place General Tung Fu Siang on the throne. These correspondents agree that China was never so ripe for rebellion, the natives having been driven to it by the cruel acts of the officials.

GENERAL SMITH RETIRED.

President Censures Leader of Samar Campaign.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—Secretary Root brought with him to Washington upon his return from Oyster Bay, N. Y., the president's review of the court martial of Brigadier General Jacob Smith. The comments of the president and secretary of war were issued in a formal military order late yesterday.

This order severely censures General Smith for talking so intemperately to Major Waller in regard to the proposed campaign in Samar. Both the president and Secretary Root agree that General Smith was guilty of indiscretion which is deserving of censure.

The president not only severely arraigns General Smith for what he terms "loose and violent" language, but also orders his immediate retirement from the army on the ground that he is over sixty-two years of age.

The president in closing his comment says:

"It is impossible to tell exactly how much influence language like that used by General Smith may have had in preparing the minds of those under him for the commission of deeds which we regret. Loose and violent talk by an officer of high rank is always likely to excite to wrongdoing those among his subordinates whose wills are weak and whose passions are strong.

"General Smith has behind him a long career distinguished for gallantry and on the whole for good conduct. Taken in the full, his work has been such as to reflect credit upon the American army and therefore upon the nation, and it is deeply to be regretted that he should have acted so in this instance as to interfere with his further usefulness in the army. I hereby direct that he be retired from the active list."

STRENGTH

Twenty-five years ago in acquainting jewelers with the strength of the Jas. Boss Stiffened Gold Watch Cases, an enterprising salesman used the method hereshown. Jas. Boss Cases are still the strongest cases made. As good as solid gold in appearance. Better than gold in wearing quality. Less than solid gold in cost. In a

ON THE DIAMOND.

The Y. M. C. A.-St. Mary's game, on St. Mary's grounds Saturday, will be under the management of the Y. M. C. A.

It is generalley conceded by the fans as well as by the leaders themselves that Allen is the best catcher in the business around these parts. Safe Works has a star behind the bat all right.

The game which Manager Squier of the Clinton Avenue team had arranged with the Metuchen A. C. for Saturday has been declared off. He is now negotiating with another team to fill the date.

Charley Smith's playing at center Saturday was a marvel to his friends. He gathered in a bunch of difficult fly balls. And it is safe to bet that no shopworn trick will catch him napping on base in another game.

There is one thing noticeable about the playing of the Y. M. C. A. nine, that team work is always in evidence and there are no attempts at grandstand plays or no individualism. That policy has pulled the team out of a hole more than once.

The trick played by Allen and Burns when they caught Smith on third in Saturday's Y. M. C. A.—Safe Works game, is one that has been worn threadbare in the course of years, but it seldom fails if worked properly. The Safe Works men did it to perfection.

Charles Ward, who has been covering different positions for the Safe Works team team, will leave the nine shortly as he intends removing from the city. Manager Muir is putting his bench men through a regime of practice to secure the best to fill the vacancy.

It is though the second game in the Elizabeth-Plainfield policemen's series will be played at Elizabeth, next week. Captain Overbaugh and his men continue to practice daily and he has hopes of making it another walkover. The third and last game will be played in this city late in the summer.

Manager Johnston, of the Scotch Plains team, has decided that Saturday's game with the Xavier Deaf Mutes, will be the event of the season and will not lose the victory for want of preliminary work. He has called his men out regularly for practice and every member of the team is feeling in professional shape. The contest will undoubtably be witnessed by one of the largest crowds ever seen at a game in the 'Plains.

Among the new names which have been filed in the City Baseball League is that of Wallace M. Brown as a member of the Y. M. C. A. It was under Mr. Brown's skillful coaching that the Plainfield High School nine made such a fine showing this spring. His advice proved invaluable to the boys. He played a while at a preparatory school in New York State and was a member of the nine of Cornell University for one year. His business interests will not permit him to play on the Y. M. C. A. team regularly but he will fill the places of some of the others when they are away on their vacations.

At the Hope-St. Mary game, Saturday, it is alleged that personal remarks were made to the players by rooters on both sides who were stationed in and about the grandstand. The matter was reported to President Runyon, of the Hope Y. M. A., and at the meeting of that body, Tuesday evening, he called the attention of the young men to the statement. They disclaimed taking any part in the sallies but on further inquiry the real culprits were found to be some over enthusiastic followers of the team. The association pledged itself to discourage this unsportsmanlike conduct at all future games in which the Hope team participates.

GOLF.

Among those who have been quite regular in their attendance at the Park Golf Club links during the last few weeks is William M. McCutchen, who is home from Salt Lake City for a few weeks. He is playing a good game, keeping well down in the forties.

Edgar I. Serrell, of this city, is now playing as a member of the team of the Westfield Golf Club. Serrell formerly was a member of the Park Golf Club but has spent most of his time of late at the Westfield Club links. He ranks among the best players of that club.

There is considerable talk among the members of the Park Golf Club of forming a team to play with some of the neighboring clubs. While really good players are scarce and the best ones in the club will not all be able to participate, it is believed that a small team can be formed which will be able to play occasionally. Among those who would probably play are Gus W. Faber, W. de la R. Anderson, Roberts DeS. Newhall, Morgan T. Townsend, William A. Townsend, and S. St. J. McCutchen.

AMONG THE STEPPERS.

The pretty half-mile track of the Fair Acres Driving Club near Westfield will be the scene of considerable sport Saturday afternoon, when the first matinee racing of the season will take place. The track is very fast, and the owners of thoroughbreds will have a chance to see just what their horses can do without giving the animals marks. The rules for trotting and pacing allow no cash prizes to be offered or money received for entrance fees and prevent gate receipts. The races will therefore be free to all who enjoy the sport. Prizes in the shape of harness, whips, etc., will be awarded to each event. The entry list will close on Thursday with Secretary Condit, at which time the program for the afternoon will be arranged. A large crowd of spectators is expected at the track to witness the sport.

ROD AND GUN.

In the course of an afternoon's angling in Tier's Lake, yesterday, Edward Taylor, of West Second street, captured a carp weighing eighteen pounds. It was a plucky fighter and was landed with some difficulty. It lived two and a-half hour hours after being taken from the water.

OCEAN BATHING IS POPULAR AT ASBURY

Icy Chill Has Left the Water and the Bathers Find It Delightful Now.

SOCIAL SEASON GOING.

OPENING DANCES HELD AT A NUMBER OF THE HOTELS.

Asbury Park Sees the Season Progress and the Crowd at the Beach Increasing—The Plans for the Annual Baby Parade.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Asbury Park, July 17—There has been a distinct revival of the bathing season within the past few days. The temperature of the water is once more normal, and the icy chill that kept bathers from the ocean for so long has apparently disappeared.

The young women are exhibiting some very pretty bathing costumes this summer, with short sleeves and low neck, which although not entirely an innovation, have yet hitherto been frowned upon in the Asbury Park surf. There are several bold swimmers also, who give added interest to the bathing hour, and whose exploits in the briny deep are sufficiently awe-inspiring to attract a crowd whenever they move out into the water. Thus far, there have been but a few minor accidents in the surf, and the renewal of the bathing season is therefore marred by no untoward incident.

Lander's band has left for Gettysburg to attend the annual camp of the Pennsylvania troops. During their absence of a week a substitute band will give the usual concerts. These concerts are growing in popular favor, and as the crowd on the boardwalk is largely in excess of any previous season for many years, the music acts as an additional drawing card around the big pavilions, which are nightly thronged.

A beach fountain has been placed in position near the Asbury avenue pavilion. It spouts a stream of water, broken in five sections, from ten to fifteen feet in the air.

The social season in the Park is well under way. The following hotels have already had opening dances: Coleman House, Columbia, Plaza, Ocean, Brunswick, West End, Sunset Hall, Park View, Lyndhurst and New York.

Mayor Bradley has furnished to the Carnival Association the use of a portion of the room back of the stands at the Asbury avenue pavilion for the use of the committee which is managing the baby parade, children's carnival and the Mid-summer Night Fairy festival. Manager Alfred Chasseaud will have his headquarters there continuously until August 19, the date of the carnival.

There will be an entrance fee of fifty cents charged for each child entering the baby parade August 19 and a prize will be given every child in line besides the special prizes awarded by the judges. The festivities this year will last over three days. Monday evening a court reception will be held at one of the principal hotels. Tuesday at 4 o'clock the parade will take place and Wednesday evening there will be a children's festival in the auditorium. The presents for the preceding day will then be distributed.

PERSONAL.

Miss Minnie Walsh, of this city, is spending several days with friends in Scranton, Pa.

C. O. Smith and his bride returned from Washington, D. C., last evening, where they spent their honeymoon.

Dr. F. W French and Dr. Guy R. Hillman, left this morning for Asbury Park to attend the annual convention of the New Jersey State Dental Society.

Planned An Entertainment.

At the regular meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the German Reformed church yesterday afternoon it was decided to give an entertainment and social in the basement of the church, Tuesday, August 5. It was also decided to hold a picnic August 26.

Barbers to Meet.

Poisoning the System.

It is through the bowels that the body is cleansed of impurities. Constipation keeps these poisons in the system, causing headache, dullness and melancholia at first, then unsightly eruptions and finally serious illness unless a remedy is applied. DeWitt's Little Early Risers prevent this trouble by stimulating the liver and promote easy, healthy action of the bowels. These little pills do not act violently but by strengthening the bowels enable them to perform their own work. Never gripe or distress. L. W. Randolph.

The Braves of That Tribe of Red Men Entertained Their Friends in Fine Fashion.

THOSE WHO TOOK PART.

PAST GREAT SACHEM NEWCORN WAS PRESENT AND MADE A SPEECH.

Dr. A. H. Dundon Was the Master of Ceremonies and Announced a Pleasant Programme—Refreshments Ended the Evening.

True hospitality was shown last evening when Wetumpkah Tribe, No. 229, Improved Order of Red Men, opened its doors and entertained its friends in genuine Indian style. The braves took all into camp and gave everyone a pleasant evening. Although the youngest tribe in the city the members are wide-awake and hustlers.

Dr. A. H. Dundon was the genial master of ceremonies and he announced the numbers on the programme, the first of which was a selection by an orchestra, consisting of violin, "Tony" Gaub; piano, Prof. Osborn; cornet, Whitfield Frazee. This was followed with buck dancing by William Wilson and coon songs and dancing by John Taylor. This was followed with the singing of "The Holy City" by Albert Stokey, of Westfield, accompanied on the piano by Miss Lydia Edgar, also of Westfield.

Another selection by the orchestra preceded rag-time selections on the piano by Marcus Hoyt. The feature of the evening was a pantomime scene showing the capture of a pale face by a scout and the rescue from death by a friendly Indian from another tribe. Those taking part in this scene were members of the tribe and the affair was both unique and cleverly given.

Following the programme, Past Great Sachem William Newcorn was called upon for a speech and he gave a short talk full of spice. He extended to all a hearty welcome and praised the principles of Redmanship to a high degree.

The next part of the evening was devoted to the serving of refreshments by Fowler, the caterer. These consisted of ice cream, cake and grape juice. While the guests were enjoying refreshments there were vocal and instrumental selections by the "Black Diamond" trio and piano solos by Miss Edgar.

The whole affair was one of the most pleasant yet given and much credit is due the committee, Michael Armstrong, W. A. Westphal and Robert Humphrey, for its earnest efforts.

MOMUMENT WRECKED TRUCK.

Ten Ton Block of Granite Was Too Great for the Wagon.

A huge ten-ton granite slab, intended for the Hyde mausoleum at Hillside cemetery, has been halted in its journey, by the partial wrecking of the truck on which it rests. It is one of the largest vehicles owned by Hand & Son, and now rests on East Second street where efforts are being made to repair it without unloading the slab. One wheel is partially wrecked and the rear axle has bent beneath the strain.

Relief Corps Visitors.

The members of Ulric Dahlgren Corps, No. 27, of Elizabeth, and William S. Pierson Corps, No. 9, of Bloomfield, will visit Winfield Scott Relief Corps, No. 10, of this city, this evening. Mrs. Vickery, department president, and Mrs. Decker, of Jersey City, senior vice-department president, will be present, as will also Mrs. Elizabeth M. Work, of Roseville, and Mrs. Sarah A. Reed, of Long Branch, as invited guests. A full attendance of members is desired.

Driver Thrown Out.

A man named Silverstein was driving a fractious horse down Somerset street about noon yesterday when the animal ran away and the carriage collided with a trolley pole near Johnston's drive, breaking the shafts and throwing the driver to the ground, cutting open his head and causing bodily bruises. By the Mountain Park Inn stage he was taken to his home in the West End.

Fine for Violating Health Law.

Robert Carson appeared in Justice Mattison's court last evening on complaint of the Borough Board of Health, charged with violating section 2, ordinance V, of the health laws. The judge imposed a fine of $20 and costs.

IMPORTANT POSITION.

R. F. R. Huntsman Now Advertising Manager of the Standard-Union.

R. F. R. Huntsman, of Westervelt avenue, is now advertising manager of the Brooklyn Standard-Union, one of the most important positions in the New York newspaper field. For the last dozen years Mr. Huntsman has held responsible positions with the Newark Evening News. During that time The News has grown from a four-page sheet to a twenty-four-page paper, now the largest two-cent afternoon newspaper in the country, with an advertising patronage of probably a million dollars a year.

GETTING CONTROL OF SUPPLY

NEW DAIRY COMPANY FAST BUYING OUT LOCAL MILK DEALERS.

Expects to Use Sixteen Wagons to Cover Ground Where Forty-Eight Are Now in Service.

M. J. Briggs, representing the American Pure Milk Company, and who proposes to establish in this city the Plainfield Hygenic Dairy Company, as reported in yesterday's Press, had up to last evening secured control of 1,620 quarts of milk a day according to the contracts issued by the company. He expects to receive additional responses today.

It is proposed to deliver milk in Plainfield and North Plainfield with sixteen wagons, where forty-eight are now used. This in a very important instance will be a great saving to the company. It is also proposed to erect a plant, a central depot, at a cost of $100,000, where all milk will be delivered by the farmers and other milkmen who are under contract. Here the milk will be clarified, pasteurized, etc., under strict sanitary conditions prior to its delivery to the consumer. By this method all fear of an outbreak of disease is eliminated and the consumer will be able to use the milk with perfect freedom. Besides it will keep much longer than some of the milk now produced.

If the milk dealers want to hire with the new company they can secure positions, or if they want to sell the milk and retain their plants equitable arrangements can be made to do this. So far as can be learned many milkmen favor the scheme and readily sign contracts. It is to be expected that there will be some dealers who will not favor it and will continue their own business as at present.

Contracts were signed today making the total number of 2,600 quarts controlled.

Some of the milk dealers complain that the $4 paid per quart, is apportioned $2 in cash and $2 in stock in the new concern.

CALLED OUT SUDDENLY.

But Freedom Castle's Team Was Ready for the Emergency.

The initiatory team from Freedom Castle, No. 42, Knights of the Golden Eagle proved a good thing for Golden Crown Castle, of Somerville, last evening. The latter Castle had twelve candidates to initiate and the New Brunswick team was to have done the work. At the last minute word was sent that the team could not come and the team from Freedom Castle was called upon. In a very short time the team was gotten together and made the trip. The work was done in a very satisfactory manner and the Plainfield members were royally entertained. Golden Crown Castle has no team as yet.

Appointed Chief Engineer.

Official notice has been received that Willis W. Vail has been appointed chief engineer of the Gulf and Ship Island Railroad Company, with offices at Gulfport, Miss. The road is about 250 miles in length and runs from Gulfport to Jackson, with several branches. Mr. Vail, who is a cousin of Charles E. Vail, of Orchard place, made his home in Plainfield while acting as assistant engineer on the New Jersey Central during 1900-1901.

Building Iron Bridges.

James Keiderling, of Craig place, will leave next week for Buffalo, N. Y., to take a position as foreman on the erection of iron bridges with a prominent firm engaged in that line of work. Mr. Keiderling has a permanent position with the company and will be employed at Buffalo for about three months before moving to some other point.

Will Warren Accept?

A full attendance is requested at the special meeting of Warren Engine Company this evening. The advisability of attending the celebration at Atlantic City in September and joining in the New Brunswick parade in October will be considered.

REINHART IN SEMI-FINALS

HE WON HIS TWO MATCHES IN YESTERDAY'S PLAY.

Defeated Smith, of Onwentsia, and Walter Egan, of Lake Geneva—Meets James Today.

In the match rounds for the National amateur championship at golf played yesterday at Glenview, Frank O. Reinhart, of this city, won and is the only easterner left to compete today in the semi-final play. Reinhart met H. C. Smith, of Onwentsia, in the morning and defeated him by 5 up and 3 to play, and in the afternoon he defeated Walter E. Egan, of Lake Geneva, by 1 up. Today the semi-finals will be played, when Reinhart will meet Louis James, who barely qualified, but who has been playing par golf ever since the first day.

E. M. Byers, of Pittsburg, gave Walter J. Travis his second defeat for the year, yesterday, and the chances are that Reinhart and Byers will meet in the finals. The opinion seems to prevail that Reinhart will win today's competition According to the reports to the papers of the competition, Reinhart has been playing a steady consistent game throughout.

LOCAL BIRDS.

Valuable Collection, Loaned by A. J. Gavett, Now on Exhibition at the Art Gallery.

The Public Library has just received the loan of about one hundred stuffed birds, such species as may be found in Plainfield and vicinity, a collection made some twenty-five years ago by A. J. Gavett.

As the interest in the study of birds has increased so much during the past few years, it was thought that the specimens would be serviceable at this time, if placed where they would be accessible to all.

The birds are all plainly labeled so that they may be studied without reference to an index.

There are other interesting cases of birds in the building, including some specimens from the tropics.

The case containing this interesting collection of local birds has been placed in the art gallery. The art gallery hours are from 2 until 5 o'clock Tuesdays and Saturdays.

TURNED DOWN SMITH.

Fish and Game Commission Will Not Allow the Birds to be Killed.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Pompton Lakes, July 18—The Fish and Game Commission of New Jersey has turned down the mosquito destroyer. At a meeting of the commission just held the requests of Professor Smith, the State entomologist, and of Dr. J. Edward Rowe, health officer of the Board of Health of Summit, were refused.

The board declined to furnish Professor Smith with permits to shoot certain birds, and the Summit Board of Health with top minnows. The reason given was that it was contrary to law and not within the province of the commission.

DISTINGUISHED GUESTS.

Prominent Members of Women's Relief Corps Visiting in Borough.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Work, of Roseville, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Smith, of Grandview avenue. Mr. Work is a brother of the late Henry C. Work, author of the popular song, "Marching Through Georgia." Mrs. Work is past department president of the Woman's Relief Corps of New Jersey. She has been an invalid for years having suffered a paralytic stroke. She travels in an invalid chair with a bicycle attachment. Mrs. Sarah A. Reed, of Long Branch, also a past department president of the Woman's Relief Corps, is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Smith.

Excellent Opportunity.

An excellent opportunity will be afforded to spend a pleasant day at the seaside July 24 when the First Presbyterian, Congregational, and Park Avenue Baptist and Dunellen Sunday-schools go to Asbury Park and Ocean Grove on the annual outing.

Private Dinner Party.

A delightful private dinner party was given at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club Wednesday evening to a limited number of people. It was an unusually pleasant evening at the club and a cooler place in the city could not be found.

Trolley Party.

The Misses Blimm, of Somerset street, will give a trolley party this evening to a number of their friends. The destination will be Riverside Park, between Bound Brook and New Brunswick, where the party will have a dance.

WORKING FOR MOUNTAIN ROAD

Two Miles of Rights of Way Secured and After Remaining Consents—To Survey.

CAPITALISTS ARE IN IT.

Plans Made to Run the Line From Chimney Rock to Jersey Central Station at Bound Brook—A. A. Clark Will Act as Counsel—H. M. Herbert Will Make Survey.

No time has been lost by S. D. Drake since the announcement of the proposed establishment of the Watchung Scenic Railway, as exclusively published in The Daily Press Harry M. Herbert, of Bound Brook, has been engaged to make surveys, maps, profiles, etc., for the location of the line. Consents for right of way have been given Mr. Drake for two miles of the distance from Chimney Rock running toward Plainfield, and other parties have been engaged to secure the other rights. Hon. Alvah A. Clark, of Somerville, has been engaged as counsel to look after the legal matters pertaining to the project.

Mr. Drake has also secured the interest of N. B. Smalley, of the borough, and no time will be lost in pushing the scheme. As soon as the complete right of way is secured, the company will pay to the Secretary of State $25,000 as required by law. The names of influential men, who will act as incorporators, have been secured and they will elect seven directors, two of them being bank presidents, the others capitalists of Trenton and Philadelphia.

The line will extend from Chimney Rock to Bound Brook by the way of an old vacated road along the westerly line of the property of Hon. George LaMonte, thence through Second street to Hamilton, to the New Jersey Central station. Mr. Drake, has received much encouragement and he says that the only thing that will prevent the opening of the road May 1, 1903, will be the inability to secure rights of way or some insurmountable engineering difficulty as to grades not now contemplated.

Gone for a Long Time.

Sometimes the contemplated trip of a few days extends to a much longer period, possibly of months or a year. The pleasure of such a trip should not be marred by a distracting thought of unprotected possessions at home. Satisfactory and abundant storage arrangements may be made at the City National Bank. Their storage vaults are large and absolutely safe. Nothing has been left undone in providing security and safety.

Denies Son's Engagement.

The item in The Daily Press a few days ago announcing the engagement of Chas. Valentine, of New Brighton, S., I., to a Plainfield young woman is contradicted by John Valentine, the father of the young man in question, in a communication to The Press.

Purchased An "Autoquad."

Wallace M. Brown, treasurer of the Schepflin Clothing Manufacturing Company, has purchased an "autoquad" which will serve to take him to and from his business in very little time. He brought the machine out from New York last evening.

In Justice Hand's Court.

Summons have been issued from Justice Hand's court in the contract case of the Ideal Cash Register Company against Michael Weber, on demand for $150. They are returnable Tuesday.

Putting in New Switch.

Workmen are engaged today putting in a new switch for the street railway company at the trolley station on Watchung avenue. The tracks will also be elevated somewhat at that point.

Edgar Willatt, of Lewiston, Pa., is visiting his uncle, Richard Gilbert, of West Third street.

Morgan Turton, of West Front street, is out after an enforced stay at home by illness.

Mrs. William J. Mattox, of Webster place, is convalescing after a week's severe illness.

Wm. Ross, of No. 3 Hose Company, left this morning on a ten days' vacation, which will be spent at Spuyten Duyvil N. Y.

Miss Addie S. Hillier and nephews, James and Lee Stewart, of Newark, are being entertained by Mrs. J. E. Waters, of West Third street.

KORMAN TRIED TO ESCAPE

MADE A DASH FOR LIBERTY AT THE HOSPITAL THIS MORNING.

Was Soon Captured and Brought Back—Will be Taken to His Home Today.

With his dazed brain imagining that his assailant was still pursuing him with evil intent, Edward Korman, the young lad who was cruelly assault d last week, made a wild dash to escape from Muhlenberg Hospital, this morning.

Watching his chance with the cunning usually displayed by demented persons, he jumped from his cot and then leaped through an open window. Fortunately an orderly was in the near vicinity and Korman was returned before he suffered any exposure. It has been necessary to watch him since and on the advice of his physicians, his step-father, Herman Klinsman, will have him brought to his home, this afternoon.

The lad takes nourishment regularly but he is not yet in a condition where he can be pronounced out of danger. The force of the blow has left him partially out of his mind and there is a possibiilty that he may cause further injury to himself as his action this morning implies.

MARTIN NAMED.

Commissioners of State Reformatory Appointed Captain Martin Superintendent of Reformatory.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Rahway, July 18—The Commissioners of the State Reformatory have appointed Capt. Joseph W. Martin superintendent of that institution in place of James E. Heg, resigned. Mr. Martin has been acting superintendent since Mr. Heg's retirement, and gained much notice by accusing the chaplain, Rev. J. H Howard, with violating the rules of the institution by taking away a camera for his own personal use.

In the examination the Commissioners decided the taking of the camera was due to a misunderstanding, but the appointment of Capt. Martin seems to show that he still remains in high favor. He won distinction in the Rebellion as the captain of the Sixth New York Battery. Of recent years he has been connected with a wholesale tobacco business in Pearl street, New York.

OPERATION NECESSARY.

Mrs. H. C. VanEmburgh Submitted to One and is Now Improving.

Mrs. H. C. VanEmburgh yesterday submitted to a surgical operation at the home of her parents in Eilzabeth. For some time past she has been under treatment for inflammatory rheumatism in her limbs and the trouble continued to grow worse. It was decided by the family to call into consultation a surgeon and the result was that an operation was deemed not only the best, but necessary. The operation was performed on one of the badly swollen limbs, below the knee, and there was found a large amount of pus and an abcess.

Mrs. VanEmburgh's condition was quite critical but it is now believed that with the care of a trained nurse and a continuation of the best treatment, she will get well, although it will be a number of weeks before she will be able to leave her room.

Making Way for New Building.

The old-fashioned house standing on the property on East Front street, recently purchased by Woodhull & Martin, will within a short time be moved to the rear of the property near the raceway. Workmen are now preparing to move the building. It is not known exactly to what purpose the house will be put.

Trinity's Excursion.

The excursion committee of Trinity Reformed church are trying to get next Friday, July 25, as the day for their postponed excursion. Should they fail in securing that date, the excursion will likely be postponed to a late date, probably the last one of the season.

Preferred the Fine.

Frank Moncton, a frequent offender, up in the borough police court last evening charged with drunkenness, was fined $20 or given the alternative of seven days. Chief Campbell took him to Somerville this morning to serve out the sentence.

LAWN FETE.

West Fourth Street Residents Combined for an Evening Affair.

On the adjoining grounds of Mrs. Smith Wikoff, Mrs. Wm. Mahue and Mrs. Albert Atkins, of West Fourth street, a lawn fete and open air concert was given last evening. Recitations were delivered by the Misses Mannie Doyle, Bittie Davis, Etta Kingslow, Claude Kingslow and Joseph Jones. Edward Blair sang a solo and Misses Mattie and Maud Green a duet. Instrumental duets were given by Bert Green and George Fury. An orchestra discoursed music during the evening.

TO AWAIT SON'S ARRIVAL

REMAINS OF MAJOR W. F. COLEMAN PLACED IN RECEIVING VAULT.

Simple Funeral Services Were Held From the Hotel Netherwood Yesterday Afternoon.

Funeral services over the remains of the late Major Frederick W. Coleman were held at the Hotel Netherwood at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The rites were performed by Rev. M. J. Farley, of St. Mary's R. C. church. A large number of the hotel guests, the majority of them old friends of the family, attended, besides many mourners from outside. After the ceremonies were over, the body was borne downstairs, out through the office where in life Major Coleman had presided till a few months ago.

The pall-bearers were all chosen from among the hotel residents. There were H. L. Black, Brooklyn; M. C. Ogden, Brooklyn; Chas. L. Camman, New York; Louis Camman, New York; Albert Chevalier, New York, and Thomas L. Brown.

The body was placed in the receiving vault at Hillside cemetery, there to remain till the arrival home of Lieutenant Coleman from Manila when the interment will be made with military honors in Arlington cemetery, Washington, D. C.

Last evening out of respect to the dead the ball room of the Netherwood was kept in darkness and during the day the music by the orchestra was omitted.

FUNERAL OF MRS. SEPELYE.

Services Were Held From St. Mary's R. C. Church This Morning.

Funeral services over the remains of Mrs. Clara Sepelye, were held this morning, from St. Mary's church, with a large gathering of relatives and friends in attendance. The mass was said by Rev. Father Farley, assisted by Rev. Father Tchinsky, of Paterson. Interment was made in St. Mary's cemetery where the casket was borne by Anton Rescevjiak, Guisseppe Porthenicksky, Luigi Ferraro and Emanuel Torbinato.

Out of Respect to His Memory.

Owing to the death of Major Coleman no progressive euchre was held at the Hotel Netherwood last evening. But the full dress hop will be held as usual Saturday evening. The management of the hotel are booming the benefit euchre to be given for the Netherwood Fresh Air Camp July 24. Prizes will be donated and the people of Plainfield are cordially invited to attend and mingle with the guests on this occasion.

Juniors' Big Day.

Arrangements are rapidly being completed for the eleventh annual excursion of Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., to Asbury Park on American Day, on Thursday, August 14. There will be twenty-one Councils from Essex county to run excursions to Asbury Park that day. It is planned to have a big reunion of the members of State officers and no doubt it will be one of the most successful affairs of the season.

New Junior.

Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., met last evening and received one proposition. In the good of the order the members enjoyed a repast of ice cream, cake and cigars. There was a large attendance of members and plans for the coming excursion were discussed and furthered.

Referred to Vice Chancellor.

In the case of the Union Beef Company against Erma G. Hummer, a suit to set aside fraudulent conveyances, the court granted an order referring the entire matter to the vice chancellor, Robert M. Clark counsel for the Union Beef Company.

Musical Programme.

A programme of vocal and instrumental music was carried out at the Rescue Mission meeting in the First Church of Christ last evening. Duets were sung by Mrs. Newton Honeyman and Mrs. John Manley. W. S. Richards lead the meeting.

MUST STAY AT HOME AND DIG THE CELLAR

Members of Warren Engine Company Have an Undertaking on Their Hands.

FOR NEW ENGINE HOUSE

AGREED TO DIG CELLAR IF BOROUGH WOULD BUILD THE HOUSE.

Now They Are to be Kept to Their Agreement—Copy of the Famous Agreement and Those of the Members Who Signed It.

Members of Warren Engine Company will get no vacation this summer. Instead of sitting by the sounding sea and watching the gulls in their flight, or musing high up in the mountains, far from the strife and din of men, they will remain prosaically at home, and all because they have to dig a cellar. For their toil they will have the consoling satisfaction of the warrior who fought for glory alone and received no lucre for his skill. The "shillin' a day, bloomin' good pay," song of the soldier to suit the firemen's case, will be made to read, "workin' all day, no sugar or pay."

The history of the story runneth thus. When the question of a new fire engine house for North Plainfield first arose a number of doughty Warrenites put their heads together and devolved a mighty scheme in order to consummate their very devout wishes. It was proposed to found an organization to be known as the Borough Cellar Gang, the members of which would promise to push the new-born scheme for all it was worth—harder than they will have to push wheelbarrows on hot nights, if they are going to fulfill their contract.

As the guild grew in numbers an agreement was drawn up and signed to the effect that if the borough fathers would grant the money for a new engine house, the shovel society would dig the cellar. Anxious signers now find that they overshot themselves. The prime movers in the matters are going to hold them to their agreement—they will have to dig the cellar, whether they like it or not.

The following is a copy of the original agreement, with the names of whose who signed it:

We, the undersigned, hereby agree to become charter members of the Borough Cellar Gang, and agree to live up to the rules and regulations of the gang, our trade mark to be pick, shovel and wheelbarrows. Signed, Thomas Doud, superintendent; John H. Carney, inspector; David Bodine, Julius J. Stahl, L. B. Bodine, Charles Stahl, John H. Schenck, Winfield Conover, W. B. Bennett, Albert DeCamp, W. F. Doud, T. E. Kesselring, W. R. Jennings, John Shroop, S. B. Joseph, Jacob M. Higgins, J. A. Daley, William Campbell, George Schlereth, R. Schenck, George H. Fairchild, J. A. Buchanan, P. H. Currin, C. O. Smith, A. F. B. Brokaw, Louis Feiring, T. J. McGann, R. V. Kinney, G. B. Stewart, James C. Walker, F. E. Woodruff, Francis Whiteley.

It is now humbly suggested that since the Cellar Gang is willing to spend the summer listening to the click of the pick, the Borough Council should hand over to the company the cost or part of the cost of the excavating if the contract was let out in the ordinary way.

Party by Trolley.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Greer, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hoagland, Miss Van-Horn, Miss Hossinger, Miss Asay Brucker and Wm. Brucker, James McLean, H. P. Greenwood and Chas. Suhr, comprised a jolly party that spent an enjoyable evening on the trolley and at Riverside Park, between Bound Brook and New Brunswick, last night.

Handled Live Wire.

By picking up a live electric wire which had fallen near Galvin's Park, last evening, Julius Royer, of this city, burned both hands severely. It was charged with 660 volts and he was unable to let go until assistance came. He will be detained from work for several days.

Salvation Army Worker.

Dr. F. Nice, from the headquarters of the Salvation Army in New York, will have charge of the meeting at the Westfield Fresh Air Camp Sunday afternoon. He is a well known worker in the east side district of New York.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

Day after tomorrow John J. Gardner will be unanimously renominated for Congress by the Republicans of the Second District. Then he and Congressman Fowler can start as a duet, "Now we can read our title clear," while several others will be in doubt as to whether they will be able to join in the chorus, and "bid farewell to every fear and wipe their weeping eyes."—Newark News.

While Wall Street gossip wondered what the Pennsylvania wanted with the Philadelphia and Reading stock that it was credited with buying, a group of officers representing the Centrals of New York and New Jersey, the Reading and the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg railroad companies were traveling over these lines examining a new continuous route from Jersey City to Pittsburg.

The route would embrace the Buffalo and Rochester from Pittsburg to Clearfield, the Beech Creek line from Clearfield to Williamsport, the Reading from Williamsport to Tamaqua and the N. J. Central from there to Communipaw.

This line will require some improvement, but it is believed that it can be put in condition cheaply and quickly to afford another main line to Pittsburg.—Jersey City Journal.

The violation of the probation rules by one of the prisoners who had been given the benefit of their operation calls attention to the fact that the system has, since its adoption here, proved a success. It has been more than two years since the probation officer was appointed by the courts, and in that time only sixteen of the persons placed in his custody have been rearrested and punished for not obeying the rules. Considering the fact that nearly 800 men, women and children have been paroled during that period, the benefits accruing from the adoption of the law can be easily appreciated. The taxpayers have been saved the expense of maintaining these delinquents, the jail and penitentiary have not been crowded with them, to say nothing of the opportunity that has been given the offenders to redeem themselves. No other law passed by the Legislature in recent years has so fully demonstrated its worth in so short a time as has the probation act.

It must be a source of profound satisfaction to Supreme Court Justice Fort to know that the legislation for which he worked so untiringly has more than proved all he claimed for it. Not only is this so in Essex county, but from all the counties where the courts have placed the law in effect glowing reports are received of the good it has accomplished—Newark News.

THEATRICAL.

Clean, wholsome comedy, combined with a bill of straight vaudeville acts, each unquestionably the best of its class; this is what makes a Keith show so enjoyable. Mr. Keith has always stood as the most conspicuous exponent of refinement in vaudeville; and his original idea of presenting a high class continuous entertainment for a moderate price has been developed to such a degree that no one familiar with what was called vaudeville twenty years ago would recognize its namesake today. Heading a long and exceptionally attractive bill at this play house for the coming week are the James O. Barrows-Lancaster Company, in their dainty and charming one act comedy "Tactics." This little playlet, with Guy Lancaster and Agnes Carlton as the pair of young lovers and that sterling comedian James O. Barrows furnishing the bulk of the comedy as the irrascible old ex-Major has been marvelously successful. Other strong features upon the bill are Zeno, Carl & Zeno, acrobatic marvels; Fred Herbert's Performing Dogs; H. V. Fitzgerald, character change artist and comedian; Pauline Moran and her funny Pickaninies; Scott & Wilson, comedy acrobats; with twenty other features, including European novelties and new pictures for the Biograph and the Stereopticon.

$1.00 Outing at Lake Hopatcong.

Lake Hopatcong long since won a deserved reputation as one of the leading outing resorts in the country. Its natural beauties are unequaled; its rugged shore forms delightful inlets where canoeing is not only safe but pleasurable. Its situation makes Hopatcong, whose environs are superb, healthful and invigorating, and last but not least, its accessibility tends naturally to make it popular not only with the tourist but with the Sunday excursionists. The New Jersey Central will run a popular $1 excursion to Lake Hopatcong on Sunday, July 20, by special train, and those who wish for an ideal outing should not forget the excursion on the coming Sunday

Vacation Days.

Vacation time is here and the children are fairly living out of doors. There could be no healthier place for them. You need only to guard against the accidents incidental to most open air sports. No remedy equals DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve for quickly stopping pain or removing danger of serious consequences. For cuts, scalds and wounds. "I used DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve for sores, cuts and bruises," says L. B. Johnson, Swift, Tex. "It is the best remedy on the market." Sure cure for piles and skin diseases. Beware of counterfeits. PRESIDENT'S GUESTS

Many Notables Visit at Sagamore Hill.

IMPORTANT PROSPECTIVE VISITORS.

Senator Platt, Governor Odell and Mayor Low Slated to Visit Roosevelt Soon—Boers Make a Brief Call.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 18.—Matters of great importance will be discussed on Sagamore Hill in a few days, when Senator Platt and Governor Odell will be the guests of President Roosevelt. This visit will in many ways be the most important, politically at least, of the president's whole stay here, and the pilgrimage of the senior senator and governor of the state will probably pave the way for a general waving of the olive branch of peace in the ranks of the Republican party.

Mayor Low will take lunch with President Roosevelt tomorrow at the president's home at Oyster Bay. He could not say who would be there besides himself as guests. He will go to Oyster Bay early in the morning in his yacht, returning in the afternoon.

President Roosevelt entertained at luncheon yesterday Judge Walter L. Weaver of Springfield, O., who is a member of the Chickasaw and Choctaw Indian citizenship court; Casper Whitney, R. B. Hawley, a member of the Republican national committee from Texas, and Judge Spencer B. Adams of Greensboro, N. C., who is also a member of the citizenship court. The president had a conference with Judge Weaver and later with Judge Adams. The court will meet in Washington within a week, when a regular place of meeting and time will be decided upon.

Mr. Hawley missed his train at Long Island City and as he was particularly anxious to keep his engagement with the president chartered a special engine and coach and made the run to Oyster Bay in fifty minutes. He arrived at Sagamore Hill just as luncheon was announced. Colonel Theodore A. Bingham, superintendent of public buildings and grounds of Washington, arrived in the afternoon and was driven by the president's coachman directly to Sagamore Hill. He came to consult the president and Mrs. Roosevelt about alterations that are being made in the White House.

William D. Bynum of Indiana, one of the members of the commission to codify the laws of the United States, also was a caller upon the president. He took luncheon with the Roosevelt family. His call was purely social.

After luncheon the president and Mr. Hawley had a long talk about Texas appointments and about Cuban reciprocity, in which Mr. Hawley is deeply interested. Mr. Hawley is understood to be interested in large sugar land holdings in Cuba. No details of the conference were made public.

A party of Boers who have been prisoners of war in Bermuda arrived here last night and are the guests of William and Gerard Beekman, who own a handsome country home not far from Sagamore Hill. By arrangement the party, including the Messrs. Beekman, Commandant Snyman, Commandant De Wet and two or three other Boer officers, called at Sagamore Hill to pay their respects to the president. They remained with the president only a short time, and the Boer war was referred to only incidentally.

Why Nicaragua Revolution Failed.

PANAMA, Colombia, July 18.—Manuel Calderon, the leader of the recent revolutionary outbreak in Nicaragua, is in Panama. He is reported to have said that the hasty of a few who took part in the expedition which landed near Bluefields about ten days ago caused the complete failure of the movement. The statement that the revolutionists received help from the Colombian government is denied in official circles here.

Will Accept Withdrawal Terms.

PEKING, July 18.—General Yuan Shi Kai, the governor of Chili province, and the Chinese foreign office have decided to accept the terms proposed for the withdrawal of the foreign troops from Tientsin and will so notify the ministers tomorrow unless the dowager empress disapproves of their action. This decision will be a surprise to the ministers, who expected the Chinese would endeavor to obtain better terms.

Secretary Root Going Abroad.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—Secretary Root will sail for Europe on the 24th inst. on La Savoie. He had contemplated sailing Aug. 2 and had engaged passage for that date, but received an invitation from General Horace Porter, United States embassador to France, to sail with him on the Savoie on the earlier date and has accepted. Secretary Root expects to return to the United States about Aug. 6.

A Library For Thousand Island Park

UTICA, N. Y., July 18.—Mrs. E. R. Holden of New York has offered to build a public library on Thousand Island park provided that the Park association would agree to furnish a suitable site. The trustees have already considered the proposition favorably and have chosen a site, and the matter has been referred to her for approval.

Wrecked Yacht Found.

PORTLAND, Me., July 18.—The forty foot sloop yacht Aphrodite of Boston was picked up fifteen miles southeast of Cape Elizabeth by the steam yacht Jathniel of New York. The Aphrodite was bottom up, having lost her fin keel, her tender was gone, and there were bodies found in the cabin after she was towed to Peaks Island by the Jathniel.

A QUESTION OF PRECEDENCE.

Secretary Moody Put an End to Seniority of Rank Trouble.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—Secretary Moody has decided the vexed question of precedence of bureau officers holding the advanced rank in virtue of their commissions as bureau chiefs.

Until the general board of which Admiral Dewey is the head was constituted the department held that the ranking officer was he who held the oldest commission. Admiral Dewey decided that seniority of rank was determined by priority of the date of the last commission of the officers.

The question arose as to precedence in the case of Rear Admiral Bradford, chief of the bureau of equipment, and Rear Admiral Taylor, chief of the bureau of navigation. The former is serving on his second commission as chief of bureau, but his last commission is dated Dec. 18, 1901, whereas Rear Admiral Taylor's commission as rear admiral, obtained in the ordinary course of promotion, is dated Feb. 11, 1901. Admiral Dewey decided that Rear Admiral Taylor should sit at his right hand, and this decision, on an appeal to the secretary taken by Admiral Bradford, is sustained by the secretary's decision. The judge advocates of the army and navy with whom the secretary conferred entertained the same view the secretary did.

Obnoxious Men Discharged.

ALBANY, N. Y., July 18.—The board of arbitration composed of Right Rev. T. M. A. Burke, bishop of the Roman Catholic diocese of Albany, and Michael Muldoon, secretary-treasurer of the Troy Central Federation of Labor, to which had been referred the trouble existing between the United Traction company and its employees, has reached a decision. It reported to the company that the two men, William F. Maguire and Michael Pickett, whose discharge from the employ of the traction company was demanded by the union should be dismissed, the testimony taken showing that the company would be within its rights in letting them go. The company immediately discharged the men, and all danger of a strike was averted.

Confederate Monument Dedicated.

ELKINS, W. Va. July 18.—A Confederate veterans' monument was dedicated yesterday on top of Valley mountain, near here, in memory of southern soldiers who fell at the lonely spot. There was an immense parade, several thousand people being present. The money for the monument was raised chiefly by a number of wealthy English residents of Mingo Flats, W. Va. Bishop Peterkin of the Episcopal diocese of West Virginia was orator of the day.

Confessed to Four Murders.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 18.—Willie Cannon, a colored tramp, aged fifteen years, has confessed to Chief of Police Austin that he had recently killed a white baby at Gurnee, Ala.; a negro baby at Henela, a negro baby at Cahaba and a negro baby in Birmingham. The body of the last named baby has been found. Coroner Paris has the little negro in charge and is investigating his tale.

NO GENERAL STRIKE

Miners' Convention Not Likely to Favor One.

MITCHELL OPPOSES SUCH A STEP.

Opponents of Soft Coal Sympathetic Action Apparently Control the Indianapolis Meeting by a Large Majority.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 18.—If the voice and influence of President Mitchell of the United Mine Workers shall prevail with the members of his organization, there will be no general strike of the organization. The chances of such a step being taken now are very remote. In his speech in the convention yesterday afternoon Mr. Mitchell advised strongly against a strike and urged that the bituminous miners continue at work and that a system of assessment upon the members of the order, which he outlined, be carried into effect as the best means of affording aid and support to the striking anthracite men in the east.

His recommendations if they had been adopted by the convention would have settled the entire question for which the convention was called, and an immediate adjournment would have followed. A motion to adopt the suggestions of President Mitchell provoked a long debate, in which the general sentiment was against the ordering of the strike. The men from the anthracite regions finally made a request that they be allowed to hold a caucus to determine upon an expression of opinion as to what they thought the convention should do and asked an adjournment of the convention for this purpose. Their request was granted and the adjournment taken. The men who were in favor of a strike were in a decided minority in the convention. Three speeches were made by members of the anthracite districts asking that the soft coal men walk out, and twice as many were made by the anthracite men urging the soft coal men to continue at work.

When the convention met in the afternoon, a motion was made and carried that the convention go at once into executive session. John P. Reese of Iowa moved a reconsideration of the vote by which this action was taken, declaring that in view of the momentous issues depending upon the action of the convention secret sessions were undesirable. "The entire United States is watching this convention," said Mr. Reese, "and we must take no chances of being placed before the country in a wrong light. If we go into executive session, the newspapers will get it just the same. The papers always get the proceedings of the convention when it goes into executive session, and they always will, even if they have to buy their news from some of the gentlemen who are in favor of an executive session."

The speech of Mr. Reese carried the day, the vote was reconsidered, and it was decided that the meetings of the convention would be open to the public. President Mitchell then made his address.

The meeting of the anthracite miners, held after the adjournment of the convention, resulted in nothing but the conclusion that there is no way in which a strike can be forced and that those members of the anthracite districts who are anxious for a strike will be disappointed. There was a long debate in the caucus, and finally a vote was decided upon, but when it had been partially taken it was seen that the result would be so strong in favor of upholding the recommendations of President Mitchell that the vote was not concluded.

While there is an element among the anthracite men that is greatly disappointed, it is not likely that any fight will be attempted upon the floor of the convention.

President Mitchell said:

"I am greatly pleased with the outcome of work done by the convention so far, and I have no doubt that the policy outlined in my speech today will be carried out substantially. Some minor changes may be made, but the policy as a whole will be followed by the convention I am certain."

A Breaker Operated.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., July 18.—What is said to be the first attempt to operate a breaker in the anthracite coal regions since the strike was declared was made at Nanticoke yesterday when the Susquehanna company started up its No. 7 breaker at that place. Some of the local operators are inclined to look upon the move as the beginning of the breaking up of the strike. An official of the company gave out this statement relative to the matter: "We are running stock coal through the breaker day after day. The coal is intended for shipment. We have plenty of it to ship and will continue shipping it from this colliery."

Union News Company's Head Dead.

ORANGE, N. J., July 18.—William H. Williams, general manager of the Union News company, died yesterday of heart disease at his home here. He was born in New York state sixty-two years ago and went to New York city when a boy. He started as a newsboy and a few years later obtained employment with a news company, with which he remained until 1873, when he organized the Union News company and became its general manager.

Root at Gettysburg.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—Secretary Root is in Gettysburg today to review the Pennsylvania national guard, now in camp at that place. He is accompanied by General and Mrs. Corbin, Major and Mrs. Dunn, General Wood, General Carter, Colonel Randolph and Lieutenant R. S. Clark.

THE PROPER COURSE.

It was a wise thing for the representatives of the city and the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Street Railway Company to get together to discuss ways and means to relieve the present congested conditions at the North avenue trolley terminus. While the conference did not result in any immediate relief there is reason to believe that the company is going to act in the near future and end a state of affairs which has been dangerous to drivers of vehicles and automobiles and to the passengers on the cars as well.

The Daily Press has long advocated the building of a station on private property by the trolley company as the best and most satisfactory means of relieving the present conditions. Such an arrangement would remove the waiting cars from the street and place them where they ought to be—on private property. Then a suitable waiting station with covered platform could be erected and the passengers caused no inconvenience, no wading through the mud and standing out in the rain on stormy days. Watchung avenue would then become a thoroughfare for the use of vehicles and not a trolley waiting station, with cars occupying most of the road way and people hurrying back and forth.

It may be that some of the other plans will bring about the desired result but it does not look as if any rearrangement of the schedule would open up the street to the public. The widening of that thoroughfare would give more room but there would still be the cars and the crowds of people swarming over the roadway at the most inconvenient periods. The real solution to the trouble seems to be in the plan already proposed. It is to be hoped that the city officials and the representatives of the trolley company will take that view of the subject.

The Fish and Game Commission of New Jersey is not going to co-operate with the efforts of State Entomologist Smith in the campaign against mosquitoes. Prof. Smith wanted to have a few birds killed so that he might see the part they took in the mosquito campaign but the commission has refused the required permission to kill them. Now the State Entomologist will either have to forego his investigations along that line or else take the chances of a severe fine.

Walter McAlister, one of the men who was convicted of murdering the little factory girl at Paterson last year, petitioned for a pardon but the board of pardons failed to take the same view that he did and Mr. McAlister is still in State's prison. Most of the newspapers throughout the State are of the opinion that the board of pardons did the proper thing.

The methods introduced by Brigadier-General Gillmore at the State camp at Sea Girt seem to find general favor with those who are interested in the work of the National Guard. While Gen. Gillmore insists of plenty of practical work, the camp under his direction is very popular with the members of the Third Regiment now in camp there.

Much to the surprise of the Democrats of this county, the Fifth Congressional convention of that political party will be held at Washington, N. J., during the month of September. There had been some talk of meeting at Summit.

So far the local excursions to Asbury Park have been rather unfortunate. First time the excursion went and the rain appeared as well. Yesterday, the rain was in advance and resulted in a postponement.

COLUMN FOR THE SHOPPERS

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

John G. Bantle is making a big cut in prices on summer suits to make room for his fall goods. See ad.

They use you "white" at Meissner's Hand Laundry. The best place to get your work done is at Meissner's.

Brunswick, Bonita and Bossy—three cigars that it is a pleasure to smoke. You can buy them at E. S. F. Randolph's, the North avenue druggist.

You get double trading stamps on all purchases of one dollar or more at Fred H. Firstbrook's, the Liberty street grocer. Special prices on all articles for Saturday trade.

T. L. Walsh, of North avenue, is making a stir in the local green grocery trade by the low prices he places on his line of fruit and vegetables. He has everything in season and delivers all orders.

For years Peck, of West Front street, has made a study of pleasing his customers. That is why he enjoys such an excellent trade. Every new customer is a pleased one and that is why they continue trading at this store.

S. Scheuer & Company, the West Front street grocers, are very busy this summer serving the people of Plainfield and vicinity with groceries and meats. Customers have found this a good place to get good goods at lowest prices.

Many of Charles E. Vail's friends are finding him at his new place of business on Park avenue, formerly conducted by Asa Collier, and with a complete stock of jewelry he is able to please all. First-class watch repairing is a specialty.

There is no better showing of dry goods in the State than that at Woodhull & Martin's and the housefurnishing department is complete in every detail. Persons who have traded at this store to any extent always return for they get the best goods at reasonable prices. The firm is thoroughly up-to-date.

Too much care cannot be exercised in handling fish in warm weather. A little heat will make it unfit for use and unscrupulous dealers do not hesitate to dispose of it in that state. At the Rogers Seafood Company's market, their entire supply is always kept in stalls provided for the purpose and is always fresh.

No up-to-date grocery house is complete without a large vegetable, or green goods department. This is a feature at the store of Neuman Brothers where everything in the fruit or vegetable line is to be had both in and out of season. The firm makes a specialty of having fresh fruit and vegetables all the year around at extremely low prices. At present they have delicious Georgia peaches, Jenny Lind, Rocky ford and Maryland Golden Gem melons, red and black raspberries, blackberries, huckleberries, green and wax beans, Boston lettuce, Jersey tomatoes and egg plant and many others.

SUBURBAN NEWS

A Department Devoted to the Minor Events in Greater Plainfield's Suburbs by Our Own Correspondents.

DUNELLEN.

The lecture last evening by Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass, of Plainfield, in the Methodist church proved a great drawing card. Not only was there a good turnout of town people but a considerable number from out of town were present. The soprano solos by Mrs. Thomas MacDonald, of Plainfield, were very well rendered and much enjoyed. Dr. Snodgrass took for his subject, "Impressions of England." In an interesting way he went over the chief points of interest and told many incidents of the life there. A free will offering was taken up and $20, which is considered remarkably good, was secured.

The object of the display of the International Correspondent Schools, now being conducted in the Kratzel building, is to enroll pupils not familiar with the enrolling of the schools at Scranton. Already many Dunellen people have joined the schools and the list is becoming very prominent.

Rev. Father Dumphy has been finally appointed resident priest of St. John's R. C. church. He has been officiating there since the death of Rev. Father Kerr.

NEW MARKET.

The pretty home of Mr. and Mrs. William Dunham was the scene of a happy gathering yesterday afternoon and evening on the occasion of the annual reunion of the Dunham family. Members of the family to the number of fifty gathered there and spent the time happily exchanging reminiscences and meeting relatives. The four remaining members of the original Dunham family, William Dunham, of this place, Henry Dunham and Chas. Dunham, of Bound Brook, and George Dunham, of New York, were present. The rest of the company consisted of nephews and nieces and children of these four and guests. Rev. Frank Fletcher, Rev. N. J. Sproul and Rev. L. E. Livermore were present and spoke words appropriate to the happy occasion. One of the most interesting features was the supper which was enjoyed fully by all present. The Dunham family is one of the oldest in this vicinity and the members feel proud that they have met together in this way for a number of years.

A business meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society was held in the First Baptist church Wednesday evening.

Miss Nelile B. Manning left town, yesterday morning, in company with Miss E. M. Higgins, of Bound Brook, for a three weeks' outing in the Catskills.

At the meeting of Camp No. 41, P. O. S. of A., held last night in Washington Hall, officers were installed for the ensuing term of six months.

William Burns is recovering from a severe illness after an operation performed at Muhlenberg Hospital, Plainfield.

Wm. Faulks has been confined to the house by rheumatism for several days past. He is somewhat better today.

Mother Always Keeps It Handy.

"My mother suffered a long time from distressing pains and general ill health due primarily to indigestion," says L. W. Spalding, Verona, Mo. "Two years ago I got her to try Kodol. She grew better at once and now, at the age of seventy-six, eats any thing she wants, remarking that she fears no bad effects as she has her bottle of Kodol handy." Don't waste time doctoring symptoms. Go after the cause. If your stomach is sound your health will be good. Kodol rests the stomach and strengthens the body by digesting your food. It is nature's own tonic. L. W. Randolph.

WISCONSIN POLITICS

Republicans Renominate La Follette For Governor.

ONLY TWO BREAKS IN THE SLATE.

Overwhelming Defeat For Whitehead—A Stinging Rebuke Administered to Those of Party Who Went Back on Platform.

MADISON, Wis., July 18.—The Republicans of Wisconsin finished their work in convention last night after nominating the following ticket: Governor, Robert M. La Follette of Madison, renominated; lieutenant governor, James O. Davidson of Soldiers Grove; secretary of state, Walter L. Houser of Mondovi; state treasurer, John J. Kempf of Milwaukee; attorney general, L. M. Sturdevant of Neillsville; superintendent of public instruction, Charles P. Cary of Delavan; railroad commissioner, John W. Thomas of Chippewa; insurance commissioner, Zeno M. Host of Milwaukee.

Robert M. La Follette was again chosen to head the Republican state ticket of Wisconsin, receiving the nomination over John M. Whitehead by an overwhelming majority.

With two exceptions the ticket as a whole went through as planned in advance. Those exceptions were the nominations for state treasurer and railroad commissioner. John Kempf of Milwaukee won in the contest for state treasurer by the aid of the stalwart faction, which switched its votes before the ballot was announced. This was the greatest surprise in the convention, as Joseph G. End of Sheboygan was looked upon as sure of the nomination. John W. Thomas of Chippewa secured the nomination for railroad commissioner over Jonas Swenholt of Shawano, the slate candidate, in a similar way. Perhaps the most exciting contest of the day was for the place of superintendent of public instruction between Cary and L. D. Harvey of Madison. Numerous candidates made the work of the convention slow.

Governor La Follette was given a great ovation upon being escorted to the convention hall after receiving notification of his nomination. He electrified the convention by his speech of acceptance, the feature of which was a stinging rebuke to those of the party who failed to support the principles laid down in the last platform.

Wheat Crop Damaged by Storm.

ST. PAUL, July 18.—While it now seems practically certain that no lives were lost in the terrific storms that devastated a portion of the Red River valley near Grand Forks, N. D., the loss to farmers will be heavy. Hardly a farm in the pathway of the storm—and it was almost 100 miles long by 10 miles wide—but had some building either demolished or damaged. The loss to the wheat crop, which would have been ready for the sickle in about three weeks, is reported to have been very heavy. Thousands of acres of wheat were literally beaten into the ground by the hail that accompanied the wind and rain. In some places every vestige of the crop was wiped out.

Tracy Again Escapes.

BLACK DIAMOND, Wash., July 18.—Tracy has escaped again. He has eluded the sheriff of King county and many picked men, who had advanced on his hiding place three miles from here. The posse arrived at Tracy's hiding place six or eight hours after he had left. He had taken a rowboat and gone to the east end of Sawyer lake presumably about 2 o'clock in the morning, accompanied by his two confederates. Sheriff Cudihee and the posse returned to Black Diamond in the afternoon. The chase from this point has been abandoned.

The Michigan Was Badly Injured.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—Word has been received at the navy department that the repairs on the cruiser Michigan, which was badly injured in a collision at Erie, Pa., several days ago, will require about six weeks for their completion. To the extent of that period the cruisers of the naval militia of the states along the great lakes may have to be postponed, but no definite word on that point has been received at the department.

New Baltimore Baseball Club.

BALTIMORE, July 18.—According to the plan of Ban Johnson, president of the American league, the franchise of the Baltimore team was forfeited yesterday by its failure to have a team in position to play the St. Louis club. Under the bylaws all rights of Baltimore in that respect passed into the hands of the American league. A new team is to be organized.

Men Four Days Missing.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 18.—Four days and nights have passed since Charles Haas and George W. Lederthiel disappeared in a canoe on the storm swept surface of Lake Ontario, yet not the faintest clew to their fate has been afforded their stricken families.

Three Men Drowned.

NEW YORK, July 18.—Four men of Polish birth while in a rowboat yesterday in the upper bay off Constable Hook were thrown into the water by the capsizing of the boat, and three were drowned.

Thirteen Persons Drowned.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., July 18.—A sailboat containing sixteen persons capsized during a squall in the lower harbor yesterday afternoon, and thirteen were drowned. The bodies were recovered.

Weather Probabilities.

Showers; fresh southwest winds becoming variable.

A MOVE AGAINST TRUSTS.

Russia Proposes an International Conference.

LONDON, July 18.—Details of an important move by Russia, which have evidently been suppressed hitherto by the censor, have transpired in London. This move is no less than a proposal by the imperial government for an international conference to deal with trusts.

Baron de Staal, Russian embassador in London, about ten days ago presented to the British government a note from M. de Witte, the Russian minister of finance, which note was sent also to all the powers that signed the Brussels sugar convention, proposing that these powers should consider in common means to protect international commerce against the artificial depression of prices not only by government measures, such as export bounties or the control of production, but also by the much more dangerous processes adopted by trusts, private undertakings or cartels, which tend artificially to influence the international market.

This explains the mysterious reference made in the Financial Messenger of St. Petersburg early in the week to a recent note of M. de Witte, which the paper said "is an application in the economic domain of the principles of The Hague conference."

CZAR AND KING PART.

Victor Emmanuel of Italy Closes His Visit In Russia.

PETERHOF, Russia, July 18.—Prior to his departure for Italy King Victor Emmanuel took breakfast with the czar and other members of the imperial family on a balcony of the palace. Later Emperor Nicholas, the grand dukes, Count Lamsdorff, minister of foreign affairs; the Italian embassador to Russia, Count Morra di Lavriano e della Monta, and many other notable personages went to the railway station to see Russia's royal guest off.

The two sovereigns saluted each other affectionately several times, and as the train drew out the Italian king waved his hand till he was out of sight.

King Victor Emmanuel during his stay bestowed decorations upon several of the grand dukes and presented Count Lamsdorff and M. de Witte, minister of finance, with portraits of himself, bearing his autograph, set in jeweled frames. The czar decorated Signor Prinetti, the Italian minister of foreign affairs, and Count Morra di Lavriano e della Monta with the Order of St. Alexander Newsky. Upon the members of their suits both monarchs bestowed valuable souvenirs and decorations of minor orders.

Our Expected Guests.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—The state department has been informed by Minister Wu that Prince Chen, who went to London to represent the Chinese government at the coronation, with his suit, will sail from Europe on the steamer Philadelphia on the 26th inst. for New York. The party will remain in the United States for ten days or two weeks and will be in Washington about the 1st of August. Minister Buck has advised the state department that Prince Boris of Russia sailed from Japan for San Francisco on the 16th inst. The prince will remain some time in the United States, but as he comes incognito the government will take no steps to receive him formally.

Bridge Building Accident.

ROANOKE, Va., July 18.—While a bridge force was working on a Norfolk and Western railway trestle over Reed creek two miles west of Wytheville the scaffolding gave way, precipitating Allen Grubbs, James W. Smith, Stephen Greggor, William Hicks and John Johnson, the latter a foreman, eighty feet below into the creek. Smith was killed instantly, his head being crushed by striking a bed of rocks. Grubb and McKenzie are believed to have received injuries that will prove fatal. Greggor and Hicks were only slightly injured.

Population 100,000,000 in 1910.

DULUTH, Minn., July 18.—"In 1910, when our next census is taken, I expect that the population of the United States will reach the 100,000,000 mark," said William R. Merriam, director of the census bureau, in an interview here. "This will include our new possessions, Hawaii, Porto Rico and the Philippines, but it will demonstrate in no uncertain terms what a world power this country has become."

Fatal Gasoline Explosion.

CRISFIELD, Md., July 18.—By the explosion of a barrel of gasoline in the canning factory of E. E. Robinson & Co., at Hopewell, this county, one person was killed and a dozen other employees frightfully burned. Other deaths are expected. The factory was new and had only began operations.

Dined In London.

LONDON, July 18.—Lord Kitchener, J. Pierpont Morgan and Captain S. L. H. Slocum, the retiring United States military attache at St. Petersburg, and Mrs. Slocum were among those who dined last night with Henry White, secretary of the United States embassy, and Mrs. White.

Proctor's Gift to Richfield Springs.

UTICA, N. Y., July 18.—Thomas R. Proctor of this city has offered to give the site of the Old Spring House, Richfield Springs, to the village for a public park, and it has been accepted. The site is ideal, and the property is the most valuable in the village.

Gold Discovered In Ohio.

MOUNT VERNON, O., July 18.—In putting down a test well the Logan Natural Gas and Oil company struck gold in quantities assaying $5 a ton. A small vein of coal was also discovered. There is great excitement, and the price of land has gone up.

PAINTERS AND DECORATORS.

ONLY THE BEST

paint is usable. To be worth putting on it must be durable, and to be durable it must be top quality. The general war of wind, sun and rain upon houses knows no cessation or truce. Paint is the main defense. Put your faith in something that will not fail you. A reliable article at a top price is cheaper than something else sold way down.

EVENING GOWNS.

All Black and All White Gowns Considered Smart.

An all black or an all white gown is charming in the midst of an assemblage of gay colors. Some of the black dresses this year resemble coats of mail on account of the large number of steel and jet paillettes that are being used in tunic form over an underdress of close plaited black chiffon. A great many appliques and hand embroideries are utilized, and white renaissance embroideries appear on fine muslins and batistes.

There are some dainty pompadour designs in taffeta, the taffeta being of so soft a make that it looks like colienne. It is, in fact, a sort of compromise between the two and has the merit of being fairly serviceable, which is more than can be said of the silk muslins which are so fashionable this year.

The pretty muslin gown in the illustration is made with a Romney fichu of white chiffon and wide sleeve ruffles of the same material. The waist has a transparent yoke of chiffon and lace, and the lace on the sleeves is cut out in order to show the arm underneath. The skirt is very full around the bottom and has a long train. It is trimmed with a full ruffle headed by a wide banding of the lace. The shepherdess hat is of white straw trimmed with pink roses.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

FASHIONS OF THE MOMENT

The Useful Alpaca — Lace Blouse Worn With Silk Skirts.

Lace blouses trimmed with taffeta are being made to go with taffeta skirts. This is a convenient fashion if not always a becoming one.

Alpaca is a material which never disappears from fashion's list, and there are all sorts of pretty designs in the finer makes, such as narrow pin stripes, spots, etc. Brown, blue and black alpacas are always charming and are quite indispensable for dull days and for traveling purposes. Dust coats have grown more and more gorgeous. They are voluminous and in cut resemble the Japanese. Some of the best are of taffeta, though those in ecru sailcloth are very smart and practical. These garments are trimmed with gold and silver tassels and black velvet. Some of the empire coats in taffeta have collars of coarse Irish guipure and are further decorated with fanciful appliques.

Never were old fashions so beautifully revived as they are today by up to date costumers.

A pretty waist, hat and collar are here shown. The hat is of chiffon ruching trimmed with an aigret and an ostrich tip. The waist is of pale blue crepe de chine trimmed with bands of mechlin lace. The collar is of ring spotted net and valencienne insertion.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

A KNAVE . . . OF CONSCIENCE.

By Francis Lynde.

"I am in pretty deep water," Griswold confessed, when the present hopeless state of affairs had been fully recounted for Charlotte's benefit. "My responsibility is heavier than Ned's. He wanted to compromise with the men, and I wouldn't agree to that. Now I am well assured of the cause—which he only suspects; and I know the remedy—which I am not brave enough to apply."

"Tell me about it," said Charlotte, with simple directness.

"I hardly know where to begin. It will be fairly incredible to you. Had you ever thought that the trouble might go deeper than mere dissatisfaction on the part of the men?"

"No. Does it?"

"Much deeper. The strike is nothing less than a part of a conspiracy to ruin us."

"A conspiracy!"

"That is what I said, but the word doesn't fit. It takes two to conspire, and the attack on us is instigated by one man. You will know who he is when I say that his motive is greed, pure and unalloyed."

She nodded slowly. "I know. But the motive isn't altogether avarice."

"What else could it be?"

She defined it in one word: "Pique."

Griswold did not pretend to misunderstand.

"So I thought at first. But that involves a woman as well as a man; from something which I learned today I am inclined to doubt the woman's complicity; to question whether she knows anything about it."

But at this point Charlotte the compassionate became Miss Farnham the austere.

"You may be very sure she knows all about it. If she ever sets up a crest—and even that won't be beyond her—the motto for it will be 'Rule or Ruin.'"

Griswold was beginning to doubt the advisability of any further confidences in the Grierson field, but his evil genius urged him to defend Margery.

"Isn't that a little uncharitable?" he ventured.

The tone was placable enough, as it was meant to be, but Charlotte was only a woman, and Griswold had been very much in evidence with Miss Grierson of late, on the high-swung trap and in the Grierson steam-launch. So she said, rather coldly: "I may seem uncharitable to you, and I am sorry I said it. But we are wandering. You say you know the remedy for your trouble and Ned's. What is it?"

Now Griswold was not any braver than other men when it came to facing a woman piqued, but since she had taken him unawares, he must needs lose his head and say: "It is a personal appeal to this young woman whom you don't like."

The Raymers were rising to go, she rose too, meeting his frank avowal with a toss of the superb head.

"By all means make it," she advised, icily. "You owe it to—to—"

"To Ned?" he suggested.

"Certainly not; to yourself."

And with that she turned away to say good night to the others. That was all, save that she did not give her hand to Griswold at parting.

CHAPTER XXV.

In after time Griswold could never satisfactorily account for the impulse which sent him to wander aimlessly through the deserted streets of the town after leaving Dr. Farnham's and parting from the other dinner guests.

But this night the thought of Mrs. Holcomb's and the quiet room was curiously repugnant, and so he roamed, like any vagrant, far and wide, drifting at length to the railway crossing and beyond, and coming to some sense of the actualities only when he found himself in the neighborhood of the iron works.

At this he would have turned back. Since the closing of the works the plant had been guarded nightly; first by the inner circle of deputies, and later by an outer cordon of the striking workmen. This outer guard had latterly been maintained in reliefs and made continuous, ostensibly to show the good will of the strikers and their readiness to protect the property; but really, as Griswold knew, to forestall any move on the part of himself and Raymer to supply the places of the men with imported labor.

It was a chance collision with this outer guard that brought Griswold active to the actualities. Two men stepped out of the shadow of a tree and halted him. But at the word one of them recognized him.

"Oh, it's you, Mr. Griswold. Beg pardon, sir, but you see we have to be sort o' careful."

Griswold's smile was openly cynical. "Your carefulness is a good bit overdue, Martin. It should have begun before you made this senseless strike."

Now the man Martin was in some sort a leader among the discontented workmen, and he asked nothing better than a chance to argue the point with one of the bosses.

"There's two sides to that, Mr. Griswold, and you hain't seen but one. You don't know what it means to earn your bread from day to day like we do."

"Don't I?" said Griswold, smiling again, this time without the cynicism. "Perhaps I don't, and again, perhaps I do. You're an older man than I am, Martin, but I'll venture to say that I've gone lacking more meals in a year than you have in your whole lifetime."

The man was silenced for a moment, but presently found tongue again.

"Then what makes you so tarnation hard on us fellows?" he demanded. "If you've known what a bare cupboard means for yourself, I sh'd think you could put yourself in a workin'man's place."

"I can and do; and so does Raymer. But you won't believe anything we say, and that settles it."

"It hain't come to anything like a settlement yet," remarked the man, sullenly.

"It has, so far as we are concerned. If we can't be allowed to run our business in our own way the plant may stand idle. It's ours."

"I don't know about that, Mr. Griswold."

"About what?"

"About the plant bein' yours and Mr. Raymer's. Seems like we fellows that helped earn the money to build it ought to have some little say."

Now this was one of the foundation stones in Griswold's theories—and in his book; that the laborer is entitled, not to a dividend share in the product of his labor, but to the entire product. But as yet he was only broad enough to lay down the general principle. He could by no means apply it to the particular personal instance.

"That is nonsense, Martin, and you know it. Whose money built the plant?"

The man took time to think about it, and, as slow men often do, he thought it over to some purpose.

"I s'pose you could say that ain't for me to say, but I'm goin' to say it. Mr. Raymer got his money from the old man, and we, and others like us, helped him earn it. I dunno who helped you earn your money, Mr. Griswold. Maybe you earned it all yourself, but I don't believe it."

HOW THUGS HIDE WEAPONS.

Carry Them Everywhere Except in the Place Where They Are Supposed to Be.

"There seems to be one lesson that men in the service never learn," said a veteran policeman in discussing the murder of Detective Patrick Duffy, according to the Chicago Inter Ocean, "and that is that the gun-fighting crook, who is ready to shoot to avert arrest, never hides his weapon in his hip pocket. Still the average policeman, in attempting to capture a known desperate criminal, is generally contented with a 'frisk' of what is known as the 'pistol pocket.'

"Nearly every officer who has met unexpected death, injury, or danger while attempting arrests has been taken unawares by the production of weapons from unexpected places. 'Billy' Halloran, one of the bravest men the Chicago police department ever knew, had thoroughly searched Mike Lynch, whom he had arrested on a serious charge. At least he thought so. They had gone several blocks on the way to the station when Lynch drew a revolver and shot Halloran dead. It is believed by some that he had the weapon in his hat.

"Gun-fighting crooks carry their implements everywhere except in the receptacles provided by the tailors. Up their sleeves, under their trousers' belts, under their arm-pits and even in their shoes and other places where a careless search will not reveal them. But since the shooting of Duffy the detectives, in dealing with desperate men, are more vigilant in searching for weapons."

INDIANS OF WELSH ORIGIN.

Customs and Language of Aborigines Indicate Descent from Europeans.

Of late there has been considerable interest manifested in Great Britain relative to the Welsh settlers in the United States. The matter, however, lacks the great interest caused in the eighteenth century by the statement that a tribe of Welsh Indians had been discovered, states the Chicago Chronicle. In the seventeenth century John Josselyn, in his "Voyages to New England," mentioned that the customs of the inhabitants resembled those of ancient Britons, and Sir Thomas Herbert, another traveler of the same date, in his "Travels," gave Welsh words in use among these Indians.

A century later reports from several traders and others were received of an Indian tribe that possessed manuscript, spoke Welsh and retained ceremonies of Christian worship. Among other information then published was the report of Capt. Abraham Chaplain, of Kentucky, that his garrison near the Missouri had been visited by Indians who conversed in Welsh with some Welshmen in his company. Those Indians were thought to be descendants of a colony said to have been formed by Madoc, son of Owen Gwynedd, on his discovery of America in 1170.

FAC-SIMILES ARE SCARCE.

Few Duplicate Copies of the Declaration of Independence Are in Existence.

Several communications have recently reached the Philadelphia Record asking if the original copy of the declaration of independence was in existence, and if duplicate copies could be had. It is a rather curious fact that while facsimiles of the declaration were common enough several years ago, and were largely used for advertising purposes, they are now very scarce—so scarce that a Philadelphia collector only last week offered ten dollars for one bearing the advertisement of a western railroad. The original document, preserved in glass, is still to be seen in the possession of the department of state in Washington, but it has become so faded as to be nearly illegible, by reason of which a photographic reproduction would be valueless. James D. McBride had plates made, and secured a copyright of them in 1874, but these plates were later destroyed by fire, and none are now in existence. Consequently the copies that have been preserved are constantly increasing in value.

Linguistic Difficulty.

"I shall never forget my first visit to Madrid," said a woman to a reporter of the New York Sun. "I was the only member of our party who knew any Spanish, and I know but one word, that one being 'leche'—milk—but by means of gesture we managed to get along until breakfast was served. Then, as luck would have it, the maid brought my coffee without any milk, and, also, as luck would have it, I promptly forgot the one word of Spanish I knew, and which of all words was the one most wanted at that moment. This time neither gesture nor yelling were of any avail, so at last in desperation I seized a piece of paper and a pencil and drew a picture of a cow. Whereupon the maid tripped off and came back with three tickets to the bull fight."

Ping-Pong in the Harem.

The latest and least to be expected place ping-pong has conquered is the harem of the sultan of Turkey, wherein the game flourishes exceedingly, the efforts of his fat ladies to get the balls over the net affording, it is said, the "purple emperor" much amusement.

THE ISTHMIAN CANAL.

The Negotiations For Panama Route Proceeding Favorably.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—Mr. Cromwell of counsel for the Panama Canal company had an interview with Secretary Hay yesterday respecting the isthmian canal project. Mr. Cromwell will sail for Paris tomorrow, where he will be in a position to render any desired assistance to Attorney General Knox and Mr. Russell in reference to the settlement of title to the Panama canal.

Save the general statement that the negotiations between the United States and Colombia are progressing satisfactorily neither party to the conference had any statement to make as to what took place. It was admitted, however, that there was not the least expectation that the treaty between the United States and Colombia giving right of way for the Panama canal could be signed within a month, the delay being explained by the necessity of mail correspondence between Washington and Bogota. If the treaty is ready when congress meets next December, there will be really no actual delay.

Ministers Corea and Calvo, representing Nicaragua and Costa Rica, had long interviews with Secretary Hay on the canal question. They have not abandoned hope that the choice of a route will yet revert to Nicaragua. They have received advices from Paris in effect denying the statement already made to the state department that the obstacle to the Panama route involved in the old requirement that only French material be used in the canal construction had been removed by the action of the French government.

New German Meat Rules.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—Consul General Frank Mason, at Berlin, has informed the state department in a report dated June 18 that the code of regulations for carrying into effect on Oct. 1 next the German meat inspection law has been issued by the imperial health office. Under paragraph 12 of the new law fresh meat can be imported only in whole carcasses. Carcasses of cattle and hogs, but not of calves, may be split in half, but the halves are to be left together and accompanied in all cases by the head, heart, lungs and kidneys. Cow beef must have the udder attached, and carcasses of pork must include the tongue. Excepting hams, bacon and intestines, no piece of pickled, smoked or otherwise preserved meat weighing less than four kilograms (8.8 pounds) may be imported into Germany.

Hill's Prophetic Greeting.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 18.—Former Senator David B. Hill arrived here last evening to be the guest overnight of William F. Sheehan, ex-lieutenant governor of New York, who owns a handsome country home near Oyster Bay. As the train bearing Mr. Hill pulled into the station a salute of seventeen guns was fired, and when he stepped from the train he was cordially and vociferously greeted by a great crowd of admirers. As the carriage which was to take Mr. Hill to Mr. Sheehan's home left the station some enthusiastic person called out, "Three cheers for David B. Hill, the next president of the United States," and they were given with a will.

Noted Contractor Dead.

BALLSTON, N. Y., July 18.—Hiram Minot Sherman is dead at his home here, aged eighty-three. He was born in Danbury, Conn. Mr. Sherman was one of the contractors on the Housatonic railroad as well as the "Hoosac tunnel" road. For some years he was supervisor of steam railroad trackage at Troy.

ON THE DIAMOND.

Chauncey Burt has a happy faculty of settling down at critical stages of the game. But that long swing of his, before delivering the ball, is the darling of the base runners.

Hewitt and Burns will be the opposing pitchers in tomorrow's Hope-Safe Works game. The former has been playing on second base for several weeks past, and it will be his first appearance in the box in some time.

Enwright, the second baseman for the Safe Works nine, can give points to a great many players on base running. He is always sure of making second once he arrives at the initial bag, and it takes a sharp eye to prevent him from getting to third.

League games scheduled for tomorrow are as follows: Hope against Safe Works, on Hope Common; St. Mary against Y. M. C. A. on St. Mary's grounds. Both games are to be called at 3:30. Other games to be played in this vicinity are the Westfields and Pearsalls, at Westfield, and Scotch Plains and Xavier Deaf Mutes at Scotch Plains.

Interest in tomorrow's League games is enhanced by the fact that in the event of the Hope team losing and the Y. M. C. A.'s winning, it will bring the former from the lead, which it has held since the season began. It will also place the St. Marys on the bottom and give the Safe Works a good boost. But—it's all conjecture at present.

Quite a number of the ball players on the teams in the city league have served their apprenticeship on college teams or have been candidates therefor. Arthur Lederer was on the freshman nine at Princeton, while Chauncey Burt also played at the same university. Geo. Dupee pitched for the Yale freshmen and was considered a strong candidate for the varsity team when he left college. "Doc" Doyle was a member of the Seton Hall College nine. Chas. Dupee was prominent in Yale athletics, while he never played on the baseball nine. Pond is a Princeton man now

There will be a good opportunity Saturday for ball enthusiasts who are watching the record of the Westfield team to compare the strength of that team as against that of the local league teams. Two weeks ago the Pearsalls were against the St. Mary's and although rain stopped the game early there was plenty of evidence that the local team was much outclassed. The Pearsalls were defeated by Westfield 14 to 0 last year. Saturday they propose to wipe out this blot, in fact, the Pearsall management consider this game the most important to them of their entire season. The Pearsalls, without question, are a fast and formidable lot and as good a team as any to break Westfield's lucky string.

GOLF.

Morris Dumont, captain of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club team, has selected his team to play Harbor Hill tomorrow. A good game is expected.

Amog the visitors at the Park Golf Club, this summer, has been F. C. Hardee, of Savannah, Ga., who has proved himself an expert. After playing over the course a week and getting acquainted, he made the nine holes in 39 Tuesday afternoon.

Among the coming young golf players of Plainfield is Dudley H. Barrows. Although yet a schoolboy, Barrows is playing a very strong game and was able to win the the consolation cup from Dr. B. VanD. Hedges in the play for the club championship.

Frank O. Reinhart paid a visit to the Park Golf Club links early last week and took part in a four-ball match against two of the Park Club's best players. Reinhart and partner won two up in eighteen holes. Reinhart made the first nine holes in 41, one worse than bogey. In the second round, he split a Haskell ball on the third and so did not keep his medal score.

TENNIS.

The Roselle Casino tennis team, D. W. Mulford, Rev. J. M. Stifler, Jr., G. H. Miller and E. McK. Miller were victorious in the double and single tennis matches played Saturday with the team from the Park Club on the latter's courts. The results were as follows: Miller and Miller defeated Clifford McGee and Wallace Guilford, 7-5, 6-4; Mulford and Stifler defeated G. W. Faber and Samuel Townsend, 6-4, 6-3. E. McK. Miller defeated Wallace Guilford, 6-0, 6-2; Mulford defeated Faber, 6-2, 6-1, and Stifler defeated Townsend, 6-2, 6-4. A return match will be played at Roselle in the fall.

SPRING CHANGED ITS PLACE

ANOTHER REMARKABLE THING HAPPENS AT PEAPACK.

Disappeared During Last Winter's Flood to Reappear Twenty Yards Away.

The lovely valley of Peapack, which has been gaining notoriety during the last year by the discovery of a cave and subterranean river under the very centre of the town, has again come to the front with a mystery which rivals either of the above.

Everyone who has driven through Peapack has been impressed at its style. Directly along its main street one can seen handsome brick flats and modern houses alongside of a farm, with its post and rail fences outlining the principal street. The farm, one of the finest in the vicinity, is that of the Misses Apgar, who occupy it. Directly opposite their dwelling house lies a fine field of pasture, which was watered by a never-failing spring. It had been there in the memory of the oldest inhabitant—pure, ice-cold and beautifully clear.

During the heavy flood of last February, when all lower Peapack was inundated, this spring disappeared. Where once its cool depths sparkled was nothing but a sandy, gravelly bed. A few weeks later the Misses Apgar discovered, upon driving their five fine Holsteins to pasture, that the spring had reappeared some twenty yards below its former site.

There it was bubbling from the ground, pure and cold. At the end of a week it was found that the spring had increased in size. This it continued doing until it became over six feet in diameter, and instead of looking down through its clear water to the gravel bottom, it seemed to bubble from black depths. Then it was that some one decided to try and discover its depth.

What was their surprise to find that the longest pole or fence rail obtainable was unable to touch bottom. Since then repeated soundings have been made, but no rope or line has yet been found that will fathom its depths. It seems to be constantly in motion and bubbles up from some underground supply. The ground in which this spring has appeared is a mile from the cavern which was discovered last winter. It is thought by some persons who have made a study of the hills and dales of Peapack that the town is undermined with caverns.

PERSONAL.

Wm. Day, of this city, left last evening for Buffolo, where he has accepted a good position.

Mrs. John Schaub, of Raritan, visited her mother, Mrs. John Victor, of Somerset street, yesterday.

Miss Vina Wells, of Providence, R. I., returned home today after a visit with her friend, Miss May Duckworth, of Duer street.

Professor F. W. Steins, of South Amboy, formerly director of the Plainfield Saengerbund, was visiting friends in the city yesterday.

—F. C. Lounsbury's new addition to his factory on West Second street, is nearly completed.

—On a hot evening go down to Tier's Lake House. More than 20 varieties of ices, creams and sherbets.

—Substitute Letter-carrier Bailey is carrying the main city route while Carrier Glaentzer is off his vacation.

—At Neuman Brothers tomorrow, strictly fresh: Red and black raspberries, blackberries and huckleberries. Low prices prevail.

Poisoning the System.

It is through the bowels that the body is cleansed of impurities. Constipation keeps these poisons in the system, causing headache, dullness and melancholia at first, then unsightly eruptions and finally serious illness unless a remedy is applied. DeWitt's Little Early Risers prevent this trouble by stimulating the liver and promote easy, healthy action of the bowels. These little pills do not act violently but by strengthening the bowels enable them to perform their own work. Never gripe or distress. L. W. Randolph.

LABOR CONGRESS IS CALLED

STATE FEDERATION OF LABOR WILL HOLD ITS ANNUAL CONGRESS.

In Assembly Chamber at the State House, Trenton, Monday and Tuesday, August 18 and 19.

A call has been issued by the executive board of the State Federation of Labor for the annual congress of that organization, to be held in the Assembly chamber at the State house, Trenton, Monday and Tuesday, August 18 and 19. The call is signed by the president, John A. Moffitt, of Orange, and Secretary B. Frank Dunphey, of Camden. It is expected that from 250 to 300 delegates will attend the convention. Among the trades that heretofore have not been represented in congress, and that are expected to send delegates this year, are the South Jersey glass workers and silk workers.

Two delegates are allowed to each trades union of fifty members or less, three delegates for 100 members, and one additional delegate for each additional 100 members or fraction of that number. Each central trades council is entitled to one delegate in the congress. Of the condition of labor in the State, and the outlook, the executive board says in the call for the congress:

"From present indications the twenty-fourth annual convention of the New Jersey State Federation of Labor bids fair to be more generally attended and more widely represented than any previous convention of the federation. Many questions of importance await the calm, deliberate consideration of the delegates. Every local in the State organized on trades union principles, and which is affiliated with the national or international union of its craft, is urgently requested to be fully represented by its most active and best qualified members.

"Many advances have been made during the past year; organization has progressed steadily; wages have been increased; hours have been reduced; recognition has been secured; conditions formerly irksome have been modified; permanency of organization is established. To continue these beneficent results, and to meet the growing demands of labor, organized and unorganized; to more strongly assert our rights in legislative halls and the courts; to obtain a more general shorter work day to equalize the productive, distributive and consumptive effects of modern improved machinery, and to contend against the gradual transforming of human beings into mere chattels; all these needs show the necessity of the workers meeting in still closer affiliation."

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

The report of George Riley, New Jersey fish and game protector, has been made to the State Commission. He recounts three successful trips to Lake Erie to get wall-eyed pike, white bass and channel catfish. Many thousands of these fish were placed in New Jersey lakes and rivers.

"Recently," says Mr. Riley, "one of the commissioners visited the United States fish commissioner at Washington and made arrangements whereby New Jersey will receive her proportionate share of the fish propagated by the Government. Arrangements are now being made looking toward putting them in the most suitable waters. It is proposed to introduce some varieties heretofore unknown to our State and there is no reason why the experiments should not be successful. One of the varieties included on the list is land-locked salmon, which it is proposed to introduce into Green Pond and Culver Lake, which are deep and cold spring water lakes and admirably adapted for that kind of fish. It is also proposed to try the same experiment in these lakes with lake trout."

—Harvey Fisk, brotner of C. J. Fisk, of this city, has purchased a handsome summer home near Hollywood, where he will spend the summer season.

—Mrs. J. K. VanArsdale has leased her house, corner of Grove street and Park place, to Mr. Tompkinson, of Erie, N. Y. She has removed with her daughters to Grandview avenue.

REINHART LOST IN SEMI-FINALS

Local Golfer Was Defeated by Louis James, of Glenview, in National Golf Championship.

LUCK WAS AGAINST HIM.

On the Wet Course, Near Chicago, Frank O. Reinhart Was Beaten 2 Up and 1 to Play by the Chicago Lad, After Obtaining a Good Lead in the Morning's Play.

To the keen disappointment of many, Frank O. Reinhart met defeat yesterday afternoon in the semi-final play for the national amateur golf championship, at the hands of Louis James, of Glenview, thus putting James and Byers, the winner of the other match, in the final play today.

In the morning when the first round of eighteen holes was played, Reinhart won, and this was a heart-breaking affair for the Glenview boy. Reinhart made an 87, while his opponent made an 88. The element of luck entered into the play and it was a surprise to all that Reinhart did not win easily. Nearly the whole course was covered with water.

James and Reinhart started play at 2:30 in the afternoon. Reinhart made it 3 up by winning the nineteenth hole in 5—6, James's approach being bad. James's drive for the twentieth reached the green; Reinhart's was almost equally as good, and the hole was halved, 4—4. Reinhart won the twenty-first by 5—4, holing a beautiful eight foot putt from the side of the hill. Reinhart was three yards from the hole on his third, but James holed a twelve foot put, and won, 4—5. Reinhart was then 3 up.

The match was squared at the thirtieth hole, Reinhart, to everybody's astonishment and his own chagrin, missing a ten inch putt for a half. James took the lead at the thirty-second, holing down a twenty foot putt for a 3.

The thirty-third hole was halved in 6, James saving himself by a seven foot putt. The thirty-fourth was halved in 4. Both got into the rough driving for the thirty-fifth, but were out beautifully. Reinhart went into the pond on his third and in the bushes on his fifth. He was over on his seventh, and gave up the hole. James was 2 up, 1 to play.

Rienhart, who almost invariably gets off low drives and brassies, sent three of them into bunkers. Had they stayed in the hole they would probably have been lost in each instance, but each time the ball jumped out into a good lie. Twice, however, he topped iron shots into the duck pond, the last time with fatal results, as it proved the deciding hole of the game. Reinhart's iron shots, as a rule, were perfect, while James's and Byers's putting won them many holes. James especially excelled in this, and he practicially won in the afternoon by twice putting the ball in the hole from distances of about twenty feet.

BIG WINNINGS.

Horse Which Cost $150 Has Already Won Purses Amounting to $15,000.

One hundred and fifty dollars invested in a horse by A. S. Case, of Three Bridges, who sometimes makes his home in this city, has yielded him profits that are astounding. The animal was named "Meadow Belle" and was placed on the track in the 2:40 class. In a short time it began winning every race it entered, capturing big stakes. This season it has won already purses amounting to $15,000. The owner has refused an offer for the horse many times over what he paid for it.

For the Shore.

The next opportunity to go to Asbury Park and Ocean Grove for a small cost will be afforded Thursday when the First Presbyterian, Congregational, Park Avenue Baptist and Dunellen Sunday-schools will go to the sea on an excursion. There is every prospect of a delightful day at the seashore on that occasion.

Floods in Warren County.

The floods last winter were very severs in Warren county. It is estimated that it will cost the county $20,100 for new bridges to replace those swept away or damaged.

Century and a Half.

The old Dutch Reformed church at Neshanic will celebrate its 150th anniversary next month. The church is now free from debt.

INCREASED CAPITAL.

Childs Company, of New York, is Growing Financially Larger.

The Childs Company, of New York, organized to operate restaurants and lunch rooms in New York city and elsewhere, has increased its capital from $2,000,000 to $4,000,000. The directors are Luther Childs, of Lyons; L. A. Thompson, of Somerville; C. L. Roberts, of Basking Ridge; T. Reed Harris, of New York; O. H. McMurtrie, of Belvidere; Richard C. Luke, of Brooklyn, and Clifford H. Chester. Of the capital $1,000,000 is preferred stock.

GRAND ARMY TO WASHINGTON

PLANNING TO ATTEND NATIONAL ENCAMPMENT IN OCTOBER.

Plans Made for Reception of the Veterans of the Civil War at the National Capital.

Some of the Grand Army men in this city are arranging to be in Washington, D. C., during the thirty-sixth annual national encampment, which will be held there in October. It promises to be a notable occasion for the veterans, and advices received from every section of the country give promise of an unusually large attendance of the comrades at the coming encampment.

Washington is especially attractive to most of the members of the order, for the reason that a large proportion of them participated in the numerous battles and skirmishes that were fought in its vicinity, and on the historic fields lying between the Potomac and the James. Moreover, Washington is the national capital, and most of the veterans marched down Pennsylvania avenue after the surrender of Appomattox, and were reviewed by the president. Relatively few of them have seen Washington since that memorable day, and consequently there is a strong desire to visit the capital at this time to mark the improvements that have taken place and to visit such of the battlefields as are within easy reach.

The committee are making arrangements for excursions to the battlefields, and on some of them interesting ceremonies will be held. In furtherance of this movement the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad has issued a folder that will be especially interesting to the veterans and valuable to other visitors, because of the information contained of the battlefields lying along and approximate to the line of that road.

Like all previous contests for the position of commander-in-chief of the Grand Army, the election to be held in October will be hotly contested. There are thus far four candidates announced. General Thomas J. Stewart, of Pennsylvania, and adjutant general of the State, is one of these, and has very good prospects for success. Ex-Governor Frederick Roble, of Maine; General John C. Black, of Illinois, formerly commissioner of pensions and representative in congress from that State, and Colonel John McElroy, commander of the Department of the Potomac, and one of the most active and widely known men in the order, are also candidates. The roll of the encampment carries about 1,400 names. These include a number of aged men, who may not be able to attend the October meeting, so that the voting strength may not exceed 1,000 or 1,100. At Cleveland last year there were 706 votes cast, of which 476 were for General Torrance and 230 for General Thomas J. Stewart.

Couple Well-Known Here.

Robert Laurie Eaton and Miss Isabel Davey Parrott, both well known in Plainfield, were married at the residence of the bride's parents in Elizabeth, Thursday evening. Miss Alice Burrows, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor, while the groom was assisted by Dr. Alvin R. Eaton, Jr. After the marriage ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Eaton left for the Adirondacks on their wedding trip.

BRIGHT PROSPECTS IN THE BUILDING TRADES

Promise of Lots of Work for the Next Year and a Big Boom for Plainfield.

MUCH WORK STARTED.

SOME OF THE BIG JOBS NOW READY OR SOON TO BE COMMENCED.

With the Exception of Dover, Plainfield is the Busiest City of Its Size in the State—Wages are Good and May Go Up Higher.

Local mechanics in all lines of the building trades are having at present one of the most prosperous seasons they have ever enjoyed. In every part of the city structures large and small are being erected and there is a prospect of masons and carpenters having steady employment for a year to come. Wages are also slightly in excess of those paid last year and if the demand for help continues there is reason for the assertion that the day rate will be increased.

Among some of the larger buildings which are now in process of construction are the addition to the Scott factory, the additions to the Safe Works, extensions at the Pond Tool Works and several structures in the center of the city, including a three story brick on Somerset street. Frame structures are to be seen going up everywhere and especially in the West End where many residences are partially completed. The larger part of them are being built by mechanics who are taking advantage of building and loan associations to have homes of their own.

There are in contemplation many more contracts which will continue to make Plainfield a hive of industry. One builder was heard to remark yesterday, that barring Dover where numerous factories and houses are being put up, there is more building work being done at present in this city than any other of its size in the State. Among the new work to be done are the large factories for the Pederick & Ayer Company at Clinton avenue, and West Front street, for which ground has already been broken. The contractors have called for carpenters and masons and all who apply will be given steady work at the union rate of wages. The factory in itself will represent a small amount of the work to be done in that section as it means many new houses, mainly cottages, for the accommodation of the employes.

Another large contract which will shortly be given out is the restoration of the Babcock building to its condition before the fire. Estimates have been received for the work by the estate and architects who have been called in consultation have agreed to their being reasonable for the greater part.

It was thought at first that an outside firm would have to be called in to do the job but many of Plainfield's contractors are willing to assume the responsibility.

Then again there is a well defined rumor that another manufacturing concern which has had more or less to do with this city in past years, has under consideration the building of a plant in the eastern side of town. It will be no small shop and will be numbered among the city's largest industries.

Acting as President.

Rev. Dr. Whitney, president emeritus of the Centenary Institute at Hackettstown, has returned to his home in the city. For sometime past Dr. Whitney has been acting president prior to the new president, Dr. Noble, of Brooklyn, assuming the position. Dr. Whitney has been enjoying excellent health and says that he feels better than he has in a long time. He predicts a most successful year for the Institute, which now ranks second to none to none in the country of its kind.

Sold Fleischmann Farm.

The Fleischmann farm at East Millstone, Somerset county, was sold by Willard P. Voorhees, special master, last week, to Udo Fleischmann, of that place, for $20,500. The purchaser is one of the parties to the partition suit, under which the sale was held. The property includes the famous stables, race track, trainers' quarters, but none of the stock.

Another Automobilist.

George J. Tobin, of Grant avenue, is the latest Plainfielder to join the ranks of the automobilists. A new Rambler gasolene machine, which he purchased recently, arrived yesterday.

EVENTFUL CAREER OF FOUR SCORE YEARS

Charles W. Burton, of Watchung Ave., Passed Away at His Home Last Evening.

HAS SLOWLY FAILED.

WAS MANAGER OF DOMESTIC DEPARTMENT OF TIDE WATER OIL COMPANY.

Early Interested in Development of Pennsylvania Oil Fields—Represented State of Pennsylvania in N. Y. Hospitals in Civil War.

Charles W. Burton, a well-known resident of Watchung avenue, died last evening at his home, following a long illness due to old age and a complication of troubles. Although he has been able to attend to business to within a few months of his death, it was necessary for him to frequently leave business and seek rest. He went to Atlantic City last winter but was not greatly benefitted.

Mr. Burton was born at Charleston, Montgomery county, New York, September 28, 1822, and was married January 26, 1847, to Emma Derickson, daughter of Judge David Derickson, of Meadville, Pa. He moved to New York with his family in 1861. For many years he was a member of the firm of Bentley, Burton & Company, wholesale grocers. He became connected with the Tidewater Oil Company in 1887 and was manager of the domestic department. He held this position until his death. Mr. Burton's wife died November 10, 1891, in Philadelphia.

Mr. Burton was also interested in the early development of the Pennsylvania oil fields. He was one of the early members of the Union League Club of New York and a life member of the New England Society. He has lived in Plainfield seven years. During the Civil War he was a colonel on the staff of Governor Curtin, of Pennsylvania, and had charge of the Pennsylvania troops in the New York hospitals.

The deceased was a member of the Crescent Avenue church and he leaves three children, Mrs. Harriott Burton Ford, W. Gordon Burton, who live in Plainfield, and Charles H. Burton, of St. Louis, Mo., a newspaper man.

The funeral services will be held at his late residence Monday afternoon at 2:45 o'clock.

AERONAUT'S TROUBLES.

Farmer Wouldn't Allow Removal of Parachute Without Cash Present —Then It Was Hacked to Pieces.

Professor Charles Hutchinson, who makes ascensions in a balloon from Galvin's Park, is about to take proceedings against a farmer living in the vicinity of Springfield for malicious mischief.

The professor's wife made the ascension last Sunday night and when she landeed her parachute became entangled in a tree. Park employes were nearby to release it but the farmer forbade them touching it unless he was given $5, which they refused. The men left to seek advice in the matter and when they returned they found the parachute had been hacked to pieces, placing a loss of $50 on the professor's shoulders. He has since learned that the farmer did not own the property and lawyers are now preparing his case.

Trinity's Excursion, July 25.

The excursion committee of the First Presbyterian, Park Avenue Baptist and Congregational churches met last evening and took up the question of granting Trinity Reformed church permission to run their postponed excursion next Friday, the day following their own. The subject was fully discussed from all sides and the Trinity people were granted the permission and assured that they were willing to thus far assist them in helping to make their postponed excursion a success.

Crushed Arm.

Edward Nelson, a machinist, who lives in this city, is detained at the hospital in Easton under treatment for a badly crushed arm. The accident occurred in the New Jersey Central yard at Phillipsburg last week.

First Peaches.

The first peaches of the season from Hunterdon county were shipped from Whitehouse station this week. John C. TenEyck sent ten baskets and William Haver sent five baskets.

—When looking for a delightful place to take your Sunday dinner, don't forget the Mountain Park Inn. Table d'hote dinner, 75 cents.

CHARLES GRETHER WAS SENTENCED TO HANG

Will Die Within Sixty Days Unless the Governor of Pennsylvania Acts.

THE DATE LEFT TO HIM.

A WARREN COUNTY NEWSPAPER MAN IMPRESSED BY HIS APPEARANCE.

Thinks He is Far Worse Than He is Pictured—Phillipsburg Clergyman Raising Money for a New Trial for Convicted Murderer.

Unless the governor of Pennsylvania intervenes Charles Grether, the notorious thief who operated in this section of the State, will hang within sixty days for the murder of Adam Strunk, the Monroe county, Pa., constable whom he shot and killed. Sentence was pronounced on him last Monday by Judge Heydt, of Monroe county, who preceded it by stating that the court could find no ground on which to grant the prisoner a new trial. The date for the hanging is left to Pennsylvania's chief executive but already efforts are being made to have him commute the sentence.

Rev. E. V. King, pastor of the Main street M. E. church of Phillipsburg, has interested himself in the Grether case and has issued an appeal for $300 with which to defray the expenses of making an effort to get a new trial for the man. He says that Grether is morally and physically degenerated and not wholly responsible for his actions.

A representative of a Warren county paper recently talked to Grether in the Belvidere jail and came away with the impression that Grether may not have been such a desperate character as he has been painted. He declared in all his life he had had no opportunity to reform, that he was arrested when a mere child on some petty charge and that since then about half his time has been spent behind the bars. As soon as released from any jail or prison he became an object of suspicion and was never allowed to remain more than a day or so in any town. He was usually compelled to beg or steal and he generally did the latter.

Grether is a very small man and there is nothing about him to indicate that he would harm anyone. At the interview above mentioned he freely admitted that he had repeatedly burglarized houses and been a thief all his life but he declared he has never yet hurt anyone or made any kind of a fight when arrested. He claimed it has always been his policy to run rather than fight and he admitted that it had long been known to the police that he was at heart a coward. The detectives and police, he claimed, have been in the habit of giving out to the press that every criminal captured in the section is a "pal" of Grether, when the truth is that he never before heard of most of them.

The newspaperman was impressed with the idea that it was a case of "a dog with a bad name" and that perhaps Grether would be better off in some institution where he would receive kindly treatment rather than dangling at the end of a rope.

Death of J. R. Shotwell.

James R. Shotwell, brother of the late Freemen Shotwell, and an uncle of Wm. H. Shotwell, of Fairview avenue, died at his home in Albany, N. Y., Thursday, in the eighty-first year of his age. The funeral services will be held this evening. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Shotwell have gone to Albany to attend the services.

Visiting Fireman.

J. F. Galligan, of Engine Company No. 39, fire headquarters, New York, paid a visit to the Plainfield fire headquarters yesterday afternoon. Mr. Galligan is the man who pursued and caught up with the demented Harry King, who shot two nuns in the foundling hospital on Sixty-ninth street Thursday.

Office in the Borough.

Surrogate A. Gibby Spencer, of Somerset county, has announced that hereafter he will conduct his official duties at North Plainfield every Thursday evening from 7 to 10 o'clock at 78 Somerset street. This if for the accommodation for citizens at this end of the county.

Going on Cruise.

A party of well known young Plainfield men will leave August 5 for a combined yachting and fishing cruise about Barnegat Bay. They will remain out in all three weeks.

TROLLEY TO FELTVILLE.

Planned to Extend Mountain Trolley Line to East of Somerset Street.

The Watchung Scenic Railway, mention of which has been made in The Daily Press, will run in close proximity to Washington and Chimney Rock. It has also been planned to extend the line back of Johnston's drive and the Mountain Park Inn and thence to Feltville. By extending the line through this section it will take in one of the most attractive portions of the Watchung range. A. A. Clark, of Somerville, consented today to act as attorney for the company.

FOR SPANISH WAR VETERANS

STATE ENCAMPMENT TO BE HELD AT LONG BRANCH, JULY 26.

Camps in the Department of New Jersey Which Will be Represented on That Occasion.

Captain Charles Morris, commandant of the Camp Charles S. Layton, Spanish-American War Veterans, of Long Branch, has notified the officials of the Department of New Jersey that his camp has taken up the arrangement for the entertainment of the delegates to the State encampment, at Long Branch, Saturday, July 26, and that the quarters of his organization will be at the disposal of the State Department on that day.

"Camp Layton desires to thank the department officials for the courtesy extended to our camp, the last to be organized in the State," Captain Morris writes. "Our rooms will be open to the department and the delegates at the appointed time, and the members will assist in any way possible."

The camps of the Department of New Jersey which will be represented at the encampment are Camp Henry W. Lawton, Trenton, Major F. C. Woodward, commanding; Camp Dennis M. Michie, Camden, Adam H. La Ross, commanding; Camp John C. Dickerson, New Brunswick, Captain E. L. Petti, commanding; Camp Quincy O'M. Gillmore, Bayonne, Captain George Roderick, commanding; Camp David D. Mitchell, Newark, Captain C. Albert Gasser, commanding; Camp W. Elwood Holland, New Brunswick, Frederick M. Polly, commanding; Camp Emerson H. Liscum, Orange, Captain William A. Lord, commanding; Camp Charles S. Layton, Long Branch, Captain Charles Morris, commanding.

Article 5, paragraph 12, relative to the representation of the various camps at the State encampment, reads as follows:

"Each camp shall annually elect from its members at least one delegate and one additional delegate for every fifty comrades and a like number of alternates, to the department meeting, in the manner prescribed for the election of officers."

The State encampment will be called to order by General Henry W. Adlers at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon of July 26, at Long Branch.

RAN INTO TEAM.

Small Boy Escaped Unhurt, But Wheel Was Wrecked.

Percy Emery, the young son of A. Emery, of Somerset street, had a narrow escape from a serious injury yesterday afternoon while riding his wheel. The accident happened at the corner of East Second street and Watchung avenue. In turning the corner the lad ran directly into a team of horses attached to a carriage. The rear wheel of the bicycle was bent and several spokes were broken. Those who saw the accident considered the boy's escape a most fortunate one. There was no blame attached to anyone but the boy who carelessly collided with the horses.

Large Crowd Going.

Present indications point to a large crowd taking advantage of Benevolent Council's excursion to Atlantic City, Tuesday. Interest is rife in it and the advance sale of tickets is very large, as it is the first time the popular resort has been made the destination of a day's outing from this city. In addition to the places already mentioned, tickets can be had today and Monday of T. A. Kurzhals, Jr., at 110 West Second street.

Building New Houses.

Contracts were signed today for the erection of twenty-five new houses at Dewey Park and ten at Lincoln to meet the demand that will soon be made, owing to the erection of factories in that section near Dewey Park. These houses will be completed within sixty days and will rent from $8 to $18 a month.

—Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Smith have returned from their wedding trip, and have taken up their residence on West Fourth street.

COMPANY K OFF TO CAMP

The Plainfield Contingent of the State Militia Started for the Camp at Sea Girt.

THE DEPOT THRONGED.

North Avenue Station Bore a Martial Appearance This Morning When the Boys Were Ready to Depart—Will Return Next Week.

Amid vigorous hand shaking and hastily said good byes, Company K departed on the 11:25 train, this morning for their annual week's encampment at Sea Girt. Nearly the entire company made the start and others are to follow in a few days.

The members met at the barracks and during the march to the station they secured many followers, which added to those already on the east depot, crowded the platform from end to end. The gathering consisted of wives, mothers and sweethearts, all of whom bade the gallant boys in blue many tearful farewells, especially the latter, who began it early and continued it late.

In addition to the Plainfield boys, Company M, of Somerville, and two companies from Newark, also made the journey to Sea Girt on the same train. From the mood in which the local company started the journey will be anything but monotonous.

The daily routine while in camp will be similar to that of last year but Company K will be able to enjoy it much better from the fact that they are more used to military life. There will be numerous drills, rifle practice and perhaps a sham battle or two for the benefit of the noted visitors who always spend a day or so at the camp. Some of the State's highest officials are expected to view the boys during the course of the week. There will be many opportunities for leave to stroll in the surrounding country and altogether it will be a most enjoyable stay.

Many of the soldiers were accompanied by friends who will remain at Asbury Park during the week. Those who visit the Park for a day will be alowed to visit the camp in the afternoon if they so desire.

ALL CASH NOW.

But a Reduction Will be Made in Price to be Paid.

Through M. J. Briggs, of New York, the Plainfield Hygienic Dairy Company, has secured contracts for 2,895 quarts of milk. They need but 1,100 more and these have been practically assured. Heretofore the company has been paying $4 a quart, which means $2 in stock and the remainder in cash. This offer has now been withdrawn and $3 cash will be paid for the remainder.

A WISE JUDGE.

Saw What Was the Trouble and Found Remedy for It.

Thomas Melcher was arraigned in the city court, this morning, charged by his wife with drunkenness and disorderly conduct. When Mrs. Melcher started talking the court discerned that the defendant is a husband of the henpecked variety and took pity on him. He induced both to agree to disagree and suspended sentence on condition that each keep away from the other.

Entertained by Relief Corps.

Winfield Scott Relief Corps, No. 10, auxiliary to Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., entertained members from Ulric Dahlgren Corps, of Elizabeth, also representatives from the corps in New Brunswick and Rahway, last evening. The department president, Mrs. Vickery, and senior vice department president, Mrs. Decker, Mrs. Work, of Roselle, Mrs. Sarah Reed, of Long Branch, past department, made short addresses.

Truck on Duty Again.

The Hayes fire truck, which recently went out of commission for repairs to the springs and turntables, was again placed at headquarters yesterday. The small truck was sent to the West End house to remain until a purchaser can be found for it.

Traffic Nearly Doubled.

The passenger traffic of the New Jersey Central and Reading, between New York and Philadelphia, has almost doubled since the inauguration of the hourly train service.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

North Plainfield will vote on the question of a municipal building August 16; September 16 on the question of annexation to Union county. In November will come the general election, and in December, probably, the election on the question of consolidation. Evidently North Plainfield believes in elections, whether it believes in predestination or not.—Elizabeth Journal.

Another Congressional convention has been called, the Republicans of the new Fourth district having decided to make their nomination at Flemington August 5. They cannot expect to win any votes by going to rock-ribbed Democratic Hunterdon, but it gives them an opportunity to pacify Somerset by letting it be known that Mercer does not want everything.—Newark News.

The Elizabeth Times, which previous to the renomination of Congressman Fowler, objected to his candidacy on the ground that he was a wealthy man, who had accumulated his immense fortune since he entered politics, is now trying to make it appear that the Congressman is pretty nearly a pauper, unable to raise even enough money to buy coal to keep him through the winter. If the Times is right about it, Mr. Flanagan ought to be notified at once that the barrel race is off. As a charitable man, he could not be expected to take advantage of the misfortunes of an opponent.—Newark News.

LITERARY.

The recent discussion of the beef trust and the profits on cattle-raising will no doubt furnish a background of special interest for the paper by Ray Stannard Baker on "The Tragedy of the Range," the last of his series on "The Great Southwest," in The Century for August. Mr. Baker has made a thorough study of the subject of the cattle industry and of the sheep-and-cattle wars on the western range, and particularly of the reckless waste by man in dealing with the natural resources of the southwest. His paper will interest alike those who know all about the subject and those who know nothing about it. Like the other papers of this series, this one is illustrated by Maxfield Parrish, whose drawings of the west have been pronounced by westerners, in some respects, the most faithful renderings of that region ever made.

BAR EXAMINERS AT WORK.

Preparing for the Next Examinations to be Held in November.

State Board of Bar Examiners is already preparing for the next bar examinations for attorneys and counselors at the November term of the Supreme Court in Trenton.

The rules of court respecting examinations and admissions to the bar and copies of the circular issued in connection therewith may be obtained by writing to the Clerk of the Supreme Court at Trenton. The new preliminary examination is scheduled for October.

The Board of Examiners consists of Lawyers Charles H. Hartshorne, of Trenton; Frank H. Sommer, of Newark, and Howard M. Cooper, of Camden.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

While the custom of going bareheaded about the city streets prevails as much this summer as it did last, the shirt-waist man is not yet in the majority. In fact, he does not seem to be as numerous as he was last year. This may be possibly accounted for by the fact that the summer has so far been comparatively cool and while there have been some extremely warm days, the temperature has generally been such that a coat was by no means uncomfortable.

A remarkable thing happened at one of the local golf courses the other day. A well-known golfer was driving and sent the ball hard and swift out into space. At that particular moment a robin flew by and the ball struck the robin on the side. With a thud the bird fell to the ground, completely stunned by the blow. The ball bounded off to one side. The bird was carfully lifted and placed in the long grass at one side of the course. It finally recovered sufficiently to fly feebly away.

Washington Rock is still as popular as ever with the young people of city and borough. While the weather has not been such as to encourage many picnics there, a number of parties have visited the neighborhood of the rock and passed a delightful day on the mountain summit. It is most popular, however, on Sunday afternoons when a regular string of visitors wander that way if the day happens to be a pleasant one. The view from the rock is a grand one. The city and borough are right below, partially hidden by the numerous trees. Westfield and Elizabeth are easy to see. If the day is clear, the Brooklyn Bridge and the tall sky-scrapers can be plainly made out. Way in the distance are the Highlands and a cloud of black smoke above where the Amboys are located. Off to the right can be seen Bound Brook, Somerville and in the distance New Brunswick.

Vacation Days.

Vacation time is here and the children are fairly living out of doors. There could be no healthier place for them. You need only to guard against the accidents incidental to most open air sports. TRADE CONDITIONS.

Preparations For Heavy Fall Sales. Chicago Corn Market a Puzzle.

NEW YORK, July 19.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

Settlement of numerous labor controversies and prospect of early agreements as to other struggles have greatly improved the industrial outlook, while agricultural conditions steadily improve.

Preparations for unusually heavy fall sales are being made, and confidence grows stronger. Mills and furnaces that have been idle on account of the usual overhauling resumed as rapidly as needed repairs could be made. Financial conditions are sound, the midyear dividend distributions producing no stringency, and speculation has been heavy for the season both in securities and staples.

Pig iron continues to command full prices, supplies falling below requirements and furnace deliveries failing to fill contracts. Scarcity of fuel is still the principal drawback.

Manufacturers of cotton goods hold prices steady, and there has been a distinct increase in demand during the past week, although buying is only for imperative requirements.

Vagaries of the Chicago corn market defy elucidation. After rising to 90 cents last week the July option abruptly dropped 25 cents, and it was announced that the heavy short interest had compromised with the operators who had apparently secured a corner. Rumors of enormous profits were circulated, but lacked confirmation.

Gold holdings by the government vaults continued attaining new records each day, finally reaching $565,044,179. There was no pressure in the foreign exchange market, rates holding steady.

Failures for the week numbered 213 in the United States against 193 last year and 20 in Canada against 32 last year.

Root at Gettysburg.

GETTYSBURG, Pa., July 19.—Secretary of War Elihu Root and a party of regular army officers yesterday visited the famous battlefield where the entire division of the national guard of Pennsylvania, numbering more than 9,000 men, has been in camp this week. The secretary was honored with a "march past." Accompanying Mr. Root were Adjutant General Corbin, Brigadier Generals Wood, Bates and Randolph, Colonel Carter, Major Dunn and Lieutenant Clark.

Fatally Bitten by a Dog.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., July 19.—Martin Ryan, aged sixty years, while going to his work about midnight was attacked by a huge dog. The animal bit and chewed Ryan frightfully, severing several arteries. He was attended by a doctor and then removed to the hospital, where it was found that his injuries necessitated the amputation of his left leg. The limb was cut off, but Ryan died shortly afterward from loss of blood and shock.

Christian Scientist Parents Arrested.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., July 19.—Acting Coroner Pond has caused the arrest of the parents of Gladys Northrup, an infant who died under Christian Science treatment on Tuesday of this week. Coroner Pond charges that the parents "aided, accelerated and caused the death of their child by neglecting the remedies which the experience of mankind shows to be generally necessary."

A Record Corn Crop.

CHICAGO, July 19.—Paul Morton, first vice president of the Santa Fe road, predicts a record crop of corn for the west and the entire country this season. He estimates the total crop of the country at 2,500,000,000 bushels and declares that the railroads of the west will have all they can do to handle the crop.

MITCHELL CONTROLS

Plan Referred to Special Committee Which He Heads.

AID FOR MEN, BUT NO STRIKE.

Assessment on Members of Miners' Union to Aid Anthracite Strikers May Exceed Ten Per Cent—Half a Million Weekly Needed.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 19.—At the conclusion of a secret session which lasted the entire afternoon the recommendations of President Mitchell for the management of the anthracite strike were referred to a special committee, which is to report back to the convention. This committee consists of President Mitchell, Vice President Lewis, Secretary Wilson and the presidents of each district which is taking part in the convention. There is little doubt that the committee will urge the adoption of the recommendations and fix the rate of assessment at 10 per cent or higher.

At the opening of the executive session Vice President Lewis took the floor and delivered an energetic speech on the amendment offered by Delegate Haskins in the morning to the effect that the fund to be raised for the aid of the anthracite miners be extended to all of the striking miners where their strike has been sanctioned by the general organization. He declared that he thought all the miners should be taken care of in like manner.

President Mitchell then took the floor to speak for the adoption of the recommendations made in his speech of Thursday. He told the convention that the strikes in West Virginia and elsewhere were being protected by the general organization under the regular assessments of the union, but that the assessment which was under discussion was necessary for the support of the anthracite strike alone and should not be diverted from its purpose.

"It is possible that other strikes may come," he said, "and then under the precedent which a general distribution of the fund to be raised would create these later strikes could claim their share in the fund, and it would be so depleted as to fail entirely of its purpose."

He declared that the cost of maintaining strikes varied, according to places and conditions.

"In the anthracite regions," he said, "the country is thickly settled. There are mills and factories, and it is possible for the men on strike to secure employment. They are then no burden on the general organization, but are even able to help it. In West Virginia, for instance, there are but two vocations for the miner, mining or farming. The latter is out of the question for the greater part of the men, and they then have no chance for employment when on a strike. It costs much more per capita to keep up a strike in West Virginia than in the anthracite regions. The anthracite strike is, in fact, the cheapest strike that we can have. It is easier to maintain than any other, and we should not allow it to go down to defeat by diverting the funds necessary for it."

At the conclusion of the session Secretary Wilson said:

"It will cost $500,000 weekly to support all the men now on strike in the various districts. An assessment of $1 per week will bring in $250,000, and an assessment of $1 per week upon each member of the union will result in about the same sum. This will leave us $250,000 to raise each week from outside sources, and from the promises and offers that have been made us we are confident that we will be able to do this."

Preparing to Mine Coal.

SCRANTON, Pa., July 19.—The Oxford colliery of the People's Coal company, an individual concern operating in West Scranton, is preparing to resume the mining of coal. Fifteen mules have been brought back from pasture and sent into the mine to assist in the work of cleaning up the roadways. There are fifty-five men at present working in the mine and twenty about the surface, cleaning up, timbering and making repairs. With these and the others of the old employees who have asked to be reinstated the company claims it will have a force amply sufficient to work the plant. Superintendent Hayes said that just as soon as the roads are cleaned mining operations will be resumed.

Paterson Anarchist Arrested Abroad

LONDON, July 19.—A dispatch from Milan, Italy, to the Daily Telegraph reports the arrest by the police at Bra, near Turin, of a young barber who recently arrived there from Paterson, N. J. The prisoner gives his name as Tonetti, which is believed to be assumed, and confesses that he is an anarchist. Papers which were seized at his domicile include correspondence with Paterson anarchists and a document indicating that it was Tonetti's intention to assassinate King Victor Emmanuel, who frequently traverses Bra in a motor car on his way to his private estates.

The New Warships.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—The navy department announces that the two battleships to be built under the authority of the last naval appropriation bill are to be named the Louisiana and Connecticut and the two cruisers the Tennessee and Washington. The battleship to be built at the New York yard will be the Connecticut. The battleships will cost $4,272,990 and the cruisers $4,650,000 each. One of the tugs authorized by the act is to be built at the Mare Island yard and the other at Boston.

NOTE FROM VATICAN

Governor Taft Gets Reply to Final Message.

FUTURE NEGOTIATIONS AT MANILA.

The Holy See Predicts a Happy Solution of the Pending Questions—A Farewell Audience July 21.

ROME, July 19.—The following note from the Vatican, signed by Rampolla, has been presented to Governor Taft:

"I hasten to acknowledge the receipt of the letter by which you kindly communicate to me the cablegram from Secretary Root answering my note of July 9, which explained the counter project of the Vatican for the regulation of religious affairs in the Philippines. While thanking you for this important communication, I am happy to assure you that the holy see has learned with the liveliest satisfaction the high consideration in which Mr. Root, in the name of the government of the United States, holds the fitness of the measures which the Vatican, independently of the solution of any economic question, designed taking to ameliorate the religious situation in the archipelago and to co-operate in the pacification of the people under American sovereignty. The measures are indicated in my memorandum of June 21 and my letter of July 9. These declarations of Mr. Root do honor to the deep political wisdom of the government of the United States, which knows how to appreciate the happy influence of the holy see for the religious and civil elevation of the people, especially Catholics.

"With equal satisfaction the pontiff has taken into account the assurances of Secretary Root that the American authorities in the Philippines and at Washington will put forth all possible efforts to maintain the good understanding happily established with the authorities of the Catholic church. On his part the pontiff will not fail to give the apostolic delegate soon to be sent to the Philippines the most precise instructions according to my former notes.

"The main lines for future negotiations indicated in the notes having been accepted by Secretary Root, the representative of the Vatican in the archipelago will enter into relations with the authorities in the Philippines on the four points indicated by Mr. Root at the end of his cablegram.

"The holy see does not doubt that mutual confidence combined with the action of its representative and that of the American government will easily produce a happy solution of the pending questions, inaugurating for that noble country a new era of peace and true progress.

"It is my agreeable duty in ending this letter to be able to render homage to the very great courtesy and high capacity with which you have filled the delicate mission which the government and president of the United States confided to you. Willingly I add that the favorable result of the negotiations must be attributed in very large part to your high personal qualities, while flattering myself that this first success will be a guarantee of the happy issue of ulterior negotiations in Manila."

Governor Taft was informed that the pope had fixed July 21 for his farewell audience.

Governor Taft started today for Vallombrosa, near Florence, where he will stay with his family until Monday, when he will return for his farewell audience with the pope.

The Pope Displeased.

LONDON, July 19.—In a dispatch from Rome the correspondent there of the Daily Chronicle says the pope is intensely displeased at the way in which the commission of cardinals has conducted the negotiations with Judge Taft in the matter of the friars in the Philippines. "I learn from an authoritative source," says the correspondent, "that, besides annulling the procedure of the commission of cardinals, the pope has summarily dissolved it, expressing his view that the American demands were reasonable and signifying his readiness to treat with Judge Taft personally."

Missionaries Stoned and Beaten.

NEW YORK, July 19.—The Missionary society of the M. E. church has received from Seoul, Korea, a report on the stoning and beating of some American missionaries by Japanese laborers in Korea, mention of which has been made in recent cable dispatches. Rev. H. G. Appenzeller, who made the report, was drowned June 17 in a steamship collision near Chemulpo.

A Transfer of Prisoners.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., July 19.—Fifty-five prisoners from Elmira reformatory have been transferred to the new reformatory at Napanoch, Ulster county.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

Slight earthquake shocks were felt in Malone, N. Y.

Severe earthquake shocks destroyed buildings at Bunder Abbas, Persia.

The coronation of King Edward and Queen Alexandra was officially set for Aug. 9.

Strikes of boxmakers and bakers were settled in Chicago and a strike of the lumber teamsters prevented.

Special Embassador Whitelaw Reid informed the state department that he will sail from England for New York July 26.

FLOODS CONTINUE.

Heavy Rainfall In Many States Swell Rivers to Danger Point.

KEOKUK, Ia., July 19.—Heavy rains in central Iowa are sending a flood down upon prosperous Missouri farmers which will ruin many of them and cause losses aggregating at a conservative estimate $2,500,000. There seems to be no hope for the country between the Mississippi river and its Missouri bluffs between Keokuk and Hannibal, 300 square miles, mostly corn laid by, with some thousands of acres of wheat in the shock. The water had touched the danger line the first of the week and had begun to recede, when heavy floods started again in the Des Moines, Skunk and Iowa rivers.

Yesterday afternoon the observer of the weather bureau at Keokuk sent telegraphic warnings to all points south to prepare for danger. The crest is expected here tonight. The Egyptian levee, which stood the flood just receding after strenuous efforts to hold it, is only slightly above the water now, and the coming flood in the Des Moines will cover it certainly. This will let the water into hundreds of square miles, including the town of Alexandria, Mo. The inhabitants there are preparing for an overflow of the entire town to a depth of several feet. The worst feature is the time of the year. The corn crop is all made, and wheat is in the shock, entailing a total loss of the year's work. Crops were never finer, and the yield promised to be immense. Grain men say the above estimate of value is too low and put the figures of the loss from the overflow nearer $4,000,000 between Keokuk and Hannibal.

It is believed the Illinois levees will hold, and the damage there is likely to be only $20,000 to $30,000 between Keokuk and Quincy. Heavy rains are reported in southeastern Iowa. Lowland farmers, river men and the weather bureau observer alike predict the greatest damage ever known from flood on the upper river.

Nebraska Again Flooded.

LINCOLN, Neb., July 19.—A rainfall of nearly three inches has caused another flood in the bottom lands in the west part of the city. There was a three foot rise in Salt and Oak creeks during the afternoon, and first floors of a number of houses are under water. The water is rising slowly, and more rain is threatened. All of eastern and central Nebraska received a downpour.

A Four Inch Rainfall.

JOLIET, Ill., July 19.—A rainfall of nearly four inches has caused another flood in Joliet, overflowing streets and yards adjacent to Spring and Hickory streets and creating alarm among hundreds of families. Several manufacturing plants have been compelled to close on account of high water. Further rains are threatened, and serious consequences may follow.

A Cloudburst.

LINCOLN, Ill., July 19.—This city and vicinity have been visited by a cloudburst. Streets, cellars and basements in stores were flooded. Considerable damage was done by hail, wind and electricity.

Some Immigration Figures.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—A statement has been prepared at the immigration bureau showing the number of immigrants who arrived in the United States by countries during the fiscal year 1902 as compared with 1901. The total arrivals for the last fiscal year were 648,743 immigrants and 82,055 other alien passengers, making a total of 730,798. This is an increase of 160,825 immigrants over 1901. Following are the names of the countries from which the largest number of immigrants came during the last fiscal year: Italy, including Sicily and Sardinia, 178,375; Austria-Hungary, 171,989; Russian empire and Finland, 107,347; Sweden, 30,894; Ireland, 29,138; German empire, 28,304; Norway, 17,484; Japan, 14,270; England, 13,575.

Abbot, Monk and Lord Derby to Race

CLEVELAND, July 19.—The Abbot, 2:03¼; The Monk, 2:07, and Lord Derby, 2:06¼, will trot a special race of one mile at the Matinee races at Glenville track this afternoon. J. J. Scannell, Ed Geerken and E. E. Smathers, owners of the horses as named, will drive. There is no money consideration, the prize being a blue ribbon. The match was arranged at Detroit Thursday by H. K. Devereux, president of the Gentlemen's Driving club of Cleveland.

Andrews Will Pay All.

DETROIT, July 19.—Attorney Otto Kirchner contributed the leading feature in the trial of Frank C. Andrews here when in opening the case for the defense he stated that Andrews still believed he was a very rich man and able to pay every cent he owes the wrecked City Savings bank. The impression had prevailed that Andrews had lost everything through speculation in Amalgamated Copper.

Unwelcome Guests Cross the Border.

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., July 19.—Fifty Russian gypsies, refused admission to the United States at Ogdensburg and Brockville as undesirable immigrants, have succeeded in entering at Cape Vincent. They comprise a filthy, squalid tribe of ten caravans, living by begging and fortune telling. They have been driven from place to place through Canada by the authorities.

Sultan of Zanzibar Dead.

ZANZIBAR, East Africa, July 18.—Hamud Bin Mahomed Said, sultan of Zanzibar, who recently was stricken with paralysis, suffered a relapse and died at 2 o'clock this morning. All is quiet here. The sultan had ruled since 1896. He was placed on the throne by Great Britain.

Gray Hair A Crime?

Thousands of men and women are turned out of positions and many fail to secure situations because their gray hairs make them look old. This need not be.

makes age halt and keeps thousands in employment because it takes years from their apparent age. HAIR-HEALTH will positively restore gray, faded or bleached hair to its youthful color. It is not a dye. Its use cannot be detected. Equally good for men and women.

Gentlemen:—At forty my hair and mustache began turning gray. A friend on my road lost his place because his gray hair made him look older than he was. Profiting by his experience, I began using Hay's Hair-Health, with the result that I have the same dark-brown curly hair that I had at 21. Have held my position, although many younger men, whose only fault was their gray hair, have been dismissed. I thank you for my position. N. J. RAILROAD EMPLOYEE.

BLOCK ISLAND SWEPT.

Worst Fire In Its History at Rhode Island Resort.

BLOCK ISLAND, R. I., July 19.—Yesterday's fire at Block Island was the most disastrous that ever visited this place. It started in the barn of the Ocean cottage and before it was checked destroyed one side of the main business street.

The fire started in the upper part of the barn and was well under way before the limited fire apparatus was brought to bear on it. A strong southeast wind carried the flames across the intervening space to Macomber's Narragansett cafe and the adjoining buildings.

A hard fight was made to save the Narragansett hotel, which stood just across the driveway, but the wind and flames were too much, and the hotel caught fire and burned like a tinder box.

The intense heat from this building drove back the firemen, and the fire then spread to the Naiad hotel and the telegraph office, both of which were destroyed.

At this time the winds shifted to southwest and thus helped the volunteer firemen, who made a desperate but vain attempt to save the National hotel.

At times it seemed as if they would succeed, but the falling of the roof of the telegraph office sent up a fresh blaze, and the east end of the National was soon in a blaze. The building burned fiercely and in half an hour was a heap of ashes.

The total loss by the fire is estimated to be $125,000.

The following is a list of the buildings burned:

The National and Narragansett hotels, Macomber's cafe, Mitchell's store, the weather bureau office, in which also were the telegraph and telephone offices; a two tenement house and several small buildings.

May Strike Again.

CHICAGO, July 19.—Another strike of the freight handlers of Chicago may be called tomorrow night. President Curran of the Freight Handlers' union has issued a call for a mass meeting of all the freight handlers in the city to be held at that time to take action on the refusal of four railroads to reinstate all the old men. Mr. Curran said that he regretted having to take this step, but was compelled to do so.

Hudson River Power Growing.

BALLSTON, N. Y., July 19.—A certificate has been filed in the Saratoga county clerk's office increasing the capital stock of the Hudson River Electric company, owning the mammoth new concrete dam at Spiers Falls, from $1,000,000 to $3,000,000. The company expects to begin transmitting power to the General Electric company's plant at Schenectady on Sept. 1.

Train Robbers Escape.

GUNNISON, Colo., July 19.—The Marshall pass train robbers have eluded the posse, and it is now believed they are from twenty to fifty miles ahead of the officers, with a good chance of getting into the fastnesses of the La Salle mountains across the border. The robbers are believed to have thrown the officers off the scent by doubling on their tracks.

New Yorker Swells Campanile Fund.

VENICE, July 19.—Giovanni P. Morosini, a descendant of an ancient family which has given Venice several Doges and who is now a wealthy banker of New York city, has sent $100,000 to help rebuild the campanile. The contribution has created great emotion. When Mr. Morosini left Venice, he was poor.

A FURIOUS CYCLONE.

Death and Ruin In Ontario Townships.

ONE FAMILY'S TERRIBLE EXPERIENCE

At Least Four Lives Lost and Many Homes Blown to Pieces—Gale In Northern New York Does Extensive Damage.

CHESTERVILLE, Ont., July 19.—A cyclone of great fury passed within a mile of this town yesterday, and everything in its path, about sixty rods in width, was destroyed. The country presents a scene of devastation. Dwellings are overturned, dead cattle are lying at nearly every farm, and several persons were killed and a number injured at the farm of John Kearns. Of the dwelling not a vestige can be found.

The father lay in the clover field with a broken hip and otherwise terribly bruised, and near him lay his little son, seven years old, dead. The corpse of the mother, evidently picked up with the house, was found against the fence. The two other children were found in the field with broken limbs and terribly bruised, but still living.

At the residence of Michael Grady, fifth concession of Winchester, a narrow escape is reported. John Clark, the mother and four children were in the stable milking when the barn collapsed over them. Clark escaped through a portion of the roof and, getting an ax, cut his way to the imprisoned family, all of whom were got out safely except one girl, who was badly injured.

It is impossible to estimate the damage now, but it is within the mark to say that in the townships of Winchester, Finch and Osnabruck it will exceed $200,000.

At this time four are reported dead and a large number injured.

Tornado In Northern New York.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., July 19.—A tornado swept over Moffittsville, a small village near Dannemora, in Clinton county, destroying G. W. Goodale's starch factory, Henry Duncan's carding mill, the Chateaugay Ore and Iron company's sawmill, Joseph Batcheller's blacksmith shop and the office of the Russia cash store and damaging the highway bridges and unroofing numerous barns and dwellings. Pedestrians could not stand during the storm, and the roofs of some of the buildings were carried an eighth of a mile. The same storm struck a steam launch in upper Chateaugay lake belonging to Seth Thomas, the well known clock manufacturer of Connecticut, and destroyed his fine camp and boathouse on the same lake. The storm also demolished the fine cottage owned by Frank Sawyer of Chicago, located near the Seth Thomas cottage on upper Chateaugay lake, severely injuring one man. Telephone and telegraph lines suffered. The total loss will reach $30,000.

Woman Who Killed Two Set Free.

CARBONDALE, Ill., July 19.—The Jaubert brothers, who operated a small coal mine near Oraville, were both shot to death at their home yesterday by the wife of one of the men. They had returned home, and the husband demanded his supper. Mrs. Jaubert undertook its preparation, and her husband began breaking the dishes and at last attacked her. Mrs Jaubert and her sister fled to a back room and locked the door. The husband followed, broke in the door and renewed the assault, whereupon the infuriated wife fired three shots into his body, one passing through his heart, causing instant death. The brother took up his brother's quarrel and attempted to strike the woman, whereupon Mrs. Jaubert emptied the two remaining chambers of the revolver into his body, inflicting a wound from which he died shortly afterward. The woman gave the alarm and surrendered to an officer. Coroner Knauer impaneled a jury, who exonerated the wife. The brothers had been noted for years for their brutal ways.

May Lynch Murderer.

METROPOLIS, Ill., July 19.—In a duel on the street Ben Faughn of Metropolis was shot and killed by Jasper Abbott of Rock, Ill. Abbott made several remarks to ladies in a hotel, to which Faughn remonstrated. He led Abbott up the street about forty yards, and Abbott then drew a pistol and shot Faughn twice, one bullet lodging below the seventh rib on the left side, the other just below the clavicle on the right side. Faughn then wrested the gun from Abbott and fired at him, inflicting a slight flesh wound. Faughn walked half a square after being shot and fell dead. Abbott is now in jail. Intense excitement prevails, and lynching is momentarily expected.

Guayaquil's Conflagration.

GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador, July 19.—The fire which broke out here at 9 o'clock Wednesday night has been extinguished after having destroyed ninety blocks on some of the principal streets of the city. The loss on buildings and merchandise is estimated at $5,000,000. The burned buildings include the custom house and railway station. The city is without gas, and the only water to be had is that taken from the river Guayas.

Mills Closed Indefinitely.

SANDY HILL, N. Y., July 19.—The Union Bag and Paper company's mills and factories and the Allen Bros.' wall paper mill have shut down indefinitely. The strike shuts out 174 men in the Allen mill and 500 in the works of the Union Bag and Paper company. Both corporations say they will not resume until the men return to their places. Supplies for manufacturing have been stopped by telegraph.

BRIGHT PROSPECTS.

It is pleasant to note that the local building trades were never in a more thriving condition than they are today. The labor troubles are all over and employers and employes are content to settle down to work and take advantage of the favorable conditions as long as they continue. The work is of all classes, residences large and small and structures of a more pretentious nature including the rebuilding of the Babcock building and the new factory for the Pederick & Ayer Company.

All this prosperity is of decided benefit to Plainfield. The demand for labor exceeds the supply and there is promise that every man in the building trades will find employment for the next twelve-month. Plenty of work at good wages and even a promise of an increase in that direction means comfort in hundreds of homes. Indirectly the local merchants will be the gainers. Eventually the whole city will feel the effects.

Early in the season, The Daily Press predicted that the year would see unusual activity in building circles and the prediction has come true. The improved conditions resulted in a request from the different branches of the building trades for increased wages. The bosses granted the increase. The terms were accepted by all but the plumbers who struck and were idle for over a month, finally returning to work at the increase offered by the employers. But for that unpleasant incident, the season in the building trades has been singularly successful.

The story, which was published in one of the financial newspapers of New York to the effect that all the trolley and electric interests of New Jersey were to consolidate into one concern, has been emphatically denied by those prominent in the trolley companies of northern New Jersey. He says there is not the slightest truth in the rumors of a combination of such interests. As he happens to be in a position where he would be likely to know about any such movement, his statements must be treated with respect.

The showing that Frank O. Reinhart has made in the National Amateur Championship has been a very creditable one. It must be remembered that he is still a young player and has plenty of opportunity to improve his game. The way he has been playing at Glenview, however, shows that there are few golfers in this country at least that are his superior.

Captain Martin has been appointed head of the Rahway reformatory. According to the reports of the Elizabeth Journal, that State institution has not been run on the lines laid down for it but rather as a penitentiary. If these reports have any foundation, it is to be hoped that Superintendent Martin will see that the spirit of the institution is carried out.

It looks as if the Cranford carnival was dead for another year at least. A meeting was recently called and only three men attended and one of these was a reporter. It certainly looks as if Cranford was not very enthusiastic over the subject.

No drink has been more popular this season than grape juice. And there is no place where you can get it as good as at T. S. Armstrong's, Park avenue.

Bicycles will never be any cheaper than they are now. At least it does not seem reasonable to think that you can ever buy a wheel at a less price than they are now offered at VanWinkle's, North avenue.

Don't become discouraged because your watch won't run after letting several dealers look at it. Take it to William Brown, whose office is at 128 Watchung avenue and let him fix it for you. He guarantees all his work.

An excellent opportunity is offered while away on your vacation to have your house painted and papered, thus doing away with all inconveniences. The New York Painting and Decorating Company will do this work for you reasonably.

You will go a good ways before you will find a more attractive and complete line of shirt waists and skirts, as well as suitings, than that at the Paris Cloak Store on West Front street. The proprietor studies to please and he is certainly succeeding.

There seems to be no end to the stock of pretty hats for women which Bonn, of West Front street, is carrying. They are seasonable, very stylish and the price will suit you. All work turned out at this store is the best and satisfaction is guaranteed.

Together with the many popular drinks at L. W. Randolph's pharmacy on West Front street, another new and delicious beverage was introduced today. It is called "Orange Juice," and it has the knack of quenching one's thirst to a remarkable degree.

When patrons buy groceries of their tradesman they like to feel that they are being treated right. They buy more freely if this is so and the grocer profits. R. H. Keenan gives his word to all his customers that his goods are as represented and charges an honest price. 'Phone him a trial order.

VALUABLE PATENT.

T. S. Armstrong Has a Successful Apparatus for Cooling Grape Juice Which is Now Patented.

T. S. Armstrong has recently taken out at Washington a patent on a cooling appliance. The appliance is an ingenious affair, the result of time, labor, study and considerable expense. It is utilized to contain grape juice, and it is claimed for the contrivance that it has greater refrigeraitng and sanitary properties than anything hitherto in use.

It is a combination affair of an outer vessel, surrounding a cooling agent or retainer within. The outer vessel is necessarily open at the top, has a drawing off tube at the bottom, projecting inward to the centre, and is provided with a collar jutting up from the bottom. On their collar is fitted the lower end of the retainer or beverage holder, supported in its place by pendent brackets, leaving a space between in and the outer vessel forming an ice chamber. The retainer has an opening at the lower end whereby it can be slipped on to the end of the drawing off tube, which is made of a specially hygienic material. A thermometer inserted in the ice chamber and left there for two hours will register 36 degrees. Mr. Armstrong has had several tempting offers for his patent.

COLLIN'S STAFF.

Those Who Will Go to Complete the Staff of the Second New Jersey Regiment.

With the official announcement of the appointment of Captain John M. Rogers, of Company E, of Trenton, to the position of regimental adjutant, by Colonel Collins, there will be a vacancy in the captaincy of Company E.

From talk among the men of the company it is likely that Second Lieutenant Spellane will be put up in opposition to First Lieutenant Osborn for the captaincy. It is the general rule to elect the next highest officer when a vacancy occurs, but in this instance, while the greatest harmony prevails in Captain Rogers' company, there is a difference of opinion as to who should be the company commandant. It is conceded that First Sergeant Peter Carey will be the choice for second lieutenant.

Colonel Collins will soon be ready to complete the appointments on his staff.

Captain Barton B. Hutchinson will likely remain judge advocate of the regiment, and it is probable that Chaplain Otis A. Glazebrook will be continued in that position. There is little doubt that Captain Oliphant will remain quartermaster of the regiment. Either Dr. Neafly, of Freehold, or Dr. O'Keefe, of this city, will be named as regimental surgeon to succeed Major R. R. Rogers, Jr., who has been advanced to the brigade staff. The battalion surgeons, Drs. Moore and Gordon, of Trenton, will likely be continued.

FIRST WORK ON PENN TUNNEL

OBSERVATION TOWER ERECTED AND NOW DRIVING TEST TUBES.

Ascertaining Sustaining Qualities of the River Bottom—Work Slowly Progressing.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Jersey City, July 19—The first work on the new Pennsylvania Railroad tunnel under the Hudson River has been the erection of an observation tower in the Erie Railroad yards, near the boundary of Hoboken and Weehawken, the boring of a test tube from the end of Erie dock C, Weehawken, and the driving of an air shaft on the Weehawken side.

The test tube boring has been in operation for several weeks. It is slow and expensive work. Two tubes are being driven, an outer one which is six feet in diameter, and an inner one three feet in diameter. The driving is accomplished by making the tubes revolve, a single revolution taking about two hours. Each revolution drives the tubes a distance of only two and one-half inches.

The work is so difficult that the engineers and men employed with them put in only about six hours each day, so that days' boring amounts to only six or eight inches a day. Up to the present time the tubes have been driven down 102 feet, and it is expected that the work will continue for a depth of about fifty or sixty feet further before solid rock is reached.

The men who go down the tubes are furnished with air from an air pump on the surface. A man can stand only about two hours in the tubes each day and receives $2 an hour. About three weeks ago one of the men remained in the tubes for six hours and he has not been able to work since. For some days his life was despaired of.

The test tubes are being driven for the purpose of ascertaining the sustaining qualities of the river bottom, as well as to find out the quality of the several strata, the depth of rock, etc. The work is being done from the end of freight dock C, and began on May 15 last.

The tunnel on the Jersey side will be eighty feet below the river bottom, making it over 100 feet below the low water mark. It will run about twenty feet north of Dock C, going under the Erie warehouse in Weehawken and under West Hoboken.

The observation tower which has been erected is seventy feet in height. This was erected for the purpose of making the surveys that are required. Just when the actual work of digging the tunnel will begin is not known. The various tests and surveys will take several months longer and it may be next spring before work really begins.

PERSONAL.

John and Francis Rittenhouse, of West Sixth street, are spending two weeks at Asbury Park.

William Newman, of West Second street, left for Atlantic City this morning to spend a vacation.

GOING TO GO.

Warren Engine Company Accepted Invitation to Atlantic City.

At the special meeting of Warren Engine Company last night it was decided unanimously to attend the firemen's celebration at Atlantic City in September. A committee was appointed with power to make all arrangements on behalf of the company, the members of which are: Julius J. Stahl, George F. Fairchild, Alonzo Brokaw, Frank Kesserling, and George C. Allen.

At the conclusion of the meeting the members were invited to a bountiful repast, Charles O. Smith being the host of the occasion.

Mother Always Keeps It Handy.

"My mother suffered a long time from distressing pains and general ill health due primarily to indigestion," says L. W. Spalding, Verona, Mo. "Two years ago I got her to try Kodol. She grew better at once and now, at the age of seventy-six, eats any thing she wants, remarking that she fears no bad effects as she has her bottle of Kodol handy." Don't waste time doctoring symptoms. Go after the cause. If your stomach is sound your health will be good. Kodol rests the stomach and strengthens the body by digesting your food. It is nature's own tonic. L. W. Randolph.

STRENGTHENING FOUNDATIONS

PLAN TO PREVENT SETTLING OF WALL OF BABCOCK BUILDING.

Girders Resting on Concrete Foundations Have Been Placed to Support Wall.

An ingenious piece of work of interest to mechanics is being done at the rear of the Babcock building to strengthen the walls of that structure, which have been settling on account of the loose quality of the soil at that point.

Trenches about twelve feet deep, have been dug along the sides of the building, both within and without, and these excavations have been filled in with concrete. A heavy iron girder is placed on the concrete foundation on the outside, a little below the level of the ground. Resting on this girder, and almost converging on a substantial brick pier within the cellar, a series of girders about three feet a part are placed crosswise, carrying the weight of the wall. The same plan is followed beneath the second side wall, necessitating another brick pier in the cellar.

Facing on Madison avenue a deep trench was dug seven feet below the surface of the cellar, which is also filled in with concrete. On this foundation two iron girders have been placed on the inside parallel with the wall and another girder of a corresponding length is placed directly opposite on the outside. A series of iron keys will likewise be inserted here, each one of which is capable of supporting a weight of seven tons.

From a test recently made by cementing one of the large cracks, it has been found that the plan works to perfection. The contractor in charge is Titus H. Laury and the architect, E. V. French.

Tour Through West.

E. H. Clevely, of North avenue, and W. W. Warnock, of Craig place, are completing arrangements for an extended western tour which they are to take this fall, beginning September 14. They will visit various places of interest about the Great Lakes and will then ascend the St. Lawrence river to its mouth and gradually work down the coast to home.

HEARTLESS SWINDLING.

How Milwaukee Housekeepers Were Victimized by an Unsophisticated Countrywoman.

A swindle recently worked on some women of the South side, says the Milwaukee Sentinel, is good enough to deceive anyone. The housewife would be called to the front door, and there she would find a woman from the country. There would be no mistaking the fact that she was from the country, especially as the basket she carried was filled with oats, from which white eggs were peeping.

Somehow or other eggs never appear so bona fide and trustworthy as when they are packed in oats. One feels morally certain that the eggs have come warm from the farm. The country woman's story was entirely worthy of belief.

"I have been delivering eggs to Mr. Crawford's house up the street," said she. "I've been bringing him six dozen a week, but this morning I found out his folks had gone away, and I thought mebbe some of the neighbors might want the eggs."

Now, whether the housewife wanted them or not, there is seldom any resisting the temptation to buy anything that has come fresh from the farm. It is said that no woman from the country would break an egg at each house and show the contents were all right.

That egg would be the only good one in the basket. One housewife, who bought six dozen eggs at a slightly advanced price because of the oats used for packing, declared that there was not one 1902 egg in the lot.

RODE IN WHEELBARROW.

Triumphant Progress of a Woman Through the Streets of Chicago Interrupted by Police.

Annie Novak, of Chicago, went for a ride the other afternoon. Annie is well acquainted with the West Side police and it is not infrequent that she rides in the blue wagon. The other day, however, Annie decided to change her mode of pleasure-seeking and engaged a number of boys to haul her about in a wheelbarrow. After decorating herself with gaudy ribbons she gave the signal to proceed.

She was followed by a crowd of men, women and children with the result that the attention of Sergeant Tully and policemen from the Hinman street station was attracted to the unique "turnout." The boys dropped the wheelbarrow so suddenly at sight of the bluecoats that Annie was unceremoniously spilled upon the sidewalk. Before she could regain her feet she found herself in the clutches of Sergeant Tully.

Annie protested against arrest and declared she had just as much right to ride in a wheelbarrow as the wealthier residents had to use automobiles. The police sergeant, however, did not care to discuss the question, and then the woman insisted on being taken to the police station in the one-wheeled vehicle. Again the police objected and the woman was transferred to a patrol wagon. On the next day Annie bowed before Justice Sabath and was profuse in her apologies. She was positive that never again would she seek a wheelbarrow ride, and the court permitted her to go with a warning.

What's in a Name?

A good deal, sometimes. Miss Going stood for years on the very edge of what men call spinsterhood, and then at last was led smilingly to the altar by a man named Gone.

Nation of Novel Readers.

Nine-tenths of all the new books read in this country are novels.

REVIVAL OF TAFFETA.

It Is Used For Dust Coats, Evening Wraps and Dressy Gowns.

Dust coats of glace silk are being much used. They have the advantage of being suitable for evening wear as well and will stand a shower of rain with no evil effects.

Smart dust cloaks in a poppy shade of red are cut Japanese fashion, but ornamented with a collar and turned back cuffs of lace. The addition of a lace collar may sound incongruous, but it is very becoming, and it tones down the vivid color near the face.

Truly taffeta has had a revival in its favor. Smart evening dress dust cloaks and evening wraps are made of it. They are mostly in plain colors, and very few of the old fashioned shots have appeared, though they are still procurable and certainly take wonderful lights and shades. In the matter of colorings fashion is very decided this year. She likes them bright and mixes them in a most indiscriminate way and not always in the best taste.

There is a great fancy for spots in lawns and foulard as well as in batistes.

A very useful dust cloak is here shown. It is made of taffeta silk, with an empire yoke, a scalloped turnover collar faced with lace and full sleeves gathered into a flare cuff. The garment is unlined. JUDIC CHOLLET.

DRESSY GOWNS.

Chiffon Picture Hats and Mull Costumes.

Chiffon picture hats in pale shades are as much worn as ever. They are invariably trimmed with lace, either plain or jeweled.

There is an attempt to revive mitts and openwork gloves of fine silk. A tulle boa decorated with petals of flowers to match those worn in the hat is another pretty and dainty mode of the hour.

Silk mull is one of the most popular fabrics for dressy gowns. It is extremely inexpensive and makes up like chiffon. Gowns of this description are made with many tucks. The waists are banded with tiny insertions, and the skirts have long trains made very full, with many ruffles.

Louis Quinze slippers of patent leather with oval gold buckles are considered the smart thing to wear with these thin summer gowns. The gown shown is of pale blue mull. It is cut decollete and has a triple ruffle of the goods, ending in a stole effect. The waist blouses a trifle all the way around. The skirt has a lace yoke. It is tucked perpendicularly and is finished around the bottom with three narrow ruffles edged with lace.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

A KNAVE . . . OF CONSCIENCE.

—By Francis Lynde.

At this Griswold flew into a passion, there being no other retort for such a thrust.

"You don't know what you're talking about," he snapped. "Let me pass."

The man stood aside respectfully enough, and the master crossed the street to the iron works side of it. An arc light swinging from its wire in front of the foundry building flung black shadows beneath the trees at the curb line, and for aught a passer-by might see, street and plant were alike deserted. But the quietude was only seeming. As Griswold crossed the roadway, there was a blinding flash of white light which seemed to have its focusing point under a tree which shaded the small detached office building. The flash was but momentary, but it served to reveal a knot of men in various attitudes of expentancy at the corner of the office. A glimpse was all Griswold had, and it was followed instantly by a yell of fury, the din and clamor of a fray, and a knot of cursing, struggling men broke out of the tree-shadow. Griswold flung himself promptly into the thick of it, seeing nothing but that a dozen infuriated men were assaulting one.

"For shame!" he cried, shouldering his way into the group. "Stop it and let him go, or I'll prosecute the last one of you in the courts!"

The melee quieted down, but two of the men kept fast hold of their prisoner. Griswold looked again, and when he recognized the captive, had a curious little shock of surprise. The pinioned man was no other than the man whom he had taken from the island in the "Sprite," whose good cigar he had smoked in the lobby of the hotel, and whose occupation and business in Wahaska he had by no means been able to guess until Charlotte had enlightened him.

There was a moment of silence of the portentous kind, and then the leader of the workmen spoke for all.

"You go away, Mr. Griswold. This ain't no funeral o' yours, and it'll be a heap better all 'round if you don't 'tend it."

But Griswold made no move to go away. "Not a step till you release that man."

A murmur of savage disapproval ran through the group of determined ones and there were muttered imprecations including Griswold.

"'Tain't no use, Mr. Griswold," the spokesman went on. "We ketched him in the very act, and he's goin' to swing if ever' last one of us has to dance on nothin' to pay for it. It's him or us."

"Caught him in the act of what?" demanded Griswold.

The spokesman shuffled with his feet and hung his head. He was the ringleader of the malcontents; a burly molder but lately come to Wahaska, and there had been whispers pointing to a past of his which would not bear the light. Griswold remembered these rumors now, and saw this: that the man's following was a detail from the more desperate section of the strikers.

The pause was brief, but being surcharged with possibilities, seemed long. At length the man threw up his head.

"Come here and I'll show you," he said.

Griswold followed him a step aside, to the office front and to a breach in the palings of the high fence close at hand. Within the breach, and heaped against the wall of the frame office building, was a pile of chips and shavings, and there was a pungent odor of kerosene in the air. The man pointed in silence.

"You mean to say that he was going to burn us out?" asked Griswold.

"Them fixin's speak for theirselves, don't they?"

"But why?" Griswold demanded.

The big man snorted scornfully.

"'Tain't no use for you to play innercent that-a-way, Mr. Griswold. You know who he is, and what he is, and what he's here for."

Whereat Griswold lost his patience and swore angrily. "Have done with your mysterious bush-beating and say what's in you," he rapped out. "I don't know the man."

"You don't, eh? Well, he's a cussed Pinkerton, that's what he is; and he's here to make a case against us. S'pose the works takes fire and burns up, and he goes on the stand to swear we done it? Only he ain't never goin' to get the chance. He's goin' to quit right here and now. You go away, Mr. Griswold. There ain't no call for you to be a witness."

Who shall say what fierce and relentless temptation assailed this man who saw his single pursuer thus in the toils? He had but to turn his back and shrug, and say it was no concern of his, and this man Griffin, the only man of all men in the world who might send him to wear out his life in a Louisiana chain-gang, would go to his account, and all danger would be over—past for one Kenneth Griswold.

No one save the victim of such an outfall of devils battling for his soul may know what Griswold endured in that brief moment of hesitation. If Griffin himself suspected, he made no sign; indeed, he had looked on all through the colloquy as if the subject matter of it concerned him not at all. But now he spoke; three words to his accuser, and a dozen to the man whom the devils were assaulting.

"You're a liar," he said, coolly, to the one; and to the other: "Could you oblige me with a cigar, Mr. Griswold?"

Now, however fiercely the devils of temptation had assaulted, Griswold had beaten them off; that and more; he had a plan of an attempt at a rescue half-formed, and this request of the man about to be hanged chimed in with it. He promptly tendered the cigar, and the striker who was pinioning Griffin's right arm mechanically loosed his hold that the prisoner might take it.

It was the moment for the attempt, if any there were to be, and there could be no more collusion between rescuer and captive than might be compressed into a single swift eye glance. But that sufficed. Griffin reached for the cigar, but did not take it. Instead, he converted the movement into a stinging side blow which felled the man at his left, and at the same instant sprang back out of the circle with Griswold to hold the infuriated ones at bay while he did it.

Any diversion Griswold could make was necessarily of the briefest. For some swift-passing second or so he delayed the rush by sheer moral bravado. The storm broke in a yell of rage and no two men might withstand it. Griswold did not try.

"Through that hole in the fence!—in with you!" he said, over his shoulder to the detective; and the thing was done so deftly that the yelling mob was for the moment nonplussed. Griswold made good use of the momentary respite.

"Follow me!" he commanded; and a minute later they had opened the darkened office by the back door.

When the door was shut and locked again, Griffin looked about him in the semi-gloom.

"It's out of the frying pan into the fire, isn't it?" he said. "They'll storm this place in about a minute—and take it."

The augmenting yells in the street told that the mob was increasing its numbers rapidly, and that the melee on the sidewalk would presently develop into a riot. Griswold stepped to the telephone, but the call bells were dumb.

"They've cut the wires," he said, coolly. "That means a fight. Are you armed?"

The detective laughed. "I'm like the Texas cowboy who was caught in swimming; my gun is safe enough at the hotel."

Griswold took down a Winchester repeating rifle from its brackets on the wall.

"Perhaps it is just as well. If you should show yourself, they would go mad again, and, anyway, in a tangle of this kind one man is sometimes better than two. Get down behind the desk and keep out of sight."

"What for? Hadn't we better try a back-alley bolt for it?"

"No. They have the place surrounded by this time. Do as I tell you."

Griswold peeped cautiously behind the window shade on the street side.

"They are going to rush the place and smash the window or the door, or both. I shall save them the trouble, if you will be good enough to do as I tell you."

The detective stepped behind the high desk and Griswold unlocked and opened the front door, flinging it wide. When the thing was done, the foremost rank of the rioters found itself looking straight into the sightless eye of the leveled Winchester. What the man with the gun had to say was said in the moment of surprised silence which ensued, and he said it quietly, as one who has weighed and measured all the possible consequences.

"You needn't trouble to break in, men; the door is open, as you see. But I give you fair warning; you'll have to kill me before you come in, and I'll kill some of you first."

The answer to this was a fierce yell of wrath and defiance, but Griswold held his ground. Then there was a rush surging up from those in the rear, but those in the front ranks held it back in deference to the one determined man in the doorway—the man and the leveled rifle. And so it went for what seemed to Griffin an interminable lifetime; cries, shouts, stones flung, a shot now and then from the outskirts of the crowd; pandemonium let loose in the mob; and fronting it all one man with his wits about him, and a steadfast determination to do or die, or to do and die, if need be, shining in the cool eyes of him.

And in the end the one man got the victory. For some soul-trying minutes, a score of them it might have been, he stood in the doorway in instant peril of his life, but he neither flinched nor spoke again. How long he could have kept the raging mob at bay he was not to know, for in its own leisurely time the alarm spread and help came from the town. A squad of freshly sworn-in deputies poured into the street, fought its way to the great gates and joined forces with the armed guard in the yard, and so the rioters were slowly pressed back and out of the street and dispersed. Then, and not till then, Griswold lowered his weapon and spoke to the man whose life he had saved.

"It is over for this time," he said. "We can make a circuit now and reach the hotel without difficulty, I think."

They went by a roundabout way, and neither of them spoke again till they stood beneath the portico of the St. James. Then Griffin thrust out his hand.

"I owe you another—a good deal bigger one, this time, Mr. Griswold."

Griswold seemed not to see the outstretched hand. "Do you? There shall be no charge in my book, Mr. Griffin."

THE PRISONERS YELLED.

They Had Heard the Story of the Prodigal Son So Often That It Got to Be Amusing.

Two or three years ago the chaplain at the Elmira reformatory went to Europe on a vacation of three months. Before he left he arranged that his place on Sundays should be filled by Elmira clergymen who were to address the inmates of the institution by turns.

The first clergyman, in thinking of a topic, naturally decided to talk on the prodigal son, and he told the story to the young men with much detail.

"BACK UP AND CHANGE CARS."

and then drew a lesson from the parable.

The next Sunday another minister came. He, too, decided that the prodigal son episode offered the best opportunity for a discourse, and he used the story as a basis of his talk. So did the other ten preachers, and for 12 successive Sundays the inmates of the reformatory heard with patient fortitude of the young man who left home, who ate husks with the swine, and returned to the paternal roof and caused the slaughter of the fatted calf.

Then the chaplain returned home. He had little time to prepare a sermon, so he fell back on the prodigal son, a theme with which he was familiar, and which was always appropriate. He did not know that his listeners had been treated to a dozen dissertations on the subject, but the roar of laughter that greeted him when he announced his text told him that something was wrong. He appealed to one of the prisoners for an explanation, and was told:

"Back up an' change cars, boss. We've had dat story 12 times while you've been gone. Tell us about Jonah and the whale, or give us a spiel on Daniel in the den of lions."

SO SWEETLY INNOCENT.

Papa Didn't Know How Many Sons He Had Until the Lady Principal Told Him.

He had been to the boarding school to pay a surprise visit to his daughter, his only child. He had parted from her, proud to be the parent of such a handsome maiden, pleased with the innocence of budding womanhood. The principal accompanied him to the door.

"Madam," he said, with deep feeling, "I owe you much for the manner in which you have reared my child since she has been under your care. When I notice the contrast between that innocent maiden and some of the girls of her age, who have not had the advantage of such strict supervision, I feel that I have indeed done wisely in placing her in your charge."

"And how proud you must be," said the principal, glowing with satisfaction, "to be the father of so large and devoted a family!"

"Large—devoted!" gasped the proud parent. "What do you mean?"

"Devoted to each other," said the principal. "No fewer than seven of Clara's brothers have been here during the past three weeks to take her out, and she is expecting another to-morrow."

Only Good Swimmers Wanted.

Only good swimmers are acceptable as recruits in the German army. The best swimmers in the service are able to cross a stream several hundred yards in width even when carrying their clothing, rifle and ammunition.

The Sign of the Cross.

In ancient days the addition of a cross to the signature did not always indicate that the signer could not write, but was added as an attestation of good faith.

BUM, DOG POLICEMAN

He Goes Out Regularly on Patrol and Catches Burglars.

Is a Recognized Member of the Force of Precinct 28, New York City—Has Countless Friends and Admirers.

The policemen all like Bum, anyhow, and it is not recorded that he has any enemies in the precinct, except possibly some burglars who have felt his teeth.

He arrived at the police station in Eighty-eighth street, far over the East river, one bitterly cold night four winters ago, says the New York Sun. Capt. Freers was in command at that time, and he happened to be sitting beside Sergt. Tom Reilly behind the desk. The street door opened and a diminutive black-and-tan dog dodged in at the heels of Roundsman Hawkins.

"Here's a poor little bum almost frozen to death," said the roundsman. "Let's thaw him out."

"Sure," said the captain, "let him lie down by the stove."

But Bum didn't like the stove. He was so benumbed by the cold that he could hardly walk. He managed to drag himself around behind the desk, however, and curl up by Sergt. Reilly's chair.

That was the beginning of their friendship. Sergt. Reilly was his favorite from the first, and has continued so.

"He looked up at me in such an appealing way," said the sergeant, "I could not help but pity the little creature."

Bum was not the spick-and-span-looking dog then he is to-day. He was small, scraggly and half-starved. Sergt. Reilly sent out and bought him some meat and liver when he was thawed out. It was probably the first square meal Bum had ever had.

His next acquisition of fortune was an old blanket to lie on upstairs in the dormitory. The men all came to know him soon, and his fortune prospered correspondingly.

He made his home at the police station and began to go about the precinct with the men when they went on post. But he stuck to Sergt. Reilly more than to any of the rest, and ever since that time they have been accustomed to take long walks together.

"HERE'S A POOR LITTLE BUM."

The name "Bum" stuck to him from the remark made by Roundsman Hawkins the first night he came into the house. Before long the policemen in the house chipped in and bought him a handsome collar inscribed "Bum" and also bearing regulation brass figures "28," used to indicate the number of the precinct.

He is very fastidious about his meals now, but he has friends about the precinct who give him anything he wants. The night watchman at the Astoria ferryhouse has a plate of cooked meat or liver ready for him every night at 11 o'clock. And Bum is usually on hand. So between the policemen in the house and his friends on the outside he fares pretty well.

He always turns out with the midnight platoon and barks his approval as the men march out.

The conductors on the Eighty-sixth street crosstown horse cars all know him, and he rides free with them just like a policeman in uniform. He has learned the limits of the precinct from the men on post, and he has never been known to go below Seventy-ninth street or above Ninety-sixth street.

He has the record also of having fastened his teeth in the trousers of more than one burglar or thief running to escape arrest. Bum always managed to interest them until a policeman could make the capture.

Altogether, the men of the Twenty-eighth precinct think they have a pretty intelligent dog.

Town of Early Marriages.

Rhosllanerchrugog, North Wales, probably holds the record for early marriages. The place is a thriving mining town of about 10,000 population. The majority of the marriages are contracted when the bridegroom is from 18 to 20 years of age, and the bride generally about two years younger. The marriages, as a rule, are happy ones, for the young miner of 18 or 20 is able to earn a splendid wage. After a few months of married life the young husband's whole ambition is to build himself a house. He himself does most of the building work.

Swearing on the Trinity.

Probably the most curious European oath is administered in Norway. The witness raises his thumb, his forefinger, and his middle finger. These signify the Trinity, while the larger of the uplifted fingers is supposed to represent the soul of the witness and the smaller to indicate his body.

ON THE DIAMOND.

League games today: Hope against Safe Works, on Hope grounds; Y. M. C. A. against St. Mary's, on St. Mary's grounds. Take Fourth street cars for either field.

Willie Keeler, a member of the Brooklyn team, is the first player in the National League to make 100 hits this season. The next to him has a record of 93. Keeler is a graduate of the Plainfield Crescents.

The story circulated that "Teddy" Shortman, Hope's short stop, is disabled from the injury received in last Saturday's game is untrue. He was struck in the side by First Baseman Winn's knee but beyond a little soreness he has suffered no inconvenience. He will be seen in his newly assigned place today.

At the Fresh Air Home.

The little ones at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home are enjoying themselves immensely these days and everything is provided for their comfort and happiness. Early this week Percy Chapman, of West Seventh street, went to the camp with his team of ponys and a carriage and gave the little folks a pleasant ride about the country. Another day Earl Biglow, of Central avenue, went to the home and entertained the children with a delightful phonograph concert.

Trolley Party.

The Misses Blimm, of Somerset street, gave a pleasant trolley party to Riverside Park last evening, where the guests enjoyed a dance. Those in the party included Miss Katharine Blimm, Miss Sadie Blimm, Miss May Duckworth, of Plainfield; Miss Sadie Brown, of New York; Miss Vina Wells, of Providence, R. I., and Harry DeMeza, Marcus Hoyt, Harry Blimm, Bert Simpson and Clarence Brokaw.

Wheel Fell Off.

While William Polhemus, of Raritan, was driving along West Front street yesterday afternoon, one of the nuts worked off of the axle of his buggy causing the hind wheel to roll off into the gutter. The horse started to run away but a pedestrian, who quickly noted the predicament of the driver, grabbed the animal by the halter.

Going Back to Service.

SOME BRIEF PARAGRAPHS OF A PERSONAL NATURE.

Many Folk of Greater Plainfield Are Entertaining or Being Entertained.

Charles Whitehall, of Stonington, Conn., is visiting his parents on East Fifth street.

Miss Elsie Zeller, of New York, is visiting Miss Josie Butscher, of West Fourth street.

Miss Louise Wilbur, of East Front street, has returned home after her vacation in the country.

Miss Fannie Heeler, of Montclair, is spending a few days visiting Miss Wilhelmina Wall, of Kensington avenue.

Dr. J. H. Buchanan will leave this evening for Flanders, where he will organize a castle of the Knights of the Golden Eagle.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—A. S. Hooley and family, who have been boarding, have taken up their residence at 87 Myrtle avenue.

—James Mullen, of Raritan, who recently secured a position in this city, has taken up his residence in Plainfield.

—The case of Arnold against Schorb, to have been heard in Justice Mattison's court this morning, was postponed for two weeks.

—Rev. J. R. Bryan will speak and Miss May F. Grant will sing at the men's meeting, at the hall of the Young Men's Christian Association, tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. All men are invited.

—Anchor Lodge, No. 149, F. and A. M., will hold a regular communication Tuesday evening, at which time the district deputy grand master will be present. Degrees will be conferred on five candidates.

New Manager for the Inn.

The Plainfield Hotel Company today appointed J. E. McConnell to take charge of the Mountain Park Inn for the remainder of the season. Mr. McConnell has been conducting the Plainfield for a year past, but will leave immediately to direct affairs at the other hotel.

Poisoning the System.

It is through the bowels that the body is cleansed of impurities. Constipation keeps these poisons in the system, causing headache, dullness and melancholia at first, then unsightly eruptions and finally serious illness unless a remedy is applied. DeWitt's Little Early Risers prevent this trouble by stimulating the liver and promote easy, healthy action of the bowels. These little pills do not act violently but by strengthening the bowels enable them to perform their own work. Never gripe or distress. L. W. Randolph.

HOW KNIGHTS TEMPLAR PROGRESS IN JERSEY

Plainfield Has Two of the Grand Officers Numbered Among Its Citizens.

HISTORY OF GROWTH.

FIRST COMMANDERY WAS HUGH DE PAYNE, OF JERSEY CITY.

It Was Instituted in 1858—Grand Commandery Formed Two Years Later—Now Seventeen Commanderies and 2,000 Members.

Knights Templar of this State are enthusiastic over the recent session of the Grand Commandery of New Jersey, held in Trenton last May. The conclave was one of the most successful ever held by the Grand Commandery. Honors came to Trinity Commandery, of this city, in the form of the election of D. C. Adams to the office of deputy grand commander and Jacob Kirkner to the office of grand captain general.

That higher branch of the Masonic fraternity known as the Knights Templar numbers nearly 2,000 in New Jersey. Its membership in this grand jurisdiction is greater in proportion to the number of Masons in the State than the total in many of the nearby States, so that New Jersey is highly esteemed by Templars throughout the country. The first commandery in this State was Hugh de Payne, of Jersey City, instituted in 1858. St. Bernard followed at Hightstown, and the third was St. Helena at Burlington. These three commanderies, though small in numbers, met on St. Valentine's Day in 1860 in the asylum of the latter and formed the Grand Commandery. They had received their commandery charters from the Grand Encampment of the United States, and that body issued the charter to the new Grand Commandery.

From this humble though determined beginning the order in New Jersey has grown to number seventeen commanderies and almost 2,000 members. W. H. Doggett, of Jersey City, was grand commander; E. G. Taylor, Hightstown, deputy grand commander; John Hilton, Jersey City, grand captain general, and George Edwards, Jersey City, grand treasurer. Mr. Edwards is the only survivor of these officers. He is a past grand commander.

The uniform now in vogue was adopted by the grand encampment of the United States at its session of 1859.

Masons in the northern part of the State commenced to take an interest in the Templars, and several Newark members joined Hugh de Payne Commandery of Jersey City. The records show that in 1866 W. W. Snow, of Ramapo, Bergen county, presided over the deliberations of the grand commandery. He is the third surviving grand commander. Damascus Commandery of Newark was warranted at the annual session of 1866, at which Dr. Isaac A. Nichols was made grand captain general and Dr. Charles M. Zeh was installed as grand standard-bearer. De Molay Commandery of Washington was also warranted at this conclave, and started off with but nine members; now it numbers 127. Hugh de Payne numbered 176 at that time.

Sir Knight Isaac A. Nichols was grand commander in 1869. Cyrene Commandery of Camden was then the latest branch. It has had a splendid growth, and now numbers 257 sir knights. St. John's of Elizabeth was next formed. In 1874 S. S. Battey, of Newark, was the grand commander, he having filled the position of deputy the year previous.

Commandery No. 8 was instituted in New Brunswick, but its charter was surrendered, and now No. 18 occupies that field. The present commanderies are: Hugh de Payne No. 1, Jersey City, 178 members; Helena No. 2, Burlington, 89; Palestine No. 4, Trenton, 139; Damascus No. 5, Newark, 232; De Molay No. 6, Washington, 127; Cyrene No. 7, Camden, 257; St. John's No. 9, Elizabeth, 86; Olivet No. 10, Millville, 108; Ivanhoe No. 11, Bordentown, 52; Ode de St. Armand No. 12, Morristown, 82; Melita No. 13, Paterson, 114; St. Elmo No. 14, Lambertville, 53; Corsen No. 15, Asbury Park, 99; Pilgrim No. 16, Hoboken, 97; Trinity No. 17, Plainfield, 84; Temple No. 18, New Brunswick, 67, and Hersey No. 19, East Orange, 42.

Daniel Demarest, the present grand commander, resides in Montclair. He is a past master of Passaic Lodge No. 67, Free and Accepted Masons, of Passaic; past high priest of Centennial Chapter No. 34, Royal Arch Masons; past commander of Melita Commandery No. 13, Knights Templar; past grand master and present grand chaplain of the grand council, Royal and Select Masons, of New Jersey. Mr. Demarest has belonged to the Masonic fraternity for forty-two years.

D. C. Adams, of Plainfield, the deputy grand commander, is a member of Jerusalem Lodge No. 26; Jerusalem Chapter No. 24, Royal Arch Masons, and Trinity Commandery No. 17, Knights Templar, and has presided over each. Besides holding his present office in the grand commandery, he is grand principal sojourner in the Grand Chapter of New Jersey, Royal Arch Masons.

Jacob Kirkner, the grand captain general, is a past master in Jerusalem Lodge No. 26; past high priest in Jerusalem Chapter No. 24; past commander of Trinity Commandery of Plainfield, and a member of Kane Council of Newark, Royal and Select Masons.

RESULTS OF LEAGUE GAMES.

Y. M. C. A., 9; St. Marys, 8.
Safe Works, 11; Hope Y. M. A., 8.

Every League team changed its position in the race for the pennant through Saturday's games. For the first time since the series began, the Hopes dropped from first place. They lost to the Safe Works by a score of 11 to 8 in a game characterized by heavy slugging on one side and poor playing on the other. The Y. M. C. A. and the St. Mary's locked horns and fought to a finish in eleven innings, victory going to the association men by a score of 9 to 8. It was one of the best games of the season and the result sent the Y. M. C. A. to the top and let St. Mary down to the lowest rung of the ladder.

PLAYED 11 INNINGS.

It took eleven innings to decide the contest between Y. M. C. A.'s and St. Mary's on the latter's grounds, Saturday afternoon. Y. M. C. A. won out by the score of 9 to 8. It was a spectacular finish—a finish that made the fans drop off with heart disease. St. Mary's made three runs in the first half of the eleventh, putting them that number in the lead, and they looked like sure winners but Y. M. C. A. came to the bat and opened up a fusilade which, assisted by an error in the infield, netted them four runs with only one out.

By making one run in the first half of the ninth and then shutting out their opponents, St. Mary's tied the score, five each. Both were blanked in the tenth. Scott came to the bat in the eleventh and led off with a base hit; Doyle hit to the infield and was out; Crotty sent out a safe one, advancing Scott to second; Taylor followed with a two-bagger scoring both; Lederer sacrificed and Taylor scored on Dupee's wild pitch. Barry fanned, ending the outs.

Smith first up for Y. M. C. A., hit a slow one that Doyle fumbled and threw wild, allowing the runner to make second; Dupee's double brought Smith home; Hand was out on a pop foul to Keen; Moore's single advanced Dupee and both tallied on Bolsterle's two-bagger, evening the score. Barnes hit a safe one, bringing Bolsterle across the plate with the winning run.

With the exception of the last inning it was not a heavy batting game throughout. Two-baggers were somewhat frequent, but scattered, especially so with St. Mary's. Honors between the pitchers were about even. Y. M. C. A. played a much steadier game in the field. Percy Hand in the first inning made a beautiful throw from deep left, catching Taylor at home plate. Barry, for St. Mary's played a star game at right, and showed up well at the bat.

SAFE WORKS BATTED.

The batting streak, such as the team has never had before, assisted kindly by the opponents with poor playing, gave the Safe Works nine its game with the Hopes, Saturday. Hewitt was pounded out of the box in the middle of the third inning but even Montross's substitution could not stay the base chasing as the Iron Works soon got acquainted with him and added five runs to the six they had already made. In the field the Hopes played listlessly, the standbys making error that were alike unexcusable and costly. The total score was 11 to 8.

The fun started in the first inning when Hewitt gave Enright a free pass to first. He stole second as Siegfried fanned and went to third on a drive made by Cooney. The latter was fumbled, giving Cooney first and letting Enright home. Franklin reached first on a hit and both he and Cooney crossed the plate on successive singles rapped out by Symons and Allen before the side was retired.

The Hopes took the bat with a determination to even matters but they secured only one run through a two-bagger made by Shortman and a poorly fielded grounder of Martin's. A double play was made in this inning through Montross sending a pop fly to Siegfried within the base line, thereby retiring Martin.

In the second the Safe people made another run through a couple of hits. In the third the batting started away again with a rush, a single, a double and a triple, the latter by Allen, following each other in succession and

REPUBLICAN VIEW OF JERSEY'S CONGRESSMEN

Elizabeth Journal Predicts Election of Nine Out of Ten of Jersey's Representatives.

SITUATION REVIEWED.

PROSPECTS IN THE DIFFERENT CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICTS.

New Jersey's Representation in Congress Will be Increased by Two—Republicans Now Claim They Will Elect in Nine Districts.

Ten Congressmen will be voted for at the next election instead of eight as heretofore, two new districts having been formed by the law of 1901. While the district lines have been changed and some of the representatives brought in to the presence of a new constituency, there is little prospect of a Democratic gain, says the Elizabeth Journal. In fact, there is every indication that the Republicans will increase their strength in the delegation by the election of a successor to the seat of the late Joshua A. Salmon and the winning of two members in the Essex and Hudson county districts. It is safe to predict that nine out of the ten Republicans nominated will be elected.

Two Republican nominations have already been made, that of Representative Charles N. Fowler, of this district, the Fifth. He will have as his Democratic opponent DeWitt C. Flanagan, who has just been elected to fill a vacancy in Congress by the Democrats in the old Fourth district, which had such a Democratic majority that the Republicans let the district go by default. Mr. Flanagan is a millionaire stock breeder. The district comprises Union, Morris and Warren counties, the late Republican plurality being 1,536.

John J. Gardner was unanimously nominated for Congress by the Republicans for the sixth time at Cape May Wednesday. This time, however, his selection was made in the new Second district. The Second district is formed by the counties of Cape May, Cumberland, Atlantic and Burlington. Two years ago these four counties gave a Republican plurality of 9,643.

The expected nomination of Judge William M. Lanning of the new Fourth district, which comprises Mercer, Somerset and Hunterdon counties, has attracted particular attention this year because of the harmony that prevails on the candidacy of Judge Lanning.

The mention of his name for the place was hailed with delight by Republicans everywhere in the State. His character and ability have silenced all party differences, and have commanded the respect of thinking Democrats. While it is known that Judge Lanning make no little sacrifice in becoming a candidate, yet his ardor in the case is just as great as though he had made a vigorous fight to get his present standing in the party. The convention will be held August 5 at Flemington. The Republican plurality in the three counties two years ago was 5,965.

The Republican convention of the First district will be held on Wednesday, July 30, at Woodbury. Congressman Loudenslager and T. Alpheus VanSant have been conducting a pretty campaign for the honor. Many well-known Camden Republicans have been back of Mr. VanSant. The Central Labor Union of Washington, D. C., and many other organizations have adopted resolutions for Mr. Loudenslager's return. He has been very watchful of the labor interests in his several terms in Congress.

It has been stated that United States Senator Kean had deserted his colleague's efforts, but the Senator's telegram to Postmaster Louis T. Derousse, last week, set that charge at rest.

This district is composed of Camden, Gloucester and Salem counties. In the election of 1900 these three counties gave a Republican plurality of 9,510.

The counties of Middlesex, Monmouth and Ocean constitute the Third district. Benjamin F. Howell's renomination is assured. In the election of 1900 these three counties gave a Republican plurality of 6,006. Mr. Howell is a resident of New Brunswick and president of a local bank. Ex-Congressman Geissenhainer, of Freehold, who has a residence also in New York, is spoken of as his Democratic opponent. Ex-Senator VanCleef and Mayor George A. Viehmann, of New Brunswick, are also mentioned.

The Republican convention in the Sixth district will be held the last day of this month. The district comprises Bergen, Passaic and Sussex counties. James F. Stewart is the popular candidate in this district, and he is assured of the support of the undivided strength of the Republican vote, which shows a plurality of 4,054.

The Seventh and Eighth districts lie within the county of Essex. R. Wayne Parker seeks re-election in the Eighth district. Essex county, in 1900, gave a Republican plurality of 18,742.

The Ninth and Tenth districts are sub-divisions of Hudson county. In the election of 1900 Hudson county gave the Democratic candidate for congressman a plurality of 3,641. In the gubernatorial election last year the city of Bayonne, the towns of Kearny and Harrison, the borough of East Newark and the various wards in Jersey City, comprising the Ninth congressional district, gave a Republican plurality of 207, so that it is not unreasonable to expect the Republican ticket to win in that district next November.

Allan Langdon McDermott, Democrat, seeks renomination in the Tenth district, which has a normal Democratic plurality of 9,205. There can be little hope of defeating him, but as the straws are now drifting there is every indication that he will enjoy the distinction of being the only Democratic member of the delegation elected to Congress from this State next November. He was in the Ninth district when the redistricting was made, but got scared at his prospects for re-election and moved to the Tenth.

The Democrats claim that under the vote of 1898 they have a chance of carrying the Third, Ninth, Tenth and possibly the Fourth. The Republicans concede the Tenth to the Democrats. In 1898 the Republicans carried the new Fourth district by a small majority. At the last election the Republicans carried all the districts by large majorities, excepting the Tenth.

Last spring Chairman Gourley, of the Democrats, promised a meeting of the Democratic State committee early in July to look after the congressional ticket, but the meeting is still far away. It will be held at Atlantic City or Asbury Park.

MANY BEAR FALSE WITNESS

SERMON ON NINTH COMMANDMENT BY REV. JOHN M'MURRAY.

Said That the Women Are Especially Flagrant in Their Transgressions.

No other law of the Decalogue is so often broken as the Ninth Commandment, according to Rev. John McMurray, who preached thereon at the Monroe Avenue church last evening. Especially flagrant in their transgressions, said the preacher, are the women of today, while the sin of bearing false witness is peculiarly favorite.

Incidentally, Mr. McMurray mentioned the various ways in which the mandate is violated; by false evidence in court, leading to miscarriage of justice; by slander, lies invented and distributed with malicious motive; tale bearing, whether of false or true stories; by hints or questing, creating false impressions; by silence, when speech might refute a slander; by imputing ulterior motives; by flattery or praise.

In all of these ways the speaker pointed out that the sense of the law is disobeyed, and the perpetrator is at once a thief, a coward and a liar, in that he seeks to rob some one of reputation, to do it in a way which can seldom be overtaken, and to spread falsehood to work another man harm.

TO ATLANTIC CITY.

Benevolent Council's Excursion Goes Tomorrow Morning.

Don't let slip the fact that tomorrow is the day for the excursion of Benevolent Council, No. 256, Jr. O. U. A. M., to Atlantic City, and don't be one of the unfortunates who have to remain at home. The train starts from Dunellen at 7:50; Clinton avenue, 7:55; Grant avenue, 7:58; Plainfield, North Avenue station, 8:00; Netherwood, 8:03; and, Fanwood, 8:07. The return will be from the beach at 9 in the evening. Tickets can be had from any of the committee or at the store of T. A. Kurzhals at 110 West Second street.

New Castle.

A new Castle of Knights of the Golden Eagle will be instituted this evening at Flanders, N. J., by Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan, of Freedom Castle, of this city.

—In vegetables Neuman Brothers have Jersey corn and tomatoes, green and wax beans and Boston lettuce, fresh and nice, at low prices.

LIGHTNING WAS BUSY; DID LITTLE DAMAGE

Electric Bolts Were Numerous About the City During Saturday Night's Storm.

A HEAVY RAIN FALL.

STORM CAUSED TROUBLE FOR CITY AND BOROUGH FIRE ALARM SERVICES.

Many False Alarms Were Sent In—Trouble at City Headquarters—Telephone Service Crippled—Brilliant Electrical Display.

The thunder storm, which played around this section, Saturday evening, didn't stay long but it made itself felt during its visit. Rain descended in a perfect deluge while the lightning struck time and again in the city streets but with practically no great damage. When the heavy rumblings of thunder eased away in the distance it left the city with flooded streets and a badly crippled telephone and fire alarm service.

The latter was rendered almost useless through life electric wires falling on it and sending in incessant shocks which kept the steam gong and house tappers going until 2 o'clock yesterday morning. The trouble was located at the time by linemen. Before that the firemen and apparatus horses were kept constantly on the jump and at headquarters the place was Bedlam for several hours. Sparks from the alarm wires filled the battery room and upper hallway and the horses were thrown into a frenzy by the clanging gong. It was with difficulty that they were restrained.

At the local telephone exchange dozens of fuses were blown out and a force of switchmen worked the greater part of the night placing the crippled 'phones in order. Today the service is in the best of working order.

During the worst of the storm numerous bolts and balls of fire were seen to strike, many of which narrowly escaped pedestrians who were unfortunate enough to venture out in the downpour. One of the fiery missiles struck on Park avenue near Second street and for twenty seconds there was a brilliant electrical display. Another dropped in the front of Boice, Runyon & Company's yard and tore around for a short time but spent itself harmlessly. Others descended in plain view in many other places, accompanied by sharp cracks of thunder but in every case no damage was done. The trolley system suspended during the worst of the storm but it suffered no material damage.

Across the brook, the lightning played along the telephone and trolley wires in a series of magnificent scenic displays without doing any great damage. The only place to suffer materially was the fire house, where one adventurous flash darted in on the wires and burned out the fuses in the alarm system. It was this which caused the bell to ring shortly after 9 o'clock, deluding many into the belief that some borough building had been struck and set on fire.

Very wicked in appearance, but comparatively harmless in effect, was the bolt which went crashing through the barn at the residence of Wililam H. Brokaw, of West Front street. When the family recovered from their fright over the shock, an investigation was made, showing that the lightning had passed out of the building, after striking a horse in a stall. Fortunately, the animal was merely stunned and soon recovered, little the worse for its strange experience, except for being slightly burned along one side.

Twenty-five minutes was the running time of the Fourth street cars from the central terminus to Monroe avenue during the storm last night. Twice on the trip the power was lost and the passengers waited in darkness until the current was once more resumed. Added to the beating rain through the open car, the delay made matters most uncomfortable for many West Enders caught away from home unawares.

Lieut. Coleman Coming East.

Lieutenant Coleman, son of the late Major Coleman, arrived at San Francisco from the Philippines yesterday morning, en route for this city. He will come east as quickly as possible to join his mourning mother and sister at the Hotel Netherwood.

Trying to Reduce Deficit.

The teachers and adult scholars of the First Baptist church Sunday-school have been asked to pay for their excursion tickets in the effort to reduce the deficit.

KILLED HIS PET CANINE

DOG BELONGING TO N. W. RAPPLEYE ACTED STRANGELY.

Finally Run Up Drain Pipe Where it Was Shot by an Unknown Man.

There was great excitement, yesterday morning, when "Tony," a pet water spaniel dog belonging to N. W. Rappleye, of Westervelt avenue, in the borough, was seized with a barking spell which he kept up for two hours. The neighbors were all of the opinion that the dog was likely to go mad and that he should be put out of the way.

The animal finally made a dash out of the yard for the brook where he ran inside of a thirty-foot iron water pipe, leading from the street into the brook. Believing the animal to be mad Fred VanEmburgh, Mr. Rappleye's son-in-law, went to police headquarters, where he secured the services of Roundsman Mattox. The two then returned to the place where the dog was in hiding. A number of people were about the place and a man, who was not known to those directly interested, took Officer Mattox's revolver and after firing eight shots into the pipe the dog was finally killed. All this time while the animal was being put out of the way, his groans and cries could be heard a considerable distance The man who killed the dog rolled his trousers up and waded into the brook to his knees where he could get a better aim at the animal.

Mr. Rappleye is loud in his denunciation of the killing of his pet dog. He believes that if left alone it would have been all right. The animal and the owner were great friends and almost inseparable.

SOCIAL LIFE AT BIG HOTEL

MANY ATTENDED THE SATURDAY EVENING HOP AT THE NETHERWOOD.

Large Attendance at Sacred Concert Last Night When Mrs. Dryden Again Rendered Her March.

Of growing popularity among the people of Plainfield are the social affairs at the Hotel Netherwood this season. Increased interest and extensive patronage on the part of the members of the upper circles give evidence that the resort is being highly appreicated. Especially was this shown at the Saturday evening hop and at the sacred concert last evening.

Another large and fashionable gathering made the affair on Saturday a memorably brilliant one. Ball room and piazzas alike were crowded with guests. When the thunder storm broke over the city, the more venturesome found a delightful view of the flashing fireworks in the heavens, while the devotees of the dance within sought forgetfulness of the warring elements.

Success of no uncertain degree greeted Mrs. Blanche Dryden at the concert last evening for her production, the "American Girl March." So well pleased were the guests with the composition last week that the composer was fairly flooded with requests to repeat it. She again rendered it in charming style, receiving tremendous applause. The mandolin solo work of Master Wood, of Brooklyn, also was highly praised.

It is worthy of remark that there were a large number of Plainfield people among the audience last evening. The generosity of the hotel management in extending hospitality to citizens, combined with the care exercised in keeping all the gatherings so select as to be beyond reproach, has not been lacking in effect in this respect.

Clay Pigeon Shoot.

The Junior Independent Gun Club held a clay bird shoot at its Alton range, Saturday afternoon. The following scores were made: Robert Crane 8, Percy Phillips 7, Harold Fenno 9, Selden Thayer 7, Harry Slawson 8, Harold VanFleet 8, Philipi Terry 9, and Frank Terry 9. The shooting was discontinued, owing to darkness, but will be continued Saturday beginning at 4 o'clock.

A Monster Excursion.

For a pleasant day by the sounding sea, to luxuriate amid cool breezes and salt water there is no better place than Asbury Park or Ocean Grove, the twins of the seashore. A monster excursion will be run to these points Thursday, July 24, by the First Presbyterian, Congregational, Park Avenue Baptist and Dunellen Sunday schools. Here is an opportunity to refresh yourself.

VACATION WITH THE GOLFERS

But Good Weather and Low Scores Made Day an Exciting One at Local Clubs.

REGULAR COMPETITIONS

Honors at Park Golf Club Won by Rev. C. L. Goodrich, While Arthur Peterson, Walter Peterson and F. A. Clark Were the Winners at Hillside—Saturday's Play.

As the vacation season is on the attendance at the two local golf courses Saturday was rather small. It was a fine day for the game and some good scores were made. On the Park Golf Club course, Rev. C. L. Goodrich won first honors, while on the Hillside course Arthur Peterson won first honors for the Boys' cup and Walter Peterson and F. A. Clark divided first honors for the Golf Committee cup.

PARK GOLF CLUB.

Just an even dozen turned in their scores for the President's cup on the Park Golf Club course, Saturday afternoon. The winner of the first three points, Rev. Charles L. Goodrich had the low score of 78, while four other contestants had to divide the other three points as each made a score of 83. This was Mr. Goodrich's first tally for the cup, while the other winners of points are advanced three-quarters of a point each.

The scores for the day, under the one hundred mark, were as follows:

	G	H	N
C. L. Goodrich	103	30	73
J. H. Howell	113	30	83

HILLSIDE CLUB.

There was a light attendance on the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course Saturday, when the weekly competitions for the Boys' and Golf Committee cups were the only attractions. Arthur Peterson won first honors for the Boys' cup, while A. D. Beers and W. T. Glenney finished second and third. This result gives young Peterson an increased lead in the competition for this cup and he will probably win out. He has been playing a remarkable game for one of his size.

The scores for the Boys' cup are as follows:

Arthur Peterson, 94, 10—84; A. D. Beers, 99, 10—89; W. T. Glenney, 101, 10—91; E. M. Daniel, 2d, 112, 18—94.

REALLY NOT JOKING MATTER

PHILADELPHIA LEDGER TAKES SENSIBLE VIEW OF MOSQUITO QUESTION.

These Insects Can be Gotten Rid Of If the Work Is Done Along Right Lines.

The Philadelphia Ledger takes a very proper view of all this mosquito extermination agitation and publishes the following editorial:

"A liberal amount of humor and some ridicule has been expended on Professor John B. Smith, the State entomologist of New Jersey, and others in connection with their efforts to exterminate the mosquito. Even members of the Assembly that authorized the State agricultural experiment station to expend $10,000 for the purpose of ascertaining means of getting rid of the pestiferous insect treated the matter with much levity. Doubtless the majority of those who take this view of the subject are unaware of the fact that experiments heretofore made elsewhere have yielded encouraging results that fully warrant continued investigations. These have at least indicated the possibility of abating the pest of mosquitoes within a given territory and, perhaps, of destroying it altogether.

"Professor L. O. Howard, the entomologist of the National Department of Agriculture, has demonstrated that the larvae of mosquitoes may be destroyed by covering the bodies of water and marshy places in which they develop with a thin layer of crude petroleum, and eminent scientific men in other lines have pointed out the larvae destroying power of certain fishes and birds. Experiments made with petroleum on marshy land and shallow pools in Staten Island last year caused a marked dimunition in the plague of mosquitoes in the vicinity; similar and other experiments are said to have been followed by beneficial results in Havana. In view of these findings, the appropriation of $10,000, made by the New Jersey Assembly, should be regarded not as an absurdity, but as a sensible and worthy movement in behalf of the comfort and health of the commonwealth.

"Mosquitoes breed in stagnant water, and it is not necessary for the development of the larvae that there be much of it. As a correspondent recently pointed out in The Ledger, the smaller inclosures holding water, such as cisterns, manure pits, cesspools, and even old tin cans and pans thrown out on waste places, are prolific breeding places for this pestiferous insect. Wherever it is possible to fill all low places and to get rid of anything in which rain or other water can collect and remain, the problem of abating the mosquito nuisance is comparatively simple, but it is not possible to fill all the low and marshy ground in New Jersey; neither is it possible nor desirable to cover all the still water ponds in the State with a thin layer of petroleum. It is, therefore, wisdom to seek for other and supplementary means of extermination. As certain species of birds and fishes are declared to be fond of mosquitoes or their larvae as a food, Professor Smith is pursuing a proper and sensible course in requesting the aid and co-operation of the New Jersey Game and Fish Commission. By ascertaining the species of birds and fishes that attack either the insect or larvae or both, the most effectively, and by carefully breeding and protecting them, Professor Smith may yet be in a position to turn the tables on those who are treating his experiments and propositions with levity.

PERSONAL.

Harvey G. Wentrick, is able to be about after several days' indisposition.

Alex. Muir, of Essex street, has returned home from a week's stay at Richmond, Va.

Mrs. Myrtle Jones, of Paterson, has been visiting Miss Beulah Waters, of East Third street.

Vacation Days.

Vacation time is here and the children are fairly living out of doors. There could be no healthier place for them. You need only to guard against the accidents incidental to most open air sports. No remedy equals DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve for quickly stopping pain or removing danger of serious consequences. For cuts, scalds and wounds. "I used DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve for sores, cuts and bruises," says L. B. Johnson, Swift, Tex. "It is the best remedy on the market." Sure cure for piles and skin diseases. Beware of counterfeits. ROW OVER A BALL GAME.

Clash at Nebraska City Between Officers and People.

LINCOLN, Neb., July 21.—A telephone message from Nebraska City says there was a riot at the baseball grounds there yesterday afternoon when the Law and Order league attempted to prevent the game. A warrant sworn out by members of the league was placed in the hands of Sheriff Brower for the arrest of the two teams.

When he arrived on the grounds, an angry crowd surrounded him. His revolver was taken away. He succeeded in arresting four players and took them to a justice's office, where they were placed under bonds.

A number of city pastors were at the justice's office, and when they left friends of the players threatened them. A rock was thrown at Rev. C. M. Shepperd of the Methodist church, striking a companion and knocking him down. Mr. Shepperd was chased to his home. Later, alleging that his life had been threatened and that church property was in danger, Mr. Shepperd appealed to the mayor for a police guard for himself and the church property, and it was promised.

This outbreak is the outcome of a long and bitter fight between the Law and Order league and friends of Sunday ball. The question was put to a vote of citizens, and there was practically a unanimous vote for Sunday ball.

Members of the league, however, refused to participate in the election.

MAMMOTH STEEL PLANT.

A Ten Million Dollar Mill to Be Erected at McKeesport, Pa.

PITTSBURG, July 21.—The United States Steel corporation has accepted the offer of the citizens' committee of McKeesport and will build its ten million dollar tube plant in that city.

The site the new plant will occupy lies between Fourth avenue and the river and from Market to Martin street, making a total area of fifteen blocks.

This announcement of the steel corporation is taken as an indication that the scheme to build a big tube plant at Conneaut has been abandoned. It is probable, however, that the proposed works at Lorain, O., will be built at a cost of about $10,000,000 and that all of the tube plants of the big steel corporation will be concentrated at McKeesport and Lorain.

Tiny Ocean Craft Sighted.

NEW YORK, July 21.—The Abiel Abbot Low, a thirty-eight foot launch equipped with a kerosene oil engine and in which Captain Henry Newman, a well known New England boatman, accompanied by his sixteen-year-old son, sailed from College Point, on Long Island, on July 9 on a 3,000 mile voyage to Falmouth, England, was spoken by two vessels which have just reached this port. Captain Newman before sailing from this side said he expected to reach England in less than thirty days. In the nine days she had been to sea when sighted by the St. Louis she had covered approximately a distance of 875 miles—almost a hundred miles per day—at which rate she should reach her destination, if no mishaps befall her, in a month's time.

The McKinley Monument Fund.

CLEVELAND, O., July 21.—It is believed the entire sum necessary to erect the memorial to the late President McKinley at Canton is about completed and that the next important step will be the raising of an endowment fund of $200,000, the interest of which will be used to care for the memorial. It is hoped to raise this money among the personal friends of the late president.

Colonel Sanger Returning.

UTICA, N. Y., July 21.—Colonel William Cary Sanger, assistant secretary of war, accompanied by Mrs. Sanger, has left here for Washington. Secretary Root sails for Europe next Thursday, and during his absence of six weeks Colonel Sanger will be in charge of the war department.

Arrested For Sedition.

BOMBAY, July 21.—A man has been arrested at Lucknow for preaching sedition in the lines of the Seventh Rajput regiment. The prisoner is believed to be Ranabeni Madhu of Shankarpur, famous as a mutiny leader, who was known to have been hiding in Nepal a few months ago.

Eleven Stores Burned.

MACON, Ga., July 21.—Fire at Colquitt, Ga., destroyed eleven stores along the public square. Among the buildings burned were the postoffice and the Masonic temple. The more important stores were general merchandise establishments.

German Cotton Spinners Complain.

BERLIN, July 21.—The west German cotton spinners are agitating for a general curtailment of production. They claim they lose eight pfennigs on every pound of yarn sold, the daily losses amounting to $50,000.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

A typhoon of unusual severity has caused considerable damage in Hongkong and vicinity. It is estimated that there were twenty fatalities.

Robert Graham Dun of New York city left $5,930,796 and bequeathed paintings worth at least $200,000 to the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

Eighty American pilgrims, under the leadership of Father E. H. Porcile of Brooklyn, have arrived in Rome and have applied for an audience with the pope.

Having been four days adrift at sea with broken shaft and six days in tow of the Scholar, the Beigenland of the American line, from Philadelphia for Liverpool, arrived in Halifax harbor.

ELEVEN LIVES LOST.

City of Baltimore Visited by a Fierce Tornado.

DAMAGE TO BUILDINGS AND TREES.

Of Those Who Perished Nine Were Drowned In the Harbor — A Colored Camp Meeting Disturbed.

BALTIMORE, July 21.—A fierce tornado characterized by a windstorm of extraordinary velocity, thunder, vivid lightning and a heavy rain suddenly burst upon Baltimore at 1:30 p. m. yesterday, coming from the southwest, with the net result that eleven persons lost their lives, hundreds of houses were unroofed, trees in the public parks and streets were torn up by the roots, many buildings damaged and several people injured. The storm exhausted its fury in less than fifteen minutes. The damage done in the business part of the city was comparatively slight, being confined to the blowing down of signs and injuries to roofs. It was in the residence portions of the city, along the river front and in the harbor where the wind spent its violence.

Of those who perished nine were drowned in the harbor from open boats, one was killed by a falling tree and one by a live wire. The following is a list of the dead:

Roy Bateman, twelve years old; Joseph Cain, ten years old; John Cain, five years old; Thomas Carroll, twenty-one years old; Harry McCormick, nineteen years old; Mrs. Mary Schuler, twenty-eight years old; Harry S. Schuler, ten months old; Olive Schuler, four years old; Charles Schuler, seven years old; William Cornish, colored, and Charles Schaefer.

The first three victims on the above list were out in a rowboat on the river with three other companions. When the storm broke, the boat was capsized, three being drowned, while the other three were rescued by the tugboat Edna V. George. The boy killed by a live wire had in company with two other boys gone into a shed for protection, when the shed blew down, and a live wire fell on one of them, resulting in his death.

The drowning of Mrs. Schuler and her children was the most pathetic incident of the hurricane. Michael Schuler, with his wife and three children, accompanied by his brother-in-law, Joseph Cook, and his wife, had gone out into the harbor for a sail in a thirty foot boat. When the storm came, Schuler and Cook took in sails. Schuler sent his wife and children into the little cabin, and he stood at the tiller to keep the vessel's head toward the wind. A sudden gust of wind threw the boom of the vessel around, knocking Schuler down and pinning him to the deck. Another gust capsized the boat, releasing Schuler, who, with Cooper and his wife, were thrown into the water, leaving Mrs. Schuler and her children pinned in the cabin. Cooper saved himself and his wife by hanging to the bottom of the overturned boat, and Schuler saved himself in the same way after making frantic efforts to get at his imprisoned wife and children. A crew from the schooner Edward H. Hunt rescued Schuler and Cooper and his wife and towed the capsized vessel to the wharf, where it was righted and the dead bodies of Mrs. Schuler and her three children were taken from the cabin.

Thomas Carroll, with four other young men, was out in the harbor in a rowboat, which was capsized. Carroll was drowned, while his four companions clung to the rudder of the Merchants and Miners' steamship Chatham, from which perilous position they were rescued by the tug Mary.

A colored camp meeting was in progress in Paradise grove, near Powhatan, on the Liberty road. The congregation had just been dismissed when the storm broke. A huge oak tree fell upon the tent in which the services had been held. Several of the worshipers were caught beneath it as it fell. The tree had to be sawed into pieces before the imprisoned men and women could be released. William Cornish was crushed to death by the falling tree. The others were not seriously hurt.

A hole several feet in diameter was blown in the wall of St. Mary's Star of the Sea Catholic church in South Baltimore. A portion of the stone cornice, weighing more than a ton, fell to the street. Fortunately no one was injured by the falling stone and brick. The damage to the church is estimated at $7,000. At the foot of Concord street the Merchants and Miners' Transportation company's warehouse was unroofed, with small damage to the building, but the rain poured in on the valuable stock stored therein, doing a damage which is estimated at from $100,000 to $300,000. The gas reservoir in South Baltimore, containing about 300,000 feet of gas, was blown over, the gas exploding, without injuring any one, the damage being placed at $15,000. The damage to the shipping in the harbor was general, but not of a serious nature, including such as the ripping of sails and the loss of masts and spars.

At St. Michaels, Md., two young men, Harry Appel, aged twenty-two, and Maurice Small, aged twenty-three, of Baltimore were drowned while bathing in Miles river.

Two Men Drowned.

TOLCHESTER, Md., July 21.—James B. Post, aged twenty, and Theodore C. Parker, twenty-one years old, of Baltimore, who came here on an excursion, were drowned yesterday afternoon. They, with four companions, were rowing in the bay. A wind squall overturned the boat. The other occupants of the little craft clung to it until rescued.

MIDSUMMER FLOODS.

Damage Along the Mississippi Many Millions.

HUNDREDS OF FARMERS RUINED.

Growing Crops, the Greatest Ever Known. Deep Under Water—Most Costly Inundation In River's History Above St. Louis.

KEOKUK, Ia., July 21.—Exploration of the flooded districts of the Mississippi river from Keokuk south shows conditions beyond the appreciation or realization of any but those of long experience with the Father of Waters in its most destructive mood.

The situation is growing worse hourly, and a great conflagration in a great city would not be more rapidly destructice of values. There is absolutely not the slightest chance of stopping this most costly flood in the history of the great river above St. Louis.

Everywhere the greatest crops ever known are under water deep enough to float a steamboat. People at the river cities give accounts of losses aggregating many millions of dollars. Hundreds of farmers rich ten days ago are penniless and homeless.

Careful estimates gathered from the statements of best informed people indicate the loss up to the present at about $6,000,000, with every prospect of $2,000,000 or $3,000,000 additional by the rise above not yet reaching the lower stretches of the river.

Most of this loss is on the Missouri side of the river between Keokuk and Hannibal.

Alexandria was protected to the last by the Egyptian levee, the breaking of which would send four feet of water all over the town. Gregory is also submerged.

Immense fields are seen in a great lake, with the shore visible only with a glass where the high bluffs bound the bottoms. Islands dotting the river at its normal stage have disappeared except for the tops of trees or fringe of high shore willows slightly protruding like a circular coral reef. Occasionally a house on piles or stilts is seen, but generally only roofs rise to mark the center of farms.

On the edge of the flood river corn gradually rises on a slope, tassels, tops, ears, stalks, appearing in order. In the middle of the present river the tracks of the St. Louis, Keokuk and Northwestern railroad, normally on the Missouri shore, are now a few inches above the water and under it in some stretches. Shore lights for pilots are standing in the midst of a waste of waters, where steamboats can run over them. The river is five to ten miles wide, and another lake seventy miles long is added to the map.

All this territory was practically covered with corn a fortnight ago, estimated to make seventy-five to a hundred bushels to the acre. Previous estimates of the loss have been greatly increased by the prospective yield being found much greater than ever before, experts telling of many farms that were good for a hundred bushels to the acre before the flood. The loss is total. Experience is that if water stays forty-eight hours even four inches under the surface it kills corn, and every stalk wet by waves perishes from rotting roots.

The chief flood thus far is on the Missouri side, from Keokuk to Louisiana, with Canton and West Quincy, as centers of the country, hurt worse. On the Illinois side are three continuous levees for forty miles, from Warsaw to Quincy, above the water, which are thus far safe, but farmers are afraid of crevasses from muskrat holes, and every rod of the redoubt is watched day and night.

The breaking of these levees would flood 175 square miles in Illinois and destroy $2,000,000 to $3,000,000 worth of corn. The levees below Quincy are in the same situation, except that they are lower and less firm.

Opposite Quincy, in Missouri, is still another center of special devastation which is appalling. North (twelve miles) to Lagrange and south to Holten large prairies are well under water, reaching from the Illinois bluffs to the Missouri bluffs, at least ten miles. Levees hastily thrown around farms are disappearing in a fierce current rushing from above through the draw of the Burlington bridge, carrying everything before it. Lone Tree prairie, ten miles square, is deserted, the population having fled to Quincy and the bluffs on the Missouri side, from which they watch the complete destruction.

The Illinois River Threatens.

PEORIA, Ill., July 21.—The Illinois river stands in imminent danger of causing thousands of dollars' worth of damage to buildings and manufactories in Peoria. The damage already caused along the lowlands by the floods will be but a drop in the bucket compared with the loss if the water shall rise one foot higher.

Shot at Hawk; Killed Boy.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., July 21.—The accidental death of James Bilyon, aged six years, is reported from Ohioville, Ulster county. His brother Graham was firing with a rifle at a hawk when the younger boy ran in range of the gun, and the charge entered his head, killing him instantly.

The Windward's Journey.

NORTH SYDNEY, C. B., July 21.—The Peary arctic steamer Windward, from New York July 14, has arrived. She will coal and proceed north today, being joined here by Mrs. Peary and her daughter.

Noted Publisher Dead.

LONDON, July 21.—The death is announced of C. Kegan Paul, the publisher. He was born March 8, 1828.

NAVAL OPERATIONS.

Summer Maneuvers of the North Atlantic Squadron Begun.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Summer maneuvers of the north Atlantic squadron off the New England and middle Atlantic coasts have now actually begun. From now until the end of the first week in September the squadron will work out problems prepared by the general board and busy itself with drills and evolutions, with short interruptions for coaling and taking on supplies.

The picturesque feature of the summer's work and the one which is exciting the most interest will be the attempt of several war vessels representing an enemy to gain the coast through a vigilant defending squadron. The latter will send out scouts and use its utmost endeavor to locate the invaders before any of them may slip through the lines and put the guardians of the nation's safety to shame.

HEAD ON COLLISION.

One Killed and Fifteen Injured In a Lehigh Valley Wreck.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 21.—A fatal head on collision occurred between two passenger trains on the Lehigh Valley railroad near Hope hospital, this city, last evening, in which one person was almost instantly killed and fifteen others were more or less seriously injured.

Both trains were running at a high rate of speed when they came together. An engine and one passenger coach in one of the trains was thrown from the track down an embankment and into the Erie canal feeder and was completely wrecked. The other engine was demolished, but remained on the roadbed.

A Chinaman's Plight.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—Lo Jow, a Chinaman who had been refused a pass by the Chinese bureau here, is in a peculiar position. He is desirous of taking a trip to China, but has no certificate of registration, as he claims he is native born. The bureau refuses to admit that he is a native, though it has not detained him for deportation. In order to have a chance to show in court that he is a citizen, Jow had himself arrested and charged with illegal residence in this country. He was brought before United States Commissioner Heacock for a hearing, but the commissioner ordered him dismissed from custody. Heacock declares that if he granted a hearing on such a charge to Jow, thousands of Chinese would follow their countryman's example and try to prove their citizenship. A hearing before him was not the proper mode of procedure.

Riotous Soldiers Quiet Down.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., July 21.—The incipient riot started by several hundred soldiers from Fort Leavenworth, who demolished the house of a negro in the low quarter here, following the stabbing of Eli Loucke, a cavalryman, by an inmate of the place, has ended quietly. A company of the Fourth cavalry arrived and rounded up those soldiers who had not voluntarily returned to the post. Loucke is reported to have a chance of recovery. Groups of soldiers continue to discuss the trouble, but it is believed no further disturbance will occur unless Loucke shall die. The general sentiment is with the soldiers, and there is some talk of organizing a vigilance committee to drive out the tough characters and thugs.

Costly Fire at Dallas.

DALLAS, Tex., July 21.—Fire in the exposition grounds located in the suburbs of East Dallas destroyed in thirty minutes the main exposition building, one of the largest structures in the country; the music hall annex, the poultry building, the private buildings of the J. I. Case Plow company, Southern Rock Island Plow company and the Parlin Orendorff company. The loss will reach $100,000; insurance probably $30,000. The exposition site is beyond the city limits, and the water pressure was weak. Many of the buildings situated within the grounds ignited at times, but were saved after a hard fight.

A Minnesota Pioneer Dead.

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 21.—Henry L. Moss, who was the first United States district attorney for the territory of Minnesota, is dead at his home in this city, aged eighty-three. Mr. Moss was born in Oneida county, N. Y., in 1819 and came to Minnesota in 1848, settling at Stillwater. President Taylor appointed him United States district attorney in 1849, and he was reappointed by President Lincoln in 1863.

Negro Shot by Mob.

KOSCIUSKO, Miss., July 21.—Two negroes, Monroe Hallman and James Gaston, have been shot to death at Cross Roads, thirteen miles west of Kosciusko, by a mob. The trouble arose from the organization of secret societies of negroes, with the intention, it is said, of inciting the negroes to violence against the whites.

Secretary Baer Resigns.

BOSTON, July 21.—John Willis Baer, secretary of the United Society of Christian Endeavor, has tendered his resignation to take effect on Oct. 1 and has accepted a position as assistant secretary of the Presbyterian Board of Home Missions. Mr. Baer begins his new work in New York Oct. 1.

President Has Day of Rest.

OYSTER BAY, July 21.—President Roosevelt passed a quiet Sunday at Sagamore Hill. No callers were expected, and none was received. The president and his family attended religious services in the morning at the Christ Episcopal church, of which Mrs. Roosevelt is a member.

DEATH IN A CLOUDBURST.

Southern New York Visited by Damaging Downpour.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., July 21.—The heavy rains which have prevailed in this section for the past few days ended in three separate cloudbursts within the limits of Broome county alone and several in surrounding territory to the northward, breaking mill dams, washing out railroad tracks and highway bridges and doing much minor damage as well as delaying trains. As a result of the waters' mad work four are killed and two seriously injured and $200,000 of monetary damage has been done.

The dead are: James Cook, drowned at Afton, Chenango county; Mrs. James Cook, wife of above; six-months-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Cook. Michael J. Ryan of this city, killed in washout at Harpursville, Broome county, on Delaware and Hudson railroad. Engineer Edward Farrell and Fireman Willis E. Marsh, both of this city, were seriously injured.

Worst July Storm Ever Known.

FARMER, N. Y., July 21.—The most disastrous flood that has visited this portion of Seneca county occurred yesterday afternoon. The rain commenced Saturday night, but the heavy downpour came between 2 and 3:30 Sunday afternoon, washing away everything in the path of the torrent. Wheat in the shock, hay on the ground once cocked up, gardens, roads and in some places bridges, are washed out. Torbert's and Usher's creeks, which cross Main street in this village, were over a foot deep on the roadway and fifty to seventy-five yards wide. At the Lehigh Valley depot, on level ground, the ballasting was washed from under the track in several places. The damage to the town of Covert will amount to thousands of dollars. It was the worst July storm ever experienced here.

The Mohawk Again Rampant.

UTICA, N. Y., July 21.—Heavy rain during the past forty-eight hours has again overflowed the Mohawk river and the lowlands. It is believed the oat, hay and corn crops will be very small. There is a noticeable shrinkage in the flow of milk because of wet pastures.

Garment Workers Strike.

NEW YORK, July 21.—Twenty-five thousand east side garment workers are out on strike, and it is predicted 15,000 more will follow. The Brotherhood of Tailors demand of the manufacturers a fifty-six hour working week, the payment of last year's union scale, a guarantee that the contractors or middlemen will pay union wages and employ union men and also a guarantee that in case a middleman defaults they will get their wages. Conferences between representatives of the union and the employers were held last week, but no settlement was reached. The employers were willing to grant the fifty-six hour working week, but were not willing to take any pledges as to the payment of wages by the contractors.

Mackay Dead In London.

LONDON, July 21.—John W. Mackay of San Francisco, who had been suffering from heat prostration since Tuesday last, died at his residence on Carlton House terrace at half past 6 o'clock last evening. Mr. Mackay grew worse rapidly yesterday. He was unconscious most of the time and died very peacefully. The immediate cause of death was heart failure. The right lung was found to be congested, and the symptoms indicated pneumonia. Mrs. Mackay, her mother and Countess Telfener were present when Mr. Mackay died, and Princess Galatro Colonna arrived from Paris a half hour after her stepfather's death.

What the Vatican Will Lose.

LONDON, July 21.—The Rome correspondent of the Morning Post, detailing the negotiations between Judge Taft and the Vatican, contends that the American authorities can unquestionably expel the friars from the Philippines without violating the treaty of Paris. What the Vatican gains by its obstinacy, says the correspondent, is not clear, but it certainly will lose about $5,000,000.

Twenty-five Turks Killed.

LONDON, July 21.—The Constantinople correspondent of the Daily Telegraph reports that an engagement has taken place at Strumitza, European Turkey, between a force of 300 Bulgarian troops and a body of Turkish irregulars. Twenty-five Turks, the correspondent says, were killed in the engagement.

Lost Life to Save Dog.

BALTIMORE, July 21.—Daniel Furney, fifty-eight years old, dashed in front of a rapidly moving Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore train at the Lafayette avenue crossing to rescue his pet fox terrier, which was on the track. He saved the dog, but was himself run down and cut to pieces.

Hon. Hilary Herbert Better.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—The condition of Hon. Hilary A. Herbert, formerly secretary of the navy, who has been suffering from an attack of typhoid fever, has improved, and he has been removed to Afton, Va., where it is hoped conditions will be more favorable for his rapid recovery.

New Public Library For Utica.

UTICA, N. Y., July 21.—The general contract for the erection of the new public library building in this city has been awarded to the J. W. Bishop company of Providence at $162,000.

Oneida Lake Hotel Burned.

NORTH BAY, N. Y., July 21.—Brayton's hotel, owned by Michael Brayton of Utica, was totally destroyed by fire. Loss, $6,000; insurance, $4,000.

HUNTING LADRONES.

Movement In Cavite Province Not Completed.

THE SULTAN OF BACOLOD RETRACTS.

Has Now Written a Friendly Letter to American Commander Disowning Warlike Intentions. Wright Going Home.

MANILA, July 21.—The movement in Cavite province against the ladrones is not yet complete. It is anticipated that many ladrones will be captured, but it is possible that the leaders have escaped to the mountains. The withdrawal of the constabulary from Thalacan and Rizal to take part in the movement in Cavite has produced considerable activity northeast of Manila, where the municipal police are watching the ladrones.

The cholera is decreasing in Manila and the provinces, and the health board has decided to relax the quarantine regulations which have been enforced between cities and provinces. This step has been decided upon because of the failure of the natives to co-operate in the measure and the general native opposition to sanitary plans.

The sultan of Bacolod, Mindanao, who recently sent an insultingly worded communication to the commander of the American expedition to Lake Lanao, in which he threatened to begin offensive operations in August, has now written a friendly letter to the commander of the American forces in which he disavows all desire to fight and says he will confer with the Americans in the future.

The general Moro situation is regarded as favorable.

Two natives who were implicated in the massacre of American soldiers at Binangonan, Rizal province, island of Luzon, on Memorial day, have been arrested on a charge of murder. Their identification is complete.

Acting Governor Wright, Secretary Ferguson and Generals Bell and Bisbee will accompany General Chaffee on his return to the United States. The party will sail on the United States transport McClellan Sept. 30.

To Reorganize Asphalt Business.

PHILADELPHIA, July 21.—The plan of reorganization of the Asphalt Company of America and the National Asphalt company, which companies are in the hands of receivers, is made public by two committees that have been examining the conditions of the companies. The plan provides that the new corporation is to have a capital of $31,000,000. The new company can acquire the property and securities formerly belonging to the Asphalt Company of America and the National Asphalt company, but in case the two committees shall be of the opinion that the acquisition of any such property or securities would not be to the interest of the new company such property or securities may not be taken.

King's Progress Surprising.

COWES, England, July 21.—King Edward yesterday attended divine services which were conducted by Commodore Lambton, the commander of the Victoria and Albert. Queen Alexandra and the other members of the royal family aboard the yacht were also present. A cold northeast wind necessitated the inclosing of the sides and stern of the deck, where the king usually stays. His majesty now rises at 9 o'clock in the morning and takes his breakfast a half hour later, after which he is visited by his physicians. The king's progress continues to surprise his doctors.

Will Visit New Hampshire.

CONCORD, N. H., July 21.—Governor Jordan has been officially notified by President Roosevelt through Secretary Cortelyou that the president will come to New Hampshire on the 28th of August. The governor will detail members of his staff, with Secretary of State Pearson, to meet President Roosevelt in Boston and escort him to Concord, where he will be joined by the governor's party and staff, and proceed to The Weirs, where the president will be the guest of the New Hampshire Veterans' association at their annual encampment.

Murder and Suicide.

MARSHALL, Mo., July 21.—George Wiley shot and killed Miss Dovie Flynn, stepdaughter of Richard Dearking, a Chicago and Alton railway employee, at the latter's home here and then committed suicide. The woman had refused to marry him. She died within a few minutes without making a statement. Later Wiley's body was found in the street in front of the Dearking home.

A Cut Rate Steamship Line.

LONDON, July 21.—R. P. Houston & Co. of Liverpool, it is announced, intend immediately to start a line of cargo steamers from Middlesborough, Glasgow and Liverpool to South African ports to carry cargo at cut rates. In conjunction with the Prince line the Houstons intend to establish also a fortnightly service between New York and South African ports.

New Sultan of Zanzibar.

ZANZIBAR, East Africa, July 21.—Seyyid Aeei has been proclaimed sultan of Zanzibar in succession to Hamoud bin Mahomed bin Said, who died Friday morning from paralysis. Mr. Rogers, the present prime minister, has been appointed to serve as regent till the sultan shall have attained his majority.

COMING EVENTS.

July 22—Excursion of Benevolent Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., to Atlantic City.

AT THE STATE CAMP.

It is now forty-eight hours since the boys of Company K, together with the other companies which go to make up the Second Regiment of the New Jersey National Guard, reached the State camp at Sea Girt. From all accounts the soldier boys are thoroughly enjoying themselves. While camp life is not exactly like home and some of the comforts are missing, it will be a good thing for the young citizen-soldiers and will furnish them with training which will be invaluable, even if circumstances never necessitate their being called into action.

Saturday ended the visit of the Third Regiment at the State camp. The week was an eventful one and differed considerably in some ways from the encampments of previous years. Brigadier-General Gillmore had some new ideas which were introduced with success. Now the Second Regiment will have the benefit of them.

Probably the greatest event of the week will be the review of the Regiment Thursday. U. S. Senator Kean has invited President Roosevelt to attend it and there is a good chance that the Chief Executive will be on hand. The presence of the President will be a decided honor and the soldier boys of the Second Regiment will undoubtedly do their best to make a fine appearance. Company K, although the youngest company in the regiment, has already shown itself able to make an appearance equal to that of the older companies and may now be expected to win commendatory notice from the visitors at Sea Girt this week.

Those Plainfielders, who have the opportunity, should not fail to visit the State camp this week. It is a good thing to see the militia of the State and the boys at the camp will be glad to see any familiar faces.

Some interesting facts were brought out at the State Endeavor convention which was held at Bridgeton, last week. There are now in the State 1,133 societies. During the last year, forty-five new ones have been formed while seventy-three have disbanded. While that may look like a step backward, there is still a strong interest in the Endeavor movement in New Jersey. Like countless other organizations, however, the Christian Endeavor Societies of the State need waking up. After the first flush of enthusiasm attendant on the introduction of the movement, it is a natural thing that there should be rather a retrograde movement. If, however, some influence is brought to bear to wake up the Endeavorers, the movement will continue with greater strength than ever.

When you calmly place the facts before the officials of the Plainfield Water Supply Company, they cannot but admit that the present method of taxing the consumer is unfair. If the advocacy of the water meter is continued long enough, there is an excellent chance that the officials can be brought around to the same view that the public takes of the situation.

FOR MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP

PHILADELPHIA RECORD PUBLISHES A STRONG EDITORIAL ON SUBJECT.

Says It Is Practical Business Policy That Causes Chicago to Favor Owning Street Railways.

The Philadelphia Record recently published the following editorial in defence of municipal ownership in general and of street car lines in particular:

"Of 175,000 voters in Chicago who expressed themselves, more than 150,000 were in favor of municipal ownership of the street railways. Because of this an Eastern editor professes to be greatly disturbed in his mind, since it seems to him to indicate an alarming growth of a State Socialism sentiment. He can see no essential difference between municipal ownership of the street railways and the Government ownership of the railroads.

"The municipality is that corporation which has direct control over whatever makes life in the city secure or unsafe, economical or extravagant, comfortable or wretched. It is a chartered institution to control the expenditure of enormous aggregates of money mainly raised by direct taxation. Every case of mismanagement or maladministration or corruption has a distinct and serious effect on the comfort, safety and prosperity of the citizen. There is no principle under which the right of the municipality to own the street railways can be challenged. That right is as distinct as the right to own the water supply, to pave the streets, dispose of the garbage or to undertake any enterprise of a public character which is essential to the comfort or well-being of the community and which the citizen, as an individual, cannot do for himself. The main objection to municipal ownership of the street railways is the mischievous interference of the political parties in city affairs. Usually the party in power has for its chief purpose not the best administration of the municipal business, but the benefit of the local organization of the party, and this is often fatal to the honest conduct of public enterprises.

"There are always substantial reasons why the Federal Government should not wrest from private hands any enterprise which is not essential to the existence or well-being of the Government. The first purpose of the Government is to protect the individual in his right to undertake any legitimate business enterprise—in his right to the utmost freedom of action consistent with the exercise of the same right by others. Because the carrying of letters was considered necessary to the very existence of the Republic, being a means of the spread of intelligence, and because private enterprise could not and would not give such a mail service as the welfare of the nation demanded, the Government became a letter-carrier. Unless it could be shown that the railroad service in private hands is inefficient there could be no warrant for Government ownership. In other words, the Federal Government should not undertake any business without the most positive proofs of its necessity; and the municipality should hold control of public utilities in order to insure an equitable service.

"The duty of the municipality to manage the street railways may be neglected because of the danger of the abuse of the system in the interest of politicians; but where this danger has been removed or has never existed, as in some European cities, it is not State Socialism for the city to exercise such control. The Chicago voters have found the street railway service in private hands intolerable, and they believe it would be an improvement for the city to take control. Also, they have been shocked by the giving away of franchises to men who have subsequently sold them for millions on which the public must pay interest through the agency of high fares. They are not State Socialists, but practical business men."

SUBURBAN NEWS

A Department Devoted to the Minor Events in Greater Plainfield's Suburbs by Our Own Correspondents.

DUNELLEN.

An interesting afternoon play was held on the Park Tennis court Saturday when a match was played between teams from the West End Tennis Club, of Plainfield, and the Park Tennis Club. Dunellen was represented by Craig and Richardson and the West End Club by Morgan and Briggs. Morgan and Briggs took the first set 6-4, after some remarkably good tennis. The next set went the same way by a score of 6-3. The third set was taken by Craig and Richardson in easy fashion by a score of 6-2. The fourth set and the match went to the visitors in the most exciting play of the afternoon 8-6. A large number of spectators were present. A return match will be played shortly.

The funeral services of the late Elizabeth Pound were held yesterday from the residence of her son-in-law, Poole Voorhees, of Rock avenue. As the deceased was an old resident in this vicinity the services were attended by a large number of friends. Interment was made in Plainfield. Rev. S. K. Doolittle had charge of the services.

W. L. Holbert, of the International Correspondence Schools, who is now conducting an exhibit of the school's methods in the Kratzel building, will remain until tomorrow evening for the benefit of those who wish to enroll. Mechanical draughtsmen wanted.

Mrs. O. C. Osborn, of Philadelphia; Capt. and Mrs. B. C. Smith and daughter, Helen, of Weehauken; Miss Daisy Taylor, of Poughkeepsie, and Miss Daisy Hicks, of Union Hill, are the guest of Mrs. Albert Brokaw, of Greenbrook road.

Contrary to the usual order of affairs there was no baseball in town Saturday. The Athletic Club had an off day and the Y. M. C. team was disappointed in getting a game. Even the junior teams did not play.

Theo. Day and family left yesterday for New York State. Mr. Day will remain until Thursday and his family for a month.

Mrs. Robert Lourie, of North avenue, has been confined to the house by illness for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wynkoop entertained Mr. and Mrs. Robert Meeker, of Plainfield, yesterday.

Mrs. Cottrelly, of Front street, entertained a number of out of town friends yesterday.

Frank E. Touzeau has been spending a short time with friends near Kingston, N. Y.

Some extensive repairs are being made to the interior of Andrew house on Grove street.

Miss Williams, of Westfield, has been spending a few days with Miss Janie Churchill.

Mrs. Reed, of Grove street, was taken ill suddenly yesterday but is recovering today.

Dr. A. W. Anderson, of Plainfield, spent yesterday at the home of James Craig.

Mrs. S. K. Doolittle entertained a nephew from New York over Sunday.

Daniel Richardson, of Plainfield, visited friends in town yesterday.

An exciting game of ball was played yesterday at Dewey Park.

Regular services were held in the local churches yesterday.

NEW MARKET.

An exciting game of baseball was witnessed on the local diamond Saturday when New Market was defeated by the Orange Field Club, of Plainfield. Heavy batting characterized the game and both pitchers suffered equally. The final score was 14 to 12. Up to the eighth inning the score was 8 to 8. In the eighth and ninth both sides landed on the ball hard, but the visitors had better luck with men on bases. Nelson at second for New Market played a good game.

The brass band will shine forth in all its glory Thursday evening when a concert and ice cream festival will be held on the spacious lawn of Dr. Nelson's residence. The concert will last from 8 to 11. All sorts of good things will be on sale.

The Christian Endeavor meeting was held last evening from 7 to 8.

Regular services were held in the local churches yesterday.

Mrs. L. E. Livermore visited in Plainfield this morning.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The Baptist Young People's Union held an enjoyable echo meeting last night of the National B. Y. P. U. convention held last week, at Providence, R. I. The several delegates who attended divided the time of the meeting and gave interesting accounts of their trip through this interesting section which is so closely linked with the early history of the country.

The heavy showers of Saturday night filled the gutters through the village faster than the culverts could carry the water away. Consequently Park avenue in several places was under several inches of water for a short time.

Robert and Lynus Walpole spent Saturday at the Passaic river angling for the wily bass. The efforts were rewarded with one of the best catches of the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Schmidt, of Westfield avenue, have been entertaining friends from Raritan for a pleasant visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grant spent Sunday with Mrs. Grant's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. M. Paff, Sr.

John E. Flannery, of Plainfield, was the guest Sunday of his mother, Mrs. John Flannery.

Miss Sadie Johnston, of Plainfield, spent Sunday with her aunt, Mrs. John Marsh.

John Rickerson has accepted a position at one of the booths at Galvin Park.

Joseph Schmidt has returned from a visit with friends in New York.

Arthur Haskard spent Sunday with friends in Brooklyn.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The funeral services over the remains of the late John Geary were held this morning. A host of friends, relatives and neighbors of the deceased gathered at his late residence at 9 o'clock. At 10, services were held at St. Mary's church, Plainfield. Interment was made in the Plainfield cemetery.

Wm. Voorhees and son, of Bound Brook, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Thorne, Saturday afternoon.

Russel Bond, a former resident of this place, spent Saturday and Sunday visiting friends in town.

Mrs Henry Teeple entertained, yesterday, her niece, Mrs. Foster, of Perth Amboy.

Harry Teeple spent yesterday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Teeple.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. W. L. Force, of Duer street, accompanied by her brother, Hugh S. Laing, went to Philadelphia today, where they will remain for a week at the home of Mrs. Force's sister, Mrs. N. Carman Dunn.

H. Russell Voorhees, of New York city and Plainfield, a relative of ex-Governor Foster M. Voorhees, has just returned from a ten days' business trip to Chicago, Milwaukee, Minneapolis and St. Louis. He leaves again tomorrow morning on the Pennsylvania Limited for Cincinnati, returning via Sweet Springs, Va., for a little recreation.

Mother Always Keeps It Handy.

"My mother suffered a long time from distressing pains and general ill health due primarily to indigestion," says L. W. Spalding, Verona, Mo. "Two years ago I got her to try Kodol. She grew better at once and now, at the age of seventy-six, eats any thing she wants, remarking that she fears no bad effects as she has her bottle of Kodol handy." Don't waste time doctoring symptoms. Go after the cause. If your stomach is sound your health will be good. Kodol rests the stomach and strengthens the body by digesting your food. It is nature's own tonic. L. W. Randolph.

bringing in two runs before Montross was placed in the box. Allen was nailed at home and Fish and Jackson died at first.

The Hopes sent one man in the second, were shut out in the third and rallied enough toward the end of the game to get five runs but it was not enough. Montross stopped the batting for a while but in the sixth even he couldn't stay the leather slugging and the game ended with the Hopes three behind.

BEATEN BY DEAF MUTES

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Scotch Plains, July 21—The Scotch Plains baseball team went down to defeat Saturday afternoon before the crack Xavier Deaf Mutes team, of New York, by a score to 5 to 8. The game at time was very exciting and should have been won by the home team had it not been that the infield, which has been such a terror to batters during the season, went to pieces at several critical stages of the game. This and stupid base running helped the visitors materially.

Harvey, of the local team, pitched a superb game, striking out six of the heavy hitting Xaviers and not allowing a pass to base. Had he received the usual support the score would have been kept down. Fitzgerald, who was in the box for the visitors, gave six men free passes to first and did not strike out a man, his delivery proving to be very easy for the locals but the support given him kept the hits scattered and several two-baggers were taken care of by the outfield while the infield work was all that could be desired. The noiseless kicks put up at several stages of the game by the visitors proved to be very interesting to the large crowd present, especially when Umpire Quereau endeavored to explain to them. But altogether the visitors left a good impression with the ball loving public and when the two teams meet again which will be on Saturday afternoon, August 2, Manager Johnston's men promise to wipe out the defeat of Saturday.

Saturday's defeat was the second of the season for the team and it has been playing some of the best clubs through this section and around the Metropolitan district. Next Saturday afternoon the team will cross bats with the Riversides, Newark's crack team.

Following is the line-up and score by innings:

A CRIPPLE FACTORY.

New York Concern Which Is Really a School for Beggars.

Pupils Are Taught to Simulate Paralysis, Epilepsy, the Loss of a Limb, the Absence of Sight and Other "Grafts."

In a dingy old building in New York close to the ugliness of Chatham square more than two score of men are made cripple or blind every morning and are made whole again at night.

These modern day miracles are performed upon a well organized gang of mendicants, who make their headquarters in what is known as "No. 15," and it is from here that they branch out over all of New York to wax fat upon the credulity and generosity of an uninquiring public. As evening comes a stream of poorly dressed men, bandaged or on crutches, men who have lately stood in some busy thoroughfare pitiable spectacles of misfortune, blind or paralyzed, hurry up the dingy stairways to living rooms, soon to emerge without their badges of sorrow as whole as any man and ready to enjoy the fruits of a day spent in befooling the easily humbugged public.

The place where these mendicants are taught the art of deceiving the public is known, according to the Chicago Tribune, as the American hotel. On the ground floor is a saloon and above are the sleeping-rooms, where these professional beggars assume their garb of misfortune in the morning and discard it again at night. The chief of the gang of motley city bandits is a Bowery character known as "Whitey." He is a tall, well-built man of 30, who never leaves the shadows of Chatham square and does not beg himself. He is in reality business manager and stage director for the mendicants and directs their movements when they go out to beguile people in the streets.

"Whitey" and two assistants map out the city and assign the beggars to certain localities, taking particular care not to place too many of the blind or of the halt in one section. It is their duty also to instruct novices in the art of becoming "good grafters." With surprising success they teach their pupils to simulate paralysis, epilepsy, the loss of a limb, or the absence of sight, and when a beggar is turned out of this novel school he is usually an adept "Whitey" is in reality an artist, with a well grounded knowledge of human nature and of how to start the well springs of human sympathy to flowing. The "Brotherhood of Grafters," quick to recognize talent that can teach them new tricks when the old ones have lost their effect, consider him worthy of his hire, and he is in reality their king.

"Whitey" produces blind men at the rate of several a day. He also teaches his pupils how to throw an epileptic fit and make it seem natural; he instructs them in the deaf and dumb language; hides an arm or a leg as naturally as though it had been clipped off by a surgeon; in short, demonstrates all sorts of deceptions that will result in getting money without work. Epilepsy is easily simulated by a few simple twists of the face and body. The frothing at the mouth is produced by chewing a small piece of soap.

By practicing these artful devices an energetic beggar can earn from $1.50 to $2.50 per day. "Whitey" gets a certain per cent. of this for furnishing the brains and the rest usually goes across the bar of the American hotel during the evening, when most of the mendicants give themselves over to wild revelry. Those who make a particularly good haul and feel inclined to hear some music drift around to the Chatham club at 8 Pell street. The club is on the first floor of a rickety building and is furnished with about 100 chairs ranged about the walls and a few tables. It boasts of a piano and a concertina. In this place music and dancing are kept up all night, and the unfortunate mendicant of the day becomes the loud roysterer of the night. Here, also, the common beggars are reenforced by "second-story men," "pickpockets" and "soft-shoe men," and there seems to be a certain bond between the various branches of the fraternity of evil-doers.

After having had as hilarious time as they wish and dissipating the money out of which they have "conned" the public during the day, the men return to No. 15 Bowery, where most of them live.

Many of them have made their homes there continuously for years, and it is seldom indeed that an arrest is made.

DIDN'T WAIT.

Kelley Went Back After His Hat and Claimed Friend Drove Away.

John Kelley, of the East End, appeared breathlessly at police headquarters, yesterday, and asked that the department's machinery be placed in motion to secure the return of his horse and wagon, which he declared had been taken by George Shea. They had been driving in the vicinity of Garwood, he explained, when Shea's hat blew off. Kelley descended to go after it and as he alighted, Shea whipped up and drove away from him. Chief Kiely telephoned a few and located the rig at a Westfield hotel where Shea had left it. Kelley was unwilling to make a complaint on recovering it.

DIDN'T PRESS CHARGE.

Lewis Bonin Was Allowed to Go on Promising to Leave City.

As no one appeared to press the complaint, City Judge Runyon dismissed the charge made by the police against Lewis Bonin, the young man detected with a forged check at the City National Bank, Saturday, at this morning's session of the city court. When this matter was disposed of Chief Kiely entered a charge against the youth of disorderly conduct but he explained he was willing to withdraw it provided he would leave town. The disorder consisted of his sleeping in houses which he entered with keys secured from servants. The prisoner agreed to the chief's terms and was allowed to depart.

SHELTER FROM RAIN.

Three Newark Youths Gathered in by Police for Vagrancy.

John Wolsiffer, Henry Snyder and Fred Wetter, three Newark youths, were arraigned before City Judge Runyon, this morning, charged with vagrancy. They were arrested Saturday night by Patrolman Overbaugh who found them sleeping in a wagon shed back of French's mill. The boys explained they had visited this city to see a friend and not finding him they had entered the place to escape the rain. On condition that they return to Newark, sentence was suspended.

All Ready for Shore.

Fair weather is all that is needed to make a success of the triple-headed excursion to be taken on Thursday by the Sunday-schools of the First Presbyterian, Congregational and Park Avenue Baptist churches. All other details for insuring a good time at the shore have been already arranged by the untiring efforts of the committees.

Trolley Rails Spread.

Trouble of an unusual sort assailed the local trolley company last evening in the spreading of rails on the track at Front street and Watchung avenue. Considerable delay was suffered until temporary repairs were made so that traffic could be resumed. The curve at the corner was taken very carefully during the remainder of the day.

VOICE FROM HEAVEN.

It Commanded Mrs. Amanda Jones to Build a Church.

And on the Morning Following the Strange Incident She Began Digging the Foundation for the New Sanctuary.

A woman is erecting a church in Findlay, Ohio, for the Christian Scientists. She is building it in the back yard of her home. She says that a voice from Heaven commanded her to do the work. The structure will cost $300 and will have a seating capacity of 100.

Mrs. Amanda James is the woman who says she had the strange command to erect a place of worship for the Christian Scientists. She is a widow and is 45 years old. Some of her neighbors say she is eccentric in many of her actions.

In the work which she is now perfecting, however, the Christian Scientists believe she has been inspired, and unbounded interest is being shown in her efforts. A number of persons have offered to aid Mrs. James financially in her undertaking, but thus far she has rejected these propositions, because she believes the Lord wants her to build the church with her own labor and money as an object lesson to the world.

At daylight every morning Mrs. James arises and busies herself at her strange task. She employs three men to assist her, but they are not allowed to make any suggestions concerning the construction of the church. She pays them the regular union scale of wages for a day's work, but insists that they mix mortar and lay stones exactly as she dictates. If one of the workmen protests against her orders she warns him that he is hired to do things just as she wants them done, and that if he doesn't like her ideas he might as well leave.

Several months ago, says the Chicago Inter Ocean, Mrs. James was converted to the doctrine of Christian Science, and since then she has been an enthusiastic worker in behalf of that religion. She has three children, whom she is raising in the Christian Science faith. Immediately after her conversion she visited a number of her neighbors who professed the faith which she adopted and asked them to meet once a week at her home. The nearest Christian Science church to her residence is four miles away, and she announced to her friends that she intended acting as a reader.

On April 28 the members of the family living next door to Mrs. James were surprised to see her working with a spade in the back yard of her home. When they questioned her she announced that she was going to build a church.

"But it will cost more money than you can spare, won't it?" she was asked.

"I don't care if it takes every cent I've got," was the response. "Even though it takes me all my life to finish the church I will work on it and die with a song of praise on my lips. You may think I am wild with enthusiasm, and that it will soon die out, but when I tell you why I have started this task it will open your eyes.

"At the meeting at my home last Sunday I remember that I interpreted from the Bible with more clearness than I had any idea I was capable of. During the entire day I felt unusually blithe and happy. I felt as though something unusual was going to befall me. My premonition came true.

"After I had put my children to bed I sat up until almost midnight that Sunday night reading the Bible. Then I grew tired and went to bed.

"I had been asleep for perhaps two hours when there appeared to me a most strange vision. As I remember it now I seemed to be wide awake. I was outdoors looking at the sky. Suddenly there appeared a golden rift in the firmament. It was the most gorgeous and beautiful color I have ever beheld.

"From this golden rift there came a flood of light and from that flood there seemed to proceed a voice of unusual clearness and depth, which commanded me to erect a church, that my friends might congregate with me and worship God.

"When I awoke the following morning the vision was still in my mind as clear as daylight. I knew that it had come from Heaven and decided to carry out the command of the voice that I had heard. That is why I am out here at this moment digging."

Foreign Hotel Bait.

Some interesting statements are revealed in European hotel announcements exclusively for American reading and intended to allure American custom, and show what the European host believes will inflame the Yankee mind. Thus a London hotel announces the possession of "a new smoking lounge." One at Interlaken declares itself "the rendezvous of fashion," while at Milan they promise you that your luggage will be registered and that they will order your railway tickets. An Innsbruck hotel has a "splendid hall for bicycling;" one at Paris is the "Parisian home of distinguished Americans;" and another at London, "the rendezvous of the cream of London society, as well as of the most distinguished people from all parts of the world;" and in Brussels stands forth this bold announcement, "American bar!" Some of the English attractions partake of a noble and historical nature. One hotel is "near Runnymede, where Magna Charta was signed, and Stoke Park, where William Penn lived."—Detroit Free Press.

Spectacles and Climate.

In a suggestive little article (Ophthalmic Record, January, 1902), Dr. George S. Hull, of Pasadena, reads a needed lesson to eastern physicians who are indifferent to or ignorant of the powerful influence for evil of eye-strain upon the general system, and who send their patients to California instead of to the home oculist. "It is surprising," he says, "how many neurasthenics cross the continent in search of health who have uncorrected errors of refraction, which are the largest factors in their breakdowns." The "glare of the sun" in this land of sunshine compels them upon arriving to seek the local oculist there, who, in relieving eye-strain, relieves also the stomach trouble, the headaches, the insomnia, depression of spirits, spinal exhaustion, etc., for which they came. Even when there is such organic disease as pulmonary tuberculosis the cure is hastened, complicating symptoms relieved, and life made more enjoyable by this aid.—American Medicine.

City Built by Cain.

There are few places more interesting than the little town of Baalbek. It is supposed to have been founded by Cain, the son of Adam, when he fled from the murder of Abel, and here he erected the first of all fortifications to defend himself against possible pursuers. He named the place in honor of his son Henok, and peopled it with giants, who, from their stronghold, carried on warfare against the inhabitants of the surrounding country until they perished in the flood. Nimrod, "the mighty hunter," was one of the early settlers at Baalbek, and certain historians identify the place with the Scriptural Babel, where that audacious man attempted to defy the gods and reach Heaven by means of a high tower. Nimrod has the credit of being founder of idolatry and Baalbek the scene of the first worship of idols.—William E. Curtis, in Chicago Record-Herald.

Mean Horses.

A very peculiar trait that I have noticed about mean horses, says E. F. Elwell, in an article on "Man-Killing Horses," is that they stand the addresses of intoxicated men. I have many times witnessed men well under the influence of liquor, who could scarcely ride a broken horse when sober, slap and lounge up against the hind quarters of some of the most vicious animals, the brute never moving a muscle. Should a sober man do this same thing he would be kicked or hammered into carrion. I have met many wranglers that have noticed the same peculiarity.—Leslie's Monthly.

She Never Smiled Again.

The new boarder had just sent his cup to the landlady for the third time.

"You must be fond of coffee, Mr. Newcomer," smilingly observed that august female.

"On the contrary, madam," replied the new boarder, "I never drink it."

"You never drink it?" echoed the landlady, in barefaced astonishment.

"That's what I said," calmly rejoined the cause of the excitement. "As suggested by my physician, I am now trying the hot water cure."—Chicago Daily News.

Critical Opinion.

Crane—I never knew a man more industrious in his profession than young Tinter. Why, he has three large pictures already finished for the next water color exhibit.

Critic—Yes?

"Yes, indeed! He's wedded to his art, don't you think so?"

"Well, er—yes, but I also think that his art has good grounds for divorce."—Richmond Dispatch.

Content with What Ye Have.

If you are inclined to feel the thorns on every rose which you find lying in your path, think of the many who have nothing but stones and dust with never a flower to brighten the long and toilsome journey, and you will forget about the thorns and remember only the fragrance.—Detroit Free Press.

How He Came Out.

Banks—Waspley was going to ask old Bullion for his daughter's hand, wasn't he?

Danks—He did ask him.

"How did he come out?"

"On the back of his neck, I believe."—Judge.

POSED AS A TRAMP.

Well-to-Do Young Fellow Resorts to Peculiar Method to Test the Girl He Loved.

Miss Laura B. Keller, of Montrose, W. Va., a girl of exceptional beauty and a village belle, advertised in a matrimonial paper for a correspondent, thinking to have sport. Two of the replies interested her and she began a correspondence with the writers. Photographs were exchanged and a meeting with the two suitors was arranged.

Prior to the meeting a tramp appeared at the Keller home and procured employment. He was ragged and unshaven, but gave evidence of having seen better days and was genteel in his deportment. He fell in love with Miss Laura and in spite of his being a tramp she returned his love, although she told him she could never think of marrying him.

On Saturday Henry Snodgrass, one of her unknown suitors, appeared and was rejected. On Sunday Harry Williams, the other man with whom she had corresponded, was to appear. But she waited all day and he failed to put in his appearance.

That evening the tramp spoke to her of love and she told him she loved him, but could never marry a poor man. Throwing off his disguise Harry Williams, young, wealthy and dressed in the height of fashion, stood before her. Miss Keller was quite overcome at the denouement, but all obstacles having been overcome she renewed her love vows and they were married. Williams is said to have wealth and social standing, but took the disguise of a tramp to ascertain, unsuspected, what manner of girl Miss Keller was. Both were satisfied and they are now on a honeymoon trip.

THE STUBBORN DRAWER.

One Little Thing That It Is Always Advisable to Do Before Going for the Old Ax.

"It seemed to me," said Mr. Billtops to a New York Sun reporter, "that I had never known a drawer to stick so in all my experience. I got hold of both handles squarely and fairly, braced my knee against the next drawer under that and pulled as hard as I could and couldn't budge it.

"Then I tried to work it out, pulling at one end and then at the other. I could start either end a little, but that's all; I'd get about half an inch on it and that's all I could get. Then

ALMOST UPSET THE BUREAU.

I tried pounding on it the way you do on car windows when they stick, but it was no use; couldn't move it. After that I tried the straight pull on it again, and almost upset the bureau this time. I did joggle some things off the top of it and then I was meditating on going for the axe when Mrs. Billtops passing the door, looked in.

"'Is the drawer locked, Ezra?' she said."

"And by Jiminy hoe-cakes, the drawer was locked. The key was in the lock, and somebody had some time or other turned it, and it had never occurred to me to try it now. In fact, I never thought anything about the key or the lock at all, one way or the other; but when I turned that key the drawer opened just as easy. And I made up my mind that hereafter the first thing I should do when I came across a bureau drawer that stuck would be to see if it wasn't locked."

An inquest is quite an event, even in a city," said the man who had made a trip through the backwoods of Wisconsin, "but they don't take much interest in them in the lumber camps. I was at a camp when a saw log rolled off a flatcar and over a man and smashed him flat. It was just at noon, and nobody was disposed to lose any time.

"'See here, men,' called the foreman to a gang, 'we've got to get this thing over with before we go to dinner. Six of you stand around.'

"'Now, then, there's the log and that's Bill, and as Bill couldn't roll over the log we must take it that the log rolled over him. Verdict of the jury is that he came to his death by accident and will be buried after quitting time to-night, and now let's have dinner, and may Heaven rest his soul forever more.'"—Philadelphia Press.

An Object in View.

The groceryman on the corner relates that a couple of days ago a little girl entered his store and, timidly laying down a dime, asked for ten cents' worth of candy.

"It's for papa," she said. "I want to 'sprise him when he comes home."

The groceryman proceeded to dig out some of his stock, when the little girl interposed.

"Don't give me that kind. Give me caramels. I just love caramels."

"But I thought they were for papa," the groceryman remarked.

"I know," explained the little girl, "but when I give them to papa he'll just kiss me and say that 'cause I'm such a generous little girl he'll give them all back to me. So you'd better give me caramels."—Philadelphia Times.

Knows Too Much Geography.

An inspector was examining a certain school in geography, when, standing out in the middle of the floor, he asked the following question:

"We will suppose that this whole school is composed of water and I am an island, could any of you tell me what island I would represent?"

"The isle of Man," was the quick reply.

Then calling the teacher to him and still remaining in the same position, he asked again: "Now suppose we both stood together, what islands would we represent?"

"The Scilly islands, sir," came the answer in a loud tone.—Stray Stories

U. S. Area 3,690,822 Miles.

The area of the United States, according to the twelfth census, is 3,690,822 square miles, including the "outlying districts" of Alaska, Hawaii, Porto Rico, the Philippine islands, Guam and Samoa. Of the total area just given, 2,970,230 square miles lies within "continental United States" and the balance in the sections named, which range from 590,884 for Alaska to 201 for Samoa, and 81 for the Isle of Pines, not mentioned separately above. The areas for continental United States include land surface, only, but for the outlying districts they include both land and water surface.—Boston Globe.

Still He Doubted.

For the tenth time that evening had they hung around each other's necks and sobbed and kissed a fond farewell. Yet still they could not leave each other, although the hour was late, for was he not to start on the morrow for a voyage round the world, and would it not be months before the twain met again?

At length her choking voice sounded.

"Promise me that you will be true to me," she said, "and write to me from every town you visit!"

"O, Ada," quoth he, "is it love that prompts you to say this, or are you merely collecting foreign stamps?"—Stray Stories.

Tourists in Syria.

Tourist traffic has more than doubled in Syria during the last ten years. At present about 750 foreign tourists, exclusive of pilgrims and conducted excursions, pass through Beirut annually, most of them proceeding to Baalbek and Damascus. Twice this number go through Palestine. Galilee is also growing in favor among tourists. The Buffalo (N. Y.) surreys used between Haifa and Nazareth are likely to be superseded by automobiles.—Cleveland Leader.

SILK COATS AND HATS.

Dust Coats Have Become Very Elegant and Elaborate.

Dust cloaks are now so elegant and elaborate that they form quite a smart toilet. To show the prevalence of gay colors a pink alpaca cloak seen at the races was trimmed with tinted lace and black satin and had large enamel buttons in black and pink touched with gold. A pale blue dust cloak seen on the same occasion had quaint trimmings of bronze silk edged with floral embroideries in blue and yellow.

Another smart dust cloak of biscuit colored mohair was decorated with Russian embroidery in shades of red and pink, and the tucked collar was edged with an applique of embroidered poppies cut out in taffeta and shaded with crewel silk.

Many of the newer summer hats are trimmed with fruit and foliage. One shape seen recently had for sole trimming a big wreath of red and white currants which fell over the brim, while the foliage formed a wreath around the crown. Tiny pears nestle in folds of blue tulle, and their foliage is almost exact to nature.

The pretty little garden party dress shown is of tucked white silk mull trimmed with wide bands of black chantilly lace. The waist has a bolero of the lace, with three narrow velvet ribbons for shoulder straps. The front is of the white mull softly draped. The sleeve ruffles are also of the mull. The sleeves as well as the skirt are tucked perpendicularly. There is a full gathered ruffle around the bottom of the skirt.

The hat is of velvet leaves and black velvet.

FASHION NOTES.

Length of Skirts, Picture Hats, Long Veils.

Two items are indispensable to the up to date toilet, the cape ruffle and corsage bouquet.

Parasols are in delicate coloring or in white decorated with black or ecru lace. The chine sunshade has a Dresden china ball for a handle and gold wires. The fluffy type of parasol, on the other hand, is lined with puffed or drawn chiffon and rows of soft lace.

Skirts for country wear should be quite short. In Paris they are wearing their morning gowns to clear the ground. All the dressy gowns, however, are unusually long and trailing.

Picture hats are being worn to a large extent, particularly black ones trimmed with a single large ostrich feather.

Veils are being worn even longer than ever, the ends in some cases reaching to the waist line. Du Barry veils of black net trimmed with a wide lace edge are very popular.

A pretty child's gown for cool summer days is here shown. The material is white veiling made over taffeta and trimmed with narrow insertion. The belt ribbon is of pale blue louisine.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

A KNAVE . . . OF CONSCIENCE.

By Francis Lynde.

"It's all right for you to say that; but I happen to be a man like other men, and I keep a set of books of my own."

Griswold was still ignoring the held-out hand. "If you think you owe me anything, you can pay it in an answer to a question. You are a detective, as those men said you were?"

"Yes."

"May I ask if you came here on account of this strike?"

"It wouldn't be past belief, would it?"

"No. But in that case, who sent you here?"

Griffin boggled at this, but said finally: "My chief."

"At whose solicitation? Not mine or Raymer's I am sure."

"No."

"Whose, then?"

"Perhaps there wasn't any request from anybody. Some of us are usually around when there is a labor row on hand."

Griswold's lip curled in undisguised scorn. "Then the stories they tell of you and your fellow spotters are true; that if you can't find a case, you make one."

Griffin started back with an oath which was purely of astonishment.

"Good Lord! And you believed what that fellow said—that I was going to fire the office? And on top of that you saved my life? By the lord Harry, Mr. Griswold! what are you made of, anyway?"

"Of poor clay—like other men. But didn't that fellow Buckmaster tell the truth?"

"Good heavens, no! He laid the fire himself; was in the very act when I took a flashlight snap-shot of him and the whole gang. I did it because—well, because I thought I'd like to do you a good turn. I tried to save the camera in the tangle-up that followed, and that is how they came to down me."

Griswold grasped the hand which had not yet been wholly withdrawn, and wrung it heartily.

"I did you a very great injustice, Mr. Griffin, and I'm sorry. That's but a poor amend, but it's all that I can make."

And with that he turned abruptly and left the other standing at the hotel entrance.

CHAPTER XXVI.

There was a somewhat sensational account of the riot at the iron works in the newspapers the following morning; rather more sensational than the facts known to the reporters justified, though less startling than it would have been if the Griffin episode had been given its due share in the recountal.

Margery Grierson read the reporters' version of the affair over her cup of coffee, brought, a la Francais, to her bedside, and was moved thereby to bestir herself rather earlier than usual. One of Miss Grierson's revenges for an unlovely past was a certain lizard-like basking in the sunshine of affluence, and she was wont to deride the early morning habit of Wahaska, and to let her own morning begin in the middle of the Wahaskan forenoon.

But on this occasion she broke her rule, surprising her father by tripping airily into his private office a few minutes after the bank had been opened. At that hour, the president was alone and disengaged; an incidental happening which was favorable to Margery's purpose; and to make sure of uninterruption, she snapped the catch of the night latch as she closed the door behind her.

There was a great straight-backed chair at the end of the president's desk; a chair with high arms and uncomfortable angles designed to seize and hold a suppliant visitor to the end that he might be ill at ease, and so more easily amenable to reason — Jasper Grierson's reason. Margery was far enough above such purely adventitious hindrances, but this morning she avoided the chair, going to perch in one of the deep-bayed window seats.

Jasper Grierson swung slowly in his big pivot-chair, fanned a rift in the nimbus of cigar smoke with which he had surrounded himself, looked at his daughter with half-closed eyes and said: "Well?"

"I came to tell you it is time to quit," she said, slowly, meeting his gaze with level eyes.

"Time to quit what?"

"You know well enough. You have made all the trouble you need to for Mr. Raymer."

Jasper Grierson tilted his chair to a more comfortable angle and laughed; a slow, gurgling laugh, that spread from lip to eye and thence abroad through his great frame till he shook like a giant in mirth.

"Good Lord, Madge, have you just got around to that?" he said, chuckling again. "Why, I'd clean forgot all about your share o' stock in that deal, long ago; been buying it in on my own account for I don't know how long."

"I'm sorry you forgot. It's time to remember, now."

"What am I to remember?"

"That you were to turn around and help him when I gave the word."

"Oh, no; I guess not. It's business now, and no social tea-fight of yours."

She was tapping the toe of her boot with her riding whip, and she looked up suddenly.

"Does that mean that you intend going on till you have ruined him?" she asked.

"I'm going to break him, and that other fool friend of yours, if that's what you want to know."

For a swift instant there was a flash of sullen lightning in her eyes,

"WHAT AM I TO REMEMBER?"

but it went out suddenly as if at the bidding of a will stronger than any up-flash of passion.

"Please!" she said, beseechingly.

"Please what?"

"Please ruin somebody else, and let Mr.—let these two go."

"So you're caught at last, are you, my lady? I wondered if you wouldn't come out of that pool with the hook in your mouth. But you may as well pull loose, even if it hurts a little. These two fellows have got to come under. They've declared war, and by—they shall have war."

She looked across at him steadily, and the glow of rising passion came and went in her eyes. And yet she spoke softly.

"That is your last word, is it?"

"You can call it anything you like. I'm not on the quitting hand just now. I've shut 'em down, and they're going to stay shut down till their plant is a worthless rust heap."

"Then it is true what they are saying: that you are responsible for this strike?"

Jasper Grierson wagged his head, as one who knows a thing and will not admit it in so many words. "There's more ways of killing a cat than by choking it with lumps of butter," he said, sententiously.

"Answer me; is it true?"

"Oh, you go off, and don't bother your head about these business affairs. You run your tea parties, and I'll run mine."

"Then it is true?" she persisted.

"What if it is?—mind, I'm not admitting it, but I say, what if it is?"

She slipped down from her perch in the window seat, crossed the room and stood before him, with her hands behind her gripping the riding whip.

"You have had pretty good luck here in Wahaska, haven't you'" she said, still speaking softly. "It has been a sort of triumph for you from the very first, and nobody has been able to stand against you or to outwit you. All that is going to be changed now."

"Why, Madge, girl, what do you mean?"

PAINTERS AND DECORATORS.

ONLY THE BEST

paint is usable. To be worth putting on it must be durable, and to be durable it must be top quality. The general war of wind, sun and rain upon houses knows no cessation or truce. Paint is the main defense. Put your faith in something that will not fail you. A reliable article at a top price is cheaper than something else sold way down.

NOT LAVISH WITH KISSES.

Emperor William Reserves Such Demonstrations Exclusively for Royalty.

Emperor William of Germany has the kissing habit, but he is not promiscuous in indulging it. He kissed Prince Henry when the latter returned from his recent visit to this country. As a matter of fact, says a London exchange, although Emperor William is the greatest kisser of men among the sovereigns of the world, he is also a hearty hand-shaker and the freest of all monarchs in this particular. Indeed, he and the king of Italy are the only supreme rulers who shake hands at all with other than brother sovereigns.

The kaiser reserves his kisses for royalty exclusively. When he visits a monarch or receives a visit from one he salutes him with six kisses—three on each cheek. This sometimes before a crowd of thousands of onlookers, not to mention a regiment or so of soldiers.

But the war lord will shake hands with almost anyone. He has a grip that is famous among his subjects, too, and the favor of his hand clasp is not assiduously sought by those who have had some experience with it. His majesty has a big strong hand, with muscles like iron. They have been cultivated by many years of sword exercise. His handshake is one that is not soon forgotten, and when he greets a visitor with a handshake they say at court: "His majesty has made another lasting impression."

This grip, it is only fair to say, he reserves for strong men. For the opposite sex he has a hand that is as soft as velvet and a courtesy that is elegant.

KAISER NEVER CROWNED,

Nor Were the Father and Grandfather of Germany's Present Ruler.

Probably few people out of England regard with more interest the proceedings with regard to the king's coronation than his imperial nephew at Berlin, and all the more so that, as emperor, he is still uncrowned, as were his father and grandfather before him. The reason why is something of a mystery, states the Paris Messenger, but the explanation most generally accepted is that the original imperial crown of the emperor of Germany is in the hands of Austria, and that she shows no disposition to allow it to leave Vienna. Bourrienne records that Napoleon said on one occasion: "I have not succeeded Louis XVI., but Charlemagne," and adds that in 1804, shortly before he was crowned, he had the imperial insignia of that monarch brought from the old Frankish capital and exhibited in Paris with those made for his own coronation. But Mr. Bryce, in his "Holy Roman Empire," writes that if this is not a trick of Napoleon Bourrienne was in error, as the regalia of Charlemagne had been removed from Aix-la-Chapelle by Austria in 1798.

The coronation of a German emperor would be an event of such prodigious historic interest as to throw all other coronations into the shade. Perhaps there are those living who may yet witness it.

THE GOLDEN FLEECE.

An Ancient Order That Has Two European Sovereigns as Grand Masters.

The king of Spain has conferred the order of the golden fleece on the prince of Wales. The boy king is de facto one of the grand masters of an order which was instituted at Bruges by Philip, duke of Burgundy, who was styled "the Good," as far back as February 10, 1429. The other grand master of the order is, of course, the emperor of Austria. The fleece went to the Hapsburgs "by arrangement," after the death of Charles of Burgundy, the "Fighting Temeraire," in 1477, by the marriage of Mary of Burgundy with Archduke Maximilian, afterwards emperor of Germany. So it got to Spain. When the line of the Spanish Hapsburgs had become extinct, Austria claimed the sole grandmastership, and diplomacy had to intervene. In the result, the grandmastership became a dual affair. To wear the golden fleece of Austria you must be a sovereign, a prince of a reigning house, or a most illustrious noble. Presumably, you must profess the old religion. On the latter point Spain is less exacting.

Battle Between Horses and Tiger.

A two-year-old Indian tiger was killed in a fight with horses on a circus train while en route from Goshen to Poughkeepsie, a few days ago. The tiger, which had been recently imported, escaped from its wagon den while the train was in motion. It crawled over the tops of four wagons and entered a car containing 30 draught horses. A fierce battle ensued, the panic-stricken horses plunging and kicking at the savage intruder. When the train was stopped the tiger was found dead and mangled under the hoofs of one of the horses. Six of the horses were badly scratched and bitten.

Irish Emigration.

In Ireland for years emigration has been, as it were, a fever. From the time they arrive at the age of consciousness boys and girls in that country are turning their hearts and their eyes to the lands beyond the seas, whither so many of their kith and kin have flown before them, says Donahoe's Magazine. "He's going to America," a phrase that should have the saddest of all meanings to them, is for the young people of Ireland only the expression of a fondly-cherished hope.

REAL LIFE ROMANCE.

South Carolina Girl Kills a Suitor to Wed Another.

Strange Case of Lou Parris in the Southern Mountains—Loved a Young Moonshiner and Was True to Him.

The Spartanburg (S. C.) correspondent of the Chicago American declares this to be the true story of a young woman who, after killing a man for circulating injurious reports about her and betraying his rival, was sentenced to 15 years in prison. She was finally pardoned and wedded to the man of her choice. The young woman was Miss Lou Parris, of Tryon City, S. C. Now she is Mrs. Ralph Redmond.

The romance of Mr. and Mrs. Redmond has few parallels. They knew each other as little children and together attended the same log cabin school at Tryon City, S. C. The girl grew up a beauty, and with her growth the childhood friendship ripened into a warmer feeling. With the problem of livelihood before him young Redmond determined to be a moonshiner, an avocation favored by the more adventurous spirits of his neighborhood.

Soon he discovered that he was not alone in his admiration of the beautiful girl who had been the companion of his childhood. William Johnson presented himself as a rival claimant for her hand, and when, true to her only romance, Miss Parris rejected him he determined to destroy the happiness of his more favored rival.

Through information which Johnson supplied young Redmond was beguiled into the hands of revenue agents. Rescued by his relatives before the case against him came to trial, the sweetheart was obliged to remain more or less in hiding and to woo his lady love by stealth.

Johnson, however, continued his addresses, after Redmond became a fugitive and when he thought sufficient time had elapsed since the young man's disappearance proposed to Miss Parris a second time.

Again rejected, he circulated reports against the young woman's character till, maddened by his persecution, she called him one evening to her home, and after accusing him, stabbed him to death.

At the trial Miss Parris' beauty and the eloquent defense she made of her rash act produced such an effect upon the prosecuting officers that she was allowed to plead guilty to murder in the second degree and sentenced to 15 years in the penitentiary of South Carolina.

The rescue band of the King's Daughters became interested in the young woman soon after her incarceration, and through their good offices Ralph Redmond was taken to Raleigh and permitted to interview his sweetheart under an assumed name.

These visits were a source of much comfort to the imprisoned girl and her new-found friends also gladdened her by cheering promises of a possible pardon.

The King's Daughters did in fact present an urgent petition to the governor for a pardon, which he finally granted upon the condition that Miss Parris should upon her release enter the House of the Good Shepherd in Baltimore and undergo a course of instruction and training.

As a result she was conditionally pardoned on December 8, 1896, and immediately took up her residence in the reformatory.

Following her to Baltimore, young Redmond secured employment with a street railway company. Gradually working his way up, he reached a position where he was trusted and advanced by his employers. Through the influence of his relatives his difficulties resulting from his early moonshining escapades were smoothed over, with the result that immediately upon Miss Parris' release from the reformatory the young couple were married.

The wedding in Spartanburg was attended by hosts of friends who had known them before the stormy period of their lives began.

Young Redmond has bought and furnished a pretty suburban home near Baltimore, and at the conclusion of their wedding journey the young couple will reside in that city.

ON THE DIAMOND.

At a meeting of the City League executive committee, this evening, it is expected that Umpire James Brown will tender his resignation as a member of the League staff. He asserts that he was treated unjustly by the rooters at Saturday's Hope-Safe Works game and rather than have his decisions disputed, he resolved to leave the work to some one else. The matter will be fully investigated by the members of the organization.

JUST A DREAM.

No Truth in Story That John A. McPhee Was Signing Local Players for League Team.

The hallucinations of an overworked reporter resulted in a story appearing in a local paper, Saturday evening, to the effect that John A. McPhee, of the Cincinnati baseball team, was in this city for the purpose of securing D. B. Martin and George Taylor for that organization. It is plainly evident that the story was imagination as McPhee, or "Biddy" as he is familiarly called, was summarily dismissed from the management of the Cincinnati team on July 11 and has since had nothing to do in a baseball way.

Inquiry at The Plainfield, where the former manager was reputed as staying revealed the fact that the hostelry had no such guest, although a man by that name, but not the initials, had dinner there one day and registered afterward. The local players, Martin and Taylor, assert that they have not been approached by anyone representing the professional teams.

HIT BY TROLLEY CAR.

Plainfield Rig Carrying Local Passengers Was Struck Near Galvin's Park—Wheel Smashed.

A two seated surrey belonging to John Lynch, of this city, in which were seated two women with B. Garbeville, of Grant avenue, was struck by a crowded east bound trolley car oposite the entrance to Galvin's Park, last evening. The rear wheel of the vehicle was demolished and the occupants were thrown out but escaped injury.

Garbeville and the motorman each assert the other was to blame and witnesses are not sure which was responsible. The wagon was left in a nearby lot while the horse was put up at a Westfield livery.

EARLY DAYS.

Start of Local Y. M. C. A. Related by a Former Pastor.

Reminiscences of the beginning of the local Y. M. C. A. work pleased the audience at the men's meeting at the institution yesterday afternoon. Rev. J. R. Bryan, who was a pastor here over thirty years ago and who has returned to pass his declining days in the city which he learned to love, was the speaker.

He referred to the men who were at the head of the enterprise when it began, mentioning Alexander Gilbert, Charles McCutchen, J. M. Titsworth, H. O. Newman and J. W. Jackson as those whom he remembered most prominently but whose faces he missed from the congregation before him. Despite the fact that Dr. Bryan is now a retired preacher, after an experience of fifty-five years in the ministry, he gave a clear, forceful talk upon the benefits of religion in modern life.

Witness Wasn't There.

Owing to the absence of a material witness the case of Marie Colucee through the Overseer of the Poor against Alphonse Bonbano, were adjourned in the city court this morning, for two weeks. The motion was made by the plaintiff's counsel, John P. Owens.

Too Many Mosquitoes and Rain.

Because of too many mosquitoes and raiff, James R. Blair, William Doud, Hazlewood Keller and Herbert C. McVoy, four of a party of eleven young fellows camping at Green Pond, near New Foundland, returned home last night at 11 o'clock. They left the other campers there.

SECOND REGIMENT IS ENJOYING CAMP LIFE

Boys of Company K Began Their Week's Visit at Camp Murphy, Sea Girt.

ENJOYING THEMSELVES

HOW THE DAY IN CAMP IS SPENT BY THE BOYS IN GENERAL.

While They Are Kept Busy They Have Time for Some Excitement —Plainfield Boys Are Popular in Camp—Visitors Yesterday.

(By a Special Correspondent.)

Camp Murphy, Sea Girt, July 21—The entire Second Regiment with Battery B is now ensconced in the quarters vacated Saturday by the Third Regiment. Company K, of Plainfield is here with one of the largest turnouts, having in all seventy men.

The boys were escorted to camp from the depot by the Second Regiment Band, on their arrival Saturday and owing to signs of rain, a review was immediately ordered, after which the Governor's salute was fired and then the companies were directed tc their respective streets and tents were put in order and equipped. Privates Anderson, Bilyeu, Bowden, Conover and Corporal Pearsall under Sergeant Clark were then placed on guard duty for Company K.

The Plainfield boys are among the most popular in the camp and have merry times on their streets. All the tents are labelled according to the fancy of the possessors and some of them are names appropriately and otherwise. Among some of the appellations are "Anti-Jag Inn," "Saengerbund Hall," "Saints' Retreat" and "Bohemia." Some of them are graced by mirrors donated by Woodhull & Martin.

Part of Saturday afternoon and evening, the boys spent in the surf and in listening to a band concert given before Governor Murphy's quarters. An initiatory team in charge of Commander Messler acquainted some of the new recruits of Company K with the pump and other mysteries of the street. During the night roving parties eluded the guards and visited various tents and it is alleged that Private Goldsack holds the record for securing sleep, having gotten three minutes repose before sunset. Several night shirts were captured in a raid and now grace the ridge poles of the raiders' tents.

Yesterday's routine was as follows: 5:45, reveille; 5:55, assembly; 6, fatigue call; 7, mess; 8 and 10:30, church; 12, dinner; 5:15, dress parade, mess immediately following, 9, tattoo; 10, taps. There was a little rain at 5:30. Plainfield visitors to the camp yesterday were Mr. and Mrs. Horace J. Martin and Miss Victoria Martin, Mrs. J. M. Lewis, Harry Rogers and M. F. Elderton. Lieutenant Kitchell had as guests John J. Mellick and Frank Everitt, of Elizabeth.

INTERFERED WITH CATCHER.

Spectator Threw His Hat in Face of Catcher Allen in Saturday's Game.

While Catcher Allen of the Safe Works team was running after a foul fly in Saturday's game, a hat was thrown full in his face by a spectator with the intent of making him miss it. The hat was hastily secured by Captain Martin, of the Hope team, and the identity of the owner was learned. The management of the Hopes deplores the occurrence. He was given to understand that such rowdyism would not be tolerated and was then ordered from the grounds. The young man afterward apologized to Catcher Allen for his conduct.

Potter's Men Do Well.

At a regular meeting of the Potter Press Works Mutual Benefit Society, held Saturday evening in the Trades Council rooms, reports were read showing the organization to be in a flourishing condition. In the past six months it has paid out in sick and funeral benefits a total of $275. Its membership is 150 and the officers are as follows: President, James Patterson; secretary, S. E. Humpston; treasurer, Thomas Caleen.

Sabbath Desecration.

Rev. E. E. Jackson, of the Mount Olive Baptist church, preached a strong sermon at last evening's service on "Sabbath Desecration and Christian and Ministerial Loyalty," in which he denounced in drastic terms the practice Plainfielders have of enjoying trolley parties and visiting questionable resorts on Sunday, instead of entering God's houses for worship.

Death of Young Girl.

Mary Flynn, the eight-year-old daughter of Mrs. Catherine Flynn, died this morning after a brief illness. Arrangements for the funeral have not yet been completed.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE DOING

SOME BRIEF PARAGRAPHS OF A PERSONAL NATURE.

Many Folk of Greater Plainfield Are Entertaining or Being Entertained.

Mrs. Charles Greer, of Grove street, has returned home from a visit with friends at Somerville.

David Dreier, of Summit, spent yesterday with his brother, Harry Dreier, of West Front street.

The condition of Mrs. J. P. Emmons, who is in the Flower Hospital, New York, is very encouraging.

Mrs. Fred Smalley, of Somerset street, has returned home after a pleasant visit with relatives at Frankfort, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Price, of Rahway, were the guests yesterday of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Baker, of Somerset street.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Clark, Jr., of Myrtle avenue, have gone to Chautauqua, where they will spend the rest of the summer.

George L. VanEmburgh, of Woodhull & Martin's store, returned to his duties this morning, having completed an enjoyable vacation of two weeks.

The condition of Mrs. H. C. VanEmburgh, who is very ill at the home of her parents in Elizabeth, is today reported as encouraging by the attending physicians.

Wm. Mundy, Jr., of West Sixth street, the progressive young insurance agent, has returned home after a most delightful two weeks' visit with relatives in Brooklyn.

Miss Young, the matron at the hospital, who has been ill for some time past, has recovered sufficiently to leave for Maine, where she will remain for a time. Miss Wylde, the assistant, is now in charge.

Miss Hazeltin, of Mulica Hill, South Jersey, is spending a couple of weeks, with her friend, Miss E. Marion Darby, of Alton, and Ward Heritage, of Philadelphia, was also a guest Sunday of Miss Darby.

Miss Bertha Needham, of Reed & Coddington's office, who has been ill at the home of her sister, Mrs. J. Herbert Case, in Duer street, with an attack of grip, is much better and will probably return to her position this week.

Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Schoonmaker, of Central avenue, are at Watch Hill, R. I., the latter part of last week the horses and carriages were shipped to that place. Mr. Schoonmaker has recovered from his recent illness and is steadily gaining strength.

Warm Weather Plans.

Warm weather plans are being laid by the superintendent of the Sunday-school of the Park Avenue Baptist church for the coming month. There will be no class study of the lesson during August, and other changes conducive to comfort and interest will be put into effect with the programme now being prepared.

Wedded at Rectory.

Miss Marie Shields and Peter Kane, both of this city, were married last evening in the rectory of St. Mary's church. The couple was attended by Thomas Kane and Miss Mary Staggert.

—Jos. M. Hawkins has resigned his position with the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company to accept another position in New York. His place with the company will be taken by Mr. Lyons, of Brooklyn.

A Cave of Tortures.

An interesting discovery has been made at the island of Capri in the shape of an underground vault in which Emperor Tiberius used to confine the victims of his displeasure prior to their being thrown into the sea. The walls are covered with inscriptions, some of which go to show that among those immured subsequently in the prison were the sister and wife of Emperor Commodus.—N. Y. Herald.

Creating a Desert.

Judkins—I learn that through your agent you have bought the properties on either side of your house and got them cheap. How did you manage it?

Foxley—Easily enough. My wife is an elocutionist, my daughter plays the piano, George the cornet, I the violin, Bob the banjo, Charley rattles the bones and little Johnnie has the drum. —Stray Stories.

These Social Paradoxes.

Polly—Auntie says you made yourself horribly conspicuous at the musicale last night.

Dolly—(young and ingenue)—Well, I'd like to know what she'd call inconspicuous! George and I were quite out of sight, clear around the turn in the stairs, the whole evening!—Smart Set.

Indiana Soldiers.

Of 155,578 men who enlisted in this state, 140,638 were American born, and of these 58,208 were born in Indiana. Of foreign-born soldiers who served in Indiana regiments Germany furnished 6,456, more than twice as many as any other country.—Indianapolis Journal.

—Grand Master Workman V. W. Nash paid a fraternal visit to Success Lodge, A. O. U. W., of Newark, last week and was given a royal reception.

—Jesse Hatfield and his son-in-law, Mr. Garthwaite, of West Front street, will soon open a quick-lunch stand on Watchung avenue, between Timbo's place and the waiting room of the trolley road.

Too Close for Comfort.

Uncomfortale nearness to serious injury was experienced at Fanwood one evening last week by Dr. M. B. Long, his wife and sister and another companion while out driving. The horse ran away and finally broke from the carriage, dragging the physician, who was driving, over the ground. Rumpled and torn clothing and a slight abrasion of the skin were the only material results of the accident. The women escaped unhurt.

Another Gift.

The Daily Press received this morning from Miss Ernestine Smith, treasurer of the Seventh-Day Baptist church Sunday-school, $2.50 for the King's Daughters' Baby Camp on the mountain. This fund now stands as follows:

King's Daughters' Baby Camp. Previously acknowledged	$60.66
Seventh-Day Baptist church Sunday-school	2.50

Overcome in Church.

Mrs. Isaac P. Runyon, of Somerset street, while attending service at Grace M. E. church yesterday, fainted away and, with the assistance of a trained nurse, was taken home where Drs. Zeglio and Pittis worked faithfully for nearly an hour before she regained consciousness. The excessive warm weather was the cause of illness.

Dog Disposed Of.

A stray dog, which has been annoying the merchants on West Front street near Compton and Exchange alleys, was corralled by Patrolman Langer this morning. Its existence was soon over and another notch was added to Langer's pistol but which now has a number nearly equalling that on Carrie Higgins' shooting iron.

Going to Have Good Time.

It is predicted that the weather for next Friday will be just right for the annual excursion of Trinity Reformed church Sunday-school and Marconnier chapel. Postponed affairs are often a disappointment but in this case those who go with Trinity will have just as good a time as if they had gone last week.

Trio of Guests.

Well known to Plainfielders is a trio of guests just arrived at the Hotel Netherwood from Washington, D. C. It comprises Mrs. Colonel Morris, wife of the late U. S. A. officer of that name, her daughter and Miss May Applegarth. Mrs. Morris has been a frequent visitor in this city.

Poisoning the System.

It is through the bowels that the body is cleansed of impurities. Constipation keeps these poisons in the system, causing headache, dullness and melancholia at first, then unsightly eruptions and finally serious illness unless a remedy is applied. DeWitt's Little Early Risers prevent this trouble by stimulating the liver and promote easy, healthy action of the bowels. These little pills do not act violently but by strengthening the bowels enable them to perform their own work. Never gripe or distress. L. W. Randolph.

GETTING READY FOR PRESIDENT

Company K Shares in Great Preparations at Camp Murphy for His Arrival.

THE LIFE AT THE CAMP.

How the Plainfield Boys Are Enjoying the Life at the State Camp at Sea Girt—Bathing Chief Recreation—Compauy K's Cooks Are Doing Good Service.

Camp Murphy, Sea Girt, July 22—The expected visit of President Roosevelt, accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt and Miss Alice, is the one topic of conversation among the boys of the Second Regiment now encamped here. They are due Thursday and in expectation of the events everything is preparation, nothing but preparation. The camp streets have been placed in apple-pie order, guns and all accoutrements have been rubbed until they glisten in the sun and the soldier boys have been drilling constantly for the review.

Everything is serene among the members of Company K, of Plainfield, and although some of the intrepid ones who sought sleep Sunday and last night, are nursing bumps from the sudden rising of cots, no one has been unfortunate enough to be placed in the hospital. Several have had narrow escapes from going to the guard house for sundry acts of foolishness as many have been caught at prohibited places at the wrong hours. Two colored cooks belonging to one of the other companies became involved in a quarrel Sunday and one drew a knife. Both were hustled to the guard house and one is still languishing there. Company K's cooks, Lee Johnson and Albert Butler, are doing good service and by popular acclaim have been voted jolly good fellows. Captain Browning is looked upon as a daredevil by his audacity in appearing Saturday evening in his immense Panama hat and a dinner suit. The smiling countenance of Mascot Sebring has also had much to do with placing the boys in good spirits.

Bathing continues to be the chief recreation during the day, beyond occasional visits to Asbury Park, and at times the surf is crowded. Bathing suits and houses have been provided for the boys one quarter of a mile from camp. Corporal George Apgar was the first Company K man to have a dip in the surf and others are now trying to outdo him by being there the most often.

Sunday afternoon was one of the hottest experienced at the camp since 1892, but despite it the regiment went through dress parade in bully shape. There were at least 2,000 spectators. Company K was highly complimented for its appearance during that time and it also secured the greater part of applause.

Yesterday there were five different drills and the boys were too tired to roam about much last night. Today there will be more work and the Presidential visit will require a great deal more, but for all that the boys will find time to entertain any of their Plainfield friends should they manage to reach here. It is expected that lots will be here on Thursday when the excursion of the First Presbyterian, Congregational and Park Avenue Baptist churches will take them to Asbury Park.

Yesterday's routine consisted of an extended order drill at 9 o'clock, squad drill at 11, and section drill under corporals and sergeants respectively at 4. One of the sergeants upon returning to the company street gave a new command, "right dress, halt."

Those doing guard duty yesterday were Privates Dorgan, Emmons, Ford, Jennings and Pope. They do police duty today in the company street. Private Sampson has been doing some very efficient police work at the sergeant's tent, guarding precious supplies. Private Charles Glaentzer has been appointed regimental letter-carrier and Private Harsell is the official photographer, having his camera with him constantly. Yesterday Privates Smalley, Sampson, Richards, Reighton and Phillips were appointed to assist the commissary seargent.

Captain Browning was honored by being made officer of the day yesterday. Lieutenant Martin, of Company

TO THE SHORE.

Eight Coaches Including One Pullman Took Juniors and Their Friends to Atlantic City.

The first excursion to go direct from Plainfield to Atlantic City, left on schedule time from the North Avenue station this morning, under the auspices of Benevolent Council, No. 256, Jr. O. U. A. M. Eight well-filled cars, including the Pullman "Petunia" comprised the train which was in charge of Conductor Frank Webster, of this city. William Montgomery was in charge of the "Petunia."

The route to the beach is by the way of Elizabeth and Lakewood, through the famous pines of the latter place. The run was made in a little over three hours, the excursionists reaching Atlantic City at 11:43 o'clock. The start for home will be made this evening at 9 o'clock and Plainfield should be reached shortly after midnight.

CADDY FELL OFF WINDMILL

JOHN CAUFIELD HAD RIGHT LEG BADLY CUT IN THE FALL.

Accident Happened at Hillside Club —Lad Climbed Up Windmill Just for Fun.

John Caufield, aged thirteen years, a cady at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, had a narrow escape yesterday afternoon from receiving serious if not fatal injuries.

He had been making several rounds of the course with players and was getting ready to return home. Although repeatedly warned not to do so, the boys have insisted on climbing up the frame work on the windmill. While up in the air a considerable distance he missed his footing and fell to the ground. On the descent his right leg struck an iron brace which projected out from a ladder. The front of the leg was lacerated four inches below the knee, and the lad lost a considerable amount of blood, besides suffering great pain.

Dr. VanHorn was telephoned for and went to the clubhouse in his carriage and brought the lad home. In the meantime those at the club cared for the boy the best they could until the arrival of the physician. Dr. VanHorn found it necessary to take thirteen stitches to close up the wound. A most fortunate part of the accident was that the bone was not injured at all, and the chances are the boy will experience a speedy recovery.

In the future severe measures will be adopted by the club to keep boys off the windmill.

WEEKLY EUCHRE.

Social Event Held at Hotel Netherwood Last Evening.

Comfort and sociability were in no way impaired at the Hotel Netherwood last evening by the storm. According to custom, the weekly euchre party for the guests was held with the usual enjoyable and successful features. Twenty couples took part.

In the prize winning, Miss Hamilton, of Brooklyn, took first honors, with Mrs. Paul Sheldon, of New York, second, and Miss Balch, of Brooklyn, third. Among the men, the winners were George Strout, of New York, and Mr. Seely, of Brooklyn.

DEATH OF MRS. LELAND.

Died at Her Home Yesterday After a Long Illness With Lung Trouble.

Mrs. Clara J. Leland, wife of Charles A. Leland, died at her home on West Fifth street, yesterday, after a long illness. Death was due to lung trouble.

Mrs. Leland was fifty-five years old and came to this city from Massachusetts in 1888. She leaves six children, Clarence, William, Robert and Charles Leland, and Miss Alice Leland, of this city, and Arthur Leland, of Providence, R. I.

The funeral services will be held from her late residence tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be made at Hillside cemetery.

First W. C. T. U. Meeting.

The praise meeting held in the W. C. T. U. Sunday afternoon, the first one to be held in many months, was a successful one and well attended. Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson presided.

McKinley Club's Outing.

For a day's sport, good opportunity was given today in the outing taken by the McKinley Club, of Union county, to Locust Grove.

Sexton Resigned.

Lewis Peterson, who for nearly eight years was the faithful sexton of St. Stephen's church, Netherwood, has resigned his position.

CONFERENCE IN BEHALF OF WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE

Began at Ocean Grove Last Evening and Will Continue Until This Evening.

THOSE WHO WILL SPEAK

MRS. CATT, NATIONAL PRESIDENT, WILL MAKE AN ADDRESS.

Addresses at Last Evening's Meeting—Those Who Will Speak—Arranged in Connection With Meeting of State Association.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Ocean Grove, July 22—In connection with the meeting of the New Jersey State Woman's Suffrage Association, the national organization is holding a series of conferences which commenced last evening and continue until this evening. The speakers are Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the national association; Rev. Anna Howard Shaw, vice president; Miss Kate M. Gordon, corresponding secretary, and Miss Mary G. Hay.

The first links in the chain of development in equal suffrage were forged by Lucy Stone, Elizabeth Cady Stanton and Susan B. Anthony. After the death of Lucy Stone in 1893, the work of organization was placed under the command of Mrs. Catt, and when, in 1900, Miss Anthony, after fifty years of service in the cause, retired from the active presidency, her mantle of office fell upon the shoulders of this younger worker in the cause. Mrs. Catt is a college woman. As an orator she is considered by many the peer of any in America.

Mrs. Catt's oratorical honors are shared equally by Anna Howard Shaw. But while Mrs. Catt appeals through the light of reason, the other uses in addition the emotional side of human nature.

In 1898, when the Louisiana Constitutional convention granted taxpaying women the right to vote on all questions of taxation, six months after the right had been conferred, it secured for New Orleans hygienic regeneration by successfully carrying an election at which the taxpayers voted to tax themselves. As president of the Woman's League for Sewerage and Drainage, Miss Kate M. Gordon successfully led to victory what on its face must appear a very unpopular campaign—that is, to get taxpayers to vote to tax themselves. Miss Gordon has the added distinction of having cast more legal votes than any man in America.

Miss Mary G. Hay's work for the cause has been along the line of practical organization, and Miss Hay's estimate is summed up in the following characteristic line: "Organization means growth and growth means organization." Her fields of labor lie within the borders of our forty-five States as well as our Territories.

Last evening Rev. Anna H. Shaw presided and an address of welcome was made by Bishop Fitzgerald, followed with an address on "The Reason Why," by Mrs. Catt. This afternoon Mrs. Catt will preside and the programme includes an address, "Scrap of Suffrage," by Kate M. Gordon; question box, Mrs. Shaw, and closing remarks by Mary G. Hay. At the evening meeting there will be an address by Mrs. Shaw and closing remarks by Mary G. Hay.

AMONG THE BABIES.

What the People Are Doing to Help Make the Little Ones Happy.

Life at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home is a joyous one these days and many people about Plainfield and vicinity are doing their share toward making the little folks happy. Last week Benjamin Fowler, the ice cream dealer, furnished a supply of ice cream, and George Voehl, the baker, sent up some delicious cake.

The gospel service Sunday evening was conducted by L. H. Biglow, Jr., and was one of the best yet held. The attendance was large and great interest taken. Guests at the Hotel Netherwood are deeply interested in the work of the camp, and one of the women from that popular resort displayed a self-sacrificing spirit a few nights ago by staying up all night with one of the children who is ill with pneumonia.

Politicians Away.

Assemblyman Wm. Newcorn expected to call a meeting of the committee on rules and regulations governing primaries, for this evening, but as most of the members of the committee are away the meeting will be held later.

TWO COUPLES WED TOGETHER

DOUBLE CEREMONY PERFORMED AT A PLAINFIELD HOME LAST EVENING.

Mrs. Leach Wedded to Hudson Kitchell and Miss Nettie Muir Became Wife of George R. Laird.

In a quiet but impressive ceremony, two couples were ushered into the joys of matrimony in a Plainfield home last evening. At the same time that Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Leach became the wife of Hudson Kitchell, Miss Nettie Muir was wedded to Geo. R. Laird, of the Hospital Corps of the regular army service. Neither couple was attended.

Rev. Dr. Cornelius J. Schenck, of Trinity Reformed church, officiated at the service, which was performed at 8:45 o'clock in the parlor of Mrs. Leach's home on West Second street.

The rooms were tastefully decorated with daisies, sweet pea blossons and roses. On one side were the evidences of regard from the friends of the couples, many useful and handsome gifts being presented.

Mrs. Leach was gowned in a grey traveling suit while Miss Muir wore white organdie. The bridal party held a reception to their friends immediately following the ceremony, many visitors being present from Newark, Elizabeth, Scotch Plains and Plainfield with a detachment of soldiers from Fort Wadsworth, Staten Island, comrades of Mr. Laird. Elaborate refreshments were served during the evening and social enjoyment was heightened by music furnished by Professor O'Reilly.

After a short wedding journey, both couples will made their residence on West Second street, where they will begin their married lives together.

KNOWS THE THIEF.

Now Corra Ryno is Going to Get Him if He Has to Sit Up Nights.

Corra Ryno, a quiet and peaceable citizen living on Codington avenue, in the borough, is the victim of chicken thieves. Thus far he has lost thirty-two members of his flock and of forty-two which were hatched out about July 4. Mr. Ryno was unable to account for the constant disappearance of the young fowls until yesterday, when he discovered several good sized rats running about the yard. This solved the mystery and Mr. Ryno now keeps a trap set for the thieves. The ten pullets left Mr Ryno guards very zealously and he says that he will raise them if he has to sit up all night with a shot gun.

DOUBLE FUNERAL.

Mrs. Pound and Six Weeks Old Great Grandson Buried Together.

A double funeral was held from the residence of Mrs. Phillip Voorhees, of Greenbrook road, Sunday afternoon. The service was over the remains of Mrs. Voorhees' mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Pound, and the latter's great grandson, Howard Pennoyer, the six-weeks-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pennoyer, of West Fourth street. Mrs. Pound was seventy-six years old. Rev. S. K. Doolittle was in charge and afterward both bodies, reposing in the one casket, were interred in the Methodist cemetery.

Four Girls Fell From Platform.

Miss Beulah Rogers, together with three of her girl friends, were playing yesterday in the yard of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Rogers on West Second street, when the four girls fell about six feet off an improvised platform. The girls were not injured, but received a good shaking up.

Evangelistic Quartette Expected.

One of the male quartettes from Alfred University, doing evangelistic work in various parts of the country, will visit the Seventh-Day Baptist church Friday evening and Saturday. They will conduct services and render special music.

In Interest of Fresh Air Camp.

Arrangements are being made for a meeting to be held at the First Baptist church, under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society, in the interest of the Westfield Fresh Air Camp.

Picture of Dr. Richards.

The Commercial Advertiser of Saturday evening contained a fine picture of Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards, of the Crescent Avenue church, who has been called to the Brick Presbyterian church, of New York.

Clambake for Red Men.

Plans for an outing by the Red Men of Wetumpkah Tribe are being laid in the shape of preparations for a clambake. The matter will be considered at the meeting Thursday evening of this week.

SLIGHT CHANGES IN EXAMINATIONS FOR BAR

State Board of Bar Examiners Has Just Issued Another Statement.

TO RAISE STANDARD.

SOME FACTS CONCERNING THE PRELIMINARY EXAMINATIONS.

What Will be Accepted as Evidence of a Candidate's Right of Exemption—Will Give Candidates Legal Problems to Unravel.

The State Board of Bar Examiners has issued a statement describing the important changes in the plan of examination which come into effect under the new rules adopted to govern tests to be held up to and including the February term of the Supreme Court, 1904.

"Until, and including the February term, 1904," says the statement, "each candidate who is required to take the preliminary examinations will be examined upon eight subjects, of which composition and orthography must be two, that he may, at the time of taking the examination, select from the following list: United States history, general history, arithmetic, algebra, plane geometry, physiology, grammar, composition, orthography, geography, civics, physics, Latin, French.

"The rules with respect to those who are exempt from preliminary examinations have been somewhat altered, and the following will now be accepted as evidence of a candidate's right of exemption:

"A certificate of graduation from a college or university.

"A certificate of graduation from any high school of this State, or

"A thirty-six count certificate, or a law student's certificate from the Regents of the University of the State of New York, or

"A certificate of graduation from a course of study equivalent to the High School course from any public High School of another State or from any private school or academy of this or of any other State whose course of study, when shown to the board, by the catalogue or other satisfactory statement issued by the school shall be approved by the board as maintaining a High School standard.

"The board will accept the certificate of any school of the State of New York as maintaining a High School standard of study, or whose graduates are admitted to matriculation in a college or university without examination.

"The certificates and other evidences of preliminary education, except the certificates granted by the State superintendent of public instruction must be submitted to and approved by the board before being filed."

The statement sets forth that students will be given legal problems to unravel, and that their intelligence in discussing them and applying rules will count for more than correct conclusions. Applicants for attorneys' licenses will be examined on the law of real estate, but the examination will be less severe than in the case of counsellors. The examiners say that they intend to raise the standard higher, though not immediately.

GOING TO PRINCETON.

Five Plainfielders Who Have Passed Their Entrance Examinations.

Princeton University has been the objective point of a large number of students from the different preparatory schools in this section of the country. Among those already announced as having their exaimnations for admission in the fall are five Plainfielders. They are Dudley H. Barrows, Albert D. Beers, Frank Simons and George Simons, who will enter the academic department, and Thomas Minford, who will be in the school of science.

On Account of Mackay's Death.

Owing to the death of John W. Mackay, of the Mackay-Bennett Cable Company, the Postal telegraph offices throughout the country will be draped for thirty days. The local office on Park avenue was draped yesterday immediately after word of the cable man's death was received from London.

Next Sunday's Preacher.

Rev. Dr. Joseph F. Elder, of New York, will occupy the pulpit of the First Baptist church Sunday. Dr. Elder formerly preached in Albany, and he preached at the Baptist church a few weeks ago while Dr. Yerkes was in the south.

NEW GUESTS.

Some of the Additions to Colony of Summer Guests Now Staying at the Hotel Netherwood.

Each week of the present warm term seems to bring before the minds of an increasing number of New Yorkers the advantages to be gained from a sojourn at the popular Hotel Netherwood. The healthful climate, cooling atmosphere and splendid scenery combine to make the resort one which attracts growing patronage as its reputation is spread abroad by admiring friends.

For this week, the following new guests have been added to the list of those enjoying the hospitality of the local inn: Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lux, Miss Josephine Lux, of Hoboken; Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Wildes, of Jamesburg; Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Stallman, Mrs. Susan Class, Miss Ewald, V. W. Tyler, George W. Korn, Samuel Jackson, of New York; Dr. R. I. Burwell, of Baltimore.

SOLDIER BOYS AT WRECK

AMBULANCE CORPS CARED FOR THE TWO INJURED TRAINMEN.

Engineer Lloyd Clark Died Soon After—Fireman Wm. Hall is Now Recovering.

Camp Murphy, Sea Girt, July 22—The members of Company K were called upon to do rescuing work, yesterday, through a railroad wreck which occurred almost opposite Camp Murphy on the New Jersey Central.

Engine 603, drawing a train of empty special cars, crashed into the rear of a freight train standing near the station. The impact was terrific and as the locomotive ploughed through box cars with a succession of crashes, the soldier boys were hurried to the spot to learn the cause. Immediately after the hospital corps was ordered to the scene and picked up Lloyd Clark, engineer, and William Hall, fireman, both of Point Pleasant.

Clark had reversed his engine and jumped, but struck on his head, receiving internal injuries. Hall stuck to his post and, although sustaining a broken rib and severe abrasions, flooded his fires.

Both men were taken to the regiment hospital tent in the ambulance driven by Sergeant Clark, of Company K. They were attended to by the physicians, but it was seen that the engineer was in a critical condition and he was removed to the Long Branch hospital, assisted by Nate Titsworth, of Company K's ambulance staff. The man died last night. The fireman is still at the camp and is being showered with honors by the boys for the heroism he displayed.

The soldier boys secured many souvenirs from the debris, most of them being from the engine which was a complete wreck. It is said a misunderstanding of signals was the cause of the crash.

FUNERAL OF C. W. BURTON

Services Held From His Late Residence on Watchung Avenue Yesterday Afternoon.

The funeral services of the late Charles W. Barton were held yesterday afternoon at 2:45 o'clock from the home on Watchung avenue, where friends, relatives and business associates were present to pay the last tribute of respect to the deceased. The services were conducted by Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards, pastor of the Crescent Avenue church, who, after reading appropriate Scripture selections, made a few remarks in which he dwelt upon the long life of the departed, well rounded out. Following the remarks, an earnest prayer was offered.

Mr. Burton was associated with the Tidewater Oil Company for fifteen years and the following representatives from that company attended the service: Josiah Lombard, Benjamin F. Warren, George A. Keeney, Frank W. Edwards, Charles W. Burtis, J. A. Pickett, Frank Rathbun, Philander R. Gray, Phillip B. Macintyre, Thos. L. Harris and Joseph E. Morse.

After the service the interment was made on the west slope of Hillside cemetery.

To Aid the Home.

Much interest is being taken by the guests at the Hotel Netherwood in the euchre to be given on Thursday evening for the benefit of the Netherwood Fresh Air Home. Subscriptions are being received in most gratifying numbers, making the prospects excellent for a goodly sum being realized for the charitable movement under consideration.

—Neuman Brothers have at present an extra large display of vegetables, including Jersey tomatoes, Boston lettuce, green and wax beans.

CITY TAX RATE SET AT $2.51

Fixed at Annual Meeting of the Union County Board of Assessors Yesterday.

ONE POINT INCREASE.

May Be That Common Council Will Raise the Total Valuation and Thus Make Rate Same as Last Year—The Valuation in Union County is $45,269,400.

The annual meeting of the Union County Board of Assessors was held at the courthouse at Elizabeth yesterday. The board fixed the valuation of the county at $45,269,400, of which $39,980,840 is real estate and $6,147,215 personal property. The total exemptions amount to $858,655. The total valuation last year was $42,775,400, making an increase this year in valuations of $2,494,000. The valuation of the different cities and townships are:

Elizabeth, $20,168,000; Plainfield, $8,988,600; Rahway, $3,220,000; Summit, $2,774,700; Westfield, $2,006,700; Union, $1,600,000; Linden, $1,144,800; Linden borough, $221,300; Clark, $307,000; Cranford, $1,570,000; Fanwood, $690,900; Fanwood borough, $222,000; New Providence, $144,000; New Providence borough, $188,000; Springfield, $362,100; Roselle borough, $975,000; Roselle Park, $543,700; Mountainside borough, $139,600.

The county tax rate this year will be .48 156-1000; last year it was .48.

Plainfield's rate for the year was fixed at $2.51, an increase of one point over last year. This is due to the fact that the city has asked for $163,550, which is $3,200 more than last year. Last year's total valuation for the city was $8,689,000 and this year it is $8,988,600, which is divided into wards as follows:

First ward—Personal, $322,625; real, $1,611,740; deductions, $30,665; dogs, $108; polls, $745. Total, $1,903,700.

Second ward—Personal, $313,410; real, $2,310,640; deductions, $25,850; dogs, $199; polls, $826. Total, $2,598,200.

Third ward—Personal, $282,500; real, $2,202,300; deductions, $28,800; dogs, $137; polls, $711. Total, $2,426,000.

Fourth ward—Personal, $297,250; real, $1,797,500; deductions, $34,050; dogs, $103; polls, $1,471.

The total figures are as follows: Personal, $1,185,785; real, $1,797,500; deductions, $119,365; dogs, $547; polls, $3,753. Total valuation, $8,988,600.

Last year the schools asked for $62,250, while this year they have asked for $61,600. Of course these figures are subject to change and there is no doubt but what the Common Council will increase the total valuation about $1,000 and take off the additional point and make it the same as last year, $2.50.

RELIABLE CONCERN.

Such is the New Jersey Motor Carriage Company of This City.

In these days when so many worthless automobiles are to be found in the market, it is a pleasure to deal with a concern that sells reliable machines. Such a concern is the New Jersey Motor Carriage Company, of 110 East Fourth street. This company is sole agent in this city and vicinity for the celebrated Columbia and Waverly electrics, Locomobile and Stanley steam carriages, and the Fournier-Searchmont and Rambler gasolene machines. The Rambler is in its own class and possesses strength, style and speed. If you want to know anything about horseless carriages call on this company and you will be treated with every consideration.

Business and Sociability.

Business and sociability will be combined at a meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Monroe Avenue church Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Wenzel, 1143 South Second street. All women interested are invited.

K. G. E. Meet Tonight.

Freedom Castle, No. 42, Knights of the Golden Eagle, will meet this evening and continue the quoit pitching contest. The chances are it will take three weeks more to complete the tournament.

THOSE WHO COME AND GO

NOTES CONCERNING PLAINFIELDERS AND THEIR MANY GUESTS.

Some of Those That Go to Make Up the Day's Budget of Arrivals and Departures.

Mrs. M. L. Greer, of Grove street, is visiting friends at Newark.

Charles Ward, of Clinton avenue, has been entertaining Thomas Parks, of New York.

James R. Blair, of Duer street, will go to Troy, N. Y., Thursday for a visit of a few weeks.

W. S. Benton, of Central avenue, started Saturday upon his annual vacation.

Mrs. John McMurray and daughters, of West Fourth street, are home after a few days spent at the seashore.

Miss May Rodman, daughter of Rev. Erskine M. Rodman, of East Seventh street, is visiting friends out of town.

Abram VanCleef, of Elm place, has returned home after a two weeks' stay in the vicinity of Bissell, Hunterdon county.

Mrs. Edmund Rushmore and daughter, of Sycamore avenue, left Saturday to spend the remainder of the summer at Peekskill-on-the-Hudson.

Otto Tramm, of Park avenue, returned home Sunday, after being in St. Luke's Hospital, New York, for eight days, recovering from the effects of an operation.

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Johnston, of Summit avenue, spent yesterday with Mrs. Inwagen at Passaic. They returned this morning by trolley, making the trip in three and a half hours.

REDUCED RATES TO SAN FRANCISCO AND LOS ANGELES.

Via Pennsylvania Railroad, Account Biennial Meeting, Knights of Pythias.

On account of the biennial meeting, Knights of Pythias, at San Francisco, Cal., August 11 to 22, 1902, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will sell excursion tickets to San Francisco or Los Angeles from all stations on its lines, from August 1 to 9, inclusive, at greatly reduced rates. These tickets will be good for return passage until September 30, inclusive, when executed by Joint Agent at Los Angeles or San Francisco and payment of 50 cents made for this service. For specific information regarding rates and routes, apply to ticket agents.

Must Pay Dues.

Columbia Lodge, Ancient Order of United Workmen, has taken a firm stand regarding the delinquent members and all members in arrears must pay their indebtedness on or before the fixed date in each month or they will be dropped from the roll. Heretofore, the members have been rather slow in paying assessments and under the provisions of the new rate strict payment will be enforced.

On the Bench Friday.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, July 22—According to his decision to hold court only on the last Friday of July and August, Judge Schenck will be on the bench next Friday, and it is very probable that he will be kept there the best part of the day, as there are many matters to come before him.

New Chiefs Chosen.

Fred Weber has been elected keeper of wampum and Chas. L. Holstien collector of wampum in Miantonomo Tribe, Improved Order Red Men, in the places of A. J. Stiglitz and A. D. Pope, who have resigned.

Vacation Days.

Vacation time is here and the children are fairly living out of doors. There could be no healthier place for them. You need only to guard against the accidents incidental to most open air sports. No remedy equals DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve for quickly stopping pain or removing danger of serious consequences. For cuts, scalds and wounds. "I used DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve for sores, cuts and bruises," says L. B. Johnson, Swift, Tex. "It is the best remedy on the market." Sure cure for piles and skin diseases. Beware of counterfeits. WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

The peach crop is gone. This is the word that comes, after a long delay, from Warren county. It is not by a late frost this time, that the peach crop has been ruined, but by the recent heavy storms. Trees were stripped of their foliage and fruit, it is said by "hailstones larger than hickorynuts." It is too bad that such damage has been wrought up in Warren; but Hunterdon still remains in good condition.—Elizabeth Journal.

It is intimated that James J. Bergen may be the Democratic opponent of Mr. Lanning, as the Somerset man claims that he stands a better show in the new district than he did in the old Third, where he was defeated two years ago. Outside of the cantankerous Arthur Kelly, who has made a bid for the honor, Mr. Bergen is the only Democrat who has been seriously mentioned in connection with the nomination. It is hardly safe to make any predictions as to who will be named by the party until after the much heralded seashore conference the last of this month.—Newark News.

Rev. Dr. A. V. V. Raymond, formerly of Plainfield, who has declined to give up a $4,000 job as president of Union College to accept a $12,000 pastorate, has an extraordinary well developed sense of duty even for a clergyman. The higher salary is frequently taken by ministers as an indication of the leadings of Providence, as was evidenced by the small boy, who, upon being asked if his father was going to accept a call to a church which offered him more money, replied, "I guess he is, for though pa's still praying for light, ma's begun to pack the things."—Newark News.

The board of commissioners of the Rahway reformatory has elected Mr. Martin superintendent. Why was not this done before? For what reason or reasons was this action deferred, month after month, and only precipitated when an investigation was asked for with reference to rumors about the management of affairs in that institution? If Mr. Martin is the man for the place; if he is competent and all that is desirable, why was he not made superintendent when Mr. Heg resigned? Why was the reformatory allowed to drag along with an acting head when a real head was in such imperative demand? The appointment of Mr. Martin, it must be understood was not in accord with the wishes or with the suggestion of Governor Murphy, but, if current report is to be credited, it was contrary to his judgment and to his expressed desire. "I am sorry to say," the governor is reported as stating, "that the conditions existing at the institution are not all that could be desired. I hope, though, that things will be straightened out in a few days." It seems very singular, to say the least, that the board of commissioners would make such an important appointment when several matters remained unexplained. To the ordinary mind it would have seemed prudent to clear up matters first and make the appointment afterwards. An investigation and overhauling seems more desirable than ever.—Elizabeth Journal.

THEATRICAL.

Keith's Union Square Theatre in New York is enjoying a period of prosperity this summer without equal in the history of the theatrical business. With four or five light operas on Broadway and the regular roof garden competition, in this, the home of "the cool continuous," capacity houses are still the rule. Heading the bill for the coming week are the Four Madcaps, in an European dancing specialty that is considered one of the best ever seen in this country. Next are the Kaufmann Troupe, bicyclists. This is justly considered the greatest bicycle act ever seen, and the team, although billed as European, is composed entirely of Americans. Their first public appearance was, however, in Berlin and for several years their engagements were limited to the foreign vaudeville houses and they consequently come to this country with the reputation of being Europeans. Others upon the bill are Trovollo, the celebrated ventriloquist comedian; Billy S. Clifford, with an original monologue; Dooley and Fowley, in dancing specialties; Maddox and Wayne, eccentric comedians; Manning and Hunt, with their laughable sketch "The Irish Pawnbrokers;" and seventeen other features, including new views for the stereopticion and Biograph.

FLOODS SUBSIDING.

Mississippi Falling In Iowa—Loss Estimated at $6,000,000.

KEOKUK, Ia., July 22.—The height of the flood in the Mississippi river has been reached. The river is falling at Keokuk, and the fall will soon reach southern points. Yesterday's rise of a foot more in the vicinity of Canton, Quincy, Lagrange and Hannibal carried the water over thousands of acres previously uninjured. The highest water is between Lagrange and Gregory, where a flood poured over the railroad tracks and reached to the steps of the coaches. The roadbed is good, and trains are delayed only by slow running through water.

The last rise covered more wheat in the shock which previously stood with its butts in water. Extension of the flooded district increased the total damage, though not very great percentage on the enormous total of millions hitherto accomplished by the flood. The greatest part of the flood now is between Gregory, ten miles below here, and Hannibal, sixty-five miles below. Farmers report a much greater loss than before, but estimates approximating $6,000,000 damage over seventy-five miles of river frontage will not be changed greatly.

The river here is full of debris. South of here the flotsam includes thousands of rabbits as passengers on logs, pieces of houses and other wreckage.

HER JEWELS GONE.

May Yohe Would Like to Know Where Captain Strong Is Hiding.

NEW YORK, July 22.—Putnam Bradlee Strong is being sought by the New York police. His description and list of the jewels he is said to have taken from May Yohe, with whom he lived for several months at Hastings-on-the-Hudson after a trip with her around the world, have been sent broadcast, and a systematic search will be made for him by the police of the entire country.

Lady Hope, whose love for Strong led to her divorce from her husband, is now, it is alleged, made almost penniless by Strong's betrayal of the trust she placed in him. When the strong box in the Knickerbocker Trust company, 234 Fifth avenue, was opened late yesterday afternoon it was found that all her jewels, valued at $300,000, were missing. The box had been in the name of Putnam Bradlee Strong, and he alone had access to it. Of the vast wealth she had confided to his keeping hardly a beggar's mite remained.

Oil Well Fire Put Out.

JENNINGS, La., July 22.—The fire in the Heywood oil wells has been extinguished. Nine boilers of large capacity were set in the field to the northeast of the burning well. They were connected with two lines of four inch pipe. One of the lines was stationary and the other movable, so as to follow the flames, and a man was stationed at each boiler to keep the steam pressure up to 125 pounds. It is estimated the combined boilers gave a 225 horsepower force. Two four inch water lines were laid from the north with four two inch connections and fifty feet of hose on each connection and were so arranged that the flames could be covered from the east, north and northwest. One of the pumps on the Jennings-Heywood Oil syndicate well was used to force the water and the other to force chemicals. The steam did the work, extinguishing the flames which have been raging for a week. The chemicals did not have to be used.

Haiti Is Disturbed.

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti, July 22.—The situation in Haiti has become worse. General Jean Jumeau, who supports the candidacy for the presidency of M. Firmin, is on his way to the capital, and General Salnave, with a considerable force, has started for Cape Haitien in order to attack General Nord, the war minister. The provisional government here is divided into four parts—one Firminist and three anti-Firminist groups—and is without any authority. The population is also divided, and it is generally believed that M. Firmin will not meet with any serious resistance in his advance on the capital.

Irish Land Owners Unite.

DUBLIN, July 22.—Irish land owners have formed a combination with a capital of $500,000 to protect themselves against the United Irish league. The prospectus of the combination makes complaint that the government has failed to afford the land owners adequate assistance and says that, therefore, united effort on their part is necessary. Among the leading members of the combination are Arthur Hugh Smith Barry and Lord Clonbrock.

Anti-imperialists to Meet.

BOSTON, July 22.—A number of the anti-imperialists of this city, including Charles Francis Adams, Moorfield Storey and Julian Codman, have gone to Bolton's Landing, Lake George, to join other leaders of this movement at a meeting of the special committee appointed last spring to investigate affairs in the Philippines and secure the publicity of the facts.

Dr. Talcott's Will.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., July 22.—The will of Dr. Selden H. Talcott, late superintendent of the State hospital here, has been admitted to probate at Goshen. It leaves a fund to the Union school at Waterville, N. Y., to provide for the continuation of prizes in recitation and declamation founded by Dr. Talcott twenty-eight years ago.

LONDON, July 22.—Joseph Chamberlain, the colonial secretary, who was recently injured in a cab accident, has entirely recovered and resumes his seat in parliament today.

BROOKE OUT OF ARMY

Over Forty Years of Efficient Service.

SECRETARY ROOT PRAISES GENERAL.

Says He Has Always Been a Credit and Honor to Himself and His Country — General MacArthur Succeeds.

NEW YORK, July 22.—Major General John R. Brooke, U. S. A., commander of the department of the east, whose headquarters have been at Governors island, retired yesterday, having reached the age limit. He was succeeded by Major General Arthur MacArthur, who will be in command at Governors island until the arrival of General Chaffee from the Philippines. After leaving New York General Brooke intends going to Philadelphia for a few days to superintend the completion of his home at Rosemont, then to join his wife at Bar Harbor. General Brooke was born at the Brooke farm, near Pottsville, Pa., in 1838.

Secretary Root in announcing the retirement of General Brooke paid him the following tribute:

"The retirement from active service this date by operation of law of Major General John R. Brooke, U. S. A., is announced, terminating a period of over forty years of efficient, honorable and distinguished service on the active list of the volunteer and regular army.

"General Brooke volunteered his services and was commissioned by the governor of Pennsylvania in the Fourth regiment of infantry from that state at once upon the call of the president for volunteers following the attack on Fort Sumter. He was subsequently commissioned colonel of the Fifty-third Pennsylvania volunteers in November, 1861, and was appointed brigadier general of volunteers by President Lincoln May 12, 1864, for distinguished services in the battles of the Wilderness and Spottsylvania Courthouse. He was twice severely wounded—in the battle of Gettysburg, July 2, 1863, and in the battle of Cold Harbor, June 3, 1864—and was brevetted major general of volunteers for gallant and meritorious services in the battles of Tolopotomy and Cold Harbor, Va. He resigned from the volunteer service Feb. 1, 1866, and entered the regular service with the grade of lieutenant colonel of infantry July 28, 1866; was commissioned colonel in 1879, brigadier general in 1888 and major general in 1897. He was brevetted colonel and brigadier general, U. S. A., March 2, 1867, for gallant and meritorious services in the battle of Gettysburg and Spottsylvania Court House respectively.

"In the beginning of the war with Spain he was assigned to the command of an army corps and in July, 1898, sailed in command of the troops embarked for Porto Rico, and after the declaration of truce, in August, 1898, was in command of all of the troops in that island to December, 1898.

"He was chairman of the commission to arrange for the evacuation of Porto Rico by the Spanish troops, and from Dec. 28, 1898, to Dec. 20, 1899, General Brooke was in command of the division of Cuba and as military governor of the island, under circumstances of great difficulty, rendered faithful and effective service.

"During his long service General Brooke has exercised important military commands, both in peace and war, and always with credit and honor to himself and to the country.

"It is a pleasure to refer to a record such as this, which would serve as an example and an inspiration to every young officer who has yet to shape his character and career in the military service."

American Aid For Irishmen.

LONDON, July 22.—Ex-Mayor Phelan of San Francisco has sent John Redmond, chairman of the Irish parliamentary party, $2,500 as a contribution to the Nationalist funds, accompanied by a letter saying he is convinced the evictions on the De Freyne estates were designed to crush the party and destroy the political hope of the Irish people. Mr. Phelan expresses the hope that Mr. Redmond will make a strenuous defense.

Shot and Robbed.

LA FOLLETTE, Tenn., July 22.—William Delap was shot and afterward robbed of $1,100 and a gold watch by highwaymen on the outskirts of this city late at night. He was riding through woods, and, hearing the Odd Fellows' distress signal, responded to it, when three men accosted him. Delap will recover.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—General William H. Barnes, one of the leading lawyers and one of the most eloquent orators of the Pacific coast, is dead of hemorrhage of the lungs. He was sixty-six years of age.

TAFT BIDS FAREWELL

Pope Expresses Pleasure at Success of Mission.

WILL WATCH THE WORK PERSONALLY

False and Misleading Newspaper Reports of the Negotiations Regarding Philippine Friars Regretted—A Parting Blessing.

ROME, July 22.—The pope received Governor Taft and the members of his party in a farewell audience yesterday. His holiness expressed pleasure at the success of the mission. He also expressed sympathy with the president and the American people. The pope decorated the members of the party, who afterward went to greet Cardinal Rampolla, the papal secretary of state.

The Americans were ushered into the private library, and so soon as the door was opened the pope went half way to meet them and greeted Governor Taft with the greatest cordiality. His holiness commenced the interview by saying he was most satisfied and happy at the results obtained and was confident that the negotiations would be the starting point of a complete and satisfactory solution of the question under discussion. He added that the apostolic delegate soon to be appointed would be instructed most strictly and precisely regarding carrying out the ideas determined upon between the United States and the Vatican, saying:

"I will see that orders be given him as to his work, over which I will watch personally."

Turning the conversation, the pope expressed the highest esteem for American methods of treating church matters. In fact, he had more than once pointed to the United States as setting an example well worth copying.

Governor Taft thanked the pope for the promptness and courtesy shown during his visit and promised co-operation with the apostolic delegate in executing the business on the lines agreed upon at Rome. He expressed regret at the fact that the negotiations had been made the occasion for the circulation of false and even calumnious rumors in various papers and by some telegraphic agencies which had given rise to unfavorable comments upon the Vatican. The pope also protested against such false reports, but he philosophically declared that by this time he was accustomed to that kind of misrepresentation.

The pontiff then rose with unusual activity, walked with the Americans to the opposite side of the room and showed them the mosaic which he is sending to President Roosevelt in return for the president's present of a box containing his (Mr. Roosevelt's) literary works. The mosaic is a copy of Corridi's well known picture of Pope Leo sitting on the terrace of the Vatican gardens surveying Rome. It was made in the Vatican workshops.

The pope then gave Bishop O'Gorman an autograph letter to President Roosevelt.

Members of Governor Taft's party asked the pope to bless several boxes of rosaries and other religious mementos, which his holiness did most willingly, adding that his benediction was extended to all their relations and friends.

After forty minutes' audience, in which the conversation was entirely carried on in French, Bishop O'Gorman and Major Porter translating, the pope saw the Americans to the door of the library.

Later Governor Taft, accompanied by Judge Smith and Captain Strother, left Rome for Naples.

Secretary Moody's Vacation.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Secretary of the Navy Moody will leave Washington next Friday and probably will not return until after the 1st of September. He will go from here to Oyster Bay, where he will spend Sunday with President Roosevelt, and early in the following week will proceed to Byfield, Mass., his birthplace, where the two hundredth anniversary of the founding of that town is to be celebrated on the 30th. He also will participate in the celebration of "old home week" at Salem.

Thousands of Harvesters Needed.

WINNIPEG, Man., July 22.—It is estimated that from 20,000 to 25,000 harvesters will be required in this part of the west. The Canadian Pacific Railroad company is arranging with the Allan and Beaver steamship lines to bring laborers from England at exceptionally cheap rates. General Manager McNicholl is here and hopes to avoid a grain blockade this year. The road, he says, has purchased a hundred new engines and will have 10,000 cars available.

New York Rivers Over Banks.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., July 22.—Rains still continue and have further raised the water in the Susquehanna and Chenango rivers, which are higher than ever known here at this season. A number of campers on islands in the Susquehanna have been forced to return to the mainland by water submerging the islands.

Boston Gold Beaters Strike.

BOSTON, July 22.—The gold beaters of Boston have joined in the strike of the Gold Beaters' union for an increase in wages, and the master gold beaters have met and decided to fight the strike to an end.

Cholera Appears at Tokyo.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Minister Buck, at Tokyo, reports to the state department by cable that cholera has broken out there.

OCHS BUYS ANOTHER PAPER.

Owner of New York Times Buys Philadelphia Ledger.

PHILADELPHIA, July 22.—The Philadelphia Public Ledger has been purchased by Adolph S. Ochs from George W. Childs Drexel and the Drexel estate, and possession was at once given Mr. Ochs. The purchase includes all the Public Ledger estate, comprising about half a block of improved property on Chestnut and Sixth streets facing Independence hall. The price paid is not made public, but it is stated on good authority that over $2,250,000 is involved in the transaction. Mr. Ochs has no associates in the transaction except that a substantial interest has been acquired by James M. Beck of Philadelphia, who represented the purchaser in the negotiations. There is no underwriting, and with the exception of Mr. Beck's interest Mr. Ochs is the sole owner.

The new owner says there will be no radical changes in the appearance or policy of the Public Ledger. Mr. Ochs, who is the principal owner of the New York Times, Philadelphia Times and Chattanooga Times, when asked if the Philadelphia Times, which is now being successfully conducted by his brother, George W. Ochs, is to be consolidated with the Public Ledger, replied:

"Not at present. Perhaps not at all."

The Philadelphia Public Ledger is one of the oldest and most prosperous newspapers in America. It was established in 1836 and from 1864 to 1894 was conducted by George W. Childs. It passed to the ownership of the A. J. Drexel estate when Mr. Childs died and had been conducted up to the day of sale by George W. Childs Drexel, one of the trustees of the estate.

Secretary Root Leaves For Vacation.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Secretary Root will leave here this afternoon for New York, whence he will sail for Europe in company with General Horace Porter, United States embassador to France. Secretary Root is going to Carlsbad for the purpose of bringing home Mrs. Root and some of the children, who have been at that place for their health. It is expected that he will return Sept. 6. Assistant Secretary Sanger will have charge of the affairs of the war department.

To Sell Camp Columbia.

HAVANA, July 22.—At a meeting of the council of secretaries the advisability of getting rid of Camp Columbia, Havana, was discussed, the camp being considered utterly useless to the government. The secretary of public works, Senor Diaz, is to estimate the value of the buildings at the camp with a view of selling them.

Rains Alarm Farmers.

HOOSICK FALLS, N. Y., July 22.—The heavy rain continues, much to the alarm of farmers, who fear for the general crops. The flats are under water. The Hoosick river is again very high. The damage will be heavy, the losses being principally in country districts, where hay and wheat have suffered.

Newspaper to Print the Bible.

M'LAURIN DECLINES.

President Had Appointed South Carolina Senator as Judge.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 22.—President Roosevelt is in receipt of a letter from Senator John L. McLaurin of South Carolina declining the proffered appointment to the vacancy on the bench of the United States court of claims. The president, it can be said, much regrets Senator McLaurin's decision, as he believes that McLaurin's senatorial experience and his career as attorney general of South Carolina would have rendered him a particularly good addition to the court of claims.

The president now is uncertain what he will do about Senator McLaurin. It is understood that he is anxious to appoint him to some position in recognition of what the president regards as his services to the country and his demonstrated ability in public life. Senator McLaurin's letter is couched in the most positive terms and evidently was based in particular upon a newspaper article which accompanied the letter. The article stated that the senator had so'd himself for the prospect of getting such an office as that offered to him. It can be said, however, that the president regarded such a type of accusation as beneath notice and sincerely regrets that Senator McLaurin should have deemed it necessary to pay any attention to it.

Senator McLaurin evidently has changed his mind about accepting the proffered appointment since he was in Oyster Bay on July 11. At that time he indicated his readiness to accept the vacancy of the court of claims, and the only question then was when he should resign from the senate.

Some Farm Facts.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—The total annual value of farm products, according to the census bulletin, is $4,739,118,752, of which amount $1,718,990,221 was for animal products, including live stock, poultry and bee products. The bulletin places the average size of farms in the United States at 146 acres, and it is stated that 49 per cent of the farm land is improved. The total acreage for the entire country was 841,201,546. A comparison by states indicates that the most important states in the agriculture of the country are, beginning at the west, Missouri, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York. Together they contribute 44 per cent of the total value of farm property and 38 per cent of the total value of farm products.

Keane Bishop of Cheyenne.

ROME, July 22.—At a meeting of the congregation propaganda fide yesterday it was decided that Rev. James J. Keane, pastor of the Church of the Immaculate Conception at Minneapolis, Minn., be appointed bishop of the diocese of Cheyenne, Wyo. The meeting approved of the division of the diocese of Sioux Falls, S. D., as proposed by Bishop O'Gorman, the new diocese to have Lead, Lawrence county, as the residence of the new bishop, who will be the very Rev. J. N. Stariha, the present vicar general of the archdiocese of St. Paul, Minn.

Fatalities on the Retvizan.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 22.—The battleship Retvizan, built in Philadelphia for the Russian government and which recently arrived here, seems to be ill fated. On her way from Philadelphia five members of her crew were killed by the explosion of a water tube, and now two others of the crew have been killed by falling to the bottom of the drydock while painting the battleship's keel.

Superintendent For Southern Mint.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—The president has appointed Hugh S. Suthon as superintendent of the United States mint at New Orleans, vice Boothby, resigned.

THE ELBE DISASTER.

Fifty Lives Lost In Steamboat Collision.

MORE THAN A HUNDRED RESCUED.

Excursion Boat Cut In Two by a Tug Sunk Almost Immediately. Survivors Tell of the Horror.

HAMBURG, Germany, July 22.—The steamship Primus, with 185 passengers on board, has been cut in two and sunk by the tug Hansa on the river Elbe.

So far as is ascertained about fifty persons were drowned.

The disaster occurred between Blankenese and Nienstedten. Among the passengers were the members of the Eilbeck Male Choral society.

At the time of the accident the Primus was crossing the river channel near Blankenese from the southern to the northern fairway.

The Primus struck the tug's engine room, and the Hansa endeavored to push her ashore, but the tug grounded soon, and the ships parted. The Primus then sank.

In the interval, however, about fifty of her passengers were able to reach the Hansa by means of ropes and ladders.

The terrible panic that occurred on the Primus when the Hansa struck her rendered the efforts to save her passengers almost useless. Fortunately the steamer Delphin came up immediately and succeeded in saving sixty of those on board the sinking steamer, while a number of other boats assisted in the work of rescue.

The disaster caused deep gloom here. Many children lost both their parents. The choral society which was on board the excursion steamer consisted mainly of workmen. There were no foreign passengers.

Some of the survivors furnish graphic descriptions of the awful suddenness of the disaster. According to their story, the band was playing, and many couples were dancing on deck when the crash of the collision came like a thunderbolt. The vessel gave a great list, her deck taking such an angle that it was impossible for the passengers to keep their feet. Those below scrambled up the companionways, but most of the persons in the saloon were drowned. Men fought for their own safety regardless of others. In the midst of the confusion the boilers exploded, adding to the horrors of the scene, and many persons are said to have been injured by flying splinters of metal. More of the Primus' passengers would have been saved by the ropes thrown from the Hansa had it not been that before those who seized the ropes could be hauled on board they were pulled from off the lines they had grasped by the frantic struggles of others.

It is asserted that divers have already recovered forty-five bodies, but as yet it is impossible to verify the death list. An attempt will immediately be made to float the vessel, and when this is done it is believed a number of bodies will be found. Estimates of the number of dead vary from fifty to sixty.

A large number of the survivors were injured, though not seriously.

Fifty-eight Harvesters Drowned.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 22.—A ferryboat while crossing the river Volga at Beresniki sank, and fifty-eight harvesters were drowned.

Pentecost Band Meets.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., July 22.—The conference of the Pentecost Band of the World is now in session here. Nearly 400 workers are domiciled in ninety tents surrounding the tabernacle. Meetings are to be held three times each day. Delegates are present from all parts of the United States and many from Europe. More than 200 ordained ministers are present. The sessions will continue two weeks.

American Horses Wanted In France.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—In the French military service and on French farms American horses are much in demand, according to a report from Commercial Agent Griffin at Limoges. Mr. Griffin says that care should be taken to send only sound horses to France, as on arrival they are carefully examined by veterinarians, who exclude all defective animals.

Amateur Running Record Cut.

LONDON, July 22.—In a sensational running match at Stamford Bridge F. Appleby of Hernehill cut the world's amateur record by completing fifteen miles in 1h. 20m. 4 3-5s. Arthur Shrubb, the amateur champion, was second. He also cut the record, covering the distance in 1h. 20m. 15 4-5s.

The Kaiser Buys "Uncle Sam."

BERLIN, July 22.—Special telegrams received here from Kiel confirm the report that Emperor William has bought Francis R. Riggs' thirty foot yacht Uncle Sam, winner of the kaiser's gold cup. His majesty intends to sail her in the 1903 regattas without competing for prizes.

After Hidden Treasure.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—The schooner Hermann has sailed for the south seas ostensibly on a pleasure trip, but in reality, it is said, in search of buried treasure, amounting to $70,000,000, reported to have been hidden on an island by the mutinous crew of a Japanese ship.

Floods In Vienna.

VIENNA, July 22.—Torrential rains which have occurred here did great damage to buildings, flooded the low lying quarters of the city and interrupted street car traffic.

NO MORE ROWDYISM.

While the games in the City Baseball League have been pleasantly free from any suggestion of rowdiness and unsportsmanlike conduct on the part of any of the players, some of the enthusiasts who have witnessed the games have not been so careful. This decidedly displeasing feature was particularly aggravated in Saturday's games. No one blames any baseball enthusiast for becoming excited over the progress of a game or for hoping to see his favorite team win. When that enthusiast so far forgets himself, however, as to attempt to interfere with the play or any of the players, it is time that he was brought up with a round turn.

At a previous game some of the rooters for the Hope Y. M. A. team forgot themselves and brought down upon their heads the deserved rebuke of City Judge William N. Runyon, president of the Y. M. A. It so happened that the most flagrant offences in Saturday's games were aimed to disconcert Allen, the catcher of the Safe Works team in the game with the Hopes. City Judge Runyon has shown the proper spirit. He has the support of every true lover of good sport in the city of Plainfield. If these league games are to continue to be a success, they must be kept free from incidents of this nature. As president of the league and the Y. M. A. City Judge Runyon can do much to break it up and he should have the co-operation of every member of the four organizations represented in the league.

The league was formed to further the progress of clean sport. So far the games have been remarkably free from rowdyism. The standing of the players has remained unquestioned. There should not be any actions allowed on the part of overzealous rooters which will bring the league, its members and the game of baseball into disrepute. Any further cases of this kind should be summarily dealt with. The good of the sport demands it.

A little trip around our neighboring cities and towns will convince one that there is no city within 100 miles of New York that can compare with Plainfield in beauty and thrift. The character of Plainfield's streets, sidewalks and lights is in marked contrast with most cities and towns that make up the suburbs of New York. A spirit of enterprise and emulation seems to pervade all in maintaining well kept lawns and surroundings. Many towns will point to one show street, but with Plainfield every street shows a degree of thrift most marked. Added to these the schools, churches and stores tend to make Plainfield a most ideal home. With proper advertising of these merits the city should make a most rapid growth.

St. Swithin's Day came and went but the public thought little of it. Now attention is being called to the fact that it rained that day and that, according to an old saying, it will rain every day for the next forty days. There has been a sameness about the last month or two in account of the generous and frequent supply of rain which has come this direction that the summer guests have not relished and those who are planning for their vacations in the near future are not particularly anxious to see the conditions continued.

The fact that a reputable oculist of Chicago, in high standing in the profession, has become a large advertiser in the daily newspapers, has excited a good deal of comment, all of which benefits the advertiser, comments the Philadelphia Record. It is regarded as an evidence that in time every professional man will announce his business through the newspaper, to the convenience of the public and the profit of himself.

The Daily Press will continue to keep the people of Plainfield posted with the happenings in that part of Camp Murphy occupied by Company K. The boys are making a good showing and they will be glad to welcome to camp any Plainfielders who may be able to visit Sea Girt, this week.

Benevolent Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., managed to carry a good crowd to Atlantic City this morning. While the Twin Cities by the sea are very popular places for Plainfielders, there is always a fair proportion who want a little variety.

It is an assured thing that President Roosevelt is to visit the State camp at Sea Girt, Thursday. The Second Regiment is particularly fortunate in being the part of the National Guard which is in camp at this time.

MET A POLE.

Rolling Stone Was Responsible for Sudden Contact With Trolley Pole.

Too forceful contact with the hard iron of a Front street trolley pole has been responsible for the scratched appearance of the features of Otto Smith, the dairyman. Coming along at an early hour yesterday morning, he had the misfortune to step upon a rolling stone while crossing the street. Before he could recover his balance, he had plunged forward, his face striking the edge of the pole. A bad gash was the result, but prompt treatment prevented anything serious arising therefrom.

FRIGHTENED GUESTS.

Lightning Struck Tree Close by Sunset Cottage Saturday Night.

Shattered nerves were the portion of nearly every one of the occupants of Jacob Voehl's "Sunset Cottage," near Mt. Horeb, Saturday night. In the midst of the thunder storm, while the guests were enjoying the display of lightning, a sharp crack sounded near at hand and a large tree directly adjoining the house was shattered by the bolt. Some of the young women staying at the cottage were in quite serious conditions of nervous excitability for several hours afterwards.

DIDN'T SEE HORSE.

Geo. LeMatty Rode Into Equine's Path, But Escaped Injury.

George LeMatty, of North avenue, started to ride away from the curb in front of his home this noon, on his wheel, without noticing an approaching rig driven by Manager Brown, of the Hotel Netherwood. He struck the horse squarely but jumped in time to escape being injured. The animal stepped on one of the bicycle wheels and its foot became entangled in the spokes. It was necesary to cut several of them to release it.

Chance to Sober Up.

Frank Margentino, of Park avenue, was arraigned in the city court this morning, charged by his wife with disorderly conduct. She recited a long tale of grievances that she had suffered at his hands, mainly when he was under the influence of liquor, which she claimed was the greater part of the time. City Judge Runyon sentenced him to thirty days in order to let him sober up.

A regular meeting of the Checker Club will be held this evening.

Lud Frazee is completing a job of painting on Alvah Gray's house.

Thomas Cady, of Cranford, visited with friends in town last evening.

The new horse sheds back of the Methodist church are about finished.

Quite a number from here went on the Junior excursion to Atlantic City today.

Chas. Boice, Jr., has returned from a trip to Old Point Comfort, in Virginia.

The Dunellen A. C. will play the New Market A. C. on the home grounds Saturday.

From present indications a large number will go on the Presbyterian excursion on Thursday to Asbury Park.

A meeting of the Board of Trade has been called for Wednesday evening in the borough hall by the treasurer, Frank Humpston.

The marriage has recently been announced of Cornelius Ryno, of this place, to Miss Elizabeth Flemming. The wedding took place June 29 at the home of the groom. The ceremony was performed by Rev. L. E. Livermore and was a very quiet one, only the immediate relatives of the couple being present.

While playing with a tricycle yesterday afternoon, Adam Dealman, Jr., the young son of Adam Dealaman, fell from the wheel while riding at a fast gait and struck on the point of a stone with his chin. A deep gash about an inch long was cut there. He was taken to Dr. Brakeley's and the wound was plastered up.

NEW MARKET.

The New Market A. C. will play the Dunellen A. C. at Dunellen, Saturday. While the locals are not put in the same class with Dunellen they have been practising hard and are confident of making a creditable showing at least. Chas. Ralley, of Plainfield, has been secured to pitch.

Fanwood Council, R. A., will hold its semi-monthly meeting in the Library Rooms tonight at 8 o'clock.

Miss Nettie Reick, of Forest avenue, has returned from a pleasant visit of two weeks with relatives and friends at Bordentown, this State.

Manager Johnston's colts will cross bats Saturday afternoon with the Riversides, Newark's crack team of ball tossers. A good game is assured the fans.

The regular monthly meeting of Excelsior Hook and Ladder Company was held in the company's rooms last night. Routine business only was transacted.

Robert Jahn, while walking along Green brook, Sunday morning, killed a copperhead snake measuring nearly five feet in length. The dead reptile was brought to the village where it was the center of attraction for some time. Copperheads were very plentiful through this section years ago but of late years but very few have been seen.

The way the conductors of the trolley company pack their cars during a rush on Saturday night and Sunday, it is a wonder that there are no more accidents than there are. Saturday night a Plainfield young man fell off a car near the 'Plains while endeavoring to save his hat from being blown from his head. The car continued its journey, the conductor never missing his passenger in the crush or if he did made no effort to find out if he was injured. Another on the same car injured his hand quite badly by putting it out in front of a car coming from the opposite direction.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Several large catches were made in the lake yesterday, including catfish and large snappers.

Mr. Wilkinson, of Plainfield avenue, is at home on a two weeks' vacation from his work in New York Monday.

Mother Always Keeps It Handy.

"My mother suffered a long time from distressing pains and general ill health due primarily to indigestion," says L. W. Spalding, Verona, Mo. "Two years ago I got her to try Kodol. She grew better at once and now, at the age of seventy-six, eats any thing she wants, remarking that she fears no bad effects as she has her bottle of Kodol handy." Don't waste time doctoring symptoms. Go after the cause. If your stomach is sound your health will be good. Kodol rests the stomach and strengthens the body by digesting your food. It is nature's own tonic. L. W. Randolph.

I, was made senior officer of the guard and Lieutenant Houston, of Company H, junior officer of the guard. The orders they issued were rigidly enforced and matters in the street were somewhat quieter than ordinary.

The rifle range will not be open for shooting this week but will be during August and part of September. On August 5, Company K will be ordered to Camp Murphy to go on the range. Those who desire, however, may remain here and shoot upon the breaking up of camp on July 27, at their own expense.

TROLLEY PARTY.

Retail Clerks Planned Another Outing to Boynton Beach.

After the regular meeting of the Retail Clerks' Mutual Benefit Association last evening the committee on outings met and decided to run another trolley excursion to Boynton Beach Wednesday evening, July 30. The committee desires that everyone have a good time from start to finish, and music will be furnished for every car. At Boynton Beach those who care to can dance. The commiltee in charge will be composed of the following: Caspar Waglow, James McLean, A. C. Hoagland, Chas. Greer, L. Brucker and Chas. Suhr.

TOOK HIS CASH.

Philip Case, of Somerville, Robbed While He Slept at Home.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, July 22.—When Philip Case, a prominent business man of this place, returned from his store late Saturday night he had several hundred dollars in the pocket of his coat, which he threw over the back of a chair before he went to bed. Robbers broke into his house Sunday morning, stole the money, a pair of gold eyeglasses and two suits of clothes. An entrance was effected through a kitchen window in the rear of the house. No trace of the thieves has been found.

Camping Near Martinsville.

Miss Sadie Blimm, Miss Katharine Blimm, of the borough, accompanied by their guest, Miss Sadie Brown, of New York, and three young women from New Brunswick, are camping out this week at Martinsville. They will return home Friday evening. The young women selected a delightful spot in the mountains close by a large farm house, where in case of rain they can change their sleeping quarters.

Veteran Citizens Gathered.

A very pleasant gathering was held at the residence of Mrs. George Reighton, of Park avenue, yesterday, in honor of her aunt, Mrs. Amanda Backer, of German Valley. Among those present were two brothers and a sister of Mrs. Backer's, all of whom are seventy years of age. They were Aaron Gulick, of Phillipsburg, Peter Gulick, of Milburn, and Mrs. Elizabeth Emmons, of this city.

Train Struck Truck.

A rapidly moving coal train, going west, about 10:45 this morning, hit one of the U. S. Express Company's trucks at the North Avenue station, which had been allowed to get too near the tracks. The engine threw the truck to one side, breaking one of the axles. A solitary trunk on it was not injured.

Purely Pleasure.

Charles McGinley, of East Third street, started overland this morning with Thomas Fayeth, of Newark, in the latter's combination business and pleasure wagon for a trip through Springfield, Madison, the Oranges and back to Newark. It is to be a purely pleasure affair and on its conclusion Mr. McGinley will return to this city by train.

Barn Burned Near New Market.

Unusually busy is the lightning in this section of late. Last night a stray bolt struck the large barn belonging to Joseph Field, on Centennial road, between New Market and the river. Fire followed, but before help could be procured, the building was almost wholly consumed.

Funeral of Mary Flynn.

COLUMN FOR THE SHOPPERS

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

If you are going to eat confections and ice cream this summer you want the pure and wholesome kind such as Campbell, of West Front street, sells.

Seafood in every variety, always fresh, is what Foss & Jeter have to offer. Give them a trial order and you will become a steady patron of the firm.

Milk is one of the most important articles used in the household and you want the best obtainable. William Lindsay & Son, of Mountain avenue, will serve you with this kind if you drop him a postal card.

No delay is experienced in securing flowers fresh from the metropolitan greenhouses of William H. Brower's Sons. Orders left in Plainfield with John L. Brower, of 127 East Fifth street, receive prompt attention.

Make no mistake in buying meat. You want the right kind—not something that has been rejected by some one else. At J. W. VanSickle's North avenue market there is nothing but the best of everything in that line.

When in the vicinity of Front and Grove streets, just take a few minutes to have a glass of Nagle's delicious soda. It is made of pure ingredients and is always ice cold. Nagle's prescription department is the most complete in the city.

"I haven't had a pair that fit me so well for years, everything stands plumb and they don't hurt my eyes. Have always gone to New York city for my glasses, but hereafter I buy only of Charles E. Vail, successor to Collier, 103 Park avenue." E. E. Bates, the eye specialist, is looking for difficult cases.

Everything for filling the lunch basket to take with you on your excursion to Asbury Park this week may be obtained at R. W. Barnes' Park avenue store. Potted meats of various kinds, boneless chicken, sardines, sweet and sour pickles offer just the right assortment for a picnic meal by the sea, with peaches, plums, melons or bananas to complete the enjoyment.

DEMOCRATIC PRIMARIES.

Date Set for July 25, to Elect Delegates to Congressional Convention.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, July 22.—Little business was transacted last evening by the Union county Democratic committee, which met in this city. Beyond the discussion of prospects for the coming campaign, the only matter attended to was the selection of the date for the forthcoming primaries and the appointment of the places where the elections are to be held. Friday evening, July 25, was the time set, at which delegates will be chosen from the various wards and townships to the district congressional convention, to be held at Washington in September.

ALMOST CAUSED ACCIDENT

PART OF COUPLING FOUND ON JERSEY CENTRAL'S TRRCKS.

Discovered Near Somerville, Just Before the Lake Hopatcong Excursion Passed.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, July 22.—Sunday night, about five minutes before the Central Railroad's excursion of eleven carloads of people passed through Raritan on its return from a day's outing at Lake Hopatcong, Freight Agent Crone, of Raritan, who happened to be walking along the tracks, west of the depot there, discovered an obstruction on one rail that would probably have caused a terrible wreck.

A broken coupling had been fastened to one rail in such a way that had the locomotive struck it the engine would surely have been hurled from the tracks. Crouse with difficulty got the coupling loose from the rail, and when the excursion train passed through at a speed of fifty miles an hour, he shuddered to think of what might have been. Death and ruin would surely have been the result.

Many are of the opinion that someone in sympathy with the strikers placed the broken coupling there. Only a piece of the link was gone, just enough for it to hook nicely over the rail. The Raritan officials, however, are of the opinion that some children, who had been playing along the tracks sometime previous, had placed the obstruction there without any malicious intent.

NEW SANDY HOOK BOAT.

Jersey Central Has Ordered New Steamer to be Fastest Afloat.

The New Jersey Central has just placed an order with the Cramps, of Philadelphia, for a steamboat that will be able to make twenty-five knots an hour. The designs call for a craft that will beat any yacht in New York harbor with the exception of Charles R. Flint's flyer "Arrow." The new boat is to be delivered before May 30, 1903, and will be placed in the fleet plying between Rector street, Manhattan, and Atlantic Highlands, N. J., now composed of the "Monmouth" and "Sandy Hook."

Every Comfort.

In union there is strength and by a uniting of forces the excursion of Trinity Reformed church Sunday-school to Asbury Park, Friday, is sure to be a success. Every comfort will be provided for those who go and, by leaving the Park at 7 o'clock, plenty of time will be given everybody to enjoy themselves at the beach.

Extenuating Circumstances.

Patrolman Totten was complainant against Thomas McGrath in the city court, this morning, whom he charged with intoxication. The young man pleaded extenuating circumstances and sentence was suspended.

Paying Death Benefit.

Harvey R. Thorn, recorder of Central Lodge, No. 48, A. O. U. W., received this morning a check for $2,000 on account of the death of John Franklin Moore, one of the lodge members.

PENALTIES OF FAME.

Writers of Fiction Are the Victims of Brain Fatigue.

They Are Set on Edge by Sounds and Conditions Which Are Hardly Noticed by Persons in Other Walks of Life.

Successful novel writing is not an unmixed evil, if one judges by the present ill-luck of Miss Mary Johnston, Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett, Miss Mary Hartwell Catherwood and Mrs. Kate Douglas Wiggins.

Each of these has succumbed to brain fatigue, says the Philadelphia Press. Each says she will continue to write as soon as the sanitarium releases its firm grip.

Each of these, except Mrs. Wiggins, has been enjoying the privileges of a rest cure. And rumor has it that Mrs. Wiggins is on the threshold of a sanitarium.

One would think that the violent struggle to be successful might send women and men to a rest cure, but to ride to success in a golden chariot and then break down from brain fag is beyond the reasoning of those who have tried and failed.

These writers have been successful from the start. Why they each have yielded to fatigue and mental strain is probably from trying to meet the demands of an enthusiastic public.

Henry James has explained it all in a recent ghost story, in which he lays the blame to "the dreadful too much" in the successful writer's life.

In that story he gives you such a dramatic and terrible description of the nervous fatigue that comes from trying to live up to one's literary reputation, that there is reflected nervousness from simply reading it.

The youngest and newest of these successful novelists is Miss Mary Johnston, and it is she who is returning to a sanitarium in Baltimore for the second time since Christmas.

She has been suffering with the most intense headaches. She has done everything for them except the remarkable operation that it was rumored she had undergone. This rumor said she had submitted to the removal of certain nerves from her head, and that the intense pain had therefore ceased. This was, absolutely denied at the sanitarium. But the brain fag and severe headaches that are being treated there lend themselves slowly to cure, however skillful.

MARY HARTWELL CATHERWOOD.
(Western Novelist Who Has Succumbed to Brain Fatigue.)

Mrs. Townsend, or Mrs. Hodgson Burnett, as the literary world still knows her, has been completely prostrated from writing successful novels. She had to go to the sanitarium at Fishkill Landing in the fall, and has just ventured away from it.

When she succumbed to pain, she was just beginning another novel which, it was supposed, would follow along the same money-making, praise-receiving channel as did "Fauntleroy," "A Lady of Quality," and others.

She began also to suffer with severe pain, and could find no rest from it, working or playing. She came to America—where the good doctors are, of course—and went into the sanitarium. Her malady was diagnosed as neuritis and she finds herself much better.

Mrs. Browning wrote a little poem once which told—so her friends said—of her own severe suffering from nervous headaches. And she ends with the philosophic reflection that if she must have headaches or give up writing she will take the pain. Grim choice between two evils.

The late Frank Stockton suffered from nervousness and pain produced by noises. He was so sensitive to jarring sound that he left Morristown, N. J., where he had a charming home, because he feared the city would run a street car near the house.

Nearly all the successful workers in imaginative fiction are set on edge by the sounds and conditions which to other people are in the day's life.

Their talent or genius is surrounded by such serious handicaps.

Great financiers promote colossal enterprises requiring the greatest mental strain; great masters of men and affairs work ceaselessly with gigantic results; profound makers of government wrestle with nation-building problems, all in the glare and yell and noise of active industry. But the writer of books must have dead silence. Even the sound of the human voice interrupts the flow of his organized thought.

Wants Women to Wear Hats.

In an address before the diocesan convention of the New Jersey Episcopal church, Bishop Scarborough called attention to the growing practice of women appearing hatless in public places. It had been extended to attendance at divine worship, which he thought, was not a consistent practice, and he hoped it would be discontinued.

REWARDS OF PUBLIC LIFE.

Carter H. Harrison, Mayor of Chicago, Discusses the Subject in Its Various Phases.

From the financial standpoint it doesn't pay to be famous or succeed in politics, provided a man is in politics to be honest. If he goes into politics to make money, I presume it can be made to pay. But there is something more than money in the consciousness of having served the people faithfully and of a public duty well performed. There is something in being elected to and holding a public office that makes a man feel he is somebody and that he has done something that will not permit him to be forgotten. It tickles his vanity.

CARTER H. HARRISON.
(Now Filling His Second Term as Mayor of the City of Chicago.)

Sometimes a cloud comes over the sky; he feels that his efforts to serve the public have not been appreciated, and he wants to give up the office and quit public life forever. Then as another election approaches the sun comes out, the sky is flooded with light, and he feels that he has not labored in vain. There is also a pleasurable excitement in winning a victory in a battle at the polls. It exhilarates a man and pours a flattering unction on his soul.

If I had performed the same services that I have for Chicago for some corporation similar in size and extent they would be worth $35,000 to $40,000 a year. The worry and work would be no greater and the responsibility less. Men like Corporation Counsel Walker, Comptroller McGann and Commissioner Blocki perform services worth four times as much as they are paid. Large corporations pay larger salaries than public officials are paid, but the personal gratification in holding a public office is worth more than money to a man who loves the plaudits of an appreciative public.

ARCHBISHOP IRELAND.

Minnesota Prelate May Succeed to the Late Mgr. Corrigan's See and Become a Cardinal.

Archbishop John Ireland, of St. Paul, whose name is prominently mentioned in Rome as a candidate for the archbishopric of the vacant see of New York, has long been discussed as a probable cardinal, to which his transfer to Archbishop Corrigan's seat would be a natural step. The distinguished prelate of St. Paul is 64 years old. He was born in Ireland and came to America in his boyhood, going at once to St. Paul, where he was educated at the cathedral school. He studied theology in France, was ordained priest on December 21, 1861, consecrated a bishop in 1875, and became archbishop a few years subsequently. Mgr. Ireland is a broad-gauge, liberal, cultured and distinctly modern churchman, who has friends in every American city. His transfer east would please many persons in and near Washington.

A wealthy woman, named Silva, recently died at Lisbon and left her entire property to a rooster. She was a fervid spiritualist, a believer in the transmigration of souls, and imagined that the soul of her dead husband had entered the rooster. She caused a special fowl house to be built and ordered her servants to pay extra attention to their "master's" wants. The disgust of her realtives over the will caused the story to become public, and a lawsuit might have followed had not one of the heirs adopted the simple expedient of having the wealthy rooster killed, thus becoming himself next of kin.

Why They Oppose Polygamy.

General gloom prevails among the subjects of Morocco's sultan when he decides to marry, as everybody is expected to contribute a wedding present.

The statement of a manufacturer is not convincing proof of merit.
But the endorsement of friends is.
Now supposing you had a bad back.
A lame, weak or aching one.
Would you experiment on it?
You will read of many so-called cures.
Endorsed by strangers from far-away places.
It's different when the endorsement comes from home.
Easy to prove local testimony.
Home endorsement is the proof that backs every box of Doan's Kidney Pills.
Read this case:

Mrs. I. L. Holmes, of 442 West Second street, says: "I used several boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills for backache and derived more benefit from them than anything else. Before I tried this remedy I was bothered almost constantly with a severe pain across the small of my back, so bad at times that I thought I must give up. If I sat down and got up or was lying down and attempted to rise quickly or retained one position for any length of time, sharp acute pain always followed. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised for such troubles and went to L. W. Randolph's drug store and got a box. They helped me from the first and I improved right along under the treatment."

HAS A GOOD RECORD.

Military Authorities Say There Is No Flaw in Maj. Cornelius Gardener's Army Career.

Maj. Cornelius Gardener, the governor of the province of Tabayas, in the southern part of the Philippine islands, and an officer in the United States army of 30 years' standing, is one of the conspicuous persons whose reports of atrocities in the islands have been making so much trouble for the administration.

Maj. Gardener was born in Holland in 1847. His father was a clergyman, and he with his family and entire congregation were compelled to flee from that country to escape persecution for being nonconformists to the Dutch Reformed church.

(Governor of the Province of Tabayas, Philippine Islands.)

Gardener was but two years of age when he arrived in this country. The colony of Netherlanders settled in Michigan and founded the Holland colonies, which properous communities still exist.

Maj. Gardener was educated in Holland academy and Hope college and entered West Point Military academy as a cadet in 1869 and graduated with honors in 1873. The regiment to which he was assigned was sent west and the young soldier took part in the Indian wars. He was in the campaign of Gen. Miles against the Arapahoes and Cheyennes in 1874 and 1875. He also fought the Utes and Navajoes in Colorado in 1879.

He served in the Rio Grande district in Texas in 1881 and in 1890. In the latter year his regiment was removed to Michigan and he was commissioned captain of the Nineteenth infantry.

A year later the war department appointed him inspector general of the national guard of the state. Maj. Gardener joined his regiment at Mobile shortly after the breaking out of the Spanish-American war. He was offered and accepted the colonelcy of the first regiment to leave the state of Michigan—the Thirty-first. The Thirty-first was mustered in May 11, 1898, and sent to Chickamauga. It was mustered out April 17, 1899, at Savannah after the return from Cuba.

The records of the war department show the regiment to have been one of the best in the volunteer service. His methods of discipline and his personal character won him great favor with his men as well with his superior officers.

He went into the Philippine service early in 1900, where he commanded the Thirtieth infantry.

Senator Aldrich, Republican Leader in the Senate, Has Never Used Tobacco in Any Form.

Senator Aldrich, of Rhode Island, chairman of the finance committee and the republican leader of the senate,

SENATOR ALDRICH.
(Perhaps the Only Party Leader Who Has Never Used Tobacco.)

is one of the very few men in public life who never uses tobacco in any form. He never smoked a cigar or a cigarette in his life and never expects to.

He has no particular dislike to the weed, but thinks there is something lacking in his physical and mental make-up because he never had the slightest desire to smoke or chew. This peculiarity of his caused one of his friends to lose $100 several years ago.

One Sunday afternoon while a party of gentlemen were visiting in the Providence Journal office with its editor, the late Senator Anthony, one of them stated that he knew a prominent citizen, an acquaintance of all of them, who had never used tobacco in his life. After some talk a bet of $100 was made that the man couldn't be produced, but when Mr. Aldrich came in later and admitted the facts the money was paid over.

COTTON UTILITY GOWNS.

Linen and Coarse Cotton Canvas Much Used.

Although there is nothing very new in cotton or linen goods this summer, yet the mercerized effect given to these fabrics quite transforms them, and cotton sateen with a foulard effect if made with nice lace and touches of silk or velvet introduced on the waist might easily be taken for a silk foulard.

Chine lawns are so woven that they look quite like delaines, and there are several varieties of linen all dyed in soft colorings and eminently suitable for summer gowns. The coarser makes of linen are quite soft, but firm, and require no lining at all, and the dyed holland is very inexpensive and durable.

Pale green and old rose are the two leading shades in the colored linens.

A bicycle costume of tan linen is here shown. The double breasted blouse is fastened with white pearl buttons, which also appear on the skirt, which fastens down the front.

The hat is of ecru straw, trimmed with two pale blue quills and a knot of brown velvet. JUDIC CHOLLET.

GOWNS FOR COOLER DAYS.

Effective Costumes of Foulard, Serge and Brilliantine.

We are promised many cool days this summer, and the wise girl takes this fact into consideration in getting together her wardrobe. Dresses of foulard, alpaca and serge are now being made in a number of attractive ways.

The foulard gowns are made shirt waist style, with prettily cut unlined skirts, and both waists and skirts are trimmed with rows of feather or cat stitching done in black silk.

The brilliantine or mohair dresses are made daintily in blouse fashion;

the skirts are box plaited or tucked. White dresses made of this material are the very latest craze. They are trimmed with touches of black, blue or red and are much used for seashore and mountain wear. If a jauntier gown is desired, the sleeves are made three-quarter length, and a little lace run through with black velvet beading is introduced. Blue and red brilliantines are also popular in a lesser degree. White hairy serge and wool canvas are made up in a similar manner.

The pretty seashore costume shown is of cream white brilliantine. The waist is made blouse fashion, with a yoke of lace. There are three irregular straps of striped silk on the shoulders, and a piping of the same silk appears around the edges of the blouse and down the front gores of the skirt. The sleeves are the very latest thing. Irregular strappings of the silk outline the lips and the bottom of the flaring skirt. JUDIC CHOLLET.

A KNAVE . . . OF CONSCIENCE.

By Francis Lynde.

"I mean to give you your choice. You can make your peace with Mr. Raymer, or—"

"Or what?"

"Or I shall go over to the enemy. You haven't found anybody in this little onehorse town who can match you, but I can match you."

"Why, good Lord, Madge, daughter! You don't know what you're saying!"

"Yes, I do. And, as God lives, I'll do it."

"No, you won't."

"I will."

"I say you won't. You can't turn on your old daddy that way."

"Can't I? I'll give you till to-morrow to think about it. If by to-morrow night nothing has been done to help the iron works people out of their trouble I shall know what to do, and you must take the consequences."

"Bah! You can't do anything."

"You have had your warning," she said, and with that she snapped the catch of the night latch and was gone.

CHAPTER XXVII.

The day after the riot—the day upon which Margery Grierson had asked her father for bread and got a stone—was fraught with other happenings to more than one of those whose trivial tale this is. The first of these fell upon Jasper Grierson, as we have seen, and was little short of a rebellion in his own household. The next was of import to one Andrew Galbraith.

The president of the Bayou state bank was spending a very pleasant vacation in the quiet Minnesota summer resort. The people at the hotel were chiefly from New Orleans, and hence congenial; the cooking was good, the weather perfect, and the few social doors of the town that Mr. Galbraith cared to enter were opened wide to him. Moreover, Mr. Jasper Grierson had been exceedingly kind to a crabbed old man who was without kith or kin to make much of him; and Miss Margery had quite neglected the younger men to be gracious to him.

It was in the forenoon of this day of happenings, while Mr. Galbraith was smoking his after-breakfast cigar on the great veranda which overlooks the lake, that a caller was announced. A bellboy brought the card from the office, and Mr. Galbraith adjusted his glasses leisurely and read the name.

"'Mr. Kenneth Griswold,' eh? I don't recall the name. Stop a bit—yes, I do. He is Miss Maggie's writer friend. Ask him if he will step out here, where it's cooler."

The bellboy disappeared, and presently returned, towing Griswold. The old man rose with the courtly good breeding of the elder generation and shook hands with his visitor.

"I am glad to met you, Mr. Griswold. Miss Grierson has often spoken of you. Sit down—sit down and be comfortable. If you could only have our Louisiana winters to put with your summers, this would be Paradise itself."

Griswold made shift to make some acknowledgment, sat down, and began to fumble for his cigar case. What he had come prepared to say to Mr. Galbraith was not made any easier by this instant lugging in of Margery Grierson as his social sponsor.

"A cigar?" said the banker, interrogatively. "Try one of mine; they are Cubans with a pedigree, and if I may toot my own pipe a bit, I'll say they are not to be duplicated this side of New Orleans."

Griswold took the proffered cigar and was still more ill at ease. While he hesitated, not knowing exactly how to begin the tale which should twist itself into a warning to the would-be purchaser of worthless pine lands, the old man leaned back in his chair, regarding him with kindly interest. But all at once he sat up very straight, and the kindly gaze became a sharp scrutiny.

"Have you ever been in New Orleans, Mr. Griswold?" he asked, abruptly.

Griswold was instantly on his guard, but in the thick of it he set his teeth upon a sudden resolve not to lie.

"I have; but not very recently."

"H'm; may I ask how recently?"

"I was south for a few weeks last spring, and spent part of the time in New Orleans."

Andrew Galbraith sat back in his chair, and for all his apparent lapse into disinterest, Griswold could see the long upper lip twitch nervously.

"H'm; last spring, you say? We had quite a bit of excitement last spring, Mr. Griswold. Did you chance to hear of the robbery of the Bayou bank while you were there?"

Now Griswold knew that, notwithstanding the seeming abstraction of his questioner, he was under the sharpest surveillance that a pair of well-trained old eyes could bring to bear; knew this, and made sure that the slightest hesitation, the merest quivering of a muscle, would betray him. So, though his lips were parched and his tongue clave to his teeth, he answered with well-simulated nonchalance:

"I read of it in the newspapers on my way north," he said, with exact and literal truthfulness. "I remember thinking it was the most brazen thing I had ever heard of. I presume you know all the parties concerned?"

This was said with the mildest possible shading of decent curiosity, and was a very master stroke or evasion, which did its work effectually for the time. Andrew Galbraith smiled a sour little smile, and confessed that he knew one of the parties very well indeed, and went about to explain that the Bayou bank was his bank.

Griswold listened respectfully, said "Ah? it must have been a thrilling experience," and said no more. And if he had been from his earliest childhood the closest student of the various methods of averting a crisis he could not have done better.

A little interval of smokers' silence intervened, and Griswold was the first to break it. The thing he had come to say admitted no preface, so he began in the midst.

"What I came here this morning to tell you, Mr. Galbraith, may strike you as an odd thing with which to begin an acquaintance; but as we have no mutual friends, and as common justice is, or should be, more far-reaching than mere acquaintance, I felt it my duty to come. I happened to hear the other day that you were likely to become interested with Mr. Grierson in the Red Lake pine lands. Was my information correct?"

Andrew Galbraith's eyes looked their shrewdest at this, but he answered in the affirmative, and Griswold went on.

"Pardon me if I seem impertinent, but is the transaction concluded?"

The banker said it was, in effect; that it wanted but the passing of a check to its conclusion.

"It involves a good bit of money, doesn't it?"

"It does that, but it's a fine chance to make money."

"May I ask upon what you base that statement?"

"Why, my dear sir! upon the standing pine, to be sure. At the present rate of consumption, a five-year holding of a good-sized bit of virgin pine land will treble its value."

"Of virgin forest—exactly. But this particular tract you are buying has been culled and re-culled for ten years or more."

"Wha—what's that you're saying?" Andrew Galbraith staggered up out of his chair heavily, and Griswold saw again the terrified president of the Bayou bank as he had seen him on that momentous morning in the private office in New Orleans. But this time the start was only momentary. Mr. Galbraith sat down again, and picked up the cigar he had dropped in the shock of it; picked it up and wiped it carefully with true Scottish canniness.

"I think you must be mistaken, Mr. Griswold," he went on. "I have a file of expert reports thick enough to make a book!"

Griswold rose and held out his hand.

"I have done what I conceived to be my duty, Mr. Galbraith—a rather disagreeable duty at that—and I hope you'll pardon me if I have seemed unwarrantably meddlesome. But I also hope you will send an experienced land looker whom you can trust absolutely before you let that check pass. Good morning."

FARMERS' CONGRESS.

This Year It Will Meet at Macon, Ga., for the Discussion of Many Important Subjects.

It is quite probable that farmers generally do not fully realize the scope and extent of the Farmers' national congress, as otherwise they would take a much deeper interest in it. The topics discussed are more particularly those of a national or international character, quite different from what is generally on the programmes at farmers' institutes. The following is a copy of the programme for the 1902 meeting:

1. Interoceanic canal; 2. National irrigation; 3. Reciprocity—how may it affect agricultural interests? 4. Effect of present insular possessions on the agriculture of the United States; 5. Preservation of forest and fruit trees and reforestation; 6. Injurious insects, insect pests and fungi; 7. What part of a man's farm does he sell when he sells the crop? 8. Postal reforms particularly affecting the farmer; 9. Mutual relations of northern and southern farmers; 10. Dairy interests of the United States as related to the markets of the world; 11. Farm products other than dairy products in the markets of the world; 12. The labor problem from the farmer's standpoint; 13. How can we best build up our merchant marine? The men selected to present these subjects are acknowledged leaders.

JOHN M. STAHL.
(Secretary of the Farmers' Congress of the United States.)

The farmers' national congress is made up of delegates and associate delegates appointed by the governors of the states. Every governor appoints as many delegates as the state has representatives in both houses of congress, and as many associate delegates as he chooses.

The meeting will be held at Macon, Ga., October 7-10, and the people of that city will give a hearty welcome to all who attend.

ADMIRAL BERESFORD.

Famous British Naval Officer Returned to the British Parliament for the Fourth Time.

Rear Admiral Lord Charles William De la Poer Beresford, who has been returned to parliament unopposed for Woolwich, is the second son of Rev. John, fourth marquess of Waterford. He was born at Philiptown, County Dublin, on February 10, 1846, and appointed a sub-lieutenant in the navy in January, 1866, and, becoming a commander in November, 1875, accompanied as naval aide-de-camp the king when, as prince of Wales, he made his Indian tour in 1875-6. In 1879 he was appointed to the command of the royal yacht Osborne, and in 1882 commanded the Condor at the bombardment of Alexandria, afterwards landing and instituting a regular police system in the city. He afterwards served on Lord Wolseley's staff in the Nile expedition of 1884-5, and was in command of the naval brigade at Abu Klea, Abu Kru and Metemmeh, and in command of the expedition which rescued Sir Charles Wilson's party. From August, 1886, till January, 1888, he was naval lord of the admiralty, was in command of the steam reserve at Chatham from 1893 till 1896, was aide-de-camp to her late majesty from January, 1897, to his promotion to flag rank in September, and was second in command of the Mediterranean fleet from January, 1900, till January last. Lord Charles sat for Waterford from 1874 till 1880, for East Marylebone from 1885 till 1889, and for York City from 1898 till 1900.

How the Zunis Make Love.

The Zuni Indians are sentimental in the extreme and marry at a youthful age. When a youth is wooing a maiden he will go and sit before her with his back turned to her and untwine his head cloth. She rejects him by stealing softly way or accepts him by runing her hands carelessly through his loosened locks.

GIVES GOOD ADVICE.

Buffalo Bill in Hearty Sympathy with American Boys.

Writes to Them Regularly and Tells Them How to Regulate Their Lives—How He Got the Name That Made Him Famous.

In the cool of the early morning Buffalo Bill sat in the parlor of his private car writing letters. He was just finishing the fifteenth when his visitor entered.

"Be seated for a moment," said the famous scout to a Philadelphia Press reporter. "These letters are to my boys. I always finish them first thing in the morning, before beginning work with my secretary."

"To your boys?"

"Yes; not my sons, of course, but to my boys. I have thousands of them scattered all over the country and I write to them regularly. It has been my practice for years, ever since I started in the show business. I get from 15 to 20 letters a day from boys in all parts of the union, and some from abroad. These are quite separate from letters from autograph collectors. I get about 200 a week of those, and answer them at my leisure or sometimes not at all.

"But my boys I never neglect. They are the most genuine letters I receive—expressions of admiration, esteem and even affection. Many of these lads have seen me. The great majority of them have not. Nearly all of them have read about me—my life as a guide on the plains, as a scout in the Indian wars, in the army, as a showman all over the world—all sorts of things.

"For example, here is a letter from a boy in New England who asks me where I got my name. I have explained to him, briefly, that a firm of contractors for the Kansas Pacific railroad paid me $500 a month to supply their laborers with buffalo meat. I was obliged to shoot those buffaloes with my rifle, killing nearly 5,000 of them in 18 months. My (with pathetic regret), but I wish I had a dozen of those handsome animals now. They would be a great attraction to my show. Well, it was because of shooting those buffaloes that the boys out there on the plains called me 'Buffalo Bill.' I kicked at first, but the name has stuck to me.

COL. WILLIAM F. CODY.
(Better Known to the American Public as "Buffalo Bill.")

"But mind, that is not all I have written to this boy. I have told him to learn all he can about the great country in the central west, of which the majority of American boys—yes, and men, too—know so little. I have advised him to become first and all a good American, and have given him a hint or two how to go about it. I urge that upon every boy, to learn all about his own country, fill himself up with pride for it and then grow up to do his duty as a citizen of it.

"What do you think of opportunities for boys to be successful and grow rich in thes days?"

"Never better," replied Buffalo Bill, with enthusiasm. "It is easier for a boy to get an education now than it was in my youthful days. Our needs in every field of usefulness were never greater than they are to-day. The country is larger, the population is greater, the people have more wants to fill and the young man, if he is made of the right sort of stuff, will have the chance to fill them. In a generation from now the great men of the country will be numbered by tens of thousands and the chance of the young man is coming toward him all the time.

"But I always aim to draw the minds of the boys to the great central west, from the Mississippi river to the Rocky mountains. Too many boys in the east are educated in the belief that there is no wealth or industry in this country west of Wall street. The great center of our wealth, our political influence and our real national life is going to be in the west before many years. Already our brightest business men and our best statesmen come from there.

"The average educated Englishman knows more about the resources of the central west than the average educated American. Some of our eastern men are more insulated than the Englishmen. During my visits abroad I have seen more advanced books on our west, and heard more enlightened talk concerning what was in them, in the homes of educated Englishmen than I have seen in the homes of many men in the east who would feel insulted if you told them they were not well-informed and patriotic Americans."

GOLF.

Frank O. Reinhart has returned from Chicago, where he competed for the national amateur golf championship, and yesterday afternoon he played on the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course, making one of his low scores.

For the second time this season the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club team met defeat last Saturday at Harbor Hill, when the home team won the match by the score of 18 to 12. The first defeat this year for the Hillside team was at the hands of Englewood. The second defeat was nothing to be ashamed of, for the Harbor Hills had their strongest aggregation on the course, and Hillside played in hard luck. The summary is as follows.

AMONG THE STEPPERS.

The first matinee race meet of the season was held at the Fair Acres Driving Club track in Westfield, Saturday afternoon, and although not largely attended, was a complete success from a trotting standpoint. Class No. 1 was won by Rattler, William Burton, Westfield; time 2.21; prize, a blanket; Sport, S. L. Newcombe, Westfield, second; time, 2.22¼; prize, sulky reins. Class No. 2, won by Patty Wilkes, C. C. Brower, Plainfield, time 2.30½; prize, a whip; Ned Davis, owned by D. C. Smalley, Plainfield, second, second: time, 2.35¼; prize, a robe. Class No. 3, New Haven, H. S. Sanderson, Cranford, 2.35¾; prize, blanket; Alatse, owned by D. C. Smalley, second; time, 2.36¼, prize, clock.

ON THE DIAMOND.

The game next Saturday at Westfield will be with the Everett College team. This team defeated Wilmington, Del., July 4, 4 to 1. On the previous week the Wilmingtons defeated the Pittsburgh leagurers 7 to 3. Dietz, who shut out the Marquettes, will be in the box for Westfield.

Nothing but the apportioning of umpires occupied the attention of the executive committee of the League at last evening's meeting. These were as follows: Hope-Y. M. C. A., Young and Townley; St. Mary-Safe Works, Brown and Melvin. The Hope-Y. M. C. A. game will be on the Hope grounds and the St. Mary-Safe Works on the St. Mary grounds.

Billie Symons was a wonder at the bat in last Saturday's Hope-Safe Works game. Out of five times at the bat he rapped out two singles and a double and Hewitt's quick catch of a grounder was all that prevented him from reaching first another time. This is something like his old form when he was counted a sure hitter.

The assertion made by many of his friends that Allen is the best catcher in the League was borne out by his work, Saturday. He nailed many of the Hope men trying to reach second and caught five fowl flies that forced him into the lines. It was while he was after one of the latter that a thoughtless young man threw a hat in his face but despite this he made the catch.

Captain Martin is thinking of making a change in the Hope outfield for a short time. Both Magee and Roseberry were "war off" Saturday, both in the field and at the bat. The latter was taken out in the seventh and Gordon was put in his place.

Thomas Finnerty, the Elizabeth boy who had a trial with the Safe Works the fore part of the season, has been engaged by the Elizabeth police to pitch for them in their next game with the local bluecoats. If he pitches anything like he did a few weeks ago the Plainfield coppers have nothing to fear as he was hammered without cessation every time he was placed in the box.

There is a good chance for the Y. M. C. A. to tighten its grip on first place through next Saturday's game. It has already beaten the Hopes twice and if it succeeds in doing it a third time, Manager Cose's colts will have a poor chance of getting up to first place.

Captain Overbaugh has finally agreed to have the policemen's baseball team play the firemen's team on Wednesday, July 30. It will take place on the Hope grounds. In the meantime both teams will practice daily.

Dick Harvey, pitcher of the Scotch Plains ball team, deserves a great deal of credit for the game he pitched against the Xaviers Saturday afternoon. The support given him at several stages of the game was enough to take the heart out of a pitcher, but Dick kept right on putting them over with all kind of bends. Striking out six of the visitors and not giving a base on balls is a hard game to lose against a record of no strike out and seven men taking first on balls which Fitzgerald, of the Xaviers, did.

Robert Adamson, of Clinton avenue, who was badly injured by the premature explosion of a cannon cracker on the Fourth, will be discharged from Muhlenberg Hospital today.

Mrs. Benjamin Schenck, of West Front street, is suffering considerably from a fellon on the thumb of her left hand. It made its appearance a few days ago and ever since has caused intense pain.

Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Hooley and children, together with a party of friends, have returned from a delightful outing at Wyalusing, Pa. They made the trip in the private car "Olympia," over the Lehigh Valley Railroad.

Poisoning the System.

It is through the bowels that the body is cleansed of impurities. Constipation keeps these poisons in the system, causing headache, dullness and melancholia at first, then unsightly eruptions and finally serious illness unless a remedy is applied. DeWitt's Little Early Risers prevent this trouble by stimulating the liver and promote easy, healthy action of the bowels. These little pills do not act violently but by strengthening the bowels enable them to perform their own work. Never gripe or distress. L. W. Randolph.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Moore are moving into their new home on Belmont avenue.

—The new kitchen being built at the First Presbyterian church is about completed and ready for use.

—Lovers of fruit should not fail to see the display of Georgia peaches, Jenny Lind and Rocky Ford melons at Neuman Brothers.

—Among the companies incorporated at Albany last week was the International Street Cleaning Machine Company, of New York, capital $100,000. One of the directors is H. C. Tracy, of Plainfield.

CITY JUDGE RUNYON FOR THE SENATORSHIP

Friends of Plainfielder Booming Him as Successor to State Senator Cross.

FRIEND OF FOWLER.

LOCAL DELEGATION WILL SOLIDLY SUPPORT HIM IN CONVENTION.

Many Districts Will Add to His Strength and a Warm Battle for the Nomination is Probable—His Popularity Will Count.

Plainfield Republicans in particular and leaders of that party generally throughout Union county, are discussing the conditions brought about by the announcement of City Judge William N. Runyon that he will allow his name to go before the coming convention as a candidate for State senator. Although it was an open secret that much pressure had been brought to bear upon this popular young stalwart in this connection, the news of his candidacy came as a surprise to many in the councils of the party.

While Judge Runyon is known as a close political friend of Congressman Charles N. Fowler and Former Governor Voorhees, he is not considered to be a factional leader, and for this reason local political leaders declare that he will make a strong candidate in the convention. The position of the present incumbent, Senator Joseph Cross, of Elizabeth, is not definitely known, but in all likelihood his friends will ask a renomination for their favorite. Two aggressive men will be pitted against each other in the convention, provided Senator Cross desires to be returned to Trenton, and the battle to capture delegates, it is believed, will be exceptionally interesting.

Friends of Judge Runyon say that he will be supported by the delegates representing Roselle, Westfield, Cranford, and a part of Elizabeth. This strength coupled with the backing of Plainfield's solid delegation, they say, will make him a formidable quantity when the vote is taken in the convention hall. The primaries have not yet been held, and it is thought that when the delegates are chosen Judge Runyon will have the support of many of the country districts. While it is a trifle early for campaigning, the judges friends are already demonstrating that they intend to capture the nomination for him if a hard fight will do it.

ANOTHER TENNIS CLUB.

An Organization Called the Bronx Has Been Formed and Officers Chosen for the Term.

Another club for the promotion of tennis as an outdoor sport was launched in this city, last evening, when a meeting was held at the home of N. H. Briggs, of Albert street. Seven young men were in attendance and formed the Bronx Club with a proper constitution and by-laws. The following officers were elected: President, William Morgan; vice president, Clorence Rocap; secretary and treasurer, G. A. Brakeley. A series of games is to be arranged at once to be played on the club's courts located on Dunellen avenue.

Among the club members are some who are well up in the ranks of local tennis players. One is Professor Fowler, who holds the championship of Leal's School, while Clarence Rocap and C. H. Briggs were runners-up in the recent Plainfield High School championship match plays.

ABSENT TEMPORARILY.

Executor H. P. Scott Has Gone Home for a Vacation.

H. P. Scott, of Kansas City, who has been in Plainfield during the past seven weeks settling up the estate of his brother, the late Col. Julian Scott, left this morning for his home, where he will remain until fall.

He will return to Plainfield to arrange for the dispositon of the balance of the collection comprising many valuable paintings. Prior to his departure, Mr. Scott sold a large number of articles of value to several well-known museums in the east and west.

Fairchild and Mair Win.

Quoit pitching occupied the attention of the members of Warren Engine company as they gathered at the borough house last evening. In a series of three games, George Fairchild and John Mair carried off the final honors by defeating Adam Seader and Charley Claassen twice.

TRAGEDY ACROSS THE BROOK

EXCITEMENT REIGNED DURING THE ONE-ACT PERFORMANCE.

Chief Marshal After Killing Dog for Biting Boy Cases His Gun and Whistles "Aint That a Shame."

"Nothin' doin' today," is heard so often in the borough of late that anything that promises a diversion is welcomed as a sending of Providence by the want-to-be-annexed residents over the brook. To mar the ordinary quiet of the neighborhood is no easy matter, except for a policeman with a gun. Using his "shooting-irons" is the general method of a marshal for persuading the inhabitants that things are waking up.

Chief Campbell was the principal actor in the tragic melodrama that enlivened the vicinity of Duer street and Lincoln place last evening about 7 o'clock. The rest of the cast included Irving Greader, a young boy, living over the corner store, and a spaniel, owned by Henry Dresselt. All that preceded the climax was a shuffling of the lad's feet and the quick response in a playful nip from the dog. Then came the tragedy. The marksman was too near to miss his aim. Excitement must be made somehow. The official revolver belched forth; the dog meekly rolled over; and the borough came out in a body from its supper table to share in the general hubbub that betokened a real happening.

Needless to say that the usual division of opinion immediately ensued. While some declared the dog to have been mad and praised the brave marshal for not running away, others called him hard names and wept over the carcass of the pretty spaniel. The chief stoically cased his pistol, dragged the dog aside to await interment, and marched off, whistling "Ain't That a Shame." Dr. Pittis dressed the boy's wound, which was a mere scratch on the calf of the leg and not likely to cause any inconvenience.

CLERGYMAN INJURED.

Rev. Mr. Cranmer, of Somerville, Was Thrown From Carriage in a Funeral Procession.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, July 23—While accompanying a funeral procession to the cemetery here Monday afternoon, Rev. Wm. S. Cranmer, of the First Reformed church, was thrown from his buggy and quite seriously injured.

A storm was approaching and the horse behind which the divine was riding became nervous and finally ran away. The wagon caught into a tree and was overturned. Mr. Cranmer landed on his back, and it will be several days before he recovers from the bruises he received.

This is his third experience of a similar nature. The horse was caught along the river at the foot of the street. The wagon was a complete wreck.

AN EXCLUSION ACT.

New Brunswick City Council Makes It Impossible for Circuses to Show There.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, July 23—Advance agents of circuses will no doubt leave New Brunswick off their list in preparing routes in the future. The City Council now has in hand an ordinance requiring each circus or menagerie appearing in the city to first procure a license from the city clerk at a cost of $250 for the first day where the admission fee is to exceed twenty-five cents, and $100 for each day thereafter, and $100 for the first day and $25 for each subsequent day when the admission fee does not exceed twenty-five cents. All coucerts not for charity or under church auspices are to be taxed $2 for the first day and $1 thereafter.

Junior Day.

It is a well-known fact that Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., run one of the best excursions of the season to Asbury Park. This year it is intended to make the affair doubly interesting. The date is August 14, and it is planned to have a big reunion of all the councils and State officers at the shore. The train will leave Plainfield at 8 o'clock in the morning and returning will leave Asbury Park at 9 o'clock in the evening. Reserve this date for your outing and you will not regret it.

Four Cars Chartered.

Indications point to extensive patronage for the trolley excursion to be taken by the members of the Retail Clerks' Association to Boynton Beach on Wednesday evening of next week. Four cars have been chartered and these will probably be well filled by the members of the organization.

TO BUILD HOUSES.

New Company Which Has Just Been Incorporated at Somerset County Clerk's Office.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bound Brook, July 23—The Central Building and Construction Company filed articles of incorporation in the County Clerk's office at Somerville, Monday. The incorporators are Silas D. Drake, Charles J. Gummersbach, Wm. S. Terbune, of Bound Brook: Wilson D. Hunt, cashier of Pennington Bank, and Peter G. Polhemus, of New Brunswick. The company's offices are located at Bound Brook.

They have already contracted to build ten houses at Belle Mead, twenty at Dewey Park, ten at Lincoln and ten at Trenton. They will build a house for any shareholder upon the payment of $10 a month, this payment to apply upon the purchase of the house. By this means poor men are enabled to own a house of their own in a few years, and it has cost them no more than rent.

If shareholders do not care to own a house the company will pay them interest on their investments.

FINE COLLECTION OF BIRDS

LOANED BY STREET COMMISSIONER GAVETT TO LOCAL ART GALLERY.

It Contains Birds That Are to be Found in Nearby Fields and Woods.

Friends of the feathered tribe are expressing their gratification over the loan recently made by Street Commissioner A. J. Gavett to the art gallery, in the public library building. A splendid collection of birds has thus been thrown open to the public, which is permitted to inspect the specimens upon Tuesday and Saturday afternoons.

What adds to the interest of the collection is that the birds are not rarities, nor ones brought from distant places, but all are native to Plainfield or nearby sections of the State. There is scacely a mount whose original may not be found in the field or woods in or about the city.

In an oak case five and one half feet high are to be seen the specimens upon four glass shelves. At the bottom are several magnificent hawks, with some wading birds, such as sand pipers, snipe and kindred species. Above are members of the thrush family, including robins and cat-birds; then fly-catchers and king birds. On the next shelf are granivorous birds, such as sparrows, finches, nuthatches and chick-a-dees. On the top are warbling birds, with a number of owls, king fishers. whippoorwills and others.

MARTIN'S SUCCESSOR.

People Are Wondering Who Will be Assistant Superintendent.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Rahway, July 23.—The question now uppermost in some minds regarding affairs at the reformatory is whom will the commissioners appoint as assistant superintendent, to succeed Captain Martin, following his promotion to the chief berth.

Superintendent Martin, in an interview, favors a promotion from the officers now connected with the reformatory. Friends of Warden Fred C. Abbott think that he would naturally be the one chosen, as he is the ranking official in that line. Besides, his admirers add, he is well qualified for the position. Names of candidates have been presented from various parts of the State, and some parties high in authority advocate taking a man from one of the southern counties.

The appointment will probably be made at the next regular meeting of the commission, in August.

UNIVERSITY QUARTETTE.

Will Sing at Seventh-Day Baptist Church Friday and Saturday.

A quartette from Alfred University, composed of the following, H. N. Jordan, L. C. Bassett, T. G. Davis and E. F. Lufburrow, is expected to arrive in Plainfield. The quartette will sing and otherwise assist at the services at the Seventh-Day Baptist church on that evening and the following morning. It will also sing at the meeting of the Y. M. C. A. Sunday afternoon. Many Plainfield field people have pleasant recollections of having heard the quartette at similar services on the corresponding date last year.

To Spread the Gospel.

Rev. and Mrs. Harrison K. Wright have left Plainfield preparatory to making their final arrangements for sailing to China, where Mr. Wright will engage in missionary work.

THE PRESIDENT'S VISIT TO CAMP

Arrangements Made to Give Nation's Chief Executive a Royal Welcome.

COMPANY K PREPARED.

At Asbury Park 400 Young Girls Dressed in White Will Line the Banks of Deal Lake When the Train Arrives, and Each Will Wave an American Flag.

Camp Murphy, Sea Girt, July 23—Details of President Roosevelt's visit to Camp Murphy tomorrow, have been received by the officials in camp and all arrangements have been completed to give the Nation's chief executive a royal welcome. Everybody is on the qui vive and there is not a company in camp but what fosters the fond hope that it will receive special commendation from the noted visitor. There is no doubt but what Company K will do itself credit, for it has been drilling constantly and despite tired feet and aching limbs, the boys are prepared to do any amount of manouvering.

According to plans President and Mrs. Roosevelt and a party of women will leave Oyster Bay on the Mayflower, the Presidential yacht, and proceed to Atlantic Highlands. There they will be escorted to a special train of four parlor cars, including the private car of General Manager Besler, of the New Jersey Central, which has been placed at the President's disposal. Camp Murphy will be reached at noon and the review of the troops will begin immediately after. This will be completed at 3 o'clock and on conclusion the party will return to Oyster Bay.

All along the line of the Central, the people of the various cities have planned to give the party a royal welcome as it passes through. At Asbury Park 400 young girls dressed in white will line the banks of Deal Lake as the train arrives and each will wave an American flag. A salute will be fired as soon as the Presidential train is sighted.

Matters in camp yesterday were quite in comparison to the previous days, even in Company K's street, where the boys generally manage to relieve the monotony with a little fun on the side. With them everything is serene although three of the lands have had brief stays at the hospital tent through a slight indisposition. Last night the officers gave strict orders that every private except those on guard was not to be out of his tent after 10 o'clock and the mandate was obeyed. Of course, that didn't mean that everybody slept, as laughter was heard long after midnight.

Surf bathing and strolls in the surrounding country are the chief forms of divertisement and there is always a break for the water as soon as drills are over. Private Yerkes holds the medal for being in the ocean the most and he is getting to be quite an expert.

Several Plainfielders were in camp yesterday and tomorrow the boys expect to have a number when the excursion brings its load to Asbury Park. Everybody will be made welcome and after the departure of the President those who care to, will be shown aronud the camp.

DEMOCRATIC OUTING.

Will be Held at Point View Grove, Thursday, August 28.

The Democrats of Union county will hold a big outing at Point View Grove, Thursday, August 28. The committee in charge has invited to the outing and received acceptances from the following persons: W. Bourke Cochran, New York; Congressman Sulzer, New York; Mayor James M. Seymour, Newark; Mayor John Hinchliffe, Paterson; Mayor Frank Katzenbach, Trenton; Mayor Samuel Baldwin, Summit; Mayor Egbert Seymour, Bayonne; Robert Davis, Jersey City.

Tumbled Off Wheel.

A sudden turn of his front wheel sent George Perkins, of Cottage place, spinning from his bicycle at the corner of Richmond and East Third streets, yesterday afternoon. He was cut and bruised and had his clothing badly torn.

Council Meeting.

The next regular meeting of the Common Council will be held Monday evening, August 4.

OSGOODBY MISSING.

A Recent Aspirant for Congress is Said to Have Disappeared From His Home in Cranford.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Cranford, July 23—Friends of Russell H. Osgoodby vigorously assert that his absence from town has no significance. They are quite as emphatic in denying the stories that any of Mr. Osgoodby's checks had been protested recently. These stories had represented William Hulskamper, proprietor of the Hotel Berkeley, Elizabeth, and John Marien, a local druggist, as holders of the checks. Mr. Osgoodby was not at home today. He is better known as Judge Osgoodby.

Several weeks ago Mr. Osgoodby announced himself as a candidate for Congress, but his boom collapsed on the trip to Belvidere of the Union county Republican delegation.

He is said to have been connected with the Philadelphia Wardrobe Company at 1516 Chestnut street, Philadelphia. According to a Philadelphia paper the business of the concern was suspended last Wednesday and a constable is in charge.

MAY END IN A FATALITY

HUNGARIAN CRUELLY BEATEN BY A FELLOW COUNTRYMAN.

Fued Between Foreigners Responsible for the Trouble—George Gudas Charged With Crime.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, July 23—A fued between the Hungarian colonies of Raritan and Bound Brook may result in the death of John Mosko, who was assaulted and cruelly beaten while waiting for a trolley car in the latter place Saturday night.

Ever since the brother of George Eudas, of Bound Brook went to a picnic at Raritan and was injured in a drunken brawl Eudas has sworn vengeance on the Raritan Huns, and Mosko crossed Gudas' path Saturday night. His head was battered, several ribs broken and it is believed he is injured internally, as a result of the beating he received at the hands of the angry Bound Brooker.

Detective Totten went to the home of Eudas as soon as he learned of the crime and brought him before Justice Kitchen here, who held him in $1,000 bonds to await the result of Mosko's injuries.

BRIDGING RACEWAY.

Woodhull & Martin Opening a Thoroughfare to the Rear of Their New Property.

Woodhull & Martin, who recently purchased a large piece of property on East Front street, has just bought a strip of land belonging to the French estate, running between the raceway and Green brook, and extending from VanArsdale's alley to the rear of the firm's property upon which they are going to build Masons are now at work building a bridge to span the race and spillway close by so that the main property can be reached through VanArsdale's alley.

The strip of land includes the old fat-rending factory at one time operated by the late George Pound, and this building will no doubt be removed to some other point. The firm has secured a right of way through the alley so that goods may be taken in and out without interfering with business on Front street.

AFTER THE CLAMS.

The Annual Affair of Policemen's Organization Monday Afternoon.

The Superior Officers' Police Protective Association of Union, Monmouth and Middlesex counties will hold its annual clambake Monday afternoon at John Bender's hotel and grove at Lorraine in Union township. Many county and city officials have been invited to the affair, together with the superior officers of the Newark and Jersey City police departments.

Sweet Charity's Sake.

Contributions are being donated frequently for the free trolley ride fund, a worthy object. Tho sum previously acknowledged was $24.35. Since then the following amounts have been received: Mrs. Mason W. Tyler, $2; Miss Florence Tweedy, $2; Miss Emma L. Adams, $2, making a total of $30.35.

Took His Clothes and Went.

Israel Goldberg, an itinerant peddler, was haled to court, this morning, for disposing of wares without having the proper license. He promised to leave town and sentence was suspended.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH

TWO LITTLE GIRLS PLAYING IN STREET MIRACULOUSLY AVOID INJURY.

Mad Antics of a Horse Causes Excitement on Park Avenue. Struggle to Quiet the Animal.

One of the wildest runs of a frightened horse ever seen in the business section of the city, took place on Park avenue, this noon. That no loss of life or great damage resulted is miraculous.

A large bay horse belonging to the Boice, Runyon Company, was left standing in the rear part of the firm's lumber shed attached to a wagon loaded with barrels of lime. It became frightened at something and dashed out of the inclosure at terrific speed into Park avenue. It was going so fast it could not make the turn and ran upon the opposite sidewalk directly where two little daughters of M. Weinstein, of Park avenue, were standing. The wagon turned over and the heavy lime barrels fell about them but not one of them struck the children. A wheel of the wagon struck the smallest child and knocked it against the stone abutment of the railroad bridge, but it was saved by a barrel diverting the vehicle's course. The girl escaped with a cut forehead.

The frightened horse recovered itself and again took to the street dragging the upturned wagon after it, and sweeping the entire length of the street. Several times it went upon the sidewalk and pedestrians took refuge in stores and front yards. Several small posts were knocked over and at last the animal's progress was stayed by colliding with a barber pole in front of Patsy DeRooso's shop. Even then it broke from the harness and went whirling about the pole in a frenzy. Several men of whom John Manley was the first threw themselves upon it effecting a capture. In the struggle to quit it, David Antonio was thrown down and narrowly escaped being trampled upon.

Peculiarly enough, the wagon was only slightly damaged, as was the harness also. The lime was scattered about the street and will be a total loss.

CAUGHT IN STORM.

Harold Noble Was Out in a Small Craft in Susquehanna River and Had a Narrow Escape.

Harold Noble, of the borough, groom for E. S. Hooley, had a narrow escape from drowning in the Susquehanna river at Wyalusing, Pa., last Thursday.

He was out in a boat fishing when a storm arose and burst directly over him. The little craft was swept down the river and despite his vigorous strokes at the oars he was unable to bring it to shore.

Several times he escaped crashing into rocks by a narrow margin and it was not until he had been taken well down the river where he encountered a small cove that he landed. He was out in the storm a half hour and was thoroughly exhausted from the severe strain.

FITTING CELEBRATION.

Friends From Many Points Gather to Wish Boroughite "Many Happy Returns of the Day."

Mrs. Valentine Utzinger, of Grandview avenue, celebrated the anniversary of her birthday yesterday and last evening a reception was given at the home in honor of the occasion. There were guests present from Massachussets, Elizabeth, Hoboken, New York and Plainfield.

During the evening a pleasing programme of vocal and instrumental music was rendered by some of the guests, and a feature was the bountiful repast served by the hostess. Mrs. Utzinger received a great many useful and handsome presents and all wished her many happy returns of the day.

Building Improvements.

Chas. Bock, who recently purchased the Magie property on East Front street, has contracted to have the old house thereon moved to the east corner of the property, preparatory to erecting three handsome cottages. He has partially arranged to sell the old dwelling and a fifty foot frontage of the tract.

Trinty's Excursion.

Don't be discouraged because the Trinity Reformed church excursion was postponed. The committee was fortunate in getting an early date, Friday, and if you plan to go on this excursion you are sure to spend a pleasant and profitable day at the seashore.

Drinking Fountain Ready.

The drinking fountain for horses ordered by the Council has been put in position on Muhlenberg place.

AN UNKNOWN DOG POISONER AT WORK

Prized Canines Have Died in Agony, and There is No Clew to the Poisoner.

CATS ARE ALSO VICTIMS.

RESIDENTS OF FRANKLIN PLACE AND PUTNAM AVENUE AMONG LOSERS.

Indications Point to Use of Strychnine—Collie, Spaniel and Great Dane Among the List of Dead Animal—Police Investigating.

Residents of Franklin place and Putnam avenue are up in arms against the wholesale slaughtering of dogs and cats which has been going on for several days, or rather nights. No less than six canines, all valued at many dollars and great pets in the families where they belonged have died in great agony and symptoms point strongly to strychnine poisoning. Cats, too, have been made victims of the despicable practice and the slaughter of the innocents has been beyond belief.

Among those who have lost valuable dogs in this way are Dr. Carman, of Franklin place, whose black water spaniel was made away with; Mrs. A. T. Slevin, of Franklin place, a valuable collie; Mrs. Charles S. Foote, of Franklin and Putnam avenues, on whose lawn a second dog succumbed a few days ago and a family on Putnam avenue living near Dr. Knott, who lost a highly prized Great Dane. The doctor did all possible to save the animal but without success. At least a half dozen felines have also disappeared and their loss has been laid at the door of the unknown miscreant. The residents have appealed to the police and the department is doing its utmost to locate the perpetrator whom Chief Kiely says will be strongly dealt with if apprehended.

NO NOTICE.

Postmaster Bird Has Not Received One Concerning Redemption of Uncancelled Postal Cards.

Postmaster E. H. Bird is away from the city on his vacation and the postoffice authorities have not received any notice from the Postmaster General regarding the redemption of uncancelled and unserviceable postal cards.

The order which has been received by some postmaster's provides for the redemption of all cards, in stamps or stamped paper when presented by the original purchaser at a discount of 25 per cent. of their face value. Bronzed, enameled or mutilated cards will not be redeemed. It is said that the new order will go in effect August 1.

It is likely that the local postmaster will receive an official notice concerning the above within a short time. Heretofore, cards have not been redeemable, and to the person who had an oversupply of printed cards they were a total loss until an inventive genius discovered that the cards could be covered with a white enamel that could be printed upon. The 25 per cent. loss on each card is less than the cost of enameling.

AN EXCITING TIME.

Cort Adams' Money Disappeared at Atlantic City Yesterday.

Accustomed to the quiet ways of Asbury Park and kindred resorts, Cortland Adams was unprepared for the swift game which met him on his excursion with the Juniors to Atlantic City yesterday. What it was he refuses to say, but something which must have been truly terrible led to the receipt in this city at midnight of a telegraphic appeal for money to pay a return passage to Plainfield. Ticket and all other valuables were "lost" and the young man's employer was forced to redeem him from his unpleasant position.

Improving Netherwood Station.

The New Jersey Central has had a large force of men at work for the past week making improvements about the Netherwood station. Concrete walks with a substantial stone fonndation is being substituted for the primitive planks and the grounds are undergoing a deal of altering. Inside the station the woodwork is being brightened by paint and varnish.

Kicked by Horse.

While unharnessing his horse at his barn, Monday morning, Geo. Denzler, of Watchung, was severely kicked by the animal. He was struck in the jaw and chest several times. Dr. Probasco was called and attended to his hurts.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

Some of the Democrats of the Fifth district have just made a discovery, and the editor of the Hackettstown Gazette has made it public. "The fact that Hon. Charles N. Fowler," says Mr. Rittenhouse, "is a man of wealth and culture, and doesn't have hayseed in his hair and axle grease on his boots, isn't going to defeat his return to Congress."—Newark News.

The only objection to the renomination of Congressman Howell by the Republicans of the Third district so far heard has come from a man who failed to secure a postmastership in Monmouth county. Politics in that section of the State are rather quiet. The mention of the name of Geissenhainer in connection with the nomination by the Democrats has not been received with remarkable enthusiasm, and now it is announced, though perhaps not on the best of authority, that Mayor Viehman, of New Brunswick, who has been talked of for the place, is too thoroughly engrossed in keeping the affairs of his home city in good running order to think of making a change. It is believed, however, that if no one else can find a man to stand, Colonel C. Meyer Zulick will be able to make a suggestion to the conference at the seashore.—Newark News.

It is to be hoped that the St. Swithin Day legend will fail of its prophetic effect next Thursday, when President Roosevelt will visit the State camp at Sea Girt. Only one day since Tuesday last—St. Swithin's Day—has been free from rain; but perhaps the good saint will take the Jersey boys-in-blue into account on Thursday, by making another exception in the promised forty days of wet weather.

In the meantime, rain or shine, there will be a great polishing of guns and buckles, a great brushing of uniforms and all sorts of other preparations made by the boys of the Second Brigade, in anticipation of the visit. The President will remain several hours in camp—long enough to enable him to get a lasting impression of the place and the men.

It is improbable that Mr. Roosevelt has ever before had a chance to study the Jersey guardsmen by themselves. Hence, the men of the Second Brigade will realize that they are to represent the whole military organization of the State before the Commander-in-Chief of the army, and they will no doubt be equal to the occasion. There is not a man in the First Brigade who does not temporarily regret that he is not a member of the Second; but he will try his best to feel that just as good a showing will be made, when the President arrives in camp, as if he were there.

Doubtless Governor Murphy and Senator Kean feel that the camp and the men will bear the scrutiny of the President's practiced eye, or they would not have invited him to be present. It will be a memorable day in the history of the New Jersey National Guard.—Newark Advertiser.

LITERARY.

The Century has come into possession of four separate original contemporary documents relating to the West Indian disasters, which are in the nature of "finds," and which the editor claims are likely to make the August Century, in which they will appear, "for all time to come a mine of trustworthy evidence relating to these events." Three of the writers had narrow escapes and all three made most careful observations of the volcanic phenomena.

Poisoning the System.

It is through the bowels that the body is cleansed of impurities. Constipation keeps these poisons in the system, causing headache, dullness and melancholia at first, then unsightly eruptions and finally serious illness unless a remedy is applied. DeWitt's Little Early Risers prevent this trouble by stimulating the liver and promote easy, healthy action of the bowels. These little pills do not act violently but by strengthening the bowels enable them to perform their own work. Never gripe or distress. L. W. Randolph.

MORRISTOWN GATHERS RENTS

INITIAL MOVE TO MAKE DELINQUENTS PAY THEIR TAXES.

City Counsel of Morristown, Served Notice on Tenants to Pay Their Rents to the City.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Morristown, July 23.—City Counsel C. Augustus Muir threw a bomb into the ranks of all delinquent taxpayers of Morristown by serving a notice upon the tenants occupying improved property to pay all rents in the future into the city treasury. The notice reads as follows:

"You are hereby notified that at a public sale of lands for unpaid taxes, held on the second day of October, 1889, in the town of Morristown, certain lands and premises were sold to the Mayor and Board of Aldermen. You are now occupying a portion of the said premises, and are hereby notified to pay rent for the portion now occupied by you to the Mayor and Board of Aldermen, otherwise legal measures will be taken to dispossess you."

While Morristown is more fortunate than other municipalities, having only a small amount of arrearages outstanding, yet there is sufficient to warrant the effort to collect it. The list of delinquents is made up mainly of large property owners and those financially able to pay taxes, and not those who own one house. The latter class are the most prompt in liquidating their obligations to the city.

Sire Brothers, the theatrical managers, of New York, own vast interests here. Their property is all improved, and the revenue of several hundred dollars is realized yearly. Three years ago a portion of their property in Water street was bought by the city, having been sold for unpaid taxes. Since that time the Sires have collected the rents from the tenants, and the matter was finally brought to the attention of Mr. Muir.

This action is merely an initial move to force delinquents to liquidate their indebtedness to the city without having to resort to legal measures to gain absolute possession, which can be done under an act passed in March, 1879.

Mother Always Keeps It Handy.

"My mother suffered a long time from distressing pains and general ill health due primarily to indigestion," says L. W. Spalding, Verona, Mo. "Two years ago I got her to try Kodol. She grew better at once and now, at the age of seventy-six, eats any thing she wants, remarking that she fears no bad effects as she has her bottle of Kodol handy." Don't waste time doctoring symptoms. Go after the cause. If your stomach is sound your health will be good. Kodol rests the stomach and strengthens the body by digesting your food. It is nature's own tonic. L. W. Randolph.

GLENN FOUND GUILTY

Sentence Sent to the President For Approval.

BRIEF SUSPENSION AND SMALL FINE.

The Major Was Court Martialed For Administering the Water Cure to Natives In the Philippine Islands.

WASHINGTON, July 23.—Secretary Root has sent to the president, at Oyster Bay, the proceedings and findings in the court martial cases of Major Edwin F. Glenn, Fifth infantry; Lieutenant Julien E. Gaujot, Tenth cavalry, and Lieutenant Norman E. Cook of the Philippine scouts.

Glenn was found guilty of administering the water cure to natives or permitting it to be done and was sentenced to a month's suspension from duty and fined $50. Lieutenant Cook was acquitted on a charge of giving orders to kill three Filipino prisoners. The testimony showed that he had given orders to shoot the prisoners if they attempted to escape. The Filipino scouts to whom this order was given thought it meant to shoot the prisoners.

In forwarding the cases to the president the secretary recommends that the sentences and findings be approved, but that no other action shall be taken. It is not believed that the president, who is reviewing authority in these cases, will make any comments such as were delivered by him in the case of General Smith. It is shown in the evidence and reports that Major Glenn has performed excellent service and has done much to pacify the country where he has been in command.

Died With Curses on Lips.

GREENVILLE, Miss., July 23.—With curses on his lips, with eyes bloodshot and with the expressed wish that the people of Greenville perish in the fires of hell Ashley Cocke died here yesterday. With him, but silently, Tom Lauderdale also met his end. Both were convicted of the murder of Engineer G. M. Wray and were hanged from the same gallows, and the swing of a double trap sent both men to their doom. Cocke died boasting that he would be in hell in a few minutes and damning everything and everybody. He said that those who had planned his murder would meet their end and that $11,000 had been deposited in bank, $1,000 of which would be paid for the death of each of the eleven men who prosecuted him. The execution was witnessed by 6,000 people.

General Buller Complains.

LONDON, July 23.—General Buller has written another letter to William Brodrick, the secretary of state for war, in which he complains that Mr. Brodrick accentuated charges in the house of commons which were never officially brought against him and to which he was ordered not to reply. In his communication to the war secretary General Buller demands that he be allowed to state his views regarding Ladysmith's capability to hold out against the Boers.

Great Britain's Downfall Predicted.

BERLIN, July 23.—The Kreuz Zeitung, dealing with Great Britain's position in the world, maintains that she is not economically independent of other nations. "The colonies," says the Zeitung, "are rapidly severing themselves from the mother country, which will finally be absorbed by America, inasmuch as the rise of the United States means the political and economic downfall of Great Britain."

Employers Offer to Compromise.

PHILADELPHIA, July 23. — The employers of the gold beaters who went on strike all over the country Monday for higher wages have offered to compromise, and the men have refused to accept anything under what they ask. The gold beaters are receiving $11 a week and 4 cents a book. They demand $21 a week and 8 cents a book. The compromise offered was $15 a week and 7 cents a book.

Governor Hunt Coming Home.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, July 23.—Governor Hunt and Attorney General Harlan have sailed for New York on the steamer Coamo. No demonstration was made further than a serenade being given the officials by the insular police band. Captain Graham of the Porto Rican regiment, with a crack shooting team, also sailed on the Coamo. The riflemen are bound for Fort Niagara, N. Y.

Floods In Austria.

VIENNA, July 23.—The storms of Monday last did immense damage throughout the country. Many villages were flooded, and a large number of houses were swept away. The spire of a church at Zupine, Hungary, was struck by lightning and fell, demolishing the church. A total of fourteen deaths from lightning is reported.

Engineer and Fireman Killed.

WILL TURN OUT RIGHT

Archbishop Ireland Satisfied With Negotiations.

GOVERNMENT'S ATTITUDE PRAISED.

Sharp Rebuke For Those of the Church Who Have Questioned the Fairness of the Administration In This Matter.

ST. PAUL, July 23.—Archbishop Ireland in an interview regarding the progress of the negotiations conducted between Judge Taft and the Vatican took to task certain Catholic organizations that had assumed to question the fairness of the administration toward their coreligionists. The archbishop said:

"Yes, the news from Rome is quite satisfactory and, I am sure, quite correct. Private advices coming to me from the most reliable sources confirm in all respects the dispatches given in the press. The sovereign pontiff and other Roman authorities are delighted with Governor Taft personally and with the negotiations in course of progress between him and the Vatican. Reports sent out by the correspondents of certain London papers to the effect that the pontiff was displeased with the manner of acting of the commission of cardinals appointed to treat with Governor Taft were absolutely unfounded. As stated in this morning's Roman dispatches, the pontiff assured Governor Taft that he was most satisfied and happy at the results so far obtained and that he was confident the negotiations begun in Rome would be the starting point of a complete and satisfactory solution of the question under discussion. This statement sums up in the most exact manner the situation as the Vatican views it and as it really is.

"That the negotiations have not yet reached final conclusions and are to be transferred from Rome to Manila is what might have been expected from the beginning. Governor Taft is in a hurry to return to the Philippines and could not prolong his stay in Rome, and, on the other hand, the problems to be solved are so complicated, especially from the Vatican standpoint, that time in the work is of prime necessity. The Vatican and Governor Taft came easily and quickly to a substantial agreement. The question for the Vatican is what practical methods are to be adopted to put the agreement into execution. With a little time certain matters now seeming to offer great difficulties will be made, by quiet, skillful touches of pontifical diplomacy, to work themselves out without friction or excitement, and so when in Manila final conclusions are to be reached things will have been ripe and will turn out all right.

"This is the Vatican method of proceeding. It is a wise and prudent method. Mr. Taft understands the matter and leaves Rome thoroughly satisfied and hopeful. He carries away with him the pontiff's statement that the negotiations begun in Rome will prove to have been the starting point of a complete and satisfactory solution of the questions at issue, and that much he considers to be quite sufficient for the moment. There can be no doubt that the active co-operation of the Vatican is now secured to the American government in its task of pacification in the Philippines and that in the results to come the administration at Washington will have ample reason to felicitate itself for having sent Governor Taft to Rome.

"And now it is to be hoped there will be among certain classes of Catholics in America a cessation of movements and declarations such as we have had recent occasion to hear of regarding religious matters in the Philippines. The pope teaches those Catholics to trust the American government as they seemingly have been heretofore unwilling to do.

"In his conversation with Governor Taft he expressed the highest esteem for American methods of treating church matters and remarked that he had more than once pointed toward the United States as setting an example well worth copying. His words ought to signify something to those who profess to take him as their leader and guide.

"The agitation, such as it was, in certain Catholic quarters did no honor to those who participated in it. As is now proven, they spoke and acted without due knowledge and certainly without proper regard for the government of their country. They should first have been absolutely certain that injustices had been done to their coreligionists.

"There should have been no haste to lay blame upon the government, which was doing its best to bring order out of chaos, and above all no charges should have been made against the intentions of the government. It was rankest rashness and rankest injustice to intimate that the government intended to proselytize in the Philippines or to do aught to detach the inhabitants from the Catholic faith. To know in the slightest degree Mr. Roosevelt, Mr. Root or Mr. Taft is to be certain that nothing of the kind could have been thought of or could have been tolerated. Never did there reside in the White House a man more fair minded and impartial in religious matters, more resolute to give all classes of citizens the religious rights granted them by the constitution and to protect them in those rights than Theodore Roosevelt. During his administration it is unqualifiedly absurd to imagine that governmental acts could be such as to deny or impair the religious rights of any people or tribe over whom floats the American flag."

THE POPE'S PRESENTS.

Delicate Question Regarding Their Reception.

WASHINGTON, July 23.—Governor Taft has acquainted Secretary Root with the fact reported in the news dispatches from Rome that the pope had tendered several pretty and appropriate gifts to himself and the members of his party, and he has asked whether these can lawfully be accepted.

It was at once recognized that the question thus presented involved some very delicate and interesting points, principal among them being a possible decision—expressly to be avoided at this stage, in the opinion of the officials—as to the temporal powers of the pope.

If these were decorations or gifts of large value, then under the constitutional inhibition they might not be received without the authority of congress if the pope is regarded as having temporal power—as being a prince, a potentate or a sovereign.

Secretary Root has, however, avoided an unpleasant decision of this question by informing Governor Taft that if these gifts are not of considerable intrinsic value and are personal in character they may be accepted as mere souvenirs, in which case the personality of the giver need not be a matter of official inquiry.

On the other hand, if the gifts are of exceptional value, which is not believed to be the case from the newspaper reports, then they may be deposited in the Smithsonian institution in this city.

Capitol Decorators Selected.

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 23.—Edwin A. Abbey was selected as mural painter and George Grey Barnard as sculptor for the new capitol at a meeting of the capitol building commission at the executive department. The appropriation for the building is $4,500,000, of which $150,000 will be used for the mural painting and $300,000 for sculpture. Mr. Barnard will also have general direction of the carving in the building. He will make between forty and fifty statues, all of which will be marble except one of bronze at the base of the dome. The commission expects to complete the building by June 1, 1906.

Disgrace Killing Mrs. Strong.

NEW YORK, July 23.—Mrs. W. L. Strong, the mother of the missing Captain Putnam Bradlee Strong, accused by May Yohe of stealing $200,000 worth of her jewels, lies dangerously ill at the Hotel Grosvenor. She calls constantly for her son and cannot be comforted without him. Since Thursday her condition has changed steadily for the worse, and Manager Orvis of the Grosvenor says that her physician has called five and six times every day since then. The disgrace brought upon her by her son is killing her.

The Windward Leaks.

HALIFAX, N. S., July 23.—At Sydney yesterday afternoon it was discovered that the Peary arctic steamer Windward was leaking. It seems that she was strained in some way while bunkering, and she began making water. While the damage is serious enough to delay her departure a day or two, it is believed it is not great enough to compel a temporary abandonment of the trip.

Everett-Moore Syndicate Sells Out.

CLEVELAND, O., July 23.—The Everett-Moore syndicate has sold all its interest in the Scioto Valley Electric traction company to a party of Cincinnati and Columbus financiers headed by Cyrus Huling of Columbus. The Everett-Moore people owned about 60 per cent of the stock in the line, which is only partially completed. The road will run from Columbus to Circleville and Chillicothe.

Water Wouldn't Put Out Fire.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., July 23.—A fire in the packing and crushing department of the Union Carbide plant puzzled the firemen for a time. They were told if water was turned on the carbide in store the blaze would be increased. The flames were finally extinguished by a chemical engine. The loss will amount to several thousand dollars.

Kaiser Given Ruined Fortress.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 23.—In the course of an audience which he granted to the German charge d'affaires the sultan presented to Emperor William through the charge the ruined fortress of Kalaat Sherkat, on the river Tigris, which has long been desired by German Assyriologists for excavation.

A Shoe String Suicide.

ROME, Ga., July 23.—A shoe string was used as a means of suicide by John B. McGhee, in jail here, charged with the murder of F. L. Miller, a Confederate veteran. He killed himself in his cell, literally cutting his throat with the shoe string.

SITUATION IN CHINA.

American Missionary Reports Distressing State of Affairs.

BOSTON, July 23.—As a result of the attempt of the government to collect a tax with which to pay the Boxer indemnity, according to a report by Rev. F. M. Chapin of the American board's north China mission, an uprising has taken place to the west of Linshing. Rev. Mr. Chapin says that thousands of troops have been sent to suppress the uprising, but at last accounts they had not succeeded. Referring to the affair, Mr. Chapin says:

"Near us, in Hsiachin county, we have one village where Christian families cannot return to their homes, the Boxers still carrying their arms and refusing to allow said Christians to sell their land, as they would gladly do. To the southwest of Linching is quite a district where the traveler may feel certain he is to be robbed, whether he has much or little. In that region kidnaping of the very old and young is a regular business.

"The convulsion two years ago, by relaxing all respect for law and order, making it possible for men to suddenly grow rich without labor and to obtain money by robbery without fear of punishment, has disintegrated society."

Keeping Up Strikers' Hopes.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., July 23.—Many of the local assemblies of United Mine Workers held meetings last night and were addressed by delegates who attended the national convention at Indianapolis. All the speakers spoke in a very enthusiastic strain. They claimed the bituminous miners were deeply interested in the outcome of the strike in the anthracite region and that they would render all the assistance they possibly could to enable the strikers to win. No definite plan for the relief of the strikers will be agreed upon until the arrival of President Mitchell. After his views are obtained it is said that the work of distributing relief to the families of the striking miners will be begun at once.

Unknown Men Killed.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., July 23.—When the Montreal express on the New York Central arrived here at 8:50 last night, the engineer found a man's hat on the pilot of the locomotive with spots of fresh blood. A search was made along the track, and at the southern boundary of the city the mangled bodies of two men were found. Both had been killed by the train while walking on the track. They have not been identified, but are thought to have been Italian laborers.

More Garment Workers Join Strike.

NEW YORK, July 23.—One thousand garment workers have joined the ranks of the strikers, making the total number on strike in Manhattan about 11,000 and about 7,000 in Brooklyn. There are about 800 manufacturers. According to William Chuck, secretary of the strike settlement committee, forty of them have signed agreements to accede to the strikers' demands.

Killed by a Baseball.

LANCASTER, Pa., July 23.—Milton Good, aged seventeen years, is dead at his home at Leaman Place, this county, from the effects of being hit on the head with a baseball during a game on Monday evening. He did not appear to be seriously hurt at the time and after the game walked to his home, where he became unconscious.

Heavy Coal Shipments.

PITTSBURG, July 23.—About 5,000,000 bushels of coal, requiring 50 boats and 266 barges to transport, passed through Davis island dam yesterday en route to the south. This is the heaviest single day's shipment this year. Additional shipments will be made if the empties can be returned before the boating stage fails.

RIOTING STIRS PARIS

Enforcement of Law Against Congregations the Cause.

CLERICALS DENOUNCE THE ACTION.

Agitation Not Likely to Create Serious Disturbance, as the Opposition Is in a Hopeless Minority.

PARIS, July 23.—Riots occurred yesterday after the distribution of prizes at a school belonging to an unauthorized congregation in the Avenue Parmentier here as the result of violent speeches denouncing the government's action in closing the establishments of unauthorized congregations. Crowds broke through the police cordon and shouted "Vive la liberte!" Francois Coppee, the author and poet, who was the chief speaker; Deputy Lerolle, Gaston Merry and the Abbe Partural were arrested.

The determined firmness with which the government is carrying out the law against unauthorized congregations is lashing the clericals to fury, which culminated in yesterday's disorderly demonstrations in Paris. Similar, though less violent, scenes accompanied the closing of the schools and the departure of the teachers to other places.

As a matter of fact, however, the clericals are manifestly in a hopeless minority throughout the country. Many municipal councils in all sections of France, including those of such important cities as Lyons, Tours, Epernay and Beauvais, are voting resolutions approving the government's action, congratulating the ministry upon its firmness and urging it to continue its defense of civil society against the encroachments of the congregations.

The government is certainly applying the law with all possible moderation and, with the country behind it, will, it is believed, accomplish the task undertaken before parliament reassembles. The clericals will doubtless continue their agitation, but the movement is not likely to lead to any practical result or cause serious disturbance of public order.

It's Roosevelt, Says Foraker.

CINCINNATI, O., July 23.—Senator Foraker in the course of an interview on his return home was asked, "Are you correctly quoted as to the Republican candidate of 1904—namely, that nobody is seriously thought of except President Roosevelt?" "Yes, the statement published is correct, and the fact is as there stated. Roosevelt is the only man who is seriously thought of by the great masses of the people. There are a few flickering flames that some ambitious partisans are trying to fan into a blaze, but they cannot make them burn steadily, and they will all go out in due time, extinguished by the firedamp of American politics."

Serious Race Track Accidents.

NEW YORK, July 23.—George W. Bernhardt, a jockey at the Brighton Beach race track, was riding the horse Lime Juice in the steeplechase when the animal stumbled and fell. The horse was killed outright, and Bernhardt had his breast bone fractured and sustained other injuries. In the same race Jockey F. F. O'Neil was thrown from his horse Marylander, which fell, and received a concussion of the brain.

Who Will Care For the Babies?

ASBURY PARK, N. J., July 23.—The convention of the national and state women suffragists closed here last night. The evening session was presided over by Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt. One of the questions in the question box was, "Who will care for the babies when the mothers vote?" The Rev. Anna Shaw answered it by saying, "Persons who care for them when the mothers go to the opera."

Naval Men In Camp.

BLOCK ISLAND, R. I., July 23.—About 1,200 men from the battleships Alabama and Kearsarge have gone into camp at Big Harbor Neck, at the west end of the island, near the channel. They have an excellent location, with plenty of water. The warships, which are now lying north of the channel, will leave this afternoon, but will come here every week during the summer to drill their men.

Alabama Town Badly Damaged.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 23.—Fire which broke out at Brookside, a town of 1,000 inhabitants situated in Jefferson county, ten miles from Birmingham, destroyed four business houses and about forty residences, causing a loss of $50,000. The greater part of the stock and furniture in the burned buildings was saved, but is considerably damaged. The insurance is light.

The Chinese Invasion.

OTTAWA, Ont., July 23.—The gross revenue from Chinese immigration to Canada for the year ending June 30 amounts to $364,972, compared with $178,704 during the previous year. The poll tax last year was increased from $50 to $100. The number who paid the tax was 3,525, compared with 2,518 in 1901.

THE CITY TAX RATE.

When the Union County Board of Assessors met Monday, the county tax rate was fixed and incidentally the rates for all the municipalities of the county were prepared. According to these figures, the rate in Plainfield for the coming year will be $2.51, just one point higher than it was last year.

Now there is said to be an excellent chance that this single point will be disposed of by an increase in the taxable valuations of the city on the part of the Common Council. With the present figures, the rate remains where it is. There is a certain amount to be raised. If the amount which is to be taxed is slightly increased, then the rate can be lowered and still produce the same result. As the assessments in the city have yet to be approved by the Common Council and as that body very frequently makes slight changes in the figures of the local board of assessors, it seems quite likely that the report is a true one and that the total assessed valuation will be raised sufficiently to keep the tax rate where it is.

After all the unkind things which some of the opponents of the Greater Plainfield scheme have said about this city, it is consoling to notice that their predictions have so far gone wrong and that the city taxpayers will pay practically the same as they paid last year and not as much as they did three years ago. Their other prediction about Plainfield will be just as false. The management of the city's affairs is in the hands of business men who have made a success of their personal interests and may be trusted to do equally as well with a public trust.

There is no city like Plainfield to be found in New Jersey or any other State. When all the benefits that the residents of Plainfield enjoy are taken into consideration, no one can truthfully say that the city is not giving full value for all the taxes paid into its treasury. The city's business is conducted on business principles. If North Plainfield becomes a part of Plainfield, it will get into one of the best-governed municipalities in the State.

An advertising periodical, quotes the Philadelphia Record, points to the fact that there is no sense in advertisements of half a dozen successful establishments—the boy and the goose ad., for example. Their only effect is to keep the name of the article before the newspaper readers. There is nothing alluring or persuasive about them, but because they appear constantly they impress the memory. It is the persistence in advertising which makes the success of the establishments.

Through a special correspondent in Company K, The Daily Press is enabled to keep its readers thoroughly posted with the week's happenings at Camp Murphy. The boys are having a great time and every Plainfielder is more or less interested in the experiences of the town boys at their second visit to the State camp.

Thomas A. Edison's latest enterprise to come to the front is his cement works at Stewartsville. He promises a remarkably fine quality of cement at a reasonable cost of production.

M. C. VanArsdale, of East Front street, has a personal letter to all Plainfield women in today's issue of The Press. It refers to his Armstrong shoe for the gentler sex, which cannot be beaten for ease and comfort. Drop in and see it.

Don't wait until cold weather to have your house papered and painted. This is a good season of the year to have this work done and Charles Conover & Company will give you estimates and do the work as reasonably as any firm.

With such a large assortment of men's and boys' clothing as you will find at the New York Clothing Company's store, you surely can find just what you want. The prices are so reasonable that anyone can afford to wear good clothes.

Got a minute? If you have just stop in J. Hervey Doane's jewelry store in Park avenue, and see what a superior line of watches and jewelry he has. He keeps the kind of watches that are guaranteed to keep time. He also repairs watches in a satisfactory manner.

Dont'be inveigled into buying meat of an inferior quality when you can have the best at the same price. Fred Endress is prepared to fill all orders out of his big supply of fresh meat without any additional cost to the consumer than what they are paying for a poorer grade.

Big reductions are the order of the week at the New York Bargain Store on West Front street. All the summer stock of clothing, shoes and furnishings have been cut down to one half the manufacturers' prices and are being offered at that rate for the remainder of the week.

In buying household goods do not forget the Gayle Hardware Company. The stock of goods carried by this company is large and embraces everything from the smallest article used about the house to some of the largest. Compare their prices with others and you will see how to save money.

Cool weather clothing has come down with a heavy drop at Boehm's as the demand increases. This week's offers show sweeping reductions in the millinery and dressing departments, some of the special inducements being duck skirts, ladies' wrappers and house dresses far below the dollar mark, and waists in all sizes at ridiculously low figures.

Four Generations.

Few men are privileged to see many of the fourth generation of their families, and it was thus a peculiar honor which was enjoyed by the late John Geary who died at South Plainfield last week. No less than twenty-five little ones looked to the aged man as their great-grandfather.

CAKES FOR QUEEN'S LOVERS.

Wilhelmina Did Not Forget Her Former Admirers on the Prince Consort's Birthday.

The kindliness of Queen Wilhelmina of Holland is well known, and on the birthday of her husband, the prince consort, recently it received another exemplification. On account of her illness, the customary festivities had to be abandoned, but the kindly instinct of the royal invalid would not allow the disappointment to apply to some of her favorites. It did not matter to the distinguished functionaries of the court, but there were others to whom the upset of the arrangements would be little short of tragic, says a London report. These were the children of certain humble retainers about the court. And for these special cakes were baked by the queen's orders.

A world of kindliness is expressed in that little action. Her charming disposition endears her to all who have had opportunities of witnessing its manifestations. She has had many lovers, among them susceptible young men not unknown in distinguished society in England. Before her marriage she was pestered by the attentions of infatuated young men. She has an eye for the humorous side of sentiment, as she has for the practical. The honest, loving tribute of the fisherman who sent her the first herring of the season's catch she promptly cooked and ate; the love missives of the impertinent she probably used as fuel for the herring.

CULTIVATING A CARRIAGE.

We Are Advised to Carry a Weight on Our Heads If We Would Stand Erect.

A stooping figure is not only a familiar expression of weakness or old age, but it is, when caused by careless habits, a direct cause of contracted chest and defective breathing. Unless you rid yourself of this crook while at school you will probably go bent to your grave. There is one good way to cure it. Shoulder braces will not help. One needs not an artificial substitute, but some means to develop the muscles whose duty it is to hold the head and shoulders erect. I know of only one bull's-eye shot, says a writer in Hall's Journal of Health.

It is to carry a weight on the head. A sheepskin or other strong bag filled with 20 or 30 pounds of sand is a good weight. When engaged in your morning studies, either before or after breakfast, put the bag of sand on your head, hold your head erect, draw your chin close to your neck and walk slowly about the room, coming back if you please every minute or two to your book or carrying the book as you walk.

The muscles whose duty it is to hold the head and shoulders erect are hit, not with scattering shot but with a rifle ball. The bones of the spine and the intervertebral substance will soon accommodate themselves to the new attitude. One year of daily practice with the bag, half an hour morning and evening, will give you a noble carriage without interfering a moment with your studies.

ABOUT AMERICAN POLO.

James Gordon Bennett Was the Leading Spirit in Introducing the Game Here.

James Gordon Bennett, the proprietor of the New York Herald, was the leading spirit in introducing polo into this country. It was he who dined, in 1876, at his own residence, which still stands on the northeast corner of Fifth avenue and Thirty-eighth street, New York city, the following gentlemen: Messrs. William Jay, William B. Douglass, Charles G. Francklyn, Winnie Thorn, Perry Belmont, John Mott, Samuel Howland and Lord Mandeville.

It was decided to bring from Texas a carload of cow ponies, and, until within a short time, there was hung in the Meadow Brook clubhouse, Long Island, a list of these ponies, distributed by lot among the diners, at an average cost of $20 each.

The first game was played during that winter in the old frame Dickel Riding academy, where now stands the Union League club, corner of Fifth avenue and Thirty-ninth street, says E. Willard Roby, in Outing, and play was later continued at Jerome park race course, at Fordham, in 1877

Buenos Ayres Law.

Here is an illustration of justice as she is administered in this free and glorious country. A farmer up the rivers caught a small craft loading produce from his land. The thieves were caught in the act. Complaint was made to the river police and the boat was detained when the case went to the court. The owner, who was not with the craft, visited the farmer and begged him to have mercy and let his craft go and not pursue the case, as it would mean starvation to the family. He listened to the plea and did not present the witnesses, of which he had several. The case then went by default and the accused was acquitted. After this the boat owner ran foul of a shyster, who saw a chance to mulct the farmer, and he was condemned to pay damages for accusing and not proving his case, although he proved that he had witnesses and desisted in mercy to the thieves.—Buenos Ayres Herald.

Frogs an Enemy of Commerce.

One of the great enemies of the overland telegraph line in central Australia is the common green frog. In order to save the insulators from being broken by the lightning they are provided with wire "droppers" leading round them at a little distance to conduct on to the iron pole in case of need. The frogs climb the poles and find the insulators cool and pleasant to their bodies, and fancy that the "dropper" is put there to furnish them with a back seat. After a nap they yawn and stretch out a leg until it touches the pole—result: sudden death of the frog, and as the body continues to conduct the current to earth we have a paragraph in the papers to the effect that "in consequence of an interruption to the lines probably caused by a cyclonic disturbance in the interior, we are unable to present our readers with the usual cables from England!"—Nature Notes.

Not to Be Caught.

"How old would you take me to be, Mr. Griffin?" she lisped, looking unutterable things.

"Don't know, I'm sure," responded Griffin, tugging nervously at his mustache.

"I am awfully old, I assure you," she went on. "I've seen 23 summers."

"Then you ought to wear glasses," responded Griffin, earnestly.

"What! Glasses at 23? Oh, Mr. Griffin!"

"Yes, your eyesight must be bad."

"I'm sure I don't know why you should think so," she pouted.

"Well," said Griffin, slowly, and looking for a safe exit meanwhile, "I'm afraid about 20 summers have gone by without your noticing them."—London Tit-Bits.

Big Blast in Granite.

A monster blast was fired at Bonawe granite quarries, Argyleshire, Scotland, recently. The mine was driven with compressed air as the motive power, into the center of the quarry face for 70 feet, with two arms 50 feet each, and a chamber at the end of both the arms in which was placed 20,000 pounds of gunpowder. This is the first mine in any of the granite quarries which has been driven by compressed air, and the operation was carried through in the remarkably short time of ten weeks from date of starting by Messrs. Murdock & Co., Camborne, Cornwall. Powder of the highest grade was used and the blast was so successful that upward of 250,000 tons of rock were displaced.—London Engineer.

Read Proof and Learn.

A young woman who is employed in the advertising department of one of the leading department stores has of late had to read proof, with the result that her eye has grown to be painfully aware of any error of spelling and punctuation. A few days ago, when in her native city, she strolled through a graveyard—her favorite promenade. She had, she declares, previously read the inscription on every tombstone without noticing anything wrong. But on her last visit, to her disgust, she noticed at least one error in spelling or punctuation in every epitaph.—Philadelphia Telegraph.

The Languages and the Religions of Africa

There Are Many Varieties of Both in the Great Dark Continent.

WE are but just beginning to have detailed information of an authoritative kind concerning the various peculiarities of physique, religion and language of the many tribes of people who inhabit Africa. So numerous are the branches of the African race that a map of the country must be divided and subdivided many times before all the sections can be shown; and they never can be correctly presented for the reason that the boundary lines between the tribes have in many instances been swept away by intermarriage, wars, or other intermingling and by the formation of half-breed races, so that while the tribes and races of Africa differ radically from each other they are oftentimes so gradually blended that to establish an arbitrary line between them is impossible.

The colored peoples of Africa may first be divided into three classes, each of which has a distinct origin. These are: The Northern and Northwestern race, the Western, and the Eastern. Some authorities insist there is still a fourth separate and distinct race to times placed the pigmie tribes of central and Southern Africa.

Of the Northern race the Berbers are an excellent example. Their features are small and regular, their lips thin, their hair long and their foreheads indicate intelligence beyond the ordinary African. They are supposed to have sprung from the Caucasian race.

The Western race is the flat-nosed, thick-lipped negro with which the world is best familiar. The Eastern race are Malays from Madagascar. Under the fourth division are sometimes placed the pigmy tribes of central Africa and the Bushmen of the south.

The Caucasian race may properly be divided into two sections: The Hamitic and the Semitic, the former being the most important. The Hamitic division may be taken to include the inhabitants of Somali Land, Gallas, and some of the inhabitants of Abyssinia; while the Semitic race may be taken to include the inhabitants of Algeria, Tripoli, Tunis, certain portions of the Nile valley, the Soudan, the Sahara, and portions of Abyssinia.

The Mongolian race in Africa shows no especial divisions, being chiefly composed, as we have said, of Malays from Madagascar who are tainted with negro blood.

The real negro race is the interesting one and must be many times subdivided into tribes and clans. The first great general divisions are: The Bantu, the Guinea negroes, the negroes of the equatorial regions and the negroes of the Nile. The attempt to separate each of these four divisions into the various tribes which belong to it would be a task far greater than that of classifying all of the many tribes of American Indians. However, it may be well at this point to add that the Hottentot, the Kaffir, the Zulu, the Matabili—all especially well known to us—belong properly to the fourth division of the negro. They live in South Africa and are at home in the wilds where the Bushman dwells.

There are in Africa probably not fewer than 300 separate and distinct tribes of negroes and each of these has its own language. So varied have these tongues seemed that few attempts to classify them have been made; nevertheless it is thought they may be traced to five distinct heads or groups. Of these five, the first two are the Hamitic and Semitic tongues; while the remaining three are purely African. Of the latter the first group comprises the various Nigritian languages, spoken by the inhabitants of that territory known as the Equitorial Belt, the second includes the great Bantu and Kaffir divisions and the third includes the tongue of the Hottentots and Bushmen.

The real African religion is essentially the religion of the heathen. It is the outgrowth of fear and reverence for Nature as it appears to the child of the woods. Innumerable rites, oftimes of an abominable nature form the body of this religion. Some of the rites and ceremonies are directly traceable to the ceremonial religions of the east which have somehow filtered to the heart of Africa, mixing themselves with the crude religious conceptions of the ignorant blacks and producing a system of rites that are sometimes grotesque, but more often revolting to the civilized sense. The philosophy of Shamanism, which recognizes a supreme deity who is assisted by a great many lesser gods, good and bad, is found to be a prevalent doctrine in some portions. But so crude does it become, in some sections especially, that it is nothing more nor less than fetichism—than which in its worst forms there is no more horrible system of so-called religious ceremonies. The fetich worship requires an almost infinite number of idols, each of which is worshiped under the supposition that it contains the spirit of the particular diety it represents, and whose aid or mercy the supplicant desires to invoke. The most hideous sacrifices of human beings have taken place as incidental to this sort of idol worship. No one will ever know how many lives have been taken to appease the wrath of these so-called gods.

In religion, however, Africa is coming to reflect the doctrines of the outside world. The religions of the east and the religions of the west vie with each other there. As a result Africa is becoming more Christian and a good deal Mohammedan. The Mohammedan religion with its early foothold in the northeast has gradually spread until its influence is strongly felt in the great upper half of the dark continent. Christianity has made some inroads on the coast in the west and south; and the great interior remains in its primal condition—devoted to Nature worship mixed with a thousand crude conceptions of the heathen.

The religious concepts of the various negro tribes in those portions of central and southern Africa where neither Mohammedism nor Christianity has penetrated, is governed largely by their degrees of intelligence. The tribes highest in the scale undoubtedly worship a supreme being, whom they set a great way off, through the lesser deities which are at hand and whose images they can see and handle. Sometimes these deities are represented by rivers and trees, and the latter, then known as fetiches, are supposed to contain the spirit of the God appealed to. The ability to distinguish between this unseen spirit and the material image in which it is supposed to dwell, varies in different tribes according to the position of the tribe in the scale of intelligence. The Bushmen and other low types have no nice distinctions to make. The Bushman regards his little fetich image as itself mysteriously powerful, looking to it for good fortune in much the same way that persons in more civilized countries have regarded the left hind leg of a graveyard rabbit, though of course with all the honest intensity of which he is capable.

It has been declared by some travelers that there are tribes in Africa which have no religion whatever; but this is hardly probable. More reliable authorities aver that there is no tribe which has not its superstitions concerning mysterious power even though they know not how to define this power; and these superstitions concerning the common mysteries of life and of Nature invariably find some expression in rites of worship however crude.

MILTON B. MARKS.

Story of Western Farm Life.

Eleanor Gates is a young western woman who has done some good work in literature within recent years. She likes especially to weave her early ideas, gathered on a Dakota farm, where she lived during her childhood, into her stories, and does so with a wonderful success. She has but recently completed a story entitled "The Biography of a Prairie Girl," which is said to be far superior to anything ever attempted by her before. The time of the story is about 25 years ago, and into it is woven every phase of western farm life of that time, attended as it was by all the hardships and pleasures of the frontier. The story is to be run as a serial in the Century Magazine, beginning with the August number.

Rat Plague in Jamaica.

The rats of the island of Jamaica have so increased in number that the residents have combined to destroy them. The animals have thus been forced to change their manner of life. They have taken to tree-climbing, passing the day in the tree tops, chiefly among the wild pines, then coming forth and feeding undisturbed at night, when their enemy, the mongoose, is asleep in the thickets.

CROP CONDITIONS.

Floods Have Done Great Injury—A Drought In the South.

WASHINGTON, July 23.—The weather bureau's weekly summary of crop conditions is as follows:

The lower Missouri and upper Mississippi valleys and lake region have continued to suffer from excessive rains, which have also interrupted farm work in the Ohio valley and in portions of the middle Atlantic states and New England. Much injury to crops and other property has resulted from overflows in Iowa and portions of Illinois, Missouri and Michigan.

Drought has been largely relieved in the southern states, but extensive areas in that section are still much in need of rain, especially the northern portions, extending from Oklahoma eastward to the Carolinas.

The temperature conditions as a whole have been favorable, although rather low in the northern Rocky mountain districts. The north Pacific coast states sustained considerable damage from high winds and the Dakotas and Minnesota from hailstorms in scattered localities.

A HUNDRED MISSING.

Death List of the Elbe Steamship Disaster Growing.

HAMBURG, July 23.—The steamship Primus of Hamburg, which, with 185 passengers on board, was cut in two and sunk by the tug Hansa of the Hamburg-American line on the river Elbe between Blankenese and Nienstedten, has been partially raised and brought nearer shore. The total number of missing is now placed at 104. Sixty-one bodies have been recovered.

Inquiry into the circumstances of the disaster shows that there is a great lack of life saving appliances on the Elbe excursion steamers. The Primus is known to have had on board only six life belts and a single boat. The steamer Zelphin, which came up later with 400 passengers, also had only one boat, capable of carrying seven persons.

Santos-Dumont Arrives.

NEW YORK, July 23.—Santos-Dumont, the famous aeronaut, arrived unexpectedly on the Kronprinz Wilhelm of the North German Lloyd line. He said he would make his ascensions from Brighton Beach according to programme. He was much gratified to learn that the preparations were so well under way. He explained the accident to Severo's airship by saying his gasoline motor was too near the escape valve, and the gasoline became ignited thereby.

Gunboat Sent to Venezuela.

WILLEMSTAD, Curacao, July 23.—The United States gunboat Marietta has sailed from La Guayra, having been sent by Herbert W. Bowen, United States minister to Venezuela, with W. W. Russell, secretary of legation, on board, to investigate the situation in the Orinoco district, which is reported to be extremely critical for American interests.

To Test Oleo Law.

COLUMBUS, O., July 23.—At a meeting of butterine manufacturers in this city a plan of action was decided upon to test the constitutionality of the recently enacted oleomargarine law. A New York firm of constitutional lawyers has been intrusted with the case. The contention will be that the act is class legislation.

Another Collapse Threatened.

LONDON, July 23.—A dispatch to the Central News from Venice reports that the monumental clock tower of Santo Stefano shows signs of collapsing and that precautions have been ordered to prevent its fall.

PILGRIMING TO HOLYWELL.

The Blind, the Lame and Sick Seeking Relief at Miraculous Spring in Wales.

Anyone who thinks that superstition is no more in Great Britain ought to pay a visit to Holywell, in north Wales. The little Welsh town is overrun in the summer by an army of sufferers from all sorts of diseases who come there to be made whole by the "miraculous" powers of the water in the spring of St. Winifred, says a London paper.

The "holy well," from which the place gets its name, has been famous throughout the entire country for centuries. The legend runs that St. Winifred lived near the spring and endowed it with the power of relieving all ailments, and ever since history began to be writ in Wales hosts of people, most of them Roman Catholics, have journeyed from all parts in the hope of being cured of their respective maladies.

The spring is surrounded by a small chapel which is supposed to have been built by Margaret, mother of King Henry. The candidate for cure enters and kneels on a stone ledge beside the water, and then, according to the cherished legend, whatever ailed him once thereafter ails him no more. Anyone who visits the little chapel at almost any time in the year, will find it full of the lame, the halt and the blind, most of them people of the poorer classes, and the villagers of Holywell tell of endless miraculous cures that have taken place before their astonished eyes.

SINGLE OFFICERS IN DEMAND.

They Are Preferred Because of the Crowded Condition of Uncle Sam's Military Posts.

The overcrowded condition of the residential quarters of the various military posts in this country, due to the return of regiments from the Philippines, is embarrassing the military authorities, reports the Washington Star. The trouble is not so much with respect to housing the officers themselves as with the members of their families. The situation has reached a point where bachelors are favored over benedicts in assignment to stations with limited living accommodations where such discrimination is possible. And it is even asserted that where there is no other choice between two young candidates for a commission it is bestowed on the single man in preference to one who is married. Even then it is recognized, however, that the bachelor appointed is not likely to continue long in single blessedness. The powers that be admit that their authority does not reach to the extent of interfering with subsequent affairs of the heart. It is made plain that there is no official prejudice against matrimony—but just at the present the military posts would afford better accommodations for more officers if it were not for the family attachments of some of them. Congress provided liberally for the army in this respect during the session just closed, but it will be many months before the additional quarters authorized are ready for use.

TAXES WERE TOO ONEROUS.

An Old Pennsylvanian Who Thought the Government Was Pressing Him Too Hard.

From Pottsville comes a story of an old chap who is proud to describe himself as the original anti-expansionist, says the Philadelphia Times. Soon after the breaking out of hostilities with Spain and the passage of the war revenue act by congress he began to orate against the new taxes as an exhibition of federal tyranny. He would fairly froth at the mouth as he denounced the war tariff and would darkly hint at the possibility of a latter day Patrick Henry and a new awakening of the people to a sense of the injustice. A severe cold laid him low and his doctor, finding him asleep one day and thinking a little blistering would do him good, applied a fine large mustard plaster to the old fellow's back. The burning, stinging bite of the heated mustard awoke the crusty patient, who rolled over in agony for a minute or two, clapped one hand behind him, felt the plaster and frantically tearing it off roared:

"Has it come to this that an old man like me can't even die peaceably in his bed without having the government come along and clap a revenue stamp on him?"

Street Etiquette.

In meeting a lady in a public thoroughfare in America a gentleman always waits for her bow of recognition before lifting his hat or addressing her. In Europe, however, the contrary is the established rule, it being the gentleman's place to bow first, when, if the lady desires not to recognize him, she ignores his salutations, thus giving the cut direct. It is not good form in any place for a lady to stop a gentleman in the street for the purpose of chatting with him, though she may with perfect propriety pause to speak if he take the initiative. Prolonged talks in the street are not, however, considered good form, even between persons of the same sex, the better plan being to walk on slowly until the conversation is concluded.

WASH DRESSES.

They Are Taking the Place of Shirt Waists This Year.

The shirt waist this year has given way to a number of charming wash dresses. These little gowns are made without lining and are trimmed with many tucks and figures of lace. The favorite materials are glace linen, dainty cotton canvas and pique.

Pique is a stiff material and requires to be softened, so the waist should be daintily bloused and trimmed with lace insertion from which the under material has been cut away. Pique and white glace linen dresses are sometimes made on the "frocks and frills" style, with a full box plaited coat not reaching to the waist line in the back, but drooping in two becoming points in front.

Cotton canvases or etamines are very handsome trimmed with coarse ecru lace and made up over white or contrasting shades of lining.

A simple summer gown is shown in the sketch. The material is white glace linen, and it is trimmed with bands of blue and white linen. The blouse opens over a front of tucked batiste. The wide collar is edged with the blue and white linen and fastens with a bow in front. The skirt is prettily trimmed with three gored ruffles headed by a strapping of the blue and white goods.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

FOR COUNTRY WEAR.

Useful Coat and Skirt Suits Are Made of Delaine.

Never was there a better material than delaine for wash blouses and skirts for country wear, because it does not shrink, while nearly all flannels do a little. Delaine is an excellent substitute for flannel, especially in hot weather.

There are some smart little coats and skirts made in delaine, but they are not things to be attempted by the amateur. The coat must be made by a first class tailor or dressmaker. The short sack has taken the place of the bolero and will continue to look charming until cheap sales have made it too common.

Golf skirts are worn longer than ever and now barely escape the ground by an inch or so. As a consequence they are made of lighter materials, and the newest are laid in wide tucks stitched down until within a few inches of the bottom.

The cut shows a bathing suit which is made of deep red brilliantine and trimmed with cream white bands and black braid. The suit opens down the front with pearl buttons.

The jaunty little hat is of plaid silk lined with rubber.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

A KNAVE . . . OF CONSCIENCE.

By Francis Lynde.

CHAPTER XXVIII.

In the matter of the armistice Margery was as good as her word—and a little better. She did not go over to the enemy promptly upon its expiration, as she had said she would. Instead, she gave her father another and a final warning.

"Oh, pshaw! what can you do?" was his rather contemptuous rejoinder when she reminded him that the peace protocol had expired by limitation.

"That is neither here nor there," she returned, coolly. "You will find out what I can do if you drive me to it."

"Bah!" said the man, "to do you've got to know. You don't know anything about my business."

"This is your last word, is it?"

"You can call it anything you like. Go ahead with your pigeon shooting any time you're ready."

Margery bit her lip, gave a little sigh, which might have been of disappointment or of renunciation, and said no more.

But the following morning, after a call upon some newly come guests at the resort hotel, she made it a point to stumble upon Mr. Andrew Galbraith, who was smoking a peaceful cigar on the veranda. The purpose of the stumbling was meant to be very obvious; was obvious, since she made it the occasion of inviting the banker to join the party in the launch for an afternoon on the lake. But after she had given the invitation and had left him, she went back to say:

"Oh, by the way, Mr. Galbraith, I think papa has heard something more about those pine lands—up at Red Lake, you know. They are not worth nearly as much as he thought they were. I think he is trying very hard not to believe it, but—"

She stopped abruptly, not because of any maidenly embarrassment, but because she had the rare faculty of knowing when she had said enough. Mr. Andrew Galbraith's smile was shrewdly inscrutable, and what he said touched upon the pine land matter only as it might be a doubl' entendre.

"I thank you, Miss Margery. I shall be very happy to join your launch party."

From the summer resort hotel on the lake edge, Miss Grierson drove to the telegraph office and sent a brief message to a far-away mining camp in the Rockies. What she wrote on the square of yellow paper was well within the ten-word limit, but it was fraught with consequences to Jasper Grierson out of all proportion to its brevity. "He has broken faith, and you may come," was the message ticked off by the wires into western space. And when she had paid for it, and had seen it shot bullet-wise up the pneumatic tube to the operating room, she sighed again. It was another bridge burned; a bridge of price to a young person whose ambitions were chiefly social.

After this she drove home to don her simplest gown while the man was putting up the high-swung trap and the big English horse, and making ready the pony and the phaeton.

She made a long round in the phaeton, driving herself. It began on the manufacturing side of town, and ended there, and was a house-to-house visitation in the quarter occupied by the cottages of the iron works men. She saw few of the men; but she did better. She saw and talked with the wives of the men. What she said to the women, and what her saying of it was like to accomplish was set forth in a brief conference with Edward Raymer at the iron works office—a conference with which the morning of conferences ended.

She found Raymer alone in the office, and was glad enough for that.

"I don't know what you will think of me for meddling in this," she said, when she had told him what she had been doing.

"You may say very justly that it wasn't any of my business; but I saw, or thought I saw, a chance for a woman to do what all you men couldn't seem to do. So I did my part, and now if you'll do yours, I believe the trouble will stop right where it is."

He evaded the business part of it—[illegible]e praise where praise was due, [illegible]her hand and letting his [illegible]re than his words.

"[illegible]u are the bravest little [illegible]ever heard of," he said, "I haven't the least doubt in the world as to the success of your appeal, and no one but a woman—no one but yourself—could have made it. You may be sure that Griswold and I will do our part."

"If you will, I think we may consider the strike settled." She rose and made as if she would go, but that was only because her courage threatened to fail her while yet the major half of her errand was undone. She fought a brave little fight, and then went back to sit down beside him.

"There is something else," she began, nervously, "and I don't know just how to say it. May I say anything I please?"

"Certainly. The privilege would be yours in any case, but you have just earned it a thousand times over."

"You—you have had some dealings with the bank, haven't you?"

"With your father's bank, you mean? Yes, we keep our account there."

"I didn't mean that; I meant—in the matter of—a loan."

"No, not lately."

She looked the surprise which she did not put into words.

"But you did borrow money, didn't you?"

"Yes."

"And you paid it back?"

"I did; or rather, we did. Mr. Griswold came into the firm just then, and put in enough capital to pay us out of debt."

She was twisting her handkerchief around her fingers, and otherwise displaying a degree of embarrassment which was quite foreign to her, or to Raymer's knowledge of her.

"Would you mind telling me how much it was?"

"Not at all; it was $95,000."

"So much as that? Somehow, I have never thought of Mr. Griswold as a—a capitalist. But it was a good investment for him, wasn't it?"

"It would have been if we had not had this strike."

She paused again, and again assaulted as one who will not be daunted.

"How much has the strike cost you, Mr. Raymer?"

"A great deal more than it would at almost any other time. We had a number of time contracts with forfeitures, and they have lapsed, of course. One hundred thousand dollars wouldn't more than make us whole again."

"So much as that! All of Mr. Griswold's money, and more." So much she said, and then she was silent until her nervousness began to be contagious to Raymer. At length she said: "You know Mr. Griswold pretty well, and love him; and I know him pretty well, too, and—and like him. Did he ever tell you how he came to have so much money?"

"Why, no. In fact, I never thought enough about it to be curious. From the little he has told me about himself I have gathered that he inherited something from his father, and that accounted sufficiently for his means."

In the Field of Athletics and Sports

Some Timely Gossip of the Amateurs and Professionals in Various Lines.

"When I enter college I will not try to play basket ball or throw a baseball like a man," remarked Mary MacLane when upon a recent interview I tried to get her idea of college athletics for women. "It is of much more importance to a woman to be able to hurl her ideas than to make a record pitching at baseball."

Whether or not the Butte literary light cares to try athletics, the fact remains that there are millions of young women who have arrived at the conclusion that a combination of mental and physical exercise while at school is just what makes the happy medium in health. Alice Roosevelt admitted recently she had gained eight pounds by closely following the system of exercise and outdoor sports laid down for her by order of her father, President Roosevelt. Miss Bertha Burgett, a student at Elmira college, has made the astonishing record of throwing a baseball 181 feet. This performance gives the lie direct to the proverbial joke about a woman being unable to throw. When some of the baseball players of the big leagues were asked about the throw of the athletic young woman of Elmira college, one of them remarked: "There are infielders in the game now who would feel very good if they were able to throw a ball with accuracy from a position back of third base, to say nothing of hurling the sphere 60 or even 100 feet further.

"It's a good thing for a woman to be able to throw," remarked Frank Isbell, the crack first baseman of the American league. "I live up in Minnesota, where the tramps during harvest time are pretty thick some years. Once my wife was all alone when a Weary Willie came to the house. He would not be sent away. There was no firearm at hand and Mrs. Isbell simply picked up an old baseball I had used in practicing and hurled it at the obstreperous tramp. He was promised a fusillade if he did not make off. Needless to say the pitching arm of my wife did its work."

Miss Burgett has got her name in the athletic guide for the year by reason of her throw. She says that but for an injured elbow wrenched in putting the 12-pound shot she might throw a ball 200 feet for a record. She makes some of the girl athletes of Vassar and other women's colleges envious, does this modest little ball thrower, but if it will do the envious any good she adds that she thinks throwing came natural to her. She never threw in the usual way that a girl throws, but used the full arm sweep, assisted by the impelling force of the body thrown forward at the moment the ball is released.

FIRST GOLF GAME IN AMERICA

It has been popularly believed for so long that Hobart Chatfield Chatfield-Taylor and Charles B. Macdonald first introduced the royal and ancient game of golf into the great middle west soon after old John Reid first brought the game to the attention of Americans on a lawn near New York city, that followers of the game were much surprised to learn the other day that the honor of giving golf its first presentation in America is due to President Herbert J. Tweedie, of the Belmont Golf club and honorary member of the Royal Liverpool and other golf clubs.

Furthermore, let it be said that while Tweedie was secretary of the first meeting called for the organization of a golf club west of New York—he possesses the original minutes—he had six years before that time laid out a temporary course on the public turf at Jackson park, Chicago, and besides playing a "bit o' gowf" there had done his best to make the Scotch game popular with old-time baseball players. While Tweedie and myself were watching the famous 19-inning Chicago-Pittsburg game he became reminiscent and let out much gossip about those days of old when he was the only man west of the Alleghanies who possessed a set of golf clubs.

"My brother Laurence, who, like myself, had played with father on the famous links at Roylake, where Johnny Ball and other British champions—Hutchings, the recent winner, is a Royal Liverpool man—had played for years, brought over some clubs. I had some that father used many years ago, and one or two of these I still have in my caddy bag. We got acquainted with some of the baseball men of 1887, among them George (Sacarappa) Gore, the famous White Stocking player. Naturally the ball players became interested in my stories of golf and how far it was possible to drive a ball, and one day Gore offered to come out to my little makeshift course on the turf at Jackson park. Strange that so many years ago the big park should have been a public linas, and still not one man in a thousand knew what I was doing down there with those curious looking clubs and the little white ball. Well, we had no flags or greens or cups for the holes, no bunkers—the best we could do to indicate the hole was to stick Gore's bat in the ground just behind the hole.

"I told Gore he would not be able to knock the ball one-half as far as he did a baseball, and that I could send the little sphere farther than he could a baseball with his ashplant. He laughed and executed a jig about me when I addressed the ball to drive. Sure enough, I beat him in distance, just as I thought I would. Then he said he could use the bat to putt with better than I could use the iron. His jigs and screams did not unnerve me. Then Gore said there was nothing to golf that any baseball player could not master in a day.

"But he got fooled. I told him he would have to unlearn a lot of baseball work before he could play good golf, and he never tried to go any further. My experience has been that all baseball players have to forget their chop stroke and pick up the sweeping, follow-through of the golfer. I don't know what has become of Gore, but he and myself are the first golfers who ever played the game west of the Alleghanies, and perhaps in the country."

COLORED ATHLETIC STARS

When the students return to their studies at the next term at Harvard there will be a great welcome extended to two colored men—Marshall and Matthews. There seems to be no probability of a color line ever being drawn at the crimson university. The standing of the colored man in athletics at Cambridge as well as in debating and in getting scholarships is what Booker T. Washington would say "a distinct tribute to brains and ability rather than to pigment cells."

Every follower of college baseball knows that Harvard won from Yale in the climax game of the season in the ninth inning of a great game. Garvan, Yale's cleverest twirler, was serving up benders for the crimson batsmen and the rooters were shouting themselves hoarse. The Yale rooters were making an indescribable din when Rightfielder Matthews' lithe form was seen to go toward the plate. Matthews carried a bat that seemed too small to be of assistance in "soaking" one of Garvan's curves. The bat connected with the ball, however, for a single and the game was won.

The joy of the Harvard men was talked about in the college papers, but it could not have been greater than was that of the hero of the game. He was counted a good man with the stick, but not many believed he would be able to fill the bill in that crucial test. Matthews will be in baseball next year for his alma mater.

Marshall, the other colored lad whom all Harvard men are glad to honor, is likely to be the star quarterback of the crimson eleven again this fall. Every follower of the gridiron game recalls the prowess of this snappy little fellow who gave the signals last fall. He was in the fierce calcium light of criticism and never failed. One of his predecessors was little Capt. Daly, the greatest quarterback Harvard has ever had, who is now a natty-looking cadet at West Point, and who was, by the way, the bright particular star of the army and navy game last year, which President Roosevelt saw and cheered. In the Yale game last year Marshall's work doubtless was called "gilt edged" by thousands of spectators. He surpassed his mates in effectual play. He can handle the ball as Daly did, is sure and can be depended upon for goals from the field—he made one in the Yale game.

SPORTING NEWS

ON THE DIAMOND.

"Dutch" Hardfelder has improved wonderfully behind the bat in the last few weeks. He covers the ground in good shape and has been doing a little more running after fouls. He is also holding Montross in fine style.

The Riversides, of Newark, will be the Scotch Plains team's opponents Saturday afternoon. It is a strong aggregation and is spoken of highly by all baseball men in this section. The game is to be played at the Plains and the grounds can be reached by trolley.

The team work of the Safe Works team continues to improve after every game. This was all the nine lacked at the beginning of the season and it was only after considerable effort that Manager Muir overcame the difficulty. It was plainly evident in last Saturday's game.

Manager Cose's foresight in signing "Teddy" Shortman has been clearly demonstrated in the last few games he has played. He was a little erratic in his first League game but that was all. He is now batting in great form and has played an errorless game right along. Hope rooters now rate him as one of their standbys and he is deserving of it.

Another baseball game of the strictly amateur variety that furnishes plenty of amusement will be that of Wednesday, July 30, when the local police and firemen's teams meet on Hope Common. The former have already showed what they can do on the diamond while friends of the latter wink knowingly and assert with confidence that the fire laddies will extinguish the coppers shining light in the baseball world. The firemen are out for practice regularly and among them can be seen many faces that were familiar on the diamond a few years ago. The line-up of the team has not yet been announced. Captain Overbaugh has decided to leave his men just as they were when they played the Elizabeth bluecoats.

ROD AND GUN.

Elvaine VanName, of East Front street, accompnied by some friends, has returned from a succesful fishing trip to Staten Island.

Frank Remsen, of the New Jersey Motor Vehicle Company, captured a fine bass while fishing in the Millstone river Monday. It weighed five and three quarter pounds.

VIOLENTLY INSANE.

Somerville Colored Woman in Aggressive Mood Was Locked Up by a Policeman.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, July 23—Irene McIntyre, a robust colored woman, became temporarily insane at her home yesterday, and started to annihilate her relations. She smashed a bottle over her aged father's head and all but killed her little brother with a baseball bat. Neighbors rescued him just in time and summoned Officer Holmes. The infuriated woman was taken to jail and will be held to wait the action of the Grand Jury.

Mr. Pierson to Speak.

In the interests of the Westfield Fresh Air Camp, a meeting will be held under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society of the First Baptist church Friday evening. Arthur N. Pierson, of Westfield, will make the address.

"I used DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve for sores, cuts and bruises," says L. B. Johnson, Swift, Tex. "It is the best remedy on the market." Sure cure for piles and skin diseases. Beware of counterfeits. W. G. BESLER PLANS TRIP

PLAINFIELDER PLACES HIS CAR AT DISPOSAL OF PRESIDENT.

Roosevelt to Make Journey From Atlantic Highland to Sea Girt in the "Atlas."

Through the invitation of General Manager W. G. Besler, of the New Jersey Central, President Roosevelt, wife and daughter and Governor Murphy and staff and several prominent officers will be the guests of the company tomorrow in Mr. Besler's private car "Atlas" on the trip from Atlantic Highlands to Sea Girt. At the camp the President and his party will be guests of the New Jersey National Guard.

The Executive's yacht, Mayflower, will leave Oyster Bay for the Atlantic Highlands pier of the Sandy Hook route where the President will be met by Governor Franklin Murphy and staff, who will accompany him to Sea Girt. The party will take a special vestibuled train over the New Jersey Central. The success attending Mr. Besler's effort to have the President and his party go over the New Jersey Central will result in additional praise of the new up-to-date management now in charge of the railroad, and makes Plainfield justly proud of having him as a fellow citizen.

FRESH AIR HOME.

Marked Improvement in Condition of Sick Children—The Camp Connected by Telephone.

Miss Sara Curry's little charges at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home are thriving on fresh country air and there is a marked improvement in the condition of the children who have been sick. The little fellow scarcely three years old who has been ill with pneumonia is very much better today.

Tomorrow evening there will be a gospel meeting at the Home and George A. Chapman, of Stelle avenue, will conduct the service. A cordial invitation is extended to all persons interested in the work of the camp. The Home is now connected by telephone the number being 2132, and Miss Curry or those assisting her can be reached in that way. Dr. Curry visits the Home every day and renders such medical aid as is needed.

PRIZE QUOIT PITCHING.

Kirch and Hummer Lead in Contest Being Held by Freedom Castle, Which is Attracting Attention.

John Kirch and Louis M. Hummer are now in the lead with 833 per cent. in the quoit pitching contest being held under the auspices of Freedom Castle, No. 42, Knights of the Golden Eagle. The contest was continued last evening with increasing interest.

The standing at present is as follows: Kirch and Hummer, 833 per cent.; Niles and Hummer, 778; Kinney and Hoagland, 693; Bush and Runyon, 663; Vail and Kohler, 600; Cranston and Cranston, 573; Day and Mnrtin, 539; Randolph and Bowman, 455; Allen and Lucky, 455; Carver and Forestell, 250; Buchanan and Vail, 250; Currin and Voorhees, 167; Vardon and Hummer, 000; Fisher and Clark, 000; and Bailey and Rosenstheil, 000.

Tax Rate the Same.

No change in the city tax rate, is the decision announced by all those in a position to predict the probable action of the city authorities. The prospect of the Council making a reduction in the rate as fixed by the County Board of Assessors is regarded now as certain. There is every reason to believe that the tax rate will be $2.50, or possibly lower.

Held Street Parade.

Members of the Orange Field Club to the number of forty had a jolly time last evening parading about the streets of the borough and city. The affair was greatly enjoyed by the young men who frequently gave the club yell. Music for the occasion was obtained through the use of tin horns and other crude musical instruments.

Degrees Conferred on Five.

The members of Anchor Lodge, No. 149, F. and A. M., held their last communication last evening until fall. The Master Mason degree was conferred on five candidates. District Deputy Grand Master Wolfskiel, of Elizabeth, was present and gave an interesting talk. At the close of business a banquet was served.

To Cover Expenses.

Atlantic City is the objective point of the members of Warren Engine Company, who are arranging to cover the expenses of the trip by chancing off boxes of cigars. The first raffle closed last night and will be decided this evening, while another box of perfectos was put on the lottery market this morning.

"I Never Knew Painkiller to Fail before, what can the matter be? Where is the bottle? There, I thought so; it is not Perry Davis' Painkiller at all, but something the druggist must have made himself and I did not notice it; I have used Painkiller for years for diarrhoea, cramps and stomach aches and it never failed."

SURPRISED MISS KELLY.

Unbidden, But Welcome Guests Mark the Occasion of Her Fourteenth Birthday.

A happy surprise party was given to Miss Katharine Kelly, of New street, last evening in honor of her fourteenth birthday anniversary. When the crowd of young folks called at her home it was some minutes before she could realize the situation. The time was passed in playing games, and as the evening was a pleasant one, the event took the form of a lawn party. Miss Kelly received a number of presents as reminders of the occasion. The surprise was arranged by the Misses May Hogan, Alice Day and Etta Trembly.

Those present included the Misses May and Flora Hogan, Alice Day, Etta and Gretta Trembly, Nellie Casey, Helen Lappin, Helen Galbraith, Sarah and Maggie Casey, Mamie Huntington and Arthur and George Linke, John Casey, "Teddy" Howe, Lloyd Lewis, John Birmingham, William Hogan, Joseph Sullivan, Frank Casey, Eddie Harding and John Hogan.

CRUISE OF NAVAL RESERVES

NEW JERSEY'S BATTALION WILL START ON CRUISE SATURDAY.

Commander Irving Has Issued Orders—Must Take One Week—Second Week Optional.

Commander Irving, of the Jersey Naval Reserves, has issued the following order with reference to the two weeks' cruise on the Portsmouth: Up Long Island Sound. As published in General Orders No. 13 of this year, the annual cruise of this command will begin Saturday, July 26. The Battalion will report on board not later than 1 o'clock p. m. of that day, and the ship will leave the wharf at 2:30 p. m. The men will bring with them on the cruise the following articles: Two white working suits, clean; one watch cap; one blue cap; one blue shirt and trousers; one sweater; black shoes; knife and lanyard; one neckerchief; one pea coat; one pair leggins; extra underclothing; toilet articles; towels and soap. Blacking and brushes will be provided by each division. In addition to service and white duck uniforms, officers will provide themselves with bed and table linen, toilet accessories, etc.

The mail and telegraphic address of the ship will be bulletined later. This cruise is an ordered tour of duty, the week beginning July 26 is compulsory, and in order to excuse, a surgeon's certificate of disability or affidavit of employer that a man's services are indispensible will be required.

The second week of the cruise is voluntary, but the appropriation for this year is nearly, if not quite, sufficient to pay the men for the entire two weeks. Transportation to their homes will be furnished those men who are unable to make the entire cruise.

WILD DRIVE.

Auto Steered by Drunken Chaffeuer Smashes Into Curb at Fourth Street and Park Avenue.

A gasoline auto bearing five men dashed around the corner of Park avenue and East Fourth street, at a high rate of speed at 2 o'clock, this morning. The chaffeuer seemed to be unable to control the machine and it collided with the curb, throwing one of the men out on his head. Several bystanders who went to his assistance found he and the other members of the party in the last degree of intoxication. The auto was not damaged and the chaffeuer got away safely after waking all the residents in the vicinity with his howls to the other occupants to give him room. When last seen the machine was going up Park avenue.

Endorsed by Newspapermen.

Unanimous endorsement of the prospective candidacy of City Judge Runyon for State Senator was recorded last evening at a meeting of the Pad and Pencil Club, the local association of news writers. According to a set of resolutions adopted, the Judge is considered the "only suitable and desirable candidate" for the office.

Taken Ill on Street.

Archibald Hacquer, of Central avenue, was taken suddenly ill on the street this morning, and is now confined to bed with a serious attack of dyspepsia, and is threatened with nervous prostration.

Fun Cost Money.

A $5 fine was imposed upon Harrison Randolph in the city court, this morning, after he had been found guilty of disorderly conduct. He was arrested, last evening, by Patrolman Flynn.

Fined for Drunkenness.

Michael Readington, of South Plainfield, was picked up by the police last night for being drunk. He pleaded guilty in the city court, this morning, but sentence was suspended.

PRESIDENT AT CAMP MURPHY

President Roosevelt Reached State Camp at Sea Girt This Noon—Royally Received.

PLANS FOR THE DAY.

How Company K Has Shared in the Preparations for the President's Reception — Little Incidents in Camp Life Among the Plainfield Citizen Solders Now in Sea Girt.

(By a Special Correspondent.)

Camp Murphy, Sea Girt, July 24—Thousand of people were assembled at the depot here today when President Roosevelt and his party arrived in the New Jersey Central's train for the purpose of reviewing the Second Regiment. The camp presents a busier aspect than ever before in its history and every street is swarming with visitors. Three fine horses were received from New York and from these the President will select a mount to take him about the grounds.

The party was at once escorted to the "Little Whitehouse," Governor Murphy's residence, where they will prepare for the afternoon's exercises. According to plans the President will review the troops from a stand erected near the parade ground, after which he will address the soldiers. He will then be escorted about the grounds and Governor Murphy has hopes of inducing him to try his skill at the rifle range.

The party will start for Oyster Bay at 3 o'clock. The officer of the day is Captain Hall, of Company I. Lieutenant Tindell, of Company H, will act as senior officer and Lieutenant Thompson, of Company G, junior officer. Governor Murphy, yesterday, increased his staff by several officers of the Third Regiment who will act as aids at his cottage while the President is reviewing the troops. In addition to the Presidential party the stand will contain Governor Murphy, Senator John Kean and Senator John F. Dryden.

With Company K matters are very favorable for a magnificent showing as an officer well up in the ranks was heard to remark, yesterday: "Company K is the best drilled of any in the regiment." The boys felt proud when they heard it but it is what they deserve as everyone has been holding up under the severe preliminary work. No one has succumbed yet although Sergeant Peterson, Privates Anderson and Glaentzer have been a little under the weather. Private Stiglitz was stung by a bee yesterday and his hand became badly swollen. It was dressed in the hospital tent and no serious results are expected.

The heavy drill work has kept everybody in the tents at night and there is but very little prowling around. A mystery of yesterday, which remains so still, was the discovery of Private Conover strapped to his cot. Nobody has been found who can tell how it came about. In the company street an occasional postponed initiation can be witnessed taking place hurriedly. Recently a private was noted making pyramids of blank cartridges, another had the pump degree and one unfortunate had to spell his name backward and forward saying "ping-pong" between every letter.

Next to the Captain, Quartermaster Pope has the most arduous duties among the K men, issuing blankets, lights, cups, basins, leggins, guns, ice water and milk. He can also defend the dignity of any officer belonging to Company K. Speaking of water, a wagon left by mistake at one of the tents, yesterday, a barrel containing Watchung spring water.

The mail carrier is gladly welcomed each day and it is said Private Sampson receives more mail than any one on the street with the exception of Col (?) Dorgan and Private Messler.

Much anxiety was felt, yesterday, regarding the welfare of Sergeant Clark, who did not return when expected but to everybody's joy he came into camp safely last evening. Those who started on twenty-five hour furloughs yesterday were Privates Galloway, C. B. Pope and Charles Titsworth. No further furloughs will be approved except under the most urgent circumstances.

The boys have been entertained in the early evening with concerts by the band belonging to the regiment

RED LIGHT SIGNALS.

Improvement to be Made at the Fire Alarm Boxes Throughout City.

The Councilmanic fire committee, through the influence of Chief Doane, has decided to place a red light at every fire-alarm box in the city, thirty-eight in all. In some cases lights will be moved to the boxes and in other cases the boxes will be moved to the nearest light.

Chief Doane has advocated this improvement for some time past. It is said to be an advantage to persons at night in case of fire. Chief Doane made the rounds of the city yesterday with Superintendent McClurg, of the electric light company, arranging for the location of the lights and boxes.

FOUR SCORE YEARS AND ONE

OLD RESIDENT OF SCOTCH PLAINS DIED AT BRIDGETON, N. J.

Mrs. Cornelia Ritchie, Who Lived at Scotch Plains for Forty Years, Passed Away on Tuesday.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Scotch Plains, July 24—Mrs. Cornelia Ritchie, widow of the late James E. Ritchie, one of Scotch Plains oldest and most respected residents, passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Sarah Fithian, at Bridgeton, this State, Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

Mrs. Ritchie was a resident of Scotch Plains for the past forty years, moving here with her husband, who at that time was a well-known iron and steel manufacturer from Brooklyn and settling on Westfield avenue near what is now called Graceland. A number of years ago Mr. and Mrs. Ritchie moved from here into the village and during these late years the deceased has been an active worker in many of the unknown charities of the village. At the death of her husband, nearly five years ago, she gave up housekeeping and boarded, spending part of her time each year with her daughter at whose home she died, but she always loved the village in which she had passed some of her happiest years and always expressed a desire to end her days here. When she left for an extended visit at Bridgeton during October of last year, her health was not of the best but her many friends hoped the change would benefit her and that she would be able to return again in good health. But she has gradually been declining in health owing to trouble with her heart which was aggravated by her advancing years, being eighty-one years of age. While her death was no surprise to her friends, still it was received with a shock for the deceased had become endeared to all in the village for her many kind deeds.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 5 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Fithian. Interment will be made tomorrow afternoon in the family plot in the North Plainfield cemetery.

The body will arrive in Plainfield about 1:30 o'clock this afternoon. Any friends who desire to are invited to attend the services at the grave. Mrs. Ritchie is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Fithian.

CASE CONTINUED.

Vice Chancellor Stevens Will Hear About the Troubles of the Watchung Knitting Mills.

Codington & Swackhamer, counsel for Henry Drosin, the complainant in the troubles of the Watchung Knitting Mills, it will be remembered, appeared before Vice Chancellor Emery July 10 and obtained a rule to show cause why a receiver should not be appointed for the Watchung Knitting Mills and the defendants, Leo J. Studley and Marks N. Rosenthal, be adjudged in contempt of court, this being the second attempt made to obtain a receiver.

The matter came up Tuesday before Vice Chancellor Emery at Newark. After hearing the argument, the Vice Chancellor refused to make an order but continued the case till August 5 before Vice Chancellor Stevens, before whom the first application was made. The defendants were represented by W. S. Angleman.

Further Honors for Mr. Saltzman.

A dispatch from Berlin, printed in this morning's New York papers, announces the fact that Emperor William has bestowed upon Auguste Saltzman, of this city, the Red Cross medal. Mr. Saltzman is at present in Germany visiting friends and represents the United States at the international firemen's convention.

Grass or Upland Plover Dove.
Geese, Duck, Brant and Web-footed Wild Fowl.
Brook Trout							JULY 16
Black Bass, Pike Perch, and White Bass						JUNE 15
Pike and Pickerel.

While Plainfield is not credited with having many lovers of forest and stream who love to roam with rod and gun, there are scores of persons who will be interested in the revised game laws which have just been issued. There are a number of important changes that all sportsmen should make a note of as penalties for infractions in this respect have a tendency to rise instead of being lowered. That all may become acquainted with the revised laws, The Daily Press prints herewith a chart showing the open and closed seasons. All who intend hunting or fishing in this state at any season of the year should keep it for reference. In addition the following facts should not be forgotten:

To take or to attempt to take any game except by the use of guns held at arm's length. Fine, $20.

To take or to attempt to take any fish in any manner excepting with hook and line, excepting taking minnows for bait with a seine not more than thirty feet long, excepting in ponds and lakes having an area of over one hundred acres where seines of fifty feet in length are permitted for bait-fishing; taking eels with baskets or weirs between the fifteenth of September and the first of November, and taking eels with wicker baskets anchored on the bottoms of streams and ponds. Fine, $20.

To hunt or kill deer at any time. Fine, $100.

To have trapped game in possession. Fine, $20.

To hunt on Sunday or carry firearms in the fields or woods or on the waters on Sunday, or to hunt for quail, partridge, pheasant, woodcock or rabbits when there is tracking snow on the ground. Fine, $20.

To pollute streams or use medicated bait or explosives of any kind for taking fish. Fine, $100.

To draw off waters to take fish. Fine, $100.

To use set lines in waters inhabited by pickerel, pike, pike-perch, bass or trout, or to use any contrivance in fishing having more than three hooks or one burr of three hooks. Fine, $20.

To permit the erection or maintenance of unlawful contrivances for taking game and fish; applies to owners and tenants of lands. Fine, $20.

To use carp for bait or in any other way to put carp in fresh water. Fine, $20.

To capture, kill, injure or to have in possession insectivorous and certain other birds and to rob birdsnests. Fine, $20.

To hunt geese, ducks or any web-footed wild fowl, except between one hour before sunrise and one hour after sunset; to hunt any kind of wild water fowl from boats not propelled by oars or paddles. Fine, $20.

To catch or keep trout less than six inches in length, black or white bass less than nine inches in length, or pike-perch less than twelve inches in length. Fine, $20.

To take trout, bass, pike, pickerel and pike-perch between 9 p. m. and daylight. Fine, $20.

To permit hounds to run at large during the close season for rabbits. Fine, $20.

To remove quail, grouse, woodcock, squirrel, hare, English and ring neck pheasants from the State. Fine, $20. To kill more than thirty rail, marsh hens or mud hens in one day. Fine, $20.

Farmers and fruitgrowers have the right to trap rabbits under certain restrictions.

Dealers have thirty days after the close of the season in which to dispose of game.

To the above may be added the following prohibitions, which while not the subject of legal enactment, are recognized as binding laws of behavior by all reputable lovers of the pursuit of game and fish:—

Never violate the letter or spirit of the game laws.

Never take more fish or game than you have convenient use for.

Never be insolent or impolite to a landowner who orders you off his premises; for although he may not own the game or fish you are after he has the right to exclusive possession of his property.

Never fail to destroy a net or trap when you find one set.

Never shoot at a game bird except on the wing.

Never kill the last quail in a covey; leave some to breed next year.

Never forget that game laws are intended to improve and increase sport, and not to prevent or restrict it.

HOW ELIZABETH VIEWS RUNYON FOR SENATOR

Elizabeth Journal Says Nice Things, But Thinks Senator Cross Ought to be Returned.

GIVES REASONS WHY.

SAYS CANDIDATE OUGHT TO FIRST SERVE TERM IN ASSEMBLY.

Elizabeth Journal Inclined to Favor a Plainfield Candidacy for Sheriff—Thinks Runyon Too Young and Inexperienced for Senator.

It is not to be expected that Elizabeth Republicans will agree to the Senatorial candidacy of City Judge Runyon without a contest. With such a popular man as Senator Joseph Cross in the race, Elizabeth will very naturally do her best to defeat the Plainfielder. It is interesting to note what the Republican organ of the county seat has to say on the subject.

While the Elizabeth Journal has attempted to keep out of the factional war which has existed in the Republican ranks of Union county, it is generally considered to be a strong supporter of Senator Kean. Something of the feeling of the Kean faction may therefor be expected to shine forth in its columns occasionally. Of course, there is nothing that the Elizabeth editor can truthfully say against the Plainfield candidate. The only argument it presents is that the Elizabeth man is better fitted for the place on account of greater age, more mature judgment and more experience.

The Journal devoted considerable space in its editorial column yesterday to City Judge Runyon's candidacy. It will be read with interest by Plainfielders as it practically outlines Elizabeth's position. It is as follows:

"As long ago as June 21, the date of the Belvidere congressional convention, Judge Runyon was spoken of as a possible candidate for senator, provided that Mr. Fisk declined a nomination. Judge Runyon, it will be remembered, made the nominating speech for Hon. Charles N. Fowler. At that time it was suggested by Plainfield delegates that Judge Runyon would make a good candidate for member of the assembly if Mr. Newcorn should, for any reason, withdraw from the field. Whether Mr. Newcorn will or will not withdraw has not yet been authoritatively stated.

"Judge Runyon is a rising young man, and he may be senatorial timber, but it has been the rule in Union county to first try a man in the assembly, and, if he is of the right calibre, to honor him still further by sending him to the senate. With the heartiest admiration for Judge Runyon's ability and popularity, it is hardly to be expected that such an experienced and high-minded statesman as Senator Cross would be exchanged by the Republicans of Union county for a young and inexperienced man of even such promise as Judge Runyon.

"It may be stated as a fact in the present Republican situation in this county, that whatever opposition there is to Senator Cross, or, rather, that whatever prominence is given to any other man as a candidtae for senator originates from one of two sources. In the first place, those who oppose Senator Kean oppose Senator Cross. In the next place every candidate for sheriff—and his friends—would like to see the senatorial candidate come from Plainfield, since it is manifest that the senator, the surrogate and the sheriff will not be asked for nor given to Elizabeth. If Plainfield should name the senatorial candidate, then at least two men in Elizabeth would have their chances for the shrievalty nomination materially improved. On the other hand, if Plainfield came forward with a candidate for sheriff, neither the shrievalty candidates in Elizabeth nor those in Cranford, Summit or Westfield would have all the strength they so much desire.

"This seems to be the chief exciting cause of the naming of Plainfield men in the place of Senator Cross. Mr. Ackerman was among the first named, and declined to run as against Senator Cross. Mr. Fisk was also named, and he stated, from the first, that he would not run against Senator Cross. And now the situation is enlivened by the tuneful presence in the arena of Judge Runyon."

MATTOX A SHARPSHOOTER.

Couldn't Shoot Dog So Ended Its Career in a Novel Manner.

All the medals for marksmanship have been unanimously awarded by the other members of the police force to Roundsman Mattox for his latest performance with the pistol. Touching the matter of the dog killed on Westervelt avenue Monday morning, one of the other officers claims that Mattox and his uknown "friend" unavailingly emptied their revolvers into the pipe where the dog had taken refuge, that they then hurled stones through the aperture with no better success and that it was finally necessary to fill the pipe with water and thus end the canine's life by drowning. Whether this tale is prompted by jealousy or not is an undecided question.

A Modern Convenience.

A coal famine has not terrors for the householder who uses a gas range, and there is no excuse for a person being without one of these latest and modern conveniences. Besides being economical it is a pleasure to use a gas range. They are capable of doing anything that the ordinary range can do and they can be made ready for use at a minute's notice. The Plainfield Gas and Electric Light Company, at 110 East Front street, carries a complete line of the standard make gas range and if you have one of them in your home you will be comfortable, contented and happy.

SUIT FOR DAMAGES.

Westfield People Bring Action Against Trolley Co.

Through Attorney John P. Owens, of this city, Mary L. Allen and Charles P. Allen have entered suit against the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Street Railway for $10,000.

Mrs. Allen, it is alleged, was severely injured by the sudden starting of a car belonging to the company which she was about to board. She was under the care of a physician for some time, it is declared, and has not yet entirely recovered. The case will be heard before the Supreme court in October. Both the complainants reside in Westfield.

A FINE DAY FOR EXCURSION

FOURTEEN CARS CARRIED CROWD TO TWIN CITIES BY THE SEA.

The Joint Excursion This Morning Started With Prospect of Fine Day in Every Particular.

The hearts of both young and old were gladdened this morning when the day opened favorably for the second excursion from Plainfield to Asbury Park. Late last evening those watching weather indications were a little fearful lest it might rain today and the fact that many Baptists were expecting to join the large crowd in the trip to the shore gave some people a chance to think that if it did rain, the cause would be apparent. Happily, the Baptists did not bring rain. Half a hour prior to the departure of the train hundreds of people assembled at the railroad station ready to spend a day by the Atlantic ocean.

The excursion was given under the auspices of the Sunday schools of the First Presbyterian, Congregational and Park Avenue Baptist churches, of Plainfield, and the Presbyterian church, of Dunellen. Every detail in the arrangements worked perfectly. Fourteen cars composing one train were needed to take the crowd to the shore and every one of the thirteen passenger coaches was well filled. The fourteenth car was a baggage car. The committee in charge predicted a most successful affair, financially and otherwise. The Dunellen people occupied three cars, while the other coaches were taken by Plainfielders.

The train was in charge of that popular and genial conductor, Frank Webster, of North Plainfield, and with his efficient corps of brakemen, every attention was given to the excursionists toward making them contented and comfortable.

It was a few minutes past 8 o'clock when the train left Plainfield. So far as could be learned only three people were left behind. The train will leave Asbury Park this evening at 6:25, arriving home shortly after 8 o'clock.

SAVED HIMSELF.

But Harold Roorbach's Bicycle Was Trampled on by a Horse.

A spirited horse, attached to a trap and driven by a stylisbly dressed yonng woman, crashed into a bicycle ridden by Harold Roorbach, of Metuchen, at the corner of Second street and Park avenue, last evening. Roorbach leaped from the saddle just in time to escape being trampled upon, but his wheel went beneath the horse's feet and was partially wrecked. He absolved the young woman from all blame and she immediately drove on without divulging her name.

A North Plainfield Concern.

Among the concerns incorporated at Trenton recently is the Lincoln Chamois and Leather Company, of North Plainfield, capital stock, $50,000. The incorporators are Wm. Brown, George A. Trust and Charles P. Sebring. The company is to deal in hides, skins and leather of all kinds. Another concern incorporated is the Lewis Flexible Collar Button Company, of Jersey City, capital stock $100,000. Arthur VanCleef, of East Millstone, is named as one of the incorporators.

Wedding and Reception.

After these happy events is the question of taking care of the presents, costly and precious. At this time the most convenient arrangement that can be made, either temporarily or permanently, is a safe deposit vault. The City National Bank is equipped with three modern storage vaults, and for a small expense will take good care of all articles left there.

LEGAL CONTEST FOR THE RIGHT OF WAY

Mrs. J. H. McVey Claims That Plainfield Cab Company is Now Obstructing It.

THE SUIT IN CHANCERY.

IS BROUGHT AGAINST MRS. JULIA PECK AND HER TENANTS.

Mrs. McVey Claims She Purchased Right of Way When She Bought Property, and That Cab Company Has Located Office in It.

What gives promise of being one of the most interesting legal cases of recent date was commenced yesterday, when upon the application of W. S. Angleman, as counsel for Mrs. J. H. McVey, Vice Chancellor Emery at Newark, granted a rule to show cause why an injunction should not be granted restraining Mrs. Julia Peck, owner of certain property on North avenue, and the Plainfield Cab Company, lessees, from obstructing the way and interfering with Mrs. McVey's rights in the right of way. The rule is returnable August 5.

The matter in question has to do with the property owned by Mrs. McVey on North avenue and the property adjoining, which is owned by Mrs. Julia Peck, of New York, and leased by the Plainfield Cab Company. When the McVeys purchased the property now held by them, which was several years ago, they also secured, it is claimed, the right of way from North avenue through the building to the rear where a kitchen is located. According to the terms of the lease, the McVeys claim they are privileged to use this driveway day or night without hindrance and the lease calls for a width of twelve feet, which takes in a portion of the office and harness room used by the Plainfield Cab Company.

It is claimed that the cab company has been obstructing this driveway in violation of the lease and it is to remove these obstructions and establish a free and clear right of way that a bill has been filed in chancery. When Mrs. Peck purchased her property, it is said the privilege to the right of way was excepted.

In connection with this legal matter naother case is to follow between Mrs. McVey and Mrs. Julia Peck. The former took a lease on the part of the building formerly occupied by A. B. Rosell as a cafe. The lease was to be from 1903, but possession was to be taken as much sooner as Mrs. Peck was able to give it, at which time the payment of rent was to commence. Possession was tendered in May last, but Mrs. McVey refused to accept for reasons best known to herself and her counsel, W. S. Angleman. This has resulted in a suit which is brought by Bird & Runyon for Mrs. Peck, against Mrs. McVey. This case will be brought up later.

DISCUSSED HOME MISSIONS.

Meeting of Members of Monroe Avenue Church Yesterday.

Charitably disposed women met at the home of Mrs. Wenzel, of South Second street, yesterday afternoon, to discuss home mission work at a session of the society having such interests in hand among the members of the Monroe Avenue church. The business was disposed of quickly, as the meeting was called more for the purpose of sociability than for routine work, and those present then spent two enjoyable hours in conversation and partaking refreshments served under the auspices of the women of the society.

Hale and Hearty.

P. M. Demarest, one of North Plainfield's well-known citizens for many years, celebrated the seventy-eighth anniversary of his birthday yesterday. The day was spent quietly at the home of his son-in-law, N. P. Drake, 165 Somerset street. Mr. Demarest is hale and hearty and enjoys excellent health. His friends accepted the opportunity to wish him many happy returns of the day.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

July 1 the United States Bureau of Forestry began its field season of 1902, and its work is now being carried on in 20 States. The Bureau has appointed 90 new student assistants for this season, the entire field force numbering 165 men. The work includes, among other things, the gathering of the necessary data for several working plans, a study of a number of well known commercial trees, the examination of farm woodlots, and a study of the treeless areas with a view of devising plans for forest extension.

The Bureau of Forestry begins the new fiscal year of 1902-1903, with an appropriation of $201,860. The sum for the year just ended was $185,440. This increased appropriation shows how this work commends itself to Congress, and it makes possible a much wider range of work. The present season's work is by far the most varied and interesting yet undertaken by the Bureau of Forestry, and is being carried on in Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, New York, New Jersey, Maryland, Tennessee, Kentucky, West Virginia, North Carolina, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, Oklahoma, South Dakota, Montana, Arizona and California. Later in the season it will be extended to still other States and Territories.

LITERARY.

There are several really good fiction stories in the August Success, chief among them being "The Little Bear Who Grew," by Henry Wallace Phillips, the author of the popular "Red Saunders." It is a humorous tale with plenty of snap and plot. John Oxenham's "A Hero in Spite of Himself," is a stirring tale of missionary life in the South Sea Islands. Miss Zona Gale, the poetess, has made the homely girl a heroine. In "The Wallflower," she tells of the disappointments, meditations, and heartbreakings of a plain-featured but cultured girl, at a ball where she was obliged to sit and watch others dance. This is one of the cleverest stories of the year. Professor Max Nordau has been added to The Success list of contributors, and the August number contains the first installment of his new article, "The Stimulus of Ambition." The new industry for American young men, scientific forestry, is described in close detail by Frank Hix Fayant. There is a charming natural history sketch, entitled "The Struggles of a Whitefish." by that clever disciple of the woods, William Davenport Hulbert. Lyman J. Gage, the ex-secretary of the United States treasury, writes interestly of his own boyhood—a tale of struggle and perseverance. The editorials in this number are by Baron Eiichi Shibusawa, Edwin Markham and Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

Plainfield is a hotbed for golfers and although the town supports two golf clubs, the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club and the Park Golf Club, there is no lack of playing on either course during the week and especially on Saturdays. Poisoning the System.

It is through the bowels that the body is cleansed of impurities. Constipation keeps these poisons in the system, causing headache, dullness and melancholia at first, then unsightly eruptions and finally serious illness unless a remedy is applied. DeWitt's Little Early Risers prevent this trouble by stimulating the liver and promote easy, healthy action of the bowels. These little pills do not act violently but by strengthening the bowels enable them to perform their own work. Never gripe or distress. L. W. Randolph.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE DOING

Mother Always Keeps It Handy.

"My mother suffered a long time from distressing pains and general ill health due primarily to indigestion," says L. W. Spalding, Verona, Mo. "Two years ago I got her to try Kodol. She grew better at once and now, at the age of seventy-six, eats any thing she wants, remarking that she fears no bad effects as she has her bottle of Kodol handy." Don't waste time doctoring symptoms. Go after the cause. If your stomach is sound your health will be good. Kodol rests the stomach and strengthens the body by digesting your food. It is nature's own tonic. L. W. Randolph.

PHILIPPINE FIGHTING.

Engagements During the Insurrection Given at 2,651.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Major James Parker of the adjutant general's office has compiled some interesting statistics regarding the insurrection in the Philippines. There were 2,651 engagements with the enemy, more or less serious, between Feb. 4, 1899, the date of the battle of Manila, and April 30, 1902, fixed as the virtual downfall of the insurrection. The larger proportion of these fights were attacks from ambush on the American troops or skirmishes in which only small detachments took part.

"In almost no case in these engagements," says Major Parker, "did American troops surrender or have to retreat or have to leave their dead and wounded in the possession of the enemy, notwithstanding that in many cases the percentage of loss was high."

The number of troops that have been transported to the Philippines and have arrived there up to July 16 last was 4,135 officers and 123,903 men. The average strength, taken from monthly returns for the period of the insurrection, was approximately 40,000.

Major Parker summarizes the casualties of the American army as follows:

Killed or died of wounds, 69 officers and 936 enlisted men; deaths from disease, 47 officers and 2,535 enlisted men; deaths from accidents, 6 officers and 125 enlisted men; drowned, 6 officers and 257 enlisted men; suicide, 10 officers and 72 enlisted men; murdered, 1 officer and 91 enlisted men; total deaths, 139 officers and 4,016 enlisted men; wounded, 190 officers and 2,707 enlisted men, a total of 2,897; killed and wounded and deaths other than by disease, 282 officers and 4,188 enlisted men; total, 4,470.

A large proportion of the deaths by drowning occurred in action or in active operations against the enemy. Major Parker makes the percentage of killed and wounded to the strength of the army 9.7.

CAUSE OF BOER WAR.

Rudeness of Kruger to Rhodes Led to the Long Struggle.

BERLIN, July 24.—Dr. B. O. Kellner, mayor of Bloemfontein, has arrived in Berlin. In the course of a conversation Kellner said he attributed the war in South Africa to a trivial incident—namely, the impoliteness shown by President Kruger to the late Cecil Rhodes during their last interview, which took place on the street in Pretoria, where Mr. Rhodes had arranged to carry on negotiations with Mr. Kruger.

Before Mr. Rhodes could state fully the object of his visit, according to Mr. Kellner, Mr. Kruger, who had a Bible under his arm, growled, "I must go to church," and broke off the interview abruptly, leaving Mr. Rhodes standing in the street.

That was the last time Mr. Rhodes saw President Kruger, and he left Pretoria convinced that the old man was impracticable.

Trotter Dropped Dead on the Track.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 24.—The sensation of the harness meeting in the central New York circuit was the dropping dead near the quarter pole in the fourth heat of the 2:10 pace of Tom Calhoun, who had already won a heat in the race. His death was due to valvular disease of the heart, caused by a sudden rush of blood into that organ.

The Cuban Loan.

HAVANA, July 24.—The matter of a loan still absorbs the attention of both houses of congress. The lower house takes the position that it will not vote the small loan of $4,000,000 which has been proposed except as a part of a large loan of $35,000,000 to be used in paying the Cuban army.

Weather Probabilities.

Partly cloudy; light variable winds, mostly south.

WITH THE PRESIDENT

Heads of Two Universities at Oyster Bay.

A LONG TALK WITH SCHURMAN.

Roosevelt's Autumn Tour Has No Political Significance—Is Displeased With False Stories — Moody and Platt Are Expected.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 24.—The president entertained at luncheon yesterday President Jacob Gould Schurman of Cornell university, President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia university and Captain F. Norton Goddard of New York, who long has been identified with the civic reform in New York. President Schurman is passing the summer at his country home near here, and President Butler came to spend the day with the president at Sagamore Hill.

During the afternoon the president and Professor Schurman had a talk about the Philippine situation, going over the subject with some care. President Schurman on the 4th of August is to deliver an address at Chautauqua in which he will deal pretty fully with the Philippine situation as he views it. It is understood that he regards it as likely that the subject will resolve itself into a condition entirely satisfactory to the Filipinos in a comparatively brief time.

President Butler remained the guest of the president until this morning, but did not accompany the presidential party to Sea Girt.

George Edward Graham of Albany was also one of the guests of the president at luncheon. He returned to his home last night.

President Roosevelt is displeased somewhat by a misinterpretation of his motives in accepting invitations to meet and speak to the people of several sections of the country this fall. It has been announced in some places that Mr. Roosevelt is to make a campaign, particularly in New York, with the idea of offsetting any aggressive opposition to his political views. It can be said that he has no such intention. Such invitations to speak as he has accepted have come from people representing all shades of political opinion. While his addresses will be along Republican lines so far as they may relate to politics, they will not be political speeches.

William H. Moody, secretary of the navy, is expected to arrive at Sagamore Hill tomorrow, perhaps in the early evening, on either the Dolphin or the naval tug from the Brooklyn navy yard. He will remain with the president probably until Monday morning.

Senator Platt of New York will visit the president, probably on the 30th inst., coming to Oyster Bay in accordance with previous arrangements on the yacht Mayflower.

Disastrous Hailstorm.

CLINTON, Ia., July 24.—One of the most disastrous rain and hail storms that ever visited this section has swept over the southern part of Whiteside and the northern portion of Bureau counties, Ill., just east of this city. The banks of the Hennepin canal were overflowed, the water carrying away two residences. Hundreds of horses, cattle and hogs were drowned. Fields of corn and small grains were totally destroyed by hail. Although the loss cannot be accurately estimated it probably will amount to hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Mrs. Sanger Ill.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Adjutant General Corbin has received a telegram from Assistant Secretary of War Sanger, who will be acting secretary during the absence of Secretary Root, saying that he expected to return to Washington yesterday, but had been delayed on account of the serious illness of Mrs. Sanger. She underwent an operation for appendicitis. Colonel and Mrs. Sanger are in New York, and a later telegram said the operation was entirely successful.

Tracy Well and Rested.

TACOMA, Wash., July 24.—Harry Tracy, the outlaw, appeared at Miller's logging camp, four miles from Kansaskat, Tuesday and ate dinner. Tracy is not wounded and looks fresh and rested. He is wearing a derby hat, but he had a slouch hat in his pocket. He still has his rifle and two revolvers and has a good supply of ammunition.

Indian Boy's Life Saved.

GUTHRIE, Okla., July 24.—Governor Ferguson has commuted the death sentence of the Indian boy, Cephus Bruner, aged fourteen, to life imprisonment. He was to have been hanged at Tecumseh next Friday for the murder of Martin West, aged twelve, near Violet Springs, Okla., last December.

Troops and Strikers Fight.

LONDON, July 24.—The Vienna correspondent of the Daily Express telegraphs that the agrarian strike in the province of Galicia resulted in a conflict between troops and strikers at Czortkow, in which, it is reported, twenty-three persons were killed and forty wounded.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

The war department reported good progress on the new army post building in Manila.

Another $50,000 has been sent from the Illinois district United Mine Workers for anthracite strikers.

More riots occurred in Paris, with several arrests, over the government's treatment of religious orders.

The United States transport Sumner reached San Francisco from Manila, with a hundred army officers and their families.

THE KAISER WARNED

Urged Not to Visit Poland In September.

RACIAL FEELING AT FEVER HEAT.

Emperor William Is Not Likely to Be Turned From His Purpose. To Declare Government's Policy For Poles.

BERLIN, July 24.—Court Chamberlain von Morawski, a Polish landed magnate, has appealed to Emperor William not to visit Posen during the army maneuvers to be held in September, as his majesty had planned to do. The chamberlain fears that some Polish fanatic might attempt to harm the emperor. Racial feeling is described as at fever heat, and several Berlin journals take the view that it would be unwise for the emperor to expose himself unnecessarily.

The Post (Conservative) says it is informed that it would greatly relieve those responsible for his majesty's safety to learn that he had given up the trip. Prominent Germans residing in Posen are glad that the Polish officials and nobility have determined not to attend the festivities, as thereby the chances of unpleasant incidents arising are lessened.

It is scarcely likely that Emperor William will act upon Chamberlain von Morawski's appeal, because his majesty never permits himself to change his plans on account of the timidity of his advisers. He goes anywhere he thinks duty calls him, and, besides, it is his purpose to declare the government's Polish policy while in Polish territory, and his giving up of personal supervision of the maneuvers would be unprecedented.

The Polish question is regarded as the most pregnant in the government's domestic policy. While no observer believes the Polish agitation can really amount to much ultimately, it is embarrassing the relations with Austria and Russia. The Poles in Galicia enjoy local self government and press privileges which are not in vogue in Prussian Poland, and continual contrasts are made in the Austrian press between conditions existing in Galicia and in the province of Posen that annoy this government and tend to weaken the triple alliance.

Indications are not wanting that Russia is disposed to utilize the Polish passion by giving greater freedom to the Russian Poles, thus creating along the Russian frontier a Prussian population in sympathy with Russia. Count von Bulow, the German imperial chancellor, is well aware of the disagreeable features of the Polish agitation, and it is quite likely he will devise measures to quiet the extreme violence of the Polish feeling.

Indian Coronation Fetes.

LONDON, July 24.—The India office has issued a sketch of the programme of the coronation fetes to be held at Delhi, India, which shows that, although the festivities will not be graced, as was expected, by the presence of the Prince and Princess of Wales, they will be of the utmost magnificence, extending from Dec. 29 to Jan. 10. On Dec. 29 the viceroy of India, Lord Curzon of Kedleston, with the ruling chiefs, will make a state entry into Delhi, mounted on elephants, with a procession six miles long to the camp. The next day the viceroy will open the Arts exhibition, and on Jan. 1 a coronation durbar will be held. A parade of 40,000 troops will take place Jan. 2, and the following days will be devoted to reviews, religious services, illuminations, receptions, banquets, etc., the viceroy departing Jan. 10.

Alleged Cure For Leprosy.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—The secretary of the interior has forwarded to the board of health of Honolulu samples of an alleged cure for leprosy submitted by a Brooklyn physician in behalf of a fellow practitioner abroad. The board has agreed to use the samples in its experimental research, and the treasury department has authorized the admission of the samples at Honolulu free of duty. The boards of health of San Francisco and New Orleans also will be asked to test the alleged cure.

Farmer and Team Killed.

LITTLE VALLEY, N. Y., July 24.—William H. Burrell, a prominent farmer, aged sixty-three, of New Albion, was instantly killed by lightning yesterday. Mr. Burrell and his hired man, Jerry Drew, were putting a team in the stable when it was struck by lightning. Mr. Burrell and the team were instantly killed. Drew was thrown out the door, stunned, but not seriously injured.

Mastodon's Bones Found.

DALLAS, Tex., July 24.—Workmen excavating in a gravel pit two miles south of Dallas have unearthed the remains of a mastodon. The jawbones were in perfect shape and eight feet in length, but crumbled when exposed to air. The teeth remained perfect, however. The molars are 14½ inches long, 7½ wide and weigh 15 pounds.

Yaqui Captives Shot.

TUCSON, Ariz., July 24.—S. N. Jacks, a merchant of Fort Worth, Tex., returning from the Yaqui river country, reports having seen thirty Yaqui Indians lined up and shot Saturday at a small town called Torrin in Sonora. The Indians had been captured in the mountains the day before. Several of them were mere boys.

King George Has Pneumonia.

DRESDEN, Germany, July 24.—King George of Saxony, who succeeded to the throne June 19 last on the death of his brother Albert, is suffering from pneumonia.

GRAND CIRCUIT RACES.

Dan Patch Lowered His Record. Monk Beats Lord Derby.

CLEVELAND, O., July 24.—The 2:04 pace and the 2:07 trot furnished sensations for the record breaking crowd that attended the grand circuit races here yesterday. The unbeaten Dan Patch was always a 1 to 5 favorite for the pace, and he won, but had to cut his record to 2:03¾ when chased out in the opening heat by Riley B. The performance did not tire the favorite in the least, and he took the deciding heat with ease.

The first heat of the 2:07 trot went to The Monk, who had sold for $50 to $10 on the field. Lord Derby was far back, and the judges decided that Spear had made an improper drive. He was taken down and George Saunders put up behind Lord Derby. The drive down the stretch was terrific, and The Monk was nipped at the wire. Lord Derby trotted the last half in 1:00¾. A bad break put him out of the going in the deciding heat, and the race went to The Monk, Dolly Dillon being unable to force him out. The judges fined Spear $250 and gave the money to the substituted driver. All bets on the race were declared off.

Direct Hal had the 2:15 pace at his mercy, a break losing him the second heat. He was an odds on favorite in the betting ring. The champion, Cresceus, was exhibited on the track. The attendance was 11,000.

THE STRONG-YOHE CASE.

The Captain Saved by His Mother. Has Left Woman For Good.

NEW YORK, July 24.—Putnam Bradlee Strong, who escaped from the clutches of the law through the generosity of his family after May Yohe had charged him with the larceny of all her jewels, is not on his way to Japan, but within easy reach of New York.

Job E. Hedges, who represented the Strong family in offering financial balm to Miss Yohe, states that young Strong will probably reach New York in two days. Mr. Hedges says Miss Yohe and Captain Strong will not be reconciled and are not, as reported, traveling toward the same goal. He said he had reason to believe that Strong had broken with Miss Yohe of his own volition and could not be urged to return to her.

Mr. Hedges declined to discuss the details of the settlement made with Miss Yohe, but said the total amount of money involved was not near the sum reported. It had been reported that the sum necessary to save Strong was close to $100,000.

"I refuse to comment on any of the actions I had professionally in this case," said Mr. Hedges. "A sad incident that brought sorrow and distress to many through the unwise and unnecessary acts of a thoughtless young man is closed."

Fatally Hurt by Stray Bullet.

UTICA, N. Y., July 24.—Florence Raehm, fifteen years of age, was shot by a bullet from an air gun in this city. The little girl was playing with companions in the back yard of her father's house when she was struck by the shot. The wound is in the temple and is likely to prove fatal. It is supposed that the shot came from an air gun with which boys were playing in the neighborhood.

Odell Will Talk to Grangers.

THOUSAND ISLAND PARK, N. Y., July 24.—Ira B. Sharpe, master of the grangers for this part of the state, has received a letter from Governor Odell accepting an invitation to speak at the meeting of the state grangers here on Aug. 19.

Praise For Private Who Faced the Cholera Epidemic.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—The epidemic of cholera has been particularly hard upon the medical corps of the army stationed on the Philippine Islands, and the casualty lists received here show that the surgeons and the hospital corps have borne their share of the suffering. Surgeon General Forwood has received a copy of one of the orders, in which these casualties are announced as follows:

"The death of Private Joseph G. M. Elseman, hospital corps, U. S. A., is announced. Private Elseman was detailed to face death as a cholera nurse for one of our comrades and died from the disease, caught from his charge, an example of devotion to duty to be held up for all men to emulate.

"Private Leonard B. Stevenson, hospital corps, U. S. A., was detailed to nurse both of our comrades, with the knowledge that his predecessor had been cut down while performing the same duty. Without a murmur he responded and remained till the sods covered his plague stricken charges, and he now returns to his routine duties.

"The men of this command who have faced death amid the whistle of bullets and the excitement of a fight can readily appreciate the courage required to daily await his approach in the form of one of the most dreaded diseases known to the world today, and the commanding officer makes this an opportunity to publicly acknowledge that 'duty well done,' the highest aim of a soldier, is a goal Private Stevenson has reached.

"This order will be published at parade on Tuesday, the 27th inst., and at general inspection of the hospital corps on the 31st inst."

STRIKERS NOT DISCOURAGED.

Financial Aid Renews Their Hope. Rumors Denied.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., July 24.—In reply to the charge made by T. D. Nichols, president of district No. 1, United Mine Workers, that agents of the coal companies are circulating among the strikers and trying to persuade them to apply in a body for aid when the relief fund is opened in the hope that the defense fund may be wiped out in a short time, local coal operators say that they have no knowledge that any of their representatives are connected in any way with the strikers' relief. One operator said it was immaterial to the mine owners to whom the relief was distributed or who gets it.

At strike headquarters none of the district subleaders seems to be disconcerted over the statement issued by some of the presidents of the coal carrying roads that they expect the striking miners to become discouraged before long and then make a rush to get back to work. National Board Member John Fallon is authority for the statement that the strikers are by no means discouraged, but, on the contrary, now that they are to receive assistance from their bituminous brethren, are very much encouraged.

Boer Generals at Cape Town.

CAPE TOWN, July 24.—Generals Botha and Delarey, on their way to Europe, have arrived here from Pretoria and were met at the railway station by large crowds. At a meeting held in the Dutch Reformed church later, in thanking those present for the welcome extended to them, General Botha said he wished to impress upon his hearers the necessity for working hand in hand with the British, as South Africa was the only country they could call home. General Delarey said the Boers had buried their Mausers and their flag, but not their traditions.

Uncle Sam Will Investigate.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—The navy department has taken steps to investigate the reported interference with American shipping in Venezuela waters, which is said to have resulted from the recent blockade declared by President Castro upon a number of ports in the republic. The navy department has been informed that Commander Rodgers has left La Guayra with the gunboat Marietta for the mouth of the Orinoco river and will stop en route at Cumana, Carupano and Trinidad.

Fast Bicycle Riding.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 24.—A. A. Hansen, the "Rainmaker," completed his 1,000 mile road ride on a motor cycle against time shortly after noon yesterday, the elapsed time being 72h. 26m. 50s. and the actual riding time 54h. 59m. 30s. This is believed to be the fastest road ride of the distance on record on any vehicle that does not run on a prepared track. Hansen had made three previous unsuccessful attempts to make the distance. He also holds the bike 1,000 mile road record, 92h. 36m.

Cloudburst at Waterloo, Ia.

WATERLOO, Ia., July 24.—A cloudburst yesterday did $50,000 damage and drove twenty families from their homes. At one time the business streets of the town were under from two to three feet of water, and hardly a basement in the city escaped being flooded. Dryrun creek became a torrent and for the second time this year overflowed. No lives were lost, but three people narrowly escaped drowning.

Hobson to Wed.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., July 24.—It is reported here and generally believed in Bloomington society that Captain Richmond Pearson Hobson is to marry Miss Letitia Stevenson, daughter of former Vice President Adlai E. Stevenson. Captain Hobson has been much in Miss Stevenson's company. He has been in Bloomington more than a dozen times in the last six months.

CLERICALS EXCITED.

Religious Outbreaks Follow Enforcement of Law.

GREAT EXCITEMENT IN FRANCE.

In Brittany the Closing of Congregation Schools Meets With Open Defiance and Troops Are Overpowered.

PARIS, July 24.—The agitation provoked by the order of Prime Minister Combes to close the congregationalist schools recalls to some extent the scenes enacted when M. Ferry, then premier, expelled the Jesuits in 1880. Demonstrations in favor of the nuns and teaching friars are taking place in Paris and many places in the provinces where the prefects presented themselves at the schools and ordered that the institutions be closed. Up to the present, however, no serious incident has been recorded.

The Nationalists have joined the Clericals in engineering the agitation, and their leaders are in the forefront of the effervescence in Paris. Considerable sympathy has been worked up on behalf of the nuns, and their schools have been made the particular objects of demonstrations. The Clericals called upon their sympathizers to meet outside of the school conducted by the Sisters of St. Vincent de Paul, in the northeast quarter of Paris, which was closed yesterday afternoon, and a considerable crowd gathered there, compelling a large body of police and mounted municipal guards to form a cordon in the streets leading to the school. A few trifling collisions occurred between the Clericals and counter demonstrators, who replied to the Clericals' cries of "Long live the good sisters!" and "Vive la liberte!" with "Down with the priests!" and "Long live the republic!" A Nationalist member of the chamber of deputies was arrested while trying to force his way through the police cordon, but was subsequently released.

The greatest excitement in the provinces is displayed in the Clerical stronghold of Brittany, where the peasants have gathered in front of the nuns' schools in several places and declare they will not allow the nuns to be expelled. For instance, at Landerneau a crowd of farmers and women have mounted guard before the school of the White Sisters awaiting the arrival of the police. The inhabitants of the village of Ploudaniel, who also are guarding the sisters' school, seized a lay schoolmaster and thrashed him with nettles. At La Bresse, in the department of Vosges, the commissary of police, accompanied by gendarmes, thrice tried to approach the congregationalist school in order to effect its closure, but was obliged to abandon the attempt because of the threatening attitude of the population. At St. Ambroix, near Nimes, the demonstrators detached the horses from the carriages which were conveying the sisters to the railway station and dragged the vehicles, with their occupants, back to the convent, shouting "Down with the tyrants!" The gendarmes were powerless to prevent the demonstrators from carrying out their plans, and re-enforcements had to be summoned. Against these and similar incidents, however, must be set off the addresses in support of the government voted by many municipal councils.

A Fatal High Dive.

DETROIT, Mich., July 24.—Alexander Smith of 50 St. Aubin avenue essayed a dive from the mainmast of the schooner Maria Martin, lying at the foot of St. Aubin avenue, at 3:10 yesterday afternoon. It was ninety feet from his perch to the water, and in the descent he lost his equilibrium when about twenty feet from the water. He struck on his side with terrible force and failed to come to the surface. Smith was a young man of thirty years, with considerable reputation as a daring high diver. The body was recovered three hours later.

Twelve Thousand Acres Flooded.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 24.—A portion of Lacy levee at Havana has been washed away by flood waters of the Illinois river, and 12,000 acres of land, 5,000 of which were under cultivation, are now inundated by water varying in depth from five to ten feet. Just previous to the breaking of the levee the water stood at nineteen feet, one inch above low water mark, and the water is still rising. Alarm whistles sounded a warning to the farmers in the flooded district. No lives were lost.

Murdered by Unknown Person.

NEW YORK, July 24.—The jury which has been investigating the death of Albert C. Latimer of Brooklyn, who was mysteriously and fatally shot in his house July 2, has returned a verdict in which they found that Latimer had been shot by some person unknown. There was no excitement or demonstration in the courtroom. The friends of W. H. Tuthill shook his hand in congratulation. They accepted the verdict as his vindication.

The Johnstown Inquest.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., July 24.—Coroner E. T. Miller has began the inquest into the disaster in the Cambria Steel company's Rolling Mill mine on July 10, by which 112 men lost their lives. When the inquest adjourned for the day, twelve witnesses had been examined without any unusual incident having developed.

Flames Sweep South Carolina Town.

CAMDEN, S. C., July 24.—A night fire has destroyed one of the most substantial blocks of Camden, containing eleven stores and business buildings, entailing an estimated loss of $70,000, partially covered by insurance.

JUDGE RUNYON'S CANDIDACY.

Predictions are freely made by well informed local politicians that providing City Judge Runyon is named by the coming Republican convention as the party's candidate for the office of State Senator, the nominee will poll a vote here that will be an honor to that party and a deserved tribute to a public servant who has won the unreserved encomiums of his fellow citizens. As a municipal magistrate, City Judge Runyon has conducted his office in such manner as to win the praise of the pulpit and press. His administrations have been marked by impartiality and wisdom. Those who have witnessed his public and private career are aware that he has ability of a legislative nature as marked as is his judicial qualifications. His strong character and pronounced personality would surely attract attention in the Senatorial chamber in Trenton, and Union county would be well represented.

As the convention will not be held until October there is ample time for Judge Runyon's friends to boom his candidacy through the county. Whether he will be opposed by State Senator Cross, who now represents Union county, is not known. If he is, the Elizabeth legislator will find in him an aggressive and honorable opponent. Intellectually the Plainfield stalwart is admirably qualified for the place. As a graduate of Yale—that institution which prepares men "for the civil State"—and of Columbia Law School, he possesses the foundation, which coupled with his exceptional experience for one of his years, making him particularly desirable in the upper house of the Legislature.

According to the Phliadelphia Record there is a summer as well as an autumn and a spring trade. It may not be as large as the latter, but it is well worth getting. As most expenses continue in summer, it is even necessary that the enterprising establishment should make it as large as possible. Therefore there is as good reason for summer advertising as for any other. It is in the less active times that every reasonable advertising effort should be made to increase the trade.

The Daily Press publishes a diagram which gives the summary of the New Jersey game laws in complete form. This diagram has been prepared by the State Board of Fish and Game Commissioners and is perfectly correct according to the terms of the last game law. Every one who is interested in the use of rod and gun will do well to preserve a copy of this diagram. It will, however, be printed in The Daily Press from time to time for the benefit of those who neglect to save a copy of it.

"The Sayings of Chief-Emeritus Devery at the Pump," bound in brass, would make an important addition to the library of Tammany Hall. The organization would certainly be in need of a Keeley cure, should "the best chief New York ever had" attain his ambition to be the successor of the "Squire of Wantage."

Talk about the rigors of camp life is all bosh, when the season of enjoyment at Sea Girt is considered. Those who risk being called upon for military service, however, certainly deserve the plesaure being obtained by Plainfield's soldier boys.

Good idea to give notice at this time that the city tax rate will not take a jump. It may prevent large property owners from getting heat prostration from worriyng how to make ends meet after summer vacation expenses are paid.

Severe punishment should be meted out to the miscreant, who is poisoning valuable dogs in this city, when captured as he surely will be if he continues dastardly practice.

COLUMN FOR THE SHOPPERS

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

Shaw's hard-water toilet soap makes a quick lather when used in the city water. It keeps the hands smooth and soft.

Ice cream, cool and delicious, is served daily at Warnock's ice cream parlor. It is also delivered anywhere in the city or borough every day in the week. Better try a quart.

The firm of Callahan & Son, the Richmond street grocers, call attention to their list of specials this week. Nothing is offered by any other grocery house to equal it. All orders are delivered free.

If you will allow Willett & Son to fit your feet with shoes you are sure to have comfort whether walking or not. Their stock of shoes for men, women and chidlren is large and they make a specialty of giving satisfaction in footwear.

Before starting on your vacation there are lots of things necessary and a walk through Putnam & DeGraw's dry goods store will convince you that you can find these things there and at a prices that will surprise you for the fine quality of goods sold.

J. W. Gavett, of West Front street, wants all the people of Plainfield to keep cool. They can do so by having placed at a convenient spot in their homes one of his stone water jars. After all cool water is the only real panacea for a parched throat.

Everything in its season in the way of fruit and vegetables may be found for family supply at W. W. Dunn's Lincoln place store. Something nice in peaches, musk and water melons, with a full line of the regular goods are the specials for this week.

"Best in the State" is the term which Smalley Brothers apply to the extra fine poultry which they are offering their patrons this week. For a really choice capon or roasting chicken, there is no place in the city better than the North avenue market.

It is annoying and costly to have perishable things spoil in your home during the warm weather, but there is no excuse when you can buy pure ice at a low figure. McDonough Brothers will serve you regularly and promptly if you will notify them.

When you want the right color, pattern and fit in a negligee shirt, there is one place to go—J. R. Blair's furnishing store. There you will find a full assortment of everything that is up-to-date for the wardrobe of the man seeking both fashion and comfort.

The pharmacy conducted by L. W. Randolph, of West Front street, stands for all that a first-class drug store should. The proprietor carries a complete line of drugs, toilet articles and besides he compounds prescriptions accurately. Mr. Randolph also makes a feature of the soda business and at his fountain you will find wholesome, refreshing drinks.

Fell From Freight Car.

Robert Brick, of Terrill road, a brakeman employed by the New Jersey Central, is confined to his home with a broken hip, received in an accident at Jersey City yesterday. He was standing on top of a freight car when a sudden shove of the engine toppled him off. He landed on the edge of a protuding tie and narrowly escaped being ground under the wheels. After being attended by a Jersey City physician he was brought to his home in this city.

A Masonic Ceremony.

The corner-stone of the new Masonic Hall building will be laid at Cranford Saturday afternoon, at 4:30 o'clock, by the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge. It is expected that there will be a very large representation of lodges from this section of the State, and Jerusalem and Anchor Lodges, F. and A. M., of this city, will each be represented.

A Day's Enjoyment.

You will make no mistake in going with Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., on the annual excursion to Asbury Park August 14. There will be members and State officers present from all parts of New Jersey and a grand family reunion will be held. The train will not leave Asbury Park until 9 o'clock, giving everyone a chance to remain at the beach in the evening.

New Box Put In.

After tinkering with it for several days, Charles W. Runyon yesterday was forced to remove fire alarm box No. 28, situated at South and Woodland avenues. A coil was burned out by the electric storm, Saturday night, but on being replaced the box still refused to work. Another was immediately put up in its place.

Leg Offends Him.

Albert C. Rogers, of West Fifth street, is suffering from a severe injury to his right leg, the result of being thrown from his bicycle recently. It is the same leg that was injured a year ago by a fall from a building, and it has given him much trouble.

SUBURBAN NEWS

A Department Devoted to the Minor Events in Greater Plainfield's Suburbs by Our Own Correspondents.

DUNELLEN.

Dunellen excursionists filled three cars of the fifteen car train which took the Presbyterian Sunday-school and some Plainfield Sunday-schools to Asbury Park this morning. The crowd that went from here was fully as large as any that has gone in a number of years. A few who went will stay a few days at the shore. Contrary to what usually happens no one missed the train.

Just before the excursion train pulled out this morning a woman who was a little late started to hurry across the tracks. Just as she did a fast west bound train came along and but for a timely warning by bystanders the woman would have been killed.

The Dunellen Juniors were defeated yesterday morning by the Plainfield newsboys at Clinton avenue in a hot game of ball by a score of 12 to 8. The game was lost by wild throwing.

The members of Friendship Social Circle enjoyed a pleasant day at Midland Beach yesterday. The trolley ride there and back was greatly enjoyed.

An auction of some of the property of the late James M. Evans will be held Thursday afternoon. Geo. Day will be auctioneer.

Prayer meeting was held last evening in the local churches. The pastors lead the meetings.

Everything is ready for the machinery at the Craig Manufacturing Company new factory.

T. W. Day has returned home after a few days vacation in New York State.

Daniel Richardson, of Plainfield, visited friends in town last evening.

Mrs. Randolph, of Front street, has been spending a few days out of town.

John Fenner has returned home after nejoying a week's vacation.

The local W. C. T. U. will hold its regular meeting this afternoon.

Rev. A. F. Todd entertained relatives from Westfield yesterday.

W. V. Tanner, of Orange, was in town on business yesterday.

The cornet band met for regular practice last evening.

NEW MARKET.

The members of the brass band are anticipating and hoping for a big crowd at their concert this evening on Dr. Nelson's lawn. A fine programme of music has been prepared and all sorts of eatables will be on sale. If the weather is stormy the concert will be held tomorrow night.

Quite a few from here went on the excursion to Ocean Grove this morning with the Dunellen Presbyterian church.

The members of the ball team have been practicing hard this week and are in good condition for Saturday's game with Dunellen.

The family of Dr. W. J. Nelson are spending today at Asbury Park.

S. C. Long has been visiting out of town friends for a few days.

HUYLER'S CANDIES ARE PURE.

numbering ninety pieces and a quartette from the Coleman House at Asbury Park. The latter persists in singing "Down Where the Cotton Blossoms Grow" to the exclusion of everything else. Last night the entire company joined in singing the "Holy City" and it sounded grand, as Company K has some excellent vocalists.

Orders were changed regarding the rifle range as several companies were marched there yesterday morning, to shoot on the 200 and 300 yards distances. Several members of Company K qualified and one private shot at the wrong target and at various elevations so that when his string was added he had three points out of the necessary eighteen. Company K also went into action yesterday with blank cartridges for the first time since it arrived in camp. An imaginary foe was fought and the boys made an excellent showing. The whole regiment was under fire and also Battery B making a very imposing sight

The K boys had as guests at mess yesterday Harold Chandor and LeRoy Radford, of Plainfield. The menu consisted of baked weakfish, potatoes, stewed tomatoes, coffee, bread and butter. Other visitors yesterday were Andrew Carpenter and William A. Westphal.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD

Excelsior Hook and Ladder Company elected five new members at its monthly meeting held Monday evening. Since the first of the year the members of Excelsior have been working hard to increase the active membership roll, which was fast decreasing by the seven year exemption law. Since that time, there has seldom been a meeting held that from one to five members have been added. Bucket and Engine Company has not been idle either as its members have been hustling for new blood and have succeeded in increasing their membership considerably. It is hardly probable that such an increase has ever been made before in the same time in the history of the local department.

Phillip Jahn was initiated into the mysteries of the Royal Arcanum at the meeting held Tuesday evening. Fanwood Council is working hard for the ten per cent. increase asked for by the Grand Regent and from present indications will not only reach the ten per cent. but do even better.

The local baseball team is out for practice every evening and the members are determined when they meet the Riversides Saturday afternoon to play the game of their life and redeem themselves for the defeat of Saturday.

The Democratic voters will hold their primary to elect a delegate to the Congressional convention which meets at Washington on Tuesday, July 29, on Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the Bucket and Engine Company rooms.

The annual union excursion to Asbury Park and Ocean Grove of the several Sunday-schools in the village, together with schools of Westfield and Willow Grove, will be held on August 5, weather permitting.

Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., has changed the time of its meetings during the rest of the summer from every Thursday evening to every alternate Thursday.

The Misses Reignette and Ethel Marsh have been spending the day at Asbury Park.

Samuel Taynor, of Plainfield, was the guest of friends in town last night.

Miss Susie Parse visited friends at Westfield Wednesday.

Wedded Quietly.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Mamie Kliner and Robert Deter, both of this city, which took place at the parsonage of the Grace M. E. church, last Thursday evening. Tne ceremony was performed by Rev. E. L. Earp without any attending parties. The young people are now on a wedding trip and on their return will reside in this city.

Don't Miss It.

The opportunity to visit the seashore at Asbury Park tomorrow with Trinity Reformed church Sunday-school shonld not be missed. Everything points to a clear day and you can have a good time by going to the shore.

Acts Immediately.

Colds are sometimes more troublesome in summer than in winter, it's so hard to keep from adding to them while cooling off after exercise. One Minute Cough Cure cures at once. Absolutely safe. Acts immediately. Sure cure for coughs, colds, croup, throat and lung troubles. L. W. Randolph.

Miss Lucy Pound, of East Fifth street, has gone to Asbury Park for the summer.

Mrs. Wm. F. Heath, of Fairview avenue, has returned home from a sojourn at Ocean Grove.

Miss Florence Cuming, of Putnam avenue, has returned home from a visit with friends at Brooklyn.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. VanDeventer, of East Fifth street, are home from a visit with their son in Brooklyn.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Clark, of West Third street, have returned from a brief stay at Rockoway Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Vail and sons, Horace and Clifford, of Orchard place, are stopping at Watchung for a few weeks.

Mrs. Thomas Fitzgerald, of South Second street, has returned from a western pleasure trip which extended to Denver, Colorado.

Mrs. James Mortimer, of Staten Island, has returned home after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. John Mortimer, of West Fourth street.

Dr. Marc L. Clawson and E. S. F. Randolph returned yesterday from Atlantic City, where they have been sojourning for the past ten days.

Mrs. Joseph P. Humble, her daughter, Miss Mattie Humble, and son, Earl Humble, of Somerset street, are sojourning at Delaware Water Gap.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Runyon, of West Fifth street, left today for Philadelphia to attend the funeral of the latter's brother, Charles Cuthberson.

Carroll T. Runyon, of East Ninth street, and Charles B. Morse, of Franklin place, were the guests yesterday of W. S. Benson, at the Yountakah Country Club at Nutley, N. J

FUNERAL OF MRS. LELAND.

Services Were Held From West Fifth Street Home Yesterday.

Funeral services over the remains of Mrs. Clara Leland, were held from her late residence on West Fifth street, yesterday afternoon. There were many relatives and friends in charge. Rev. Charles E. Herring conducted the obsequies and was assisted by Rev. John McMurray, of the Monroe Avenue church. Two solos, "Meet Me There" and "Abide With Me" were sung by William N. Runyon. Interment was made in Hillside cemetery.

Can't Make Mistake.

Go on the excursion of the Methodist Sunday-schools of this city and Dunellen, July 31, and you are sure to make no mistake. The destination this year is Asbury Park and Ocean Grove, the popular twin resorts. As the Methodists always have a clear day and a successful trip, prepare for it. The train departs in the morning from this city at 8 o'clock and leaves the beach at 7:10.

Funeral of Little Girl.

Funeral services over the remains of Miss Mary Flynn were held in St. Mary's church, yesterday, with Rev. Father Farley, officiating. There were many of the little girl's friends in attendance and the casket was heaped with flowers placed there by their hands. Interment was made in St. Mary's cemetery.

Too Many Weeds.

Residents of Grant avenue are protesting against the bad conditon of that street, between Fifth and Sixth streets, from high weeds. They are a nuisance in many ways especially to women's dresses. A man with a scythe would remedy the trouble in short order.

New Chemical Engine.

Word has been received from Baltimore that the work on Plainfield's combination chemical engine and hose carriage is progressing and that the machine will be ready within a month. Upon its completion it will be exhibited in New York for two or three days.

By a Press Want Ad.

Miss H. D. Duyckinck, of Scotch Plains, lost a black jacket between this city and Scotch Plains a few days ago. Alfred E. Cole, of East Front street, found the jacket, saw the advertisement in The Press and yesterday returned the lost article to the owner.

Outing for Altar Boys.

The altar boys of St. Mary's church were taken to Boynton Beach in stages yesterday for a day's outing. They were in charge of Rev. Father Farley, who saw to it that all enjoyed themselves.

NO MORE DEATHS.

East End Residents Still Looking for Poisoner of Their Pets—The Police Assisting.

No more dog or cat deaths have been reported by the residents of Franklin place and Putnam avenue and the animal fanciers are in hopes the poisoner has changed his base of operations. The police are still searching for the miscreant and they are being aided by all who have lost pets.

Dr. M. A. Carman, who is justly indignant over the loss of his water spaniel, asserts that he will give $100 reward to anyone furnishing him with information which may result in locating the author of the deed. The other residents will follow suit and by other means will make an effort to gain satisfaction.

Lost His Gift Charm.

City Judge Runyon is mourning the loss of his costly Knights of Pythias charm, which he lost somewhere about the streets of the business section, yesterday. The jewel was presented him two weeks ago by the Past Chancellors' Association of Perseverance Lodge and he prized it highly. His name and rank is engraved on the side and there should be no trouble in locating the owner if it is found.

Benefit Euchre Tonight.

Attention is called to the fact that the euchre to be given at Hotel Netherwood this evening is open to the general public, the entrance fee entitling one to a place in play being fifty cents. From the generous responses thus far made, it is estimated that nearly $100 will be netted for the Netherwood Fresh Air Home, for the benefit of which the affair is to be held.

Recorder on Vacation.

Recorder Doud, of the borough, started today upon a vacation trip, which will embrace Saratoga Springs and other points of interest in upper New York State. He expects to return home Monday, accompanied by Mrs. Doud, who is now at Saratoga. During the absence of the Recorder police justice will be dispensed by Mayor Smalley.

Going to California.

J. E. Flannery, Jacob Blimm and Mr. and Mrs. Charles McGinley and Miss McGinley are planning to go to California at the time of the bi-ennial convention of the Knights of Pythias. Mr. and Mrs. McGinley and daughter will leave Saturday and Mr. Blimm will leave on August 4 and will stop off en route at points of interest.

Picnicked at Rock.

Many little folks of Netherwood enjoyed a pleasant time on the mountain, yesterday, under the chaperonage of Mrs. Daniel Ginna, of Watchung avenue. Washington Rock was the scene of the outing, a large stage being used to transport the picknickers from the city. About twenty-five children comprised the party.

Learned of Father's Death.

Daniel Clawson, of the local postoffice clerking force, received word yesterday, of the death of his aged father, which occurred at his home in Barley Sheaf, Hunterdon county. He secured leave at once to proceed to that place.

Bert Bodine Won.

First honors in the Warren Engine Company cigar contest were won by Bert Bodine, who captured the first box, raffled off last evening. The second is nearly all covered by chances and it will be disposed of as soon as possible.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning July 27, "The Programme of Christianity"—Text, Matt. iv. 23; x, 7, 8.

We are followers of Christ. Our work has been clearly marked out for us. If the spirit of the Master dwells in and rules us, we shall ever find in Him our pattern and shall seek to form our lives on the model of His. He "went about all Galilee teaching in the synagogues and preaching the gospel of the kingdom and healing all manner of sickness and all manner of disease among the people." What wonder that multitudes followed Him from near and far and that they brought their sick from great distance to be cured!

The apostles did similarly when sent out through the land to prepare the way for Him. Even the seventy disciples who went by twos through the villages on evangelizing tours found themselves able to effect marvelous cures and even to cast out evil spirits. In the times after Pentecost some at least of the apostles were able to perform wonderful deeds of healing.

The mission of the church of Jesus Christ is something more than to preach that men are sinners and can be saved through repentance from sin and faith in God through Jesus Christ. She is to teach sound doctrine and maintain the customs and ordinances of divine worship, but she is to do more than this. The church has a duty to the bodies as well as the minds and souls of men. Miraculous powers of healing may not be long continued, but the curative work is to go steadily forward. Men had come to regard the sick with aversion and to think disease a sign of God's displeasure with the one afflicted. "Who did sin, this man or his parents, that he was born blind?" was a question perfectly natural in that time, but shows the current opinion that sickness was a punishment for sins. Jesus taught men to look upon suffering from a different viewpoint. He showed sympathy for those in pain and by relieving the afflicted gave a new conception of God in His relation to men. God is merciful and pitiful as well as just.

Medical science and all the arts of sanitation, nursing and merciful helpfulness of these recent times are directly in accord with the work of Jesus and His commission to His followers. The great development of hospital science, asylums of many kinds for the unfortunate, deaconess work and missions for reform of the fallen are modern adaptations of the mercy and help work which the church has carried on in some form and degree from the first when Peter and Paul were the foremost leaders.

The second department of the League is a most important one and should be so conducted as to interest and train the young people in regard for and visitation of the sick and relief of the poor under the guidance of the pastor and with proper safeguards and precautions. Shakespeare beautifully describes this virtue when he says:

"The quality of mercy is not strained."

The Joyful Spirit.

The child of God should always cultivate the spirit of joy. If one is a real Christian, he is entitled to a joyful life, for God, who made all, is his friend, and He has shown His friendly care not only in His kind providence, but in His infinite grace. Believer, you did not choose God first and persuade Him to come to your help, but He chose you just of His own accord and came down to deliver you. It is He that does the persuading to get you into His kingdom. Do you not have abundant reason to rejoice that you have such a Friend? Not only that, but you are of the rich ones among men—rich in grace and in being heirs with Christ. You are sure of having all that is good for you, if not all you want.—Christian Instructor.

Doing God's Will.

The soul needs lungs and atmosphere in order to live. Prayer is the lungs of the soul, and God is its atmosphere. To neglect prayer is to stop breathing life from God. Prayerless lives are strangled lives. Suffocation is as effective as starvation and more speedy. The soul must exercise in order to grow. Stagnation is as dangerous to growth as starvation or suffocation. The Lord has purposed that our spiritual life should grow strong by exercise. Doing God's will is as essential to growth as feeding on God's word or seeking God's face in prayer.—Christian Intelligencer.

Profanity.

Profaneness is an unmanly and silly vice. It certainly is not a grace in conversation, and it adds no strength to it. There is no organic symmetry in the narrative that is ingrained with oaths, and the blasphemy that bolsters up an opinion does not make it any more correct. Nay, the use of loose expletives argues a limited range of ideas and a consciousness of being on the wrong side. And if we can find no other phrases through which to vent our choking passion we had better repress that passion.—Dr. Chapin.

Abiding Love.

Under heavens clouded
With their gathered rain
Or in times of anguish
When my heart's in pain,
I will trust my Father,
Who is me above,
And accept His dealings
As His thoughts of love.

For my Lord's affection
Is not only shown
In the radiant sunbeams
From the heavens thrown,
But in shadows likewise
And in tears that flow,
As a flashing angel,
Blessings to bestow.

—Philadelphia Ledger

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning July 27—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Topic.—Missions. A meeting in the interest of medical missions. "Preach—heal."—Matt. x, 7, 8.

In this chapter we have the commission of Christ to the twelve apostles just before He sent them upon their first missionary journey. In this commission two things are uppermost: First, they are to preach; second, they are to heal. "And as ye go preach, saying the kingdom of heaven is at hand. Heal the sick, cleanse the lepers, cast out devils, freely as ye have received freely give." In this commission we can see that Christ recognizes the importance of both the body and the soul, and we can also see that he recognizes the opportunity of reaching the soul through the body.

One of the superior characteristics of the church of Christ is that it pays proper attention to the entire man. It not only emphasizes the value and the importance of the soul, but also of the mind and of the body. Stoicism emphasizes the mind and ignores the body and the soul. Epicureanism emphasizes the importance of the physical life, but ignores the mind and the soul. But Christianity attaches due importance to every part of man. It also recognizes the great advantages that come to spiritual workers through attention to and the care of the body.

The intimate relations that exist between the body, the mind and the soul illustrate the importance of Christianity's position in this respect. It would be an impossibility to lead a man to Christ who is hungry. No less a distinguished evangelist than Mr. Moody has declared, "A man with cold feet cannot be converted." The body, the mind and the soul all bear the most intimate relations the one to the other. It is impossible to treat one without due and proper attention to all. Recognizing this principle, Christianity has paid proper attention to the mind and to the body, having of course in mind the reaching of the soul above everything else.

This attitude of Christianity toward the body has been specially applied to the work of foreign missions. This has been done for a number of reasons. (1) In most heathen countries medical science is very little advanced. Perhaps there is nothing cruder in heathen life than the methods of taking care of the body. Medical science is scarcely understood at all. The methods of the physicians of heathendom are most crude and instead of benefiting the health are usually injurious to it. This condition made it absolutely necessary for Christian missionaries to pay attention to medical science. Even before medical missionaries were sent to the foreign fields the others had to give some attention to this subject. (2) Medical missionaries are not only necessary, but they are also a very powerful influence. It is possible through them to gain admission to many places where otherwise it would be impossible to go. The women of most oriental countries can be reached through the women doctors as in no other way. They live ordinarily most exclusively and under most circumstances are absolutely inaccessible or were so until medical missions played such an important part in our foreign missionary work. (3) Through medical missions it is possible to gain the confidence of foreigners as in no other way. They are naturally suspicious and prejudiced, but when they see the beneficent results of medical missions their loved ones healed or saved from disease, this prejudice largely passes away. They can realize that this attitude is at least beneficent, and they are naturally, therefore, the more readily convinced that the gospel truths will have the same effect upon their souls. The king of an oriental country was led to practically embrace Christianity and to support Christian missions as a result of the healing of a sick son. Such illustrations are very common. The hearts of the people are reached through the medical work, their confidence is obtained, and thus it is an easy matter to present the truths of the gospel of Jesus Christ, and the minds of the people instead of being prejudiced against it are open and free to receive it.

Lead Kindly Light.

The light fails for the hesitating step, and a wavering allegiance leads to the confusion issuing in darkness. "Ours is not the reason why; ours is but to do and die," if necessary, assured that being obedient unto death is to enter into an abundant life. This cannot be too strongly insisted upon. Obedience is the law of service, and obedience to this moving Light is the means whereby it becomes clearer to us. The Light is moving on. The night darkens before the dawn, and then with the dawn the moving Light becomes transformed for us into the welcoming Presence, and we find the Light has led us home, to go out no more forever.—Episcopal Recorder.

Two Good Rules.

Remember that charity thinketh no evil, much less repeats it. There are two good rules which ought to be written on every heart—never believe anything bad about anybody unless you positively know it is true; never tell even that unless you feel that it is absolutely necessary and that God is listening while you tell it.—Henry Van Dyke.

In Sacrifice and Purity.

Love is best shown in sacrifice and blossoms sweetest in the white garments of purity.—Hohenzollern.

Resignation.

With adverse fate I will no longer cope;
Ambition and despair alike shall cease;
Where lately bloomed the wondrous flower, hope,
I plant and tend the humble herb of peace.

—Lippincott's Magazine

JUDGE FOR YOURSELF.

Which is Better—Try an Experiment or Profit by a Plainfield Citizen's Experience.

Something new is an experiment.
Must be proved to be as represented.
The statement of a manufacturer is not convincing proof of merit.
But the endorsement of friends is.
Now supposing you had a bad back.
A lame, weak or aching one.
Would you experiment on it?
You will read of many so-called cures.
Endorsed by strangers from far-away places.
It's different when the endorsement comes from home.
Easy to prove local testimony.
Home endorsement is the proof that backs every box of Doan's Kidney Pills.
Read this case:

Mrs. I. L. Holmes, of 442 West Second street, says: "I used several boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills for backache and derived more benefit from them than anything else. Before I tried this remedy I was bothered almost constantly with a severe pain across the small of my back, so bad at times that I thought I must give up. If I sat down and got up or was lying down and attempted to rise quickly or retained one position for any length of time, sharp acute pain always followed. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised for such troubles and went to L. W. Randolph's drug store and got a box. They helped me from the first and I improved right along under the treatment."

PARKS FOR THE PEOPLE.

The Turf Is Not So Much Hurt by the Feet as It Is from Soil Exhaustion.

The question of removing or replacing "Keep off the grass" signs in public parks has become one of lively interest in many cities because of a report that the turf in Central park, New York, is in danger, on account of the crowds not being kept to the roads and paths, remarks the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Comparison of experiences leads to the conclusion that it is not so much the feet of the people straying over the grass that has caused the mischief as the misjudgment of the park management. The turf is perishing because the soil is becoming exhausted. Other parks have for years been free to the people, who are allowed to wander where they please and settle themselves down on the cool turf in twos and threes, and in larger family groups. Park parties gather and school picnics bivouac under the shade of the trees, while the children romp and scamper in the open spaces with no "Keep off the grass" signs to scare them to the roads made perilous by swift automobiles or thronged with carriages. In spite of all this the grass in these parks flourishes, the turf seeming to be the better instead of the worse for this usage.

The parks are for the people. The only way the masses of the people can enjoy themselves is by having the freedom of the grass. The experience of other cities, as well as that of Cleveland, is that under reasonable regulations such use of the parks is not injurious to the turf, provided care is taken to keep the soil in condition to supply the grass roots with proper nourishment.

NEGRO SCARED WHITE.

Strange Effect of Terror on the Black Cook of an Eastern Sailing Ship.

Fear of death in the midst of a storm which threatened to send the schooner Fred A. Small to the bottom is said to have changed Herm Blanco, a full-blooded negro, into a white man. The change lasted three days. Then, so the story goes, Blanco's natural color asserted itself once more, and he resumed his place on shipboard as a man of ebony, reports the New York Mail and Express.

"I had heard of a negro turning white from fright," said Capt. Z. R. Thomson, of the Small, "but it was the first time I ever saw such a transformation. Ordinarily Blanco is as black as night, but while the storm lasted he was almost as white as snow."

In a wrecked condition the schooner came into port the other day, and was towed to dry dock. Three weeks ago she left Valparaiso with a cargo of wood, birds and monkeys. Six days later she ran into a severe storm. For four days and nights her crew was kept on deck. On the fifth day topmast and bowsprit went by the board. All this time Blanco, the cook, is said to have grown whiter and whiter.

FIRST SURVEY OF PANAMA.

It Was Made 400 Years Ago, But Nothing Was Done Until De Lesseps Day.

How many Americans know that the first exploration for the route of the Panama canal was made by H. de la Serna as far back as 1527-28? Many different explorations followed, and suggestions from various quarters, but nothing definite was done until De Lesseps formulated his famous scheme. This was opposed by the United States. Americans then wanted the canal to go through Nicaragua, and this plan was favored by Gen. Grant in 1879. But nothing was done. Says Harper's Encyclopedia of the United States: "In 1884 the people of the United States and France subscribed large sums toward a French company, headed by Count de Lesseps, of Suez canal fame, which announced its intention of cutting a canal through the isthmus of Panama." The subsequent financial catastrophe is well known. In 1899 the Panama Canal Company of America was incorporated with a capital of $30,000,000. It was then estimated that it would cost $125,000,000 to complete the canal.

Created a New Volcano.

As a sequel to the recent earthquakes in Sardinia an enormous chasm has been opened in the earth, while the surface has bulged into a hill of considerable elevation, from which stones and masses of earth are projected. There are also symptoms that the interior of the hill is in an ebullient condition. Scientists incline to the belief that the phenomena observed are volcanic. Another consequence of the earthquake is that Lake Santo, near Modena, which was about 500 yards long and 100 wide, has completely disappeared.

Atmosphere Tabloids.

By a French chemist is claimed the invention of a method of compressing sea air into tabloids. Those, therefore, who wish for a change of air will in future only have to go to the nearest chemist's and buy a bottle of Margate tabloids or half a dozen Riviera pastilles. So long as the drugs are properly dispensed the invention will be welcome. It would be unpleasant to ask for Bournemouth pastilles and to receive instead the Cologne (not the eau de Cologne) variety. The latter form has 79 distinct smells.

Four thousand coffins for the bodies of soldiers in the Philippines that are awaiting shipment to the United States, is a portion of the queer cargo the transport Kilpatrick started with lately.

FASHIONABLE MATERIALS.

Mercerized Cottons, Organdies and China Silks Popular.

Nowadays the cotton gown is without reproach and figures at quite smart functions, for the mercerized effects make it look like silk unless closely scrutinized. Cotton canvas with embroidered spots in white or color has quite the appearance of wool veiling, and when mounted over a taffeta silk foundation and trimmed with lace it is quite suitable for a garden party or an equally dressy occasion.

Organdie muslin this season is as near perfect as it can be. The muslin is clear and silky, and dainty blossoms and figurings in pale tints form the patterns. Designs composed of sprays of green foliage on a white ground make up most admirably over a pale blue foundation when trimmed with square medallions of transparent lace showing glimpses of the silk underskirt.

China and tussore silks much tucked and incrusted with many lace appliques are fashionable in ecru. Pure white gowns of china silk are now all the rage—in fact, they are a trifle overdone.

A pretty chiffon blouse for semi-dressy wear is here shown. The material is black chiffon shirred over a glace silk foundation. The yoke is of cream lace. The satin ribbons on the sleeves and body fasten with bows and tiny rhinestone buckles.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

CHANGES IN CUT.

Sleeves Are Larger—Godet Flounces Still In Favor.

There are few important changes in the cut of gowns. Godet flounces are still in favor for skirts, but mostly graduate from narrow fronts to a deeply trained back. All thin textures are much flounced, and the three tier skirt is much worn in silk and wool materials or in the very thin cloth and woolens of the summer season.

Lace is employed on nearly all summer gowns and is much threaded with ribbon, even lace gowns being decorated in this style. Irish crochet lace is very fashionable, although it is too heavy for muslin gowns.

Sleeves are undoubtedly growing larger, and this increase has encroached well above the elbow, but the newest sleeves have only a small top piece which fits the arm. The tight portion is trimmed or bordered in some fashion, and the lower part is arranged in quite a different style. The plain elbow sleeve is no longer quite the thing. It must have a puff at the elbow or a fall of lace in the shape of a graduated ruffle.

A smart foulard gown for a girl is here illustrated. The waist has a yoke of tucked mousseline de soie and a simulated bolero effect of tucking. Velvet ribbon is apparently passed behind the box plaits of the waist. The sleeves are tucked and have full wrist puffs. The skirt is plain, with the exception of three ruffles.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

A KNAVE . . . OF CONSCIENCE.

——By Francis Lynde.

Now Griswold had been more confidential with Margery than he had ever been with his business partner, so she knew the story of the slender patrimony, and of its spending. But what has here been written down of Margery Grierson has been ill-written if it has not shown her to be far more discreet than her sex or her age would bespeak. And because she was wiser than her generation, she went swiftly aside from Griswold's affair.

"I think that is all I had to say," she said, rising again. "All excepting one other thing, and that is harder to say than all the rest."

Raymer rose with her and took her hand again.

"After what you have done, it mustn't be hard for you to say anything to me, Miss Margery."

"But this thing is hard—for me, not for you. You say you keep your account at the Wahaska National. Keep it somewhere else, Mr. Raymer."

He bowed in ready acquiescence. "I'll transfer it at once—and without asking why I should do it," he agreed.

"But—but it is right that you should know why," she faltered. "My father does not like you. Need I say more?"

He pressed the hand he was still holding and smiled down upon her from his athletic height.

"You needn't have said that much. I have good cause to know it. And that makes your loyalty and goodness of heart all the more wonderful to me, Miss Margery. I hope the time will come when I can show you how much I appreciate—"

She snatched her hand away and turned from him. Though he meant it not, he was slipping into the conventional attitude and it was more than she could bear just then. "Good-by," she said, abruptly, and before he could offer to help her she ran out, sprang into the low phaeton and drove rapidly away.

Raymer stood at the office door and watched her out of sight. Then he went back to his desk and sat down to fall into a musing excursion which led him far away from the matter in hand—the matter of the strike and its probable composition in terms of peace. At the end of the reverie, one of its conclusions slipped into speech.

"They may say what they please about her—the [illegible] and Gerty—and the most of the things they say are true; but away down deep in her heart, under nobody knows what a sandbank of trouble and hard-living, there is a vein of the purest gold. I guess I couldn't say that if I were in love with her; and yet—"

CHAPTER XXIX.

As it happened, the launch party in which Mr. Andrew Galbraith was to be a guest had to be postponed, after all, on account of the weather. Though there was no storm during the afternoon, there was a good promise of one; so Margery went about to ask the invited ones to save the afternoon of the following day for her.

While she was doing this, the good results of her morning's work among the wives of the strikers culminated, first in a meeting of the men in Labor Hall, and a little later in a visit of a deputation of the strikers to the office of the iron works. Griswold and Raymer were both there, and when the trouble came to be discussed without heat, and with a mutual disposition to give and take, it was wonderful how the difficulties were surmounted each in its turn.

The upshot of the conference was a compromise duly acceded to by all concerned; and the following morning the hideous steam siren of the iron works announced to all and sundry within a radius of half a dozen miles that the long strike was ended.

It was characteristic of the two partners that the relaxing of the strain affected them in diametrically opposite ways. Raymer flung himself into the work of the office with all the joyous abandon of a schoolboy whose vacation has been over-long. But Griswold took a holiday, rioting in his release from the strain, and meaning to spend the better part of the day alone on the lake in his cat-boat.

Oddly enough, he was diverted from this plan not once, but a dozen times during the forenoon. First he had to go with Raymer to be present at the opening of the firm's account at the Farmers' and Mechanics' bank. Then he chanced to meet Griffin, and when he would have made a mere greeting of that, was drawn aside to smoke a social cigar with the detective in the lobby of the St. James.

A chat about everything in general and nothing in particular went with the cigar burning, and it was at the very end of it that Griswold noticed a most astonishing change come upon his companion! a change so marked that he thought Griffin was taken suddenly ill—thought it and said so.

Griffin shook his head in denial.

"I guess it must have been suggestion," he said, evasively. "You have a very vivid way of describing things, Mr. Griswold, and your telling me about that attack of typhoid gave me the sympathetic qualms."

This was what he said, but it was no more than half of the truth. It was not the fact of the fever, but some mention of the time of it that had moved him; and when Griswold was gone, he sauntered over to the clerk's desk to ask a question.

"You told me once, awhile ago, that Mr. Griswold was sick here in the house," he began. "Was that last spring, or was it late in the winter?"

"I don't remember, but I'll look and see," said the clerk. And he looked and saw, and this time gave his questioner the correct date of Griswold's arrival in Wahaska.

Griffin moved away with his hands deep in his pockets and his lips drawn into a thin, straight line. This was the last broken link in the chain of evidence, and Griswold's dropped word and the clerk's answer had welded it. Kenneth Griswold was the man who had robbed the Bayou bank, who had exchanged identities with John Gavitt on the "Belle Julie," who had talked with Charlotte Farnham and had fallen straightway in love with her, who had disappeared in St. Louis, only to reappear in Wahaska 12 hours later.

Truly, he was the man to whose finding Griffin had given many weeks of more or less valuable time. But, alas! for the ends of even-handed justice, he was also the man who had lately saved the life of one Griffin.

Griswold went his way from the hotel, little thinking that he had blown the forge fire for the welding of the broken link. It was so near noon that he thought he would go to Mrs. Holcomb's for luncheon before going out in the Sprite. But when he was fairly in sight of the Holcomb gate, he was again turned aside. This time it was Dr. Farnham, loosing his horse at the Digby's hitching post.

"You're worse than a stranger," said the good doctor, "and you haven't a busy man's excuse. Get in here and let me take you home for a bite of bread and butter. Charlotte was asking only this morning if you had left town."

Palilian Festival at Rome

A Twentieth Century Picture of Caesarean Splendor.

THE Palilian festival, which is observed annually at Rome with imposing ceremonies, commemorates the founding of the eternal city. It derives its name from the old Latin divinity, Pales. Originally the festival was of a purely bucolic character; shepherds and cattle jumped over a straw, fire for purposes of purification, and cakes and milk were offered as a sacrifice to the goddess. Nowadays more elaborate customs prevail, the name being the only feature that has been retained. This year's festival, which was observed on the 4th of May, exceeded in sumptuousness anything that has been seen of recent years. On the heights of the Urbs quadrata was inaugurated a historical procession which took astonished sightseers from abroad back to the days of imperial Rome. The procession was led by Numidian horsemen, mounted pretorians and bodyguards on foot. They were followed by mimes, dancers and acrobats, a group of Dacians clothed in wild animal skins and the cohorts of legionaries. Gladiators in white, red and blue tunics were grouped in picturesque tableaux. A palanquin, carried by four Moorish slaves, housed Signora Mililotti, the famous Italian artist. It was followed by gay groups of patricians and their ladies in elaborate Roman and Grecian gowns with gold and jeweled trimmings and dainty dandies, accompanied by slaves and beautiful pages. Pompous freedmen filled the space between the first and a second, still more elegant, palanquin in which reclined a noble matron, accompanied by a page who wielded a magnificent peacock fan. Two steers with gilded horns drew the carriage of the imperial family, which was preceded by a detachment of slaves and a troop of Gallic guardsmen. Then followed the emperor, clad in consular robes, reclining in a carriage drawn by Ethiopian slaves. Next came more pretorians and the ephebes, who were to take part in the festival games, children with wreaths and flower baskets, shepherds and peasants, and finally the young steer and sheep set apart for the sacrifice, priests and their attendants, vestals in white robes and the lictors, bearing the axe and fasces, the insignia of their office. A motley crowd brought up the rear. After marching twice around the stadium the procession approached the center, where an altar had been erected. The imperial family and the senators were then seated in a semi-circle upon curules, chairs of state, the children scattered their flowers among the patricians, and the high priest with the Vestalis Maxima approached the steps of the altar and lighted the fire, amid the applause of the gaping multitude. A chorus of 300 voices accompanied the sacrificial ceremony with the song of Horatian Carmen Saeculare, which had been set to music by Maestro Cellini especially for this occasion.

From an artistic as well as spectacular point of view the Palilian festival of 1902 was not only a perfect success, but a lesson as well. It demonstrated that nowhere outside of Italy and Greece can classic spectacles of antiquity be reproduced in a satisfactory manner. Englishmen, Germans and Americans have tried it, but always without success. They spent more money on their productions than the Romans, but gold could not supply the mercurial temperament and ancestral pride which are essential to the effective representation of historical scenes.

The War Dogs of Germany

They Are Taught to Carry Messages and Ammunition.

THE natural instincts of the dog, his docility, watchfulness, endurance and reliability, have induced the German war office to use him for military purposes. The raising and training of the so-called war dogs has been entrusted to the sharpshooter branch of the service, with a commissioned officer in charge. It is his duty to train the dogs especially for picket duty. The prime essential in the canine educational scheme is to develop the faculty of watchfulness so that the pupil will give warning of the approach of a stranger by a subdued growl, instead of a loud and dangerous bark. Next, the dog must learn to carry messages from one point to another with absolute precision. Reports entrusted to him by advance pickets he must carry to headquarters without loss of time. As soon as he has delivered the message he must return to the place from which he was dispatched. The picture shows how the canine messenger carries his papers—in a small leather bag attached to the collar.

But a truly efficient war dog has still other missions to perform. He should be able to carry ammunition to the sharpshooting detachments at the front. And after the battle he is supposed to assist in locating wounded and disabled soldiers and announce eventual discoveries by short, sharp barks.

Results like these indicated can be obtained only after a prolonged course of expert training, and then only with pure-blooded animals. The breeds most in demand are poodles, pointers and Scotch collies. The latter are preferred, because with marvelous intelligence they combine a hardiness which enables them to defy climatic changes.

Germany is not the only country which employs dogs for military purposes. France has, for some time, used them in connection with the army hospital corps and the army police service. In Italy they are employed for carrying drinking water and light refreshments to detached posts. In the Alpine divisions of Austria they are taught to act as guides as well as messengers.

The officers of the United States army do not take kindly to the introduction of canine auxiliaries, but the wonderful success which has attended their enrollment in the continental armies may work a revolution and lead to the formation of a military dog-training establishment.

Lovers of dogs are not surprised at the intelligence displayed by the German war dogs. They consider their feats merely as a rational development of the wisdom of which every dog is possessed in a greater or less degree.

SPORTING NEWS

ON THE DIAMOND.

The Scotch Plains team will shortly have another shy at the Xavier Deaf Mutes, by whom they were defeated last Saturday. They are to meet again a week from the coming Saturday on the 'Plains grounds. The 'Plains opponents Saturday will be the Riversides, of Newark.

Captain Wm. Townley, of the local firemen's team, has decided upon Edward Townley and Frank McCabe as the battery for the coming game with the cops. Townley did quite some twirling in his younger days and only a short time ago was a slab artist for a West End team. McCabe is also considered an excellent rear end man.

Manager Cose has altered the Hope line-up to a considerable extent for Saturday's game with the Y. M. C. A. He announces it as follows: Hartfelder, c; Montross, p; Feiring, 1b; Hewitt, 2b; Munro, 3b; Martin, ss; Overton, rf; Shortman, cf; Gordon, lf. This is considered to be the best placed team that Hope can put in the field.

Interest in base stealing is again becoming manifest, judging from the attempts the players are making to get around. Bert Moore, of the Y. M. C. A., is making a strong bid to capture the prize for this branch of thievery and is well up in front. He secured three in Saturday's game. He is followed closely by Roseberry and Overton, of the Hopes.

The Riversides, who are to play the Scotch Plains baseball team Saturday afternoon, defeated the Everett College team by a score of 12 to 1. The Everett College team defeated the Wilmington, Del., team early in the season. The Wilmi gtons for satisfaction defeated the Pittsburg League team. The Everett College team meets Westfield Saturday afternoon and Scotch Plains is scheduled to cross bats for the second time this season with the nine who played all around Everett College. Scotch Plains won the former game, 5 to 3.

The hat-throwing episode at last Saturday's Hope-Safe Works game has led to much discussion as to who is to blame for several little acts of this nature, which have occurred at the League games of late. Every fan has his opinion but the fact remains that the members or anybody connected with any of the teams do not countenance any such conduct on the part of the spectators but they are powerless in most cases to prevent it. It is simply a case of a man's enthusiasm running away with him and is as likely to happen on one side as the other. However, it is fortunate that matters have been of a rather trifling nature as the excitement at every contest is intense.

ROD AND GUN.

This is the season when many Nimrods from New York and other States find their way into the preserves of New Jersey, looking for big game. In the vicinity of Plainfield and the surrounding towns the echo of the gun in action may frequently be heard. These sporting individuals from other haunts should remember that non-residents are required to take out a license, which will be issued by the county clerk of any county in the State upon the payment of a fee of $10 and an issuance fee of fifty cents.

The license holds good for one year from the date of issue and authorizes the owner to hunt or kill in any part of the State during the open seasons of the year. To all non-residents who are the owners of freehold estates in any part of the State, who reside thereon a portion of the year, and who pay taxes thereon, the license will be issued without any charge except the issuance fee of fifty cents.

The act does not apply to hunting or gunning on game preserves at present established or to gunning or hunting for wild water fowl, snipe or mud hens. The law then prescribes the right to arrest upon failing to show a license, and the method of proceeding to collect the penalty for violation of the act.

AMONG THE STEPPERS.

Lovers of horse racing will learn with pleasure that there are excellent prospects for a resumption of the sport at the local driving park within the course of the next few weeks. Plans are being laid by the members of the Plainfield association for a return to the "matinee" races which have been features here during the past, and the arrangements will probably be perfected within the coming week. Nothing in the way of detail can be made public at present, but the association promises some good events as soon as possible. If everything be fulfilled as expected there may be an afternoon of the old-time trotting on Saturday of next week.

SUCCESSFUL EXCURSION.

Trip to Atlantic City Was Made in Best Cars and Equipment.

The train, which conveyed the Plainfield excursionists to Atlantic City, Tuesday, is considered by the officials of the New Jersey Central to be the best they ever put out for one day. It was made up of all new cars recently placed in service and hauled by a large engine of the most modern type. The one idea was to give comfort to the passengers and to see that everything went well, one of the highest officials of the company made the trip all the way. He was enthusiastic over the result and may be the means of other excursions being conducted by the company to the same place. The Junior excursion carried in all 400 persons.

May Have Been in Wreck.

The steam yacht Altair, belonging to Edwin D. Trowbridge, a banker at 16 Nassau street, New York, ran aground yesterday on a ledge known as "No Nation Rocks" on the north end of Hart's Island in Long Island Sound. Frank Clark, clerk to the local Board of Education, left yesterday to join a party on this yacht but it has been impossible to learn if he was aboard when it ran aground.

Shot One Bird.

Mr. Kennedy, who has been stopping at the Hotel Kensington, is now quartered at the Watchung Hotel, Greenbrook, enjoying the hunting and fishing of that part of Somerset county. He shot one woodcock this morning on the meadows near Sebring's pond.

A NEW CHAMOIS FACTORY

IS TO BE BUILT AT LINCOLN IN A VERY SHORT TIME.

An Outgrowth of Company the Factory of Which Located at Bound Brook Was Burned.

Another new industry is planned for Lincoln. The Lincoln Chamois and Leather Company, which was incorporated at Trenton two days ago, has purchased a site with 500 feet frontage on the railroad and 500 feet on the boulevard, facing Lincoln avenue, the highest point in the town of Lincoln. Plans are out for a factory of moderate size which will be enlarged as the demands require it.

This industry is really an outgrowth of the old Franco-American Chamois Manufacturing Company, which had a factory at Bound Brook. The quarters there were not well adapted and were burned down two years ago. Since then the practical chamois workers have been looking for more capital. Charles P. Sebring, of Greenbrook, finally took an interest in the work which had been shown to be a success and, with the aid of William Brown, of Jersey City, whose summer home is located at Greenbrook, formed the new company.

Some of the skilled workmen who were formerly employed at the Chapot factory in this city, will go with the new firm which will begin the preparation of chamois at the earliest possible date.

Was Not Thomas From Dunellen.

A cablegram to the war department from Manila confirms the reported death of the school teachers in Cebu. Among the number is Louis A. Thomas, of Providence, R. I., which sets at rest the story that Lewis S. Thomas, of Dunellen, was killed.

At Rescue Mission.

There will be instrumental and vocal music at the Rescue Mission this evening, also graphaphone selections by Michael Armstrong. A feature will be a temperance talk. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Vacation Days.

Vacation time is here and the children are fairly living out of doors. There could be no healthier place for them. You need only to guard against the accidents incidental to most open air sports. ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887 — PLAINFIELD, N. J., FRIDAY, JULY 25, 1902. — TWO CENTS A COPY—$5 A YEAR.

ANDREW M'CARDELL IS STILL A CANDIDATE

Announcement of Judge Runyon's Senatorial Ambitions Has Not Affected His Stand.

WANTS TO BE SHERIFF.

ONE REPUBLICAN THINKS PLAINFIELD WILL LAND THEM BOTH.

Says That Plainfield Saved Union County for Republicans Last Fall and That This City is Deserving of Special Favors This Year.

Deeper interest than has been shown for several years is attached to the political situation in Union county, since the announcement that City Judge Runyon is in the field for the prospective honors of the State Senatorial nomination. Plainfield feels that it is the centre of the problem and the other parts of the county are being brought to view the matter in the same light.

What makes conditions so uncertain, in the eyes of the timid, is the fact that Plainfield is out for the large end of the slate for the coming elections. Andrew MacCardell is still looked upon as the candidate for sheriff. When questioned on the subject yesterday, he repeated the assertion that he still desired and hoped for the nomination. Except for the three Assemblymen, the only other office to be filled this year is that of surrogate, which is generally conceded to the present incumbent, George Parrott, for another term.

Speaking of the possibility of the Plainfield claimants for office injuring one another, a prominent Republican said last evening that there was no reason for entertaining such a fear. "The outcome of last year's election," he said, "has shown Elizabeth that the Plainfield vote was the only thing which saved the county from the Democrats. Look at the majority the Democratic Mayor got in the county seat! It was the same with Rahway. Of all the little thousand majority in Union county, this city contributed 900.

"Will the county at large recognize this as basis for the claims of Plainfield? I think certainly. It is not asking much. We are offering the party two splendid men. MacCardell already has the promised support of nearly all the county and Runyon's popularity ought to carry him through without any trouble. It's a case of a debt, you know. The county owes it—has owed it for a long time—to give Plainfield one good year; and when it comes in such a way as at present, there is the best reason in the world for being hopeful."

Mr. MacCardell spoke warmly of Judge Runyon's ambition and his chances for the senatorship. He, too, thinks the rest of the county will acknowledge the justice of Plainfield's claims when the time for making the nominations comes. Meanwhile, politicians are watching the pot boiling and considering the always expected "probabilities."

ALMOST A PANIC.

Little Blaze in Blacksmith Shop Came Near Burning a Horse.

Fire and panic was narrowly averted in Horace J. Martin's blacksmith shop on Somerset street yesterday afternoon. A live spark alighted on a large woolen blanket covering a horse that was being shod and immediately the fuzzy material was in a blaze. Only the prompt action of the part of the men in snatching the blanket off the animal and smothering the flames prevented injury to the beast and avoided a stampede by the ten or twelve other horses lined up in the shop.

Alfred University Quartette.

The Alfred University Quartette will sing and otherwise assist at the services at the Seventh-Day Baptist church tonight and tomorrow morning. Mr. Loofboro, who is a member of the quartette, is the pastor-elect of the Seventh-Day Baptist church of New York City. While in Plainfield he will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hubbard.

Lad Doing Well.

The latest report from Norfolk, Conn., is that Roger Mellick the youngest son of Councilman and Mrs. George P. Mellick, who fractured his thigh recently, is doing as well as can be expected. The parents are still with their son.

W. C. T. U. Convention.

The fall convention of the Somerset county W. C. T. U. will be held in September at Bound Brook.

ONLY WAITED.

But the Sidewalk Was Not the Place to Sleep.

Cosily sleeping on the sidewalk at Second street and Park avenue, the famous George Washington was picked up by Patrolman McGinley after midnight and taken to the police station. In spite of George's explanation that he had left a colored soiree at Saengerbund Hall simply that he might be on hand at 5 o'clock to awaken the "dog watch," he was adjudged guilty of unbecoming conduct and sentenced to pay a fine of $3 in city court this morning.

NO TRACE OF HIM.

War Department Has Heard Nothing of John T. Bowden Since His Discharge Last May.

Fred W. Bowden, of this city, in reply to a communication addressed to the war department, has received a letter from Major H. A. Green, assistant adjutant-general, stating that the records of the war office show that his brother, John T. Bowden, Company H, Sixth Infantry, was honorably discharged May 11, last at Iloilo, P. I., by reason of expiration of service. The letter goes on to say that there is no record of his subsequent enlistment or return to the United States on file in the War Office, hence his whereabouts is unknown to the department.

It will be remembered, as previously stated in The Daily Press, that some apprehension was expressed for the safety of John T. Bowden. The last word received from him by his relatives in this city was in April last from Manila, when Mr Bowden expressed his intention of sailing for home on May 11, the date of his discharge. Since then no word has been heard from him.

JUST MISSED IT.

Local Excursionists Had a Pleasant Time at Park and Didn't Get Wet.

Nothing but fair skies greeted the excursionists from Plainfield to Asbury Park yesterday. While this city was being drenched with rain during the afternoon and evening, those at the shore were enjoying the sunshine. Not until the train was almost ready to leave the Park on the homeward journey did the shower strike the excursionists, and they escaped with only a slight touch of rain. When they reached home, at 8:40 o'clock, it was again clear. The day passed off happily, without accident or excitement of any kind. Over 700 people took passage.

BLAZE IN HOUSE.

'Phone Alarm Brought Out Department and Quickly Ended Fire.

The fire department was called out by telephone at 10 o'clock this morning for a blaze in a house on West Eighth street, below Clinton avenue. No. 2 Hose wagon and the chemical engine were sent out in response to the alarm by Chief Doane. The fire was in a house owned by Elliott brothers, and occupied by Daniel McDevitt, employed as laborer by Henry A McGee, of the borough. The interior of the building had received a bad scorching but on the arrival of the department the flames were quickly quenched.

Methodists' Turn.

The next excursion scheduled for Asbury Park and Ocean Grove is that of the Methodist Sunday-schools of this city and Dunellen, which goes Thursday. A full day is to be given to those who attend as the train leaves this city at 8 o'clock in the morning and on the return leaves the beach at 7:10. A special car will be attached to the train for the accommodation of bicycles, lunch baskets and baby carriages.

New News Station.

After today, the west bound railroad station will have the benefit of the new stand of the Union News Company. Agent Alfred Lacey removed his stock from the other side of the track today and he is now ready for business in his new location. The formerly occupied booth will be removed and a stand placed inside the station on the North avenue side.

Dime Social.

A dime social was held last evening under the auspices of Martha Washington Council, No. 23, Daughters of America, at the residnece of Mrs. Henry Angleman, of East Fourth street. A large number of people were present and a very pleasant evening was had in playing games and listening to vocal and instrumental music. During the evening refreshments were served.

Elected Medical Examiner.

At the last meeting of Benevolent Council, No. 226, Jr. O. U. A. M., Dr. A. H. Dundon was elected medical examiner for the council.

JOHN ADDISON WAS HELD

ARRESTED ON COMPLAINT OF TWO MEN FROM NEWARK.

Claimed That He Had Collected for Loan Association and Not Paid it—He Claims No Fraud.

On the complaint of Albert J. Richards and Morris B. Moriarty, of Newark, John Addison, at one time an agent for the National Building Loan and Provident Association, of Newark, was arraigned before Justice Nash yesterday afternoon to answer to charges of collecting money as dues and not turning the same over to the association which he represented. According to the statement of the complainants, the defendant collected $45 from Mr. Richards and $100 from Mr. Moriarty as dues. They were represented by Lawyer W. S. Angleman, who appeared for them at the hearing.

The complainants made statements to the effect that the money had been collected from them by Mr. Addison and that they had discovered that it had not been paid to the association. In refutation of the charge, Mr. Addison stated that he had kept the money and that he expected to transfer it to another association of a similar character. Mr. Addison has also stated that he is innocent of any fraud and that any building loan or insurance agent in New Jersey could be arrested on the same charge.

The treasurer of the National Building Loan and Provident Association was present at the hearing and made a statement that the money collected by Mr. Addison had not been turned over to the association. He also added that Mr. Addison is no longer connected with the association.

After hearing the statements of the parties concerned, Justice Nash decided to hold the defendant for the Grand Jury in $200 bail on each of the two charges, and in default of bail he was locked up at the police station. He is represented by Lawyer Swackhamer. Unless he secures bail today he will be committed to the county jail.

SHORE TROLLEY.

New Jersey Central Traction Company Has Filed Map Showing the Line It Is About to Build.

The New Jersey Central Traction Company has filed a map in the secretary of State's office at Trenton, showing the route of seventeen miles of track it is about to lay between Keyport and Red Bank.

Starting at Keyport, the trolley line will cross Chingarora Creek, following the south side of the Atlantic Highlands branch of the Central Railroad of New Jersey in an easterly direction to Kenasbury. From there it will run southeast over a private right of way to a point near New Monmouth.

At this point the road branches, one line skirting Sandy Hook Bay, touching Atlantic Highlands and other points, and thence southerly to Red Bank. The other branch will run direct from New Monmouth to Red Bank, the two forming an irregular triangle, connecting with the single line from Keyport.

NO DIVIDEND YET.

President Baer, of Reading System, Refuses to Talk on the Subject.

Regarding the subject of the next semi-annual dividend on Reading preferred stock, President George F. Baer, of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad, declines to say anything for publication. It has been expected that the directors would meet on the third Wednesday in July and declare either 1½ or 2 per cent. dividend. No meeting of the board has even been called for the month of August, and there is much doubt about the board declaring the regular 2 per cent. semi-annual. Such a declaration would result in the dissolution of the voting trust which is composed of J. Pierpont Morgan and Frederic P. Olcott, of New York, and C. S. W. Packard, of Philadelphia.

Enjoyable Trip.

You will find yourself in good company if you go with Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., on its annual excursion to Asbury Park on American Day, August 14, and there is not the slightest doubt but what you will enjoy the trip. There are twenty-one Councils from Essex county that will run excursions to the shore that day.

A Foreign Exchange Department.

The First National Bank has opened a foreign exchange department and is now prepared to issue drafts on London and Paris and letters of credit available in all parts of the world.

A GREAT DAY FOR SEA GIRT

Plainfield's Boys Participated in Jersey's Reception to President Roosevelt.

DETAILS OF THE DAY.

After an Early Dinner Company K Turned Out With the Rest for the Review—Was Represented on the Guard of Honor—Capt. Wehrly, of Somerville, Officer of the Day.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Camp Murphy, Sea Girt, July 25—President Roosevelt's visit is still the all absorbing topic of discussion among the men of the National Guard, who will probably look back upon yesterday as the banner day of their camp experience. It was certainly a great day. From the time when the boys turned out shortly after 5 o'clock in the morning, until the last voice had died away in slumber last night, the militiamen were in a state of continual excitement. To their credit be it said, however, that in welcoming the President and in conducting themselves before him, they all acted every inch the soldier.

None of the men will soon forget how the President, mounted on a splendid black horse and accompanied by the Governor and staff, rode three times at full speed around the regiment lined up on the lawn before the tents. Nor will they forget the stirring speech which the President made to them after the review. He highly complimented them on appearance and work, dwelt upon the importance of training and adjured them all to remember what was before them in the way of duty.

Company K had mess dinner early yesterday—at 11 o'clock—to allow for meeting the President. After waiting in front of the headquarters for an hour and a half, they were rewarded by the arrival of the Executive. The K boys had a busy day of it. They were represented on the guard of honor to the President by Privates Starr, Bogart and Stiglitz. The company guard for the day comprised Niles, 1st and 2d, Zimmer, Peterson and Phillips. Captain John Wehrly, of Somerville, was officer of the day, and Lieutenant Landahl, of Co. H, and Thompson, of Co. G, officers of the guard.

Company K's sick list now comprises Private Daly, who is badly sunburned, and A. R. Phililps, who changed his milk and is now sorry. Yesterday's waiter detail included Privates Terhune, Hinkle, Ford, Emmons, Anderson.

Among the Plainfield visitors at camp yesterday were a number of Sunday-school excursionists, who came over from Asbury Park while spending the day at the shore. Those noticed about camp included: Assemblyman Newcorn, J. P. Mosher, William Smith, Senator Reed, Elmer Walker, Sr., Fred MacDonald, Joseph Hawkins, Webster Littell, L. W. Niles, William Ford, L. B. Woolston, wife and daughters, J. H. Doane and wife, Andrew Johnson and wife, Mrs. H. B. Kitchell, Mrs. Browning and daughter, Mrs. Trenchard, Miss Alberts, Mrs. J. M. Hakins, Mrs. J. W. Turner and child, Mrs. C. A. Kenzey, Mrs. Percy Vail, Miss Florence Bilyeu, Miss Emma Peterson, Miss Emma Stran, Miss Lida Pangborn, the Misses Jenkins, Miss Littell, Miss Agnes Morse, Mrs. Abrams and children.

Tiring of single blessedness and evidently counting upon the attractions exerted upon the fair sex by a government uniform, several members of Company K have opened a matrimonial bureau, hoping to supply themselves with helpmates before the week closes. This is the announcement which greets visitors to the particular tent where the concern has opened business: "A few good looking and industrious young gentlemen wish to make the acquaintance of young ladies of High Social Standing; must be accomplished and beautiful of face and figure; must not chew, smoke, swear or drink. Young ladies with large incomes preferred. For further particulars, inquire within. P. S. Young ladies without incomes must be thoroughly capable of earning $25 a week. P. S. Some ideal specimens of manhood within."

Among the "ideal specimens" occupying the tent, which is known by the name of the "Astor House," are Woolston, Walker, Hayes, Pope, Giles, Turner, Glaentzer and Yerkes.

EXCURSION STARTED IN RAIN

PROMISE OF CLEARING TEMPTED SEVERAL HUNDRED PEOPLE SHOREWARD.

Postponed Excursion of Trinity Reformed Church Sunday-School Was Held This Morning.

Rain had no terrors for the members of Trinity Reformed church when they journeyed to the railroad station this morning for their second attempt at the annual Sunday-school excursion to Asbury Park. In spite of the heavy downpour from the clouds, the sharp lightning and the peeling thunder, several hundred light hearted people boarded the train and set out for a day at the shore.

In charge of Conductor Frank Webster, of North Plainfield, the special train of thirteen cars was drawn up at the North Avenue station at an early hour, and shortly before 8 o'clock, the decision was announced that the storm should not prevent the trip being taken and that the excursion would be taken today. Amid much scurrying of umbrellas, the crowds managed to gain entrance to the cars. Nine of the coaches were well filled and two partly so with the remaining two empty.

Word from the shore that it showed every prospect of clearing brought hope to the hearts of the dubious ones who stood watching the lowering clouds over this city. Weatherman John Neagle also was on hand, without shame for his performance, but with promises of sunshine later in the day. On the strength of such assurances, the party made the start of the journey, leaving the station shortly before the 8:30 express.

DUNELLEN FIRES.

Little Blaze in Residence of John Logan and One Also at the Round House.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, July 25—Defender Hose Company had an exceptionally busy day yesterday having to answer two alarms. The first was at the home of John Logan, of Lincoln avenue. This blaze was caused by an oil stove but was out before the enigne reached there.

The second was in the afternoon at the railroad round house. Some wood just under the slate roof caught fire from an overheated boiler early in the morning. It was watched and was thought to be out when it suddenly broke out about 2 o'clock necessitating the calling out of the engine. After considerable trouble the blaze was extinguished. At one time the water pressure was so low that the water could not reach the roof.

LEFT A TRAIL.

Runaway Horse Scattered Contents of Milk Wagon in its Path.

Thunder frightened a horse belonging to David Steele, the Fanwood dairyman, this morning, and incidentally occasioned an exciting and by no means harmless runaway. Mr. Steele was in Scotch Plains at the time, about 7 o'clock, and had left his wagon for a moment. When the crash came, the horse stood not upon ceremony nor waited for his driver, but dashed off toward the mountain. His trail was easily followed by the milk and bottles which he left along the road behind.

Westfield's Rate Reduced.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, July 25—The tax rate for the coming year will be $2.54, two points lower than last year. This is due to the efforts of Assessor J. M. C. Marsh. The taxpayers are much pleased in consequence, for the township has raised more money this year than last.

Lots of New Red Men.

At the meeting of Wetumpkah Tribe, No. 229, Independent Order of Red Men, last evening, eight applications were received for membership in the tribe, besides two adoptions. The third degree will be worked on three candidates at the next meeting, in addition to a number of adoptions.

Fresh Air Camp's Work.

Friends of the Westfield Fresh Air Camp and its work are invited to the special meeting to be held in the interests of the institution, under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society of the First Baptist church, this evening. Arthur Pierson, of Westfield, will make the address.

In Justice Hand's Court.

Suit has been brought in Justice Hand's court by Frank J. Gast, doing business as the New York Supply House, Cortlandt street, New York, against Mary Armstrong, of this city. The summons is returnable at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Hetfield & Hetfield represent the plaintiff.

INFORMAL DANCE.

Given to the Guests at the Park Avenue Hotel Wednesday Night.

An informal dance was given at the Park Avenue Hotel Wednesday evening under the auspices of Manager John D. Bailey. There were nearly fifty young people present, including guests at the hotel and a few from this city. The affair was a pleasant one in every respect and during the course of the evening refreshments were served. It is the purpose of the management to give these informal dances every week. This evening a euchre party will be given.

FOR OTHER CREDITORS.

Bankruptcy Proceedings Delayed in Attempt to Give All an Equal Show.

The settling of the bankruptcy proceedings of V. L. Frazee came up before Vice Chancellor Emery at Newark Tuesday and on motion of William Newcorn was laid over until September 16, to allow him the necessary time to prepare affidavits to offset those presented by Wilksinson & Gaddis, of Newark, creditors to the amount of $2,800. Besides this firm there are other creditors claiming about $2,800, and there is now $1,300 to satisfy all hands.

The case on Tuesday was the return of the rule to show cause why the sheriff should not be restrained from turning over the amount to Wilksinson & Gaddis, and Mr. Newcorn succeeded in having the money placed in the Court of Chancery for the purpose of securing an equal division among the creditors. If the claim of Wilkinson & Gaddis is not allowed it is believed that a settlement of fifty cents on the dollar can be made.

PEACE DECLARED.

Family Troubles Were Suddenly Ended When He Was Arraigned.

Loving words and affectionate promises of future calm followed the stormy scene which brought Mr. and Mrs. John Kelley into the city court this morning. On complaint of the wife, Kelley had been arrested for disorderly conduct, consisting of alleged abuse of his better half. A rather battered face was offered in evidence thereof. In spite of this, however, Mrs. Kelley relented when she faced the prospect of having her husband go to jail and the pair made a public reconciliation, to the joy of all beholders. The court then suspended sentence.

Osteopaths In Session.

The New Jersey Osteopathic Society held a meeting at Asbury Park yesterday. There was a large attendance, including prominent practioners from other States. Among the officers of the society is Dr. G. D. Herring, of this city. Dr. D. W. Granberry, of Orange, was elected a delegate to the convention of the American Osteopathic Association, to be held at Milwaukee August 6, 7 and 8. Several new members were elected before the meeting adjourned.

Going to Initiate One.

Miantonomo Tribe, No. 118, Improved Order Red Men, will hold a meeting this evening, when the new degree team under the captaincy of William Newcorn will adopt one pale face, Phil. Sheridan. The members of Wetumpkah Tribe, No. 229, are especially invited to be present to see the work. After the business of the evening the good and welfare committee will provide an entertainment and refreshments.

Musical Features.

At the Rescue Mission meeting in the First Church of Christ last evening the services were led by John Goodwin. After the services an entertainment was given, consisting of selections on a phonograph owned by Michael Armstrong, and instrumental duets, violin and harp, by Antoine Gaub and E. Hankerson.

A New Resident.

Samuel Reid, a wealthy merchant of Saribaulb, Minn., purchased of A. D. Thompson yesterday the handsome colonial residence on West Seventh street, near Grant avenue, which has just been completed. He will take possession early in September.

Received Insurance.

Mrs. Robert Jahn, of Scotch Plains, has recently received from the Endowment Rank, Knights of Pythias, the sum of $3,000, her husband having been insured in the organization for that amount.

Finished in Jail.

On a little celebration John Cawley, of Netherwood, caused a disturbance on North avenue last night and finished in the city jail. City Judge Runyon made it $5 or twenty days.

Mrs. Thomas McGann, of the borough, has gone to Providence, R. I., where she will visit relatives for a time.

ATTEMPTED TO ESCAPE FROM THE REFORMATORY

Harry Melick Hid in Cement Pile for Three Hours When the Guards Found Him.

HIS SECOND ATTEMPT.

HAS A BAD REPUTATION SINCE HE HAS BEEN IN THE REFORMATORY.

One of the Ten Compelled to Wear the "Red" Suit—His Absence Was Discovered When Inmates Were Rounded Up at 4 o'Clock.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Rahway, July 25—The blowing of the great whistle at the Rahway reformatory, Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, told to the world that a prisoner had escaped. Three hours later the whistle called in the searchers and told of his recapture. The inmate, who caused all the excitement, was Harry Melick, who was committed from Perth Amboy several months ago.

Melick, whose record has been so bad that he has been obliged to wear the "red" suit, worn only by those considered the most untrustworthy, had during the afternoon, with several others, been packing cement in the storage house.

The gang was rounded up for the night about 4 o'clock, and ten minutes later Melick's absence was noticed. A hasty search was made, and as the missing man could not be found, a general alarm was sounded. The blowing of the whistle continued almost steadily for at least 15 minutes.

The guards, heavily armed, began to search the surrounding woods and cornfields, and the police of every city and town within a radius of ten miles were notified to keep a lookout for the missing man.

The search was continued until about 7 o'clock when one of the guards, said to be named Banks, accidentally discovered the fugitive secreted among the bags of cement on the reformatory grounds.

From what can be learned Banks, while inspecting the heap of cement, noticed that three of the bags were somewhat differently arranged than the others. His suspicions were aroused. Moving one of the bags aside, he struck a match, peered into the opening and flashed the burning match directly in Melick's face.

With assistance, Melick was dragged from his hiding place and hastily placed in a cell. The big whistle was again blown to call in the guards and inform all within its hearing that the fugitive had been captured.

It was at first thought that Melick had affected an escape by scaling the ten-foot fence at the rear of the grounds.

Melick is one of ten who, for some time past, have been compelled to wear the "red" suit. He is said to have given the reformatory officials a large amount of trouble since his commitment to the institution. This is the second time that he has at tempted to escape.

FELL OFF CAR.

Brakeman Injured Near Cranford and Brought to the Hospital.

Joseph Afflerbach, aged twenty-eight years, of Phillipsburg, a brakeman on a New Jersey Central freight train, fell off a box car at Cranford early this morning and received injuries about the face and chest. He was brought to Muhlenberg Hospital about 6 o'clock, where he is now doing well. It is not likely that he will be at the hospital over two or three days as his injuries are not of a serious character.

Want 'Phone Franchise.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Perth Amboy, July 25—Application has been made to the Perth Amboy City Council by the Hudson and Middlesex Telephone Company for a franchise through the city. In its application the company announces its intention of connecting Perth Amboy and South Amboy by means of the proposed bridge across the Raritan river. The company is now in operation in Woodbridge and other towns in the eastern part of the county.

Report of Convention.

At the Christian Endeavor meeting of the Seventh-Day Baptist church tomorrow afternoon Miss Mary A. Ross will give her report as delegate to the recent State conventon at Bridgeton.

—The Jenny Lind and Rocky Ford melons on sale at Neuman Bros. enjoy greater fame and greater popularity than ever did the warbler Jenny Lind.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE DOING

SOME BRIEF PARAGRAPHS OF A PERSONAL NATURE.

Postmaster and Mrs. Elias H. Bird, of Elm place, are expected to return home next week from the Adirondacks, where they are enjoying their summer outing.

HOW TO RECREATE.

Some of the Attractions Offered by the Jersey Central.

Recreation is in every sense American since the American people delight in amusement, and at this season when everyone is indulging in pleasure there is nothing more fascinating than a trip to the beach, and where can one find the equal of the New Jersey coast. A veritable play-ground it is for several reasons. Its accessibility is unquestionably unequaled and for those who delight in bathing the opportunities are without stint. Then to, its close proximity to the "only New York" makes it necessary for the region to be thoroughly up-to-date, and that it is goes without saying.

Fine hotels admirably kept are every where on the Jersey coast, and the features which are made prominent in their itinerary includes golf, ping-pong, yachting, driving, fishing, crabbing and bathing. The New Jersey Central is the great thoroughfare to the New Jersey coast resorts, and its trains are models of excellence and convenience, and connection is made from Plainfield on train leaving at 2:31 p. m., for Red Bank, Long Branch, Deal Beach, West End, Allenhurst, Asbury Park, Ocean Grove, Avon, Belmar, Spring Lake and Point Pleasant, while good connections are also made for Beach Haven, Tuckerton, Atlantic City, Cape May and Ocean City.

The New Jersey Central, passenger department, No. 636, New York, sends free upon application a hotel and boarding list as well as a book on Atlantic City, both of which are replete with valuable information. Send for them.

Poisoning the System.

It is through the bowels that the body is cleansed of impurities. Constipation keeps these poisons in the system, causing headache, dullness and melancholia at first, then unsightly eruptions and finally serious illness unless a remedy is applied. DeWitt's Little Early Risers prevent this trouble by stimulating the liver and promote easy, healthy action of the bowels. These little pills do not act violently but by strengthening the bowels enable them to perform their own work. Never gripe or distress. L. W. Randolph.

Civil Service Exams.

Citizens of New Jersey contemplating taking Civil Service examinations during the next fall will do well to remember that the Civil Service Commission has just announced examinations for numerous positions to be held in New Jersey as follows: At Trenton October 9 and 21 and at Newark October 10.

—Rev. George B. Shaw will speak and the male quartette of Alfred University will sing at the Y. M. C. A. meeting, Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Mother Always Keeps It Handy.

"My mother suffered a long time from distressing pains and general ill health due primarily to indigestion," says L. W. Spalding, Verona, Mo. "Two years ago I got her to try Kodol. She grew better at once and now, at the age of seventy-six, eats any thing she wants, remarking that she fears no bad effects as she has her bottle of Kodol handy." Don't waste time doctoring symptoms. Go after the cause. If your stomach is sound your health will be good. Kodol rests the stomach and strengthens the body by digesting your food. It is nature's own tonic. L. W. Randolph.

A HARMONY DINNER.

Democratic Leaders Meet at Nantasket, Mass.

BRYAN AND SHEPARD MAKE SPEECHES

The Nebraskan Says It Is Now a Life and Death Struggle Between Democracy and Plutocracy.

BOSTON, July 25.—Nearly 4,000 Democrats gathered at Nantasket yesterday and participated in the "harmony" meeting arranged by the New England Democratic league, the new political organization which is expected to develop its strength in the fall campaign. Mayor P. A. Collins of this city acted as "moderator," as he expressed it, and presented in order Hon. Edward M. Shepard of New York, Senator Edward W. Carmack of Tennessee and Hon. William J. Bryan of Nebraska, who expounded and discussed the issues of the campaign to the marked satisfaction of the audience.

Colonel W. A. Gaston and Hon. Charles S. Hamlin, rival candidates for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in Massachusetts, were both present, while Hon. Lewis Nixon of New York and Congressman Wilson of that state and John R. Thayer of Massachusetts were conspicuous among the guests.

The weather of the morning was cloudy and threatening, but at noon the sun appeared, and as a result the afternoon boats to the beach were crowded.

Mr. Bryan took a fling at the "harmonizers" in his address on "The Basis of Harmony."

"To attempt to patch up an apparent harmony," he said, "between those who are not in sympathy with Democratic purposes is not only a waste of time, but would prove disastrous.

"The men who deserted the party in 1896 may be divided into two classes, those who left because they understood the issue presented and those who left because they did not understand the real nature of the contest. Until the former are completely changed in their sympathies they cannot return to the party without injuring it. The latter will be reconciled to the party when they themselves become aware of the real character of the life and death struggle now being waged between plutocracy and democracy.

"I say plutocracy because the aristocracy of today is one of wealth rather than of birth, and it includes not only those who have been alienated from the common people by the possession of great wealth, but those who, although without wealth, pander to it and measure all things with a money standard."

Mr. Bryan explained the defeat of 1900 by asserting that the Republicans fell heir to the enthusiasm aroused by a successful war. Financial interests, he said, had given their aid to the Republicans for the advantage of a gold standard and a bank currency.

Mr. Shepard spoke of the new issues before the people.

Lived With Bullet Through Heart.

BALTIMORE, July 25.—Coroner Baldwin investigated yesterday the death of Mrs. Cecilia M. Sullivan, who died at the Maryland Homeopathic hospital from pistol shot wounds self inflicted, and rendered a certificate accordingly. Dr. H. J. Walton made an autopsy of the body, which revealed the remarkable fact that Mrs. Sullivan had lived about eighteen hours, part of the time conscious, with one bullet wound through the heart and another that penetrated the stomach, liver and spleen.

Secretary Moody's Vacation.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Secretary Moody left Washington today and will not return until Sept. 1. He went from here direct to Oyster Bay and will remain at Sagamore Hill over Sunday. On Monday he will go to Salem, and later he will spend a week or ten days cruising on the Dolphin with the north Atlantic fleet. The remainder of August he probably will spend at his home at Haverhill.

Ready For the Fight.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 25.—Sporting men from all parts of the country are here to witness the battle tonight for the heavyweight championship of the world. The betting has not been heavy in comparison with the amounts wagered on previous events of the kind, and the odds have not fluctuated much from 10 to 4 in favor of Jeffries.

Mad Dog Bites Several.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 25.—A mad dog ran amuck on Portland avenue, biting four persons. Later in the day it again appeared on South avenue and attacked two boys, Willie Eisenberg and Louis Fleisch, both of whom were bitten. It is also reported the dog bit two men. The dog was later killed.

Fire at Bridgeport, Conn.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., July 25.—The large plant of the Bridgeport Wheel and Wood Bending company on John street was destroyed by fire last night. The loss is heavy, but no figures are obtainable.

Thirty Consecutive Bullseyes.

LONDON, July 25.—At Bisley in the match Rifle association cup competition Major Gibbs, a gunmaker of Bristol, performed the marvelous feat of making thirty consecutive bullseyes at 900 yards.

New York State Railroad Sold.

UTICA, N. Y., July 25.—The Dolgeville railroad was sold yesterday at Herkimer on a mortgage foreclosure. It was bid in for the bondholders by Michael H. Cardozo for $260,000.

PRESIDENT IN JERSEY

People From Governor Down Extend Hearty Welcome.

NATIONAL GUARD CAMP VISITED.

From Atlantic Highlands to Sea Girt the Roosevelt Train Passed Through Cheering Throngs of People—Troops Addressed.

SEA GIRT, N. J., July 25.—No president ever received a more sincere, heartfelt and patriotic welcome than that accorded yesterday to President Roosevelt by the people of New Jersey. From the time he landed on New Jersey soil at the Atlantic Highlands pier at 1:35 in the afternoon until he left in his launch for the war yacht Mayflower, anchored several miles off the pier, at 3:15 he was the recipient of a continuous ovation.

The president on invitation of Governor Franklin Murphy, extended through Senator Kean, visited the encampment of the Second brigade of the national guard of the state at Sea Girt. Accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt, Miss Alice Roosevelt, Mr. and Mrs. W. Emlen Roosevelt, Miss Christine Roosevelt and Assistant Secretary Loeb, the president left Sagamore Hill at 7 o'clock in the morning and boarded the Mayflower, his official naval vessel, from a launch. The run to within sight of Atlantic Highlands was made by the Mayflower in five hours, but the vessel came to anchor there, as the water was too shallow to admit of her approaching the pier. Just as she anchored the French liner La Savoie, with Secretary Root, General Horace Porter, embassador to France, and General Leonard Wood on board, passed out to sea. As the big liner swept near the presidential vessel the Mayflower fired a salute of seventeen guns in honor of the secretary of war. The liner responded by dipping her colors, while the passengers crowded her upper deck and cheered the president enthusiastically.

Major Franklin Murphy, Jr., and Captain Parker of the governor's staff boarded the Mayflower from a launch and conveyed the greetings of Governor Murphy and the people of New Jersey. Soon afterward, at 1:35, the president and his party landed at the pier from the Mayflower's electric launch, while the harbor resounded with the din of steam whistles and cheers of people in craft of every sort which scurried about the pier.

As President Roosevelt and his party stepped upon the pier they were greeted by Governor Murphy, Senators Kean and Dryden, former Secretary Cornelius N. Bliss of New York and the governor's staff in gorgeous uniforms.

The party was conducted to a special train of Pullman cars in waiting and started immediately for Sea Girt. The run was made in forty-five minutes. At every town along the route elaborate preparations had been made for the reception of the president. The stations at Seabright, Monmouth Beach, Long Branch, West End, Elberon, Deal Beach, Asbury Park, Ocean Grove and Belmar were thronged with people, who cheered and waved flags enthusiastically as the train passed. All of the stations and many of the residences in the towns through which the train passed were decorated handsomely in honor of the president's visit to New Jersey.

Ten thousand people greeted the presidential party at the Sea Girt station. President Roosevelt and other distinguished guests were escorted in carriages to the governor's cottage, adjoining the military encampment, less than half a mile from the station. As he arrived at the cottage a president's salute of twenty-one guns was fired.

After a brief rest and an informal reception at the cottage President Roosevelt and Governor Murphy and staff reviewed the troops in camp, the president being mounted on a magnificent chestnut bay, which he sat perfectly. At the conclusion of the review Mr. Roosevelt was escorted to a stand adjoining the parade ground and there addressed the assembled troops and the multitude which had gathered and which numbered by this time nearly 15,000.

It had been the intention of the president and his party to be the guests of Governor Murphy at luncheon, but the lateness of the arrival made it necessary to forego the luncheon. On the way to the cottage a veteran of the civil war and a Grand Army man rushed up to the president to grasp his hand. President Roosevelt greeted him cordially and said:

"One of the many good results of the Spanish-American war is the appreciation we of the younger generation now have of the value to you old veterans of that little button which you wear on the lapel of your coat."

At 3:15 the presidential party boarded again the special train and amid the cheers of the assembled thousands started for Atlantic Highlands.

All Night on the Mayflower.

NEW YORK, July 25.—The president's yacht Mayflower ran into a dense fog off Tompkinsville, Staten Island, last night and was compelled to remain there at anchor overnight. The return journey to Oyster Bay was completed this morning.

Ontario and Western Train Ditched.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., July 25.—A train on the Ellenville branch of the Ontario and Western railroad was thrown from the track last evening near Spring Glen while rounding a curve owing to a washout. The engine, a passenger coach and a combination car left the track. Six passengers in the latter car were somewhat injured, but none seriously.

NARROW MINDED VIEW.

Since the improvements that have been made of late in the school system of the borough, no one questions for a moment the excellence of the schools of that municipality. They are very good and compare favorably with other boroughs of similar size throughout the State. Plainfield is also particularly fortunate in possessing one of the best school systems in the State, one which has almost a national reputation. Those who heard Rev. Dr. J. L. Hurlbut, in his address at the city commencement exercises last June, will remember his statement that in every State in the Union, except four, he found that the reputation of the Plainfield schools had preceded him.

It has been argued by some citizens of the borough that they have absolutely nothing to gain as far as education is concerned by consolidation with Plainfield. They fail to remember that a single public school system for the combined city would admit of better salaries and the consequent opportunity to employ better teachers and that the running expenses would be materially reduced. A consolidated school system would be larger and therefore offer greater educational facilities for the children of both city and borough.

To a narrow minded person, there might be some reason for refusing to disturb the existing conditions simply because the children of city and borough are getting an excellent opportunity to be well educated. To one, however, who looks ahead and aims to work for the future welfare of the community, there can be only one opinion regarding the educational features of consolidation. While there will be some immediate gains, those of the future will be much greater. The possibilities of the combined system can never be hoped to be equalled under the present arrangement.

As far as the manual training school is concerned, the boroughites need have no fear of losing that very valuable feature of their educational work. While the City School Board has not publicly discussed the subject, those who are acquainted with the men who compose it know that the interests of all will be regarded. It might be the means of enlarging that department on a scale that even North Plainfield has not hoped for so that the people who now live in the borough would be the decided gainers by the arrangement. They certainly will not lose by it.

Some of the boroughites, who are interested in their present plan of education, oppose the change because they fear that the ideas now being worked out in the borough will be changed. It is a narrow view. The men who have been and are in charge of school affairs in Plainfield can be trusted to do their best to give the city high grade schools. Those who will govern school affairs in the city will, it can safely be trusted, do just as well. The future will show the relative values of different methods and the men at the head of the department in question may be counted upon to accept the best. To hold up a project which has promise of so many other advantages for that one short-sighted reason would be folly indeed.

The manager of a well-known proprietary medicine firm is quoted by the Philadelphia Record as saying that in one month when he advertised heavily the profits were $36,000. The next month he spent less than one-third as much for advertising, and the profits fell to $2,700. "The decrease in advertising," he says, "was registered on sales as quickly as an icy wind on a thermometer."

Copies of last evening's Daily Press were much in demand on account of the very clear diagram of the New Jersey game laws, as prepared by the State Board of Fish and Game Commissioners, which was published in yesterday's issue. This diagram will be published from time to time for the benefit of those who failed to get copies of yesterday's Daily Press.

The announcement that City Judge William N. Runyon would be a candidate for the Senatorial nomination has more far-reaching effects than most people suppose. The fact, as is related in today's Daily Press, that Andrew McCardell is still a candidate for the shrievalty adds further complications to the situation.

The Democrats elect delegates to the Congressional convention at their primaries tonight. It look as if their convention would be as much of a foregone conclusion as was the Republican gathering at Belvidere.

COLUMN FOR THE SHOPPERS

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

Special sale of weak fish tomorrow afternoon and evening at Rogers, 232 West Second street. See ad.

If you trade with S. Scheuer & Company, of West Front street, your larder is filled with the best goods in the market and you have bought them at lowest market prices.

Jewelry novelties, in either gold or silver, rich in appearance, but trifling in cost, make just the thing for birthday or vacation remembrances. Moraller has them in large assortment of design and price.

Popular favor has marked the Yara cigar as a winner. It is made and sold by M. C. Dobbins, of North avenue, whose patrons declare it to be the equal of any nickel smoke to be found in the city.

John Wirth uses only the best and purest ingredients and hires only first class help for the manufacture of his bread, cake and confections. That's why they are so good and why so many Plainfield people use them.

The local store of the A and P. Tea Company rewards all its patrons with handsome presents. The cost is borne entirely by the company and not through a high price on its goods as can be seen by a comparison with other stores.

Pictures always add greatly to the adornment of a home and especially when they are encased in suitable frames. The Plainfield Art Store in the Y. M. C. A. building is prepared to do framing work at extra low rates. Don't miss this opportunity as it will not last long.

Experience in the jewelry business is very valuable these days when there is so much cheap and worthless jewelry sold. Charles E. Vail, who recently bought out Asa Collier's business in Park avenue, has had this experience and his goods are first-class and guaranteed to give satisfaction. He also repairs watches and clocks.

SUBURBAN NEWS

A Department Devoted to the Minor Events in Greater Plainfield's Suburbs by Our Own Correspondents.

DUNELLEN.

The Board of Trade held another meeting in the borough hall Wednesday and took measures to secure a number of improvements which it is hoped will tend to increase the population of the town. A subscription list has been put in circulation to get money to macadamize Chestnut street from the Bound Brook road to South avenue.

The excursionists to Asbury Park returned home about 9 o'clock last evening in a happy frame of mind having spent a most enjoyable day at the shore. In spite of the storm here it did not commence to rain there until all were in the train ready to start home. The water was very warm and all enjoyed the bathing.

In an accident on a trestle on the Central Railroad, yesterday, Joel Giddes and Joseph Hill, of this place, employes of the railroad, were slightly injured. The injuries consist mainly of a number of bad bruises.

An attempt is being made to raise money to build a parsonage for St. John's church. Several hundred dollars has already been raised.

North avenue has received some attention from the street department during the past week and is much improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Vance are entertaining Mr. Vances' sister, Mrs. Maria Foss, of Amsterdam, N. Y.

William Walters and Bartley Kelly have been having concrete walks put around their residences.

Miss Ethel Garretson has been spending a week with her grandmother in Piscataway.

Many complaints are still heard about the miserable condition of the local water system.

Mrs. Catherine Meier attended the funeral of her sister-in-law at Martinsville yesterday.

Councilman Wilcox has rented his house and proposes to move to Somerville in the fall.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Fredericks and children are spending a week at Asbury Park.

Miss Emma T. Nelson has returned home after a few days' vacation.

William Conley has been engaged as engineer at the new factory.

Ogden M. Hetfield is entertaining out of town relatives.

Miss Sadie Telton is spending a week at Easton, Pa.

NEW MARKET.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ayres, of Shiloh, have rented rooms in A. H. Burdick's house and will shortly take up their residence here.

The band concert had to be postponed last evening on account of the rain. It will be held on the first clear evening.

The Alfred University Quartette will sing in the Seventh-Day Baptist church July 26.

A number from here went on the Presbyterian excursion yesterday to Asbury Park.

Prayer meeting will be held this evening in the First Baptist church at 7:30.

Herbert Pierce is spending two weeks vacation at Montour Falls., N. J.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD

The management of the baseball team feels so much encouraged over the support given the team by the ball loving public that it has been decided to sign another pitcher to help relieve Harvey, who has been doing all the work in the box so far this season. Several of the best pitchers in this part of the State are being looked after and Manager Johnston expects to land one of them within a few days.

The Democratic Congressional primary will be held in Bucket and Engine Company's rooms tonight at 8 o'clock. One delegate is to be chosen to the Congressional convention which meets at Washington July 29.

Interment of the body of Mrs. James E. Ritchie, who died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Fithian, at Bridgeton, this State, Tuesday, was made this afternoon in the North Plainfield cemetery.

Friday evening prayer meeting will be held at the Baptist church tonight. Rev. Mr. Shott will lead, subject, "Feeding the Four Thousand."

Miss May Browning, who has been spending a few days with her friend, Miss Louise Robison, has returned to her home at Camden.

Henry C. Meyers and daughter, Miss Minnie, who sailed July 17 for Germany, are expected to land at Bremen Sunday.

George Schick, who was negotiating for the barber shop on Park avenue, has decided to remain at Bordentown for the present.

A meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Methodist church was held in the church last night.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Thorn and Mrs. Paterson went by trolley to Boynton Beach yesterday with a party from Plainfield.

Miss Uhler, of Plainfield, was the guest of Miss Emma Faulks during the first part of the week.

William Johnson, Jr., moved from Front street into Washington Hall, yesterday.

Joel Manning is entertaining relatives from Plainfield.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

The friends of Russell H. Osgoodby, the Cranford man who retired so gracefully from the race for the Republican nomination for Congress in order that Representative Fowler might be the unanimous choice of the convention, will be grievously disappointed if the reports that he is still running should prove to be true.—Newark News.

The five per cent. tax on the gross receipts which the North Jersey Street Railway Company pays the city of Newark this year, amounts to $86,796.51, an increase of $5,148.42 over last year. Since the date of the first payment in 1891 the city has reaped each year a greater income from this source. In the eleven years the sum has grown from $5,891.89 to the figures quoted above, or about fifteen fold. The total paid into the city treasury amounts to over $600,000.

This ever-increasing city revenue is the envy of other municipalities where less wisdom has been displayed in granting municipal franchises. And when one sees with what improvident liberality, even at this late day, valuable rights are voted private corporations, it becomes a matter of wonder that Newark officials a dozen years ago should have exercised so much firmness and foresight. The city certainly owes a debt of gratitude to the men who took advantage of the street railway companies' desire to substitute electricity for horse power to exact from the corporations a reasonable compensation for the rights they enjoy.

It is more than a little singular that other municipalities in granting similar franchises have failed to profit by Newark's example.—Newark News.

ORGANIZERS IN JAIL.

Severe Sentences For West Virginia Mine Workers.

VIOLATED JUDGE JACKSON'S ORDER.

Counsel For the Imprisoned Miners Preparing Papers In Habeas Corpus Proceedings — Bitter Feeling Aroused.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., July 25.—Judge Jackson in the United States district court yesterday held "Mother" Jones and seven other organizers of the United Mine Workers and a number of Hungarian miners guilty of contempt in violating his restraining order of June 19 and passed sentence on them of from sixty to ninety days in jail, with the exception of "Mother" Jones and the Hungarians.

The occasion had been anticipated with anxiety, so that many attorneys, operators and miners were present. It was currently reported that the house of Judge Jackson had been guarded for several nights and that guards were in the courtroom. It is stated that this was done without the knowledge of the judge. There was intense interest shown by every one as Judge Jackson read his decision.

"Mother" Jones was surrounded by other defendants, and Vice President Lewis of the United Mine Workers was present with them. The defendants were surprised by both the decision and the sentence and expressed themselves bitterly.

Counsel for the imprisoned miners are preparing for habeas corpus proceedings in the United States court of appeals at Richmond, Va., alleging Judge Jackson had no jurisdiction in the cases of "Mother" Jones and her associates.

John J. Coniff of Wheeling and one of the counsel of the miners will leave at once for Richmond to present habeas corpus papers. He says the proceedings here were brought not by the Clarksburg Fuel company, but by a bondholder, and for that reason an ouster will be asked.

While the sentences given are considered severe, it is anticipated that Judge Jackson will deal firmly with W. B. Wilson, secretary of the United Mine Workers, who has also been held in contempt, but who is at his headquarters in Indianapolis. District Attorney Blizzard has filed an affidavit that Secretary W. B. Wilson violated the restraining order of June 19 by making an inflammatory speech at Clarksburg July 7 and another at Fairmont July 8 and asked the court for his arrest. Judge Jackson made the order that Wilson be arrested and brought within the jurisdiction of his court.

Vermont Democrats Nominate.

BURLINGTON, Vt., July 25.—The Democratic state convention here refused to indorse the nomination of Percival W. Clement of Rutland, nominee of bolting Republicans, for governor and nominated instead a straight Democratic ticket headed by Felix W. McGettrick, a St. Albans lawyer. The ticket was completed by the unanimous nomination of Elisha May of St. Johnsbury for lieutenant governor, Joseph M. Burke of Middlebury for secretary of state, John M. Pollard of Windsor for treasurer and James E. Barnes of Rockingham for auditor.

Cholera Spreads In Egypt.

LONDON, July 25.—In a dispatch from Cairo, Egypt, the correspondent there of the Daily Telegraph says that the utmost consternation prevails owing to the terrifying progress of cholera. All hope of localizing the disease, says the correspondent, has been abandoned, and there is no doubt that Egypt will have to meet a devastating epidemic. The disease appeared Thursday in practically every quarter of Cairo, forty-two new cases being recorded. Several natives fell dead at their work. Temporary hospitals are being erected.

India's Wheat Crop Small.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—The final estimate of the wheat crop of India for the season of 1901-1902 has been given out by the statistical department of the Indian government. In a report made public at the state department, dated June 14, Consul Fee, at Bombay, says that the yield is estimated at a little more than 6,000,000 tons, this amount being 750,000 tons less than the previous season and about 500,000 tons less than the average for the last decade.

Earthquakes and Eruptions.

MADRID, July 25.—Frequent earthquake shocks have been felt recently between Santander, capital of the province of that name, and the province of Asturias. The shocks were accompanied by subterranean noises. A dispatch from the Azores islands says there has just been a terrific submarine volcanic eruption off Horta, island of Fayal. A great rock incandescent with heat was thrown up. The people were panic stricken.

Solomon's Temple Found.

VIENNA, July 25.—The Neues Wiener Tagblatt says that Dr. Sellim, a professor at the Vienna university, who is exploring Palestine in behalf of the Imperial Academy of Sciences, has discovered the walls and gateway of the ancient temple of Solomon in the neighborhood of Janohah, in Samaria.

A Dinner to Morgan.

LONDON, July 25.—J. Pierpont Morgan was last night the guest of honor at a remarkable dinner given in the house of commons by Archibald White Maconochie, member for the east division of Aberdeenshire. On one side of the host sat Mr. Morgan and on the other Premier Balfour.

O'BRIEN STIRS COMMONS.

Bitterly Assails Mr. Wyndham During the Irish Debate.

LONDON, July 25.—During the Irish debate in the house of commons yesterday William O'Brien (Nationalist) made a fighting speech, punctuated by loud Nationalist cheers, in which he declared that Mr. Wyndham had insinuated that the trustees of the tenants of Lord de Freyne would turn out to be swindlers. This, said Mr. O'Brien, is fouler than the offense of Sheridan, for Mr. Wyndham had abused the privilege of the house of commons by making insinuations that he would not have dared to mention elsewhere. Mr. O'Brien asserted that if Prince Henry of Prussia and a German fleet had landed an army in Bantry bay it would not have required many organizers to bring every young man in Ireland who was worth his salt under Prince Henry's flag. Amid much disturbance Mr. O'Brien declared that the Irish land trust was run by a "pair of perjured privy councilors," and for this expression he was called to order. Mr. O'Brien improved the occasion by mentioning the councilors by name—namely, Lord Clonbrock and Right Hon. Arthur Hugh Smith Barry. "The latter," said Mr. O'Brien, "was drummed out of this house."

Dealing with Mr. Wyndham's reference to the expenses of the Irish delegates in the United States, Mr. O'Brien asked how Mr. Wyndham would like the Nationalists to delve into the details of his wine bill.

Miners' Defense Fund Growing.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 25.—Contributions to the mine defense fund for the anthracite strike in less than one week have reached $123,000 exclusive of the assessment of the men. The first week's assessment of the bituminous district is now due, and it is expected that $40,000 or $50,000 a day will begin pouring into headquarters from this source by Saturday. Including the assessment of the men, the first week's contributions will be in the neighborhood of $400,000. Every mail brings in many contributions from individuals and corporations in sympathy with the miners, but who do not want their names made public.

Belmont Bid Accepted.

NEW YORK, July 25.—The rapid transit commission has by a unanimous vote accepted the bid of the Belmont syndicate to build the Brooklyn extension of the rapid transit subway for $2,000,000. Real estate to be purchased will cost $1,000,000 more. There was a large delegation from Brooklyn to protest against the Belmont bid and advocate the bid involving an outlay of $8,000,000 made by the Brooklyn Rapid Transit company.

Root and Wood Go Abroad.

NEW YORK, July 25.—Among the passengers who sailed on La Savoie of the French line were Elihu Root, secretary of war; General Leonard W. Wood, General Horace Porter, embassador to France, and William Nelson Cromwell, counsel for the Panama Canal company. General Wood will attend the German army maneuvers and bring home his wife, who is ill in France.

General MacArthur's Aids.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—General MacArthur in assuming temporary command of the department of the east announces that Captain Francis J. Kerman, Second infantry, and Captain R. A. Brown, Fourth cavalry, have been appointed aids on his staff.

A One Cent Contribution.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—United States Treasurer Roberts has received from Albany, N. Y., a conscience contribution of a cent.

THE ATHLETIC GIRL

"NOT for me," said the bachelor. He was referring not to the cooling drink just placed at his elbow, but to the subject under discussion at the moment.

"Why not?" retorted the new woman indignantly. "You wouldn't have woman go back or stand still in the matter of development, would you?"

"I don't call that going forward; do you?" drawled the bachelor mischievously as he pointed through the open doorway to where a young woman was making her way up the piazza steps. She was a typical athletic girl, with a short, fuzzy skirt of wool goods, a loose coat that looked like her brother's and a little alpine hat of soft felt. Her hair was wind blown, and her cheeks were shining with perspiration powdered over with a light coating of dust. Her hands were clayey and pretty well marked up with scratches and nicks, and her nails were none too well manicured. Her feet in their stout, mannish shoes went "clump, clump," on the wooden floor of the piazza. Finally she reached a chair, kicked it around by a well directed lunge of her heavy soled toe and sank heavily into it. She crossed her legs, thrust her hands into her jacket pockets and gave a long whistle.

"Gee whiz, but I'm spent!" she remarked in a loud voice to a friend who rounded the corner of the piazza much in the same condition.

"When you compare that with the women of ancient Greece or with Tennyson's dream of fair woman or with any particular ideal you may happen to have!" the bachelor mused half to himself.

The new woman frowned. She might be a new woman, but she did not like to see any man look askance at one of her sex. "By and by she'll change those things and appear in something you'll like—er—lace and organdie and things," she said.

The bachelor laughed. "Yes, and tramp along in them just the same as she does in those togs. I've been wondering lately what made women so awkward. Now I know."

"But think how healthy she is," persisted the new woman.

The family physician, who came up at that moment, caught the drift of the conversation. "Healthy, did you say?" he repeated. "Do you call that healthy? Look at the tired rings under her eyes and the painful way in which her breath comes. No; that girl is more tired than any one has any right to be. This 'woman's athletic business' is getting overdone, let me tell you. People have an idea that because a girl can play golf or tennis all day she has improved in health in proportion as she has improved in muscle power. This fallacy has ruined more than one constitution. The truth is that you can't both eat your cake and have it. A healthy adult person is one whose digestive and assimilative functions produce so much nerve force daily. Part of this keeps the heart pumping blood through the vessels, conveying nutritive and reparative strength to brain, limb and organ. The remainder, and that much only, one is entitled to use as he wills. The man in training is a man out of health. His muscles are absorbing too much of his nerve and blood force. The reason why the girls of today are able to spend so much force on walking, cycling, tennis and golf is that they have withdrawn force from other and more valuable faculties and put it into their muscles. The fact that women are growing taller and muscularly stronger is no test at all of physical improvement. Half the time without knowing it they are laying the seeds of some future trouble."

And the doctor was right. Athletics in moderation are good, but athletics as practiced by some girls nowadays are ruinous alike to personal appearance and to health.

MAUD ROBINSON.

Woman Patent Lawyer.

Chicago has a woman patent lawyer, Miss Florence King.

A KNAVE . . . OF CONSCIENCE.

By Francis Lynde.

Griswold did as he was told to do, thinking himself more and more a puppet of chance for that day. At the house on the lake brink he was made very welcome, notwithstanding he had not darkened its door since the night of the dinner party and the riot. Charlotte was cordial—nay, something more; was evidently glad to see him; this though he made sure that some remains of the barrier he had raised in his blundering was still between them.

After luncheon they all went out on the lakeside veranda; and later, when the doctor had driven away, and Miss Gilman had gone in for her siesta, Griswold made a bold proposal.

"The afternoon is perfect, Miss Charlotte, and the breeze has fallen to a 'ladygale.' Will you trust yourself to go out with me in the Sprite?"

Now Charlotte could be as conventional as Miss Grierson was reckless of the conventions; but there were many things waiting to be said to Mr. Kenneth Griswold, and she made the possible opportunity her excuse. So she put the conventionalities aside and said she would go.

Griswold left her when she went in to get ready, and had the cat-boat unmoored and around at the Farnham landing when she came out and ran down the lawn. He handed her into the boat and placed the cushions for her; and when he was shoving off, the Grierson launch put off from the Mereside pier with a gay party grouped under the red and white striped awning.

The two craft passed within a hundred feet of each other, and Griswold lifted his hat to Margery. A little later, Charlotte took her cue from the incident.

"You asked my advice about something a few evenings ago," she began. "Did you take it?"

"I made a consummate fool of myself a few evenings ago," was his reply.

"Did you?" she countered, with sweet frigidity. And then: "Am I to take that as an answer to my question?"

"No. My foolishness didn't go the length of an appeal to Miss Grierson."

"Didn't it? I thought, from a word or two that Edward let fall, that Miss Grierson was in some way responsible for the ending of the strike."

"So she was; but not at any asking of mine. In fact, I haven't seen her since that night—not to speak to her."

"What did she do?" asked Charlotte, mildly curious.

"I don't know; really. Raymer is as dumb as an oyster on that point. All he would tell me was that Miss Grierson had found a woman's way out of the trouble, and had taken it."

Charlotte was silent for a time, for so long a time that the catboat had made a good offing before she spoke again. And when she did speak, it was not of Miss Grierson, or of the strike; it was of the weather. Off in the west a little cloud was mounting, and she pointed it out.

"Does that mean more wind?" she queried.

"I think not," said Griswold. "But if it does, I'll run in at once."

"I am afraid you think I am a sorry coward of wind and water," she ventured after a little. "I used not to be. I used to have a boat of my own, and go out in almost any weather. But since the capsizing of the Mysie—"

"Were you here then?" asked Griswold. The sinking of the steam yacht Mysie with all on board in one of the sudden summer squalls some years before was the major tragedy of the lake, and it had had a full column in the New York papers.

"I was here, and—and I saw it. It happened just a little way out from our pier. Oh, it was dreadful!" she shuddered. "To see them drowning and not to be able to do one little thing to help them."

Griswold nodded in sympathy. "I can understand. Shall we go about?"

The cloud in the west, which had been no bigger than the 'Sprite's" mainsail had suddenly grown to half the width of the horizon, and cool little puffs of wind were coming across the lake.

"Do as you would if you were alone," she said. "I am not afraid—with you."

None the less, Griswold put the helm of the catboat down and stood in for the Wahaskan shore. For a few lengths the "Sprite" shot ahead, and then a dead calm, the lull before the approaching storm, came and sat upon the face of the waters, and the boat merely rose and fell with flapping sail. It was too late to retreat.

Griswold measured the possibilities in a swift backward glance at the darkened sky, put the tiller into Charlotte's hands and went to double-reef the mainsail. He would have scorned to do it had he been alone, but he was tender of Charlotte—tender of her fears.

When the last reef-point was tied, he took his place at the helm again, and they waited in silence while the black cloud climbed the sky-arch and blotted out the sun. Still the breeze did not come, and Griswold watched with growing anxiety, always with Charlotte's fears in mind.

While they waited, the Grierson launch came around the southern end of the island, gliding shoreward with a curling feather of spray under its outwater and a broad wake of foam astern. It was track. In midflight, however, the engines were stopped, and when they were set in motion again, the launch was made to sweep a short half circle to meet the coming storm, bows on. Griswold saw and shook his head.

"Whoever is responsible for that is a fool," he said, bluntly. And then, with sudden emphasis: 'Hold hard, and don't be afraid; here it comes!"

Almost as he spoke, the surface of the lake blackened and went flat under the broom-sweep of the squall, and a moment later the "Sprite" was buried in a smother of fierce-flying foam. The gallant little boat shook herself free in a twinkling, and was up and at it, thrashing through and over the seas which seemed to spring up out of the foam reek as if by magic. Griswold took the end of the sheet-line in his teeth, and so had an arm for the tiller and one for Charlotte; and in the thick of it the cat-boat shot away for the bay and safety. As befitted him, Griswold had eyes for nothing save the seas and the straining sail, and it was a little shriek from his companion that made him glance aside.

"The launch!" she cried. "It's going to capsize!"

Whoever was responsible for the steering of the launch had done a thing to be repented of, and not now, by any means, to be repaired. He had put the little vessel's head to the storm instead of running before it, which was the better chance, and now, when the waves were breaking over the low bows, it was too late to take the alternative. Any attempt to turn tail and run before it must inevitably put the narrow-beamed launch into the trough of the seas, and yet this was what the foolish steersman was evidently trying to do.

Griswold luffed a little from the mere life saver's instinct, but he remembered his own responsibility and let the catboat fall off again.

"Don't look," he said, shortly. "There will be another tragedy over there in a minute or two."

"Oh, go to them, Mr. Griswold! Please don't mind me!" she pleaded. "Give me the sheet to manage; I know how, and I'm not afraid now."

He looked into her eyes and saw the heroine there; the heroine that he had known was in her from that first seeing of her in the far-away southern city. It made his love for her fill his heart to bursting, and at the moment he could have met death at her side with a smile.

With that look to steady him, he put the tiller down, crouching with her to keep the launch in sight. But as the catboat came around to thrash sidewise through the reek and spume on her errand of rescue, the launch lurched to its jammed helm, swung into the trough, rolled heavily once or twice and disappeared.

When Rare Queen Bess Was Gay.

Sir Walter Raleigh laid his cloak in the puddle in order that Queen Elizabeth might pass over dry shod. As it was a little affair he had imported from the Bowery on his last trip abroad, the Virgin queen heard it a block off, so was able to find the spot without difficulty.

"Well done," cried a courtier, applauding the act.

"No," replied Queen Bess, "not well done, but Raleigh!"

At this her train declared they would laugh their heads off, knowing their heads would certainly come off if they didn't laugh.—N. Y. Times.

Plain Living in Scandinavia.

Dyspepsia would no longer be the national disease in America if the people of this country would adopt a plain diet similar to that of Norway and Sweden. "Gout is unknown among the Swedes and Norwegians, and the rosy cheeks and clear complexions of the young people of those countries are the result of the simple food the children eat," says a United States consul in a Norwegian city. Americans are being forced by the high price of provisions to the same conclusion.—Chicago Post.

Spiced Cherries.

Tie an ounce of stick cinnamon and an ounce of whole cloves in a muslin bag and boil it in a pint and a half of vinegar for 15 minutes. Add four pounds of granulated sugar and boil ten minutes longer; skim well. Put in seven pounds of pitted cherries and cook gently for one and one-half hours. Then skim out and put in heated jars. Boil the syrup down until the consistency of honey and fill up the jars and seal.—Washington Star.

Verbatim.

On a Hawaiian Railroad.

How the United States is spreading out! "When the Kona Kau railroad is fully completed," says a Hawaii correspondent, "one will be able to leave Honolulu at six o'clock in the evening, sleep all night and wake up at six in the morning ready to land at 'Kaalwalpa.' But will the passenger be able to tell phonetically where he is at?—Chicago Tribune.

An Avenue Not Necessary.

"Every avenue of escape has been closed," proudly announced the chief of detectives.

But as the streets and alleys were still open the criminal experienced no difficulty in getting away.—Los Angeles Herald.

STRONG IN LONDON.

Denies Ever Having Had a Dollar of May Yohe's Money.

LONDON, July 25.—Captain Putnam Bradee Strong has arrived here from Southampton. He was a passenger on the steamship St. Paul, which arrived there from New York yesterday. Captain Strong is now at a west end hotel.

In conversation about his departure Captain Strong said he had pawned about $8,400 worth of May Yohe's jewelry at her request and for her benefit after they returned from Japan and that Miss Yohe had received the entire proceeds from him at the time the jewels were pawned.

"I have never had a dollar of May Yohe's money, and no one knows it better than she," continued Captain Strong. "The money on which I am now traveling was received from the sale of my library, and of this fact May Yohe is also aware.

"I have done many foolish and unwise things, but I have not been criminal.

"As to my future movements, I do not think they should interest any one greatly. But I will say that I purpose living quietly and endeavoring to redeem my good name.

"As to the story that I rifled her safety deposit box, that is absurd on its face. May Yohe never had any safety deposit box that I know of, and if she had one any banker could tell you that without her authority I could never have had access to it."

May Yohe Sails Away.

NEW YORK, July 25.—May Yohe sailed yesterday for England on the Fuerst Bismarck. Miss Yohe's cabin on the Fuerst Bismarck was not engaged in her name. Before leaving Hastings she made a statement, of which the following is a part:

"I have realized on some of my securities and have redeemed the diamonds pawned here by Captain Strong and have arranged to recover those placed in pawn abroad. I shall go to Japan, and it is my present intention to remain in that country, which is so full of sentiment, the remainder of my life. I shall never return to the western world."

DISTURBERS FINED.

Paris Antiassociation Law Leaders Punished.

PARIS, July 25.—Penalties varying from the payment of a fine of 5 francs ($1) to imprisonment for three months have been imposed upon seven of the persons arrested for having taken part in the demonstrations in connection with the closing of the congregational schools. It is asserted that Abbe Bardinal, the cure at Levallois, a suburb of Paris, who was prominent in Wednesday's disturbances, will be disciplined.

M. Combes, the premier, continues to receive addresses from public bodies congratulating the government upon the energy with which it is dealing with the unauthorized schools.

Several newspapers have declared that the pope intended to make the recent action of the French government the subject of a protest, but this is not likely, as the cabinet has already intimated to the holy see that no discussion regarding the congregational schools could be entertained.

A Husband's Brutality.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 25.—After suffering from many brutal beatings Mrs. Charles Radtke, who, with her husband and seventeen-year-old daughter, resides at the corner of Kelly street and Hudson avenue, went to the police headquarters Monday and applied for a warrant for the arrest of her husband, charging him with public intoxication. She said she wanted him locked up until he could sober up. Radtke heard of the action his wife had begun and, becoming greatly infuriated, went to the house, brutally beat his wife and child, leaving them nearly dead. In the morning when Mrs. Radtke and her daughter started to prepare breakfast they discovered paris green had been put in the coffee-pot, the teakettle and in various dishes and articles of food in quantities sufficient to kill three families. Radtke has been arrested.

Fierce Genesee Valley Storm.

GENESEO, N. Y., July 25.—This village has been visited by another terrific thunder and rain storm which added to the work of devastation to crops. Several houses were struck by lightning in the rural districts and greatly damaged. At Conesus lake the storm raged with greater fury than in this village, doing a great amount of damage to cottages, docks and boat-houses. The porch of the hotel at Maple Beach was blown off, and outbuildings were more or less damaged. The water in the Genesee river is rising rapidly again and is spreading out in the low places on the flats.

One Colliery Opened.

TAMAQUA, Pa., July 25.—The first large colliery in the anthracite coal region to be put in operation since the strike was declared eleven weeks ago was started yesterday morning, when the Lehigh Coal and Navigation company opened their No. 12 colliery in the Panther creek valley. It was run all day without interruption, but trouble is feared, and a heavy guard has been thrown around the breakers.

Swell Wedding at Newport.

NEWPORT, R. I., July 25.—The wedding of Miss Natalie Emily Oelrichs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles May Oelrichs of this city, to Peter D. Martin, son of Mrs. Eleanor D. Martin of San Francisco, took place at half past 12 yesterday. It was the first society wedding of the season and was no small function in society circles.

Weather Probabilities.

Showers; variable winds, becoming west.

MOHAWK VALLEY DELUGED.

Cloudburst and Hailstorm Do a Great Deal of Damage.

FORT PLAIN, N. Y., July 25.—A cloudburst in a farming district eight miles south of here yesterday afternoon caused great damage. Torrents of water fell almost without an instant's warning, ruining nearly ripe crops, tearing up highways and destroying many bridges.

The cloudburst extended northward ten miles to Little Falls, where the streets were flooded, the basements of stores wrecked and the Central Hudson's tracks covered with water, which also surrounded the depot. The cloudburst was followed by a hailstorm, with stones as big as hickory nuts, that did heavy damage to orchards, stripping the trees not only of fruit and foliage, but good sized limbs as well.

The section where the storm raged is an important hop growing one, and the damage to the crop is incalculable. A large creek flowing through here from the south was raised fully six feet in ten minutes, an occurrence unknown heretofore. With the deluge came dead pigs, fences, bridge timber, field crops and debris of every description.

White House Repairs by Night.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—A night force of carpenters has been put to work on the interior of the White House. For the first time in the history of the old building workmen will drive nails and manipulate saws and other tools by electric light. The night force was put to work in the ancient attic. Four bedrooms, presumably all for servants, will be built in the attic, which before the Roosevelt administration had been used for storage purposes only. A driveway is being built from the White House to the executive avenue between the White House and the treasury building.

Tried Suicide on a Train.

RUTLAND, Vt., July 25.—An unknown man attempted to commit suicide on the train from New York to Montreal yesterday. Just before the train reached Rutland he slashed his throat with a penknife, severing an artery and cutting his windpipe. In explanation of the deed he said

SPORTING NEWS

ON THE DIAMOND.

League games scheduled for tomorrow are as follows: Hope against Y. M. C. A. on Hope grounds; umpires, Townley and Young. St. Marys against Safe Works on St. Marys grounds; umpires, Brown and Melvin. Both games are to be called at 3:30.

Both Manager Muir and Richard Higgins, his assistant, in conducting the business end of the Safe Works team, are confident they will take the St. Marys into camp tomorrow. The batting streak developed by the Iron Workers last Saturday was too good to be only temporary and it will do much toward winning the contest. The men are also in fine fettle and anxious for the fray.

Clarence Tapscott has been elected manager of the Clinton Avenue nine in place of Warren Squier, resigned. The new man is experienced in baseball matters and has hopes of making the team heard before the season closes. He has already secured a new battery in Grynwald and Daniels. Grynwald holds down the rear end and when being tried recently in a game with Dunellen threw seven men out at second in the first three innings. Saturday the team will play a practice game with the Orange Field Club.

The offer of the Westfield Baseball Association to play any team, or a nine selected as the best of the Plainfield City League, and giving a guarantee of $20 for the game at Westfield having been refused, I am authorized to repeat the offer, naming September 13 or October 4; our only open dates, and will play any team, the winner of the League championship, or a selected nine, the guarantee being raised to $40, the only restriction being that no player shall be on the Plainfield team who has not taken part in at least one game of the League championship series.

C. H. Denman, president.

GOLF.

The next team match scheduled by the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club team is with the Englewood team for the latter part of August on the Hillside course.

The weekly competitions for the Golf Committee and Boys' cups will be the only attractions tomorrow on the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course. If the weather is pleasant, no doubt a large number of members will be on the course.

Morris J. McCarthy has succeeded in lowering the nine and eighteen hole record of the Westfield Golf Club course. Wednesday he made the first round in 39 and the second in 38, with a total of 77 strokes. This is the best record for the course and it is not likely to be lowered very soon.

TENNIS.

There will be a continuation of play at tennis for the Mellick cup on the courts of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club Saturday, August 2, at 10 o'clock in the morning.

CERTIFICATES FOR ARCHITECTS.

Out of 500 Applications Received, 360 Have Passed Successfully.

The New Jersey State Board of Architects has received about 500 applications for certificates which will entitle them to pursue their calling in this State. The board has favorably considered 360 of the applications and directed that certificates be issued. The form of certificate to be granted those who were practising architecture in this State at the time of the passage of the act creating the board reads that the holder is entitled to practise architecture without examination.

The board is now engaged in preparing examination papers to be furnished those who do not come under this class. Those who take the examination and pass successfully will receive another form of certificate which states that they are in possession of such knowledge of the construction of buildings, of the strength of material, of the laws of sanitation as applied to building, and of such ability to make practical application of this knowledge to the ordinary professional work of an architect as to entitle them to practise architecture in the State of New Jersey.

RAN IRREGULARLY.

Yesterday's Rain Put the Schedule Out of Business.

Impatient patrons of the local railway found the rain the usual excuse for a disabled schedule yesterday afternoon and evening. When good service was needed most, the cars were running very irregularly. While traffic was at its height, after 6 o'clock, complaints were general as to the discomfort and dampness of the open cars, which were run during a three hours' steady rain. At 7, the company considerately brought out closed cars, just in time to catch the close of the storm.

FOR FRESH AIR HOME.

Successful Benefit Euchre Given at Hotel Netherwood Last Night.

Sucessful beyond anticipations was the euchre held at the Hotel Netherwod last evening for the benefit of Miss Curry's Fresh Air Home at Netherwood. The affair was largely patronized and greatly enjoyed by the many guests. The receipts netted the gratifying sum of $105.85.

The first men's prize was won by J. D. Johnson, Brooklyn, and the first ladies prize by Miss S. R. Beale, Netherwood. There were about forty prize-winners in all.

TEMPERANCE WORKERS THERE

SCHOOL OF METHODS OF W. C. T. U. AT OCEAN GROVE.

Was Begun Wednesday, and Meetings Were Continued All Day Yesterday.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Ocean Grove, July 25—Temperance workers from all parts of New Jersey gathered Wednesday in the temple and participated in the School of Methods of the New Jersey Woman's Christian Temperance Union. The officers of the organization present were: President, Mrs. Emma Bourne, Newark; corresponding secretary, Mrs. I. H. Demarest, Closter; recording secretary, Dr. Eva M. Lake, Pleasantville; treasurer, Mrs. Henrietta L. Caminade, Trenton.

A symposum on "The Problem of the Nations," with addresses by Mrs. Ella B. Carter, of Newark, and Mrs. E. U. Burgess, of Highland, N. Y., was held at the morning session.

At the afternoon session of the school addresses were made by Mrs. D. P. Peeke, of East Millstone; Mrs. Emily E. Williamson, of Elizabeth, president of the State Charities Aid Society, and Mrs. Burgess. Mrs. Williamson's subject was "Dependent and Delinquent Children." Rev. Dr. A. E. Ballard, vice president of the Camp Meeting Association, welcomed at the evening session the White Ribboners to Ocean Grove. The address was delivered by Rev. Anna H. Shaw. Her theme was "The Temperance Problem."

The school was in session again yesterday, when Miss Alice M. Guernsey, of East Orange; Miss M. L. Orr, of New York; Clinton N. Howard, of Rochester; Mrs. J. H. Robertson, of Paterson, and Mrs. Henry I. Budd, of Mount Holly, made addresses.

CROP BULLETIN.

Issued by New Jersey State Experiment Station for Last Week.

The New Jersey State Experiment Station has issued the following weather and crop bulletin for the week, ending July 21:

During the week ending Monday, July 21, 1902, the weather conditions, higher temperature and frequent light showers, were most favorable to all growing and maturing crops. On the afternoon of the 18th a destructive thunderstorm, accompanied by high wind and hail, did considerable damage in portions of Cumberland county, prostrating corn and tomatoes, and blowing much fruit off the trees. The harvesting of wheat and rye is about completed and the cutting of oats has begun in the southern section, and will be general during the week; the heads are well filled, and the yield promises to be the largest for a number of years. The digging of an unusually large crop of early potatoes is progressing; the tubes are large and of fine quality. Tomato picking is also progressing rapidly, already over 100,000 bushel-crates having been shipped from the vicinity of Swedesboro. During the week the temperature has averaged the daily normal. The sunshine was about the average, and the rainfall, slightly below.

MORE READING TRACKS.

Planning to Enlarge the Tracking Facilities of Reading Railroad.

It is generally reported that the Philadelphia and Reading Railway Company is quietly securing property between Wayne Junction and Jenkintown for additional trackage between those points. At the general offices of the company it was admitted that the construction of a third track from Oak Lane to Jenkintown had been considered, to relieve the congested condition of traffic.

Nearly all of the soft coal received from the Baltimore and Ohio and destined for points on the New York division is sent over the present tracks, and this, with the company's heavy freight and passenger traffic, especially during the summer months when Willow Grove Park is open, has at times over-burdened the tracks. With the four-track system now in operation between Sixteenth street and Wayne Junction its extension or the building of an independent short line to a point beyond Jenkintown for the transportantion of coal and other heavy freight is not improbable.

—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ward, of West Front street, will soon take up their residence on Staten Island, so as to be near Mr. Ward's place of employment, Shooters Island.

—The Red Men of Warren county, composing the tribes of that county, will hold a mammoth picnic at Belvidere, Wednesday, July 30. It will be known as Red Men's Day and tribes from various parts of the State are expected to be present. Among the principal speakers is Assemblyman William Newcorn.

DEATH OF F. W. GRANT.

End Was Not Unexpected as He Had Been Ill Some Time.

Frederick W. Grant, sixty-eight years of age, died at his home on Grove street at an early hour this morning. His death was not unexpected as he had been a sufferer from dropsy for a long time. Mr. Grant leaves a widow and four children, three sons and a daughter, to mourn his loss. The sons, Robert, Frederick and Frank, and the daughter, Miss Harriet Grant, all reside in Plainfield.

The funeral services will be held at his late residence Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

PLAINFIELD'S NEWEST SOCIAL CLUB

Auspicious Beginning of the Career of the I. C. T. Club Which Was Recently Organized.

Among Plainfield's many clubs and organizations devoted exclusively to the promotion of innocent pastime, there is one, though looked upon as an infant by many of its predecessors, that has slowly but surely crept into prominence during the past six months. Admitting that it is in its infancy it must also be acknowledged that it is remarkably well developed for its age. This organization is known to the outside world as the I. C. T. Club, but beyond that very little of its standing is known in the community except to those who have shared its hospitality in the past spring social season. For that reason The Daily Press prints today an excellent cut of the club members, who comprise [illegible] the city's representative young men, [illegible] known young men, so long on a career.

I. C. T. CLUB MEMBERS.

Top row from left to right—Geo. Apgar (Treas.), Kenneth Stewart, Thos. Muir, City Judge Runyon, Hiram Humes (Vice-Pres.), Nathan E. Titsworth, Charles Hurdle, Irving Mills, Joseph Robinson. Second row left to right—Clare Bickel, Arthur Beekman, Howard Drake, William Waters, Charles Overbaugh, V. W. Nash, Jr. (President), Charles M. Suhr, Jr. (Secretary), John Kelly, Lewis Drake, Clarence Bilyeu. Third row left to right—Charles Peterson (Sergeant-at-Arms), Raymond King, Jos. Bowbly, Phillip Drake, Wm. Taylor.

With the closing of Music Hall, early last year, the young folk of the middle class were deprived of one of their principal places of amusement and its loss continued to be felt among them with the approach of winter. There was hardly anything for them to do beyond promenading the streets of an evening and the longing for sociability outside of the home, which is implanted in the breast of every young man or woman in civilized communities, continued to grow upon them.

Informal discussion of the matter resulted in a meeting on February 2 last, which was attended by V. W. Nash, Jr., Charles Suhr, Jr., and George L. Apgar. They then and there decided to form a social organization and a call was extended to all their acquaintances of the same age to meet one week later in Justice Nash's office to form a permanent affair. Ten young men responded and it was then that the foundation of the present I. C. T. Club was laid.

The sobriquet was selected after much deliberation and has proven a mystery to outsiders that remains unsolved. Inquiry reveals the fact that it may mean "I Can't Tell," "Ice Cream Trust," "I Could Tell," "Ice and Coal Trust" and many others but the true definition is given to those only who number themselves as an I. C. T. and they are all pledged not to repeat it.

On Washington's birthday the club found a permanent home on the spacious top floor of the Taylor building and since then its growth has been phenomenal. It now has an active membership of forty-one. There are also eight honorary members as follows: City Judge William N. Runyon, Counsellors Robert M. Clark and Francis J. Blatz, Nathan Titsworth, Thomas Muir, Archibald Hacquer, Charles B. Morse and Ralph Leighton Morrow.

On February 25 at a meeting held in the new rooms, where the only furniture was soap boxes borrowed from a nearby grocer, the following officers were elected: President, V. W. Nash, Jr., vice president, Hiram S. Humes; secretary, Charles Suhr; treasurer, George L. Apgar, and sergeant at arms, Charles A. Peterson.

Under their leadership the club has pursued a policy that has won for it the esteem and commendation of hosts of admirers and given it a season of prosperity.

The treasury is now in a healthy condition and beside the organization rooms is graced with a handsome Waters piano, a comfortable couch, several hundred chairs and other necessaries. The windows are embellished with pretty curtains, rugs are scattered about the floor and in the completely furnished kitchen is a set of 125 dishes, a silver punch bowl and ladle and several other articles all of which were presented by the club's admirers among the gentler sex.

For the benefit of the young women who attend its social functions there is a retiring room which is fitted up in sumptuous fashion. Its appearance is enhanced by a profusion of pillows scattered about which show unmistakable signs of deft and nimble fingers in the embroidered initials of the club in its adopted colors, red, orange and blue.

As stated, the paramount purpose of the organization has been sociability and outsiders have been permitted to share in the enjoyment through a series of receptions held at regular intervals. At the first there were 103 friends present, at the second, 126, at the third 167 and at the fourth which was designated "A Summer Girl and Shirt Waist Man Dance" there were 150. Excellent music, vocal selections and refreshments have been a feature of all these gatherings. There have also been a number of stag affairs at which vaudeville artists of a high order of merit furnished the entertainment. For outside recreation the chief avenue of enjoyment has been trolley parties of which the club has conducted several.

Such is the I. C. T. club and at the present time it is no difficult matter to discern a member. On the street he is prominent by a very pretty hat with the club's monogram worked in front and by his general bearing of manly dignity. At home he is the youth who shows by his conduct that he is improved morally and physically by healthful recreation and mingling with desirable companions. It is such young men who are to be in charge of the nation's affairs in the future and an organization which tends to make them better prepared for their responsibilities is alike to be commended and fostered.

INTERMENT HERE.

The Remains of Mrs. Ritchey Were Brought Here for Burial.

The interment of Mrs. Ritchey, widow of the Hon. James Ritchey, took place in the North Plainfield cemetery yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Ritchey died at her home in Burlington and funeral services were held at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Fithian, at Bridgeton, Thursday night. The body was brought to this city yesterday afternoon for burial.

At the grave Rev. C. E. Herring, of the First Presbyterian church, read the burial service and offered a prayer. There were a number of friends present at the interment.

Funeral of a Child.

The funeral of the infant child of Mr. and Mrs. John Waldron, of McDowell street, was held yesterday afternoon. Interment was in the M. E. cemetery.

WILL BREAK CAMP TODAY

Company K Returns This Afternoon After a Week of Camp Life at Sea Girt.

MANY WORDS OF PRAISE.

Company K Has Made a Noticeable Improvement and Has Been Highly Spoken Of for Fine Showing at Camp Murphy—Cleaning Up After President's Visit.

(By a Special Correspondent.)

Camp Murphy, Sea Girt, July 26—Preparations for breaking camp, with a view to leaving here today, have occupied the greater part of attention within the past twenty-four hour. A rainy day yesterday, after the excitement of Thursday, caused a general suspenison of drills and of nearly everything else except waiting for the orders to get away. The Company K boys, of course, occupied the time in writing to their wives and sisters at home.

Work at the camp yesterday consisted largely in clearing up after the visitors of the day before. The grounds were largely littered with papers, lunch boxes and other matter thrown aside by the guests. No damage was reported at any place in camp or about the parade ground.

With the close of their week in camp, the Company K boys have advanced quite a step in military knowledge. It has been noticeable the way some of the so called "rookies" have improved since they came to camp. Favorable comment has been heard on all sides concerning the work of the Plainfield boys. On Thursday, they were the first company to be applauded when passing in review before the President, and all the spectators say that the boys thoroughly deserved the praise. The company is well spoken of throughout the camp, also.

According to the arrangements, the regiment is to break camp shortly before noon today. So much work has been done early that the indications are favorable for a prompt start and a speedy trip home.

TO LAY CORNER STONE.

Work on New Swedish Pilgrim Church Will Start Tomorrow Afternoon if Weather Permits.

The corner-stone of the new Swedish Pilgrim church will be laid tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock if the weather is favorable. If it should rain the affair will be postponed. The church is to be built at the corner of New and Sixth streets, and the exercises will be of an interesting character.

Rev. L. G. Norseen, the pastor, will lay the stone, and Rev. C. G. Ellstrom, of Brooklyn, will make an address in Swedish. Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass, of the First M. E. church, will also make an address in English, while in the absence of Rev. C. L. Goodrich, of the Congregational church, that church will be represented by Alex. Millar. The programme will also include selections by Miss Youngquist, soprano, of New York.

During the exercises a collection will be received for the benefit of the church.

WHERE TO GO.

New York Painting and Decorating Ready to Meet All Requirements.

Why go to New York to get men to do your interior decorating and pay enormous prices when the same can be done in the town by the New York Painting and Decorating Company? W. R. Lewis, of New York, who is thoroughly acquainted with all branches of interior decoration, also thoroughly understands the hanging of silks and genuine tapestries, is at the command of the public of Plainfield. The Decorating Company would be pleased to have their representative call and converse with anyone who contemplates having any fancy decorating done. Get Mr. Lewis' suggestions and talk the matter over with him, it won't cost you anything and then you will get a good idea of what your home concern is capable of doing.

They guarantee all work. A guarantee that is gilt edged. It is a large incorporated concern, does business all over the country. They also manufacture all their output of paints, varnish, dry colors and white leads.

Call and get their estimate.

ANOTHER SHOUT FOR SENATOR JOS. CROSS

Elizabeth Journal Still Hunting for New Reasons Why He Should be Renominated.

QUOTES NEWARK NEWS.

SAYS IT WILL BE BAD POLICY TO REFUSE TO RETURN PRESENT SENATOR.

Seconds Sentiment Expressed in the Big Newark Daily to Effect That Cross Should be Renominated If He Desires to Run Again.

Under the caption, "Good Advice," the Elizabeth Journal has something more to say regarding the recently announced candidacy of City Judge William N. Runyon for the State senatorship. The trend of this editorial has the same line as the first one, which has already been published in these columns. It is in advocacy of Senator Cross' renomination and opposes the Plainfield boom.

This time an editorial utterance of the Newark News is used for a text and the Republican organ of the county seat seconds the sentiment of the big Newark daily to the effect that it will be bad policy from the Republican point of view to oust Senator Cross if he desires to return to the upper house of the State Legislature.

The article reads as follows:

"The Newark News has recently given considerable editorial attention to political affairs in Union county, and while, for the most part, its utterances have been judicious, some of them seem to have been made without full knowledge of the conditions here, and also to have been colored by more or less factional pigments.

"In last Tuesday's issue, however, the Union county voters were given a bit of advice that is so pertinent and so well-timed that it is herewith reproduced and endorsed. The News, under the caption of 'Stirring up Trouble in Union,' said: 'In spite of the fact that Charles J. Fisk has positively declined to be a candidate for State senator from Union county in opposition to Senator Joseph Cross, the politicians appear to be bound to put a Plainfield man in the race for the nomination. Whether this desire comes from the wish to have an anti-Kean candidate, or is simply an indication that Plainfield demands that it be given more recognition at the expense of Elizabeth, it is not a wise course to pursue if the Republicans wish to retain their supremacy.

" 'Under the new conditions prevailing as the result of the reapportionment, Congressman Fowler cannot afford to arouse any more antagonisms in his own party, and every move made by his friends should be in the nature of harmonizing the factions which have existed in Union for several years It would be an impolitic move to attempt to deprive Senator Cross of another term in the upper house of the Legislature so long as he desires a renomination, no matter how well qualified Judge William N. Runyon may be to fill the place. The general public of Union county is satisfied with the record made by Senator Cross, and his rejection by his party would be a mistake sure to be regretted by those responsible for it. If the leaders of both the Fowler and Kean forces are wise, they will be satisfied to let well enough alone.'

"There is so much direct and pertinent truth in the News' suggestions, that they are given prominence in the hope that they will be taken seriously. There is no necessity for any factional fights in Union county, and at this time, above all times the Republicans of the county should be united.

"The Journal has shown, more than once, that the new congressional district is not the same as the old one, and that it is practically suicidal for Republicans to indulge in animosities and factional disruptions. Whoever lends himself to the continuation of old quarrels or to generating new ones, will imperil the success of the party and will have to assume the responsibility of defeat, if defeat should ensue."

Gone to Jekyl Island, Ga.

J. Linn Edsall his wife and little daughter, Gladis, and "Rex," sailed yesterday for Jekyl Island. Mr. Edsall goes in the interest of the Geo. A. Williams Electrical Company, of Jersey City, which is installing a plant there for the Jekyl Island Millionaire Club.

CHOICE WILL BE FLANAGAN

Democrats of Fifth Congressional District Will Hold Convention at Washington.

TO BE HELD TUESDAY.

City Primaries Were Held Last Evening and Were Very Quiet—Where No Primaries Were Held the City Executive Committee Will Select Vacancies for Delegates.

No opposition seems to exist, even in thought, among the Democrats as to the man likely to be nominated at the forthcoming Congressional convention at Washington, Warren county, Tuesday. Thus far, the only name heard in connection with the candidacy is that of DeWitt Clinton Flanagan, of Morristown, who was chosen to fill the unexpired term of the late Congressman Salmon in the old Fourth district. To him, claim the members of the new district, belongs the honor of nomination in the changed territory.

Plainfield elected its delegates to the convention last night, in apparent harmony as to the choice of a candidate. Union county seems to have no objection to Mr. Flanagan's having the place at the head of the slate, and it is expected that the convention will be governed by a like spirit of concord. In all there will be 201 delegates, who will enliven the little Warren county town by their presence and the important errand which will gather them.

Elaborate preparations are being made at Washington to entertain the visitors and make them feel that Warren can make a good showing for itself in the way of hospitality. Music will be a feature of the occasion at different points about the town on Monday night and all day Tuesday, while prominent men, engaged to address the convention, will make that part of the affair memorable.

Honors will probably be divided by giving to Union county the chairmanship of the convention, as Warren has the seat and Morris probably the candidate. The call to order is to be made in the Opera House at 11 o'clock in the morning, when organization will be effected. Adjournment will then be taken until afternoon, when the real work of the convention will be accomplished.

First Ward.

Only one Democrat appeared at C. L. Moffert's office, where the First ward primary was scheduled to be held. Under the circumstances the lone loyalist could do nothing and the city executive committee will name the delegates.

Second Ward.

At the Second ward primary J. E. Martine was chosen chairman, Hezekiah Hand was judge and Edward Tomlinson clerk. John Ross and Alfred Cox were chosen the delegates to the Congressional convention, with James E. Martine and J. B. Guttridge as alternates. The delegates were given power to fill all vacancies.

Third Ward.

In the Third ward, where Democrats are few and far between, no primary was held. The delegates will be chosen later by the city executive committee.

Fourth Ward.

M. R. Flynn called the Fourth ward primary to order and was chosen chairman, with E. D. Moffett secretary. Nominations were quickly made for the following delegates, who were empowered to fill their own vacancies: First district, Peter Flynn, E. D. Moffett; second district, Thos. McCauley, Charles L. Moffett; third district, Ira G. Hurlbut.

Good Weather Promised.

It never rains when the Methodists have their seashore excursion, they say. The weather being one of the main considerations nowadays, plans for next Thursday may be made with the hope that the record of the past will not be broken and that the Plainfield and Dunellen M. E. Sunday-schools will have a day of sunshine. It goes without saying that the other details of a pleasant time will not be lacking.

Laid Over For Trial.

To await the convenience of the court, the cases of John Scott, for alleged violation of the health ordinances, and of Hugh McGeehan, for vagrancy, were laid over in city court this morning until Monday.

PLANS FILED FOR THE HOSPITAL

The Construction of Muhlenberg Hospital's New Home Will Start at Once.

Full description of the new Muhlenberg Hospital as it will look when completed has been given on two occasions in The Daily Press. Since the full plans of construction were filed with Building Inspector Doane yesterday, a better conception of details and general appearance may be gained. The papers are now at the office in fire headquarters. The work of construction will start at once, although the heavy rains of the past few days have had a tendency to impede the progress of building the foundations.

From all cardinal points, views of the different buildings which will form a part of the new structure are embodied in the plans. The different elevations of the administration building, men's and women's wards, operating pavilion and kitchen are shown in all their detail, as they will appear when the building is completed. The accompanying illustration will convey a good idea of the ensemble.

TRINITY'S FRESH WATER DAY

ANNUAL EXCURSION TO THE SHORE IN A POURING RAIN.

Clouds Cleared Away at Noon, But the Sea Breeze Was a Very Chilly One.

When the annual excursion of Trinity Reformed church Sunday-school and Marconnier chapel left Plainfield yesterday morning it was raining very hard. Upon the arrival at Asbury Park it still rained just as hard. The run to the shore was made in one hour and forty minutes, the train being in charge of Conductor Knapp.

Between 12 and 1 o'clock noon the rain ceased and it cleared away so that the excursionists could enjoy the afternoon. There was a stiff breeze off the ocean and it was very cold. For this reason there was little bathing. However, those in the party managed to have a good time, the best possible under the circumstances. The excursion left Asbury Park at 7:10 o'clock and the trip home was made in one hour and fifty minutes.

The members of Marconnier chapel turned out well, as did also those from Trinity church, and friends and well-wishers outside the church. The deficit will be about $ 100.

TWO NEW BUILDINGS.

New Butcher Shop and a Two-Story Building in the West End.

Building Inspector T. O. Doane has approved statements of specifications for two new operations in the West End. One is for a one story butcher shop, to be erected by E. F. Gavin on South Second street, opposite the Pond Tool Works, on the site of the one destroyed by fire a short time ago. The other is to be a two story dwelling, on West Third street, near Muhlenberg place, for the Metropolitan Merchantile and Realty Company.

Overland to California.

Overland to California, with side stops for rest and enjoyment, is the route planned by Jacob Blimm and "Ted" Flannery, who are going to attend the Supreme Lodge session of the Knights of Pythias on the Pacific slope. By starting early, the Plainfielders are said to have in view some detective work in the capture of the western outlaw, Tracy, who has been dodging arrest for several weeks past in Washington.

Largest Vault.

Sections of a large manganese vault, to be constructed by the Hibbard-Rodman-Ely Safe Works, have been shipped to Plainfield by the Taylor Iron and Steel Works, of High Bridge. This will be the largest vault yet constructed by the company as some of the sections weigh nearly eight tons.

LEHIGH HAS LITTLE COAL

COAL PILES AT SOUTH PLAINFIELD IS GROWING VERY SMALL.

Only 50,000 Tons of Hard Coal Left—Engines Burning a Mixture Now.

Less coal than at any time for many years is now stored at the yards of the Lehigh Valley Railroad in South Plainfield. The continued hold-up in the anthracite region is producing a visible effect on the vast piles which have been almost a fixture on the premises. Within the last two months the supply has been greatly depleted. A liberal estimate of the amount now on hand places the quantity at 50,000 tons of anthracite and 600,000 tons of bituminous coal. This is considered a very small storage to fall back upon. Eight weeks ago the Lehigh people were generally credited with having at South Plainfield the largest single coal heap in the world.

The straits to which the company is put for the want of hard coal may be surmised from the fact that the engine attached to the Black Diamond express, which has never before burned anything else but the anthracite article, is now compelled to fill her tenders with a consignment of soft and hard. All coal leaving the yards for immediate use is of a like mixture, being a composition of soft, rice and buckwheat, with a greater proportion of the former, except when the soft is used absolutely.

As a consequence of the fact that few shipments have been received at the yards of late, as many as half of the Hungarians, Polish and Slav laborers have been thrown out of employment. Some of the men have been kept busy recently re-piling the coal. It had been found that some of the larger mounds were rusting, causing a serious deterioration in quality. To avoid this men were put to work to make heap about ten feet high, flattened at the top, instead of the former masive ones. No waste can be allowed as every ounce is valuable.

If the strike is not settled by the beginning of September the Lehigh will not have enough hard coal left to build a single fire beneath a single boiler.

New Telegraph Office.

The new telegraph office at the North Avenue station will be ready for occupancy about August 1. It will be provided with a new modern switchboard and everything will be up-todate. The work of moving some of the instruments from the old office is now going on.

New McKinley Postal Cards.

The new McKinley postal cards have been issued and received at some of the postoffices in New Jersey.

WANTS TO BE ASSEMBLYMAN

ALDERMAN EDWARD S. COYNE, OF ELIZABETH, IS A CANDIDATE.

Is Now Conducting an Aggressive Campaign and Hopes for Ultimate Success.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, July 26—Alderman Edward S. Coyne, of the Tenth ward of this city, has greatly surprised the party leaders during the past week by the aggressive fight he is making to be elected to the Legislature in place of Assemblyman Frederick Miller, deceased. When Alderman Coyne's name was suggested, certain of the Republican leaders said he could not have it. This came to his ears and those of his friends and he started out to show his disparagers a trick or two, and his boom seems to be prospering.

Alderman Coyne is one of the most popular young men in Elizabeth. For twenty-four years he has been connected with the Manhattan Stove Works on Water street, New York, and for twelve years has been its manager. He was born at Mariner's Harbor, Staten Island, Nov. 11, 1862, and came to Elizabeth when one year old. He was educated in the Morrell Street Public School and for ten years was secretary of the noted Elizabeth Athletic Club and a member of its strong bowling team.

For ten years he has been secretary of Elizabeth Council, Royal Arcanum, and was a member of the old Continental Hose, Elizabeth fire department. He organized and managed for five years the crack amateur Elizabeth baseball club.

Alderman Coyne is also a member of Washington Lodge, Free Masons, the Mattano Club and the Republican McKinley Club. He is a bachelor.

THEATRICAL.

Ideal summer vaudeville continues the order of the day at Proctor's Twenty-third Street Theatre, New York. Long programmes of evenly entertaining specialties are presented in continuous performance and attest ing the popularity of the Proctor plan, great throngs are in constant attendance. Augustus Cooke & Co., in "Napoleon," provide the topping feature of next week's bill. Wallace Erskine will lead the Proctor Stock Company in a fine presentation of "David Garrick" at the Fifth Avenue Theatre. Vaudeville will be interspersed between acts, as usual, keeping the performance continuous. Up in Harlem the Proctor Stock Company will present "His Heart's Delight," the play by Henry Guy Carleton which has previously been known as "The Butterflies."

Proctor's, Newark, will present another big bill of summer vaudeville at summer prices. Raymon Moore, the sweet-voiced tenor, will be the headliner and the completed bill will engage the Brownings, in a comedy sketch; James and Bennie Farley in a juvenile sketch; Georgie Lingard, versatile entertainer; Ford and Dot West, and many other clever entertainers. The daily bargain matinees are especially attractive to the women and children.

Mrs. L. C. Ely, of the borough, is sojourning at the Jersey seashore for a time.

William Lindsay, of Mountain avenue, who has been sojourning at Atlantic City, has returned.

Ernest Millard, clerk at the postoffice, expected to start on his vacation yesterday, but was detained owing to the absence of Daniel Clawson, who was called away by the death of his father.

Poisoning the System.

It is through the bowels that the body is cleansed of impurities. Constipation keeps these poisons in the system, causing headache, dullness and melancholia at first, then unsightly eruptions and finally serious illness unless a remedy is applied. DeWitt's Little Early Risers prevent this trouble by stimulating the liver and promote easy, healthy action of the bowels. These little pills do not act violently but by strengthening the bowels enable them to perform their own work. Never gripe or distress. L. W. Randolph.

EDISON'S NEW CEMENT WORKS HAVE OPENED

Big Plant at Stewartsville Began Work This Week With Force of 300 Men.

BUILDING TWO YEARS.

HOW THOS. A. EDISON PLANS TO MANUFACTURE PORTLAND CEMENT.

Hunterdon's New Industry, Planned by the Great Inventor, Has Started Work—Edison and the Directors Were at Opening.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Stewartsville, July 26—The Edison Portland Cement Company's plant at New Village is at last ready to manufacture cement. About 600 men have been at work for over two years constructing the twenty-seven buildings and installing the ponderous machinery necessary. The plant covers a space half a mile long and one-quarter of a mile wide. It has thus far cost over a million and a half dollars.

Jacob Bowers, of Washington, who has charge of the quarry, located over two miles from the plant and connected with it by a railroad upon which are three locomotimes, has put a mammoth steam shovel and a large force of men at work at the quarry.

Thomas A. Edison conceived the idea of improving upon the old process of cement-making, and, discovering an inexhaustible deposit of cement rock at this place, he formed a company, and over two years ago commenced work on the plant, which is the largest of its kind in the United States. The machinery is built for a capacity of 10,000 barrels per day; but the buildings were made to accommodate half that amount at the start, and if the business proves successful the plant will be increased to its fullest capacity in a few years.

There are twenty-seven buildings, and the roasting-house is separate from the others. All the others are connected by a deep tunnel half a mile long, fifteen feet wide and twenty-five feet deep. The stockhouse looks life a roof rising from the earth, but under it are two 600-feet corridors, one above the other, and connected by big flues. There the cement rock will be roasted and prepared for the refining process. From that building starts the tunnel mentioned. The raw material will be conveyed by means of an electric railroad through the tunnel from the stockhouse to the crusher, and thence to the dryer. The tunnel is made of solid rock walls and paved with concrete. The dryer is a simple stone shaft twenty feet square and forty feet high. Inside are a series of drying pans.

The crusher is located in a building four stores high, the two sides being of solid masonry, ten feet thick at the bottom and five at the top. The floors are of steel construction. The machinery is capable of crushing 25,000 barrels of cement rock every twenty-four hours. The rollers have a pressure of 100,000 pounds to the square inch. In order to get results Edison made use of a discovery by means of which, with the aid of pulleys worked in connection with air compressors, he could get the great pressure directly upon the steel rollers with less than 1,000 pounds pressure on the bearings. All the cement rock will be transported through the tunnel as it is moved from one building to another. The raw material is received at the roasting-house, and there the cement rock will be roasted and prepared for the secret refining process invented by Edison, and which is expected to revolutionize the cement industry. Before the product is again handled by hand it will automatically travel several miles through the many buildings. One hundred and twenty-five motors are used in the plant.

When the last stage of the process is reached the cement will flow into barrels in a building through which several railroad tracks pass, thus permitting the barrels to be loaded as fast as filled. All the buildings are of steel, covered with corrugated iron, and painted black.

The Pohatcong creek furnishes the water supply, a pumphouse being located on its bank, and a large reservoir has been built to hold in reserve. When the plant is in good running order, which is expected to be soon, twenty-five cars will be filled with cement every day, and if the present plans are successful and carried out by additions to the plan it will only be a few years before sixty cars are filled every day.

At present the Alpha and Vulcanite plants, near Phillipsburg, are turning out about 5,000 barrels of cement a day, the Martins Creek plant, near Belvidere, about 2,000 barrels, and the Marksboro plant, in course of erection at Marksboro, will add another thousand daily. With the Edison's supply of 5,000 and the proposed Capital Portland Cement Company's plant, with a capacity of 2,000 more, this section of the country will be an important factor in the cement industry.

CAMP MEETING AT MT. TABOR

PLANS ALL READY FOR MEETING WHICH BEGINS AUGUST 5.

Committee Will Publish a Daily Newspaper While Meeting is in Session.

Mt. Tabor, July 26—The campmeeting committee has completed the list of speakers who are to preach during the coming campmeeting, which begins Tuesday, August 5.

The committee will publish the Mt. Tabor Daily Record again this year. This paper was started last year and came out daily for ten days during the campmeeting. This year the paper will be larger and better in every way, and will assume the appearance of a regular daily, with twelve daily issues.

The preparations for the children's entertainment on Friday evening are all completed, as well as for the festivities of Saturday, which is the regular Children's Day here. What are called Children's Day exercises, however, will begin on the day before and end the day after. The observances will be on a scale more extensive this year than ever before. An entertainment on Friday evening inaugurates the regular exercises. A golf tournament, baseball game and other athletic sports will fill in the day on Saturday. There will be band concerts Saturday afternoon and evening, and special religious exercises on Sunday morning, afternoon and evening. The parade and illuminations on Saturday evening will be a very prominent feature. These exercises every year attract a very large number of people, some of whom visit the place just for a day's outing. To accommodate such as desire to return home on Saturday evening, a special train has been arranged for and will leave Mt. Tabor at 10:45 p. m. for all way stations to New York, reaching Newark at 11:30 o'clock. On Sunday evening the eastbound train leaves Mt. Tabor at 8:52.

Rev. D. D. Eaton, director of the Mt. Tabor chorus, has all plans arranged for the rendering of "The Holy City," by Gaul, on the evening of August 8. The chorus will number about seventy-five voices.

PUSHING TROLLEY TUNNEL

WORK PROGRESSES FOR THE TROLLEY TUNNEL UNDER THE HUDSON.

New Machinery is Being Delivered Daily at Jersey City End of the Shaft.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Jersey City, July 26—Great headway is being made on the works of the New York and New Jersey Tunnel Company, at the foot of Fifteenth street. One of the new compressors is working and the other two will be placed in position and made ready for operation in another week or two.

All of the frame work of the iron building enclosing the machinery and tunnel shaft is up and a gang of shee iron workers will have all the plates in place in about a month. Two more huge dynamos from the General Electric Company have been delivered at the work and the foundations are being prepared for them.

Four new boilers, each about twenty-two feet long, are in place at the end of the building fronting the bulkhead and two elevators for the raising and lowering of material are almost ready.

Forty-five men were working in the compressed air of the northern bore of the tunnel while about twenty more were at work on the surface.

Order is rapidly being evolved out of chaos and the business-like aspect of affairs is pronounced, not a piece of the old machinery is visible. Everything in the mechanical line is brand new.

The eighteen hydraulic jacks for boring are being repaired and are expected to be delivered at the works in a few days. The movable steel shield, the diameter of the tunnel, is all in readiness and once the work of tunnelling is resumed, the northern bore will speedily be an accomplished fact. The work of wiring the tunnel for electric lighting is receiving the finishing touches.

Work was begun this week on the Manhattan side of the North River. A gang of workmen commenced tearing up the pavement on West street directly in front of the French Line pier near Christopher. Under the pavement a wooden covering to that portion of the old tunnel completed a dozen years ago was encountered and removed.

[Daniel Clawson, an employe at the postoffice, who was called to Barley Sheaf, Hunterdon county, this week by the death of his father, is expected to return home today.

PRAISE FOR CONGRESSMAN

NEWARK NEWS COMMENDS FOWLER IN STRONG EDITORIAL.

What He Has Done in Improving Currency System—The People Will Appreciate It.

There is nothing like true praise and so Congressman Fowler must feel that his labors have not been in vain, after all, when the largest and most important newspaper in the State bestows upon him well deserved praise. When the Newark News commends any public man, one can be fully assured that that newspaper means it. It has made its policy of independence so well known that any words of praise for any public man are recognized as being the sincere belief of that journal and not published through any partizan reasons.

The Newark News recently published the following editorial, commendatory of Congressman Fowler:

"Mr. Fowler, who honors New Jersey in being probably the man of strongest financial genius in Congress, will not remit his campaign in favor of a more scientific banking and currency system. 'More power to his elbow' in this important duty. It is the man who works in season and out of season that finally achieves, and the question, one of the most complex and obscure which the statesman has to consider, exacts that the public themselves must be educated before much weight of public opinion can force legislative action. That the Washington Solons will wait till they are kicked into it is the present outlook. They are very much in the moral plight of those college youths, who take the easiest electives in the curriculum on which they can obtain the coveted sheepskin.

"Mr. Fowler is thoroughly a believer in the intelligence of the people, of the plain people, and of their capacity and desire to grasp the essential points of a great question, when they are lucidly set forth. It is said that when he explained the full bearing of his bill to a caucus gathering of his party, they yawned and confessed they could not fully grasp it, refraining from saying that they did not wish to accept it and preferred to let well enough alone. Many speakers at the various bankers' conventions which have been recently held showed that, though presumptively trained by habit to think on such subjects and to test them by the course of practice, they did not perceive the exact relation of the Fowler theories and their application to conditions, matters which the author of the bill had elucidated with great force and clearness.

"A large majority of the writers on the sound money newspapers have shown in their discussion that they recognized succulently the force and value of Mr. Fowler's argument. These have, no doubt, contributed in considerable measure to clearing up some of the darkness which clings to minds fettered by the habit of making a fetish of the present system, around which war memories cast a halo, and which has proved to be like Ezekiel's image, gold and brass tottering on feet of clay. The campaign of education must go on to get this idol dethroned, and Mr. Fowler is wise in distributing his great speech with those important additions, which he did not deliver on the floor of debate, directly into the hands of the people. Several hundreds of thousands of Congressional Records containing it will be scattered broadcast, and the matter will also be issued in convenient pamphlet form. This will be done entirely at Mr. Fowler's private expense.

"The object is worthy the effort, and the author is certain that the experiment will register corresponding profit in its effect on the minds of intelligent Americans."

Mother Always Keeps It Handy.

"My mother suffered a long time from distressing pains and general ill health due primarily to indigestion," says L. W. Spalding, Verona, Mo. "Two years ago I got her to try Kodol. She grew better at once and now, at the age of seventy-six, eats any thing she wants, remarking that she fears no bad effects as she has her bottle of Kodol handy." Don't waste time doctoring symptoms. Go after the cause. If your stomach is sound your health will be good. Kodol rests the stomach and strengthens the body by digesting your food. It is nature's own tonic. L. W. Randolph.

C. V. Fowler, of Central avenue, and Frank C. Talmadge are among the Plainfielders noted this week among the guests at Ardsley-on-the-Hudson.

"I Stood in a Draught with my coat off and caught this wretched cold," says the sufferer. He need not pay a heavy penalty if he follows his act of folly with an act of wisdom. Soak the feet in hot water with a few teaspoonsfuls of Perry Davis' Painkiller in it. Take a teaspoonful of Painkiller in hot sweetened water at bed time and be thankful for so simple and speedy a way to break up a cold. There is but one Painkiller, Perry Davis'.

WAR ON OPPRESSORS

Frenchwomen Implore Mme. Loubet to Aid.

WANT SCHOOL PERSECUTION STOPPED

Delegation Demands "Ill Treatment of the Sisters" Cease — Stormy Scenes Outside Paris—School Turned Into a Fortress.

PARIS, July 26.—A strange scene, reminiscent of stormier, sadder days in France, occurred yesterday at the Elysee palace. A large delegation of women, including the wives of several members of the chamber of deputies, assembled at the palace to endeavor personally to implore Mme. Loubet to appeal to her husband, the president, to stop the school prosecutions.

Mme. Loubet sent out word to them by General Dubois, head of the president's military household, that it was impossible for her to receive a deputation upon a subject which was solely within the scope of the executive.

The wife of Deputy Reille made a violent protest. "Tell Mme. Loubet," she said, "that the blood of women will flow if measures are not taken to stop this ill treatment of the sisters. We will address a letter to the wife of the president in which we will declare war upon the oppressors. The Christian women of France have decided not to suffer in silence."

A serious situation is prevailing in the fanatically Catholic country around Brest on account of the closing of the unauthorized schools. The countryside has taken up arms and is determined to resist any attempt at the forcible execution of the orders of the premier.

An incident at St. Meen, eighteen miles from Brest, shows the spirit of the peasantry. Two newspaper men of Brest drove there in an automobile to investigate the situation at the sisters' school. Immediately after they had entered the commune a boy sounded a bugle, and crowds of peasants swarmed from the fields, armed with pitchforks and ironbound sticks, shouting: "Long live the sisters!" "Long live liberty!"

One of the reporters was dragged from the automobile, and the fanatics beat him with their pitchforks and sticks. The newspaper man explained in the Breton dialect that he had only come in search of information, but the crowd refused to listen to him, and the reporter had to keep them at bay with a revolver.

A school at Ploudaniel, in the same neighborhood, has been converted into a fortress, barricades have been erected, and the inhabitants have formed a cordon about the surrounding area.

The Journal Officiel has published a decree, signed by President Loubet, designating twelve congregationalist schools in Paris and fourteen in the department of the Seine which it orders to be closed immediately, as they have been opened since the passage of the law of associations without authorization. As a matter of fact most of the schools designated have been closed already, and the sisters in charge of them have returned to convents.

No Hope For Middleton.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., July 26.—George D. Middleton, who is in the deathhouse at Clinton prison, Dannemora, under sentence of death, received a letter from his sister yesterday saying that all hope of a pardon, reprieve or stay of any kind is gone. The date for his electrocution is set for the week of July 28. Middleton is about forty-five years of age and was convicted of murder in the first degree for killing his wife at his home in Pottersville, Warren county, N. Y., on the 22d day of June, 1901.

Fatal Fire In Albany.

ALBANY, July 26.—One fireman dead, one in the hospital believed to be dying and a number seriously injured in addition to a monetary loss variously estimated at from $500,000 to $750,000 is the result of a fire which started in the heart of the business district yesterday morning. The entire fire department of the city was called into service, and for hours it looked as though their efforts to check the spread of the flames would prove unavailing.

Mother and Child Cremated.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., July 26.—Mrs. Charles Denig and her young child were burned to death during the night in a creamery building at Callicoon, N. Y. The husband jumped from the second floor, leaving his wife and child, who were overcome before they could be saved.

The Kaiser Going to Russia.

CHRISTIANIA, Norway, July 26.—Emperor William left Bergen today for Emden, whence, after a few days, his majesty intends to go to Russia to meet the czar.

Six Hangings In a Day.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., July 26.—Six men were hanged in this state yesterday for murder. Two of the number who paid the death penalty were white men.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

Heavy storms in Pennsylvania caused much damage to crops.

Daily earthquakes have occurred in Bundu-Abbas, Persia, since July 9.

A severe typhoon swept over the island of Luzon between the thirteen and eighteenth parallels.

A Denver express on the Rock Island railroad was wrecked near Omaha, with the loss of two lives.

Forty persons, a number of them prominent, were poisoned by drinking lemonade at Maryville, Tenn. Many will die.

Don't Lose Your Grip

Gray hairs often stand in the way of advancement for men and women, socially and in business. Many men are failing to secure good positions just because they look "too old," and no one knows how many women have been disappointed in life because they have failed to preserve that attractiveness which largely depends on the hair.

HAY'S HAIR-HEALTH

has been a blessing to thousands. It is a hair food, nourishing the roots, forcing luxuriant growth, covering bald spots, restoring life, and positively brings back gray hair to its youthful beauty and color. Hay's Hair-Health is not a dye, and its use cannot be detected.

TRADE CONDITIONS.

Crop Prospects Strengthen Business. Lack of Fuel Chief Obstacle.

NEW YORK, July 26.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

Each day brings the agricultural products of the nation nearer maturity, and as the possibility of any serious injury becomes smaller the feeling of confidence in fully sustained trade grows stronger. The threatened sympathetic strike of bituminous miners has been averted, and, aside from a number of small disputes among garment workers, the labor outlook has improved. Storms destroyed much property in some sections, and the prompt restoration of structures has added to the activity of building trades.

Insufficient fuel is the one serious difficulty in the iron and steel industry, interruptions and delays from this cause becoming more noticeable each day. Supplies of coal are curtailed by the strike, and, although coke ovens are marking new records of production, shipments are retarded by the car and motive power shortage. In a market where there is comparative dullness because deliveries cannot be made promptly the outlook for long continued activity seems favorable, especially as scarcity of fuel cannot continue a factor indefinitely. All forms of pig iron have sold far ahead, and there is no evidence of overproduction in the near future at least.

There was less activity in the speculative markets for the leading cereals, yet prices were fairly well maintained. In July corn there was a fear of a further campaign against the short interest, while the wheat market was sustained by the small percentage of receipts that graded up to contract. There was a striking increase in the quantity of wheat marketed, arrivals at interior cities aggregating 6,645,451 bushels compared with 4,457,224 bushels in the preceding week and 6,898,528 bushels a year ago.

Meats were somewhat weaker on larger receipts and smaller export buying.

Footwear factories have returned to almost full operation, contracts coming forward freely from wholesalers at the large cities.

Failures for the week numbered 208 in the United States against 198 last year, and in Canada 17 against 28 last year.

A SPECIAL COMMISSIONER.

China Decides to Send One to the St. Louis Exposition.

PEKING, July 26.—The emperor announced today that he has decided to send an imperial commissioner to represent China at the St. Louis exposition instead of placing China's interests in the hands of the Chinese minister to the United States, as had been intended.

The United States minister here, Mr. Conger, had secured an audience with the emperor for John Barrett, the commissioner general of the exposition for Asia and Australia, when the announcement was formally made.

Mr. Conger last night entertained at dinner the members of the council and of the foreign office, who discussed the exposition with Mr. Barrett. Incidentally they thanked Mr. Conger for the apparent sincerity of the United States' assistance in bringing about the withdrawal of the foreign troops from Tientsin.

Medals For Four Officers.

WASHINGTON, July 26.—Now that the list of the officers and men of the navy who are to receive the West Indian campaign medals and bars has been completed the naval board on awards is busying itself with the "meritorious service" medals which are intended to go to those officers who rendered particularly telling services in the West Indian naval campaign. So far only four persons have been decided upon for the meritorious service medal. These are Lieutenant Richmond Pearson Hobson, for his well known feat with the Merrimac; Lieutenants Ward and Buck, for their perilous, secret mission into Spain, and Lieutenant Victor Blue, for his famous work in connection with the location of the Spanish fleet in Santiago harbor.

Five Killed In Arizona Wreck.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 26.—A special from Tucson, Ariz., says: "Five persons were killed and a number injured in a wreck near Llano, a town seventy miles south of Nogales on the Sierra railroad. The northbound international train was derailed by a washout, and the engine, baggage car, two passenger coaches and a Pullman sleeper toppled over an embankment. The baggage car and one passenger coach were smashed to kindling wood, but the first class coaches and the Pullman escaped with little injury. The killed and seriously injured were all in the second class coach."

Russian Artist Arrives.

NEW YORK, July 26.—Vassili Verestchagin, a Russian painter who has been making studies for a painting of the battle of San Juan Hill for President Roosevelt, was a passenger on the steamer Segurança from Santiago, which has just arrived. The artist went at once to Jersey City, where he took a train for Washington. It was reported some time ago that the painter had died of fever in Santiago. Subsequently Mr. Verestchagin denied even that he had been ill.

Windward's Course Clear.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., July 26.—The mail steamer Virginia Lake, which arrived here yesterday from northern Labrador, reports the entire coast free from ice. This will enable the Peary steamer Windward to make a quick run to Davis strait, and she is likely to reach Greenland much earlier than if she were forced to make a detour to avoid ice floes.

SHAW AT OYSTER BAY

Secretary of Treasury Spends Night With President.

MOODY COMES ALSO FOR CONFERENCE

Augustine Fathers Discuss the Friar Question With Roosevelt—Stockman Journeys Three Thousand Miles With a Petition.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 26.—Hon. Leslie M. Shaw, secretary of the treasury, arrived at Sagamore Hill last evening in the revenue cutter Gresham from New York. As Secretary Shaw left the Gresham the war yacht Mayflower fired a salute of seventeen guns in his honor. The secretary proceeded at once to Sagamore Hill, where he was welcomed cordially by the president. He remained overnight, meantime discussing with Mr. Roosevelt some pending departmental affairs.

Hon. William H. Moody, secretary of the navy, is expected at Sagamore Hill today.

Rev. Father James P. O'Reilly of Lawrence, Mass., and Rev. Father William A. Jones, president of the St. Augustine college at Havana, had an interview with President Roosevelt in the afternoon. Both the visitors are members of the Augustinian order, and they discussed with Mr. Roosevelt the friars situation in the Philippines, with special remark for the members of their own order.

W. B. Sleeper of Wyoming has arrived here to present to the president resolutions of the stock raisers of Big Horn county, Wyo., concerning the exclusion of cattle and sheep from the additional Yellowstone park timber reserve. The resolutions request the president to suspend any action with reference to the exclusion of stock from the reserve during the present season, which will last scarcely ninety days longer. Mr. Sleeper has traveled nearly 3,000 miles to present his petition. It is understood that the president already practically has granted the request of the stockmen.

Wu Ting Fang, the retiring Chinese minister, will visit the president at Sagamore Hill on Aug. 4. He will come from New York to Oyster Bay on the Mayflower. It is quite likely that at that time he will notify the president of his recall.

Three Drowned In Texas Flood.

DALLAS, Tex., July 26.—The rainfall in west Texas, which is characterized as the worst ever known, continues, and at Stephensville three lives were lost in a rushing torrent of water. Several houses were surrounded by the flood, and B. Whitely in attempting to rescue his family was drowned with his little daughter. Later in the day Assistant County Attorney Goodner was drowned in an attempt to rescue the same family. None of the bodies has been recovered. Cloudburst was followed by cloudburst in western Texas, and lakes and seas of water have inundated the country, causing great loss to the railroads and interrupting traffic and travel.

Cost of England's Wars.

LONDON, July 26.—Sir Michael Hicks-Beach was the guest last evening of the lord mayor and city bankers and merchants at a farewell dinner at the Mansion House. In an address dealing with national finance the chancellor said that the Chinese and South African wars had cost Great Britain £228,000,000, of which amount the taxpayers have already willingly contributed £75,000,000. The expenditure had been borne without serious injury to commerce, and £150,000,000 had been borrowed on easy terms, which Great Britain's continental neighbors envied, but could not imitate.

Lovely Had Unlovely Ways.

NEW YORK, July 26.—Under indictment for misappropriating more than $10,000 of the funds of the National Co-operative Building and Loan association, the secretary, John E. Lovely, has been sought by the Brooklyn police for more than a month. Lovely lived in Prospect Park South, Flatbush, with his wife. Lovely was trusted implicitly by the officers of the association. He was a man of exemplary habits and was prominent in a business way. He was in the glove business at 504 Fulton street, Brooklyn. He left his store June 14 and has not been seen since.

Received Sad News at Sea.

QUEENSTOWN, July 26.—Clarence H. Mackay, son of the late John W. Mackay, who was a passenger on board the Cunard line steamer Campania, from New York July 19, which arrived here yesterday, received the news of his father's death by wireless telegraphy at 3 p. m. July 24 from the westbound steamer Saxonia of the same line. Mr. Mackay received a large number of telegrams here. The wireless news created the greatest sympathy for Mr. Mackay among the Campania's passengers.

Gold Found In Vermont.

RUTLAND, Vt., July 26.—Gold assaying $737.00 to the ton has been discovered in the mountains in the town of Bridgewater by E. C. Page, a California mining expert. A number of New York men have been trying to buy land there, but the farmers ask prohibitive prices for their property.

Two Miners Killed.

NEW CUMBERLAND, W. Va., July 26.—The premature explosion of a shot which occurred in the Clay mine of the Black Hawk works just below here instantly killed John Carnahan, aged forty-five, and Thomas Sheets, aged thirty, both married men with families. Their bodies were blown to pieces.

Weather Probabilities.

Cloudy, unsettled weather and showers; fresh east to southeast winds.

CLEAN BASEBALL.

"No more rowdyism" at baseball games demands the Plainfield Press. Does The Press know that it is demanding the abolition of the most characteristic feature of modern professional baseball games? It used to be unfashionable and unpardonable to introduce rowdyism at the "national game," but now a professional game is hardly played without an exhibition of bad faith, ill-will, lack of refinement, bad temper and disrespect of the public.

We are not acquainted with baseball methods in Elizabeth but, with very few exceptions, the games played by the local nines of prominence have been entirely free from unpleasant incidents for which the players were responsible. The rowdyism, which The Daily Press referred to, was on the part of some of the spectators, and has only recently been prominent.

Rowdyism has not been characteristic of baseball in Plainfield and we are optimistic enough to believe that it never will. Plainfield has long been a strong baseball town and the lovers of the national game turn out in force to witness the contests on the diamond. With few exceptions, they know how to conduct themselves in an orderly and gentlemanly fashion. There are a few overzealous fans who have so far forgotten themselves as to attempt to take a hand in the game and interfere with the players. For the sake of the orderly element and the good of the sport, there must be no hesitancy in dealing with this class.

It may be old fashioned to see gentlemanly conduct at baseball games. In that case, let the Plainfield people be exceeding thankful that they are old-fashioned in that particular and may they continue to be. While the excitement over local games often rises to fever heat, exhibitions of rowdyism have been most infrequent which is a state of affairs eminently to be desired. If the editor of the Elizabeth Journal would like to see a good, clean game of baseball, he is most cordially invited to come to Plainfield any Saturday afternoon and watch the local league teams struggle for supremacy.

Twice have the forces of the Y. M. C. A. defeated the Hope Y. M. A. boys in the City League. This afternoon, the nines meet again and a hot contest may be expected. The Y. M. C. A. team leads with Hope second. If Hope wins today, the two clubs will be tied again. Victory for the Y. M. C. A. means a substantial lead for that club in the race for the league pennant.

As soon as the Plainfield Water Supply Company installs water meters, it will please a great many of its patrons and provide for a more equitable adjustment of the water rates.

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

You can have your laundry done anywhere. But to have it done satisfactorialy—"ah, there's the rub." Suppose you try Meissner's Hand Laundry.

Fred H. Firstbrook, the Liberty street grocer, gives away trading stamps with every purchase made at his store. Handsome premiums are offered for collections of these stamps.

Georgia peachers, large and luscious, drop in price at T. L. Walsh's North avenue produce store today. Another offer that carries its own recommendation in the name, is of Rocky Ford and Colorado Gem melons, which are always right.

Fresh and cheap describes the seafood which is found in varied assortment at Rogers' market on West Second street every day. The special offer of weakfish today and tonight is only one instance of what may be found there at any time.

Prompt and careful attention to every patron has made E. S. F. Randolph's drug store on North avenue the Mecca for those who have prescriptions to be filled or who want drugs of the best quality.

There is a delight in wearing the fine lightweight underwear that is sold by Peck and the purchaser receives full value for the money expended. There is a peculiar attraction about all goods at this store that is not found elsewhere, as thousands can testify.

Don't miss the July clearing sale at Woodhull & Martin's store. If you do you are sure to miss some of the greatest bargains of the season. A glance through the advertisement in The Daily Press will give you valuable pointers on the special bargains now offered.

SUBURBAN NEWS

A Department Devoted to the Minor Events in Greater Plainfield's Suburbs by Our Own Correspondents.

DUNELLEN.

Lightning struck the residence of J. F. Soukop at the west end of town on Thursday and performed some queer antics. The bolt entered a room where Mrs. Soukop and some children were sitting and, after frisking around them for awhile without hurting them, tore some plaster from the walls and ripped some wood from the floor. The damage was not serious and nothing was set on fire.

All the streams in this part of the country are unusually swollen as a result of the heavy rains of the last few days. At several places along the Raritan river floods threatened for a time. A man who came from Lebanon yesterday reported that a small stream there rose four feet in as many hours.

Inter-borough rivalry will come to the fore this afternoon when the locals will play the New Market A. C. While it is possible that New Market may spring a surprise, everything points to a local victory.

The Y. M. C. A. ball team had a game scheduled for this afternoon with the Stelton A. C. but this morning received word cancelling the game.

There is still a great demand for small houses to rent. The Board of Trade will meet next Wednesday and take further action for improving conditions in town.

The township roller is in use on Washington avenue today. An attempt is being made to finish the work there today.

Frederick Dickerson and family have returned home after spending a week in Asbury Park.

Abner Coriell left this morning for Asbury Park, where he will spend a two weeks vacation.

The Misses Barrett, of Jefferson avenue, are spending their vacation out of town.

Joseph Kissam, of New York, has been visiting at the home of James Craig.

Soren Giddes, of Plainfield, has been spending week at the home of Henry Garretson.

The Craig Manufacturing Company has recently received a large carload of lumber.

Jacob Welsh has rented his house in Washington avenue to an out-of-town party.

Mrs. Walter Vliet is still seriously ill at her home, and shows no signs of improvement.

The Checker Club met last evening for regular practice.

Henry Garretson made a business trip to Somerville yesterday.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD

The heavy shower, which passed over town yesterday morning, between 8 and 9 o'clock, was accompanied by heavy thundering and some of the sharpest lightning seen this season. The heaviest clap of thunder frightened David Steel's house as told in Friday's Press and the lightning bolt which accompanied it struck the Harry Robinson house in the borough. Fortunately the bolt was not accompanied by fire as it was a large hole was torn in the roof and the shingles scattered in all directions.

Interment of the body of Mrs. Cornelia Ritchie, who died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Sarah Fithian at Bridgeton Tuesday, was made in the family plot in the North Plainfield cemetery yesterday afternoon. Only a short service in charge of Rev. Chas. E. Herring, of the First Presbyterian church, Plainfield, was held at the grave, the funeral being held Thursday afternoon at Bridgeton.

Services at the Baptist church tomorrow will be Sunday-school, 9:30; morning preaching, "Fundamentals in Missions," 10:45; Baptist Young People's Union, 7; evening preaching, subject, "Any of This Way," 7:45. At the close of the morning sermon the bi-monthly collection for State missions will be taken.

Miss Florence Wade and little Malcolm Marsh, both of whom recently underwent operations at Muhlenberg Hospital for appendicitis, are doing very nicely and will soon be able to be removed to their homes again.

The Democratic voters met in the Bucket and Engine Company's rooms last night for the purpose of electing a delegate to the Congressional convention which meet at Washington July 29.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Mead and daughter, former residents of the village and borough, but for several years past residents of Spring Valley, N. Y., have removed to Plainfield.

Miss Alice Shott, who is making an extended visit with friends in New York, has been visiting her parents, Rev. and Mrs. G. M. Shott, at The Manse.

No preaching service will be held at the Methodist church tomorrow. Sunday-school session will be held as usual at 3 o'clock.

John Albert, the liveryman, is out with a handsome new surry to meet the demands of an increasing trade.

A number of necessary repairs and improvements are being made about the school building.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Warren, of the borough, have left for their summer outing among the Massachusetts hills.

—Tier's Lake House—the greatest ice cream emporium in New Jersey. Twenty-five varieties, frequently a greater number.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

At the Baptist church, tomorrow morning, an address will be given by C. L. Boothby, of 932 Amsterdam avenue, New York. Mr. Boothby is field secretary for the New Jersey and Delaware Anti-Saloon League. The evening sermon by the pastor will be on the subject, "Is Christianity Losing Its Grip?"

Contractor Connolly, of Newark, has just finished boring two wells two hundred feet deep, at the pumping station here. Morris Higgins yesterday loaned the apparatus and it was re-shipped to Newark.

The iron railroad bridges near the station were shifted yesterday. The old one was moved aside several feet, and the new structure that has recently been erected parallel to it was pushed into its place.

Miss Adrienne Muhlhahn, of New York, is spending Saturday and Sunday with her mother, who is visiting at the home of Mrs. Oscar Thorne.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ely, of Hights town, N. J., and Miss Lillian Ely, are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Thorne.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

Aptly named are the search lights which have lately been introduced on the through line of the Plainfield and Elizabeth trolleys. Aside from their great carrying power, with their pencils of lights extending a mile ahead of the car, a new quality of discovery has been noticed by observant eyes. It is with regard to the roadbed, which is thrown into the most prominent relief by the rays from the big "eye" on the trolley.

On the city streets, this peculiar power of detection can be seen in best operation. When the car is a block or more away, the slanting stream of light, falling upon the macadam, converts the roadway into a veritable hill country, in which hummocks and furrows, accentuated many fold, make a succession of patches of light and shadow. When the light comes nearer, what had appeared a gash of several inches in depth is transformed into a scarcely perceptible depression. Nevertheless, no one who has witnessed the phenomenon would say the streets have level surfaces.

To Wait for Juniors.

Inquiry reveals the fact that many persons have decided to wait for the excursion of Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., on American Day, August 14. This annual affair has always been a success and will undoubtedly be this year. A full day and part of the evening will be given at Asbury Park.

Found a Fight.

Fear of bloodshed led an enterprising citizen in the neighborhood of Fifth and Richmond streets to telephone to police headquarters this morning as to a fight in progress between two colored men. Patrolman Lunger journeyed to the scene and found James Carter and David Antonio engaged in a fierce battle of fists. They were separated and taken to jail before any serious damage had been done.

The condition of Mrs. H. C. Van-Emburgh is quite encouraging today.

Miss Ella C. Benedict, of East Fifth street, has gone to the Catskill Mountains for a few weeks.

"I Never Knew Painkiller to Fail before, what can the matter be? Where is the bottle? There, I thought so; it is not Perry Davis' Painkiller at all, but something the druggist must have made himself and I did not notice it; I have used Painkiller for years for diarrhoea, cramps and stomach aches and it never failed."

PREDICTS A VICTORY

President Mitchell at Headquarters In Wilkesbarre.

TO FORM DEFINITE RELIEF PLAN.

Every Possible Effort Will Be Made to Set Free the West Virginia Miners Who Were Jailed For Contempt.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., July 25.—President Mitchell returned to strike headquarters in this city last evening. After receiving the congratulations of the local officers of the miners' union he went to his office, where a heavy mail was awaiting him. After supper Mr. Mitchell was waited on by a committee from the Wilkesbarre Mercantile association, who requested him to use his influence to have all the relief provisions for the strikers in the Wyoming region purchased from home merchants. Mr. Mitchell said he would call the attention of those intrusted with the work of relief to the matter. It is said President Mitchell and the district presidents will hold a meeting today to discuss some definite relief plan which will be made universal through the strike region. As it is now every district has a plan of its own.

Mr. Mitchell said there was no change in the situation in the anthracite region. The strikers were remaining firm and very confident of victory.

As regards the situation in West Virginia President Mitchell said the courts would be appealed to through habeas corpus proceedings to secure the release of organizers of the miners' union sentenced to jail for contempt. If their liberty cannot be secured through the courts, then the higher authorities will be asked to pardon the men.

The chief of the United Mine Workers said the notices posted by the coal operators in the Kanawha and New river fields in West Virginia stating that all mines will resume operations on the 28th inst. and that all employees not reporting for work on that date will be discharged will have no effect on the strikers. "That is an old trick of the operators," continued Mr. Mitchell. "The miners of West Virginia are battling for a just cause, and justice demands that they be granted the concessions asked for."

Mr. Mitchell's stay at headquarters will probably continue now until the end of the strike.

Miners to Be Evicted.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 26.—Charleston is crowded with strikers from Loup Creek who are here to attend the trial of President Richards and others, who are charged with having violated the injunctions issued by Federal Judge Keller some time ago. Affairs in the coal district are quiet today. Second in interest to the trial of Richards and his associates is the eviction of strikers occupying company houses, which is to commence next Monday. This notice has been posted at all mines in the Kanawha and New river fields. All persons desiring to work in the mines at the same prices and under the conditions prevailing June 7, 1902, must report to the mine boss ready for work Monday morning, July 28. All persons who refuse to work on that day must call at the office, settle their accounts, get their pay if anything is due them and quit the respective companies' premises. The operators have decided to take this action simultaneously.

Havana's Big Failure.

HAVANA, July 26.—B. Duran, the cattle importer who suspended payment, has presented in court a sworn schedule showing his nominal assets to be about $900,000 and his liabilities about $800,000. The loss through disease of over 4,000 head of cattle is said to have precipitated the failure, which caused much surprise in business circles. Mr. Duran's principal creditor in Havana is said to be involved to the amount of $200,000. Two New York firms, Isaac Kubic & Co. and Cumming & Stockbridge, also are said to be involved. Among other creditors in Havana are Zaldo & Co., agents of the Ward line, and Upmann & Co., bankers. It is said also that nearly all the banks here lose by the failure.

Protection For Korea.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 26.—A special dispatch received here from Seoul, Korea, announces the conclusion of an important agreement between the British and Japanese ministers to Korea on one hand and the Japanese councilor, Kato, special adviser of the Korean emperor, on the other, by which Great Britain and Japan mutually guarantee Korea's independence and pledge her their support and assistance in all important questions affecting her internal and foreign policy.

Martin Won on Points.

LONDON, July 26.—The contest between Bob Armstrong and "Denver Ed" Martin, the American pugilists, for the colored championship of the world, which took place at the Crystal Palace last night, drew a great crowd. Armstrong started in a favorite, but his performance did not justify this, as Martin proved to be the more clever from the outset and never gave his opponent a chance, being declared an easy winner on points at the close of fifteen rounds.

A Pot of Gold Dug Up.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 26.—There is on exhibition at the Hotel Rudolf an iron pot containing $250 in gold which was buried four years ago by John McDowell Paget, an actor, at that time working in the hotel. It has just been dug up under the hotel piazza.

A PANHANDLE WRECK.

Engineer Killed, Three Passengers Burned to Death and Many Hurt.

DAYTON, O., July 26.—By the wrecking of the Panhandle limited late at night at Trebins Station, near Xenia, Engineer Clark of Xenia was killed, his fireman of Cincinnati, name unknown, had his head crushed, right arm broken and both legs cut off, three passengers, two women and a man, were burned to death in a Pullman sleeper and a number of other passengers were injured. A wrecking train was hurried out from Xenia and another from this city with all the doctors that could be secured.

The train was flying eastward at highest speed when the engine struck a loaded coal car which in the darkness had escaped from the siding in Xenia and had run down grade to the danger point. The engine struck it going at full speed and was turned over, with Engineer Clark underneath. The postal car, combination car and day coach, impelled by the heavy sleepers behind, piled over the engine. Two Pullmans followed and were laid across the track at right angles.

A gas tank under one of the cars exploded, setting fire to the wreck. The postal car, the coaches and two sleepers were destroyed entirely.

Telephone Men Couldn't Agree.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 26.—Pursuant to a call issued about a hundred representatives of independent or non-Bell companies operating in the state of New York convened here for the purpose of forming a state association. Owing to some rivalry springing up between the two long distance companies, each of which seeks to furnish long distance connections for the independent telephone companies in New York and elsewhere, a split occurred in the convention, and after many turbulent scenes which approached close upon personal encounters the adherents of one of the companies bolted after the friends of the other had secured the temporary organization. Eighty-five per cent of the delegates then went into convention at the Powers hotel.

A Threatening Letter.

ST. JOHNSBURY, Vt., July 26.—Dr. Henry C. Newell of this place received a letter from Boston, signed with three sets of initials, threatening him with death last night if $6,000 was not deposited by boy at the corner of School and Tremont streets, Boston. The letter said a man would be waiting to receive the money at 6 o'clock. The letter bore a postmark indicating that it was mailed in Boston Thursday afternoon. It was written in a wretched hand, the words were misspelled and the letter ungrammatical.

Blue Mountain Forest Reserve.

WASHINGTON, July 26.—The secretary of the interior has approved a recommendation made by Forest Superintendent Ormsby of Oregon for the withdrawal of a large part of the Blue mountains in Oregon, known as the Strawberry mountain region, with a view to the establishment of the "Blue mountain forest reserve." The area involved is about 145 townships, aggregating approximately 3,341,200 acres. The action takes effect immediately.

Named Camp Roosevelt.

WASHINGTON, July 26.—The great marine camp on Culebra island, West Indies, has been named by official order from marine headquarters Camp Roosevelt. Culebra island is to be defended against the three United States fleets in a war game this year by the marines, assisted by a flotilla of torpedo boats and other small craft.

Costa Rican Volcanoes Active.

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, July 26.—Unusual activity has lately been shown by Costa Rican volcanoes. The lands in the neighborhood of Terraba, sixty-eight miles southeast of San Jose, have been considerably disturbed, and the government has sent a commission to that locality to study the conditions.

NEW BATTLESHIPS.

What the Louisiana and Connecticut Will Be Like.

WASHINGTON, July 26.—The circulars for the two new battleships, the Connecticut and Louisiana, have been issued by the navy department. Plans will be ready Aug. 1, when the advertisement for bids for the Louisiana will be published. The Connecticut will be built in the New York navy yard. The bids will be opened about Oct. 1. The maximum time for construction of the Louisiana is forty-two months. For any delay beyond the contract time the builders are to forfeit $300 per day for the first month and $600 a day thereafter. In considering bids preference will be given to the bidder who offers to construct the ship in the shortest time. The speed of the ship is to be eighteen knots. If it falls below that limit, $50,000 is to be deducted from the contract price for each quarter knot down to seventeen knots and $100,000 for each quarter knot below the latter figure down to sixteen and a half knots. If the ship fails to make sixteen and a half knots, the secretary of the navy can reject her in his discretion.

In a general way it can be said that the Louisiana and the Connecticut will be of the same type as the battleships Georgia and New Jersey. They will measure 450 feet on the load line and will have an extreme width of 76 feet 10 inches. The mean draft will be 24 feet 5 inches and coaling capacity 2,200 tons. The main batteries will consist of four 12 inch, eight 8 inch and twelve 7 inch guns, with a secondary battery of twenty 3 inch rapid fire guns and some smaller semiautomatic guns.

Musical Instrument Manufacture.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 26.—The census bureau has issued a bulletin on the manufacture of musical instruments and materials in the United States. There are 621 establishments where instruments are made. Of these 263 are devoted to the manufacture of pianos, 129 to the manufacture of organs and 229 to the manufacture of other musical instruments. The capital invested amounts to $47,751,582, of which more than $38,000,000 is used in making pianos. The value of the product is returned at $44,514,463.

Deadly Lightning In Wisconsin.

PLYMOUTH, Wis., July 26.—Mrs. Joseph Harter, residing on a farm about 2½ miles south of here, was struck by lightning while milking, being instantly killed by the bolt. Mr. Harter and one of the boys were rendered unconscious by the same bolt, but they recovered several hours later. Five other children of the family who were in the house were also slightly shocked by the bolt. Besides the Harter barn four others within a radius of a mile were struck by lightning and destroyed by fire.

Fatal Storm.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., July 26.—A cloudburst over the Shawangunk mountain north of Pine Bush resulted in great destruction of property. Mrs. Benjamin Donnelly, who, with her husband and thirteen-year-old son, had sought refuge in a summer house on Banks' pond, was killed by lightning. Mr. Donnelly and his son were rendered unconscious for several hours.

Final Fight Monday.

WILLEMSTAD, Curacao, July 26.—President Castro of Venezuela has returned to La Guayra from Barcelona. With the troops which returned with him he will leave La Guayra Monday for Valencia, where the final action with the revolutionists will be fought.

FOR A COUNTRY HOUSE.

An Attractive but Simple Summer Living Room.

The keynote of the summer room should be coolness and simplicity. The room in the accompanying illustration shows how artistic an effect can be obtained along simple lines.

The principal feature is the archway inclosing five windows. These have their upper halves of pale tinted glass, and the curtains of yellow net hang straight between them. Seats are built into both ends of the arch inclosure, and on the ends of the railings two pots of palms are placed. The ceiling is wainscoted, and the floors are hardwood. The rug is of the greenish shade prevalent in the room. The table and chairs are of stained green wood.

DECORATED IN GREEN.

They are in the art nouveau pattern. The walls are tinted and have a wide frieze, which is very effective. The fireplace, which is not shown in the cut, is of copper in the hooded Venetian style now being revived. The tiles are of different shades of green. This is an excellent design for the living room of a country house.

ECONOMY IN THE KITCHEN.

Some Ways In Which the Ordinary Waste Can Be Avoided.

It is a common saying that three French families can live on what one American family throws away, and certainly the French know the secret of combining delicious fare and a well kept house with the strictest economy.

How many cooks are there who throw away odd bits of bread? Not one scrap of bread should be wasted. All pieces of crust and toast trimmings should be baked, pounded and put into a tin ready for game or gratins. White pieces should be made into crumbs, stale slices cut into croutons and snippets and odd pieces used for puddings.

Potatoes come next on the list, and there are any number of ways in which these may be utilized.

Meat bones, scraps and tough pieces of meat as well as carcasses of chicken or turkey make excellent soup stock. Small portions of vegetable add much to the flavor. Left over spoonfuls of gravy or sauce may be used in seasoning cold dishes of meat or fish.

Fish bones are invaluable, especially for soup. Beef drippings well clarified make excellent short pastry and plain cakes, while fat of all kinds is the best possible medium for frying. Remove the grease from the water in which meat has been boiled, and save the grease after roasting or frying meats.

The remains of cold fish may be converted into tiny souffles steamed or baked and appropriately seasoned with grated cheese or chopped herbs.

Indeed if a cook's inventive faculty is aroused there is no end to the plans she will devise for using up the once despised scraps.

HELEN CLIFTON.

A KNAVE . . . OF CONSCIENCE.

By Francis Lynde.

CHAPTER XXX.

It was fortunte for all concerned that the rescue of the members of the launch party did not hang wholly upon the upcoming of the "Sprite." The distance to be covered was not great, but with a howling gale fairly abeam the catboat steered like a sand-flat, and Griswold had his hands full to lay the course and hold to it. Recalling it afterward, he liked to think that it would have been impossible but for Charlotte's help. For a terror-stricken moment she crouched beside him, as helplessly frightened as any woman could be. But at the critical instant she sat up very straight and relieved him of the tiller.

"You manage the sail; I can steer!" she cried; and she did it like a sailor, bracing herself and easing the laboring catboat through the seas as skillfully as any skipper of them all.

Yet it was lucky that not all the lives spilled overboard by the capsizing of the launch depended upon the heroic endeavors of these two in the "Sprite." Other help was at hand and nearer. The launch was no more than fairly helpless when the flag-boat of the Wahaska Yacht club rounded the southern point of the island, close-reefed, but driving at railway speed before the squall. Her skipper saw the accident and was happily a man for an emergency. Moreover, he had a trained yacht's crew aboard, ready to spring to quarters at his yelled command. So it came about that the "Diana" was the first on the scene, and her crew was picking up the shipwrecked ones when the "Sprite" came up, head to the wind, in the thrashing seas.

HE CLUTCHED THE DESPAIRING HAND.

Notwithstanding, the "Sprite" had its mission, and for all the quick work of the big sloop's trained crew, one life would have gone out in the smothering billows but for the upcoming of the catboat. In all the fierce excitement of the moment, it was Charlotte who kept cool, and it was she who caught a glimpse of a white head upthrust for a moment; of that and of a hand flung out to grasp hopelessly at nothing. In a flash she gave Griswold his cue and jammed the tiller down to utilize the last forging rush of the catboat's momentum. The reefed sail had spilled and would draw no more, but the quick sweep of the big rudder sufficed; and Griswold, leaning far over the side, clutched the despairing hand just as it was disappearing.

This was how it came about that an old man whose span of years had well-nigh bridged the little rift of Time which lies between the two shores of Eternity, was helped to make that rift a little wider. For all his years, and the fierce struggle in the foam-smother, Andrew Galbraith was yet conscious when Griswold dragged him over the gunwale of the catboat; and his first gasped-out word was characteristic of the man.

"I—I told that gandering loon of an ingineer he'd lose Mr. Grierson's boat, and he's done it the noo! And I's warrant she cost a pretty penny, too."

With the lake still lashed into fury by the squall, which was now spending itself in spiteful catspaws, Griswold had his hands full with the "Sprite;" and yet in all the distraction of it he saw the shadow of a smile in Charlotte's eyes, and found time to answer it. Found time for this, and for the thought which welled up in sudden ecstacy at this little lover's proof of the consanguinity of kindred souls. But after that he became the cool and intrepid sailor-man again.

Taking the tiller, he let the catboat fall off until he could speak the yacht.

"Sloop ahoy!" he called; "have you got them all?"

"All but one," was the answer, blown back on the gale.

"All right; we have that one," shouted Griswold; and at the word, the two boats shot apart, each to make its laboring way towards the Wahaskan haven.

Andrew Galbraith was silent on the short run before the gale to the pier-head at the foot of Main street. For one thing, he was not a man of many words; and for another, he was chilled through and thoroughly uncomfortable.

None the less, he made shift to thank his rescuers in fitting phrase at the point of debarkation, and to intimate, as a gentleman might, that his gratitude would wait upon a fitting opportunity to take a more substantial form. Charlotte offered to walk home, that Griswold might see Mr. Galbraith safe to his hotel, but this the old man would by no means permit.

"Na, na," he said, relapsing, as he did now and then, into the Scottish mother-tongue. "I'm wet as any drowned rat, but I'm not that badly fashed. Take the leddy home, Mr. Griswold, and do you two be seeing after yourselves. You're as wet as I am."

Accordingly, Griswold accompanied Charlotte to her own gate, and then went home to change his clothes. Just what he meant to do afterwards was not very clearly defined, but during the changing interval he made up his mind with sudden determination. Whatever should come of it, the thing for which all other things must wait must be said. He had reached the parting of the ways; he knew, as he might have known from the moment of love-making on the "Belle Julie," that life without Charlotte to share it with him would henceforth be no more than a shadow of the real.

He had a good excuse for going straight away back to Dr. Farnham's. The very least he could do would be to call and ask if she had come through the adventure with no worse consequence than a shock and a wetting. And yet, when he had let himself out of Mrs. Holcomb's gate he did not go directly to the house on the lake's edge. Instead, he made a long detour, walking aimlessly and deeply buried in thought. This thing which he was about to do was not to be done lightly. So far from it, the more he pondered over it the more he realized that it was likely to prove the turning point in his life. Now, that he gave himself the backward glance which he had steadily refused since the morning of the Bayou bank incident to take, he saw that he had been living tentatively; passing from day to day as one who waits upon the event of the day; looking neither backward nor forward. Though he had worked faithfully, doing the thing that lay next to his hand, he knew now that his work, on his book or in the office with Raymer, had been purely extrinsic to any well-considered future. But now the future demanded thoughtful consideration—would have it, whether or no; and, as was inevitable, the past colored every forecasting picture.

For one thing, he had come to that stone of stumbling which he had forseen in his earliest imaginings touching his future relations with Charlotte. Without being unduly besotted, the hope that he should not plead with her in vain was almost an assurance. If he could gain his own consent to let the past lie buried in oblivion, the vista of the future opened out before him with all the barriers to happiness brushed aside. And yet, try as he might to resolve to hold his peace touching the past, he could not bring himself to the point of taking her conscience unawares. He was far enough from realizing that his own conscience was interposing this obstacle. He thought, when he allowed himself to think in that direction, that he had settled the conscientious scruples for himself once and for all. Nevertheless, there had been moments, brief, fleeting moments, for the most part, when he would have given the reversion of years of life to be as he had been before the pistol-drawing incident in Andrew Galbraith's private office. But these little upflashes of remorse had been but match flares, going out in a sudden whiff of the wind of finality. For the thing was done irrevocably and could never be undone.

In the aimless detour which led him from street to street and finally into a road that brought him out upon the lake front far from town, these things all came up for a hearing, and he gave them room patiently, as a judge hears a plea that he knows well he must disregard. The storm was over, and the sun was setting in all the glory of the broken cloud rack in the west. Griswold had the artist's eye for nature's grandeur, and at another time the sunset would have held him spellbound. But now he plodded along with hands behind him and his head down, seeing nothing but the all too clear vista of the past, and that other vista of the future which had but now become a valley of shadows.

So plodding along the lake drive, he came at length to the boundaries of Jasper Grierson's domain, and almost before he knew it, he was climbing the path to Mereside. At the very veranda steps he came alive to some sense of what he was about to do, and would have stopped to weigh the consequences—to turn back, it may be. But a trim little figure slipped from a hammock at the corner of the veranda and Margery came to meet him.

"I'm so glad," she said, standing at the steps to give him both her hands in welcome. "I did so hope you would come."

In the Public Eye Abroad

Commercial, Industrial and Political Conditions in Foreign Lands.

The American legation in London is the center around which is congregating a colony of wealthy Americans who make London their home for a portion of each year for the privilege of associating with English court society. Every year sees an increase in size and social importance of this colony.

Whereas a decade ago it was insignificant in point of numbers, it has now become so large and has secured so strong a foothold on the banks of the Thames that it is at present looked upon in the light of a considerable factor in the London season, towards the success and brilliancy of which it contributes in no small measure.

A few years ago the New Yorkers who were to be found at the Ascot races, or who participated in any way in the London social season, were comparatively few, and could not be said to have been accorded a standing of first rank in the festivities of the nobility. But at the last Ascot meeting there were dozens and dozens of prominent Americans to be seen in the boxes, and they mingled with all the freedom of long acquaintance with the best blood of England. In fact, in the so-called "royal inclosure" were to be found more people from the United States than from any other nation save England. As the tickets for this inclosure are issued by the lord chamberlain of the king's household, and the list is approved by his majesty before the tickets are issued, it is easy to see that the Americans are popular at the English court.

AMBASSADOR CHOATE'S HOME IN LONDON.

Among those who have houses of their own in London and who entertain a great deal are Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Martin, Mrs. John W. Mackay, William Waldorf Astor, whom English people persist in regarding as an American, although he has taken out letters of naturalization as a British citizen; J. Pierpont Morgan, his son John Pierpont Morgan, Jr., who has a charming house in Park lane; Mrs. Ronalds, whose small residence in Cadogan place is popularly known as the "musical box," by reason of the number of musical entertainments which have been given there; Mrs. S. Newhouse, Mrs. Blow and J. J. Van Alen.

Besides these are the houses of all those American women who in spite of their having married Englishmen remain American at heart and in feeling and from whose drawing-rooms so many of their compatriots have been launched into London society. Prominent among the number are Mrs. George Cornwallis West, whose first husband was Lord Randolph Churchill; the duchess of Manchester, the one American woman who enjoys to the greatest degree the friendship of Queen Alexandra; Lady Egerton Gray, who was Miss Cuyler, of New York; Mrs. Arthur Paget, who was Miss Minnie Stevens, daughter of Mrs. Paran Stevens; Mrs. Cavendish Bentinck, who has a beautiful house on Richmond terrace, Whitehall; the duchess of Marlborough, Lady Marcus Beresford and the countess of Craven.

Finally there are all those Americans who take up their residence for the season at the various hotels, or who take furnished houses for a few weeks, and who, though changing their London residence each year, have become as well known figures in London society as at home.

Chilean Nitrate Association.

Practically all of the nitrate supply of the world comes from Chili. This immense industry is under the control of a unique commercial organization known as the Nitrate association, which in March, 1901, was formed for the purpose of limiting the output, maintaining prices and disposing of the product through one general agency.

The association has recently issued a report, from which it appears that the exports in 1901 amounted to 2,738,523 tons, leaving stocks of 627,493 tons. There were also some 1,909,448 tons afloat.

The association takes a gloomy view of the future of the nitrate industry, alleging that the erection of new works will bring about an increased production, and may, through a readjustment of quotas, result in a dissolution of the association.

In November of last year, 32 lots of nitrate properties were offered for sale at auction by the government, 28 of which found purchasers. There was realized from the sale $893,399. Out of this sale there have sprung up a number of new works, and 18 are to be added to the 77 now in the combination. The government is preparing to place upon the market another lot of 21 nitrate properties, which will probably result in the building of other works. With these the productive power will be greatly increased, and fears are entertained by the association that its present prosperity will be of short duration. On the other hand, the new companies claim that producers are reaping enormous profits from the business.

The Sowing of Sugar Beets in Europe.

The late international sugar conference at Brussels reached an agreement to abolish sugar bounties, and the question of first importance for the moment in Germany is how soon and to what extent the proposed plan will be adopted by the reichstag. Though the bundesrath, under the law of 1896, can abolish the sugar bounties, the consent of the reichstag must be had for the reduction of the tariff. It is confidently hoped that the Brussels convention will be approved all round, and that a healthy readjustment of beet-sugar production to the market at home and abroad will ensue. The new legislation will not go into effect until September, 1903; but in view of that event and of the future increased cost of production, it was expected that there would be a large reduction in sowings already this year. Unusual interest centered on this question, and the reports gathered by the factories in the various sugar-beet countries were published a few days ago, showing the following results compared with previous years:

Country.	1902-3. Acres.	1901-2. Acres.	1900-1901. Acres.
Germany	1,046,468.5	1,178,353.2	1,095,789.7
Austria	751,194	896,231.7	929,151.6
France	551,052	695,974.4	695,291.2
Russia	1,482,600	1,497,442.9	1,356,674.9
Belgium	129,490.4	170,400.2	170,128.6
Holland	78,662.6	120,090.6	112,477.4
Sweden	59,796.2	70,242	71,271.3
Denmark	28,794.7	37,005	34,594
Other countries	195,209	210,005	181,251.6
Total	4,322,951.4	4,845,935	4,546,630.5

There is a decrease in acreage in Germany, Austria, France, Belgium and Holland, and a slight gain in Russia. The average shortage in this year's sowings is given at about 17 per cent., which is less than had been generally expected. It is reasonable to believe that the yield will improve year by year, through careful and scientific farming, and therefore we may look forward to another large crop this year. But even if there should be only a fair average, the 17 per cent. decrease in sowings would not bring about such a diminution in the production of sugar as to relieve the present glutted market, especially if the United States and the cane-growing countries should increase their production. In other words, it is to be expected that the visible supply of sugar in the world on August 31 (the end of the European season), 1903, will continue to show an enormously overstocked market.

TENNIS.

The Westfield Club had a team match arranged with the Bergen Point Tennis Club for this afternoon but the match was called off owing to so many of the Bayonne men being out of town.

There will be no more matches at the Park Club until September. Wallace Guilford and Samuel Townsend, two of the chief of the tennis enthusiasts and members of the tennis committee of the club, are both out of town on their vacation. All club events will therefore await their return.

ON THE DIAMOND.

Scotch Plains will have for its opponents on the home grounds at 3:30 this afternoon the famous Riversides, of Newark.

Hope and Y. M. C. A. will battle for superiority on the Hope diamond this afternoon. This will make the third meeting for these teams in the league series, Y. M. C. A. so far has proved the hoodoo for Hope, having defeated the latter in the two games played. Manager Cose looks to his men to win today, and is building high on the possibility of still breaking even with the association nine. Today's game ought to be the best and most interesting of the season. For the first time since the league opened Hope is filling the second place in the percentage column, with Y. M. C. A. for the premier occasion an undisputed leader, and the winning or losing of today's match means a whole lot to either team. The other game between Safe Works and St. Mary's also promises to be a titanic struggle. Should Safe Works win, with Hope winners in the other field, the result will make the iron workers a close second for pennant honors, and their chances of landing the trophy just as rosy as the leaders. On the other hand it is to be expected that St. Mary's will make a desperate effort to take everything in sight from now on, as there still remains the possibility alone of the team finishing among the leaders, should things happen one certain way. At any rate, they will spare neither brawn nor brain in a strong attempt to pull away from the tail end.

ROD AND GUN.

Clifford Compton, George Bedford, David Krymer and Wm. Oliver went to Perth Amboy today, where they hope to make a good catch of fish.

Appointed Deputy.

Rev. E. E. Jackson, pastor of the Mt. Olive church, has been elected deputy of the American Woodman for New Jersey.

Dr. P. B. Cregar, of Grant avenue, is entertaining "Christy" Matthewson, the New York pitcher, an old college chum from Bucknell.

Mrs. P. B. Cregar, of Grant avenue, is entertaining her sisters, the Misses Stoughton, of Lewisburg, Pa., and Miss Lawshea, of Philadelphia.

Drake to Released.

Charles Drake, the young man accused of assaulting Edward Korman, will be released from Somerville jail today. W. G. DeMeza has secured a bondsman for his client. Yesterday Lawyer DeMeza appeared before the Court of Special Sessions, and made application for bail. Judge Schenck granted an order fixing the surety at $600.

Told of Camp's Work.

The Christian Endeavor meeting at the First Baptist church last evening in the interest of the Westfield Fresh Air Camp was well attended considering the weather. Arthur Pierson, an officer of the Westfield Fresh Air Camp, gave a brief talk concerning the work at the camp, after which an offering was received for the camp.

Euchre at Hotel.

Progressive euchre furnished a pleasant evening's entertainment at the Park Avenue Hotel last evening. A large number of guests participated in the play. The first ladies' prize was won by Miss Leila Howard; second ladies' prize, Miss Kampman; first men's prize, Louis Squiers; second men's prize, Henry Stothoss.

VOTE TO BUILD TROLLEY

ONLY PROVISO IS THAT RIGHTS OF WAY CAN BE OBTAINED FREE.

A Meeting of the Capitalists Interested Was Held at Bound Brook Yesterday.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bound Brook, July 26.—An important meeting was held yesterday in the office of S. D. Drake here, when capitalists from Trenton, Plainfield, Bound Brook and Philadelphia discussed the building of the Watchung Scenic Railway, between Plainfield and Bound Brook. Harry M. Herbert, a civil engineer of Bound Brook, who has had considerale experience in trolley building, presented a typographical profile of the proposed line.

It was voted unanimously that the line would be built if the right of way between the points mentioned can be secured for nothing. Those interested do not want to pay fabulous sums for this right of way and they think that persns holding prop erty ought to be willing to give the right for the benefit to be derived from such a trolley.

The projectors want a right of way thirty foot wide the entire distance. Joseph R. Beale has been appointed to secure the right of way in North Plainfield and the company will get the rest.

GOATS ON STREET.

Owners Haled to City Court This Morning, But Trial Delayed by Absence of City Judge.

Goats formed the subject matter of contention which brought three residents of the East End into the city court this morning. The animals have persisted in roaming about the streets in the neighborhood of Johnson avenue. They were Antonio Dario, Antonio Parella and Alphonso Callucci, and they appeared accompanied by their wives and friends to the number of a score or more.

Owing to the absence of City Judge Runyon, the case was laid over until Monday and the disappointed defendants were sent home.

WHILE HE SLEPT.

Oil Stove Exploded and Set Fire to the Room Where P. H. Currin Was Asleep.

Painful, though not serious injury, was sustained by Phillip H. Currin, of the borough, Thursday night.

Before retiring to his room, intending to prepare a little lunch, he lit the oil stove and placed some water to boil. Meanwhile he fell asleep and when he woke up it was to find that the stove had exploded, and that the walls of the room had taken fire. The house was filled with smoke and Mr. Currin had a narrow escape from suffocation. In putting out the fire he had his hands badly burned.

Although suffering somewhat from his injuries, Mr. Currin is around the store on Somerset street as usual today.

MARRIED NOW.

Ceremony Took Place Last February But It Was Not Announced Until Last Evening.

Announcement was made today of the marriage of Miss Emma LaRue and Claude Roseberry, both of this city, which took place in New York last February. Last evening he took his bride to his home at 716 West Front treet, and introduced her as his wife, much to the surprise of all.

Mrs. Roseberry was graduated last June from the Plainfield High School. Mr. Roseberry is a member of the Hope chpel baseball team. The couple will reside at the groom's home.

Funeral of James Lumpkin.

The funeral services of the late James Lumpkin, who died Thursday, will be held from the Calvary Baptist church tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. The interment will be in the M. E. church cemetery.

Sale of Delinquent Lands for Unpaid Taxes and Assessments.

Collector's Office, City of Plainfield, New Jersey.

JULY 26, 1902.

Notice is hereby given that the subscriber, the Collector of the City of Plainfield, New Jersey, pursuant to the authority of the statute in such case made and provided, and by the direction of the Common Council of said City, will expose for sale and sell at public auction to the highest bidder, (but not for less than the amount due from the same, as appears in the following schudule, with interest and costs) on Friday, the twenty-ninth day of August, A. D., 1902, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon of that day at the said Collector's Office, No. 151 North Avenue, in said City, certain lots, tracts and parcels of land situated in the First, Second, Third and Fourth Wards of said City, upon which the taxes and assessments have remained unpaid for the space of two years from and after the time when they were due and payable.

This sale is made under the provisions of the 13th Section of an Act entitled, "An Act concerning the settlement and collection of arrearages of unpaid taxes, assessments and water rates or water rents in Cities of this State, and imposing and levying a tax, assessment and lien in lieu and instead of such arrearages, and to enforce the payment thereof, and to provide for the sale of lands subjected to future taxation and assessment," passed March 20, 1896, and acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto.

Further particulars of the lands to be sold may be obtained at the office of the subscriber on any week day prior to the day of the sale, between the hours of 9 a. m. and 4 p. m. except holidays and Saturdays, and on Saturdays between 9 a. m. and 12 noon.

The following list contains the lot and block numbers of the lots, tracts and parcels of land to be sold in pursuance of this advertisement, as they appear on the official assessment maps of the City of Plainfield, on file in the office of the City Collector, together with a statement of the Wards of the City wherein said lands are respectfully situated, and the amount due from each of said lots respectively. To the amount due on each lot or parcel as hereinafter designated, there will be added interest as indicated, and also its proportionate share of the costs of this sale, which is hereby estimated at Three Dollars for each item of arrearage thereon.

All lots so sold will be purchased subject to all taxes and assessments levied thereon subsequent to November 20th, 1899.

Delightful uncertainty still prevails regarding the finish of the City Baseball League. The results of Saturday's games materially assisted to overthrow the calculations of the wise ones. After having twice defeated the Hope boys, the Y. M. C. A. nine fell victim to them Saturday afternoon in a game in which everybody batted freely. As a result the Y. M. C. A. contingent is compelled to share first honors again with the Hope crowd. The prettiest game of the day saw the St. Marys defeat the Safe Works by a single run made in the last inning and thereby save themselves from a solitary occupancy of the concluding position in the race for the pennant. Next Saturday will see St. Marys and Hopes in a hot game while the nines of the Y. M. C. A. and the Safe Works promise a contest of equal interest. It is still anybody's race.

ST. MARY'S GAME.

Brilliant work in the field gave St. Marys a victory over the Safe Works on the former's grounds Saturday afternoon. Doyle at second base literally robbed his opponents of the game. He dodged around and gathered in hot grounders that looked like sure base hits when they left the bat in a manner to make the oldest fans stare and gape. Once out of six difficult assists he made an error—a bad throw of a pick-up after a run of twenty yards.

Mack at short stop handled the sphere in expert style. Keefe's pitching was good, but his support won the game.

Safe Works' fielding was also of a crisp variety. Despite an occasional error they did not let a man cross home plate from the first to the ninth inning. Siegfried made an error in the fifth that had happy results. He fumbled a hot one from Winn and was too late to make a putout at first, but managed to get behind Mack who, forced from second, made third easily but ran over the bag and started home to save himself. After an exciting chase up and down the line Mack was finally captured. Out in centre Franklin performed some star stunts, making several phenomenal catches after long runs.

Doubles by Lederer, Barry and Keen and singles by Taylor and Winn netted St. Mary's three runs in the first. After that Burns settled down and only one man got further than second base till the ninth. With the score tied Keefe came up for last raps and was out on Siegfried's assist. Doyle followed with another hot one to short. Siegfried recovered but threw a shade high and Symons dropped the ball. Doyle advanced to second on Crotty's single and came home with the winning run on Taylor's base hit.

HOPES GREAT WIN.

Hard hitting and sensational plays, with a ninth inning rally which struck terror to the hearts of the Hope rooters for an uneasy five minutes, made Saturday's game between the chapel Y. M. A. and the Y. M. C. A. a memorable one in the annals of the league season. With a margin of six runs against them, the Y. M. C. A. boys made a driving finish, with the aid of costly errors by the Hopes, netting three runs and having two men on base when the last long fly was taken in by "Skeeter" Maxue in the most desperate chance of the game. The final tally was 12 to 9.

In spite of the sharp fielding and better stick work of the Y. M. C. A., Hope secured the victory through the ineffectiveness of Dupee in the box. It was one of his off days, and Hope had no trouble in connecting with his delivery at the time when hits were most needed. That tells the whole story of the game. In the five innings when Hope made the twelve taliles, the hits were well bunched. On the other hand, except in the first inning, Moutross had himself well in hand, keeping the Y. M. C. A.'s hits scattered, while the fine fielding of Hope did the rest.

Matters looked dark enough for Hope at the beginning of the game, after Y. M. C. A. had taken the first turn at the leather and pounded out five runs. The Hope fans were in dismay, even when their own men had scored three in their half of the first. Not until the fifth, when the West Enders went ahead with a margin of one, did the prospect appear brighter.

SABBATH DESECRATION.

Rev. E. E. Jackson Declared Rich Were Largely Responsible.

Rev. E. E. Jackson, pastor of Mt. Olive Baptist church, took another fling at the Sabbath breakers last evening. This time he declared that the rich were largely responsible for the desecration of the day, in that they encouraged the resorts to which the poorer classes were attracted on Sunday. The colored preacher also denounced the ministers of the city for being afraid to speak of the evil lest their rich pew holders should be offended.

WERE WEDDED AT MILLVILLE

MISS GRACE B. PIERSON, OF DUER STREET, MARRIED TO H. L. MARTIN.

Wedding Was a Quiet One and a Surprise to the Friends and Relative of the Young Couple.

Much to the surprise of the many friends of the couple, announcement was made today that Miss Grace B. Pierson, of Duer street, and Herbert L. Martin, formerly of Plainfield, but now of Jersey City, were married by Rev. H. W. Barras, of the North Baptist church, at Millville, on Monday, July 21. The affair was a quiet one and there were no attendants.

The bride and groom are both well-known in this city, where they have lived for some time. Mrs. Martin formerly lived in south Jersey, but for a few years past has been a resident of the borough. Of late she has been filling the position of typewriter and stenographer in the law office of W. S. Angleman. She is a member of the First Baptist church, and very active in the Christian Endeavor Society and Sunday-school work.

The groom is now on the reportorial staff of the Jersey City Journal. He was to have reported the State Christian Endeavor convention for that paper, when he was taken ill and was obliged to give up his plans. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Martin, of the borough.

Prior to accepting his present position he was engaged in the shoe business in this city as a clerk for Doane & Edsall. Both he and his wife are popular in a large circle of friends. The marriage is a great surprise to all, including the couple's relatives. They were to have been married in September, but a change in their plans resulted in an earlier date being set for the affair. Mr. and Mrs. Martin will live in Jersey City.

ALL PLAINFIELD NINE.

Plans Under Consideration to Organize Team From City League to Meet Westfield.

A plan is being formulated by The Daily Press for the selection of an "All Plainfield" nine, composed of players who have paricipated in the City Baseball League contests, to meet the Westfield Baseball Club in a series of games, one at Westfield and one here, in response to the challenge recently sent out by President C. H. Denman, of the Westfield Baseball Association, if the plan can be perfected. The Daily Press of tomorrow will have full details.

Will Control Goats.

No more goats will be allowed to roam about the East End from the folds of Antonio Parella, Alphonso Calucci and Antonio Dario, if the wives of those residents keep the promises made in the city court this morning. Arraigned for the alleged nuisance, they agreed to keep the animals at home and sentence was suspended.

Warding Off Illness.

Cholera morbus medicine caused the undoing of Isaac Steenson yesterday and he was picked up by Patrolman McGinley yesterday with all the indications of drunkenness. City Judge Runyon suspended sentence this morning, warning the prisoner to secure his medicine from a drug store instead of a saloon hereafter.

Mark That Date.

Just stick a pin in the date, Thursday, August 14, and reserve it for the annual excursion of Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., to Asbury Park. It will be one of the largest excursions of the season and it will be a good opportunity to meet your friends from all parts of New Jersey.

Hackmen Up.

Alleged violation of the hack ordinance brought Robert Evans and Paul Meissner under the ban of law yesterday. The case was adjourned this morning in the city court until tomorrow.

LAYING OF CORNER STONE FOR CHURCH

Start Made on the Permanent Home for the Swedish Pilgrim Church.

EXERCISES WERE HELD.

AT THE SITE OF THE NEW SANCTUARY YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

Addresses Made in English and Swedish—Alex. Millar Spoke for Congregational Church Which Has Assisted in New Church.

With exercises that were both impressive and interesting the corner-stone of the new Swedish Evangelical Pilgrim church was laid yesterday afternoon at the corner of New and Sixth streets, where the edifice will be located. The exercises were held at 3:30 o'clock. A large number of people were present. Rev. O. G. Norseen, pastor of the church, was in charge.

After the singing of an appropriate hymn by the congregation, accompanied by W. A. Conger on the organ, the Scripture lesson was read and prayer offered by Rev. Chlares E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. This was followed with a soprano solo by Miss Youngquist, of New York. Mr. Norseen then introduced Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass, pastor of the First M. E. church, who made a short address in English.

Dr. Snodgrass commenced his remarks by saying that the church is not built for God's sake, but for the sake of His people, as a place where they may congregate frequently and worship Him. He dwelt upon the significance of having a place of worship, where not only on Sundays, but on other occasions the people of God may come together to serve and worship God. He referred to the love and devotion among God's people in their earnest efforts to rear these places for services, and he believed that the new church about to be erected could be a place where the members would receive many blessings in the Christian life.

After another solo by Miss Youngquist, Rev. L. G. Ellstrom, of Brooklyn, was introduced and he spoke in Swedish. He commended the earnest efforts of the congregation in their undertaking to erect a house of worship and urged them to continue in the good work started under such auspicious circumstances. He gave the members some excellent advice founded on the Scriptures.

Following the remarks by Mr. Ellstrom, Alex. Miller was introduced as a representative of the Congregational church in the absence of the pastor, Rev. C. L. Goodrich. Mr. Miller brought words of good cheer and congratulation to the members of the Swedish church and he bade them God-speed in their grand work. He made a touching reference to the fact that many of the members had left homes in their native land to seek success in a new country and he dwelt upon the importance of their having a church home, where the young women and young men can gather and meet their fellow-country men and women and strive to advance those principles which have a religious and moral benefit to all. He spoke warm words of praise for the pastor.

After a few words by the pastor, the corner-stone was laid. It bears the inscription, "A. D. 1902," and it was put in position by William C. Smith, the mason, assisted by his son, E. P. T. Smith. After being placed in position, Mr. Norseen read appropriate Scripture and offered a fervent prayer, thus concluding the actual work of laying the stone.

While the offering was being received for the benefit of the church, another solo was sung by Miss Youngquist, and the benediction was pronounced by Mr. Norseen.

Excursion to the Bronx.

A number of the members of the boys' branch of the Y. M. C. A. will leave tomorrow morning for a trip through the Bronx, visiting the menagerie and as many other places of interest as time will allow. The party will meet at the association hall at 7 o'clock, and depart from the depot on the 7:25 train. The excursion will be in charge of Physical Director C. E. A. Heywood.

Two Houses Quarantined.

Two cases of diphtheria are reported in the West End. The house of Cornelius Regan, of West Fourth street, and that of Michael McCarthy, of Lee place, are quarantined.

SAYS HE WAS ROBBED.

Jewelry Disappeared From Pockets of Nathan Feinburg While Asleep.

Gold and jewels occupied the pocket of Nathan Feinburg when he lay down to rest at 518 West Third street Saturday night. Sunday morning, he says, the valuables had disappeared. Now the poilce have been asked to interfere. Nathan tells of a diamond studded gold watch, a jeweled locket and a few other trifles which he carried loosely about his clothes and he fears the sight of his wealth may have aroused the cupidity of some boulevardier, who committed the theft.

PLENTY OF BOOTY THERE

BUT THE BURGLARS MADE BUT A VERY SMALL HAUL.

Visited Sycamore Avenue Residence of C. E. Ball, But Were Frightened Away While Working.

Burglars paid an unwelcome visit to the residence of Charles E. Ball, superintendent of the Prudential Insurance Company, on Sycamore avenue, late Saturday night or early Sunday morning. After vainly attempting to pick the lock of the back door an entrance was effected through a rear window. The burglars were evidently experts in the business for the window was unlocked and the screen taken out without doing the least damage, not even scratching the new paint on the side of the house.

The hallway was the first part of the house to receive particular attention. The pockets of several coats hanging on the rack were rifled and a small amount of change taken. From a pocketbook belonging to Mrs. Ball a little over $2 was procured. The burglars then paid a visit to the dining room and turned topsy turvy everything in a number of drawers.

At this point they must have been disturbed in their work, for just one drawer—that in which some valuable plated ware was stored—was overlooked, and the burglars contented themselves with appropriating a silver soup ladle that lay on the table and a pair of gold-rimmed eye glasses, belonging to Mr. Ball's brother.

Had the thieves gone to the second story they would have secured a rich harvest, because it happened that Mr. Ball had a large sum of money in the house that night. Mrs. Ball's diamond ring, and other valuable jewelry was lying on the dressing case. It is probable that a noise from the outside caused the burglars to make a hasty exit.

WHEELS SAVED.

Police Captured Them Just Before the Thief Had Chance to Take Them to New York.

Prompt police work probably prevented two Plainfield bicycles from being stolen Saturday night, U. B. Crane reported to headquarters that his son Robert had had a wheel stolen, and search was at once instituted. Officer McCarthy found the wheel at the North Avenue station a short time later, with another belonging to E. B. Hedden.

Harry Carey, the night baggageman, told how a man had come to the station and asked to have a wheel checked to New York. The would-be passenger, however, refused to bring the bicycle to the baggage room, but wished Carey to take it from its position against the wall. While the matter was being argued, McCarthy arrived and the man slunk away. Young Crane immediately identified his bicycle. No trace of the thief was regained.

Novel Paper Weights.

J. Herbert Case, secretary and treasurer of the Plainfield Trust Company, has just received from the Federal Sugar and Refining Company, for which the trust company is the transfer agent, two glass jars filled with raw and granulated sugar. It was produced on July 1 and is the first produced by the sugar company. The jars are sealed, labelled and tied with fancy ribbon. Mr. Case will use them for paper weights.

Death of Little Girl.

Marie Judge, the four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Judge, of Grove street, died Saturday afternoon after a three weeks' illness. Interment was made this afternoon in St. Mary's R. C. cemetery.

Engagement Announced.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Erwin Waters, of East Third street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Beulah May, to John Raleigh, of Westerly, R. I.

SOLDIER BOYS HOME AGAIN

Company K Returned From Camp Murphy Saturday Afternoon With a Fine Record.

WAS PRAISED BY ALL.

Easily Accorded First Place in Point of Discipline, Instruction and Military Manoeuvres—Boys Returned Saturday Afternoon After an Eventful Week.

Like old campaigners, the members of Company K returned home on Saturday evening from their week's stay in camp, bronzed and seasoned, but none the worse for their out of door life. If they carried themselves a bit jauntily and with more of a soldierly air than before, it was simply from a touch of pardonable pride in that they had acquitted themselves so well. From many quarters, they had won praise for their achievements, and they had reason to feel proud.

In numbers, Company K ranked second in the regiment; but in point of discipline, instruction and military manoeuvres, it was easily accorded first place. Some of the old officers, notably Colonel Shinn, of the Third Regiment, and Major Langdon, of the Board of Examiners for the State, openly complimented the Plainfield boys on their good showing. Their own Colonel Collins also expressed himself as highly pleased with them. The officers admitted that Company K made the best appearance when passing in review every night. It was another commendable fact that it was always the first to be ready to go out for review when the call sounded.

Other honors are looked forward to by the local boys in the way of shooting. Of those who have qualified thus far, there are six sharp-shooters and twenty-eight marksmen, with some of the best shots yet to be accounted for. On Tuesday of next week, Captain Browning will take those of the remainder who can make the trip to the range at Sea Girt to try them. The men are so anxious to have the company rank first that some of them, who have not yet qualified and who may be unable to go on the date set, have offered to defray their own expenses to the range later in the week.

Camp was broken shortly after noon on Saturday, and the train started homeward at 2:30 o'clock. The battalion, comprising the two Elizabeth, the Plainfield and the Somerville companies, marched from the station at Elizabethport to the armory, where Plainfield and Somerville united in cheering their late comrades and the colonel. The two companies then returned to the railway station, taking passage on the 5:33 train.

On reaching Plainfield, the locals were marched to their armory and then dismissed. On the homeward journey, they were under command of Lieutenant Lewis. Captain Browning returned alone later in the evening. All the company came home in marching order except five members, who remained at the shore until last night.

For Baby Camp.

A contribution of $3 was received at The Daily Press office this morning from "A Friend of the Cause," for the King's Daughters' Baby Camp on the mountain. The fund now stands as follows:

King's Daughters' Baby Camp.

Watchung Council Won.

Watchung Council, Knights of Columbus, entertained an Elizabeth council of the order yesterday afternoon. The affair took place at Avon Park. In a swift baseball game the local aggregation of Knights defeated the men from the county seat by a score of 15 to 9. "Doc" Doyle pitched for Watchung Council.

Over a Woman.

All over a woman arose the trouble which landed James Carter and David Antonio in the city jail for fighting on Saturday. The two combatants explained the affair at length in the city court this morning, and City Judge Runyon suspended sentence. This was not the James Carter, of 812 Richmond street.

Will Wander Again.

Without a home was Hugh McGeehan when arrested Saturday. After giving him a short taste of city jail life, the police turned him loose to continue his wanderings.

REGULAR PLAY AT GOLF CLUBS

Vacations and Clouds Combined to Reduce the Attendance Saturday Afternoon.

SATURDAY'S WINNERS.

Honors at Hillside Went to N. P. Rogers, Jr., Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards and M. J. Dumont—C. B. Morse Now Leads at Park for President's Cup—The Scores.

Threatening weather and the vacation season combined to materially reduce the attendance at both the local golf clubs Saturday afternoon. But while it was a decidedly off day at Hillside, the attendance at the Park Golf Club showed that much interest is taken in the game by the frequenters of that club.

There were the usual weekly competitions, the honors at Hillside going to N. P. Rogers, Jr., Rev. Dr. W. R. Richard's while Charles B. Morse was low man for the President's cup at the Park.

PARK GOLF CLUB.

Despite the threatening rain, there was a large attendance at the Park Golf Club Saturday afternoon for a mid-summer day when so many members were on their vacations. There was the usual weekly competition for the President's cup which resulted in a victory for Charles B. Morse, thereby putting him first again in the contest for that trophy. S. St. J. McCutchen, who has been at the front for the past month, is now a very close second. Dr. A. W. Anderson, who was second in the day's play, advanced to tie for fourth place.

The course was very slow and wet, which fact materially affected the scores. The best gross score was made by Roberts de S. Newhall and Gus W. Faber, neither of whom was at his best.

The scores, better than 100 net, were as follows:

	G	H	N
Charles B. Morse	100	19	81
Dr. A. W. Anderson	111	26	85
H. G. Phillips	116	30	86

HILLSIDE CLUB.

The weekly competition for the Boys' and Golf Committee cups did not attract a very large field to the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course Saturday, and in consequence the attendance was about the smallest of the season.

In the morning there were just four to compete for the Boys' cup. N. P. Rogers, Jr., won first honors while Arthur Peterson and Gordon W. Abbott divided the honors for next place.

The scores were as follows:

N. P. Rogers, J., 80, 0—80; Arthur Peterson, 95, 10—85; Gordon W. Abbott, 95, 10—85; W. T. Glenney, 103, 10—93.

PUSHING FORWARD THE NEW FIFTH REGIMENT

Conferences Being Held at Camp Murphy With That End in View.

COL. HINE TO COMMAND.

LITTLE CHANCE THAT HE WILL BE OPPOSED FOR THE COMMANDANT.

Trouble is That Only Ten Companies Have Been Recruited to Standard—Talk of Where Other Two Companies Will be Located.

There have been several conferences of late at Camp Murphy in the interest of the new Fifth regiment, the organization of which has dragged through the spring and summer at such a snail's pace. Acting Adjutant General Freeman has been in consultation with several officers of the National Guard who have been working in the interests of the officers of the new regiment. They have also appealed to Major-General Wanser and Governor Murphy to help in pushing along the new command.

Ten of the twelve companies in the Fifth, it was explained, have been recruited to the approved standard and mustered in, and the present delay in completing the organization is due to difficulty over the Leonia and Rutherford companies. A company has been recruited at the latter place and a petition filed by Addison Ely, who commanded a company in the old Second Regiment during the Spanish War and got into hot water with the military authorities by criticising the management of the regiment and camp. Ely now wants to be vindicated by a commission to command a company in the new regiment, but opposition on the part of some of the department officers has so far prevented the approval and acceptance of his petition. It is said that the Governor and department staff are disposed to award the company to Rutherford, but that Ely is the stumbling block in the way. Lieutenant Bruenner, of the same place, has been talked of for captain of the company, and would, it is understood, be acceptable to everybody, but he has so far refused to oppose Ely or stand in his way.

Captain Henry Gesser, of the Leonia company has been unsuccessful up to date in recruiting his company to the number required to have the command mustered in, and one of the things Colonel Breintnall promised to do us is to stir up Gesser and endeavor to have his command completed at once In the event of the Leonia company failing to come up to the membership limit in the near future it is not improbable that petitions now on file for companies in Dover and Morristown may receive new consideration. Ernest Goodell, who was second lieutenant of Company M, of the old Second Regiment, before the recorganization of the guard, has a company recruited and is anxious to be included in the new regiment, but his distance from Orange, where the company would be obliged to go to battalion drill, has so far prevented the approval of the petition from Dover, and the movement for a company in Morristown has been of a half-hearted nature that has caused little enthusiasm.

As planned by the military board, the new regiment was to consist of a full battlaion in Paterson, a Bergen county battalion with companies in Rutherford, Leonia, Hackensack and Englewood, the two latter being transferred from the Fourth Regiment, of which they had been a part since the reorganization, and an Orange battalion with two companies in Orange, one in Montclair and one in Passaic. In the event of a company from Morristown or Dover being substituted for the Leonia or Rutherford company, the Morris county company would be attached to the Orange battalion and the Passaic company to Bergen county.

There is a division of opinion among State military authorities as to the etiquette of holding a regimental election befgore the comlpement of twelve companies is mustered in.

Brigadier-General Campbell holds to the idea that the election must be held off until the command is complete, while General Wanser believes that ten companies might hold the election and the regiment be organized without further delay. Edwin W. Hine, of Orange, who was colonel of the old Second, is the only candidate who has been seriously mentioned for commandant of the Fifth, and there is no opposition to the election of Dr. Daniel A. Perry, mayor of Englewood, who was lieutenant-colonel of the Second, to the same command in the new regiment. Captain John A. Hilton will probably be regimental adjutant.

The only regimental election in which any contest is expected to develop is for the majorship of the Orange battalion. The candidates for this place are Captain Isaac Shoenthal, of Company H, of Orange, and Captain Hamilton Ross, of the Passaic Company, who by virtue of seniority is now in command of the regiment.

Alfred T. Holly, of Englewood, who was adjutant of the Second Battalion of the old Second Regiment, and is now an assistant inspector of rifle practice, with the rank of lieutenant-colonel, is said to be slated for the majorship of the Bergen county battalion of the new regiment, and the third majorship of the Paterson battalion may lie between Captain von Wahlraven, of Company C, and Captain Shaw, of Company A.

TO AID STREET CAR MEN

Y. M. C. A.'S BEING ORGANIZED FOR THEIR SPECIAL BENEFIT.

Result of Great Success of Railroad Y. M. C. A.—How the Movement is Now Progressing.

The great benefit accruing to steam railroads in encouraging and fostering Young Men's Christian Association organizations on their systems has been recognized by the officials of large street car lines, and steps have been taken by several to establish such association for the benefit of their employes. The Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company, which employs over 10,000 men on its lines, and which has eight large depots, where from 100 to 200 extra men await calls, was among the first to recognize the benefit of such organizations.

Rooms were set apart some time ago at most of these depots for the employes, but President Greatsinger, who has had experience with railroad Young Men's Christian Associations in the west, recognizing that the genius of management of such club work was in that organization, has called upon the Brooklyn Y. M. C. A. to manage the rooms in at least six of their car barns. At one of the depots nearly $20,000 has already been expended for equipment, providing rooms, libraries, game rooms, bowling alleys, entertainment hall, social rooms and restaurant. Fifteen associations like this may be established at different terminal points in the city. An employes' benefit association has been organized in connection with this Brooklyn group of associations and in three days nearly 2,000 men applied for membership.

The Street Car Company of Rochester will also open, on August 1, fully equipped Y. M. C. A. rooms for its employes. All the car lines centre at one point, where hundreds of men are obliged to wait for hours between runs. The company, at its own expense, has fitted up at the car barn social and bath rooms, with bowling alleys, smoking rooms and parlors, and has offered the entire management without restrictions to the Young Men's Christian Association, feeling that that organization could best handle this business. A small membership fee will be charged, the reading room only being open without charge to all employes.

It is expected that these associations for street railroad men will prove as successful as have those supported by the steam railroads, and that their number will largely increase. At the present time 70 per cent. of the railroads of the country lend their support and encouragement to these organizations. They contribute annually $300,000 towards their support, have made appropriations of $400,000 for buildings and are now putting over $300,000 into 25 new buildings which are to be erected within the next year and a half.

Mother Always Keeps It Handy.

"My mother suffered a long time from distressing pains and general ill health due primarily to indigestion," says L. W. Spalding, Verona, Mo. "Two years ago I got her to try Kodol. She grew better at once and now, at the age of seventy-six, eats any thing she wants, remarking that she fears no bad effects as she has her bottle of Kodol handy." Don't waste time doctoring symptoms. Go after the cause. If your stomach is sound your health will be good. Kodol rests the stomach and strengthens the body by digesting your food. It is nature's own tonic. L. W. Randolph.

AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION OF NEW JERSEY, PROPOSED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF 1902.

Be it resolved by the Senate (the House of Assembly concurring) that the following amendments to the constitution of this state be, and the same are hereby proposed, and when the same shall be agreed to by a majority of members elected to the Senate and House of Assembly, the said amendments shall be entered on their journals, with the yeas and nays taken thereon, and referred to the legislature next to be chosen, and shall be published for three months previous to the first Tuesday after the first Monday of November next (being the fourth day of said month), in at least one newspaper of each county, if any be published therein, the said newspapers to be designated by the president of the Senate, the speaker of the House of Assembly and the secretary of state.

ARTICLE V.

Executive.

1. Insert in lieu of paragraph 10, a new paragraph, as follows:

10. The governor, or person administering the government, the chancellor and the attorney-general, or two of them of whom the governor, or person administering the government, shall be one, may remit fines and forfeitures and grant pardons, after conviction, in all cases except impeachment.

ARTICLE VI.

Judiciary.

1. Insert in lieu of Section II, a new section, as follows:

1. The court of errors and appeals shall consist of a chief judge and four associate judges, or any four of them.

2. In case any judge of said court shall be disqualified to sit in any cause, or shall be unable for the time being to discharge the duties of his office, whereby the whole number of judges capable of sitting shall be reduced below four, the governor shall designate a justice of the supreme court, the chancellor or a vice-chancellor, to discharge such duties until the disqualification or inability shall cease.

3. The secretary of state shall be the clerk of this court.

4. When a writ of error shall be brought, any judicial opinion in the cause, in favor of or against any error complained of, shall be assigned to the court in writing; when an appeal shall be taken from an order or decree of the court of chancery, the chancellor or vice-chancellor making such decree or order shall inform the court in writing of his reasons therefor.

5. The jurisdiction heretofore exercised by the supreme court by writ of error shall be exclusively vested in the court of errors and appeals; but any writ of error pending in the supreme court at the time of the adoption of this amendment shall be proceeded upon as if no change had taken place.

Section IV.

1. Insert in lieu of paragraph 1, a new paragraph, as follows:

1. The court of chancery shall consist of a chancellor and such number of vice-chancellors as shall be provided by law, each of whom may exercise the jurisdiction of the court; the court shall make rules governing the hearing of causes and the practice of the court, where the same is not regulated by statute.

Section V.

READING DIDN'T STORE COAL

PRESENT STRIKE IN COAL MINES HAS TAUGHT OFFICIALS A LESSON.

One Official Suggested Such a Plan a Year Ago, But Reading Did Not Act on It.

As a result of the present long stoppage of the anthracite mines, officials of mining and railroad companies have learned valuable lessons which are expected to stand them in good stead in case of future trouble of the same kind. The most important of the facts demonstrated by the strike was the value of having on hand at all times a big supply of anthracite.

With the exception of the Pennsylvania and Erie few if any of the big anthracite companies have any coal to sell, and should the strike be continued much longer the stocks on hand, which have been carefully husbanded for their own use, will be seriously reduced, if not completely exhausted. The Reading has not sold a pound of coal since the strike was inaugurated, yet with its facilities both for mining and storing coal it might, had a different policy been pursued, be selling anthracite today and have greatly relieved the expense and trouble to which its former customers have been put, beside making a handsome profit for itself.

The suggestion was made a year or more ago by an official of the coal company to store a large quantity of anthracite, his figures being placed at a million tons, to guard against any contingency that might arise. His views were that that amount of coal stored at convenient points was a good asset, among the best and most convenient of collateral in the event of the company wanting or needing a temporary loan. He further argued that by pushing the mines a little harder this amount could easily have been stored, that it would have figured in and reduced the cost of production and at the same time have furnished that much additional tonnage to the railroad, while the cost of rehandling it with the improved facilities the company has at its various large storage plants would have been trifling.

His suggestions were not acted upon but their wisdom has been fully realized by the higher officials and members of the executive committee of the Board of Directors, and it is understood that when once mining has been resumed efforts will be made at the earliest opportunity to accumulate a large supply in storage. President Baer, it is understood, is fully impressed with the importance of protecting in the future as much as possible the various industries on the Reading system using anthracite coal, as well as the various cities and towns dependent upon the Reading for their coal supply.

Weary Messenger.

Storm-tossed and evidently far from home, a carrier pigeon fluttered down yesterday from the roof of the McVey Hotel at the feet of J. W. VanSyckel, on the opposite side of the street. The warm-hearted butcher took the weary messenger in and soon fed it back to strength, and he is now awaiting some word of its owner. Attached to the left leg of the bird is a ring, bearing the inscription TC9528.

"On a Sunday Afternoon."

There is no place like Cranberry Lake. Special excursions by the Lackawanna Railroad every Sunday during the summer season for $1 from Newark. Boating, bathing, fishing, merry-go-round, large pavilion affording shelter in case of rain, splendid restaurant, serving meals at reasonable cost. Park Avenue Repaired.

After being torn up all week from the sewage work, Park avenue was restored Saturday to its wonted level in front of the proposed annex to the Boehm building.

Misses Lillian and Rosa Earp, of Maryland, have been visiting their uncle, Rev. E. L. Earp, of Park place.

Poisoning the System.

It is through the bowels that the body is cleansed of impurities. Constipation keeps these poisons in the system, causing headache, dullness and melancholia at first, then unsightly eruptions and finally serious illness unless a remedy is applied. DeWitt's Little Early Risers prevent this trouble by stimulating the liver and promote easy, healthy action of the bowels. These little pills do not act violently but by strengthening the bowels enable them to perform their own work. Never gripe or distress. L. W. Randolph.

LEARNED HISTORY OF SALT MARSH MOSQUITO

State Entomologist Smith Has Worked Out Complete History of That Breed.

ARE GIVEN IN DETAIL.

CAUSES THAT ARE RESPONSIBLE FOR APPEARANCE OF THEM.

Prof. Smith Recommends Remedies to End the Mosquito Plague at the Shore Resorts—Filling in is the Best Plan He Thinks.

Professor John B. Smith, the State entomologist, has made this announcement: "It will be a satisfaction to know that I have worked out the life history of the salt marsh mosquito completely. I know just how it breeds and just where it breeds now, and the knowledge is brand new. The work was completed only a day or two ago."

The results of the professor's investigation are given by him in detail. The salt marsh mosquito has certain well defined peculiarities that distinguish it from all other species, and that make it easy to study its habits. It is the most numerous and annoying of all the mosquito pests in this State, because it abounds at the seacoast resorts at a time when its pestiferous attentions are most undesirable.

It is almost certain, Professor Smith says, that the adult salt marsh mosquito does not winter in the adult stage, because the most careful search along shore very early in the present year failed to disclose a single specimen, while malarial and house mosquitoes were found in some numbers. He did not find the insect until the spring was well advanced.

It is almost equally certain that they do not winter in the larvae stage, because no wrigglers were found when the winter had just ended, but were discovered in great numbers and of very small size in late March and early April. The professor concludes that the winter is passed in the egg stage, and that the eggs are laid singly or in groups on grain or sedge, or even on the ground. When the water becomes sufficiently warm the wrigglers hatch, and the season's breeding is started. Areas that are regularly covered by ordinary tides are not breeding places for these mosquitoes, nor are ponds and pools covered only at full tides, if they are six inches or more in depth and contain fish or fiddler crabs.

It will be news to many that the fiddler crab is one of the most destructive enemies of the mosquito. It may be put down as a general rule, says Professor Smith, subject, perhaps, to exceptions, that where fiddler crabs live mosquito larvae do not.

"Depressions at the beginning of the upland, covered only by winter or storm tides, leaving pools that last for weeks and are refilled by rains, are ideal breeding places," he says.

"Draws, drains or ditches that fill at tides and do not drain clean are bound to become filled with wrigglers. Any depression in a salt marsh not connected with the tide that at any time holds rain water for a week will breed mosquitoes."

There are hundreds, perhaps thousands, of such pools, ponds, ditches and depressions along the Jersey coast.

Speaking of the breeding capacity of the mosquito in these places, the professor says: "I have found pools so crowded that an estimate of 100 wrigglers to an area of one square inch was scarcely equal to the fact. Half that number is a common occurrence. This means over 7,000 in an area of one square foot, and it needs an area of less than 150 square feet—a pool roughly ten by fifteen feet—to produce 1,000,000 mosquitoes at one hatching."

The remedies the professor recommends are to fill in such breeding places wherever it is practicable. This is the most effective and lasting remedy. It has been tried with great success at Seaside Park, and partially at Mantoloken and Bay Head. Where filling in is not practicable he advises that the tidal flow be introduced by ditching, or that the pool be drained, or that petroleum be used. As to this last named remedy, he says: "In such cases a pail of fuel oil, kerosene or crude petroleum and a broom are needed. Dip the broom into the oil pail, shake the oil over the pool and then sweep over the surface thoroughly, so as to get into the grass and along the banks, that every part of the pool may get its oil coating and the water itself be stirred with it. In less than an hour every larvae and pupa will be dead, and the pool will remain safe until the filling or draining operations can be completed."

Mrs. Amelia Brown, of Putnam avenue, started today for Mullica Hill, where she will spend the summer.

LONG STRIKE GOES ON

Eleventh Week Begun and No Signs of the End.

RUMORS OF COLLIERY OPENING.

Strong Belief at Strikers' Headquarters That Operators Cannot Resume Work—Seeking Aid In Large Cities.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., July 28.—The beginning of the eleventh week of the anthracite miners' strike finds apparently no change in the situation, although the rumor has been revived that an effort will be made some day this week upon the part of some of the large companies to start up one of their collieries. The companies have a sufficient number of coal and iron policemen enlisted now to prevent trouble should it arise, and all that would be necessary to get a mine in operation would be a sufficient number of miners and laborers to blast the coal and load it on the cars. No doubt plenty of ordinary laborers could be secured, but it is a question whether the requisite number of miners could be persuaded to go into the workings.

At strike headquarters the belief is as strong as ever that the operators cannot resume and that it is idle talk to even suggest such a thing. President Mitchell simply says that the situation is about the same and that the strikers are as firm as ever. A great deal of telegraphing passed between Wilkesbarre, Indianapolis and the headquarters of the United Mine Workers in West Virginia, the nature of which Mr. Mitchell would not make public.

Three hundred delegates, representing the 10,000 Polish and Lithuanian residents of the Wyoming valley, met in convention here yesterday and after indorsing the strike appointed a committee of ten to visit New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburg, Buffalo and other large cities and solicit aid from the Polish and Lithuanian people for their countrymen now on strike in the anthracite region.

The Anthracite Trade.

PHILADELPHIA, July 28.—The Ledger in its coal article today says: "The anthracite coal trade is practically unchanged. The movement of coal is almost nothing, although a few sporadic attempts are made at washeries to get a supply. The anxiety to procure coal is not very great, though the very scanty stocks are giving food for thought in various localities as to the necessity that may soon come for fuel. The community, however, is never troubled to any extent on the coal question in midsummer. The figures of the coal shipments to the end of May shows 12,731,879 tons sent to market, being about 4,000,000 tons less than in the same period of 1901. In June the shipments were stopped by the strike."

Will Try to Release Strikers.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 28.—At the mine workers' national headquarters it is announced that no time will be lost in pushing the habeas corpus proceedings for the release of members of the organization arrested under the edict of Judge Jackson of the United States district court at Parkersburg, W. Va. Secretary Wilson explained another point in the miners' case on which they will base their claim to be set free. According to Mr. Wilson not one of the men arrested was proved to have made any speeches, inflammatory or otherwise, after Judge Jackson's restraining order was issued.

Scranton Newspaper Suspends.

SCRANTON, Pa., July 28.—The oldest Sunday newspaper in Pennsylvania, the Free Press, established in 1872, has suspended publication and failed to come out yesterday for the first time in its thirty years' existence. It was at one time owned by Hon. F. A. Beamish, the Democratic leader of northeastern Pennsylvania. Its latest owner was James J. Mahon.

Shot Sweetheart and Self.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., July 28.—Charles Weyley, aged twenty-five, of Norwood, Mo., shot and killed Miss Josephine Sheridan, his former sweetheart, at her home here and then shot and killed himself. Jealousy probably prompted the act. The two had known each other for four years and up to a month ago had been engaged to be married.

Fire In an Iowa Town.

WATERLOO, Ia., July 28.—East Waterloo was visited yesterday by a fire which did damage to the extent of $80,000. It originated in the basement of the Waterloo Fruit and Commission company's store. The firemen were almost helpless, but a heavy rain checked the flames. Three business blocks were burned.

Successful Operation on Methuen.

LONDON, July 28.—General Lord Methuen, who was wounded and captured by the Boers, but subsequently released, and who arrived in England early this month, has undergone a successful operation for the extraction of bullets from his leg.

Fatal Mine Explosion.

M'CURTAIN, I. T., July 28.—Two men were killed and two others seriously burned by an explosion of gas in one of the Sans Bois Coal company's mines a mile west of here.

Belgium Gets Chinese Concession.

BRUSSELS, July 28.—The Petit Bleu announces that King Leopold has obtained from China a concession of about 309 acres of land north of Tientsin.

Weather Probabilities.

Fair and warmer; fresh south winds.

A QUIET SUNDAY.

President Attends Church—A Sunday Opening Sensation.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 28.—President Roosevelt passed a quiet Sunday at Sagamore Hill. In the morning, accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt, Mrs. Emlin Roosevelt, Lieutenant Ferguson, formerly a member of the rough riders, and four of the younger children, he attended services at Christ Episcopal church. He passed the afternoon with Secretary Moody, who remained his guest until today. No visitors of an official character were received. The postoffice at Oyster Bay was opened for an hour yesterday for the first time on Sunday in the history of the village. The president did not avail himself of the opportunity of having his mail taken to him.

The opening of the office created a commotion among some of the people of the village, and the Rev. Alex G. Russell, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, sharply criticised those who inaugurated the movement which resulted in the Sunday opening.

Senator Thomas C. Platt will arrive at Oyster Bay next Wednesday evening on board the war yacht Mayflower, which will be sent to New York for him. The senator will be accompanied by Colonel George W. Dunn of the Republican state committee of New York.

Children Fatally Burned In Bed.

PHILADELPHIA, July 28.—Nellie McTague, aged five years, and her three-year-old brother William, children of Martin McTague, were so badly burned at their home, 1233 Bainbridge street, that they died in a hospital a few hours later. The children were in bed at the time they were burned, and no one else was in the room. The mother heard cries coming from the room, and a hurried investigation resulted in the finding of the two little ones writhing in agony on their blazing bed. The children were quickly taken from the room and the flames extinguished, but not before the boy and girl were fatally injured. It is supposed they were playing with matches while in bed.

Christian Scientist Readers Resign.

NEW YORK, July 28.—Mrs. Augusta E. Stetson, who for sixteen years has been a prominent missionary of her cult, has resigned as first reader of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, which was built up largely through her untiring efforts. Under her direction funds were raised for a splendid structure which is to cost $750,000. The resignation of Mrs. Stetson and that of the second reader, Edwin F. Hatfield, were tendered upon the reading of "Words For the Wise," published in the official organ of the Christian Scientists, by Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy, the head of the sect in this country.

Pope Sends Cordial Letter.

ROME, July 28.—The letter which Bishop Thomas O'Gorman of Sioux Falls, S. D., who left Rome Saturday, bears from the pope to President Roosevelt thanks the latter for the congratulations and gifts presented by him to his holiness and begs him to accept in return a souvenir of the pontiff's good will. The letter also expresses satisfaction with the result of the negotiations carried on by Judge William H. Taft, governor of the Philippines, which his holiness says has augmented his affection for the United States. The entire letter is couched in the most cordial terms.

Japanese Globe Trotter In Russia.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 28.—Count Matsukata, the Japanese statesman and financial reformer, who recently visited the United States, England, France, Germany and other countries, is here for a stay of ten days. He has talked with Count Lamsdorff, minister of foreign affairs, and will probably see M. de Witte, the minister of finance, also. Count Matsukata will return to Japan by way of Manchuria in company with Prince Komatsu, who was delegated to convey to King Alfonso the Japanese Order of the Chrysanthemum and who is expected here shortly.

Negroes Lynched a Negro.

SHREVEPORT, La., July 28.—Four negroes—Tom Patterson, Webster Edwards, Sam Patterson and Elijah McCloskey—small farmers residing in the vicinity of Shreveport, constituted a lynching party and after riddling the body of Russell Taylor, a negro horse thief, with bullets dragged it to Red river and threw it in. The affair was brought to light when three of the negroes were placed under arrest on the charge of murder. They were brought to Shreveport and are now in jail.

A Young Wife's Terrible Act.

WOODSFIELD, O., July 28.—Mrs. Everett Spence, aged nineteen, killed her husband, aged twenty-one, and then killed herself. She shot her husband while he was asleep and then used the same weapon on herself. They had been married less than two months, and both were well connected. It is thought she was temporarily deranged.

A Crisis In Haiti.

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti, July 28.—Three thousand men, commanded by General Saint-Felix Colin, military commander in this district, have started to oppose General Jean Jumeau, who supports the candidacy of M. Firmin. It is expected that a decisive action will take place at once.

Three Girls Killed by an Engine.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., July 28.—Three girls, Annie Cousart and Jennie and Mamie Nelson, aged twelve, thirteen and fourteen years, were killed by an engine on the Seaboard Air line. They were walking across a trestle when struck by the engine. The bodies were horribly mangled.

WAS IT A FAKE?

The Defeat of Fitzsimmons by Jeffries at Frisco So Reported.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 28.—Now that the Jeffries-Fitzsimmons contest for the world's championship is over the cry of "Fake!" has been raised, though without justification in the opinion of Referee Graney, George Siler and the great majority of other sporting men who witnessed the contest.

A communication sent to Mayor Schmitz before the fight, to be opened after it was ended, stated that the writer had been informed that Jeffries was to win in the eighth round, which he did. The mayor stated that if the charge that the contest was a prearranged affair cannot be disproved he will be compelled to prohibit such exhibitions hereafter.

The fight Friday night was made in the presence of 8,500 persons gathered from all over the United States.

The battle was hard from the start, and for a time it looked as though the "old man of the ring" had a good chance to regain his lost laurels. Jeffries was bleeding badly and seemed tired before the fight was more than half ended, while Fitzsimmons appeared to be fairly fresh. In the eighth round Jeffries landed a left hook on the jaw, and Fitzsimmons fell and was counted out as he lay unconscious. He recovered soon after he was taken to his corner and, arising, said:

"I was fairly beaten. I have retired now permanently. If I had won this battle, it would still have been my last, and I would have turned the championship over to Jeffries to defend."

Fitzsimmons looked in good physical condition and was evidently trained as fine as a man of his years can possibly be. He was as fast as ever with hands and feet, but his blows lacked the steam of old, and they made little impression on the giant in front of him.

Jeffries was the picture of health and looked all over the gladiator. He was cool and confident, crouched low and, as usual, fought on the defensive.

Agriculturists on a Strike.

LONDON, July 28.—A special dispatch from Vienna says over 100,000 agricultural laborers in east Galicia, most of them Russians, are now on strike and that a full fledged rising against the landed proprietors is progressing. Near Lemberg extensive stores have been burned down, while excesses are reported to have been committed in other localities. The landlords appealed to the government for troops to maintain order, but the authorities recommended that an attempt at conciliation be made by increasing the wages of the laborers. Russian students in Galicia, according to this dispatch, are joining in the movement, thereby adding political to economic disturbance.

Physician Commits Suicide.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—Dr. Eugene Grissom, once well known as an alienist and neurologist, committed suicide here at his son's home, 1227 G street northwest, by sending a bullet through his brain. Dr. Grissom had been dejected and morose for several weeks and had become physically and mentally weakened from the use of strong narcotics. He was a native of Granville, N. C., served on the Federal side until wounded during the civil war and afterward was a member of the state legislature. For twenty-one years he was superintendent of the North Carolina insane asylum at Raleigh and gained a wide reputation as an alienist and lecturer.

Castro's Re-enforcements Beaten.

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad, July 28.—The Venezuelan revolutionary general Luciano Mendoza, learning that President Castro was receiving re-enforcements from Trujillo, state of Los Andes, awaited near Alto de la Palma a body of these re-enforcements 2,000 strong under command of Lepoldo Baptista. An engagement ensued, resulting in the defeat of the re-enforcements by Mendoza's troops and the capture of their ammunition. The forces of Baptista were driven back to Carache, state of Los Andes.

Fatal Accident on Lake Chautauqua.

JAMESTOWN, N. Y., July 28.—As the steamer City of Cleveland neared the Celeron dock in Chautauqua lake it struck a naphtha launch which was crossing the lake. The occupants, Garfield Wheelhouse and Miss Hulda Anderson, both of this city, were thrown into the lake. Miss Anderson was rescued by the steamboat men, but her companion was drowned. The couple were to have been married soon.

Canadians Won at Cricket.

WINNIPEG, Man., July 28. — The Canadians won the international cricket match by 62 runs. On Friday they scored 217 and the Americans 85 for the loss of five wickets. Davis, for the Americans, when play was resumed, made a splendid 60, and the side was out for 146. In their second inning the Canadians made 101, and the Americans started in to make 172 to win, but scored only 110.

Two Boiled to Death.

DYERSBURG, Tenn., July 28.—Will Young and Dan Macauliff met a terrible death while repairing a steam pipe at a mill. The scaffolding on which they were working gave way, and they fell into one of the boilers and were literally cooked, the flesh dropping from them in large pieces when they were pulled out.

Schwab's Illness Brief and Slight.

NEW YORK, July 28.—Judge E. H. Gary of the United States Steel corporation received a dispatch from President Charles M. Schwab dated Atlantic City saying he was almost fully recovered from his recent attack of illness. Mr. Schwab added that he had not been very sick.

AMERICANS BRUTAL.

Anti-imperialists Tell of Demoralization In Army.

OPEN LETTER TO THE PRESIDENT.

Grave Charges Formulated Against Our Troops In the Philippines on Alleged Reliable Testimony. Roosevelt Urged to Act.

LAKE GEORGE, N. Y., July 28.—At a meeting of representative anti-imperialists held in New York city last spring a committee was appointed to investigate army conditions in the Philippines. That committee has since then been prosecuting its inquiries. President Roosevelt's recent review of the court martial of General Jacob H. Smith seemed to the committee to demand some reply, and at a meeting just held at Lake George an open letter to the president was adopted. The letter was signed by Charles Francis Adams, chairman; Carl Schurz, Edwin Burritt Smith, Moorfield Storey and Herbert Welsh. It says:

"We desire to express the gratification afforded us by your 'review' of the 14th inst. as commander in chief of the findings of the court martial in the case of General J. H. Smith. Taken in connection with the previous memorandum of April 15, that review will, provided it be followed by corresponding general action, in our opinion, do much toward the re-establishment of the national prestige and the restoration of the morale of the army. Especially opportune, in our judgment, is your very commendable reminder to officers in high and responsible positions that in a warfare with national dependents, such as that recently waged in the east, it behooves all such officers to be 'peculiarly careful in their bearing and conduct so as to keep a moral check over any acts of an improper character by their subordinates.'

"While thus, however, expressing our sense of obligation, we wish most respectfully to call your attention to certain conclusions which we have in the course of our own inquiries found ourselves compelled to reach. Coming directly to the point and speaking historically, our investigations have led us to conclude that the demoralization of the officers and soldiers of our army in the Philippines, including all branches of the service and all grades of rank, was far more general as well as pronounced than might be inferred from your review of the court martial findings in the case of General Smith.

"Meanwhile we would respectfully submit that the good of the army and the future of our eastern dependencies demand that investigation should not stop at this point or with results already reached."

The letter then discusses the "kill and burn" order and says, "As the not unnatural result of military operations so inspired an official report indicates that out of a total population in a single district of 300,000 not less than 100,000 perished."

The letter then alludes to the water cure, saying that the first reports of its practice met with denials, while evidences before the senate Philippine committee proved conclusively that this and other forms of torture had been used, and adds: "Finally every severity known to the state of war, practices which have excited the special reprobation of the American people when reported as features of the hostilities in Cuba under the Spanish regime or in South Africa during the Boer war, have been of undisputed and frequent occurrence in the Philippines. From the early beginning of operations there it has been the general practice, if not actually the order, to kill those wounded in conflict."

The letter then quotes a communication to the senate by Secretary Root on Feb. 14 in which Mr. Root said, "The war in the Philippines has been conducted by the American army with scrupulous regard for the rules of civilized warfare, with careful and genuine consideration for the prisoner and the noncombatant, with self restraint and with humanity never surpassed, if ever equaled, in any conflict, worthy only of praise and reflecting credit upon the American people." "These words," continues the letter, "of sweeping commendation and unqualified indorsement were written by the honorable secretary when all the essential facts since brought to light were within his official cognizance. The draft on our credulity thus presented is large, but we accept your assurance." Meanwhile permit us to point out that such very sweeping and somewhat uncalled for commendation and approval, so far as we are advised altogether unprecedented in character, coming directly in the midst of active operations from the fountain head of military authority, is scarcely calculated 'to keep a moral check over acts of an improper character by subordinates.'

"The allegations we make are grave and the condition of affairs we describe serious. As a national record it is discreditable. The good name of the country is implicated, as also is the professional character of officers of the army.

"We hold ourselves ready to direct your attention to concrete cases, the investigation of which would demonstrate the following criminal acts, contrary to all recognized rules and usages of war, on the part of officers and soldiers of the United States:

"First.—Kidnaping and murder under circumstances of aggravated brutality.

"Second.—Robbery.

"Third.—Torture, both of men and women, and rape of the latter.

"Fourth.—The infliction of death on other parties on the strength of evidence elicited through torture."

THE JOURNAL'S POSITION.

It was only to be expected that the Elizabeth Journal would oppose the candidacy of City Judge William N. Runyon for the Senatorial nomination. It would have been unnatural if it had not. As an Elizabeth man, Senator Cross would naturally be the choice of an Elizabeth paper. Then the fact that Senator Cross is a particular friend of U. S. Senator Kean while the Elizabeth Journal lines up on the same side of the factional split would tend to influence that publication along the same line.

All the utterances of the Elizabeth Journal in opposing the Plainfielder have been most dignified and there has been no attempt to belittle his ability or popularity. Judge Runyon is a popular man in Elizabeth as well as Plainfield and the editor of the Journal recognizes his worth as well as do his friends in Plainfield. While Senator Cross and Judge Runyon both remain candidates for the Senatorial nomination, the Republican organ at the county seat may be looked to use every fair means to bring about the defeat of the Plainfielder. It will practically outline the stand of the Kean forces and will therefore be watched with no little interest by those Plainfielders who want to see how things are going in county political circles.

PERSONAL.

Miss Addie Weaver, of West Front street, spent yesterday at Long Branch with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Runyon, of East Front street, have returned from their summer outing.

Mrs. Clarence Smock, of Red Bank, has returned home after a visit with her parents in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Myers, of East Seventh street, have returned from an extended trip in Europe.

P. H. Bennett, of the borough, now has charge of the Heinz exhibit being given at Asbury Park this summer.

Mrs. J. P. Humble, her daughter, Miss Mattie Humble and son, Earl, of Somerset street, will return home to morrow from the Delaware Water Gap, where they have been spending a week at the Cataract House.

Vacation Days.

Vacation time is here and the children are fairly living out of doors. There could be no healthier place for them. You need only to guard against the accidents incidental to most open air sports. No remedy equals DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve for quickly stopping pain or removing danger of serious consequences. For cuts, scalds and wounds. "I used DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve for sores, cuts and bruises," says L. B. Johnson, Swift, Tex. "It is the best remedy on the market." Sure cure for piles and skin diseases. Beware of counterfeits. L. W. Randolph.

REGULAR PLAY AT GOLF CLUBS

There was more interest in the play for the Golf Committee cup. Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards divided the honors for first position, while the remaining point was won by Robert Abbott. There were just nine contestants that posted their scores, while a number of others, whose scores were probably a trifle high, preferred not to record them.

The scores for the Golf Committee cup were as follows:

	G	H	N
W. R. Richards	93	18	75
Morris J. Dumont	79	4	75
Robert Abbott	77	0	77

PERSONAL.

Miss Tressa Krutz, of Highland Falls, N. Y., is visiting her cousin, Miss Carrie Weiss, of Regent street.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer E. Garretson, of Siegfried, Pa., are visiting relatives in Plainfield during their vacation.

Miss Clark, of Peck's on West Front street, started Saturday on her vacation which she will spend in the country.

Clarence Brokaw, of VanArsdale's shoe store, left today for Lake Hopatcong, where he will spend his two weeks' vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ward, of West Front street, have returned from a successful fishing trip along the banks of the Passaic river.

Mrs. Garthwaite and daughter, Miss Garthwaite, of West Front street, are spending a few days with relatives in the country.

The last word received from Miss Young, matron of Muhlenberg Hospital, gave every prospect for an early recovery. She is now in Maine.

Charles N. Train, night watchman at the Pond Machine Tool Works, is detained at his home on East Fifth street, through an accident. Several days ago he ran a nail in his foot and since then he has been unable to walk.

Miss Daisy F. Houston and Victor L. Houston, of West Front street, are visiting at the home of Miss Lizzie Hendrickson, of Worcester, Mass. They also expect to visit friends in New Hampshire before returning home.

Wants Stolen Jewels.

A. C. Vail, of West Eighth street, in Saturday's Press renewed his offer of $2,500 for the return of the jewelry stolen from his residence, 211 West Eighth street, on the evening of March 11, and no questions will be asked. Frequently since this robbery efforts have been made to get trace of the stolen articles but without success, and Mr. Vail again offers a reward in the hope that the jewelry may be recovered.

DUNELLEN.

The Dunellen A. C. defeated the New Market A. C. in a one sided game of baseball on the local diamond by a score of 12 to 5 Saturday. The game was not as close as the score indicates. Manager Fredricks thought it was a good chance to try some of the would-be pitchers out so Craig, Giles, Herlich, Ethringer, and Smith successively occupied the box. Even then New Market was unable to do much with the bat. Whitely pitched for New Market with Nelson behind the bat. The original battery for Dunellen was Ethringer and Brown. This game settles all question of borough and township supremacy.

What came near being a serious fire was discovered in the engine house late Saturday evening. The floor of the engine house is soaked with oil and grease and caught fire easily from a lighted torch. In a few minutes quite a little fire was in progress. The flames spread under the floor and caused some trouble getting at them but the watchful railroad employes soon had it under control. The fire engine was called and responded quickly but could do nothing. This is the third fire on the roundhouse within a few days.

Washington avenue will be in excellent condition now as it is expected the macadamizing will be finished today. Garretson & Gray have given a large amount of stone to use on the lower part of the road.

Regular services were held in all the local churches yesterday. The pastors occupied their own pulpits.

William Pruden, of Washington avenue, has been entertaining out-of-town friends for a few days.

Thomas and Doc Macnamera witnessed a ball game between New York and Brooklyn last week.

A number from here will attend the Elks' carnival at Riverside Park tomorrow night.

A number of tickets have already been sold for the Methodist excursion Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Swackhamer entertained out-of-town friends yesterday.

The interior of the railroad station is being improved by a coat of paint.

The front of the Dealaman building is being treated to a coat of paint.

W. N. Apgar is the possessor of a handsome new business wagon.

Chas. Adams, of Philadelphia, spent Saturday and Sunday in town.

Mrs. Clement Dickson spent yesterday with friends in Newark.

An interesting ball game was played yesterday at Dewey Park.

Barney Siriski visited relatives in Somerville yesterday.

NEW MARKET.

Chas. Titsworth returned Saturday from the encampment at Sea Girt. He had the honor of being chosen from Company K for the guard of honor which met the President at Atlantic Highlands and escorted him to Sea Girt.

Rev. Frank Fletcher occupied his pulpit in the First Baptist church yesterday morning and preached to a large congregation. In the evening the only service was the Christian Endeavor meeting.

The band will not hold its open air concert until August when the weather becomes more settled.

Fishing has been excellent in the lake during the last few days of wet weather.

Daniel Moody visited out of town yesterday.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD

Wm. Bartels, who has been seriously ill at his home near Glenside for nearly a year past, has recovered and was able to come to the village on Saturday for the first time since his illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Lebbens Pack entertained a number of their friends at an informal social at their home Saturday evening. Dancing was the feature of the evening's pleasure.

"The Book and the Life" was the subject of the Baptist Young People's Union weekly meeting held in the parlors of the Baptist church last night.

Mrs. Sarah Cochran and daughter, Miss Katie, who have been spending a few days with Miss Susie Parse, have returned to their home in Brooklyn.

Charles H. French will attend the Democratic Congressional convention at Washington tomorrow as the delegate from the local Democratic ranks.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. S. Terry, of Plainfield, were the guest Sunday of Mrs. Terry's mother, Mrs. James Buckley, of Stout avenue.

Mrs. Sarah Fithian, who has been spending a few days with friends in town, has returned to her home at Bridgeton, this State.

A number from town attended the baseball game yesterday at Rahway between the Rahway team and a team from Plainfield.

No preaching services were held at the Methodist church yesterday. The Sunday services will be resumed again Sunday next.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grant, of Plainfield, have been visiting Mrs. Grant's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. M. Paff, Sr.

The bi-monthly collection for State missions was taken at the close of the morning sermon at the Baptist church yesterday.

Miss Sadie Johnston, of Plainfield, was the guest of relatives in town yesterday.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Rev. Dr. Brittain, of Newark, superintendent of the New Jersey and Delaware Anti-Saloon League, spoke to a very sympathetic audience at the Baptist church yesterday morning on the work of the league and the temperance question. After the sermon, Dr. Brittain took subscriptions for the maintenance of the league work.

Miss Mühlhahn, of New York, has returned home, after spending Saturday and Sunday with her mother, of Plainfield avenue.

The Misses Boilan, of Mount Pleasant, are staying with their aunt, Mrs. Lebbeus Ayres, of South Plainfield.

Mrs. Walter J. Harris, of Front street, Plainfield, spent yesterday with Mrs. George Ryno.

Mrs. Giles has been confined to the house with rheumatism for several days past.

Harry J. Manning has resumed work at Arlington, N. J., after a week's vacation.

Harry Meeker, Jr., of Brookside Farm, is confined to the house by illness.

Miss Mary Hoffman, of Maple avenue, is suffering from brights disease.

Another Excursion Deficit.

The total deficit for the annual excursion of the First Presbyterian, Congregational, Park Avenue Baptist churches, of Plainfield and the Dunellen Presbyterian church, was $96, or $24 for each church. The amount for each church is so small that there will be little difficulty in raising it.

GREENWICH VILLAGE

Vestiges of the Old Dutch Town Still in Existence.

A Part of New York City Which Reminds the Visitor of the Happy Days of Van Twiller and His Chums.

[Special New-York Letter.]

CERTAIN localities, like certain types of people, have an individuality that time, conditions and environments cannot efface. Greenwich village, in the very center of busiest New York, as an example, is still strong in many of the same characteristics that attracted the attention of that particular Van Twiller who landed from the Southberg in 1633.

Some of the old Dutch houses that were standing then are still intact. The sky-towering buildings rise about them on every side, but their quaint outlines make them appear like the part of another age. One by one these ancient landmarks are being torn down, giving way to the modern structures, but despite the rapid encroachment made upon the once famous village it will be many years before all vestiges of it will be removed. But when the last building of the old Dutch town is razed one peculiarity will remain and that will be the intricacy of the streets.

No village was ever laid out like Greenwich. The streets were made as they became necessary to the convenience or perhaps the happiness of the men who constructed them. They were never planned. At times it would appear to the casual observer that some attempt was made to have the thoroughfares parallel, but before many blocks are traveled this idea will be dissipated, for there is a tendency to spread apart and take unreasonable and unwarranted turns. If a building be encountered the street seems to have been forgotten; but another one is commenced on the other side under a different name. To the stranger it may be rather confusing when he learns that Fourth street crosses Tenth, Eleventh is at right angles with Twelfth, and meets with a few other topographical inconsistencies equally perplexing, but to the Hollanders who contrived the maze it seemed sensible enough.

Greenwich village—aside from the Battery—is the oldest habitation of white men on the island of Manhattan. Reference is made to it in the Dutch records as the Indian village of Sappokaences, and for more than a century it was known by this name and also as the Bossen Bouerie—meaning "farm in the woods." In the time of the English occupancy it was called Greenwich village, by which name the locality comprising the old boundaries is known to-day. The love of New Yorkers to nickname localities as well as people has preserved it theoretically from a historic standpoint.

But there is something about the old village that the press of business cannot entirely wipe away. The old Dutch settings to the picture have faded these 200 years, but enough of the houses remain to preserve certain features of the original place to bring it out in strong contrast to its metropolitan surroundings. To one not used to it the effect is rather startling to suddenly pass from a tall structure, full of the life and bustle of modern commercialism, and stand face to face with a low brick building that was the home of some well-to-do Dutch merchant. There are the solid stone steps with the iron railing, the little window panes and the massive front door just as they were when Mein Herr and his good frau came out of a summer evening to get a breath of air from the waters of the canal that rested placidly in the bed now covered by Canal street.

Even the customs of those days still hover over the place. After the Dutch evacuated the island Greenwich village became the fashionable residence district of the new city and remained so until a comparatively few years ago. In fact some of the oldest families of New York still live within the classic borders of the town. That the wealth of the city was concentrated there is evidenced by the rich carving on the doors, the heavy brass knockers and the massive pillars on the sides. There is still a class of eminent citizens who tenaciously cling to the belief that there is no New York outside of these precincts.

If one will wander along Downing street he will see a fair example of the old houses. There is one I have in mind with a broad piazza overgrown with ivy. There is a dormer window over the roof of the porch, and an old chimney built on the outside of the brick wall. Then in another thoroughfare there is a long flight of stone stairs leading to a front door of solid oak with quaint carvings. One need but close one's eyes to imagine at the top a pretty English girl in Gainsborough hat and light summer dress coming down to meet a young beau of the time attired in a long frock coat and bell-shaped beaver hat.

But these houses are only a few of the many that still remain. And with them has been retained an individual society that in many respects smacks of that old school of gentlemen and ladies that marked the original village as the home of the upper-tendom. You will find there to-day a society that is as marked and as different from any other to be found in New York as it was when Gov. Van Twiller, in true aldermanic style, annexed to his own personal use the greater part of the old Ninth ward.

Greenwich was a flourishing country seat when two settlements of a much humbler sort were formed on the North river. One was called Lower Greenwich, at the foot of Brannan street, now Spring, and the other, Upper Greenwich, at the foot of what is now Christopher street. It was then known as Skinner road, and fully a block of the original wooden houses that were built on it remained until a few years ago. They were known to have been erected as far back as 1796, and are probably the houses indicated on the Ratzen map.

When the state prison was built it brought to the upper village what would be called at the present time a boom. This building stood at the foot of Amos, now Tenth street, and cost $200,000, regarded as an enormous sum in those days. The last of the prisoners was transferred from there to Sing Sing in 1829. In the past few years the residents of Sing Sing objected to their city being called by the name by which the prison was known, and, after considerable political work, succeeded in having the residential portion of the town changed to Ossinging. But there was a different feeling in Greenwich. The people there took pride in their penal institution, and regarded it as one of the principal attractions of their village.

Gradually Greenwich was incorporated into the greater town. By degrees the boundary lines became lost. The city spread onward to the north. Lower Greenwich was absorbed. Upper Greenwich was lost. Manhattanville became a part of the overgrown metropolis that swept away out of all bounds of all anticipations, and skirted onto the borders of Westchester. And so the city grew, and Greenwich became but an item in the mighty whole.

To-day it has only imaginary boundaries. It is Greenwich village only in name.

FREDERICK BOYD STEVENSON.

And Sol Ran.

The late Sol Smith Russell had three young nieces living in the west, of whom he was very fond. On one occasion, so the story goes, he took the youngest of them for a walk and bought her some candy on the agreement that it was not to be eaten until they reached her home. The started, but before they had gone far, the little girl proposed: "Let's wun!" Her uncle declined, and there was long pleading, all to no purpose. Finally, the little girl stopped, knelt down on the pavement, and offered up the petition: "Dod, please make Uncle Sol wun." "It was simply a question of my losing my dignity, or her losing faith in God," said Mr. Russell, in relating the incident, "so we ran as fast as we could for home."—Argonaut.

WELL SALTED IN VAIN.

Story of the Failure of an Illinois Man's Scheme to Sell His Farms as Oil Land.

"Some years ago," says a New Orleans Times-Democrat contributor, "an oil boom hit Litchfield, Ill., and everybody for miles around was seen sniffing for oil and every stranger suspected of being an expert looking for a good thing. An old farmer named Loomis had a big place three miles out of town which would have been a fortune for him had he not been possessed of a mania for swapping, manifest in a perennial attempt to trade off his land for twice its value.

"When the boom was at the top notch Loomis received a visitor who took so much interest in the farm, so liked its appearance, location, etc., that the old farmer scented a petroleum man and saw visions of incalculable wealth. Being a shrewd man, Loomis did not care to take any unnecessary chances with Providence, and on the quiet he sent the hired man out the back way with orders to dump the kerosene can into the well. The visitor liked the entire place, inspected the barn, the chicken yard and then, as if by chance, asked for a drink of water.

"Loomis was waiting for that and hauled up a brimming bucket before the man's own eyes and poured him out a gourdful of liquid with a fine, opalescent scum upon it. The visitor smelled it, tasted it, made a wry face and asked if the water was always like that. 'Oh, yes,' said Loomis, 'but you soon get accustomed to the taste, and our doctors say this is the finest water on earth for the stomach.' 'Well, I am ding-danged if I'll ever get used to it,' was the unexpected response. 'I am looking for a farm, not an oil well, and if I have got to haul my drinking water three miles from Litchfield I guess I'd rather buy nearer town.'

"It took Loomis six months to get the taste of oil out of his well, and by that time the boom was over, and nothing was left of the oil craze but rotting derricks and abandoned shafts."

HAD NARROW ESCAPE.

Deadly Moccasin Lodged in Southern Woman's Bosom and Resisted Its Removal.

The Yazoo City Herald is authority for the statement that Mrs. Clay Arnold had a narrow escape from being bitten by a deadly moccasion the other day. She and her husband were in the pasture on their farm in the Redmond ville neighborhood. A short distance from them was a wire fence, and they proposed to each other to run a race and see which could cross the fence first.

When they reached the fence Mrs. Arnold attempted to crawl under it. Just as she was in the act of getting down on the ground a moccasin crawled into her dress at her throat. She saw the snake when it entered her dress, and instantly she grabbed it in the folds of her garments and screamed. Her husband ran to her and attempted to pull the snake out by its tail. Mrs. Arnold held it so firmly that Mr. Arnold pulled it in two.

"In getting the upper portion of the reptile's body from his wife's dress, one of the snake's fangs stuck into one of Mr. Arnold's thumbs, but fortunately there was no poison on it, and Mr. Arnold felt no bad effects from it. They were both terribly frightened, and well they might be, for it was a narrow escape from a deadly bite.

The NEW WOMAN

I REALLY cannot let this matter pass any longer. I have been debating it with myself ever since last winter and especially since another occurrence a few weeks ago has driven it in on my mind with a spike and sledge hammer. One should never go off in his mind prematurely, so I have been for months considering whether I ought to call the attention of the women of this republic to the dangerous and scandalous goings on in the United States senate. Now I have decided that as a duty incumbent on me and one which cannot be shirked I must speak out a solemn warning against trusting the masculine sex with the ballot and the law-making power.

To the United States senate are chosen men presumably of the ripest intellects and most seasoned passions, yet last winter in a solemn session of that body one elderly member leaped over the seats like a kangaroo and grabbed a brother senator from his own state by the hair, and this one "he pitched into him and him pitched into he," and the two had a gorgeous dog-fight in the eyes of all the world, so to speak. Of the more recent occurrence the scare head lines of the newspapers said: "Senator —— Grabs Senator —— by the Throat on Floor of the Chamber!" "Why I Did It—I Was Mad and Lost My Head!"

"Now I ask the women of the land whether creatures like these, swayed wholly by their emotions, driven hither and thither by the excitement of the moment, like the animals in a mule corral during a stampede, are fit to be trusted with political responsibility. Do not these repeated outbreaks in the gravest and highest legislative body in the republic show a hopeless lack of that cool judgment and solid brain power which alone can keep the human head level in critical moments? Yea, verily, plainly man is a creature too emotional to be trusted with the governing power.

Mrs. Alice Moore McComas last year dropped the quill and ink horn of the journalist to tour her daughters on the musical stage. Both are very young, but so admirably trained and taught by their mother in new woman ways that they could take care of themselves anywhere. Miss Alice, the elder, is the planiste of a traveling entertainment company. The younger is "Carroll the whistler," now only seventeen. Mrs. McComas herself is Carroll's business manager, making all her engagements and traveling with her always. The year for both sisters has been uncommonly successful. Mrs. McComas has proved herself an excellent manager.

Did it ever occur to you that absent-mindedness and forgetfulness in small matters are a sin? Either may easily be overcome, but if allowed to grow on one develops into real addlepatedness and brain disease.

Many women waste enough time leaning upon their elbows and gazing out of windows to become adepts in any branch of knowledge, art or industry that they might take up. In the day of judgment when each is asked, "What did you do in your earth life to save your soul and earn continued existence for it?" will she say: "I was a sill presser. I leaned on my elbows and looked out the window?"

Miss Emma Wiltmore for twenty-five years has been station agent, telegraph operator and baggage master at Wantagh, N. Y. In each of these capacities she is an admirable servant of the road. She is one of the best telegraph operators on the line.

Don't believe what you are taught just because one who is supposed to be an authority teaches it to you. Use your own judgment. Don't be a sheep.

In Chicago the members of the Cook County Bar association select the various candidates for judges in a set of primary meetings. The association includes a considerable number of women lawyers, and at the last primaries these ladies exercised with a good will their right to vote.

One of the most learned and scholarly individuals of either sex in this country is Doctor of Laws M. Carey Thomas, president of Bryn Mawr college. Miss Thomas believes women should have the ballot.

Never slump over little breakdowns, physical or otherwise. Pick up and go on again.

That brave lady, Mrs. Lillie Devereux Blake, and her aids of the New York City Legislative league have undertaken to procure the appointment of women physicians for the female wards of the state insane asylums. It will be necessary to have the legislature enact a law to that effect before it can be done. Dr. Phœbe Wait, a New York physician, was the first to recommend that the proposition be approached by way of the state legislature, since the politicians who appoint the medical staff of such hospitals would not voluntarily put a woman, however useful and necessary she might be, into a place which a voter could fill.

ELIZA ARCHARD CONNER.

A KNAVE . . . OF CONSCIENCE.

By Francis Lynde.

CHAPTER XXXI.

However much or little Griswold ever meant to say to Margery Grierson on any of his visits to Mereside, she never suffered him to follow out any programme of his own. She did not do it now; and when he would have spoken about the loss of the launch and her own narrow escape from drowning, she turned him aside with a word.

"It was an accident, and accidents are always happening," she said, lightly. "Nobody was drowned, and I hope nobody will be silly enough to take cold. That wasn't why I was hoping you would come."

"No?" he said, following her as she led the way to a wicker tete-a-tete in the hammock corner.

"No. Sit down and be prepared to give me what I have never had; a good, sound flogging of advice—a cool-headed man's advice. You'll do it if I can make you understand how much I need it."

His smile was self-depreciative.

"You have hit upon the worst possible man, I fear. I'm more in need of counsel myself than able to give it."

She regarded him with a curious little smile twitching at the corners of her piquant mouth. "Are there two of us?" she asked.

He saw beyond and behind the smile; saw troubled depths in the bright eyes, and was suddenly moved to pity, though why she should be pitied he could not guess. The pity was the first step on the way to other things, but this he did not suspect. He was conscious only of a certain pleasure in her nearness; flattered a little, too, as any man would be, by her implied promise to take help from him.

"I can't imagine your leaning on anyone," he said. "But if a broken reed will serve your purpose—"

"Hush!" she commanded. "That is conventional cant, and you know it. You are not living up to your pose here in Wahaska. You may think you are, but you are not."

"I don't know why you should say that."

"If I couldn't say it, I shouldn't be asking your advice," she retorted. "Not many people here know the real Kenneth Griswold, but I think I do."

Griswold smiled. "Describe him to me, and I may tell you if you are right."

There was a little pause, and though she was looking past him, there was a certain raptness in her eyes that was new to him.

"He is a very, ruthless man at heart," she said, speaking slowly; "hard and unbending, and terribly self-centered, but with eyes that see through all shams but his own. He thinks thoughts and would do deeds that would shock conventionality into a state of coma; and yet conventionality is his god. Am I right?"

Griswold took time to think about it. "Perhaps you are," he said, at length.

"I am going to assume it," she went on, "and ask him—the real Kenneth Griswold, you know—to lend me those hard, unpitying, all-seeing eyes of his. May I?"

"If I say 'yes' it is without prejudice to the right of protest."

She waved the condition aside in a quick little gesture of impatience, and what she said seemed altogether irrelevant.

"In your opinion, Mr. Griswold, how far may a father go in demanding the loyalty of his child?"

The question was so totally unexpected that Griswold had once more to take time to think about it.

"If you mean in the ethical field, I should say his right stops this side of wrong-doing."

"Thank you. Now supposing that the father of a young woman pressed his demands beyond that point; would she be justified in open rebellion?"

"In refusing, to be sure."

"No, but in rebellion—in open reprisals, I mean?"

"I don't know; possibly the circumstances in some particular case might justify open rebellion. But I can hardly conceive the conditions."

"Can't you? Let me see if I can suppose them for you. Picture to yourself an unhappy marriage—the unhappiest of all in a world of unhappy marriages. Let the blame of it lie where it may fall, on either side, but remember that the man was brutal and the woman was weak. Suppose there was a child, who, instead of being a bond between them, was a bone of contention. Do you follow me?"

"Perfectly."

She was looking past him again, and there was a certain quality of hardness in her voice that spoke of unsuspected depths of bitterness. Yet she went on steadily.

"Suppose when this child grew up she was compelled to choose between the mother who needed her and the father who could gratify her ambitions. Suppose, if you can, that she made some sort of a compromise with the little speck of conscience she had and went with the father who, if he was brutal, was also strong."

She paused again; and he said: "Well?"

"I—I am afraid I am boring you." The eyes were downcast now.

"No, you are not. Go on."

"Well, let us say that after a time, this girl, who had some of her father's hardness and some of her mother's weakness, came to see that she had taken the winning side merely because it was the winning side; that she was helping her father to become harder and more pitiless than ever; that she was really helping him to—to ruin other people who couldn't fight as well. Then you are to imagine, if you find it possible, that her speck of a conscience rose up in rebellion; that the father tried to bribe her to be loyal, and that she took the bribe and afterward went about deliberately to upset all his plans for ruin—for getting the best of other people. Don't you think such a young woman would be an object of contempt to any really good man?"

There was not any of the hardness with which she had dowered him in her description in the eyes that met hers. In the room of it, there was something she did not understand.

"It would depend somewhat upon the man," he said, slowly; "and much more upon a thing quite extrinsic to all these conditions you have been supposing for me."

"Yes?" she said, and she could no longer meet his gaze fairly.

"Yes. If the man, knowing all these hard conditions, still loves you, Margery—"

She interrupted him with a sudden, fierce energy. "Oh, but he couldn't, Mr. Griswold, indeed he couldn't!"

Her hand was on the low dividing rail of the tete-a-tete, and he covered it with his own.

"The man loves you with all his heart, Margery, and will always love you, no matter what you tell him about yourself or your past."

"Oh, Kenneth!—may I call you Kenneth?—If I could only be sure of that!"

"You may be sure of it now and always. But—but, Margery, dear, you must cherish that speck of a conscience, for I happen to know that this mythical man sets great store by conscience—will be very unhappy if it is lacking in the woman he loves."

She was standing before him now, and her eyes were alight from within. But what she would have said is not to be here written down. For at that moment there was a heavy step on the gravel and some one came to interrupt. It was Andrew Galbraith, calling with old-school punctilio to see if his hostess had suffered in the accident on the lake.

IT WAS FROM MARGERY.

Close to the Limit.

A conductor on one of the Reading "locals" was handed a ticket for Wayne Junction by a lady who boarded his train the other day in the company of a bright-looking little girl. He looked at the child and then asked for another ticket.

"I've never had to pay for her before," was the mother's reply.

"How old is she?" asked the conductor.

"Five years."

"Why, mamma! I'm six!" protested the child.

"She's—she's nearly six," hurriedly explained the mother. "That is, she's just going on six."

The conductor looked at the mother for a second, and then, as he turned away, said:

"Well, madam, if I were you, I'd buy a ticket for her on the return trip. She's likely to be all of six by then."—Philadelphia Times.

Syrian Asphalt.

Asphalt is found in the provinces of Syria on the banks of the Dead sea, floating on the surface of its waters. Through the action of earthquakes the asphalt has been torn from the bottom of the sea and driven toward the shores, especially to the east. The narratives of the Greek and Roman historian to the effect that asphalt as small islands was upheld by the salt water and driven over the surface of the sea are without doubt true. The asphalt, and generally the oriental or Egyptian, is pure and expensive, and used principally in the manufacture of a certain kind of varnish, but for general purposes, owing to its brittleness as well, is useless in the asphalt industry.—American Asphalt Journal.

Creatures That Never Drink.

There is a parrakeet at the zoological gardens in London that has lived for over half a century without drinking anything. Many naturalists have a theory that hares never drink, or at all events that water is not a necessity to their existence; the dew on the grass is supposd to be sufficient liquid for their wants. There is a certain breed of gazelle that never drinks and the lamas of Patagonia live for years without taking water. In France there is a particular class of cattle near Losere that rarely touches water. This is all the more remarkable because these cattle give milk of a rich quality from which excellent cheese is made.—Nature.

ANTIFRIAR DEMONSTRATION.

A Tame Affair in Manila—The Typhoon Subsiding.

MANILA, July 28.—The antifriar demonstration which the municipal government had been informed was to be held here yesterday proved to be unimportant. The police forbade the holding of a procession, and the reserves were assembled for the purpose of maintaining order. The leaders of the movement conducted a meeting in the Zorilla theater, but no disorder occurred. At the conclusion of the meeting, which was not largely attended owing to the storm which prevailed, the crowd dispersed quietly.

The typhoon which prevailed over central Luzon is subsiding. Telegraph and telephone wires are prostrated. Floods have prevailed in central Luzon, and considerable damage has been done.

During the past forty-eight hours 150 fresh cases of cholera were reported in Manila. No reports regarding the disease were received from the provinces owing to the storm.

Commissioner Bernard Moses, head of the department of public instruction for the Philippine Islands, is perfecting plans for the organization of a college in Manila for the training of Filipino teachers. His plans provide for the instruction of the children in the morning by Filipino teachers and in the afternoon by Americans. Commissioner Moses' object is to fit Filipinos for the task American teachers are now performing, it being considered inadvisable to continue to import and maintain American teachers. The plans will later be extended to other parts of the island.

Gales Caused Great Loss In England.

LONDON, July 28.—The gale which has prevailed in England caused great destruction to crops throughout the United Kingdom. Incoming steamers report terrific weather on the Atlantic. The rough weather continued around the British coasts Sunday evening and has been general throughout Europe. A cyclone occurred in the Liege district, Belgium, Saturday. Navigation on the Liege and Maestricht canal was stopped by fallen trees, and the greater portion of the crops was destroyed or hopelessly damaged. Enormous injury was done in the town of Liege.

Soldiers on Parade Injured.

SALT LAKE CITY, July 28.—Three soldiers were seriously injured at Fort Douglas while the troops were being reviewed by General Funston. One of the horses attached to a gun of the Twenty-second battery became entangled in its harness, frightening the others, and all six bolted at a terrific rate of speed across the parade grounds. The caisson turned over, badly injuring Privates G. T. Burden and T. King. Private Hayes, who was riding the leader, had his skull fractured and received internal injuries. His recovery is doubtful.

Floods Ruin Texas Cotton Fields.

DALLAS, Tex., July 28.—The Brazos river at Waco has begun declining, having reached within one foot of the highest record. The levee, built to protect some of the largest cotton plantations below Waco, broke, and over 5,000 acres of cotton, which would have yielded a bale to the acre, were submerged and ruined. The Bosque and Brazos rivers together have destroyed about 10,000 acres of valuable crops in McLennan county alone.

Rear End Trolley Collision.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 28.—An attempt by five men to wreck an incoming trolley car at the rifle range, a short distance north of this city, on the Rochester and Irondequoit railway, late last night resulted in a rear end collision in which seven passengers were seriously and several others slightly injured and two score or more passengers miraculously escaped. The seriously injured all reside in Rochester.

Edward In a Wheel Chair.

COWES, Isle of Wight, July 28.—King Edward is well, but is not yet able to walk or stand. His majesty now uses his new invalid chair, which enables him to move himself about. The Standard this morning, referring to the health of King Edward, expresses the opinion that his majesty will only be able to attend the coronation in a bath chair as an invalid.

Bryan Goes Yachting.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., July 28.—William J. Bryan has left Bridgeport on board a yacht owned by Lewis Nixon of New York, whose guest he will be for the next two days. The yacht will cruise to the eastward through Long Island sound. It is expected that tomorrow Mr. Bryan will land at Block island, where he will rest for several days.

Costa Rica Volcano Active.

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, July 28.—Subterranean roarings resembling thunder are frequently heard in this city and in Alajuela, a town 11½ miles distant. They are believed to be caused by the Poas volcano, nineteen miles northwest of here. Quantities of ashes have fallen at San Pedro, a village near the volcano.

Fierce Storm In Michigan.

OXFORD, Mich., July 28.—The worst storm ever known in the history of Oxford swept over a strip of country reaching from Thomas to Rochester, a distance of eighteen miles, yesterday afternoon, beginning about 1 o'clock and lasting twenty-five minutes. In this village several houses were unroofed.

Fire at Norwich, N. Y.

NORWICH, N. Y., July 28.—Fire has destroyed the Follet & Andrews block here, causing a loss of $20,000, with $10,000 insurance.

WILD DAY IN PARIS.

Clerical and Anticlerical Adherents Throng the Streets.

MANY FIGHTS KEEP POLICE BUSY.

Women Out In Strong Force and Foremost In the Demonstrations. An Effort to Reach Government Offices a Failure.

PARIS, July 28.—The demonstration made yesterday in connection with the decree of Premier Combes ordering the closing of the congregationalist schools proved to be quite as much of a manifestation in support of the government as of opposition to its anticlerical measures. The crowd which gathered in the Place de la Concorde numbered 15,000 persons, while as many more thronged the Champs Elysees. The clerical and anticlerical forces about equally divided the gatherings. The former were distinguishable by the red, white and blue paper flowers which they wore, while the latter sported red eglantines.

Though many fights occurred, they never became general nor was any person seriously injured. An imposing force of police and mounted municipal guards had much trouble in keeping the manifestants constantly moving, and at times they were forced to charge to prevent the crowd from becoming too dense. On the whole, the crowds were good natured and mainly confined themselves to shouting, "Liberty, liberty!" "Long live the sisters!" and "We want the sisters!" to which the anticlericals replied, "Vive republique!" and "Down with the priests!" The occasional appearance of a priest was the signal for much hooting, and several fights were due to their presence.

A striking feature of the manifestations was the large number of women, many of them well dressed, who actively participated. Nor were these all clerical in their sympathies, for the anticlerical women were also out in strong force, and they occasionally made things lively for their clerical sisters, whom the police had some difficulty in protecting. In one instance a detachment of mounted guards had to rescue three well dressed ladies from the hands of a group of Socialist women who were bent on mobbing them.

The clericals made several attempts to reach the Place Beauveau, on which the Elysee and the ministry of the interior are situated, but were prevented from doing so by strong cordons of police and municipal guards which were stationed at all the approaches in order to prevent demonstrations in front of those buildings.

The demonstrations culminated when a group of thirty ladies, some in carriages and some on foot, headed by Mesdames Reille, De Mun, Cibiel and De Pommerol, attempted to reach the ministry of the interior in order to present to Premier Combes a petition on behalf of the sisters. The police, however, refused to allow them to pass.

Subsequently the clericals made an angry rush on the cordon guarding the Avenue Gabrielle, and the soldiers had to use the butts of their guns to keep back the crowd.

Another serious incident occurred on the Champs Elysee, where the crowd began throwing the small iron chairs bordering the sidewalks among the feet of the horses of the mounted guards. One horse fell, injuring his rider. About a hundred arrests were made.

German Singing Societies Meet.

VIENNA, July 28.—The sixth triennial festival of German singing societies has opened at Graz. The attendance of members from societies throughout Austria and Germany exceeds 12,000. J. P. Frenzel of Indianapolis, Ind., addressed the gathering, bringing greetings from German societies in the United States. He said that, though thousands of miles apart, the same songs were sung on the banks of the Mississippi, the Missouri and the Ohio as on the banks of the Rhine. Mr. Frenzel read verses written for the occasion by Pedro Ilgen of St. Louis.

Boys Fight; One Is Killed.

PORTLAND, Ore., July 28.—Frank Carlson and George Baldwin, each aged nineteen years, quarreled over two girls to whom both were paying attention. Carlson challenged Baldwin to fight. The fight took place with bare knuckles in the presence of relatives and friends of both boys in an unfrequented part of the city. The fight lasted about twenty minutes. At the end of that time Carlson received a blow in the stomach and fell to the ground. When picked up, he was dead. Baldwin is in jail.

Drowned In Lake Erie.

CLEVELAND, July 28.—Anna and Rose Glaw, aged six and sixteen years respectively, were drowned in Lake Erie yesterday afternoon. The girls, with two other children, were out sailing with their father, when a squall quickly came up and overturned the boat, throwing the entire party into the water. The girls went down before help could be given them. The others were rescued.

Cholera Spreads at Cairo.

CAIRO, Egypt, July 28.—Fifty-two new cases of cholera and thirty-eight deaths from the disease were reported in this city yesterday. One Englishwoman has been attacked by the scourge.

Dr. Charles K. Adams Dead.

REDLANDS, Cal., July 28.—Dr. Charles Kendall Adams, sixty-seven years old, formerly president of the University of Wisconsin, is dead from Bright's disease after a lingering illness.

LIFE AT THE NETHERWOOD

GUESTS TOOK PART IN SACRED CONCERT LAST EVENING.

Soprano Solos by Mrs. Joseph Lux, of Hoboken, and Piano Solos by Mrs. Bertram Sears.

Usual success attended the regular weekly hop at the Hotel Netherwood Saturday evening. The delightfully cool atmosphere made the occasion specially conductive to the enjoyment of the waltz and the two-step.

In addition to the hotel guests a very large number of Plainfield people were present. At the intermission the whole company enjoyed the hospitality of the management.

Great interest was manifested in the sacred concert given last evening. Besides a particularly bright card executed by the orchestra two of the hotel guests were down on the programme for four numbers. A soprano solo, Millard's "Ave Maria," was most delightfully rendered by Mrs. Joseph Lux, of Hoboken. The rendition of this piece brought all the guests to the music room, and the gathering was an audience of no small magnitude. An encore of the solo was demanded and Mrs. Lux graciously responded.

The sixth number on the programme, "Poeme D'amour" was a polyphonic composition, of the emotional order, and intensely expressive. The composer, Mrs. Bertram Sears, of New York, who played the accompaniment, was warmly congratulated by many of musical ability. Mrs. Sears also accompanied in another trio, "Jager's Abschied," Weidemann, with Mr. Landolt, clarionet, and Mr. dePool, cello. A second soprano solo, which completely captivated the house, "Angel's Serenade," Braga, was sung by Mrs. Lux, obligato, Mr. Hollinger.

LIVED MANY YEARS.

Henry F. Lewis, Old Resident of New Market, Passed Away.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Market, July 28—The death occurred yesterday morning of Henry F. Lewis, one of the oldest residents of this place, at the home of his son-in-law, Clark T. Rogers. The deceased was in his eighty-ninth year and death was caused by heart trouble and old age. Before coming here he was a prosperous farmer in New York State. He had lived here for the last eighteen years. He leaves only one child, Mrs. C. T. Rogers.

The funeral services will be held at 3:30 on Tuesday afternoon from the residence of C. T. Rogers. Elder Shaw will officiate and interment will be made at Samptown.

In South Carolina.

Edward B. Ryder, of Central avenue, returned Saturday from Holly Hill, S. C., where he went in the interest of the Santee Land and Improvement Company, which owns 40,000 acres of land at Holly Hill. Mr. Ryder brought home with him a number of photographs of timber belts, plantations, cotton gins, etc., all of which are very interesting. The trip covered a period of eight days.

Evening Communion Service.

In view of the fact that Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Ph.D., leaves this week on his annual vacation, an evening Communion service was held at Trinity Reformed church last evening. There was a very large attendance of members. Pastor Schenck was assisted by Rev. Mr. Todd, of Dunellen, who offered prayer at the close of the service.

Get to the Seashore.

To get away on a sultry day like this to the sea would be a blessing. More warm days are coming—notably Thursday, which is the time of the big Methodist excursion to Asbury Park. A full day at the shore, returning from there at 7:10, is the guarantee, which means so much longer for enjoyment.

Handy to Headquarters.

Living across the street from fire headquarters had its advantages for Wm. Ross, of East Second street, Saturday evening. When the chimney became clogged up and caught fire the department simply walked over with an extinguisher and ended the trouble.

SATURDAY'S BALL GAMES

After that, Hope made two more in the sixth and three in the seventh, clinching the lead which the best efforts of the opposing batsmen could not overcome.

In the fifth, unusually warm work in the field robbed the Y. M. C. A. of what promised at least two runs. With only one out and two on base, Bolsterle hit a hot one to Martin, who threw directly home, catching Barnes at the plate. Hartfelder returned the ball like a flash to Munro at third, just as Moore slid for the bag. The runner was caught a foot away and the side was out.

Two hits and a dead ball filled the bases for Y. M. C. A. in the ninth. With two out, Munro dropped a high fly back of third, letting in one run. Shortman contributed a muff of a long left field hit and two more men scampered home. When Bolsterle sent another fly to deep centre, it looked like a safe one and Hope howled in agony. No one knew how Magne reached the spot, but he was there, and a wild leap into the air brought the ball into his hands and the game was over. The plucky centre fielder was carried on the shoulders of the Hope fans in their delirious joy.

One casualty marked the game. In the sixth, a ball struck Egan on the nose, breaking a cartilage. After a few minutes, he pluckily resumed play and finished the game.

Following is the score in detail.:

'PLAINS WON GAME.

Scotch Plains, July 28—The local baseball team crossed bats Saturday afternoon with the reorganized Plainfield Athletics, and not with the Riversides, of Newark, as was arranged.

For some reason Manager Johnston was unable to receive any assurance from the manager of the Newark team that they would be at the 'Plains to fill their date. Several weeks ago the same club turned the Murray Hill team down and Manager Johnston did not intend to be made a victim of such unsportsmanlike conduct, so on Friday night he closed the game with Manager Taspcott, of the Plainfield team. It was fortunate that he did or the 'Plains fans would have been without a game.

The visitors had Wilhelm, the newly signed Safe Works pitcher, in the box and had he received the same support that Harvey, of the locals, received the score would have been very close as Scotch Plains earned only three runs, and the final score should have been 3 to 0, instead of 6 to 0. Harvey, of the locals, pitched his usual strong game and the support given him was of the best, several times the visitors made desperate attempts to score but quick work by the infield nailed them at the home plate.

Manager Johnston made a little change in the lineup of the team, putting Brogan, who has been covering third base, behind the bat and placing Ashcraft, who has been doing the catching all the season, on third. The change worked nicely and showed the fans that Scotch Plains has two of as good a backstops as could be desired.

Saturday afternoon the team will line up against the Xavier Deaf Mutes who defeated them two weeks ago. Following is the lineup and score by innings:

PERSONAL.

Harry Pugh, of Elizabethport, formerly of Plainfield, is renewing acquaintances in the city.

Recorder Dond, of the borough, has returned home after a vacation spent in New York State.

Mrs. C. L. Force and Mrs. David Force, of Somerset place, left today to visit friends in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Martin, of Clinton avenue, are rejoicing over the arrival of a young daughter at their home.

Rev. and Mrs. L. R. Howard, of Hope chapel, are rejoicing over the birth of a fine baby boy, who made his appearance Saturday morning.

FUNERAL OF F. W. GRANT.

Services Conducted by the Brethren at His Grove Street Home.

The funeral services of Frederick W. Grant were held at his late residence on Grove street yesterday afternoon. The services were in charge of the members of the Brethren, Mr. Grant having been a member of that body. There was a large attendance. Addresses were delivered by William Grant, a son, and by Samuel Ridout. The pallbearers were Paul Loizeaux, Timothy Loizeaux, Dr. Rushmore, Joseph McCallum, James Stuart and Mr. Eberhardt. The interment was made in Hillside cemetery.

In the death of Mr. Grant the Brethren have lost a member, who will be very much missed among them.

Death of Cornelius McCarthy.

Cornelius McCarthy died at his home on Liberty street Saturday afternoon. He was sixty-two years of age. He leaves three daughters, two sons, a sister and a brother to mourn his loss. The funeral will be held from his late residence Tuesday morning at 8:30 o'clock and from St. Mary's church at 9. The interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery. McCarthy was a veteran employe of the city street department.

Heat Victim.

Today's heat and humidity caused the first local prostration of the season. The victim was Robert Schneider, of Scotch Plains, a shoemaker, who had come to Plainfield to secure some supplies. While in Mr. Abrams' store he was overcome. The man was taken to the hospital in a hack. His condition is not regarded as serious.

Two Interesting Sermons.

Rev. Dr. Joseph F. Elder, of New York, preached two interesting sermons at the First Baptist church, yesterday.

Dividend Declared.

The City National Bank has declared a semi-annual dividend of four per cent.

—There will be a meeting of the Chess and Checker Club in the Y. M. C. A. Hall this evening at 8 o'clock. This will be the last meeting of the season.

WILL PLAY WESTFIELDERS

The Daily Press Secures Two Games for a Representative Team From Plainfield.

DATES ARE HELD OPEN.

As There Were No Signs of City League Acting, The Daily Press Took the Initiative—Now Ready to Arrange for Any Team the League Members May Desire.

There will be a meeting on the diamond betweeen the crack team of the Westfield Baseball Association and a nine composed of players in the City Baseball League this season. The challenge issued by Charles H. Denman, president of the Westfield association, has been accepted and it now remains to be decided what team will play the Westfielders.

It will be remembered that Mr. Denman sent a challenge to the officials of the league but it was not accepted. Then he issued a public challenge last Friday which was printed in the columns of this paper. While there was a feeling among the baseball enthusiasts of the city that the challenge should be accepted, nothing was done by the league management. It remained for The Daily Press to take the initiative.

The reputation of the city as a baseball town demanded that such a challenge be taken up, coming as it does from reputable men in one of Plainfield's old rivals on the diamond. So a representative of The Daily Press called on Mr. Denman at his home in Westfield last evening and received a promise that the two remaining dates on the Westfield schedule, September 13 and October 4, would be held open until plans could be formulated for a meeting with a representative team from Plainfield.

As there seemed no inclination on the part of the league officials to do anything about forming an All-Plainfield team, The Daily Press through one of its representatives suggested to the league officials at their meeting last evening a plan whereby an All-Plainfield team could be chosen by the baseball loving public. While the league managers will not stand in the way of the plan, they believe that a stronger team could be organized in some other way.

It is not the desire of The Daily Press to interfere with the league affairs but such an open challenge as that issued by the Westfield team must not be allowed to go unanswered. Plainfield's reputation as a baseball town demands it. The Daily Press has the refusal of the two open dates. If arrangements can be made by the league officals to have the winning team in the league, strengthened perhaps by a few of the best players from other teams in the league, meet the Westfields, The Daily Press will gladly turn over its claims to the two dates in question. If an All-Plainfield team can be organized in any other way, The Daily Press will gladly use its efforts to arrange for the meeting with Westfield. If no other plans can be made, The Daily Press will carry out its original suggestion and allow the people to pick the team themselves. Somehow, Westfield must be accommodated and a local nine must defend the honors of the city against the star aggregation from down the road.

Going to Westfield Camp.

The members of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Seventh-Day Baptist church will go to the Westfield Fresh Air Camp this evening and have charge of the Gospel service there. The trip will be made in the trolley and all members who intend to go are requested to take the 7 o'clock car from Watchung and North avenues.

W. C. T. U. Meeting.

The regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held in the rooms on Madison avenue Thursday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Mrs. M. D. Tomlinson will give a report from the late School of Methods held at Ocean Grove. A cordial invitation is extended to all interested to attend the meeting.

Ping-Pong Tournament.

A feature of the season at the Park Avenue Hotel will be the ping-pong torunament to be held at the hotel tomorrow eveping for the guests and a few invited guests from this city. This will take the place of the regular dance this week.

DRAGGED FROM THE WATER

HEROIC RESCUE RECENTLY PERFORMED AT ASBURY PARK.

H. R. Reiter, the Famous Princeton Halfback, Saved a Man's Life While Swimming in Ocean.

H. R. Reiter, the famous Princeton football player, who completes his course of study in the Theological Seminary at Princeton next June, and who has been visiting Plainfield friends this summer, performed a heroic deed at Asbury Park early in the season which won for him great praise. Mr. Reiter is very fond of swimming, especially in the ocean. While at the Park he rescued a man from drowning under circumstances that were exceedingly difficult.

The man who narrowly escaped death in the briny deep, was a novice and was at the shore for the day. Mr. Reiter happened to be in swimming at the same time and was not far from the drowning man. The latter gave an unearthly shriek as he went down the first time. This attracted Mr. Reiter's attention and he started for the drowning man. In the meantime the stranger went down the second time and landed on a sand-bar.

When Mr. Reiter reached the spot he made a dive under the water and discovered the man in a doubled-up position and with not sufficient strength to help himself. He seemed to be imbedded in the sand and Mr. Reiter was obliged to make two attempts to release his grasp. The second time he was successful and he brought him to the top in a completely exhausted condition. It happened that there was a boat nearby and the man was placed therein and brought to shore, when Mr. Reiter, after much difficulty, succeeded in resusticating the man. His condition was so serious that a penknife had to be used to pry open his jaws.

Those who witnessed the affair were loud in their praise of Mr. Reiter's performance. It was claimed that the life-saving men were so far away at the time that they could not have possibly saved the man.

ELKS' BIG TIME.

Mid-Summer Festival at Riverside Park This Afternoon and Evening.

From present indications Riverside Park, the new resort on the Raritan river, will be the Mecca for thousands of persons this evening. The New Brunswick Lodge of Elks will tonight hold its annual mid-summer festival at that place. Among the features which have been engaged at great expense is the Kilties band, Canada's crack military musical organization. It numbers forty musicians and also carries a chorus of twenty singers, Highland and sword dancers, a giant drum major and other novelties. The park opens at 1:30 this afternoon and the band will give two concerts in the afternoon at 3 o'clock and the other in the evening at 8. There will also be a vaudeville show and dancing will commence at 10 o'clock.

THEOLOGICAL STUDENT HERE.

H. R. Reiter Led Meeting at the Wilson Memorial Chapel.

H. R. Reiter, who concludes his studies next year in the Theological Seminary at Princeton University, has been spending a few days in Plainfield with friends. Sunday evening he had charge of the service at the Mary E. Wilson Memorial chapel, where a large number of people gathered to hear him. Mr. Reiter is an interesting and magnetic speaker, and those who heard him that evening are anxious that he should return in the near future.

Expects 20,000 Excursionists.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Asbury Park, July 29.—The order of the Jr. O. U. A. M. of New Jersey is making preparations to assemble here August 14 to celebrate its field day. Excursion trains will bring members and their families from all parts of the State. Twenty-six lodges from Newark and vicinity will send about 5,000. It is expected 20,000 will be in attendance.

Council Meeting.

The Common Council will hold its regular August meeting next Monday night, at which time it is likely that an adjournment will be taken until some date about the middle of August when the books of the Board of Assessors will be acted upon and the tax rate for the year fixed.

No More Burning Out.

The new switchboard has been placed in the new telegraph office at the North Avenue station and with it has been installed an arrangement which will in the future prevent the burning out of the board by lightning.

BUSY MONTH.

Shown by Monthly Report Presented to Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital.

The Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital held a short meeting last evening, as there was little of importance to be considered. Reports of progress were made concerning the work on the new hospital, but aside from that there was little else to report on the new work at present. There were just enough members present for a quorum.

The monthly report was received from the hospital of the work done during the month of July. This showed that it was one of the busiest four weeks that the institution has had in a long time. There were thirty-nine admitted during the month and in all fifty-eight were treated in the general hospital department. There were 151 visits to the dispensary and forty patients were discharged. There were four deaths, three of which were in an incurable stage when received and the fourth one was in a critical condition when admitted and was only there a short time.

FIXED ASSESSMENTS.

Commissioners Appointed by the Courts Settled on Assessments for Street Improvements.

Assessments upon recent street macadamizing were fixed last evening at a meeting of the commissioners appointed by the Union County Court of Common Pleas. The members are Thomas Hughes, James Chamberlain and Andrew J. Gavett. They met in the council rooms for the purpose of hearing any objections which might be offered by property owners against whom assessments had been placed. The work was accomplished with dispatch, as no critical cases were heard. The streets included First, Second and Third places, Orchard place, Carlton avenue and West Sixth street.

LEAGUE BUSINESS.

Few Changes Made in Teams and One Resignation Accepted.

Only routine business was transacted at the meeting of the baseball executive committee last evening. The resignation of Morris S. Sutphen as substitute umpire was received and accepted. The St. Mary's club registered Daniel White in place of Peter Scully. Y. M. C. A. registered Frank Bowman in place of Ralph Schoonmaker. Young and Townley were the umpires chosen for the Safe Works-Y. M. C. A. game next Saturday, and Melvin and Brown for the Hope-St. Mary game.

MOST IMPORTANT.

Rev. Mr. MacMurray Preached Last Sermon on Ten Commandments.

Most important and far reaching in its effects upon humanity, according to Rev. John MacMurray, of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, of all the Ten Commandments, is the tenth, which formed the theme for the concluding discourse of the series Sunday evening. In his sermon, he showed that the sin of covetousness is responsible for the violation of all the other laws, since all sin can be traced back to some covetous desire.

Take Day Off.

Take a day off Thursday and join the four Methodist Sunday-schools in the trip to Asbury Park, if you are looking for a good way to spend a holiday. All your friends are going and the prospects are the usual good time when Methodists get together upon an outing. The train will leave the North Avenue station at 8 o'clock in the morning.

Injured While Bathing.

N. Tamioki, the young Japanese, who has spent some time in this city at the home of Rev. Dr. George H. Whitney, is now laid up at the Windemere, Asbury Park. He was out swimming in the surf when he struck his foot against one of the posts to which the life ropes are fastened and badly cut his foot.

Must Obey the Law.

Twenty-five dollars fine will descend suddenly upon John Scott, garbage collector, if he should offend the health ordinances in future. He was arraigned in the city court yesterday for an alleged violation and City Judge Runyon suspended the sentence to await results.

New Quick Lunch Room.

T. A. Garthwaite has just opened a neat, clean quick-lunch room and fruit store at 212 Watchung avenue, where the trolley lines transfer. He has placed Jesse B. Hatfield in charge and already a large patronge is being given the place.

GOING TO NAME FLANAGAN

THAT WILL BE THE RESULT OF DEMOCRATIC CONGRESSIONAL CONVENTION.

Delegates Assembled at Washington and Met Shortly Before Noon—Nominations This Afterooon.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Washington, July 29 — Delegates from the three counties of Warren, Morris and Union began gathering here last night in large numbers for the convention today of the new Fifth Congressional District. All the hotels were crowded with visitors last night, while today the town is thronged with strangers. It is the biggest day known here in years.

So free from discord are the relations of the Democrats of the district that the gathering here resembles almost anything except a political convention. All is harmony. No other name is spoken than Flanagan, and unless some utterly unexpected circumstance arise, no other name will be heard before the convention.

Although scheduled for 11 o'clock, the opening of the convention was delayed until nearly noon. All that was done was the routine work of organization, after which adjournment was taken for dinner.

CROSS IS A CANDIDATE

MAKES A STATEMENT TO THE ELIZABETH JOURNAL.

Says He Would Appreciate a Renomination for Another Term for Senator.

Whatever doubt may have existed as to the position of Senator Cross in the prospective political contest seems to have been dissolved by a statement just issued as authoritative by the Elizabeth Journal. That exponent of county politics credits Senator Cross with the following:

"In view of reports to the effect that I did not want and would not accept a renomination at the hands of the Republicans of Union county for the office of State Senator I desire to say that all such reports are unauthorized.

"I feel that I have had practically but one term and would appreciate another, and under the circumstances, do not think it presumptuous on my part to seek a renomination.

"If I have served the people of Union county faithfully—and I certainly have tried to—I desire their approval, and if a renomination is tendered me I would appreciate it and accept it."

Postponed Hearing Again.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, July 29—In the Somerset County Orphans' Court Judge Schenck has again postponed the hearing on the exceptions filed to the accounts of Frederick A. Pope, administrator of the estate of Mary Hatchett, colored, of North Plainfield. The exceptant is her son, Geo. Hatchett, of Plainfield, and his counsel is Horace Codington. The hearing will not take place now until August 29.

Sudden Death of N. S. Runyon.

Miss L. A. Smalley, of East Front street, has received a telegram from her sister, Mrs. William Runyon, of S. Paul, Minn., that her son, Ned. S. Runyon, died suddenly a few days ago and that he was buried yesterday. Mr. Runyon was a grandson of the late Isaac and Sarah Smalley, of East Front street. Miss Smalley is anticipating a trip to St. Paul within a short time.

To Secure Aid.

To promote interest and secure aid for the work of training the colored youth is the worthy object which has brought George M. Elliot, principal of the St. Augustine Industrial Institute, of Florida, to this city. He will be here for a few days, in the course of which he hopes to have opportunity to explain the workings of his school.

Close Shave.

Another collision at the Liberty street ferry of the Jersey Central occurred last evening at 5:10, when the Communipaw and Fanwood brushed noses just as the latter was leaving her dock. No damage was done, but the passengers upon both boats were badly frightened at the nearness of the fatality which they escaped.

Hackmen Fined.

Two dollars was the cost of the confessed violation of the hack ordinance on the part of Paul Meissner and Robert Evans Saturday afternoon. In the city court this morning they pleaded guilty to the charge of having left their horses in order to solicit patronage and City Judge Runyon imposed the fine.

SMALL DEFICIT.

Although the Free List on the Union Excursion Was a Very Large One.

Regarding the excursion of the First Presbyterian, Park Avenue Baptist and Congregational churches, of this city, and the Dunellen Presbyterian church, to Asbury Park, last week, it should be stated that it was one of the most successful of the season. The total deficit was $74 and this amount was divided pro rata among the three Palinfield churches, as follows: First Presbyterian, $31; Park Avenue Baptist, $24; Congregational, $19. Every one of the three Sunday-schools was carried free except the home department of the Park Avenue Baptist church.

As an offset to the free list there were tickets sold outside of the Sunday-schools to the amount of $426, and this very materially helped to reduce the deficit. The railroad company received $513.75 for taking the excursionists to the shore and back. There was no deficit for the Dunellen people as they paid for the excursion the same as outsiders and were under no obligations, although they received 15 cents on tickets sold outside of those purchased by themselves.

WILL NOT SELL.

Members of Mt. Olive Baptist Church Learn the Standing of the Church—Has No Debt.

The members of the Mt. Olive Baptist church held a business meeting last evening and learned through the pastor, Rev. E. E. Jackson, that the Baptist Home Missionary Society holds a deed on the church property and not a mortgage or its equivalent, as was supposed. The deed is held as a protection to the church and prevents the placing of a mortgage on that property.

It was decided by the members not to move or make any attempt to sell the church property Any repairs that are necessary to improve the property and make it more tenantable will be made. It was voted unanimously to accept the pastor's advice and to maintain the alliance with the First Baptist church now existing, also with the Home Missionary Society.

Perfect harmony now prevails and the religious work of the church will go forward as before.

FIRED AT BURGLARS.

But They Escaped Unharmed From Bullets of Martinsville Residents.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Martinville, July 29—Burglars, believed to have been the ones who have been victimizing local residents for some time past, were chased and shot at last night by a posse of citizens. Unfortunately, the hunt was unsuccessful, as the men got away.

There were two of them, and they were seen by Dave Campbell trying to effect an entrance into the house of John VanNest, the butcher. Campbell fired two revolver shots and other shots were taken at the fleeing figures.

FUNERAL OF C. M'CARTHY.

Services Held From St. Mary's Church This Morning.

Funeral services over the remains of the late Cornelius McCarty, of Liberty street, were held at St. Mary's church at 8:30 o'clock this morning. The services were conducted by Rev. Father Farley. A goodly number were in attendance to pay their last respects to the dead. A number of floral tributes decorated the casket. Old friends of Mr. McCarty acted as pall-bearers. The interment was made in St. Mary's cemetery.

What You'll Miss.

If you fail to accompany Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., to Asbury Park on American Day, August 14, you will miss one of the treats of the season. The Council will run an excursion as usual, and they assure everyone who goes a good time.

Councilman Lee's Invention.

The new red-light arrangement to be placed at every fire-alarm box by the electric company is the invention of Councilman Robert Lee. It is considered a great success and will no doubt add to the efficiency of the fire service.

Installing New Instruments.

Manager C. W. Runyon, of the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company, is still kept busy installing new instruments for subscribers. The business is now increasing rapidly.

Gave a Musicale.

Miss Evelyn Simonson, of Duer street, entertained a number of her friends at a musicale last evening. A very pleasant evening was enjoyed.

Vacation for Choir.

The choir of the First Baptist church will have its vacation during August.

BEEN RAILROADING IN CUBA

GEORGE F. ROSE VISITED PLAINFIELD FIRST TIME IN SEVEN YEARS.

Was Then a School Boy, Now Holds Responsible Position With the Cuban Central Railroad.

There were few Plainfielders who recognized George F. Rose, the retiring general freight and passenger agent of the Jucaro and San Fernando Railway, of Cuba, who is to take charge October first of the freight traffic of the new Cuban Central Railroad, as the slim lad who completed his preparatory school studies at Leal's School in June 1895, and moved to New York City to enter the University of New York. Mr. Rose was the guest yesterday of Charles B. Morse, city editor of The Daily Press.

After leaving Plainfield, he entered college where he played on the football eleven and was captain of the gymnastic team in his sophomore year. He caught the war fever and left college to enlist in the Fifteenth U. S. Infantry. His knowledge of Spanish made him a valuable man. After a year's service in the army, he went into the railroad business in Cuba where he has risen rapidly. He remained in Cuba until a month ago when he was given a three months leave of absence and sent north to recover his health, life in the tropics having undermined his constitution.

Mr. Rose lived in Plainfield for two years. His father conducted a hardware store on West Front street in the store now occupied by the Flynn Brothers and the family resided at the corner of Duer street and Lincoln place. While Mr. Rose still shows the results of life in the tropics, he is much improved in health and expects to return to his duty October 1, ready for anything.

TWO COMMITTEES.

One Looks After Pulpit Supplies, and the Other Selects New Pastor.

At the morning service at the First Baptist church Sunday, H. E. Needham, one of the deacons, took the opportunity to state that there is a committee looking after the pulpit supplies of the church, while another special committee has the work in charge of selecting a successor to Rev. Dr. Yerkes. He said that he made the statement so that the members would not get confusing ideas in the matter. He asked the members to pray earnestly that the commitee might be guided aright in the selection of a new pastor.

TROLLEY PARTY.

Retail Clerks Getting Ready for Trolley Outing Tomorrow Night.

The trolley party to Boynton Beach on tomorrow evening, under the auspices of the Retail Clerks' association, promises to be an enjoyable affair. The start will be made from the station on Watchung avenue at 6:45 o'clock. Those desiring to go can secure tickets of the committee until the supply, which is a limited one, is exhausted. The committee in charge is composed of Caspar Waglow, James McLean, A. C. Hoagland, Louis Brucker, Chas. Greer and Chas. Suhr.

Reports of Convention.

At a meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, Saturday afternoon, reports were made of the recent State Endeavor convention. The delegate from that society, Miss Mary Alice Ross, told something of the interesting sessions, while Miss Karner, of the society at the First Presbyterian church, also made a report.

In Pastor's Absence.

Through the summer, Rev. Lawrence R. Howard, pastor of Hope Memorial chapel, will be at home, 446 West Fifth street, and may be called upon for pastoral service either at the chapel or Crescent Avenue church, during the absence of Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards.

Another Political Club.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, July 29.—The McKinley Club is to have some opposition in this city. The Elizabeth Republican Club is just being organized. The McKinley Club is the largest Republican club in the state, having over 800 members.

To Give Protection.

To guarantee more protection and safety to the glass front of the Plainfield Trust Company's offices on East Front street, a substantial and artistic iron trellis has been placed before the large plate window.

New Residence.

John Dickson, of the borough, broke ground yesterday for his new house to be erected on Fairview avenue. C. L. Force, of Somerset place, is the architect. The house will cost $3,000.

POLICE OFFICERS OF THREE COUNTIES THERE

Annual Meeting and Banquet of Superior Officers Police Protection Association.

HELD AT LORRAINE.

THE SAME OFFICERS OF ASSOCIATION WERE RE-ELECTED.

After Brief Business Session, the Banquet Was Served Under the Trees in Garden at Picturesque Old Road House—Short Talks.

From the three counties of Monmouth, Middlesex and Union, many prominent guests gathered yesterday at Lorraine to partake of the hospitality of the Superior Officers' Police Protective Association. It was the occasion of the annual business meeting, followed, according to the usual custom by an elaborate banquet, served under the trees in the garden at the picturesque old road house which is the yearly scene of the celebration.

In a brief session, the business of the association was transacted. For the eighth successive year, the same officers were chosen. They are: President, Chief Tenney, of Elizabeth; vice president, Chief Burke, of Perth Amboy; secretary and treasurer, Captain Peters, of Elizabeth; sergeant-at-arms, Sergeant Elmiger, of Elizabeth.

At 5 o'clock the first course of the feast was served, and from that time for two hours the discussion of the good things to eat and drink occupied the best of everyone's attention.

Plainfield's delegation included the four superior officers, Chief Kiely, Sergeant Frederickson and Roundsmen Flynn and Mattox; Assemblyman Newcorn, Freeholder Westphal and Councilmen Randolph and Coriell. In the course of the dinner, speeches were made by all the Plainfielders except Roundsmen Mattox and Flynn.

Among the others present who made addresses were Senator Cross and Colonel Collins, of Elizabeth, both of whom spoke in warm terms of the association and of the good work of the police throughout the county.

NEW BRIDGE.

Bids for Jersey Central's New Structure Over Newark Bay Will be Received Tomorrow.

The Central Railway of New Jersey will replace its present bridge over Newark Bay with a new steel structure, and bids for the masonry, piers and other river work are to be submitted by tomorrow. The erection of the new bridge is to be accomplished without any interference with traffic. There will be seven masonry piers required, 650 feet of pile fender and 14 steel cribs. In addition the contractor will be required to remove the masonry of the present bridge piers, together with the pile and lumber foundations of the present draw pier.

Piers 1 and 4 inclusive are to be built first, and as soon as these are completed one span of the new left bridge will be erected. After that the present draw will be closed to navigation of the westerly span, after which the building of the other piers will follow.

KEPT COOL.

Retail Clerks Had Something Cool to Eat After Business Session.

After their regular meeting last evening the members of the Retail Clerk's Association adjourned to Fowler's, where a highly pleasant hour was spent in a social way over the edibles.

Arrangements have been all completed for the trolley ride to Boynton Beach tomorrow evening. Four special cars have been chartered for the occasion and a jolly good time may be expected. The drawing for the divan was postponed till the next meeting of the association, owing to the fact that several coupons have not yet been handed in.

Pastor's Vacation.

Rev. C. E. Herring, of the First Presbyterian church, will be absent from Plainfield during August. He has not yet decided just where he will spend his vacation.

Church Repairs.

During the month of August the First Presbyterian church will undergo a thorough cleaning and such repairs as are necessary will be made.

Death of Infant.

The death of Johnnie Downing, the ten-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Downing, of Somerset street, occurred this morning.

HOW POLITICS MOVE OVER IN MIDDLESEX

According to the Newark Call All is Not Plain Sailing for Congressman Howell.

TROUBLE IN MONMOUTH.

DEMOCRATIC NOMINEE IN THIRD DISTRICT IS UNCERTAIN QUANTITY.

Warm Times for County Ticket in Middlesex—Will Elect a New Sheriff and a New Surrogate—Many Candidates Boomed.

There is a good deal of speculation throughout the new Third Congressional district concerning the rival candidates this fall, says one of the political writers on the staff of the Newark Sunday Call. Somerset county is now out of the district and Ocean is in. The intermediate county of Monmouth is where trouble is likely to come from for both Democrats and Republicans. On the latter side it is plain that Congressman Benjamin F. Howell is likely to have a good deal of hustling to do before he gets the nomination. He will have no trouble in Middlesex, where the party is united for him, but in Monmouth there is opposition. The Freehold Inquirer is responsible for encouraging the sentiment against Mr. Howell down that way, and scarcely lets a week go by without scoring the New Brunswick bank president.

Concerning the Inquirer's attitude a New Brunswick Republican leader remarked the other day that all might have been well had Mr. Howell a few more jobs to hand out down that way. He recalled that Maxcy Applegate, editor of the Inquirer, had been a candidate for the postmastership at Freehold, but didn't get it.

But the Monmouth constituents claim to have other grievances against Mr. Howell Asbury Park wanted a federal postoffice appropriation, but was left out when ladies went into the pork barrel. New Brunswick got $15,000 and Perth Amboy $50,000 for their respective postoffices. Moreover, Monmouth considers that it did not get what it deserved in the river and harbor budget. There is very little doubt that a Monmouth man will be named to the convention. It will be up to Ocean to decide, and if Ocean has a candidate of its own he will stand a good chance as a compromise. The convention has not yet been called, and probably will not be until late in the summer.

On the Democratic side Jacob A. Geissenhainer has been spoken of as a candidate. Mr. Geissenhainer has already served in the House, from 1889 to 1895, when he was succeeded by Mr. Howell. His home is in Freehold, but he also has a residence in New York city, which resulted in the epithet of "carpet bagger" being thrown at him when he was last in the field. If Monmouth agrees upon Mr. Geissenhainer as its Democratic candidate he will be named. Two years ago Somerset had the nomination, James J. Bergen being the candidate. In 1898 Patrick Convery, of Middlesex, was named, and in 1896 Rev. David A. Wells, of Somerset, ran. Not since 1894, when Mr. Geissenhainer last ran, has the nomination gone to Monmouth, and there it will probably go this year.

Although the nomination seems to belong to Monmouth, Middlesex has several Democrats who would have the support of the party in that county. Ex-Senator James H. Van Cleef could have had the support of the county delegation two years ago had he consented to run, and probably can get it now if he wants it. George A. Viehmann, the New Brunswick mayor who is hustling things up down there, has also been spoken of in this connection, but he has only just begun his term as the city's executive, and it is believed that he would prefer to carry out the work he has mapped out for himself here. But there is excitement in store for the delegates at both conventions, something unknown in years in the district.

Middlesex county has a warm local campaign under way also. A sheriff to succeed Isaiah D. Barclay will be elected and at present there are indications that George J. Litterst, of New Brunswick, Mr. Barclay's predecessor, will get the Democratic nomination. He has a strong opponent, however, in Asbury Fountain, of Browntown, director of the County Board of Freeholders. Mr. Fountain is outside of the councils which determine Democratic politics in Middlesex, but he has built up a strong personal following during his ten years in the Board of Freeholders, which will have to be reckoned with by the county convention. Alderman Charles A. Oliver and former Deputy Sheriff Howard Wesner, of New Brunswick, have also been mentioned as possible candidates.

On the other side Deputy Sheriff William Carman, of Metuchen, seems to have the lead. The only other candidate in sight just now is Andrew S. Church, of South River, who was defeated for the office in 1896 by George J. Litterst. A split in the Republican party of the county defeated Mr. Church at that time, although the county gave the rest of the ticket upward of 2,000 majority.

The term of Surrogate Leonard Furman, Democrat, expires this fall. Mr. Furman probably will get a re-nomination if he seeks it, although he has already held the office for ten years.

Deputy Surrogate Peter Francis Daly and George S. Silzer, chairman of the Democratic county committee, two well known young lawyers of New Brunswick, are said to be aspirants for the nomination. The Republicans will probably nominate Theodore B. Booraem, law partner of Prosecutor John S. Voorhees.

Two of the present Assemblymen, Dr. Myron J. Whitford, of New Market, and W. H. C. Jackson, of New Brunswick, will be renominated by the Republicans. The third, J. E. Montgomery, of South Amboy, has had three terms already and the nomination, according to precedent, will go elsewhere.

FIRM FOUNDATION.

Nothing Can Undermine It In Plainfield.

People are sometimes slow to recognize true merit and they cannot be blamed for so many in the past have been humbugged. The experience of hundreds of Plainfield residents expressed publicly through newspapers and other sources places Doan's Kidney Pills on a firm foundation.

Mr. Richard Day, of 134 East Front street, says: "I had a miserable pain across my back and a sort of lame feeling over my kidneys. Standing any length of time, or walking any distance aggravated it greatly. I was never sick much in my life and consequently never took much medicine, so when I first began having these attacks I paid little attention to them. They, however, grew worse instead of better so I had to look about for a remedy. I read quite frequently in our papers about cures brought about by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills so I got a box at L. W. Randolph's drug store and after taking them I felt greatly relieved. I have recommended them to my friends and those who have used them speak very highly in their praise."

LITERARY.

The August McClure's might almost be advertised as "the book of the month." Though it is a typical midsummer fiction number—and a tip-top one, too—it manages to find place for a number of striking articles that will perhaps be even more eagerly read than the stories. Professor Angelo Heilprin, who, it will be remembered, was the first man to get to the top of Mount Pelee after the eruption, tells the detailed story of his explorations. The illustrations for the articles, drawn by George Varian, who accompanied the author on his second ascent to the crater, are by far the best yet published of Pelee in eruption. As illuminating as it is brief is Lincoln Steffens's sketch of John Mitchell, "A Labor Leader of Today." Two papers of absolutely unique personal experiences are Santos-Dumont's first article on "How I Became an Aeronaut" and Mrs. Tsilka's story of the birth of her baby while the mother, with Miss Ellen M. Stone, was in captivity among the brigands. The fiction includes "Cap'n Bob of the Screamer," by F. Hopkinson Smith, a new story of an old acquaintance; "The Life of the Winds of Heaven," an idyll of the Michigan forests, by Stewart Edward White; "Such as Walk in Darkness," by Samuel Hopkins Adams, as good a dog story as you will wish to read; "How the Fairies Came to Ireland," another of Miss Herminie Templeton's sprightly stories, in a brogue that is the real article; and "The Finish of Elizabeth Shanklin," a tale of a Missouri Lochinvar, by R. E. Young. The illustrations are no exception to the rule that makes a fiction number the best illustrated of the year.

THEATRICAL.

Midsummer temperature has had no effect on the size of the audiences at Keith's Union Square Theatre, New York. A superb system of ventilation and refrigeration is in use and makes the auditorium of this theatre the coolest place in New York City. Upon the straight vaudeville bill which will be the offering for the coming week the Del Bosq Brothers, a team who succeed in mixing a considerable quantity of real comedy with their truly wonderful acrobatic feats, have first place. Next upon the list is Little Elsie, the celebrated mimic who is heralded as a pocket edition of Cissie Loftus. The two La Vines offer a mixture of comedy, acrobatic work and really excellent dancing. Craig and Ardelle present a musical sketch sure to please all lovers of harmony. Baker and Conn in a comedy skit that would make the inmates of an asylum for the deaf, dumb and blind laugh; Grant and Grant, the well known colored entertainers; Bicknell, the clay modeller, whose work has been the admiration and wonder of thousands; Eugene St. Cyr, the marvellous magician.

MAKING PLANS FOR JERSEY PYTHIAN DAY

Pythians Will Gather at Long Branch on Labor Day This Year as Now Planned.

DETAILS OF THE DAY.

LINE OF MARCH HAS BEEN SELECTED ALSO PLACE FOR COMPETITIVE DRILL.

Headquarters Will be at Imperial Hotel—Governor Murphy Will Review the Parade—Something About Progress of the Order.

Pythian Day this year will be celebrated at Long Branch on Labor Day. This decision was reached at a meeting of the grand officers of the order held at Long Branch. Just previous to the meeting, Grand Chancellor P. Hall Packer, of Seabright, accompanied by Brigadier-General William E. Hitchcock, of Newark, the commanding officer of the uniformed rank of the order in New Jersey, went over several routes and decided on the following line of march as the most suitable to all concerned: Form at the Central Railroad Station and move promptly at 11 o'clock down Third avenue to Chelsea avenue, down Chelsea avenue to Ocean avenue, to Broadway, to Bath avenue, to Westwood avenue, to Third avenue, to Broadway, to Castle Hall, where competitive drills will be held on the lawn east of the hall.

The knights will be formed in companies and the best drilling will take the "Grand Chancellor's Prizes," which are: First prize, $50; second, $30, and third, $20. Three officers of the United States Army will act as judges.

Grand Chancellor Packer has made the following appointments: Grand marshal, Benjamin P. Morris; chairman of reception committee, Jerome Van Brunt, and chairman of entertainment committee, Henry Ferguson. They have been given full power to select their assistants.

Headquarters will be established at the Imperial Hotel, in front of which will be erected a reviewing stand. Governor Murphy, with his staff, and the officers of the Grand Lodge, will review the parade from this stand. The parade will take forty-five minutes in going over the route selected. It is expected at least 5,000 knights will be in line. Ocean Lodge will serve a lunch in Castle Hall. The occasion promises to surpass any field day of the order in this State, and, it is said, it will be the largest secret order demonstration ever held along the coast.

The executive committee is composed of Charles F. McDonald, of Englishtown; Dr. C. A. Reed, of Seabright, and George Mount, of Manasquan, who are the deputy grand chancellors of Monmouth county. Special excursions will be run from all sections of the State, Hudson county sending three and Essex county the same number.

When the grand lodge met in Trenton last February there were 142 lodges in this State, or "grand domaine," as each State jurisdiction is termed. These lodges had a total membership of 13,544, of whom twenty-one were past grand chancellors, 3,669 were past chancellors, 9,804 were knights (third rank), thirty were esquires (second rank) and twenty were pages (first rank). The net gain in membership for the year was 305. The total amount paid out during 1901 for relief was $72,532.93.

At the close of 1901 the total assets of New Jersey lodges were: Cash on hand, $63,591.39; [amount invested, $156,552.67; real estate, $70,644.02; paraphernalia, furniture, etc., $55,219.13; widows and orphans' fund, $3,011.40; total, $349,018.61. During the year 1901, 1,594 members were given assistance, which is nine more than in 1900. The lodges contributed $1,039.30 to the fund collected by the order for the benefit of the Galveston sufferers. The grand treasurer reported a cash balance of $2,690.90.

The officers for the grand lodge this year are: Grand chancellor, P. Hall Packer, Seabright; past grand chancellor, John H. Conger, New Brunswick; grand vice-chancellor, P. Frank Shanley, Jersey City; grand prelate, John W. Laws, Jersey City; grand keeper of records and seal, Elmer E. Margerum, Trenton; grand master of exchequer, John Patrick, Rutherford; grand master-at-arms, William G. Congill, Paulsboro; grand inner guard, Joseph Wilson, Jr., South Amboy; grand outer guard, William T. Hilliard, Salem; supreme representatives, Walter F. Hayhurst, Lambertville, William H. McCullough, Sweedsboro, and Dr. William E. Hitchcock, Newark.

Communion Service.

The regular Communion service will be observed at the First Baptist church Sunday morning. There will be no evening service.

FOUR STATES SHAKEN

Severe Earthquake Shocks In the Far West.

CALIFORNIA TOWNS ARE DAMAGED.

At Los Alamos the Western Union Oil Company Suffers Heavy Loss. The Earth Reported to Have Opened In Another Place.

LOMPOC, Cal., July 29.—Lompoc valley experienced an earthquake shock Monday. About 10 p. m. a violent shock was felt which lasted fully thirty seconds and was so severe that dishes, clocks, house plants and other articles were thrown from shelves. The people were stricken with terror and ran from their houses, some fearing to return, as other lighter shocks continued for several hours afterward. Another heavy shock was felt at 5 a. m. and one at 11 a. m. yesterday. A large water tank was knocked over, the earth cracked at many different places, and the Santa Ynez riverbed was slightly changed in places.

At Los Alamos, forty-five miles north of Santa Barbara, an unusually severe shock of earthquake occurred, doing damage to the property of the Western Union Oil company estimated at from $12,000 to $15,000.

At Harris Station, on the railroad, a fissure is reported to have opened, and from it a stream of water 2 feet deep and 18 feet wide is now flowing.

Three States Shaken.

OMAHA, July 29.—An earthquake shock which was general over portions of Nebraska, western Iowa and South Dakota occurred shortly after noon yesterday. The seismic disturbances were felt at a large number of towns in the three states and lasted from ten to fifteen seconds. No damage has been reported thus far, although the shock was sufficient to rattle dishes and to affect bell towers in some places. Yankton, S. D., reports a shock of twelve seconds' duration; Santee Agency, in northern Nebraska, reports a similar occurrence, and Battle Creek, Neb., was shaken for twenty seconds. The disturbance was more plainly felt at the latter place than any other which has reported thus far. In this city the shake was barely discernible, and few people knew of such a thing until the weather bureau reported it.

Earthquake and Tidal Wave.

KINGSTOWN, St. Vincent, July 29.—The Soufriere volcano has been slightly in eruption twice since last Monday. A severe earthquake shock, accompanied by a tidal wave, affected the northeast point of the island, washing a fire swept estate. No further damage was done. Many people, both of the wealthier classes and laborers, are leaving the island, fearing disaster. The government is still feeding 6,000 persons. The settlement of refugees in huts on acquired lands in safe localities is progressing.

A Schley Arch.

BALTIMORE, July 29.—A memorial arch is to be erected in this city in commemoration of the deeds of Admiral Winfield Scott Schley. With this end in view the Schley Triumphal Arch association of Baltimore city has been incorporated by Dr. Henry V. Walls, Dr. Melcher Ekstromer, Charles L. Burkhart, James Gorrell and Henry G. Bready. It has no capital stock. As explained by one of the incorporators, the plan is to raise by popular subscription a fund sufficient to pay for a handsome arch "in recognition of the services of Maryland's hero of the Spanish-American war."

Admiral Rodgers Goes to Manila.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—The navy department has received a cablegram from Rear Admiral Frederic Rodgers announcing his departure from Yokohama, Japan, for Cavite, Philippine Islands, aboard his flagship, the New York. Rear Admiral Rodgers has been cruising in Chinese waters for several months past and now will proceed to the Philippines, leaving Rear Admiral Evans, on the Kentucky, the ranking American naval officer in the upper orient.

Flock of Sheep Killed.

JOHN DAY CITY, Ore., July 29.—On Murderers creek, Grant county, 280 sheep belonging to J. C. Moor of Mount Vernon were slaughtered presumably by settlers and cattlemen. Murderers creek is a remote summer range district, and, according to information, several armed men came upon the band at night and commenced firing buckshot into them. The next day 280 dead sheep were found.

Jackson Issues Another Injunction.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., July 29.—Judge Jackson has issued another injunction of the same general character as those for whose violation "Mother" Jones and others were tried. It was issued upon the application of G. Clinton Gardner, receiver for the Flemington Coal company, and is directed against thirty strikers and organizers.

Litt Gets a Chicago Theater.

CHICAGO, July 29.—By a transaction just closed, Jacob Litt, who operates theaters in New York, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Milwaukee and Chicago, becomes the owner of McVicker's theater. The price paid for the building is not stated. The ground lease from the school board has eighty-five years to run.

Founder of Famous Society Dead.

FULTON, Mo., July 29.—Rev. Robert Morrison, one of the founders of the Phi Delta Theta fraternity and prominent in educational work for many years, is dead at his home, near here, of senile debility, aged eighty years.

CUNNING GENERAL DE WET.

He Enters Cape Town Quietly and Upsets Reception Plans.

CAPE TOWN, July 29.—General De Wet proved that he could evade friends as successfully as he did enemies by arriving here unexpectedly yesterday afternoon and upsetting all the elaborate plans prepared for his reception. He strolled through the streets, casually nodding to acquaintances and occasionally to a former opponent. Arrangements were quickly made by Afrikanders to entertain the famous leader at a semiprivate dinner, tickets to which already stand at a premium.

A striking contrast to De Wet's return was the scene Sunday when Generals Botha and Delarey attended church. The building was packed mainly with women, and the service was scarcely concluded when these Cape Town admirers stormed the pew in which the generals sat. With difficulty they retreated to the vestry. The congregation followed, and Generals Botha and Delarey were lifted to the vestry table. The pastor of the church warmly remonstrated, whereupon a number of those present seized the generals and carried them to carriages, where another demonstration ensued.

TEXAS FLOODS RECEDING.

Railroads Preparing to Resume Traffic—Damage Very Heavy.

DALLAS, Tex., July 29.—The flood situation in Texas is growing better. The heavy rains have ceased throughout the greater portion of the state, and the water has begun to recede in all rivers and creeks. If the fair weather continues, some of the Texas railroads will soon begin running their trains on time, while regular traffic will be re-established on others within three or four days.

The cotton belt tracks are washed out for 260 feet west of Brandon. The Missouri, Kansas and Texas bridge at Hillsboro has been repaired, and trains were run over it, although the track is still in bad condition.

The International and Great Northern has resumed traffic north of Palestine. The damage done to the property of that road is said to be very great. Nearly 1,000 feet of its track is washed out at Richland creek and as much more at White Rock creek, besides many smaller washouts.

Dallas was visited by another heavy downpour Sunday. Trinity river is considerably over its banks in many places, but little damage is reported.

Chicago Merchant Kills Himself.

CHICAGO, July 29.—A. M. Rothschild, until two months ago the head of the State street department store firm of A. M. Rothschild & Co., committed suicide at his home, Thirty-seventh court and Michigan avenue, by shooting himself in the head, the wound inflicted causing almost instant death. Acute insomnia, which probably caused temporary insanity, is said to be responsible for the deed. Mr. Rothschild returned from a six weeks outing in Minnesota last week and seemed improved physically. At no time, it is said, was his mental condition such as to cause any apprehension that he contemplated self destruction.

Consul Bragg May Be Recalled.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—It is now learned that the Cuban government went a little further in General Bragg's case than was understood at first. It not only made inquiry as to the accuracy of the quotation reflecting on the Cubans, but complained of the consul general's criticism. The papers in the case are still before the president at Oyster Bay, but some action is expected shortly, either in the way of recalling the consul general or transferring him to some other post if a suitable one can be found.

Austrian Strike Spreading.

LEMBERG, Galicia, Austria, July 29.—The strike in East Galicia of over 100,000 agricultural laborers, most of them Russians, and which developed into a rising against the landed proprietors of the district, is becoming more serious. Gendarmes attacked the strikers and were attacked by them in return. Crops and farms have been destroyed. Several peasants have been wounded and others arrested.

Wages Voluntarily Increased.

CUMBERLAND, Md., July 29.—Officials of the West Virginia Central and Pittsburg Railway company announces a voluntary increase of wages to its employes. The increase affects all the employes of the transportation department and averages 10 per cent.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

Rioting has taken place in Venice and Padua over the recent communal elections.

The damage by Saturday's cloudburst in Steuben county, N. Y., is estimated at $250,000.

The claim of over £9,000 by May Yohe against Lord Francis Hope has not been sustained.

The Mississippi river commission has reported estimates for the improvements in 1904 of $2,560,000.

Reports of the serious illness of Joseph Chamberlain, England's colonial secretary, are pronounced untrue.

H. L. Doherty, champion of England, defeated H. H. Hackett of New York city in the Longwood tennis tournament.

WILD REPRIMANDED.

Was In Command at Lingayan, Where a Cockpit Was Burned.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—The action of General Chaffee in reprimanding Captain Frederick S. Wild, Thirteenth infantry, upon the sentence of a court martial has been received at the war department. Captain Wild was in command at Lingayan, where a cockpit was burned, two soldiers of the command having been previously stabbed in the cockpit. It was generally understood that the cockpit was burned by the soldiers in revenge. It was brought out in the trial that Captain Wild had been requested by the civil authorities to place a guard over the property after the first attack and failed to do so, and a second attempt at burning resulted in its destruction. General Chaffee in reviewing out the sentence of the court says:

"The necessity for the trial is based on the assertion to accompanies to the accused that the existing order to give complete and unqualified support to all branches of the civil government in these islands must be complied with and to show by example that nothing short of such support will be accepted from officers on duty in this division. Captain Wild's conduct is but mildly punished by reprimand. It is destructive to the very foundations of discipline and, when considered in connection with the importance of the duty which devolved upon him, is in the highest degree reprehensible."

FAREWELL TO MAYFLOWER.

President's Yacht to Leave—A Visit From Colonel Hood.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 29.—President Roosevelt, accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt, his daughter, Miss Alice, and members of the Sagamore Hill house party, took luncheon yesterday afternoon on board the Mayflower. In a way it was a farewell luncheon, as the Mayflower has been ordered to Gardiner's bay, near Shelter island, for target practice. She will go thence to New London, Conn., to join the north Atlantic squadron for the summer maneuvers off that port. The Mayflower will be replaced here by the Sylph, which was used often by President McKinley for short trips on the Potomac river.

Colonel Charles C. Hood of the Sixteenth United States infantry, who landed with two battalions of his regiment in San Francisco on the 8th inst. from the Philippines, arrived here yesterday afternoon and had a talk with the president last night. For two years and a half Colonel Hood has had control of northeastern Luzon, comprising one-third of the entire island. He discussed pretty thoroughly with the president the situation in the Philippines. His familiarity with the subject made his contribution of information both interesting and valuable. Two battalions of his regiment are located at Atlanta, where Colonel Hood's headquarters are, and the third will be at Fort Slocum, N. Y.

French Government Denounced.

PARIS, July 29.—Francois Coppee, the author, and M. Lerolle, a Nationalist deputy, who were arrested last week in connection with the anticlerical rioting, addressed a great meeting which was held in a riding school in the Rue d'Engheim last night to protest against the government's action in the matter of the closing of the unauthorized congregationist schools. M. Coppee, in a vigorous denunciation of the government, made remarks hostile to President Loubet. After receiving a demonstration, a counter-demonstration to M. Coppee occurred in the streets, but the police were able to maintain order.

Wireless Telephone Successful.

BERLIN, July 29.—Ernest Ruhmer, an electrical inventor, has succeeded in telephoning seven kilometers by his wireless method. The speaking voice was perfectly audible continuously during the experiments. Ruhmer, who hitherto has used a searchlight thirty-five centimeters in diameter, will construct another of between 100 and 200 centimeters, expecting to speak forty kilometers, which would be a distance sufficient to cover a modern city.

Six Hundred Goats Shot.

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo., July 29.—On Saturday night fourteen masked men appeared on the grazing ground of the Angora Range association in Pinon mesa, where about 1,000 goats were ranging. The three herders in charge of the goats were bound, while the masked men slaughtered more than 600 of the flock by shooting and stabbing them. The loss is estimated at $8,000.

Four Shot on Excursion Train.

JOPLIN, Mo., July 29.—Four men, two whites and two negroes, are reported to have been shot and killed on a Missouri, Kansas and Texas excursion train at a point in Indian Territory. The negroes are said to have been shot down by the whites, who were in turn shot and killed by a deputy sheriff who was accompanying the excursion.

Team Drivers Strike.

HARTFORD, Conn., July 29.—The general strike of the Team Drivers' union which has been hanging fire for several weeks, awaiting arbitration, which the draymen's association has refused, has finally been inaugurated. Pickets have been active all day in their efforts to have drivers abandon their rigs.

Big Indian Dance On.

WHITE EAGLE, I. T., July 29.—One of the biggest Indian dances held in the Indian Territory for years is in progress, having been started by the Poncas, with visitors from the tribes of the Osages, the Kickapoos and the Otoes. Seven hundred tepees have been erected.

CHARGED WITH LIBEL

Leader In Miners' Strike Is Arrested.

DISTRIBUTION OF RELIEF BEGUN.

Soft Coal Men Hiring Strikers, and Large Numbers of Them Are Leaving For the Bituminous Regions.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., July 29.—J. F. Mullahy, secretary of the Stationary Firemen's Association of Pennsylvania, has been arrested here, charged with libel. Twenty-five complaints had been lodged against him by men who are now employed in various capacities by the coal companies in this section. It was alleged that Mullahy had printed a circular containing the names of the prosecutors. He classified them under the head of "unfair workmen" and then, so it was charged, posted them in conspicuous places throughout the region. Two women testified that they saw a man who looked like the defendant put up the circulars on telegraph poles near their homes. Magistrate Pollock held Mullahy in the sum of $500 on each charge, which made the bailpiece $12,500. The bail was promptly furnished by friends of the accused. Secretary Mullahy has been very active in the strike. It is said that through his influence he has held 95 per cent of the striking firemen firm. Engineers and pumpmen have gone back to work in large numbers since the strike began, but the firemen have remained out with the miners almost to a man. At strike headquarters Mullahy's arrest on so many warrants is termed an outrage.

Sheriff Jacobs was called to Duryea to disperse a mob which had gathered in the vicinity of the Warnke washery and prevented some men from going to work. When the sheriff arrived on the scene, the crowd left.

The work of distributing relief among the strikers of the Wyoming region has begun. The most needy cases will receive aid first.

Agents from the soft coal regions in western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois have been in the Wyoming region the past few days hiring miners to work in the bituminous mines. Nearly 100 miners and laborers left the region yesterday for western Pennsylvania and Ohio. More will follow.

Arrested For Disobeying Injunction.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 29.—Upon information made before Federal District Attorney Atkinson warrants of arrest were issued for about fifteen persons, charging them with contempt of court in violating the injunction issued by Judge Keller covering the Flat Top coalfield along the Norfolk and Western railroad. The clerk declined to give the names for whom warrants were issued. Federal Judge Keller has also issued an injunction against G. W. Purcell, a member of the national executive committee of the United Mine Workers; W. B. Wilson, national secretary; Chris Evans, national statistician; "Mother" Jones and five others at the suit of the Gauley Mountain Coal company. It is in the same form as those heretofore issued.

Mine Superintendent Shot.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., July 29.—Superintendent Daniel Lauderman of the Kohinoor colliery, was badly wounded yesterday in a riot that ensued while he was trying to aid his son and a non-union man to escape from a crowd of strikers. Lauderman's son was also severely injured, and a man of the name of Frost was hit in the back with buckshot.

Companies Now Mining Coal.

SCRANTON, Pa., July 29.—Superintendent Rose of the Delaware and Hudson admits that his and other companies of this region have men engaged in cutting and loading coal and storing it at the foot of the shaft in cars ready to be hoisted when the companies see fit to resume operations.

South African Blue Book.

LONDON, July 29.—A South African blue book which has just been issued shows that Joseph Chamberlain, the colonial secretary, consented to the proposal made by Lord Milner, British high commissioner in South Africa, to take advantage of the good feeling prevailing between the Dutch and the British to make immediate announcement that the legislative councils of the new colonies, the Transvaal and Orange River, shall be enlarged by the addition of nonofficial members and that the enlarged councils meet as early as possible, the month of September being suggested for this purpose.

A Virginian Murdered.

RICHMOND, Va., July 29.—A Leesburg (Va.) special says that William Wilson, an excellent citizen of lower Loudoun, living between Sterling and Dranesville, was murdered while returning home from the railroad station at Herndon. Shooting was heard, and Mr. Wilson was found shot in the groin and so far gone as to be unable to give any information as to the affair. He died in a few minutes.

Installation at Northwestern.

CHICAGO, July 29.—Dr. Edmund James will be installed as president of the Northwestern university Oct. 21. The exercises will cover three days, and formal invitations are to be sent to prominent European and American colleges and universities and learned societies to send delegates.

Earthquake In South Dakota.

YANKTON, S. D., July 29.—An earthquake shock occurred here yesterday afternoon lasting about twelve seconds. The shock was accompanied by the usual rumbling noises and moved from northeast to southwest.

PLAY WESTFIELD!

Plainfield has long been known as one of the most enthusiastic baseball towns in New Jersey. At one time it supported the strongest team for a city of its size of any in the State. Today it has a local league composed of four teams any of which will make a creditable showing with amateur teams all over the State. Thousands of people turn out to the games and the National sport is popular indeed.

With such a flourishing state of affairs existing, it must not be said that Plainfield will allow a challenge from a reputable team, coming from a town which has always been the rival of Plainfield in outdoor sport, to go unanswered. As neither the local league officials nor the managers of the local teams have taken any action regarding the proposal of Charles H. Denman, president of the Westfield Baseball Association, The Daily Press has taken the initiative in the matter and has now secured the promise of two dates with the Westfield team, one for a game in Westfield and one here.

We would much prefer that the league should officially recognize Westfield's challenge and send the winning team, strengthened perhaps by the pick of the other teams, to battle with Westfield's best. If such a match can be arranged, The Daily Press will gladly turn over the dates in question to the league management. But the games must be played and if there is no other way, The Daily Press will allow the people to pick an All-Plainfield team for themselves. In the meanwhile, we are open to suggestions.

One of the sensational New York papers recently published a "scare" story, telling of the huge quantities of hard coal which were stored by the various railroads and which were being held back to increase the price of coal. It was said that nearly a million and a half tons of hard coal were tied up in storage when the people of New York were practically without it. It was said that half a million tons were stored at South Plainfield by the Lehigh Valley. A visit of a Press reporter, as told in Saturday's Daily Press, showed that there was just one-tenth of the amount of coal reported stored there. If the supplies reported to be held in reserve by the other railroads were equally exaggerated, the whole story was simply a huge "fake."

If the reports be true, there are still a number of spectators who insist upon indulging in personalities at the expense of players in the local league games. While no one minds occasional good-natured chaff, it is not sportsmanlike conduct to shout personal remarks to the players on the field and thus attempt to rattle them. No self-respecting club wants to win a game by such tactics. It is only of late that incidents of this nature have been at all frequent at the games. Let them be stopped at once. It is the duty of the management of the home club to see that their visitors are treated with every courtesy and such action is far from being courteous.

It was predicted when Company K went to Camp Murphy that it would make a good record and that officers and privates would make a showing the equal of that of any company in the Second Regiment of the National Guard. And that prediction has come true. The week just past was used to good advantage in putting the finishng touches on the local soldier boys. Although the company is only a little over a year old, it is now the equal of the veteran companies of the regiment and has been universally praised for its fine appearance by every one who has seen the company turn out.

A noteworthy advantage of the newspaper over the magazine and all other means of publicity is in the matter of promptness, remarks the Philadelphia Record. Thus the cereal makers who had been using magazines almost exclusively found it wise to take immediate advantage of the rise in beef prices. Hence they used the daily newspapers and the results were so prompt and so unusual that they have become regular users of newspaper space.

The newspapers all over the State have something to say regarding the fight which is now on for the Republican nomination for senator in Union county. There is not one of them, however, which has anything but the pleasantest things to say about the Plainfield candidate.

Perth Amboy is in a serious predicament. Its public schools are overcrowded and the Board of Education of that city is unable to raise the money to provide additional schools while the Common Council cannot appropriate funds for temporary rooms.

Among the good things in store for Daily Press readers is the serial story, "Stairs of Sand," by Ernest De Lancy Pierson, which is soon to be published in these columns. It is a thrilling story cleverly told and no one should miss reading each daily installment.

It is the turn of the naval militia now. While the citizen soldiers have just returned from a little taste of camp life, the citizen sailors have begun a week's cruise.

SUMMER AT CHURCH.

Changes in Services During August at the Congregational Church.

The mid-summer schedule has gone into effect at the Congregatioaal church. The mid-week service will be discontinued until September. The morning preaching service and the Christian Endeavor meeting in the evening will be continued for the next two Sundays and then the church will be closed until September 6. Rev. George B. Shaw, pastor of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, occupied the pupit Sunday morning. The pulpit supply for the next two Sundays will be Rev. George Karner, recently of Albany.

KORMAN OUT AGAIN.

Has Recovered From Effects of the Assault—Drake Still in Jail.

Edward Korman, the young man who lay at the point of death a few weeks ago on account of the assault at the hands of Charles Drake, has completely recovered from the effects of the wound. Yesterday he resumed his duties as a hack-driver. Charles Drake, his assailant, has not yet succeeded in procuring bail and lies awaiting trial in Somerville jail.

Prayer meeting will be held tonight in the Baptist church.

DEATH OF THOS. HALL.

A Machinist Died at His Home in Dunellen Last Evening.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, July 29—Thomas Hall, aged forty-two years, a machinist by trade and employed at the Pond Machine Tool Works, died at his home on Centre street, last evening after an illness with a chronic disease. He leaves a wife and three daughters.

The funeral services will be held from the house Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and Rev. Mr. Doolittle will officiate. At the burial in Hillside cemetery, Court Plainfield, No. 1144, Improved Order Foresters, will have charge of the services.

RAIN MADE TROUBLE.

Made Lots of Work for Street Commissioner Gavett and His Men.

Not without effect upon the city streets was the spell of rainy weather of last week. For several days, Street Commissioner Gavett's men were busy clearing catch basins, culverts and drains of the rubbish washed about by the water. Regular work was resumed today on the Belvidere avenue gutters, which were neglected because of the need of men in other parts of the city. The work on Clinton avenue, which also was delayed from the same cause, was finished yesterday.

SAVED HER LIFE.

William Grattan Dragged Little Girl Out From Under Trolliy Car.

Presence of mind on the part of Wm. Grattan saved a young girl from probable injury on the Westfield trolley Sunday evening. At Galvin's Park the girl, who was about ten years old, tried to board the car before it stopped and slipped and fell. Grattan, who was standing upon the step, quickly reached out and caught her, just as she was about to fall beneath the wheels. The car had perhaps 100 feet further to go before coming to a standstill.

Small Dwelling.

Building Inspector T. O. Doane has granted a permit to Jacob S. Dennick of Dunellen, for the erection of a two-story dwelling, 20 feet, front by 26 feet deep, on West Third street, near Rock avenue. The carpenter will be done by L. Roosa.

Pulpit Supply.

The pulpit at the Crescent Avenue church will be occupied Sunday by Rev. Dr. James McLeod, of Scranton, Pa.

Consecration Meeting.

The monthly consecration meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society of Warren chapel will be held this evening.

Poisoning the System.

It is through the bowels that the body is cleansed of impurities. Constipation keeps these poisons in the system, causing headache, dullness and melancholia at first, then unsightly eruptions and finally serious illness unless a remedy is applied. DeWitt's Little Early Risers prevent this trouble by stimulating the liver and promote easy, healthy action of the bowels. These little pills do not act violently but by strengthening the bowels enable them to perform their own work. Never gripe or distress. L. W. Randolph.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE DOING

SOME BRIEF PARAGRAPHS OF A PERSONAL NATURE.

COLUMN FOR THE SHOPPERS

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

For an orangeade or a grape juice, an ice cream soda or a phosphate, the one place superior to all others is John P. Power's, the Somerset street pharmacist.

C. L. Stanley, the North avenue florist, has an immense stock of cut flowers at extremely low prices. Decorations and floral design work is a specialty with Stanley.

Your fire place need not be the most costly furnishing, but it counts in the appearance of the room. Have it well tiled and fitted by R. B. VanArsdale and there will be no cause for complaint. Everything for mantel or grate.

Do you have trouble with your feet these days? If so go to John H. Doane's shoe store and he will sell you a pair of shoes that will overcome that trouble. He makes a specialty of fitting one's feet properly, comfortably and reasonably.

To save time is to save money. To save time, you must keep good time. The best way of insuring correct time is to have your watches and clocks repaired and regulated by the expert, Brown, of Watchung avenue. No mistakes will occur then.

If you live in the East End, no need of coming all the way down town for your groceries and provisions. Keenan, at Fifth and Richmond streets, carries a full line of vegetables and fruits— everything that the season produces. The prices are right, too.

Warm weather bargains of the sort to meet the popular demand are those which Harry Werner is offering this week in his clearing sale of outing suits and shirts and white vests. To keep cool, comfortable and in style, call on him and he will fit you out in the right way.

If you have the habit of sleeping, you want a good bed first of all. Powlison & Jones have a large assortment of iron bedsteads which meet popular approval as to appearance and price. All the appurtenances, in the way of mattresses and springs, can be bought at the same place—reasonably, of course.

If you want to keep posted on the great bargains at the Hill & Shupp big dry goods store watch the firm's advertisement each day this week in The Daily Press. There will be the sale of the early fall blankets, sheets, bed spreads and housefurnishing goods, and the men's furnishing sale will also interest you. You can save money on all of these things.

If you have never visited the oriental goods store on West Front street conducted by P. G. DuBois, formerly with A. A. Vantine & Co., of New York, you have no idea of the hundreds of pretty things there on sale. Many useful things too, including oriental delicacies, etc. Drop in at the store and you are sure to be interested. A cup of the famous tea is very refreshing these days.

AT BABY CAMP.

Work That is Being Done Under the Direction of King's Daughters City Union Nurse.

Last week twelve Plainfield children were given a week's outing at the King's Daughters' Baby Camp on the mountain. Yesterday ten other children went to the camp for a week. Under the direction of Miss Gwynne Evans, who is acting as the King's Daughters nurse in the absence of Miss Anderson, a fine work is being done. The City Union of King's Daughters has been compelled to employ Mrs. Ball as an extra nurse, to attend to the urgent cases in the city while Miss Evans is at the camp.

One of these important cases is a poor woman who has an incurable cancer and who receives daily treatment by the city nurse.

In view of the great amount of work now being carried on by the King's Daughters fund are still necessary to care for this work during the months of August and September. Any person desiring to contribute to this worthy and commendable charity can send their contributions to The Daily Press office and they will be duly acknowledged in the colums of the paper.

ON HIS TRAIL.

That Was the Complaint Which Motley Made Against Robinson.

Before Recorder Doud in the borough police court last evening appeared a man named Robinson, arrested on the complaint of one Motley, who alleged that Robinson was eternally on his trail, and allowed him neither peace of body or mind by happening to be always in his rear on the same pathway. The Recorder, not wishing to hold a man on the vague, uncertain charge of walking on the same side of the street as his neighbor, suspended sentence.

ELECTRIC FAN AT CHURCH.

New Method of Keeping Cool at Monroe Avenue Church.

That the congregation may keep cool while at its devotions, an innovation has been introduced at the Monroe Avenue M. E. church in the shape of an electric fan. It was tried Sunday for the first time and was considered quite a success. It is almost noiseless and it causes a sufficient draught through the building to keep the air cool and to render unnecessary the use of hand fans by the worshippers.

Plans for August.

During the month of August the Sunday evening services will not be held at the First M. E. church. Rev. Dr. Bryan will occupy the pulpit in the morning while Dr. Snodgrass is away.

RESTORED TO ARMY.

Justice Is Not Only Blind, But Often Very Slow.

Officers Who, for Any Reason, Have Been Dropped from the Service Rarely Ever Secure Reinstatement.

[Special Washington Letter.]

"SENATOR HOAR is not only a statesman, but a loveable man of the plain people," said a former army officer to-day. The senator is now almost 76 years of age, and of course is not as strong physically as he once was, although mentally is he a tower of strength.

"I called on him at the senate one morning recently, to tell him that my bill for restoration in the army was hung up in the house of representatives. He told me that after lunch he would personally look into the case. Although he had many matters of greater importance on his mind, when the time came the old gentleman took me by the arm and walked that long distance from the senate to the house. That body was in session, and I remained out in the corridor while he went inside. He saw members of the committee on military affairs, and then left the case in charge of a representative from Massachusetts, who is to look after it.

"Now, if I had been a politician, I might not have been surprised at a senator doing so much for me. But I am not a politician, and I have not voted in Massachusetts for many years. The senator knew me as a citizen of Massachusetts who had served in the civil war and afterwards in the regular army. He knew that I had been unjustly turned out of the army, and he determined to help me get justice. He had the bill passed by the senate two months ago, and now it must be passed by the house. I am sure that it will be all right, because the senator has taken a personal interest in it. My Uncle Tom and he were classmates at Harvard; hence he knows the family, and has turned aside from his duties of statesmanship long enough to give me a helping hand. Out of many years' experience I can say that there are few senators who would do so much for one who can do nothing in return, except express heartfelt thanks."

Lieut. Francis S. Davidson, who thus tells of the kindness of the venerable statesman from Massachusetts, was a cadet at West Point from July 1, 1862, to January 31, 1865, when he was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Fifth Massachusetts cavalry, and served with that regiment until October 31, 1865, when he was honorably mustered out with the regiment. On March 7, 1867, he was commissioned second lieutenant of the Ninth United States cavalry and promoted to first lieutenant, July 31, 1867. He served with his regiment on the Texas frontier against hostile Indians until July, 1875, when he was ordered with his company on a scout and to make a temporary camp at a water hole called "El Louz ranch."

Lieut. Davidson is not the first good soldier who has suffered from envies and jealousies; and it was in 1875 that his perseeutions began. The writer had personally known him for almost 30 years, and hence is familiar with his story. When he left Fort Brown, Tex., to go on that scout, the officer who inspected his company preferred charges against him as to the condition of his company and wagons. Of these charges he was acquitted. But that did not end the matter. It is well known to those familiar with the old army that when conspirators begin to seek court-martials they usually succeed in some manner. Charges were later preferred against Davidson for "breach of arrest and gaming in the presence of enlisted men." He had not been placed in close arrest during the trial before the court which acquitted him, but was simply ordered to remain with his company under arrest. He did not leave the ranch of El Louz, nor did he leave his company. The assertion as to gaming was that he had thrown a $20 bill on a table that a Mexican had in front of one of the huts at that ranch, where some of the soldiers played monte. The judge advocate general, in May, 1878, reported:

"The new evidence submitted may be deemed to cast a doubt upon the guilt of the accused. In view of this doubt this bureau is now inclined to the opinion that the sentence of the accused was probably too severe. He has suffered under this sentence two and a half years, and his reappointment to the army would not be prejudicial to the interests of military justice."

Lieut. Davidson had never broken his technical arrest and he had never done any gambling. He did take out of his valise a $20 bill which belonged to a soldier of his company; a part of a sum of money the lieutenant was safe-keeping for him; and the soldier gambled it away. On this slender thread his enemies went to weaving a conspiracy against him, and he was dishonorably discharged from the army. During the past 27 years he has been seeking justice before congress. He did not know Senator Hoar, and had no friend in congress to take a personal interest in him. He has now, and he will have the satisfaction of having his record cleared of those unfair charges.

Another old soldier was met by the narrator, and he, too, was in good spirits, for the congress has passed the bill placing him on the retired list as a captain. Maj. James W. Long is well known in the northwest, particularly in Michigan, where he served for many years. Before the committee on military affairs Maj. Long appeared and told his story as follows:

"I was appointed by President Lincoln as second lieutenant, Second infantry, August 5, 1861. Was with my regiment constantly on duty until June 27, 1862, when at the battle of Gaines Mill I was wounded in the foot, wrist and face, and thoroughly disabled for the time. While at home at Buffalo before the bandages were taken from my face I was put on recruiting service. I returned to my regiment and was detailed as assistant commissary of musters under command of Gen. Heintzelman. My right eye was put out at Gaines Mill and my remaining eye began to trouble me. Surgeon Basil Norris, well known in Washington, insisted that I should be discharged for disability. But I was born in the army and raised in it, and would not give up. I was promoted to be captain, joined my regiment on the Rappahannock, then went to New York to suppress draft riots, and again back to the field. Although suffering facial neuralgia all the time, I participated in the battles of the Wilderness and Spottsylvania. I was then ordered to Annapolis for treatment of my left eye, and while there remained on active duty in military command of the officers' hospital. I continued on various field duties until May 7, 1869, when I was ordered on duty as Indian agent, being included in a general order providing for numerous officers who were left out of their regimental organizations by consolidation of infantry regiments provided for by act of congress. The order contained these words: "Should vacancies occur entitling them to promotion in the regular army during their term of service on such Indian duty, they shall receive promotion the same as though on ordinary detached military duty."

While thus serving, Maj. Long's eye became very weak and painful, and

HON. J. A. T. HULL.
(Chairman of the House Committee on Military Affairs.)

he finally applied for retirement because of incapacity. To his surprise, the examining board refused him retirement; although he had lost one eye in battle and the other one was palpably disabled. He applied for relief from duty as Indian agent, and the necessary order was issued; but it was sent through the Indian office and did not reach him for more than six months. Not knowing that this order had been issued; being assured of being legislated out of the army, with many others, on December 31, 1870; preferring resignation to being legislated out, Maj. Long resigned. During the past 32 years he has been trying to have the wrong righted, by act of congress. It is done at last. He is restored to the army as a captain and placed on the retired list. He will receive $100 per month during the remainder of his life. This will gradually dispose of his embarrassments, and support his family in comparative comfort.

Congressman Hull, of Iowa, chairman of the house committee on military affairs, said: "I am very glad that Maj. Long has finally succeeded in getting his bill through both houses of congress. We have many cases before the committee, only a small proportion of which ever become laws. Each case is carefully scrutinized, and you may be sure that only the truly meritorious cases receive favorable reports from our committee."

Maj. Long and Lieut Davidson are made happy by having lived long enough to acquire rights which should never have been taken from them. Justice is not only blind, but sometimes dreadfully slow.

THIRTY THOUSAND IN CASH.

To See the Mass Lying Idle in a Banker's Window Grieves One Practical Spirit.

The Italian bankers of Elizabeth and Mulberry streets are filing their show windows with greenbacks in an effort to attract trade and convince the public that one has more money than the other. In the window of one banker $30,000 was on exhibition one day recently, says the New York Sun. Bills of all denominations were strewn carelessly around the window, attracting crowds.

"Them ain't all real money," remarked one woman, "them's imitation."

"Yes," replied a man in the crowd, "that's the genuine long green we all struggle for."

"I never t'ought dere was dat much money in de world," chimed in a ragged boy.

Two Italian laborers got into an argument as to the amount of cash in the window. One thought there must have been at least $1,000,000.

About noon two men with long whiskers stopped their vending wagon in front of the place. They had come over from the East Side of town.

"Vhat? Tirty tousand dollar in dot vindow all der time!" exclaimed one.

"Dot is it," replied the other. "It ain't too much for a bank, vhat?"

"No; but look at der interest vhich it is losing every minute. Vhat a shamefulness! Interest! Lost interest $1,200 a year."

LEAP-YEAR BIRTHDAYS.

A Unique Society in Berlin Which Is to Hold a Big Celebration in 1904.

Herr Monteur, a worthy resident of Berlin, is over 70 years old, but will celebrate his eighteenth birthday on February 29, 1904. He is president of the Berlin society of leap year children, the one organization of its kind in the world. The members have had no birthday celebration for eight years, the extra February day having been omitted in 1900 according to the rules of the reformed calendar. Therefore the society is planning a great celebration on February 29, 1904. A committee of arrangements is already at work, and something extraordinary may be expected, as on account of the society's curious origin many prominent persons have interested themselves in the matter.

The month of February in 1886, by the way, was even more interesting than that which will be marked by the unique Berlin celebration. It had no full moon, and in that was the most remarkable in the world's history, for never before had such a thing occurred. January of that year had two full moons, and so had March, but February had none. How extraordinary this event was may be judged from the fact that according to the computation of astronomers it will not occur again for 2,500,000 years.

ART AND ATHLETICS.

The Outdoor Movement, It Is Thought, Will Advance the Two Interests.

The universally increasing attention now being given, especially in Anglo-Saxon countries, to out-of-door sports and to physical culture is a sign of the best omen. No class can have a greater solicitude for the furtherance of this movement than the artists, for they cannot create beautiful forms without having beautiful forms around them from which to draw inspiration. The art of a nation is but the mirror of that nation's ideals, and faithfully reflects their slightest change, says Outing.

This new conception of the value of athletics will add dignity, interest and standing, making it a factor second to none in the development of our civilization. It will be a mighty influence in the creation of a new and superior type of men and women. That women are growing more and more to realize this is evidenced by the athletic tendency of the modern girl. If she will combine therewith an intelligent effort after well-balanced and harmonious development the results are bound to be satisfying in the extreme, for in many ways the female body is quicker than the male to respond to training.

CURING A BALKY HORSE.

Simple Methods May Be Employed Without Resorting to the Use of the Whip.

An expert states that the vice of balking in horses is almost invariably caused by improper breaking and handling of the animal while young. It is only high-strung and ill-tempered horses that balk; and these are handled with more success by humoring and patience than by severe measures, which generally make matters worse. It is almost impossible to follow rules in a case of this sort. What will succeed in one case is useless in another, so that a driver must exercise good judgment—"horse sense"—in handling a case. A very good treatment is to watch the animal closely in places where it would be likely to balk, and driver should say "Whoa," then get off and loosen or pretend to change the harness in some way; also take up a foot and tap the shoe with a stone. Spend a few moments leisurely in this way, and in nine cases out of ten the animal will forget its inclination to balk and will go on at the first bidding. It is also well to give a lump of sugar or a handful of oats or an apple. This will always produce better results than severe measures.

HOTELS FOR WOMEN.

They Are an Outcome of the Great Need For Them.

When women and girls first entered the regular wage earning field away from home, their most difficult as well as most doleful undertaking was the finding of a place in which to live. The small pay they received put the better class of hotels and boarding houses beyond them. Worst of all, handed down from the times when men hanged a woman if she stole a loaf of bread for her starving child and belonging with them in cruelty and wickedness was that mediæval prejudice among hotel lodging house people against receiving women boarders.

The industrial new woman had a hard time of it for many years. But the new woman in any walk of life is not to be put down. If established hotels declined to receive them, then these fine, strong workers would establish hotels of their own, which they have done.

A dozen years ago Mrs. Eliza Greatorex, the artist, began a movement to erect and equip a noble hotel for women in New York city. On the one hand she strove to interest women; on the other, capitalists. At length her patient, unselfish work brought results. There will shortly be ready for occupancy in New York a large hotel for women that will be a beautiful home provided with all the best equipments of modern civilization—heat, electric lights and tiled bathrooms, plenty of them. The prices for food and lodging will be moderate.

Connected with Columbia university, New York, is a dormitory for women students which is so palatial as to cause the men students to declare grudgingly that the girls have larger and better lodging house space than the boys, also better dining room and restaurant accommodations, which latter fact the masculine sex would naturally feel and resent.

There, too, is Boston. With an eye to business as well as to philanthropy, which is always the correct eye, certain prominent people have purchased the old New England Conservatory of Music building and are remodeling it into the Boston Hotel For Self Supporting Women. The Everyday church congregation, Rev. Dr. Perin at their head, were the leaders in the scheme. This hotel will be equipped according to the best modern ideas, including the peculiarly Boston one of an educational department where in evening classes the boarders obtain the higher culture. It will also have a resident physician and nurse, the advisability of which is not so clear. Whatever tends to make girls look on themselves as sickly creatures should be discouraged. A sickly woman has no proper place in the industrial world. It is the battle of the strong, and almost any woman can make herself strong if she has the will to do so.

A BOOM IN A WOMAN'S HOTEL.

In most of the large cities hotels for women which are a credit to twentieth century republican civilization are already either in operation or under construction. In these handsome hostelries the ancient tabby cat "rules and regulations" of the old time Jane Smith Home For Females are done away. A lone working woman is a free, independent, responsible being, ruling her own time and actions. A general standing order in all the hotels for women is that occupants must not receive men friends in their private rooms, which no girl would do in her own home. Also there is in every case a refined, motherly, intelligent woman who acts as matron and knows how to sympathize with girls as well as to advise and comfort them.

Philadelphia takes the lead in that class of woman's hotel known as the co-operative club home. This combines home and club life, and the system is admirable. There are already in operation in Philadelphia several of the co-operative club homes with long waiting lists of candidates for membership. The perfect business management of these clubs is the secret of their success. One person does the buying and does it economically, yet generously. Another is the housekeeper and superintends the internal arrangements. A third, the secretary, attends to correspondence, while the treasurer collects the money and pays the bills. The young women are of the class of clerks, stenographers, etc. They are very happy in their club homes, where they can enjoy even luxury for from $3 to $4.50 a week.

MARY EDITH DAY.

A KNAVE . . . OF CONSCIENCE.

By Francis Lynde.

CHAPTER XXXII.

When Griswold took his leave of Miss Grierson, which he did as soon as he could after Mr. Galbraith's coming, he did not go to Dr. Farnham's. On the contrary, he went to his room at Mrs. Holbrook's, and spent the hour before dinner tramping up and down with his hands behind him and with a sharper trouble than he had ever known gnawing ruthlessly at his peace of mind.

All through the talk with Margery, and up to the very instant of interruption, he had made sure that her thinly veiled hypothesis revolved about one Edward Raymer. But at the last moment, this conviction had trembled upon its pedestal and tottered to its fall. He thought he had come to know Margery pretty well—well enough to be sure that she would not misunderstand anything that he might have said. But when he came to weigh those sayings of his in the light of a possible misconstruction he was moved to grind his teeth in a very manly agony of shame.

He had neither weighed nor measured them at the time—being so sure that Raymer was the man; but in that last little outburst of hers there was room for a most disquieting doubt; and since a man may be a knave of conscience and still be a gentleman, Griswold despised himself very heartily after the fact, going so far as to question his right to go to Charlotte until after this terrible doubt was drawn and quartered and decently buried out of sight and beyond the possibility of a resurrection.

It was during this ante-dinner interval of self-recrimination on Griswold's part that two men met behind a closed door in a first-floor chamber of the summer hotel on the Point. One of them was Mr. Andrew Galbraith, but now returned from his call on Miss Grierson. The other was a shrewd-faced man, as yet in the prime of life; a man with a square jaw and thin lips and ferretty eyes. Mr. Galbraith held a cigar between his fingers, but it had gone out. The other was smoking a Regalia, and its subtle fragrance filled the room.

"You think you are sure of your man this time, are you, Griffin?" said the banker.

The detective blew a smoke-cloud toward the ceiling and nodded slowly. "There isn't a shadow of doubt about his identity, now."

"Then, pardon me, Mr. Griffin, why do you come to me. Why don't you make your arrest and take the man to New Orleans? I'll be there to appear against him at the fall term of court."

"I don't rightly know why I have come to you." The detective's reply was as hesitant as his nod had been. "I've put the irons on some queer customers in my time, and I don't know as I ever hung back till now. But this fellow—"

"State your case," said the banker, briefly. "I can't conceive of anything which would come between you and your sworn duty."

"That's it; that's just it. Neither could I. But something has come between, this trip. First off, I got to know the fellow pretty well before I found out who he was, and—well, he sort of captured me, as you might say. He wasn't anybody's hold-up; he was just a nice, square, clean-cut gentleman, all open and above-board. Pretty soon after that, he did me a considerable of a good turn—took some trouble to do it. About that time I began to suspect who he was, and not to be owing him when it came to the handcuff act, I tried to even up on that good turn of his. That's where I fell down. Instead of squaring the thing, I got in deeper, and the cool-headed beggar saved my life, out and out. Now that's my hot-box, Mr. Galbraith. What would you do if the fellow saved your life?"

Andrew Galbraith answered offhand, as a man will when the supposition is only an hypothesis which can by no means be transmuted into facts personal.

"I should do my duty, of course. This would be an uncanny world to live in, Mr. Griffin, if we let personal considerations stand in the way of plain duty."

The detective rose and found his hat. "I don't know," he said. "Them little things have bothered me, sometimes. Good evening, Mr. Galbraith." And with that he left the closed room and the hotel and took his way townward, walking slowly, but steadily, as a man who has made up his mind to do a thing of moment, taking the consequence as a man may.

As for the banker, he threw away the extinct cigar—a bit of wastefulness so inharmonious with his character as to be in itself a mark of unusual perturbation—and went out to see if dinner were ready. It was not; and so he strolled on to the veranda, reaching it just as Dr. Farnham was handing himself into a buggy with a young lady. Andrew Galbraith looked again, and recognized in the young woman who was holding the reins one of his late rescuers. Whereupon he descended the steps to speak to her. Since the doctor was the house physician, the banker had met him; but this was his first intimation that Griswold's companion was Miss Farnham.

Thereupon followed the introduction in due form, with encomium enough on the part of the rescued one to make Charlotte blush, and the good doctor's eyes to grow conspicuously dim with fatherly pride.

"We must know more of you, Mr. Galbraith," he said, hospitably. "Can you save us to-morrow evening, and come to a quiet little family dinner?"

Andrew Galbraith said he would be delighted, and so they parted.

But many things were scheduled to come between the invitation and the quiet little family dinner at Lake Lodge.

CHAPTER XXXIII.

It was seven o'clock when Griswold had finally fought his way out of the turmoil of conflicting doubts and distractions, and had come to some definite conclusion touching his duty. In the light of a possible misconstruction of his words by Margery there was nothing for it but to go to her and have the doubt cleared away before he should speak to Charlotte. So much honor demanded; and Griswold was not the man to shirk where honor was involved.

But when he was closing Mrs. Holcomb's front door behind him, the Grierson footman opened the gate and came up the walk with a note. Griswold stepped within to read it by the hall light. It was from Margery, and while he could not help smiling at the courageous naivete of it, it freed him suddenly from the burden of doubt.

"You may think what you please of me," she wrote, "but you are my one real friend in all the world. You know what no one else this side of Colorado knows about my past; honestly, I told you the worst of it; but there is one other who should know—who must know. And, oh, I can't ever tell him! Won't you please do it for me? You needn't spare me in the least, you know."

"MARGERY."

Griswold ran up to his room, pencilled his answer on the back of her note, reenclosing it in a fresh envelope, and hastened down to give it to the waiting footman. Then he walked quickly to the drug store at the corner and called up the iron works by telephone. Luckily Raymer was there.

"Going to stay a little while, Ned?" he askcd.

The answer was in the affirmative, and Griswold added but a word: "All right, I'm coming over."

Fifteen minutes later Griswold dropped from a car at the railway crossing and made his way to the office of the iron works. Raymer was there, elbow-deep in his correspondence, but he swept the pile of letters aside when his partner entered.

"Good for you—come down to help me out, have you?" he said, but Griswold shook his head.

"Not on office work, you may be sure. I gave you fair warning before the fact that I was born lazy. But I have a thing or two to say which may help or hinder. Are you game for the very roughest bit of a talk-fight that you ever got into?"

"I guess so. Why?"

"Because, to do what I have to do, I've got to be brutally frank. Tell me, Ned, are you in love with Margery?"

The abrupt question was something of a clear-sky thunder clap to Raymer, but he met frankness with frankness.

"I am, Kenneth; and I—I guess I have been for a good while."

Identified.

The general post office at Paris once received a letter addressed: "To Monsier, my son, Rue ——, etc." They were going to send it to what in France corresponds to our dead-letter office, but a clerk objected.

"There must be two fools in that family," he said. We shall find out to whom it belongs."

Sure enough, in a few days a stupid-looking youth entered and said to the clerk:

"I'd like to find out if you haven't kept here a letter from my father."

"Yes, sir," replied the clerk. "Here it is."—Youth's Companion.

No Satisfaction in That.

"Yes," he explained, "she is very angry with him."

"Why?" she asked.

"Oh, he caught her dozing in the hammock and kissed her."

"While she was asleep?"

"Yes."

"And didn't know what was happening?"

"Yes."

"How inconsiderate. I should think she would be angry."—Brooklyn Eagle.

SAID HE WAS TRACY.

Received a Pounding He Will Not Soon Forget.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 29.—William Nixon tried to impress a woman here by impersonating the outlaw Tracy and is nearly dead as a result.

He told an actress in a music hall that he was the escaped convict and threatened her life if she told. Later, when he re-entered the theater, he was attacked by a policeman and the proprietor, Joe Williams, a brother of Deputy Sheriff Jack Williams, who was wounded in the fight with Tracy at Bethel July 3. He was pounded into insensibility and has not fully recovered his faculties yet. The mistake was discovered when the man's features were compared with a photograph at police headquarters.

It is almost a miracle that the policeman did not shoot first and investigate afterward, as he was told positively that the man was Tracy, and a reward of nearly $1,000 is offered for the desperado, dead or alive.

TYPHOON SWEEPS MINDANAO.

Hospital Buildings Destroyed—No Lives Lost.

MANILA, July 29.—The typhoon which has been prevailing here for a few days cut a 200 yard path through Camp Vicars, in Mindanao, destroying the headquarters and the hospitals except the one where those who are very ill are kept. This escaped.

There were no casualties, but the property loss will be heavy. The records of the adjutants and quartermasters were lost. Parts of the buildings were blown away for miles, and the tents resembled balloons as they floated off. The troops were tossed among the wreckage. A majority of the members of the companies possess only the clothing they had on. Many villages were obliterated.

As a culmination to the week's storm Sultan Nuali's band attacked Lieutenant Brown's engineers, but was repulsed with a loss of three killed.

New York Deluged.

NEW YORK, July 29.—New York was deluged last evening by a downpour that assumed almost the proportions of a cloudburst. For half an hour the rain came down in torrents. Though there was little wind, the rainfall was so heavy that traffic was delayed, and the thousands who were on their way home after the day's work were drenched. In many sections of the city trolley cars operated by the subtrolley system were laid up for various periods, the conduits being flooded with water. Cellars were flooded in every section of the city, and heavy damage was done in the downtown section, particularly in the wholesale district, where the greater portion of stock is stored in basements and sub-basements. The lightning was very vivid and frequent.

Mining Disaster Verdict.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., July 29.—The coroner's jury investigating the rolling mill mine disaster on the 10th inst. has filed its verdict. It is found that the explosion was caused by some person or persons, to the jury unknown, taking into room No. 2, sixth right heading, where gas was known to exist, an open lamp, using the same in direct violation of the mine rules and regulations of the Cambria Steel Company.

Handler Out In Second Round.

BUFFALO, July 29.—Kid Carter of Brooklyn knocked out Jimmy Handler of Newark in the second round of what was to have been a twenty round bout before the International Athletic club of Fort Erie last night.

THE HAITIEN CRISIS

An Insurgent Attack on Cape Haitien Imminent.

GOVERNMENT TROOPS ARE DEFEATED

General Salnave Approaching After His Victory Over the Forces Under General Nord—Foreigners Are Without Protection.

CAPE HAITIEN, Haiti, July 29.—General Albert Salnave entered Limbe Sunday evening, and yesterday he was within nine miles of this city, after having defeated the troops under General Nord, the minister of war of the provisional government.

The capitulation of Grande Riviere is expected, and Cape Haitien probably will be attacked today.

Foreigners have been without protection and are in danger. Much relief was expressed when the United States gunboat Machias, which was ordered to proceed from Colon to this port, arrived at noon yesterday.

Regret had been expressed that no foreign power was represented here by a warship at such a critical moment.

News From Haiti.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Acting Secretary Hill has received the following cablegram from United States Minister Powell, dated at Port au Prince: "General Colin left Port au Prince in the morning with 2,000 men to repel Firmin's army, which was landed from the Haitian naval vessel commanded by Admiral Killick. After a skirmish which ensued the forces of Firmin retreated to the warship. Colin has returned to the city. The information is that twenty were killed and sixty wounded."

An Insurgent Army Beaten.

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti, July 29.—The army under General Jean Jumeau, who supports the candidacy of M. Firmin for the presidency of Haiti, has been repulsed by troops under the command of General Saint-Foix Colin. The gunboat Crete-a-Pierrot prevented a pursuit of the Jumeau forces, and General Colin's troops returned to Port au Prince.

Grand Circuit Races.

COLUMBUS, O., July 29.—The grand circuit meeting opened here yesterday with all conditions favorable for a successful week of trotting and pacing. The weather was warm and delightful until a hard storm blew up and drenched the track so thoroughly that the 2:09 pace, in which three heats had been decided, had to be post

SPORTING NEWS

ON THE DIAMOND.

Tomorrow afternoon on St. Mary's grounds at 2:30 o'clock the firemen will try conclusions with the star aggregation of police players. A hot contest may be expected as the firemen have gathered together a lively combination, principally call men. The battery for the fire fighters will be Edward Townley and Frank McCabe. For the arms of the law Fred Winn will do the twirling and Jack Conroy the catching.

Physical Director C. E. A. Heywood, of the Y. M. C A. is trying to arrange a game of baseball for next Friday against the police nine. Mr. Heywood's idea is to get together all the members of the Y. M. C. A., St Mary's and Hope teams who are enjoying their vacation in the city at present and form a scratch nine to go up against the policemen. The physical director will don a uniform and appear on the diamond.

Manager Johnston's Scotch Plains colts promise to redeem themselves Saturday afternoon for their defeat of two weeks ago by the Xavier Deaf Mutes, of New York. Whether they do or not the baseball public will have another chance not only to enjoy a good game but to see how the deaf mutes play the National game. Manager Johnston was fortunate in being able to book the Xavier's for a return game as they are a drawing card, but fortunately they had an open date for August 2, so the management closed it out. Ample accommodations will be made by the club to take care of the large crowd which will no doubt be present.

The Westfield's got away with their thirteenth straight Saturday, shutting out the Everett College team 7 to 0. The Everett nine was strong, presenting a formidable front with the Nafio brothers battery. Dietz, of Westfield kept the hits well scattered and was backed by phenomenal fielding. Next Saturday's game will be against the Watsessings, of Bloomfield, the only nine hereabouts that have laid out the Equitable Life this year.

Both sides are expecting victory in the long looked for battle on the diamond tomorrow afternoon between the local firemen and police. As planned game will be called at 3 o'clock on the St. Mary's grounds on West Fourth street. The police will line up as in the game with their Elizabeth comrades July 10. Winn occupying the box. Ed Townley will do the twirling for the fire laddies at the start, while Dan Force will act as relief if necessary.

Following are the two teams as announced:

Firemen.	Police.

In Serious Condition.

Complications may make a serious case of the illness of Robert Schneider, of Scotch Plains, who was taken to the hospital yesterday morning after having been overcome on Front street. It developed afterwards that apoplexy was the cause of the trouble, which has left him in a rather critical condition. Aided by the heat, the stroke has proven much more serious than at first supposed.

Death of Mrs. Vliet.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, July 29 — Mrs. Laura Vliet, wife of Walter Vliet, aged thirty-five, died this morning after a lingering illness. She leaves a husband and five children to mourn her loss. The eldest of the children is a son of sixteen.

Suit Over Tools.

Trouble over tools, alleged to have been appropriated unlawfully by Joseph Mettler, has led to a suit in tort being brought by Lewis C. Beekman in Justice Hand's court. The sum fixed is $200. Lawyers Swackhamer and Angleman represent plaintiff and defendant respectively.

Grows Exciting.

Freedom Castle, Knights of the Golden Eagle, holds its regular weekly meeting this evening. The quoit pitching contest will be resumed, and as the tournament is now drawing to a close, interesting matches are expected. Gold emblems are the prizes for the winners.

Caddy Recovered.

After a week at Muhlenberg Hospital John Caulfield, the young caddy who was hurt at the Hillside links July 21, was dismissed from the institution yesterday. He had suffered a bad cut in the leg from falling from the windmill at the clubhouse.

New Piers for Central.

The Central Railroad of New Jersey is to have three new piers, the city of New York having decided to rebuild piers 12, 13 and 14. They will, of course, be of modern type and built of steel. Their cost will be about $300,000.

To Pay Expenses.

In order to raise money to pay the expenses of the firemen to the parade and convention to Atlantic City, Warren Engine Company will hold a series of dances in Saengerbund Hall on each Thursday night in the month of August.

LESSER HAPPENINGS OF THE DAY TOLD IN PARAGRAPHS.

Then There Is Mention of Some of the Things That Are Yet to Come.

—Raymond McGee sang acceptably in the Crescent Avenue church choir on Sunday.

—The regular convent meeting of the First Baptist church will be held Friday evening.

—Thomas Kobb and family, of Linden avenue, have taken up their residonce on West Fifth street.

—A full and assorted line of fancy table plums—a rich and wholesome fruit—received daily at Neuman Bros.

—At the meeting of Somerset Council, No. 104, Jr. O. U. A. M., this evening, three new members will be initiated.

PERSONAL.

Miss Helen Robins, of Norwood avenue, is spending a month's vacation at Huntington, L. I.

Charles Ward, of Clinton avenue, who was injured in an automobile accident last week, has fully recovered.

Harry Blimm, of Somerset street, will go to Asbury Park next week to spend his annual vacation of two weeks.

Miss Sadie Browne has returned to her home in New York, after a visit with Miss Sadie Blimm, of Somerset street.

Morris Abrams, of West Front street, left today for a business trip to Boston, Mass. He will return home Friday.

Miss Mamie Geiser, of Bridgeport, Conn., and Mrs. I. Ward, of Newark, have returned home after a short stay with the latter's niece, Mrs. W. C. Bodine, of Jackson avenue.

Wm. G. Gray, of West Third street, after a two months' sojourn in Glasgow, Edinburgh and other points in Scotland, for the benefit of his health, has returned home considerably improved.

OLD COMBINATION.

Children and Matches Got Together and Fire Department Was Called.

Children and matches again made the disastrous combination resulting in the calling out of the fire department last evening to participate in the ceremonies of celebration at the tenement house at 838 South Second street, owned by Mrs. John Burk, of Park avenue. All the damage consisted of a burnt lace curtain, which was extinguished before the men arrived. The call was sent from box 83.

Died on Vacation.

On a summer vacation at Lancaster, Pa., Richard, the eighteen-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Atkins, of Brooklyn, was taken suddenly ill and died on Friday. The remains were brought to this city yesterday and a short service held at an undertaker's rooms by Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Ph. D. Interment was made in the North Plainfield cemetery, where the family has a plot.

Finger Thrice Fractured.

Unfortunate little Edith Haffner, the daughter of Frank Haffner, of Grove street, met with another accident yesterday. While handling the cover of a sewing machine, her hand was caught beneath the falling lid and one of the fingers was fractured in three places. Dr. Adams dressed the injury and the little girl is doing well.

Mother Always Keeps It Handy.

"My mother suffered a long time from distressing pains and general ill health due primarily to indigestion," says L. W. Spalding, Verona, Mo. "Two years ago I got her to try Kodol. She grew better at once and now, at the age of seventy-six, eats any thing she wants, remarking that she fears no bad effects as she has her bottle of Kodol handy." Don't waste time doctoring symptoms. Go after the cause. If your stomach is sound your health will be good. Kodol rests the stomach and strengthens the body by digesting your food. It is nature's own tonic. L. W. Randolph.

FLANAGAN IS THE NOMINEE

Democrats of Fifth District Named Him to Oppose Chas. N. Fowler for Congress.

WAS NO OPPOSCTION.

Convention Was Held at Washington, N. J., Yesterday, When C. DeWitt Flanagan Was Nominated Without a Dissenting Voice—Mr. Martine Among the Speakers.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Washington, July 30—Expectations were fulfilled at the Democratic Congressional convention at this place yesterday, as the name of DeWitt Clinton Flanagan, of Morristown, was the only one brought before the assemblage for the honor of nomination as opponent of Charles N. Fowler. Irving E. Salmon, son of the late Joshua Salmon, whose death led to Mr. Flanagan's receiving the unexpired term, made the nominating speech.

Delay on the part of the Union county delegates in reaching town kept the hour of opening the convention back until 12:30. No train over the Lackawanna could be found at Junction, and the delegates were finally forced to lease a milk train and complete the trip thereon. They then marched to the convention hall, led by a brass band, and by former Congressman John T. Dunn and Mayor Ryan, of Elizabeth. Union was out in force, full of enthusiasm and most hopeful as to the outlook in the county.

John L. Moody, of Westfield, Union county, was chosen chairman, and Wililam Allinger, of Warren county, was selected as secretary of the convention.

Among the vcie presidents Union county was honored by the selcetion of Hon. John T. Dunn, Mayor P. J. Ryan and James C. Connolly, of Elizabeth.

The Union county representatives in the convention's organization were as follows:

Committee on resolutions—James C. Connolly, Elizabeth; S. H. Cox, Cranford; Howard Bowie, Rahway.

Committee on credentials—John J. Lane, Summit; John M. C. Marsh, Westfield; Owen P. Mahon, Elizabeth.

Committee on permanent organization—P. J. Ryan, Elizabeth; James E. Martine, Plainfield; Fred W. Park, Cranford.

Committee on rules—Charles H. Moore, Elizabeth; M. M. Scudder, Westfield, George A. Ford, Elizabeth.

After the nomination had been made, speeches were made by the candidate, Senator Cornish, John T. Dunn and James E. Martine. The platform adopted by the convention reaffirmed allegiance to the true principles of Democracy, assailed the Republican policy with regard to the tariff and the trusts and blamed the administration for various faulty conditions.

ANOTHER LAND BOOM.

S. D. Drake Begins Operations at Pennington—Plans Many Things.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bound Brook, July 30—S. D. Drake has purchased forty acres of land at Pennington, for which he paid $9,000, and will have streets laid out. A fine driveway eighty feet wide opposite the station will be constructed and next spring a fine hotel built near the station. Numerous houses will be erected on the property this summer.

Mr. Drake addressed a large number of citizens of Pennington on the lawn of Enooh Knowles, opposite the station, and formed a land company, articles of incorporation of which were filed yesterday in the Secretary of State's office at Trenton.

DROWNED IN DELAWARE.

Somerville Man, An Inmate of State Asylum, Met Death by Accident.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, July 30—News reached this place yesterday of the drowning of John C. VanNess, of Somerville, an inmate of the State Insane Asylum at Trenton, in the Delaware river. In company of other patients VanNess was allowed to go out bathing on Monday. He got so far out that he was unable to cope with the current, which was stronger than usual, because of the recent heavy showers, and went down. He was a brother of Richard VanNess, an employe in the Somerville postoffice.

AFTER HORSE THIEVES.

Warren Township Offers Standing Reward of $300 for Arrest and Conviction of One.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, July 30—The farmers of Somerset county are up in arms because of the many horse thefts that have been committed during the past spring and winter. The Warren Township Committee has set the ball rolling by offering a standing reward of $300 for the arrest and conviction of any horse thief in its borders. This is a good example and it is believed other townships of the county will do likewise.

The farmers are determined to do away with horse thievry and the feeling is so instense about the matter at Martinsville that a horse stealer would be handled with "short justice" if caught there.

TOURING ON HORSEBACK

FOUR HUNDRED MILE RIDE FOR TWO PROMINENT ELIZABETH CITIZENS.

Former Governor F. M. Vooreees and Frank Bergen Start on Trip Tomorrow.

Two prominent citizens of Elizabeth, Former Governor Voorhees and Frank Bergen, will start tomorrow on a 400-mile horse-back ride through Sussex county, this State; Pike county, Pennsylvania, and up through the Catskills. They will be gone three weeks on their trip.

The ex-Governor said "Instead of going to the resorts and simpering and uttering idle nonsense to the women and appearing on dress parade half of the time, Frank and I propose to get some pure air and the exhilaration that comes from horse-back riding. We propose to depart from the beaten paths and get to the woods as soon as possible."

The former Governor is becoming quite a horseman. The clatter of his horse's hoofs can be heard on the asphalt pavement of North Broad street, Elizabeth, every morning long before the residents of that section of that city are awake.

Frank Bergen is president of the Union County Hunt Club, and an ex-Governor of the Union County Hounds.

James Morris, the colored horseman, will be their advance courier and started on his trip this morning.

PLAINFIELD SECOND.

In All-Round Athletic Contest Recently Held at Y. M. C. A. Camp at Lake Wawayanda.

Interesting reports come from the Y. M. C. A. boy's camp at Lake Wawayanda. The afternoons by the lakeside have been given over principally to athletic contests.

A prize of a silver cup was recently offered to be held for one year by the association whose members would make the best showing in a given schedule of events. The Orange association has secured the trophy for the coming year, with the Plainfield boys a close second, and Trenton, Newark, Hudson City and Rahway following in the order named.

The time at the camp is spent in fishing, swimming, baseball, quoits, croquet, ping-pong, tether-ball and various diversions suggested by the leaders help to make the days pass happily, and in their pursuit the campus is a lively and at times, an uproarious place.

Off for Northfield.

A small party of Plainfielders will leave here next Monday to spend a vacation at the Northfield camp. Herbert S. Brokaw and Frederick A. Cranston have recently returned from that place and speak in glowing terms of the facilities offered for the spending of a pleasant and beneficial outing. Any who desire to join the party leaving here Monday may obtain further information relative to the trip by applying to J. H. Manning, secretary Y. M. C. A.

Prizes for Plainfield Horses.

Favorable recognition in this section has been obtained by E. W. Blaisdell, whose stables are now located at the Plainfield Driving Park. Within the past few weeks, his saddle mounts have taken three prizes at horse shows, a first and a second at Long Branch and a second at Atlantic City. Mr. Blaisdell is a Kentuckian and his horses are of the famous blue grass stock.

Fancy Dress Ball.

A fancy dress ball will be given August 9 at the Hotel Netherwood. Already preparations are being made for the event, and the affair will probably be the most gala function yet seen at the Netherwood.

WHAT IS BEING DONE AT FRESH AIR HOME

A Happy Family Living on the Hill Top, Netherwood.

A WELL-EQUIPPED HOME

WITH SPACIOUS GROUNDS, WHERE THE CHILDREN ROMP AND PLAY.

Miss Sara Curry, and Her Band of Assistants, Making Life Pleasant for Tots From the Metropolis—Many Interesting Children.

A noble work of sacrifice and devotion is that being conducted at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home by Miss Sara Curry, of the Little Missionary's Day Nursery, of New York, and her faithful band of mothers from New York. A representative from The Daily Press visited the Home recently and was accorded a most hearty reception by Miss Curry and her charges to the number of nearly one hundred children ranging in age from two years up. It is indeed a happy family that is living on the hilltop in a home well equipped and provided for just such use to which it is being put.

Large and spacious grounds surround the Home, where the children romp and play at will unmolested and without a care or thought. There are swings and hammocks about the grounds where the little ones can find pleasure and they are never lost for something to occupy their hours from early morning till time to go to bed at night.

While the children were playing about the grounds, Miss Curry kindly accompanied the reporter through the Home, where the little ones and the mothers actually live. The house is especially well adapted for this work. There is plenty of room from the kitchen to the garret, where on stormy days the children can play. And throughout the entire Home every room is as clean and inviting as it is possible to make it. On the first floor there is a large room, which is used for sleeping purposes. Here are a number of white enameled cribs, where thirty-five tots sleep every night. The room is bright, airy and cheerful.

This is a front room and right back of it is a dining room, where as many as possible are fed at meal-time. Back of the dining room is the kitchen, a large and well-appointed room, provided with a range and every convenience. Just off the kitchen is a good-sized bath-room, provided with two bath-tubs and plenty of water for keeping the children clean. Back of the kitchen is an extra room which is used for washing clothes. When the weather is favorable the ironing is done out-of-doors.

On the second floor of the Home are a number of rooms, all provided with cots, and beds for the older members of the large family. The older girls are taught every branch of housekeeping from beginning to end, and it is their duty to keep the Home clean and make the beds. The mothers also help a great deal in this work. The influence of this work cannot be estimated too highly. It reaches to the homes of the children and mothers in New York, where they put into practice that which is taught them by Miss Curry.

The children have been at the Home scarcely a month, but the changed physical condition of every one is noticeable. They seem to thrive greatly on fresh country air and the good wholesome food given them. The people of Plainfield have been very good to the Home in sending vegetables, money, and other necessaries there. Miss Curry and her workers thoroughly appreciate all that is being done to make life happy and bright. To get an idea of this work one should visit the Home and see for himself the multifarious duties to be performed every day and with what regularity they are carried out.

The benefit being derived by the children now will be the means in some cases of saving lives, for the visiting physician to the Home has said if some of the children had been compelled to stay in New York they would not have lived during the summer. When this is realized it is a source of comfort and pleasure to those interested in the work that they have been able to do so much. Miss Curry is always glad to see visitors and any assistance rendered is deeply appreciated.

There are many interesting children at the Home and to watch them in their daily life is well worth a trip to the scene of so much activity. Within a short time Miss Curry will select about forty children who will be taken back to New York. Then forty other children will be brought to the Home.

MANY GUESTS ON THE HILL

LAST WEEK SAW ANOTHER LARGE INCREASE IN NUMBER.

Hotel Netherwood Still Continues to be a Favorite Resort—Driving is Very Popular.

Last week saw another large increase in the number of guests at the Hotel Netherwood. This famous resort has never known a gayer or more prosperous season. The residents at the hotel may be seen daily on the beautiful drives in and around Plainfield. Driving is one of their most popular amusements. Golf and tennis continue to afford constant diversion.

Daily arrivals at the hostelry always add new life to the place, and, as was evinced by the general interest taken in the benefit euchre for the fresh air camp last week, the guests are ever ready to seize upon a new project, spend money freely, and push it to a successful conclusion with pleasure and enthusiasm.

Among those who registered at the hotel last week were: Everett H. Thayer, L. H. Wilson, Jacob Thorn, New York; Mrs. E. G. Calbarnay, Wyoming; Mrs. Jeffreys, Miss Jeffreys, Newark; F. G. Moore and Mrs. Moore, Plainfield; Charles G. Seymour, Brooklyn; Mrs. A. E. Lutkins, Miss Lutkins, Brooklyn; V. W. Tyler, New York; Mrs. F. A. Perozo, Misses Marie and Matilda Perozo, Brooklyn; Mr. and Mrs. Max Levy, child and nurse, New York; F. H. Pierson, New York; L. Kramer, Alfred Kramer, New Orleans; Mrs. K. Kelley, Brooklyn; Mrs. M. Hanna, Bloomfield; Mr. M. Gernurst, New York; Mrs. N. W. Kerr, Miss Emma Droll, Plainfield; G. Grignard, president of the American Lithographic Company, and family, New York; A. Andrews, New York; C. L. Kilborne, Orange; H. H. Reinhart, Orange; A. Stiffel, Philadelphia; Edward J. Hirsh, Brooklyn; J. Howe, New Haven; Mrs. May Spencer Austin, New Haven; C. L. Harrison, New York; William Thomas, Elizabeth.

PUT HIM OUT.

Neil Spillaine Had Serious Encounter With Live Wire Under a Trolley Car.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bound Brook, July 30—Neil Spillaine, an employe at the car house of the Middlesex and Somerset Traction Company at this place, received an electric shock Monday which put him out of business for awhile and nearly ended his career.

Spillaine was doing some work underneath a car, when his foot came in contact with a line wire and knocked him almost senseless. He managed to roll out and then had a spasm, in which he hit his head against a car and cut in.

Dr. Wild was telephoned for and came and applied restoratives, after which he took Spillaine home in his carriage. The injured man was once an employe of the Plainfield Street Railway.

PLAINFIELDER WILL PRESIDE.

Frederic H. Andrews to Conduct a Conference at Lake George.

Frederic H. Andrews, of this city, will preside at a conference at the Silver Bay Hotel, Lake George, to be held from August 5 to 15. Three different conferences have already been held at that place since the season opened with a total attendance of over 1,000. A number of Plainfielders will leave next week to spend their vacations at the hotel, which offers special inducements to members of the Y. M. C. A and their families.

In addition to the conferences, the modes of recreation by the lake side are various. Mountain tramping, bathing, boating, tennis on several courts, basket ball, baseball, and field sports are among the inducements. Several who have returned after spending a pleasant outing at the hotel report that the accommodation is first-class in every particular at a mere nominal price.

Franklin Council's Excursion.

When you go to the seashore you want to be sure and go in good company. This you will do if you are numbered among the members of Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., who will run an excursion to Asbury Park, August 14, American Day. They do not leave the shore until 9 o'clock in the evening, thus giving everybody lots of time.

Where to Leave Them.

Any person or persons having articles of any kind for the Netherwood Fresh Air Home can leave them at the home of the treasurer, J. W. Johnson, 207 LaGrande avenue, and they will be taken from there to the Home.

HAPPENINGS OF WEEK AT THE TWIN CITIES

Most Eyes Were Turned to Neighboring Resorts on Account of Important Events.

CROWD STILL GROWS.

FISHING HAS BEEN EXCEPTIONALLY GOOD AND MANY GOOD CATCHES.

Asbury Park Folk Caught But a Fleeting Glimpse of President as He Went by in Train—Dances, Entertainments and Ping-Pong.

(By a Special Correspondent.)

Asbury Park, July 30—The visitors at this resort have had their eyes turned out of town pretty much all of last week. Wednesday there was a sensation of no small proportions, occasioned by Judge Forts raid on the Long Branch clubhouses, even though it had been expected. In spite of Asbury Park's good reputation, there are not a few of her summer residents who know something of the inside of Long Branch's gilded palaces. Hence the interest.

Thursday many went out to Deal Lake to watch the Presidential party go through, en route for Sea Girt. Arrangements had been made to have the train slow down while crossing the Deal bridge and pulling through the Interlaken station. Mr. Roosevelt from the platform smiled and bowed to the crowds. There were smaller crowds at the North Asbury and Asbury Park stations, but the train had gotten up speed by the time it reached them, and the watchers got only a fleeting glimpse of the President. There were many visitors from here at Sea Girt while the President inspected the Guardsmen.

Thursday also saw the exodus of many summer guests to Long Branch to witness the opening of the Horse Show Equally large crowds witnessed the show Friday and Saturday.

K. Morris's Hotel at West Avon was completely destroyed by fire Monday. The loss above insurance was about $3,000. This was the first serious fire of the season along this section of the coast.

C. H. Koster, a guest at the Gramercy, who is connected with a New York decorating company, is having the Baby Parade headquarters decorated at his own expense. The decorations are in part the same that were used at the second inaugural ball of President McKinley at Washington.

The water was around seventy last week, and the bathing was the best, so far, of the season. Bathers have commented upon the fact that the water is cleaner than it has been in several years, very little refuse of any kind being noticeable.

The largest ostrich at the farm on Main street, known as Grover Cleveland, has developed a vicious temper, and is kept under restraint. Manager Bierach narrowly escaped a few days ago, when the bird turned on him.

Fishing was unusually good here last week, due principally to an unlooked-for run of weakfish, which have kept the anglers busy. Joseph Cawthorn, the actor and his wife, usually known as Queenie Vassar, have been among the most fortunate fishers.

The Carnival Association has secured the windows of the Waterman Pen Company, at Broadway and Courtlandt streets, New York city, in which to display the prizes for the baby parade. On the evening preceding the parade a reception will be held in honor of the queen of the fete at the Coleman House.

Daniel De B. Keim, a local fisherman, made the biggest catch of the season last week, when he hooked a twenty-two pound bass off the Deal Lake flume.

The Asbury Park Council has declined to back up Mayor Bradley's order compelling stands of all kinds to keep off the sidewalks. A crusade begun against slot machines precipitated the question, and an ordinance was introduced according to the Mayor's idea, but was rejected. The bootblacks will probably return to the sidewalks.

The social round continues as lively as ever and the regular weekly dances were all well attended. Ping-pong also rules at many hostelries, while cards are always in high favor. Looking into the future, the Coleman House has arranged a Japanese fete for Tuesday evening, August 12. The other hotels are also casting about for novel entertainments next month, when the largest crowds of the season are expected.

DATE CHANGED.

Members of Company K Will Go to Sea Girt for Rifle Practice, Monday, Aug. 4, Instead of Aug. 5.

The date set apart for rifle practice at Sea Girt has been changed from Tuesday, August 5 to Monday, August 4. All members of the militia are required to be on hand on that date. The following notice has been issued by Captain Browning:

Pursuant to general order, No. 18, dated Trenton, N. J., July 28, 1902, you are hereby ordered to report for practice at Sea Girt on Monday, August 4, 1902. Field uniform. By order of Colonel Collins.

W. K. Browning,
Captain, commanding company.
Official,
Charles A. Peterson, First Sergeant.

The first call at the armory will be at 7:50 o'clock, and assemlby at 7:55.

POWER ASKED TO EXPLAIN

GOVERNOR KIMBALL, OF RHODE ISLAND, SAYS HE WAS FLEECED.

Complains That Plainfielder Was the Promoter of a Gigantic Paper Scheme to Whom He Paid $2,000.

Rhode Island's Governor, Charles B. Kimball, says he has been fleeced of $2,000 and he blames a Plainfielder of the alleged crime. The latter is Andrew F. Power, who came to this city in the fall of 1899 and has since been living at 518 Belvidere avenue. A summons was issued for him yesterday, but he has not been apprehended.

Governor Kimball states that Power was the declared promoter of a gigantic paper scheme, in which the Governors of all the States in the Union were to be interested. Willing to join the high class corporation, Rhode Island's chief executive says that he gave Power his check for $2,000, for some purpose not disclosed. Afterwards, he says that he became tired of waiting, and yesterday he came to New York and made a complaint before Magistrate Deule in the Centre street Police Court.

Urgent appeal was made by the Governor's lawyer, who wanted a warrant for Power. The magistrate refused to grant this, consenting only to issue a summons, returnable on August 6. His point was that a financial transaction often appeared wrong at first sight, but ultimately is shown legitimate.

BAGGED A BEAR.

Elmer Cutting, of Plainfield, is the Nimrod of the White Mountains, New Hampshire.

Honors as a hunter have come to Elmer Cutting, who is spending a vacation in the White Mountains in New Hampshire. Big game recently fell to the lot of the Plainfielder in the shape of a huge cinnamon bear, which was bagged during a mountain ramble one day last week. One sure shot did the business, and Mr. Cutting had made a reputation for himself in and around the little village of Lime Centre, where he has been sojourning.

Quick wit was responsible for bagging the bear and probably for preventing serious injury to the hunter. Wholly unprepared for any such large game, he was trudging through the brush with his musket over his shoulder, when the bear suddenly emerged from the bushes directly in his path. Before bruin had a chance to attack him, Cutting had raised his gun and snapped the trigger. The animal dropped in his tracks, and later investigation revealed the fact that the shot had pierced the heart.

PAINTERS' CENTENNIAL.

Banquet Was Given in Honor of the Occasion Last Evening.

Members of the local branch of the Brotherhood of Painters and Decorators celebrated in honor of their centennial meeting last evening. Fifty or more sat down to a course dinner in a bower arranged for the occasion in the rear of Blimm's Hotel on Somerset street. Frank Coriell made the opening speech, dwelling on the benefits of unionism. Short addresses were by R. A. Zimmerman, of Elizabeth, Chas. Conover and Newton Wyckoff. Paul Breem, who was master of ceremonies during the evening, entertained the board with a recitation. The grounds were brilliantly lighted with incandescent lights, fittted up especially for the event.

Arrested on State Warrant.

On a State warrant this time, Alphonso Bambano has been arrested, criminally charged by a young Italian girl of the East End. Justice came so slowly through the civil prosecution in the hands of the overseer of the poor that the girl took further steps and brought the heavier charges against him.

M'CARDELL IS OUT OF RACE

He Announced This Morning His Withdrawal From the Shrievalty Race.

OUT FOR JUDGE RUNYON

Has Decided to Retire From Race on Account of Business Reasons and So As Not to Conflict With the Candidacy of City Judge Runyon for State Senator.

After his announcement of last week, Andrew McCardell's withdrawal from the field for the candidacy of Sheriff of Union county will prove somewhat of a surprise to those who had accepted the statement as final that he was still desirous for the nomination. Careful thought on the matter has led to Mr. McCardell's changing his mind.

His present opinions are embodied in the following communication:

Plainfield, N. J., July 29, 1902.
To the Editor of The Daily Press:—

Dear Sir: In order that there may be no further doubt on the subject, I desire to make public announcement of the fact that I am not a candidate for sheriff of Union county, nor will I permit my name to be considered longer in that connection.

In the first place my acceptance of the office in question would, I fear, materially and permanently interfere with my private business interests, and that of itself is sufficient cause to compel me to withdraw as a candidate for the shrievalty.

In the second place, my loyalty to the best interests of the Republican party in Plainfield, as I conceive them to be, impels me to the conclusion that the field should be left entirely open to Judge Runyon in his candidacy for the State Senate. I believe that the party can unite upon him as upon no other man, and it shall henceforth be my pleasure to do all in my power to further his interests.

To all my friends, both in Plainfield and throughout Union county, who have so kindly desired me to stand as a candidate, I tender my sincere thanks, but desire them to know that my determination to withdraw is final and conclusive.

Yours truly,
Andrew McCardell.

TOO MUCH NOISE.

Residents of Millstone Didn't Like It, So the Constable Gathered in the Wilsons.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, July 30—Constable Totten went to Millstone yesterday and brought back with him a whole drove of colored folks, whom he lodged in the county jail. The band comprised the Wilson family—Rachael, Mary, Charles, William and Mrs. Beulah, also Charles Havey.

For several days these people had been on a drunk and their cries and scrapping had so disturbed the neighborhood that leading citizens of the place made complaint.

When arraigned before Justice Sutphen the prisoners all declared they had "done nothin," but the 'Squire could not see it in that light. He sent the five Wilsons to jail for thirty days each and fined Havey $5. He paid and hied himself back to Millstone.

The same lot has been in jail before on the charge of keeping a disorderly house.

RAISE THE TRACKS.

Talk of Abolishing Grade Crossings by Jersey Central at Westfield.

There is good reason to believe that within a reasonable time the grade crossings on the New Jersey Central at Westfield will be abolished. Last week General Manager W. G. Besler, of the railroad company, had a conference with J. A. Dennis, a member of the Westfield Town Committee, regarding the elevation, and it is believed that the company will plan to raise the tracks through that town. The advantage of such an improvement is recognized by Mr. Besler as well as the people of Westfield.

SUMMER TOUR TO THE NORTH.

Vacation Trip to Canada via Pennsylvania Railroad.

The Pennsylvania Railroad personally-conducted tour to Northern New York and Canada, leaving August 13, covers many prominent points of interest to the summer tourist—Niagara Falls, Thousand Islands, Rapids of the St. Lawrence, Quebec, The Saguenay, Montreal, Au Sable Chasm, Lakes Champlain and George, and Saratoga. The tour covers a period of fifteen days; round-trip rate, $125.

The party will be in charge of one of the company's tourist agents, assisted by an experienced lady as chaperon, whose special charge will be unescorted ladies.

The rate covers railway and boat fare for the entire round trip, parlor-car seats, meals en route, hotel entertainment, transfer charges, and carriage hire.

For detailed itinerary, tickets, or any additional information, apply to ticket agents, tourist agent, 1196 Broadway, New York; or address Geo. W. Boyd, assistant general passenger agent, Broad Street station, Philadelphia. 7 23 2 w

PREPARING PENSION PLANS.

Reading's System Will Not be Operative for Some Months.

Some months will probably elapse before the pension plan authorized on May 21 by President Baer and the directors of the Reading Railway will become operative. Officials of the company are now engaged in preparing the records of the different employes who will be affected by the plan.

The pension plan authorized by President Baer about January 1, and which embraced in its provisions only those employes who had been in continuous service for fifty years, and who wished to retire, will be merged with the system now under consideration. At present there are only about thirty-two such employes upon the pension rolls. Under the provisions of that plan the pensioners receive 50 per cent. of the wages received upon retiring, with a minimum of $30 per month.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

Of remarkable memory is Rev. George B. Shaw, the pastor of the local Seventh-Day Baptist church. It is related of him that his Scripture reading is almost always a matter of recitation, as his knowledge of the book is such that he scarcely needs to refer to the printed page when reading. He recently astonished the congregation in another local church by repeating some fifty verses without looking at the text.

Senator Chas. A. Reed furnishes the material for another "memory" story of President Roosevelt. The scene was on the train after the visit to the State militia camp at Sea Girt last Thursday. After the introduction had been performed, Mr. Roosevelt said, "Reed? Reed? Surely I sat beside you once at law school?" The Senator affirmed the suggestion, and now tells how, in the alphabetical seating at Columbia Law School a number of years ago, the two R's, Roosevelt and Reed, were placed side by side.

A victim of a bad spell, employed in a New York business house was requested one day to write a note to a bank for a sum of money in small bills, to which note he appended the explanation: "We nead them for our pay roll." The employer, looking over the note, exclaimed angrily "who wrote this letter?"

Before he could receive a reply he was called away and the offending clerk exclaimed hurriedly to a com rade, "I thought that didn't look quite right. Give it to me, quick, and let me put a k before the nead!"

John VanMiddlesworth, of West Front street, was one of the Painfielders who was bent on seeing President Roosevelt last Thursday at Sea Girt. At noon on that day he suddenly took a notion to make the effort and he caught a train to the seashore place. His hopes were high of seeing the chief executive, but it remained for him to be disappointed. He reached Sea Girt on time, but upon his arrival he was informed that the President had left the place only fifteen minutes before. Notwithstanding his disappointment, Mr. VanMiddlesworth had a pleasant afternoon visiting the Plainfield boys in camp.

Adjutant General Oliphant states that the handsome silver service for the battleship New Jersey is as yet all on paper. While the last Legislature authorized its purchased, the Joint Appropriation Committee forgot to make provisions for the expenditure of $10,000 for its purchase. Fortunately this omission will cause no embarrassment because the next Legislature can provide the money and the set be made in time to have it ready for the battleship's first cruise. There is no objection whatever to the expenditure of that amount of money for the silver ser vice, and the fact that the money was not provided was merely an omission of the joint committee, which had so much to do that many items were omitted. New Jersey is to be well represented at the launching, but the date of the event is not known.

The position of the New Jersey Central regarding the issuance of trip tickets is well illustrated by a recent incident in which a well-known Plainfield person happens to figure. This party purchased a fifty-trip ticket and only used four round trips when it was lost in some way. The matter was reported to the railroad officials who were asked to make efforts to stop its being used if found by some other person. The company was very courteous about the matter, but the party was informed that according to legal advice given by the company's counsel it was powerless to do anything in the matter, and that if an attempt was made to take up the ticket the company might become liable if the party holding it wanted to make any trouble.

This is an opinion held by many persons ever since the company changed the method of issuing trip tickets. Under the present rule the ticket can be used by the person to whom it is made out, a servant, or a visitor in the family. It is very difficult to draw a line on these different classes and for that reason many have believed that the tickets can be used by any holding them. The admission by the company that they cannot take them up under the circumstances stated shows that the rule made by the old management is one that will not hold good. The company did, however, notify its conductors to be on the lookout for the lost ticket and it is possible that it may be found sooner or later.

STRIKERS USE ROCKS

Resumption of Work at Mines Rrevented by Mobs.

NONUNION MEN ROUGHLY TREATED.

President Mitchell to Do Some Talking—The Relief Plan Satisfactory. Only Most Destitute Cases Have Received Aid.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., July 30.—President Mitchell will start this week to fill engagements he has to deliver addresses before United Mine Workers' assemblies in different parts of the anthracite region.

A crowd of 1,500 men and boys prevented the resumption of work at the Wanke washery at Duryea yesterday morning. A number of men came down from Scranton to work at the washery. They were at once surrounded by a threatening crowd. The burgess was appealed to to protect the men who wanted to work, but he thought he would not be able to do it, and he telephoned to Sheriff Jacobs. The sheriff sent four deputies to the scene, but when they arrived the mob had dispersed. The men who had been hired to work at the washery were badly frightened, and when the train for Scranton came along they jumped aboard and returned to that place. A volley of stones followed them. The operator of the washery says he will not make another attempt to resume operations.

Seven striking miners from Nanticoke have been arraigned before Magistrate Brown of this city, charged with committing an assault on William Young, an engineer employed at one of the collieries of the Susquehanna Coal company. While on his way to work Young claimed he was held up and that two of the defendants threw stones at him, one of the stones striking him on the head and inflicting a deep cut. The strikers were held in bail for trial at court.

National Board Member John Fallon reports that the strikers are satisfied with the relief plan as carried out in the Wyoming region. The first installment of the relief fund was not large, and succor could be given only in the most destitute cases.

Nonunion Men Mobbed.

MOUNT CARMEL, Pa., July 30.—Two crowds of strikers, numbering about 3,000 men, women and children, collected at all the Reading and Union company operations between here and Shamokin last evening and hurled stones and sticks at the nonunion men. Six of the latter were captured by the mob near Richards' colliery and were badly pummeled. On promising to remain away from the colliery until the strike ends they were liberated. Several scores of nonunion men remained at a couple of the mines last night, afraid to face the strikers who are picketed along roads leading into town.

Workmen Cursed and Stoned.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., July 30.—One thousand men, women and children assembled at the mineral company's Cameron colliery last evening and hooted and cursed the nonunion men as they quit work. A large crowd of boys stoned several sub-bosses as they entered town. Chief Burgess Thomas and the police charged the crowd and put them to flight. The coal company officials say they will ask for troops tomorrow if there is a continuance of the attempts to annoy the workmen.

Torrent From Broken Water Main.

NEW YORK, July 30.—Thousands of gallons gushed from a broken twelve inch water main in the subway excavations at Lafayette and Astor places last evening and flooded the cellars of several large buildings opposite the break in Lafayette place. It was more than an hour before the water was turned off. In that time $30,000 damage had been done in the seven story building at 53, 55 and 57 Lafayette place. The greater part of the loss was suffered by the printing establishment of Little & Co.

Large Shipment of Gold.

NEW YORK, July 30.—More than $3,000,000 in gold went out of the country on the steamship Kronprinz Wilhelm, the gold bars being packed in seventy-four kegs. In the kegs was a quantity of sawdust, put there to prevent any loss of weight by the bars rubbing against each other. A lot of longshoremen carried the kegs on board, some of them swearing under their breath over the heaviness of "these kegs of nails."

Roosevelt Offers Prize.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 30.—President Roosevelt has offered a prize of $25 in gold to be contested for by the gun crews on the yacht Mayflower at the target practice to be held in Gardiner's bay. Mr. Roosevelt may be aboard the Mayflower when the contest takes place. If he should desire to witness the event, the ship will return to Oyster Bay for him and bring him back at its conclusion.

Bishop Potter In Copenhagen.

COPENHAGEN, July 30.—The Right Rev. Henry C. Potter, Protestant Episcopal bishop of New York, accompanied by his daughter, has arrived here and has visited local places of interest, especially charitable institutions. The bishop probably will be received in audience by King Christian.

A Hundred Thousand to Charity.

NEWARK, N. J., July 30.—The will of Cyrus O. Baker has been probated. Mr. Baker, who was a stockbroker of New York city and who died July 4, left an estate estimated at $1,000,000. The will bequeaths $102,000 to local charitable institutions.

TIDAL WAVE'S HAVOC

Ten Drowned and Six Ships Wrecked In California Gulf.

RESULT OF EARTHQUAKE SHOCK.

Reports From Nebraska Show the Seismic Disturbance to Have Been More General Than at First Told.

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., July 30.—Ten persons were drowned and six ships are wrecks in the gulf of California as the result of the tidal wave following the earthquake.

At Mazatlan the Pomery Ruby, a large passenger steamship, was driven ashore and sunk. Ten passengers were drowned, and the rest managed to reach shore on wreckage after being hours in the water.

At Guaymas five vessels in the bay were driven ashore and sunk. Two of them, El Gravina and El Principa, were large steamships engaged in coastwise trade.

The actual damage in Santa Barbara was slight, but citizens are in a highly nervous state, fearing a recurrence of the shocks.

The Shakeup In Nebraska.

OMAHA, Neb., July 30.—Reports continue to come in from Nebraska towns which were visited by the earthquake. At Carroll, Neb., only one shock was felt, lasting thirty seconds. Rumbling like that of a heavy freight train continued during the entire time. At Elgin three shocks were felt, each lasting fifteen seconds, during a space of ten minutes. At Battle Creek two shocks were experienced, and they caused consternation. Persons ran from the town into the country surrounding. Battle Creek reports that some damage was created at Tilden, O'Neill, Petersburg and Oakdale, but this report has not yet been substantiated. On the Omaha and Winnebago Indian agencies a celebration and dance were in progress. Half an hour after the first shock not an Indian could be found near the festival ground. The celebration was broken up. Dispatches from various points in South Dakota in the vicinity of Yankton report similar disturbances. The shocks were heaviest throughout the Elkhorn River valley and covered a territory more than 100 miles square.

Options on Illinois Coal Lands.

LITCHFIELD, Ill., July 30.—In the northern part of Montgomery and Macoupin counties A. G. Simpson of New York, representing an eastern syndicate with a capital of $1,500,000, has secured options until Oct. 1 next on the coal under 25,000 acres of land in one body and is attempting to secure about 5,000 more. A prospect hole is being bored just west of Waggoner, on the county line. Another will be bored in the vicinity of McVey and still another on the Gilman land north of Waggoner. The supposition is that the deal is backed by the Burlington road, and a spur track will be extended east from McVey and through the center of the coalfields just secured. The options are at the rate of $17.50 an acre.

Death For Mores' Assassins.

TUNIS, July 30.—The trial of the assassins of the Marquis de Mores at Susa, near here, has resulted in the condemning to death of El Kheir and the sentencing of Hamma Chiekh to twenty years' imprisonment. Seventeen others accused of the assassination of the Marquis de Mores were sentenced in default, six to be put to death and eleven at hard labor. The Marquis de Mores was killed near Gabes in June, 1896, by a number of bandits. El Kheir and Hamma Cheikh were the only ones of his assailants captured. His widow, who was Marie Von Hoffman, daughter of L. Von Hoffman of New York, offered a reward of $1,000 for the arrest of the principal assassin.

One Taken; Three Left.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., July 30.—Louis Oschenbach of Dorset, on the Lizard creek branch of the Lehigh Valley railroad, was killed by lightning last evening. He was a railway repair man, and with four other repair men sat in the West Penn station while the storm was raging. They sat on a bench, with Oschenbach in the middle. His shoes were torn from his feet and his body was turned black by the bolt of lightning. His companions escaped injury. Oschenbach was thirty-two years of age and married.

The Texas Floods.

DALLAS, Tex., July 30.—Trouble from the floods has shifted from the extreme west to more southern portions of the state. Reports from Hearnes and Calvert, on the Houston and Texas railroad, show that more heavy rains have fallen, and the conditions are becoming more serious hourly. The town of Bosque, just west of Waco, is surrounded by water. No loss of life is reported. The conditions west of the Texas and Pacific are improving.

The Typewriter Industry.

WASHINGTON, July 30.—According to a bulletin issued by the census bureau, there are forty-seven establishments in the United States at which typewriters and typewriting supplies are manufactured. The capital employed in the business amounts to $8,400,431. The value of the products is returned at $6,932,209.

Place For Vanderbilt's Son-in-Law.

LIVERPOOL, July 30.—The Post states that the Duke of Marlborough is about to be appointed to an office great in social if not political character. If he is not made lord lieutenant of Ireland, the Post says, he will get the governor generalship of Australia.

PAPAL APPOINTMENTS.

Cardinal Gotti Named For Most Important Place.

ROME, July 30.—Cardinal Gotti, prefect of the Sacred Congregation of Bishops and Regulars and of Regular Discipline, has been appointed by Pope Leo prefect of the propaganda to succeed the late Cardinal Ledochowski. Cardinal Agliardi was appointed prefect of the Economy of the Congregation of the Propaganda in place of Cardinal Vincent Vannutelli.

Cardinal Vannutelli will replace Cardinal Gotti as prefect of the Sacred Congregation of Bishops and Regulars and of Regular Discipline.

The selection of Cardinal Gotti to succeed the late Cardinal Ledochowski in the most important post in the gift of the pope is universally regarded as indicating the pontiff's personal wishes as to the personality of his successor. Cardinal Gotti has long been considered the most likely of the cardinals for succession to the papal throne.

Rembrandt Found.

BOSTON, July 30.—In the course of housecleaning the Museum of Fine Arts found upon the walls of its picture gallery three genuine Rembrandts instead of two. The new one has for a long time been ascribed to Rembrandt, but the authority was very doubtful, and many experts have disputed its genuineness. It is "The Shower of Gold," from the story of Danae, and was loaned to the museum first by Francis Brooks and since his death by his estate. An artist while cleaning "The Shower of Gold" found in the lower left hand corner the signature, "Rembrandt—1652."

Boer Generals at a Wedding.

CAPE TOWN, July 30.—The hero worship of the Boer commanders was strikingly illustrated at the marriage of General Delarey's daughter to his secretary, Ferreira, at the Dutch Reformed church. The approaches to the edifice were packed, and the congregation cheered Generals Botha, De Wet and Delarey as they entered the church. De Wet was carried from the church on the shoulders of his more enthusiastic admirers. When the bridal party appeared, the congregation arose and cheered until the minister threatened to stop the ceremony or clear the church.

Goddard Cannot Live.

CAMDEN, N. J., July 30.—The condition of Joe Goddard, the Philadelphia pugilist, who was shot during the Republican primary elections, is reported by the physicians at Cooper hospital as critical, and there is little hope of his recovery. Harry Miller, a local policeman, who was stabbed in the abdomen, is doing well and will probably recover. Isaac Fowler, a constable, who was stabbed at Pensauken, near Merchantville, was not seriously hurt. The body of John Morrisey of Philadelphia, who was shot and killed, is still at the morgue.

Unprecedented Rainfall.

ITHACA, N. Y., July 30.—Director A. G. Allen of the Cornell branch of the United States weather bureau announces the rainfall here thus far in the present month has reached the remarkable figures of 6.07 inches, an increase of 60 per cent over the average for June, which was 3.76 inches. The total for the first twenty-eight days of the present month is, with one exception, larger than that for the entire month during the past twenty years.

Pillsbury Makes Bad Start.

HANOVER, July 30.—Pillsbury has made a bad start in the international tournament. At the end of the sixth round he stood ninth, having won two and a half games. Monday Pillsbury played twenty-one simultaneous games with second class players while blindfolded. He won three, drew eleven and lost seven.

Arrested In Denver.

DENVER, July 30.—Charles Green, alias Charles Thomas, seventeen years of age, wanted at Buffalo on the charge of having participated in the murder of Austin J. Crowe on June 28, has been arrested here. Green admitted his identity, but asserts his innocence.

Italian King to Visit Kaiser.

ROME, July 30.—King Victor Emmanuel, accompanied by Signor Prinetti, the minister of foreign affairs, will start for Berlin Aug. 22 to visit Emperor William.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

Opportunities for Money Saving Grow Greater

We have made the month of July a period of splendid economic purchasing of the most desirable seasonable merchandise. The values presented have been meritorious and the price cuts commensurate with our invariable policy. But we have determined that the remainder of the month shall record extraordinary retailing of a nature to add fresh laurels to those already won. To that end we have inaugurated a sale of that permit of the most liberal money saving features that have ever been augmented by any establishment in the State. The Prices Attached are for This Sale Only. Your Interest Will be Doubly Quickened by Prompt Action.

THE SAMPLES represent the newest styles for the coming season's selling. They are advance patterns of innovations for Fall, and the lines now on our floors are exact patterns of what you will buy later, but not at sample sale prices. We sell as we buy, the saving accruing to our patrons.

THE DISCONTINUED STYLES are desirable in every sense. They portray patterns that have been carried in regular stock, the manufacture of which, however, has been discontinued.

RECEIVER DEMANDED.

Stockholder Says New York Lithographic Company Is Insolvent.

ALBANY, July 30.—Benjamin Hilton of East Orange, N. J., has applied to Attorney General Davis to bring an action for the dissolution of the American Lithographic company of New York city and for the appointment of a receiver for the concern.

Hilton is a stock and bond holder in the company, and he alleges that it is insolvent and has been for at least eighteen months and that its assets have been wasted by a profligate management. The company has a capital of $3,783,000, and Hilton says much money has been wasted in experimenting. The petition alleges that the company lost $194,914 in 1900 and $155,789 in 1901 in the publication of the magazine Truth and that another large loss was sustained in the publication of the newspaper the Recorder. President Joseph P. Knapp, it is stated, receives a salary of $22,500 a year and Treasurer Davis Ettlinger a salary of $15,000. The petition says the company's assets are $3,0[illegible]39 and the liabilities $3,674,182, leaving a deficit of $580,842.

Wilder & Anderson appeared at the hearing as attorneys for Hilton, and Louis Marshall appeared for the company in opposition. The company in its answer makes a general denial of all of Hilton's allegations. Attorney General Davis gave the counsel two weeks in which to file papers and affidavits on the disputed points.

Trolley Car Wreckers Arrested.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 30.—The gang of men who attempted to wreck a car on the L[illegible]chester and Summerville trolley line last Sunday evening and caused a rear end collision, in which many were injured, have been arrested on the charge of violating a section of the penal code which has reference to the placing of obstructions on the line of an electric road, thereby endangering the lives of passengers. The men who comprise the gang, all of whom were under the influence of liquor at the time, are Henry Kuhn, Philip Vanderward of Rochester and three Irondequoit men, whose names are Rauser, Slecher and Split. One of the men, Kuhn, has confessed. They will have a hearing later.

French Naval Officers Relieved.

PARIS, July 30.—Two distinguished naval officers, Vice Admiral De Beaumont, maritime prefect of Toulon, and Rear Admiral Servan, commanding the Atlantic division, have been summarily relieved of their commands by order of President Loubet. Rear Admiral Servan's downfall is attributed to sensational developments which led up to the recent suicide of Commander Barry, who shot himself in the cabin of the cruiser Tage while off Martinique. Rear Admiral Servan was aboard the Tage at the time. De Beaumont's discipline is said to be due to a recently published (but denied) interview, severely criticising the minister of marine, Pelletan.

French Agitation Cooling Off.

PARIS, July 30.—The agitation in connection with the circular issued by Premier Combes with regard to the closing of the unauthorized congregationist schools has considerably abated, even in Brittany, owing to the circumstance that none of the recalcitrant schools will be forcibly closed until special decrees to this end have been signed for each department. In many departments such action will not be necessary, as the congregations have submitted, and, moreover, the decision of the government not to close those schools for which authorization was not asked owing to misinterpretation of the law has had something of a quieting effect.

Train In a Washout.

FALLS VILLAGE, Conn., July 30.—All traffic was delayed on the Berkshire division of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad last night by the derailing of the Pittsfield-New York express in a washout at Cornwall bridge. A violent electrical storm was accompanied by a heavy rain which washed out a section of the track. The Pittsfield-New York express leaving Pittsfield at 1:15 p. m. ran into the washout. The locomotive and three passenger cars were derailed and somewhat damaged. No one was injured, but the derailed engine and cars were in positions which entirely blocked traffic for hours.

Would Be Rescuer Drowned.

BELLEFONTAINE, O., July 30.—Rev. W. H. Leatherman, pastor of the Methodist church at Degraff, was drowned while trying to save Earl Nodham, aged thirteen, who went down with him. Thirty boys of the clergyman's church were on a picnic at a nearby resort. Young Nodham went swimming and was seized with cramps. The minister tried to rescue him. Rev. Mr. Leatherman was a graduate of Delaware college and had formerly lived in Lima and Toledo.

Pittsburg's Big Blaze.

PITTSBURG, July 30.—A revised estimate of losses in yesterday's big fire places the total at $318,500. Six firemen were injured, two eight story buildings almost completely destroyed and a number of others slightly damaged on Liberty street. The fire raged fiercely for seven hours. The origin of the fire is still a mystery.

Portuguese Attacked by Natives.

LISBON, Portugal, July 30.—Reports from Portuguese West Africa, where there have been rumors of troubles with the natives, show that the disorders are assuming a grave character. In the province of Loanda several garrisons were attacked and factories burned. A general uprising is feared.

THE KING ON HIS FEET

Doubts Regarding Coronation Laid at Rest.

IT WILL TAKE PLACE ON AUG. 9.

Apprehension That Edward Would Not Be Able to Stand the Strain of the Ceremony Allayed by Reports From Cowes.

LONDON, July 30.—The latest and most reliable information indicates that King Edward's doctors were not mistaken in fixing Aug. 9 as the date upon which his majesty could be crowned. The sinister rumors which have pervaded all classes for the last few days now appear to have lost that semblance of probability which made even the members of the cabinet nervous lest another postponement of the coronation might be necessitated.

The apprehension that King Edward would be unable to stand the strain of the coronation ceremony has been greatly lessened by the announcement that his majesty is now permitted to use his feet and, with the aid of a stick, has done a little walking. Another late telegram from Cowes, Isle of Wight, saying that nearly all the restrictions upon the king's diet have been withdrawn, has been welcomed as evidence that the recent ominous deductions were drawn without due allowance for the doctors' extreme cautiousness. While the king was testing his ability to walk two stalwart jackies stood at his side. After this experiment, which boded well for his fulfilling the necessary coronation functions at Westminster abbey, King Edward sat smoking on the deck of the royal yacht and watched the races of the small yachts off Cowes.

Those who drew inferences from the fact that the invitations to Westminster abbey were not dated have had their fears dissipated by the proclamation published in the Gazette fixing Aug. 9 as the date for the coronation, which postdates and is altogether more important than anything which might or might not have appeared upon the cards of invitation.

According to the present arrangements, King Edward and Queen Alexandra will leave Cowes either Aug. 6 or Aug. 8 for Buckingham palace and will return to the royal yacht Aug. 18, when the entire fleet will pass before King Edward and salute him, thus making a second naval review. After his return to the yacht the king is expected to take an extended cruise to the northward and subsequently to spend some weeks at Balmoral, where preparations for the arrival of their majesties have already been commenced.

It is perhaps significant that Queen Alexandra, the Prince of Wales and other members of the royal family were all ashore yesterday playing lawn tennis and hockey

He Was Bound to Go.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., July 30.—Charles Preble, a prominent farmer and stockman residing near Lanham, Neb., made three attempts to commit suicide before succeeding. He first tried to shoot himself through the heart, but the bullet, the last one in the revolver, failed to strike a vital spot. He then leaped in a fifty foot well, but was taken out by relatives. Later on he took the rope from the well and hung himself from a rafter in the barn. Heavy floods which ruined hundreds of acres of his crops, causing him heavy losses, are responsible for the act.

Three Men Drowned.

WORCESTER, Mass., July 30.—Gustaf A. Bengtson, aged twenty-two; his brother, Fred Bengtson, aged twenty-four, and a cousin, Charles Bengtson, nineteen years old, were drowned late Monday afternoon while swimming near Regatta point, Lake Quinsigamond. Their bodies were not recovered until yesterday, when Captain J. J. Daly, manager of the city baths, discovered three bicycles and the men's wearing apparel lying on the shore of the lake near the swimming beach.

Stoned to Death.

SANTA FE, N. M., July 30.—Alejandro Seba has been stoned to death here. Luis Romero had returned home unexpectedly and found Seba with his wife. After stoning Seba to death Romero and his relatives dragged the body 300 yards through wire fences and over stones to the murdered man's home. Then Romero surrendered.

More Troops Leave Manila.

WASHINGTON, July 30.—The war department has been advised of the sailing of the transport Buford from Manila with 462 enlisted men of the Eighth infantry, 143 men of the Fifteenth infantry, 104 men of the Twenty-sixth infantry, 91 sick, 5 insane and 61 discharged soldiers.

Tin Workers Will Not Accept Cut.

SHARON, Pa., July 30.—The John F. Ward lodge of the Amalgamated association, the largest lodge of tin workers in the world, has refused to accept the proposed reduction in wages made by the employers. Out of eight hundred men but twenty voted in favor of the reduction.

Telegraph School at San Juan.

SAN JUAN, July 30.—The interior department has established a free telegraph school under the auspices of the insular telegraph service. The school will teach twenty-five pupils, all girls.

Portuguese Vintage Injured.

LISBON, Portugal, July 30.—The continued bad weather threatens to ruin the Portuguese vintage, and the vines have been seriously attacked by mildew.

THE NEW BRIDGE.

There has been no better evidence of the remarkable change in the policy of the Jersey Central Railroad than the frequent improvements all along its line. Hardly a week passes by that there is not made public some change which the Jersey Central is about to inaugurate for the benefit of its patrons. Of course, these improvements make the railroad a more valuable property and serve to bring additional patronage. Nevertheless, the regular travellers on that road reap a direct benefit.

The last announcement is that the Central is about to start on a new steel bridge to span Newark bay. It cannot be said that there is anything new in the statement for it has been known for some time that such action was to be taken in the near future. It is, however, cause for considerable satisfaction that the improvement is so near at hand. Today bids for the work are to be received and it is expected that no time will be lost in awarding the contracts and carrying the contracts through to a successful termination.

During last winter, an order was issued instructing engineers to cross the draw bridge at slow speed. Some few people were alarmed at the news but the railroad officials explained that there was no danger and that the bridge could, if necessary last many years yet. These people will have their minds set at rest when the new structure with its lift bridge is put into use.

The new bridge is planned on the most modern ideas. It is only another step in the policy of the new management which seems to be to put that railroad in the best possible condition and equip it in an up-to-date manner, the equal of any of the great railway systems of the east.

Plainfield is justly proud of its fine streets but there are a few thoroughfares right in the centre of the city which could be improved very much. North avenue, on which fronts the railway station, is in very bad condition. The top dressing has been worn away. Watchung avenue between North avenue and East Fifth street is in similar condition. Of course it is impossible to put all the streets in proper condition at once and the street department has done well in the past. It is to be hoped, however, that the streets in question will receive attention in the very near future.

The nomination of C. DeWitt Flanagan as the Democratic candidate for Congress in the Fifth district was expected. Mr. Flanagan comes from Morris county and makes his home at the county seat. While he is very little known outside of his own county, it is said that he is a very popular man and has a clean record behind him. The Democratic managers have promised a lively contest for Congressman Fowler in his effort to defeat the Morristown man. As soon as the campaign warms up, Plainfield may expect an opportunity to judge for itself as to Mr. Flanagan's qualifications and personality.

There is the opportunity now for the officials of the City Baseball League to prepare the best local team possible to meet the famous Westfield team. The Daily Press is desirous of seeing the best possible combination face the nine of which Westfield is so justly proud. It makes no difference to us how it is brought about. There are the dates, September 13 and October 4, and the Westfield team. All that is needed is a suitable combination from this city. Action ought to be taken without delay.

During August and September, some of the greatest contests with the rifle in the United States will be shot on the range at Sea Girt. Last year, New Jersey carried off its compliment of honors. It is to be hoped that the crack shots of the State will go and do likewise this summer.

COLUMN FOR THE SHOPPERS

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

Plums and pineapples, apples and apricots, peaches and pears, and melons by the many—a large and fresh stock received daily at R. W. Barnes', Park avenue.

It's not hard to get your meat right, if you go to the right place. Tender, juicy cuts are the rule at J. W. Sickle's North avenue market, and the prices are made to fit the purse.

Wm. H. Brower's Sons, the New York florists, do some of the finest floral design work in the metropolis. Orders may be left at the residence of John L. Brower, East Fifth street.

"Fresh from the nets" has become a by-word for the fish procured at Foss & Jeter's market on Park avenue. Everything seasonable in the way of seafood is on the daily sales list there.

Special care in filling prescriptions has gained a reputation for C. M. Nagle, the West Front street druggist. Pure materials, prompt preparation and reasonable prices are the rule at this pharmacy.

If your watch is out of order take it to Doane, 115 Park avenue. He employes an expert watchmaker. French, English or Grandfather clocks put in order and guaranteed. Two opticians in attendance. Eyes examined free.

During these warm and sultry days there is nothing more refreshing than a portion of pure ice cream, that is made of the best materials. You will find this kind at Campbell's on West Front street. He also sells pure home-made candies.

The recent inspection of the dairy conducted by William Lindsay & Son on Mountain avenue, by the State Dairy Inspector, shows that it stands the severe test made. This is gratifying to the hundreds of people using milk from this dairy for they know that they are getting absolutely pure milk.

Camped at Hopatcong.

Edgar Adams, Harry Messersmith, Clarence Rocap, Robert Hand and Fred K. Armstrong, of the borough, returned last evening from Lake Hopatcong, where they have been camping out for three weeks. The young men had a delightful time and they are all as brown as a berry.

E. G. Andrews to Wed.

Edward G. Andrews, well known in this city and brother to J. H. Andrews, of Watchung avenue, will be married today at noon at Hopkinsville, Ky., to Miss Emma L. Courtney. After an extended honeymoon trip they will take up their abode in Norwich, Conn.

SUBURBAN NEWS

A Department Devoted to the Minor Events in Greater Plainfield's Suburbs by Our Own Correspondents.

DUNELLEN.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Walter Vliet will take place Friday morning from the house. Rev. S. K. Doolittle will officiate and interment will be made at Bloomsbury. Mrs. Vliet whose death occurred yesterday was but thirty-five years of age and is survived by five children, the oldest of whom is but sixteen years. Death was caused by lung trouble.

Dunellenites are still trying to find a representative of the Watchung Company for several reasons. One is that they wish to make some large and emphatic complaints regarding the workings of the water system and another is the desire of some to pay their water bills.

The Raritan A. C. has offered a good guarantee for the Dunellen A. C. at that place Saturday. The Raritans are under the false impression that they can win a game from the locals on the home grounds.

Everything points to a large crowd accompanying the Methodists on their excursion to Asubry Park tomorrow. The Methodists usually have good weather and a pleasant day is promised.

Word has been received here that Charles Mitchell, of this place, who was sent to Muhlenberg Hospital lately suffering with typhoid fever, is very low and is not expected to live.

There was a big time at the Elks' carnival Riverside Park last evening and Dunellen was well represented, fully twenty-five being present from here.

The funeral of the late Robert Hall will take place tomorrow afternoon from his late residence. Rev. S. K. Doolittle will officiate.

Mrs. Faulkner, of Rahway, is spending a few days with Mrs. Hannah Randolph, of Greenbrook

Letters are advertised at the post-office this week for Mrs. John Negard and T. G. Grey.

Washington avenue has been fully macadamized and is now a fine thoroughfare.

The Silver Leaves played a game of ball this morning with Mohans' team.

Prayer meeting will be held this evening at 7:30 in the local churches.

The Juniors met last evening and transacted routine business.

The cornet band will practice this evening in Apgar's Hall.

Lud Frazee has finished painting Dealaman's store fronts.

NEW MARKET.

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon over the remains of the late Henry F. Lewis at the home of his daughter, Mrs. C. T. Rogers. Rev. Geo. B. Shaw officiated and interment was made in the old burying ground at Samptown. There were a number of floral offerings. The pallbearers were C. T. Rogers, W. J. Davis, W. L. Larrabee and Allison Curtis.

The Baptist Sunday-schools spent a very pleasant day at Boynton Beach. The trip which was made by stages was one of the enjoyable features. A large number went in bathing while others visited the various attractions of the beach.

A large number from here spent last evening at Riverside Park with the Elks. Constable Robert Pierce was on duty on the grounds.

The new school house at Bound Brook is progressing rapidly but it is doubtful if it will be completed by September 1.

The baseball team will play the strong Metuchen A. C. at Metuchen on Saturday.

A party from Plainfield is picknicking on the lake today.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD

Henry Albert, who has been playing as substitute on the local ball team, has accepted a position at the Aeolian Works at Garwood and will play with the Aeolians during the balance of the season.

Mrs. Edward Verity, who has been at Muhlenberg Hospital for nearly two weeks suffering with blood poisoning, is doing very nicely and will be able to return home this week.

The several Sunday-schools in town are busily engaged arranging for their annual excursion to Asbury Park and Ocean Grove Tuesday of next week.

Misses Evelyn and Ada Buckley, who have been spending a few days with their grandmother, have returned to their home in Plainfield.

The regular monthly meeting of the Farther Light Society of the Baptist church will be held in the church parlors Friday afternoon.

Charles H. French has returned from Washington where he has been attending the Congressional convention as a local delegate.

A number from town are arranging to attend the picnic at Hess' Grove, Berkely Hights, Friday night.

Robin Frazee's new house on Cook avenue is nearly completed and will soon be ready for occupancy.

There will be dancing at Ivamy's pavilion tonight. Music will be by Naylor's full orchestra.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Kenneth, the sixteen-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Randolph, of Metuchen, died this morning at 4 o'clock after a week's illness with cholera infantum.

Mr. and Mrs. George Howell returned to New Brunswick Monday night after spending five days' on their honeymoon trip.

Mrs. Harry Tappen and Miss Emma Faulks are spending the day in Plainfield.

Miss Emma Manning is entertaining friends from out of town.

Mrs. Frank Randolph, of Front street, is ill at her home.

NEARING THE END.

Race in Quoit Pitching Contest at Freedom Castle, Grows Exciting.

The quoit pitching contest, under the auspices of Freedom Castle, No. 42, Knights of the Golden Eagle, is nearing a finish. It is expected that the tournament will be completed next Tuesday night. The race for third and fourth positions is very close. The standing of the teams is as follows:

John Kirch and Louis M. Hummer, 847 per cent.: Niles and Hummer, 818; Kinney and Hoagland, 636; Bush and Runyon, 636; Vail and Kohler, 600; Day and Martin, 533; Bowman and Randolph, 455; Allen and Lucky, 455; Carver and Forestell, 520; Buchanan and Vail, 182; Currin and Voorhees, 143, Vardon and Hummer, 000; Fisher and Clark, 000; Barley and Rosenstheil, 000.

SUMMER SCHEDULE.

Special Exercises at Sunday-School of Park Avenue Baptist Church.

Special exercises will mark the beginning of the summer schedule of the Sunday-school of the Park Avenue Baptist church next week. Superintendent George E. Hall will give a report of the Tenth International Sunday-school Convention, which he recently attended in Denver. The report will include a description of the convention city, of the church where the meetings were held, accounts of the speakers and subjects and other interesting features of the big gathering. Special music will be a feature of the session, which will begin at 9:30 o'clock. All persons interested are invited.

Poisoning the System.

It is through the bowels that the body is cleansed of impurities. Constipation keeps these poisons in the system, causing headache, dullness and melancholia at first, then unsightly eruptions and finally serious illness unless a remedy is applied. DeWitt's Little Early Risers prevent this trouble by stimulating the liver and promote easy, healthy action of the bowels. These little pills do not act violently but by strengthening the bowels enable them to perform their own work. Never gripe or distress. L. W. Randolph.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE DOING

VIEWED NEW YORK.

Y. M. C. A. Boys Went for an All-Day Ramble Through New York City.

Yesterday morning eight members of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. accompanied by Physical Director C. E. A. Heywood as leader, left by the 7:25 train for an excurison to New York and an all day ramble through the metropolis. The line of march had been laid out in advance, and the prorgamme of visits previously arranged were thoroughly enjoyed by the party.

Among the places that came in for inspection were Battery Park and its entourage, one of the fire boats, where a man was viewed at work in a diving bell, Bronx Park, where the many specimens of foreign and domestic animal life were seen, and before lunch a call was made at the Harlem branch of the Y. M. C. A.

Lunch was partaken of in the room at Grant's Tomb, after which the party went along Riverside drive to One Hundred and Fourth street, thence down to the White Star Line dock, where permission was secured to go through the ocean steamship "Majestic." Mr. Heywood was well qualified to conduct the boys through this particular boat, as he has crossed the Atlantic twice in that vessel. The party returned to Plainfield about 7 o'clock, having spent a most pleasant and profitable day.

ANOTHER NEW CHURCH.

Swedish Evangelical Lutherans Will Shortly Own a House of Worship.

Their own house of worship may shortly be owned by the local society of Swedish Evangelical Lutherans. Rev. Dr. Nelsinins, of Brooklyn, the elder having the Plainfield congregation in charge, was in this city, yesterday, looking into the affairs of the parish and inspecting sites suggested for the erection of a proposed church building.

Other matters demanding the attention of the elder were christenings in several Plainfield families. Five children received the sacrament of baptism. Rev. Mr. Arnfelt, the student who is preaching here, accompanied the elder on his visit.

Adoptions by Wetumpkah.

Degree work will be the feature of the meeting of Wetumpkah Tribe of Red Men tomorrow evening. Of the seven propositions received last week, three have already been acted upon favorably and the candidates will be adopted at once. The degree team will be out in force, so that the ceremonies may be performed in ample shape.

The Excursion Tomorrow.

Tomorrow is the great day for the Methodists, who will turn out in force for the annual excursion to Asbury Park and Ocean Grove. Their friends also will join the party, because it is assured that the usual good time will be enjoyed. The return trip will not be made until 7:10, giving a long day by the sea.

SCHNEIDER SUCCUMBED.

Unable to Withstand the Stroke of Apoplexy and Died at Muhlenberg Hospital This Morning.

Poor physical condition rendered Robert Schneider, of Scotch Plains, unable to withstand the attack of apoplexy which came to him on Monday and he died at Muhlenberg Hospital this morning. He had remained in a half stupor from the time he was overcome and he became rapidly worse yesterday and last night. Death came during unconsciousness early today.

Schneider was a well known resident of Scotch Plains, where he had lived for many years. He had carried on a small shoe business in the place for a long] time. He was fifty-two years old. Domestic troubles some time ago separated him from his family, the members of which have been living in this city. There is a wife and seven children.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. J. P. Northrop, of Central avenue, is spending the summer at Wickford, R. I.

W. S. Benton and daughter, of Central avenue, have returned home from their vacation outing in New York State.

Mrs. O. R. Pearson, of Manson place, has returned home from Newark, where she has been visiting her father.

Miss Ethel Lorton, of Watchung avenue, is having a delightful time on a farm near Centreville, Hunterdon county.

KILTIES WELL LIKED.

Made a Great Hit at the Elks' Mid-Summer Festival.

The sixth annual mid-summer festival given by New Brunswick Lodge, No. 324, B. P. O. Elks, at Riverside Park, yesterday afternoon and evening was a grand success. It was the presentation here for the first time of the famous "Kilties Band," of Canada, the playing by the band being the main feature at both performances. The programme was one of the best ever presented and the musicians were given a royal reception. There were a number of members of the order and their friends present from Plainfield.

To Boynton Beach.

This evening the members and friends of the Retail Clerks' Mutual Benefit Association will go on their trolley excursion to Boynton Beach, where they will have a dance. The start will be made from the Watchung avenue station at the usual hour.

Euchre at Netherwood.

Progressive euchre will be the attraction at the Hotel Netherwood tomorrow evening. The weekly euchres at the hotel are proving to be most popular affairs.

Saengerbund Meetings.

During the month of August, the singing section of the Saengerbund will meet on Wednesday evening instead of Thursday, as previously.

READY FOR ATTACK.

Secretary Sanger Says Long Island Sound Forts Are In Good Trim.

WASHINGTON, July 30.—Acting Secretary Sanger has returned to the war department, having spent a day in company with General MacArthur and other officers of the army who were making a tour of the forts forming the defenses of the eastern entrance of Long Island sound, which is to be the scene of the army and navy maneuvers. They found everything in excellent condition to meet the navy in the coming engagement.

Cables connecting all the forts have been tested and found in good order, and arrangements have been made for a complete signal system. The fire control system and other features of defense coming under the signal corps were found in good condition, and before the maneuvers begin it is expected that they will be perfect.

General MacArthur is very much interested in the coming maneuvers and is giving the same care and attention to the defenses as he would if the maneuvers were not mimic warfare.

Civil War Veteran Dead.

PHILADELPHIA, July 30.—Paul Van der Voort, past commander in chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, is dead at Puerto Principe, Cuba, of paralysis of the heart. He was born in Ohio in 1846. He enlisted in the army for the three months' service of the civil war in the Sixty-eighth Illinois infantry and re-enlisted in Company M, Sixteenth Illinois cavalry and was with his regiment in the Ninth and Twenty-third corps and the cavalry corps of the military division of the Mississippi. He was discharged Aug. 1, 1865, as sergeant. Past Commander Van der Voort joined the Grand Army in Illinois in 1866 and was assistant adjutant general to Department Commander Hilliard. He resigned that position on his removal to Omaha, where he was mainly instrumental in the reorganization of the department of Nebraska, to which he was assigned as provisional commander. On the formation of the department he was elected department commander. He was elected commander in 1882.

Bennett Was Bunkoed.

BOSTON, July 30.—The story of a bunko game in which the victim lost $2,500 was told in the police court here, and as the result Frank Bornstein was held for the grand jury on the charge of the larceny of 500 five dollar gold coins on July 16 from Barnard Bennett of this city. It was in evidence that Bennett was induced by Bornstein and a confederate to go into a plan to counterfeit English sovereigns. He furnished 500 gold coins, which the other men apparently placed in a tin can and into which a strong acid was poured. After considerable juggling of the can Bennett received it to carry home. He grew suspicious and concluded that it was an infernal machine. A policeman opened the can, and $9.97 in pennies came out. Bennett had Bornstein arrested, but the other man is free.

A Treasury Deficit.

WASHINGTON, July 30.—There will be a deficit in the United States treasury for July amounting probably to about $9,000,000. A treasury deficit for July is not unusual. The expenditures during the first month of the fiscal year are always heavier than in other months, from the fact that many congress appropriations are made available on July 1.

Fatal Dispute Over a Woman.

MIDDLESBORO, Ky., July 30.—At Mingo mines here Warren Smith killed Calvin Senter by shooting him through the heart. Before Senter was shot he mortally wounded Smith. A dispute over a woman was the cause of the shooting.

TRIUMPHS OF WOMEN.

Some of Them Are Displaying Qualities They Were Not Supposed to Possess.

Every day women are displaying traits of character that excite both surprise and admiration, says the Chicago Chronicle. In Brooklyn the other day Mrs. Lennie Kelley saved the life of her aged father by climbing over the dashboard of the buggy in which they were driving on the Coney Island boulevard and seizing the reins that had dropped from his hands and were dangling at the heels of their runaway horse. Would Pamelia or Clarissa or even Mme. De Stael's extraordinary heroine, Delphine, have done that?

In Pittsburg Mrs. Sarah E. Moody, in a law court, has just excelled in the intellectual feat of Portia, and has surpassed many shining masculine lights of the bar, for she managed her own case in a breach of promise suit and proved, too, contrary to the old adage, that she did not have a fool for a client. There were some novelties in her methods of examining witnesses, as, for instance, her telling one of them point blank that he was a liar. In the first case there was a triumph of nerve and muscle and in the second of nerve and intellect. The obvious conclusion is that the era in which woman was a "downtrodden creature" is fully past, for, with qualifying experience of the world, she is now quite capable of defending her own and of holding it.

AT THE TOMB OF ELIHU YALE.

A Little Welsh Town That Is the Scene of a Sort of American Pilgrimage.

A bazar was lately held which excites great interest in north Wales, in aid of the restoration of Wrexham church, one of the finest in the principality. Wrexham contains a monument which has become a sort of shrine to Americans who have been educated at Yale college, inasmuch as it is that of Elihu Yale, and bears a quaint inscription which has become famous. Never was immortality so easily acquired as by Yale. It cost him some chattels, which he sent over to aid, by the request of friends, a struggling college at New Haven, Conn., and which fetched a few hundred pounds; but this in 1718 was such a boon that the college took his name, and is now famous as Yale university, says a London paper.

Elihu Yale's daughter married Lord James Cavendish, son of the first duke of Devonshire, and had an only child, who married the son of Dr. Chandler, Bishop of Durham, whom she made take the name of Cavendish. She was a lady of masculine tendencies, and commonly known as "Jack" Cavendish. The Yale students have presented Wrexham church with a handsome visitors' book.

NATION ADDING TO NAVY.

According to Present Indications, Many Vessels Will Be Added to the Fleet.

The United States is rapidly adding to its navy. In three years it will probably have the largest number of ships able to engage in active warfare of any country in the world. Battleships, cruisers and monitors are now in course of construction, and will be launched as soon as completed, says a Washington report.

The next to take to the sea is the Pennsylvania, which will be launched from Cramp's shipyard next season and christened by Miss Quay, daughter of the Pennsylvania leader, who will break a bottle upon the bow and name the ship with appropriate ceremony.

The starting of a ship of war upon its journey is such an important ceremony, and one attended with so many honors, that the greatest rivalry exists for the honor of breaking the bottle. Wires are pulled, plans are laid a year in advance, and often feelings are engendered that are quite the reverse of friendly or patriotic.

DOOMS AN ADOBE THEORY.

Field Museum Authority Finds That Hopi Indian Children Puzzled the Experts.

Dr. George Dorsey, of the Field Columbian museum, has made a discovery in his investigations among the Hopi Indians that overturns many of the old theories of anthropologists in regard to supposed inscriptions on the adobe houses of the tribe. He made the announcement of his discoveries in a lecture to the students of the University of Chicago the other afternoon on "Civilization Among the Hopi Indians."

"These inscriptions that the anthropologists have been trying to decipher and read for years," said Dr. Dorsey, "have been found to be nothing more than the scratches made by mischievous Hopi children in the mud of the adobe houses after they have been freshly built. They are not mysterious inscriptions at all. They are only the results of childish pranks. Of course this discovery makes the anthropologists feel rather vexed, but the markings have much resemblance to some kind of picture writing, and may well be taken for some kind of inscriptions."

RAPID FLIGHT OF DREAMS.

Extraordinary Capacity of the Brain for Grasping Figments in Slumber.

An eminent public man of England whose mental faculties had been subjected to too great a strain and who suffered greatly from mental depression that amounted almost to the disease of melancholia, was told by his physician that he must rest his brain. He was a very busy man and scoffed at his doctor's prescription of a nap in the middle of the day, relates a London paper.

Finally, after much persuasion, he agreed to this experiment: He would sit in his easy chair every afternoon with his hands on his knees, holding a dinnerbell in his hands. If he lost consciousness and went to sleep he would be willing to sleep for the period that it took for the dinner bell to fall to the floor and wake him.

The doctor who suggested this arrangement declared that the mere mental relaxation of going to sleep, if only for a few seconds, would suffice to save him. He invited his patient to study the activity of the brain by noticing how many things he could dream while the dinner bell was falling to the floor.

Every day for many months the man sat down after luncheon with the dinner bell in his hands. Every day he went to sleep, slept for half a second, while the bell fell to the floor, and his mental condition improved steadily, partly because of the rest which his mind got through losing consciousness for a second and partly because of his interest in the extraordinary dreams which passed through his brain while the bell was falling.

THE REFORMED PIG.

Governmental Efforts to Improve an Animal That Has Been Abused for Centuries.

Our enterprising and diligent department of agriculture has set itself to an important task. It is going to improve the pig. At least, it will see whether the pig has any ambition to improve, comments the Brooklyn Eagle. It will raise a litter of sucklings in a yard floored with clean sand; it will bathe the animals; it will feed them delicately, and for a whole year will keep them in a condition of respectability. Then it will open the way to the usual pig pen and will stand by to see if the creatures forsake their manners and elect mud and the trough.

Probably the pigs will elect to stay in the clean and wholesome yard. The obloquy that these beasts have fallen under is not of their seeking. Men have abused them by confining them in ill-kept places and feeding them on refuse. The pig in its natural state is not unclean. It is dirty when it is kept in a pen, because it cannot be otherwise. If afflicted with flies or vermin it has no resource but to lie in the mud, and as to its food, if it has nothing but the fermenting refuse of the house it must eat that or starve. When left at large swine do not usually seek filth and slime. When free to roam the woods they are no more unclean than cattle. It needs little experimenting to convince of that fact.

MUSIC TO HEAL WOUNDS.

The Violin Has Been Employed as an Aid to Surgery in Paris.

The attention of medical men has been called to two extraordinary cases reported from a hospital in Paris. A man had been seriously cut by accident and the wound refused to heal. From time to time the patient went into violent paroxysms and death appeared certain. A surgeon who had given much attention to the subject of vibrations secured the services of a violin player and treated the sufferer to a musical remedy. A change appeared at once and under the influence of the violin recovery was rapid and complete. In the other case a wound continued to suppurate in spite of all that could be done. The violin was again called into requisition and played close to the injured part, which was bared for the purpose. Soon the wound assumed a healthier appearance, suppuration ceased and complete cure was effected. In both these cases it was noted that only certin kinds of music were of benefit, showing that vibrations must be strictly in accordance with the nature of the wound.

More Men Than Women.

In all but 11 of the 52 states and territories the males outnumber the female population. These 11 states are along the Atlantic seaboard. California contains the greatest excess of men, the recorded number being 156,009; Minnesota comes second, with 113,586; Texas third, with 109,00 and Pennsylvania fourth, with 106,007.

Now Emperor William's Turn.

Queen Alexandra has bought a book written by President Roosevelt, and the Chicago Record-Herald remarks that Emperor William will have to hurry up now and do something else to keep up the friendly relations.

The Woman's Exposition At Paris

IF Frenchmen had been wise, long since would they have given to Frenchwomen all possible rights and privileges, for this would have only increased feminine admiration for the men themselves. Then Frenchwomen would never have manifested that sourness toward the masculine sex which so often ferments in the minds of women of other nations in contemplating the wrongs of their half of the race. Frenchwomen admire and like men so much that they can scarcely conceive of happiness apart from the beloved masculine sex.

At least this was true until within the past ten years Men did not accord justice to the Frenchwomen, so these women, gifted beyond most of their sex, have begun to hold conventions, form leagues and petition the chamber of deputies to give them enlarged privilege and opportunity. The yeast of woman's rights is at last working in the breasts of Frenchwomen.

One of the evidences of this is the International Exhibition of Women's Arts and Industries in Paris the present summer. It is expected to remain open till Oct. 1. At the close of the 1900 exposition a few of the show buildings were left permanently because of their architectural beauty or uniqueness. Two of these were the famous large and small glass palaces in the beautiful "Cours-la-Reine," near the Seine. The larger of the two, especially designed by a noted French artist in stained glass, is a temple of dreamlike beauty, and in these glass houses the exhibition is held.

This industrial congress of women is perhaps the most important feature of the show. Its sessions are from Aug. 4 to 9. Here those multitudinous papers so familiar at women's meetings in America will be read and talked over, but we may be sure if Frenchwomen read the majority of them they will not be so heavy as the dreary "club papers" of American women. One of the most important topics to be considered is the legal status of married women in France, which is melancholy enough, because French jurisprudence in this matter is still held back by the strangling old Code Napoleon.

Another leading subject is woman's work industrially both in the home and outside. An exquisitely delicate humorous touch is to be noted in the announcement of the programme that at these meetings the chairwomen will not attempt to follow that ordinary parliamentary procedure "which gives practiced speakers too great an advantage over the thinkers."

One of the two glass palaces is devoted to the exhibits of Frenchwomen themselves, while the other contains feminine work from foreign countries. Of course, except perhaps in the matter of laces and embroideries, the exhibit itself is nothing great, but connected with the enterprise is a theater where daily and nightly performances, musical and otherwise, give visitors pleasure and recreation.

STAIRCASE AND ENTRANCE.

MATILDA BURGESS.

A KNAVE . . . OF CONSCIENCE.

By Francis Lynde.

"So far, so good. Now, how much do you love her?"

Raymer's smile faded to a grimace. "Oh, come off, old man; you mustn't toast me on a gridiron that way," he protested.

"Yet I must know," Griswold persisted. "If you can't stand the test, I'm done before I begin."

"All right; get out your crucibles and melt me down."

"Good again. Is it Margery herself, or Jasper Grierson's daughter that you are in love with?"

"If I thought you were really in doubt about that, I'd beat you," said Raymer.

"I wasn't, but I wanted to clear the way. That disposes of Jasper Grierson's million or so, and brings us down to Margery, the young woman. Now, then, supposing some one should come along and tell you that this charming young woman has nothing behind her in the way of lineage; nothing on the father's side, as everybody knows, and less than nothing on the mother's, as everybody has suspected. Suppose, in addition to this, that Margery herself confesses that she is lacking in all the things that Edward Raymer may demand of his wife, even to a well-equipped conscience. Would that make any difference."

Raymer was on his feet now, tramping up and down like a baited bull. It showed his athletic figure off to the best advantage; and there was something fiercely heroic in the way he wheeled and flung up his head at the question.

"Damn it, man! I tell you I love her—love her for what she is to me. What in God's name are you driving at, anyway?"

Griswold ignored the demand. "That is all I wanted to know. Now for a little friendly hint. She has broken with her father, and needs a good, stout man to lean on. It's half-past seven, and I should think you might reach Mereside by eight, if you hurry."

Now Edward Raymer was a man self-contained and deliberate on all ordinary occasions, but at this he broke with his traditions. In a moment he had snatched his hat and was gone, leaving Griswold to close the office and to follow at his leisure.

The town clock in the courthouse tower—a gift from Jasper Grierson—was striking eight when Griswold turned into the lake drive and let himself in at the Farnham gate. There were two figures on the veranda, but only two. Little Miss Gilman was always shy of the night air. It was Charlotte who came to the steps to welcome him; but the doctor added his word from the depths of the great wicker lounging-chair.

"Come in and be at home," he said. "I hope you had the good sense to take care of yourself after your wetting."

"I took a whisky bath—external—if that's what you mean," laughed the young man, who knew the doctor's crotchets.

"That is what I mean. Get a pipe or a cigar. You know where they are."

But Griswold said he did not care to smoke, and went to sit beside Charlotte's hammock. For a time the talk drifted aimlessly, as summer evening chat will, with three to carry it, when a boy came up the walk with a call for the doctor, and the elder man rose to obey it.

"You may thank your lucky stars that you didn't study medicine, my boy," he said to Griswold, by way of leave-taking; and so he went away and left them.

"Are you glad that you didn't study medicine?" said Charlotte, when the stillness of the night had swallowed up the sounds of her father's departure.

"I don't know. I think I am glad for everything that has happened to me."

"That is an odd thing to say."

"Why is it odd?"

"Because some of the happenings must have been disagreeable, at least."

"None the less I am thankful for everyone of them."

"Why?" she asked in turn.

"Because each one has been a wheel under the train to bring me here."

"Is that a compliment?"

"No, it's the simple truth." He leaned forward and took the hand on the hammock's edge in his own and held it firmly. "Charlotte, dear, I stand to-night at the parting of the ways—no, that is not a good figure, for one of the ways is closed and I may not walk in it. The path that I shall have to tread leads down into a valley of shadows; and yet I am glad for everything that has brought me to it, because I have found you."

She sat up at that, but she did not withdraw the imprisoned hand. "Tell me," she said, simply.

"Beyond the fact that I have loved and lost you, there is little to tell."

She was silent for a little space, and then she said, softly: "Why do you say 'lost'?"

"You will know when I tell you where we first met."

"Where was it?" There was a great misgiving in her heart, and she could feel her lips growing cold.

"It was in the Bayou State bank in New Orleans. You were getting a draft cashed, and I—

"Oh, don't!" was all she said, but after that she sat as one suddenly turned to stone.

He did not speak until she gave him leave, and then he rose and stood beside her.

"I came here to-night to tell you this, Charlotte; to tell you that I love you, and—and to bid you goodby; I know very well what I have done; that I have removed myself as far from you as if we lived on separate planets. But I had to tell you."

She looked up at him, and he could see that the glorious eyes were brimming.

"Once—on the boat, you remember—you said you could defend yourself," she faltered. "Can you do it yet?"

"That defense still stands for what it is worth—to me. But I know what you think about it—what you must think. So I have come to say goodby."

She slipped quietly out of the hammock and stood before him in all her beauty.

"You are keeping something back," she said. "Tell me what it is that you are going to do?"

"I am going to take the midnight train for New Orleans—to give myself up."

"Oh, no, no!" she cried; and her arms went about his neck as if that were the only way to hold him. "Oh, you mustn't, Kenneth, for I—I love you."

He drew her closer and kissed her twice, thrice. Then he put her from him gently and groaned in the bitterness of it.

"Now God forgive me, my darling, for I have slain my love! I understand now; I went down into the pit of sin that morning, and now I have dragged you in after me. Good-by, Charlotte. When I am gone you must go down on your knees and ask God to forgive you and give you back your conscience. Then you will despise me as I deserve." And with that he was gone.

Light on Precious Stones.

It is known that violet light from an electric arc lamp excites fluorescence in the diamond. M. Chaumet has proved that an intimate conection exists between that property of the diamond and the luster exhibited in other artificial lights, especially the lights from candles (in which the diamond shows to the greatest advantage). The diamonds that send out the most vivid rays are not always those which are the most regularly cut, but are such as, examined by violet light, show the greatest fluorescence. While diamonds that do not fluoresce simply show violet when so illuminated, the most brilliant stones fluoresce strongly with a clear and very brilliant blue radiation. The test is of practical value and has been applied to other precious stones—yellow diamonds, Burmese and Siamese rubies, etc.—Science.

How an Office Building Is Watched.

They are compelled to watch closely in large office buildings, where so many hundreds are hourly coming and going.

A messenger boy came down in the elevator with a typewriting machine in his arms.

"Where did you get that?" asked the operator.

"Postal telegraph office," said the boy. "Taking it to get repaired."

"Where is your pass for it?"

"Ain't got one."

"Then you go back and get it. You can't get that machine out of this building without one."

The boy was compelled to ride back to the eleventh floor to get the pass.—New York telegram to the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Man of the Future.

Prof. Bruner makes a startling prediction as to human development. He sees in the future man a being in whom strange transformations shall have taken place; a being in whom brain is master, ruling a body much larger than that of the present man, a body which has lost its floating ribs, its vermiform appendix and its little toes, and in which many other changes have taken place. He believes the chest and upper and lower limbs will be larger and that the future man will be taller than this prototype of to-day.—Chicago Chronicle.

Hindoos Taking to Christianity.

The latest report of the British Indian census commissioner shows that there were 2,923,349 Christians in India in 1901, as compared with 2,284,380 in 1891, an increase of 638,969, or about 28 per cent., during the ten years. The growth of Christianity in India is much more rapid than the increase in population, yet the Christians are but one per cent. of the total population.—London News.

The Harvest Excursions Into Western Canada

Men of All Classes and Conditions Help to Gather the Grain from Western Prairies.

"THE harvesters are coming." Such was the headline in a Winnipeg paper that caught my attention while in that city last summer. The time was the closing days of July, just as the golden fields of grain were ready for cutting. Without waiting to read the article, I asked a newspaper friend what the headline meant.

"It takes 20,000 men to gather the crops of Manitoba and western Canada," he said. "They must come from the eastern provinces and from the United States. That headline means that the first train load left Toronto for Winnipeg last night. They will continue to pour into this city, and from here be distributed throughout all the western country for the next week or ten days. For from one to two months there will be an abundance of work for them on the wheat farms of Manitoba, Minnesota, the Dakotas and the western territories of Canada. After that they will scatter; some going back to the places from which they came; others pushing on west into the mountains; others going north into the Klondike and Alaska gold fields, and still others settling down on the 160 acres of land the government is willing to give."

"From what class of society do they come?" I asked.

"From all classes except the very wealthy, and in fact I have seen men worth well into the thousands working in the wheat fields beside the professional tramp, to whom the enthusiasm of the harvest season carries reformation for a few days. The man of thousands was in the fields as a matter of healthful exercise. But on these trains that are coming will be found farmers, tradesmen, ministers of the Gospel, lawyers, doctors and the jacks-of-all-trades who live by turning their hand to whatever they find to do."

Altogether the prospect of meeting an interseting collection of men was alluring, and I wished to see them, not individually, but collectively; to see how such a medley of humanity would appear when shut up in a railroad train together. To do this I journeyed eastward to Rat Portage, on the Lake of the Woods, that I might ride back to Winnipeg on a harvest excursion train.

There were 11 coaches—immigrant cars—on the train I caught at Rat Portage. Into that train was crowded more than 1,000 men with lunch baskets, bags of baggage and not a few bottles. A walk through the train was accomplished with considerable difficulty, but it repaid the effort. Books and papers were in demand. In one seat, into which five men were crowded, I noticed one Bible, one wild west story, one weekly newspaper from a small town in Ontario, and one of the popular novels of the year. The three books and the newspaper told, in a way, the character of the four men reading them. The man with the Bible was a Church of England minister, clerically garbed. I asked him if he expected to go into the fields of the west, and he replied that he did.

"My salary is small," he said. "Too small to permit of a vacation without work, only £20 per annum." He had been in Canada less than six months, coming originally from England, and had not yet gotten into the way of dollars and cents. "I get a vacation, but I cannot afford to play when play is expensive. I need the open air exercise; my muscles are good, and why should I not find a place in the wheat fields?"

In another car I found another minister of much the same type, and going west under the same circumstances and for the same purpose. He had gathered about him a number of the better element that the car contained, and was drawing for them a Biblical lesson from the story of Joseph and his translation of Pharoah's dream. In the other end of the same car a game of draw poker was holding the attention of not only the players, but a number of on-lookers as well.

The most noticeable crowd in another car were a dozen and more college boys, sturdy under-grads, who talked of football and cricket, smoked briar pipes and kept the whole car in good humor by singing rollicking songs and making jokes at the expense of each other.

"Say, Jack," said one, "your ma won't know you when Farmer Jones gets through with you."

"Did you bring your dress suit along, Billie?" queried another. "They tell me the farmers of Manitoba are socially inclined when work is over at nine o'clock in the evening."

Every one of those 11 cars was occupied exclusively by men, save one. In the last car of the train I found two rosy-cheeked girls. Farmers' daughters going west to join a brother, who was making a home in Alberta territory. The orderliness of that car was a distinct tribute to womanhood. In every other car bottles of liquor were much in evidence, pipes, cigars and cigarettes kept the air blue with smoke, card games were numerous, and profanity seemed the order of the day. In the last car not a bottle was in sight, not a pipe, cigar or cigarette were lighted, not a card game was in progress, not a word of profanity was to be heard.

They were pretty girls of the farm type, and were attracting the attention of a score of admirers. One of them confided to me the fact that she had received five offers of marriage since leaving Toronto. "But," she added, "we are both engaged."

The lack of success had not prevented the admirers from spending their money for the comfort of the young ladies. Practically the whole stock of the train boy had been laid at their feet, and the best that could be bought at the hotels and eating houses along the line were offered to tempt their unfailing appetites.

ARRIVAL OF HARVESTERS AT A WESTERN TOWN.

In every car were to be found a goodly sprinkling of farmers of all ages. Many of them were taking this way of seeing the western country with the object of settling there, if desirable locations could be found. With them the conversations turned naturally to methods of agriculture. But they knew little or nothing of the agricultural methods of the west. Steam gang plows and steam harvesters were novelties to them, as were farms of 2,000 acres, on which wheat is the only crop. Many of them talked as though they expected to instill needed reforms into western agricultural methods, but the first sight of the broad Manitoba fields convinced them there was a farming of which they knew but little.

Winnipeg is the first destination of all the army of harvesters. There the government runs a great employment agency, under the direction of Mr. Smith, the immigration commissioner. At this agency the farmers of all of the western country list their needs for help; they state the number of hands wanted, about the number of days of employment they can offer, the wages paid, and add any little inducements that might prove attractive, such as "good board, good beds in the house, free washing," etc. With the arrival of each harvest excursion train an army of clerks are prepared to give desired information and direct the harvesters to the different localities where work may be had. Each excursion train takes into the city a certain percentage of men who make the trip because of the low rate of fare, and who are not really looking for employment, but the percentage is small, and inside of ten hours after the arrival of a train the great majority of the passengers are being distributed among the agricultural centers stretching from the eastern boundary of Manitoba west to the Rocky mountains, and from the farms of northern Minnesota and the Dakotas north to Prince Albert and Edmonton. At each little town on the western prairies the arrival of the season's harvesters is an event of considerable importance in the year's history, and the entire neighborhood turns out to give them a royal welcome.

Three doubles and as many singles is Bolsterle's record with the stick for the last two games. And some one had the audacity or the mendacity to say that Bolsterle was no good at the bat.

The Red Men will again be the participants in a baseball game for local supremacy. Wetumpkah and Miantonomo Tribes will cross tomahawks next week in the second contest of the series.

The Daily Press is in receipt of a communication signed "A Lover of Clean Baseball. If the writer will kindly make his identity known to the editor his letter will be considered for publication.

From now on till the end of the league season Y. M. C. A. will have its strongest possible nine on the diamond. There is an impression abroad that the manager has a card up his sleeve ready to spring on the fans at next Saturday's game.

The O. N. T. team, of Newark will probably be seen on the Scotch Plains diamond in the near future. Manager Johnston is negotiating with the team for a game. The O. N. T.'s need no introduction to the ball-loving public as they are one of the best teams in this part of the State.

In Franklin Manager Muir of the Safe Works nine has a good man at centre field. And there is a persistent rumor in the baseball atmosphere that he is a twirler of no mean ability. The fans could never understand how Franklin happened to make an error in the last game against Hope.

Mague's catch of Bolsterle's difficult fly undoubtedly saved the game for Hopes Saturday. Had he failed to connect two runs would have come piling over the plate, with Bolsterle perched somewhere on second or third. But there is no room for an "if he misses it" when Mague is in the neighborhood.

Manager Johnston has been very fortunate in arranging his schedule for the season by booking some of the best teams in the State and around New York. The Xaviers, who are to play a return game Saturday afternoon, proved to be a drawing card when they played and defeated the Plains two weeks ago and when the two teams meet Saturday there is no doubt but what one of the largest crowds of the season will be present.

Prospects for a meeting between the Hopes and Scotch Plains have not much improved since Manager Cose entered into communication with the out of town team. His proffered conditions of having one game played on the grounds of each club, with the home club taking its own receipts, were not accepted by the Plains people. It is evident, however, that the charge can no longer be brought against the Hopes that they are afraid to meet Scotch Plains.

GOLF.

Of late several small dinner parties have been features of the season at Hillside Tennis and Golf Club. They have been informal affairs, but just as enjoyable as though more pretentious.

Mr. McCarthy, the expert and caddymaster at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, has of late been playing around the course alone and in competition. Thus far he has withheld his scores.

The absence from the city of many of the members of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club accounts for the slight attendance on the club course at present. However, there are enough members at home to make a respectable showing in the two weekly competitions for the Golf Committee and Boys' Cups.

There is considerable talk about forming a regular team at the Park Golf Club as has already been noted in these columns. The team will not be able to play on its own course Saturday afternoons as there would not be room for the regular players besides. A match with the Westfield Golf Club on the course of the latter is now under consideration.

TENNIS.

Next Saturday morning at 10 o'clock there will be play at tennis for the Mellick cup on the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club courts. The finals will be played on September 20.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., has called off its meetings until the last of August.

—J. B. Drayton's house on Franklin place has just been painted. Chas. Conover & Company did the work.

—Where to go on a hot night. You can keep cool and enjoy the most delicious ice cream made. Tier's is the place.

—Jenny Lind melons—highly praised for their quality and flavor—received daily at Neuman Bros. Special prices on baskets.

—Work is progressing rapidly upon the new macadamizing on Park avenue from the county and city line toward town.

—All bills against the city must be in the hands of the clerk by tomorrow night, to insure payment at the Council meeting Monday evening.

—Street Commissioner Gavett's men are now working on West Front street, near Albert, repairing the macadam in places where it has been much worn.

PERSONAL.

Miss Mattie Humble, of Somerset street, is spending a vacation at Delaware Water Gap.

Joseph Case, of East Second street, has returned home from a sojourn in the Catskill Mountains.

Miss Alice Dreher, of New York, is visiting at the home of Miss Evelyn Simonson, of Duer street.

After a pleasant vacation in the Adirondacks, Postmaster Bird returned to his duties this morning.

Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Cornelius Schenck and sons, Cornelius and Harold, of West End Park, left today for Spruceton, Green county, N. Y., where they will remain for the month of August, on a farm.

Mr. and Mrs. George D. Hallock and sons, of Washington Park, left today for an extended pleasure trip to Colorado. Mrs. Hallock and the sons returned this week from a pleasant stay in the country.

E. C. Martin, of the firm of Woodhull & Martin, and Mrs. Martin returned this morning from the Thousand Islands, where they have been enjoying their summer outing. Mr. Martin is carrying a fine coat of tan, the result of much fishing in Canadian waters.

Two Societies Present.

Seventh-Day Baptist Christian Endeavorers sent a delegation to Westfield, last evening, to attend the services at the Fresh Air Camp. The Plainfielders found the members of the society of the Rahway Presbyterian church in charge and the two societies joined in a profitable and interesting meeting.

Birthday Honored.

In honor of his birthday, Otto Keller, of Park avenue, was last evening entertained by a number of his friends in Saengerbund Hall. The evening was passed with music, the singing section rendering a number of choruses, and a few short but felicitous address were made.

Get Their Pay.

The members of Company K are requested to return their haversacks to Quartermaster Frederick Pope, 505 Watchung avenue, and receive their checks for the week spent in camp.

Broom Drill.

Grand prizes will be given at Calvary Baptist church tomorrow evening in a broom drill, under the direction of Nelson Batts. A New York choir will render special music.

Mother Always Keeps It Handy.

"My mother suffered a long time from distressing pains and general ill health due primarily to indigestion," says L. W. Spalding, Verona, Mo. "Two years ago I got her to try Kodol. She grew better at once and now, at the age of seventy-six, eats any thing she wants, remarking that she fears no bad effects as she has her bottle of Kodol handy." Don't waste time doctoring symptoms. Go after the cause. If your stomach is sound your health will be good. Kodol rests the stomach and strengthens the body by digesting your food. It is nature's own tonic. L. W. Randolph.

PRIZE FOR MISS FULLER

WON AWARD FOR BEST ESSAY ON "THE PROBATION OFFICER OF NEW JERSEY."

Offered by Mrs. C. B. Alexander, of Hoboken—Honorable Mention to Miss Mabel Jenkins.

In the prize competition for the best essay on "The Probation Office in New Jersey," open to all students in the graduating classes of the High Schools and preparatory schools of this State, the first prize of $35 has been awarded to Miss Lulu H. Fuller and honorable mention to Miss Mable Jenkins both of the High School of this city. The second prize of $15 went to Miss Ethel Feitz, of Trenton.

Miss Fuller's essay will appear today in the Newark News, and the three prize-winning essays will appear in full in the next issue of The New Jersey Review of Charities and Corrections.

The prizes were offered by Mrs. C. B. Alexander, of Hoboken, and the essays were judged at Jersey City in the office of the above-mentioned Review.

Dr. William H. Allen, of the committee of judges, says that the judges thought very highly of all the essays from the Plainfield High School, and that the award was made for apparent originality and local color, together with effective presentation.

Mrs. Elizabeth Tiffany, of this city, had offered a supplementary prize of $5 for the best essay written by a student of the Plainfield High School, and before the essays were sent to Jersey City this prize was awarded by a local committee to Linden W. Bridgeman, with honorable mention to Miss Mabel Jenkins.

Unfortunately, because of its too great length, Mr Bridgeman's essay was excluded from consideration by the committee of judges. Otherwise it is possible that both prizes might have come to students of the local High School.

TO MOVE BUILDING.

Making Room for Woodhull & Martin's New Home.

Building Inspector Doane has granted a permit to Woodhull & Martin for the removal of the frame building on their newly purchased lot on East Front street. It will be set back to the rear and converted into a dwelling place for the man in charge of the stables. The latter will be removed from the present location at Washington avenue and a substantial structure will be erected for the same purpose on the East Front street site. Plans for the building have been filed and approved.

DRAKE RELEASED.

Gave Bail for His Appearance on Charge of Assaulting Korman.

Charles Drake, the young man accused of assaulting Edward Korman, was released on $600 bail from Somerville jail yesterday afternoon. Drake is now at his home in North Plainfield. It is probable that an examination will be held before Justice Mattison Friday. William G. DeMeza, counsel for the accused, will today demand a hearing for his client on that date if the public prosecutor is able to come here. Atrocious assault is the charge against Drake.

LOST A HORSE.

Either the Horse Thieves Has It or Else It Wandered Away.

Herman Klinsman, of Harrison avenue, lost a valuable bay horse last night which either broke out of the pasture on Harrison avenue, or was stolen by some of the horse thieves who have infested the outlying districts of late. Mr. Klinsman reported his loss to the police. In this connection Richard McDonald, janitor of the North Plainfield High School, saw a bay horse at 6 o'clock this morning going up Watchung avenue, headed for the mountains.

NO BURGLAR.

Police Hurriedly Summoned to a Central Ave., Home Last Night.

Respite from burglar scares was rudely shattered last night when a hurried summons was sent to the police station by telephone from the vicinity of West Ninth street and Central avenue. The word was that some one had broken into the house of J. J. DeGraff, of Central avenue. Investigation by the police, however, failed to reveal any evidence of the presence of intruders and it is thought that the informant was alarmed by some foreign noise.

Took a Tumble.

Riding too close to the rear of a wagon caused an unfortunate tumble for a little girl cyclist on Park avenue yesterday afternoon. The vehicle stopped suddenly and the wheel collided sharply, throwing the rider to the ground. She was unhurt, but badly soiled as to apparel.

WATER CO. ENLARGES CAPACITY OF PUMPS

Will Enlarge Pumping Station to Meet the Increased Demands of Last Few Years.

HUGE PUMP EXPECTED.

WILL BE EQUAL TO TWO PUMPS NOW IN USE THERE.

Foundation Ready and Waits Arrival of New One—Suction Pipes From Wells to Pump Are Being Lowered—What Will Result.

The Plainfield Water Supply Company has been busy for several months in making extensive changes and improvements in its pumping station at Netherwood and it is not expected that the work will be finished before the beginning of next year. The pumping station was originally designed for the city of Plainfield only, not even including the borough, and was partly constructed by the Water Works Company when it was purchased by the present company and completed subsequently according to the original design. Subsequently the company's system of mains was extended throughout the borough and still later the Union Water Company laid a main from Netherwood to Elizabeth with lateral systems in all the intervening towns and obtained water from the Netherwood pumping station for its customers. In this way the pumping station came to be out of proportion to the systems of mains—nearly eighty miles in all—supplied by it, and the extensions of the mains made since the works were bulit, more than ten years ago, have increased the disproportion.

Last winter the company decided to enlarge its pumping plant, so as to be able to cope with all demands likely to be made upon it for several years to come. The first step was to order a new pump, to be made by Worthington, having a capacity to pump 5,000,000 galions a day. The order was given in January and the pump is still in course of construction in Brooklyn. It is to be a duplex triple expansion pumping engine with all the modern and approved devices for efficiency and economy in operation. It will be placed in the main part of the building where the pumps now in use originally stood, but the top of its foundation will be twenty-one feet below the surface of the ground. That is as low as it is possible to draw the water down by means of the two pumps now in use, one having a capacity of 3,000,000 and the other of 2,000,000 gallons a day.

The new pump will be vertical, that is, the water cylinders will be down in the bottom of the pumping pit, actually below the normal level of the water in the wells and the steam cylinders, six in number, three on each side of the pump, will rise to a point about fifteen feet above the surface of the ground, the height of the pumps being about thirty-six feet in all. By this arrangement the company will not be required to lift water by suction—except possibly for a few feet while pumping rapidly—it being considered better practice to force water up rather tnan lift it by suction any further than is absolutely necessary.

The pit in which the new pump will stand is a perfect circle, having an inside diameter of eighteen feet. It was excavated inside of the stone building and within six feet of the brick chimney, without causing a single crack in the walls. To prevent the walls and chimney from falling the excavation was made inside of an iron tank without a bottom. The tank was riveted together inside of the building. It consists of three rings each seven feet wide and each being twenty feet in diameter. As soon as the first ring was riveted together the earth inside was excavated and the ring jarred down as fast as the earth was taken out. When the excavation had reached a depth of seven feet the second ring was riveted on top of the first and the excavation continued for seven feet more. Then the third ring was put on and the excavation continued to a depth of twenty-one feet. A pulsometer was kept in operation to remove the water as the work progressed. The iron rings were thoroughly coated inside and out with asphaltum before being sunk and afterwards they were lined with several courses of tar paper, then a brick wall was laid up in cement against the iron inside and the inside

TALK OF WESTFIELD GAME

THE DAILY PRESS' PLAN MEETS WITH GENERAL FAVOR.

The League Managers Believe That Manager Denman's Offer Should be Accepted.

Since The Daily Press has taken in hand the matter of a baseball game with the Westfield nine, a good deal of activity has been aroused in league circles. The league managers all feel that an opportunity should be given Manager Denman's aggregation to make good the boast that they can whip anything Plainfield can produce. Captain McLaughlin, of the Y. M. C. A., is of the opinion that a team can be formed here which can defeat Westfield, or at least retire with honors even.

As has been previously stated, The Press has secured two open dates from the Westfield team for games with a Plainfield nine. That nine may be the pennant winners alone, or the winners strengthened by men chosen from the other league clubs. Secretary George E. Firstbrook, of the league, will go to Westfield this or tomorrow evening, and have an interview with Manager Denman in respect to The Daily Press contest. Action will probably be taken at the next meeting of the executive committee.

DEATH OF MRS. WHITNEY.

Past Four Score, a Well-Known Woman Passed Away Yesterday.

Mrs. Mary M. Whitney, who has been a resident of Plainfield for the past sixteen years, died yesterday afternoon at 4:40 o'clock at her home in Orange place. Old age and a complication of troubles was the cause of death.

Mrs. Whitney, who was the mother of Miss Whitney, now Mrs. Frank Hyde, of Worcester, Mass., a former teacher in the Plainfield High School, was born in Albany, N. Y. She was in her eighty-first year. She was a loving and devoted mother and her death is a great loss.

Mrs. Whitney leaves three daughters, Miss Isabelle T. Whitney, of Albany, N. Y.; Mrs. Frank Hyde, of Worcester, and Mrs. Anna M. McKee, of Plainfield. She also leaves a sister in Albany, who is nearly ninety years of ago. The funeral services will be held at Albany Saturday morning.

FOUND CARRIER PIGEON.

L. M. Dunavan is Keeping it While Awaiting Word From Owner.

L. M. Dunavan, of East Second street, has in his possession a homing pigeon brought to him by a young man named Robert Pound, who found it in a vacant lot, where it was being annoyed by dogs. The bird bears the marks I. P. C. 382-1901, J. 23530, J. 17513, and the address Charles Downey, Atlantic Highlands, Paterson. Mr. Dunavan this morning wrote to the address mentioned. Meanwhile the bird has been placed in Mr. Dunavan's coop, where he has some thirty or forty fine young homers of his own.

Named After Plainfield.

Plainfield is the scene of a story in the current number of the Argosy and the name of a well-known family here is used in the tale as that of the hostess of a house party held here. The writer makes one mistake in allowing New Yorkers to reach here via the Twenty-third street ferry, which belongs to the Pennsylvania Railroad.

I. C. T. Club Excursion.

The I. C. T. Club is planning for a trolley excursion to Riverside Park, Monday evening, August 10. A special meeting of the club is called for tomorrow evening to make arrangements for the chartering of a special car to Asbury Park to accompany the excursion of Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., August 14.

Fun and Pleasure.

There will be fun and pleasure for atl who go with Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M. on the annual excursion to Asbury Park American Day, August 14. The committee in charge will do all in its power to make the day a pleasant one for everybody.

Experiences at Camp.

At the Rescue Mission meeting at the First Church of Christ this evening W. F. Richards will relate his experiences while in camp at Sea Girt with Company K. A programme of music and singing will be carried out.

Bridge Committee Meeting.

The bridge committee from the Union County Board of Freeholders will hold a meeting in this city Friday afternoon to accept the plans for the new bridges to be erected at Jackson avenue and Berckman street.

PING-PONG DOUBLES.

Were the Attractions in a Tournament Given at Park Avenue Hotel Last Evening.

Twenty-four couples thoroughly enjoyed the ping-pong tournament for doubles given last evening at the Park Avenue Hotel under the direction of the manager, John D. Bailey. The novel game proved a strong attraction and the interest of all the participants was manifested to the very end of the contest.

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Bailey won the first prize, while the second honors were giver to Miss Helen Brower and Gordon Cameron. The third prize was won by Mrs. Harry Squires and Homer Smith. Mrs. Henry Stothoff and Hugh Pierce played a fine game up to the third round when they were defeated. Miss Leila Howard and Harry Squires were the next best players.

Tomorrow evening the regular euchre party will be given and next Monday evening the attraction will be the weekly dance.

BABY SHOW IN SOMERSET

SOUTH BRANCH PLANS TO FOLLOW ASBURY PARK'S EXAMPLE.

Written to the Park's Commission to Know How to Run a Baby Show.

"We have the babies, but what shall we do with them?" is the pitiable appeal which comes from the little village of South Branch. The question is not as to the best scheme for getting rid of the youngsters, nor yet as to the proper methods of raising them, but simply how the charms of South Branch babydom can best be displayed to the world at large. The interrogation as to points has just been made to the Baby Parade Commission of Asbury Park, with a view to instituting a similar celebration in the Somerset county hamlet.

If arrangements can be made, a church fair soon to be held will be the scene of the infant exhibition. The writers of the communication to the Park commission ask for photographs of the coming show at the shore and all possible information. Any authority on babies and baby shows could probably make good money at South Branch engineering the coming festivities.

HUNGRY BURGLAR.

Captured Early Yesterday Morning in Annex of Bound Brook Hotel.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bound Brook, July 31—Officer Sebring caught a burglar about 4 o'clock yesterday morning in the Hotel Annex. He had forced an entrance through the kitchen window. When asked what he was doing there, he replied that he was hungry and had gone in to get something to eat. Justice Brampton committed him to county jail at Somerville to await the action of the Grand Jury. He gave his name as Charles Williams and his place of residence as Winstead, Conn. He is colored.

Off for Golden Gate.

Charles McGinley, with his wife and daughter, will start Monday for a trip across the continent to San Francisco. Charley will attend the Supreme Lodge session of the Knights of Pythias as the main object of the journey, but he is said to have longing desires to see Chinatown and the Golden Gate. He expects to bring back a piece of the "gate" as a souvenir.

In Honor of Guest.

In honor of Miss Gertie Monk, of Philadelphia, an evening company was held Tuesday at the home of Miss Lottie Sullivan, of South Second street. Social amusement of various kinds occupied the large number of guests pleasantly until a late hour, when refreshments were served prior to the dispersion of the party for home.

From Iron Box to Jewel Case.

All styles of receptacles are used for silverware and jewelry. The vaults of the City National Bank are offered for storage of boxes, trunks, silver chests, and dainty jewel cases. For the latter, many people avail themselves of a private safe deposit box, of which this bank has about five hundred.

Doors Are Safe.

A new and substantial pair of cellar doors have been placed in front of Flynn Brothers' shoe store on West Front street, replacing the old worn-out and unsafe doors that have been there for a long time.

Needs of Hospital.

Muhlenberg Hospital needs jams and jellies for daily use. Any contributions from its friends will be gladly received.

CITY'S MILK SUPPLY IS NOW IMPROVING

Furnished by Forty-Two Retail and One Wholesale Dealer to People of Plainfield.

TAKING MORE CARE.

HEALTH OFFICER THURLOW IS NOW IN CHARGE OF THAT DEPARTMENT.

His Efforts Have Resulted in An Improvement on the Part of the Dealers—Will be Ready to Enforce New Health Code Soon.

It is a question of considerable interest to residents of Plainfield and North Plainfield as to the milk supply in this section. On a few occasions poor milk and the too careless handling of it has resulted in the outbreak of disease and it is a fact that dealers cannot be too careful as to where and how they get the milk they sell and how they handle it before it gets to the consumer. Since the Plainfield Board of Health has placed Health Office Leon R. Thurlow in charge of a certain department of the board's work, there has been less trouble with the milk supply, although in some cases it has been a difficult task to bring the careless dealers up to the mark.

It will surprise the people of Plainfield to know that only a very small percentage of the dealers, three in all, have taken out certificates at the Board of Health. There are forty-two retail milk dealers and one wholesale dealer selling milk in Plainfield. This milk comes from ninety dairies, some good, some indifferent. These dairies are located at Mt. Pleasant, New Market, Stirling, Greenbrook road, Finderne, Raritan and Budd's Lake, any where from a half mile to forty miles from the city.

Mr. Thurlow now keeps a detailed record of the milk supplied by each dealer as well as the condition under which it is produced. Prior to this year no such report was kept and therefore this year's result cannot be judged by that of preceding years, but taking into consideration the supply is believed to be ahead of last year's as regards purity and sanitary conditions.

Mr. Thurlow has been kept in his office a great deal during the past two months and has not been able to make as frequent inspections as he would like. As soon as he returns from his vacation he will take up this part of his work with renewed vigor and when the new health code is adopted in its complete form, he will enforce every provision of it, which he will have authority to do.

It is estimated that between 4,000 and 5,000 quarts of milk are sold in Plainfield every day. A large majority of the dealers keep their own cows, while there are a few who depend on farmers for the supply of milk for their customers. There is a tendency to better the conditions of producing milk.

According to the best health rules there are two very important things that will give the best results. The first thing is absolute cleanliness in producing the milk, that is about the cow barns, cows, and with the milkers. In the second place the milk must be properly cooled and the best authority says that the milk should be kept at 55 degrees, no higher, until it reaches the hands of the consumer. By doing this very little trouble is likely to happen in the way of sour milk. It has been learned that many dealers are gradually adopting the plan of areating milk. This is considered a safe and sure way of handling it.

Last week Mr. Thurlow received a sample of milk which was produced on July 10. It was perfectly sweet and no trouble was experienced in keeping it. Of course, it was iced and had been produced under the best of condition. But it only shows what can be done in the way of selling pure milk. However, Plainfield is considered fortunate as regards her milk supply. In larger cities the risk is much greater for the outbreak of disease through milk, but it is the purpose of the health officer to raise the standard until it is the best possible and there is not a dealer who should not assist him in his commendable effort.

Trolley Party Postponed.

The Retail Clerks' trolley party, which was to have gone to Boynton Beach last evening, was postponed on account of the inclement weather. A date will be arranged for the excursion on some evening next week.

COMPANY K PAID.

Checks Received at Last Night's Meeting and No More Drills Until Next Fall.

Warm weather has led to orders being issued with regard to the National Guard, discontinuing all drill work until fall. The word was received by the local company at the meeting last night and it was much appreciated. The commanders believe that the experience gained by the men during the recent week in camp has been such as to allow a shutting down of the work for the summer, without impairing the efficiency of the militia.

Another matter equally acceptable to the Company K boys last night was the receipt of their checks in payment for the week spent in the field. The pay arrived yesterday and was immediately distributed among the men. The promptness with which the accounts were made is said to be owing to the watchfulness of Colonel Collins, who saw that the books were in proper shape so as to avoid delay.

METHODISTS BRAVED RAIN

ANNUAL SUNDAY-SCHOOL EXCURSION TO SHORE STARTED THIS MORNING.

Fifteen Cars Were Filled With Old and Young—Didn't Mind the Lowering Skies.

Lowering skies and newspaper predictions of rainy weather had no effect this morning on the local Methodists, who turned out to the extent of fifteen carloads for their annual excursion to Asbury Park. Fifteen coaches and a baggage car comprised the train, and of these all but two were crowded, while the two contained a fair sprinkling of passengers. The train was in charge of Conductor Frank Webster, of North Plainfield.

Promptly at 8 o'clock, the train pulled away from North Avenue station. Except for a small number of West Enders taken on at Clinton and Grant avenue, the Plainfielders were all at the main depot. The Dunellenites were out in goodly numbers, being the first to board the train. The three local churches, the First, Monroe Avenue and Grace, were represented by about an equal number of Sunday-school children.

After the train had gone, several delinquents appeared on the scene, seeking the missing excursion. Two parties, of three and four each, were all that were apparently left behind. They were at the station in time to see the rear of the train disappearing in the distance.

ACCIDENT CASES.

Counselor Clark Has Been Retained to Represent Plaintiffs.

Counselor Robert M. Clark has been retained by Walter Smalley and Andrew Dixon, the two men injured at the Main street crossing of the P. R. R. in Rahway last week.

Mr. Clark has another accident case, in which papers will be filed tomorrow, demanding $5,000 for injuries alleged to have been incurred by Mrs. Eliza Bonnell, of Elizabeth, through the carelessness of the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Railway. The accident occurred at Elizabeth on June 10, as Mrs. Bonnell was about to board a car. She was thrown to the street, and accuses the conductor of having started the car while she was upon the step.

Death of Young Son.

Kenneth Randolph, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Randolph, of Metuchen, died yesterday of cholera infantum. Funeral services will be held tomorrow and interment made in the North Plainfield cemetery.

Republican Primaries.

Republican primaries for the voters of the borough will be held in Saengerbund Hall tomorrow night to elect delegates to the Congressional convention of the Fourth district at Flemington, August 5.

Of Special Interest to Men.

The members of the Y. M. C. A. have planned a meeting of special interest to men to be held in the hall Sunday at 4 o'clock. Particulars will be announced later.

Trolley Bridge Nearly Completed.

Now that the work on the trolley bridge at Picton has been allowed to proceed, it is expected that within a couple of weeks the structure will be completed.

Fine Roadway.

The work of macadamizing West Front street, between Clinton avenue and the city line is about completed, thus making a fine roadway.

Wm. Sharp, the money-order clerk at the postoffice, started on his annual vacation yesterday.

BACK FROM CAMP WAWAYANDA

BOYS' SECRETARY ROBBIE AND THIRTEEN BOYS RETURNED YESTERDAY.

Had a Delightful Two Weeks' Outing at the Camp in Orange County.

Kenneth Robbie, the boys' secretary of the Y. M. C. A., accompanied by thirteen members of the association, returned home last evening after spending a week's outing at Camp Wawayanda, Orange county, New York. The boys who were with Mr. Robbie at the camp were Ernest Jackson, George M. Rittenhouse, Jr., Arthur VanArsdale, Malcolm VanArsdale, George L. Kenney, Robert S. Hamilton, William L. Heath, Frederick McClintock, Byron McClintock, Carl A. Steiner, Jerry L. Manning, F. C. Emmons and William Burtis.

Camp Wawayanda is now closed for the season after being open since July 1. The Plainfield boys report that during their stay there a most pleasant and profitable fortnight was spent. The parents of some of the boys visited the camp last Saturday and expressed themselves as highly delighted with the site and the accommodation afforded.

The Plainfield contingent captured second place in an athletic contest between different associations. Two hundred boys competed in the various events. Carl Steiner won a first place in the high jump, Robert Hamilton a first in a 220 yards dash, and Jerry Manning a first in a one hundred yards dash. Several other of the city boys captured second places.

A baseball league furnished much interest for lovers of the game at the camp, aquatic sports were very popular, and during the evenings several entertainments were given.

TO BUILD NURSES HOME.

Women's Auxiliary Has Undertaken It and Mr. Mumford Will Solicit.

The members of the Woman's Auxiliary to the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital have offered to undertake the raising of the money necessary for the building of a nurses home on the new site for the hospital, and they suggested that B. A. Mumford, of this city, be authorized to solicit donations in behalf of the Board for the purpose.

At the recent meeting of the Board of Governors the auxiliary board was requested to raise the money necessary for the proposed building and the suggestion that Mr. Mumford be authorized to solicit donations was approved. This commendable work to be undertaken by the women will no doubt meet with hearty and cordial support from those interested.

Claassen Arrested.

Embezzlement is the charge brought against Wm. Claassen, of this city, by Ralph Mabie, of New York, manager of a roofing concern, with whom the Plainfielder had had business relations. Complaint was made before Justice Kelly, of Elizabeth, and Claassen was arrested at his home on Liberty street last night. He was released under $500 bail for appearance next Tuesday. The amount of the alleged appropriation is $289.82.

Hearing for Drake.

Charles Drake, accused of atrocious assault on the person of Edward Korman, and now out on bail, will appear for a hearing Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock before Justice Mattison. The public prosecutor from Somerville will conduct the case for the people.

Too Much to Drink.

Job Lannon, under the influence of liquor, was arrested by Borough Chief Campbell yesterday afternoon on Park place, near Dner street, and locked up in the station house. He will appear before Recorder Doud this evening.

Meeting at Westfield's Camp.

Hope chapel's Christain Endeavorers are arranging for a meeting to be held under their auspices at the Westfield Fresh Air Camp within the next few weeks. If possible, the date will be either August 13 or 20.

Just Missed Steam Roller.

The Dunellen-Netherwood trolley car, on the 10 o'clock trip this morning, grazed the steam roller on East Front street, knocking a huge splinter out of the step-board. No other damage was done.

Judgment for Plaintiff.

Judgment has been rendered in the case of John Hartpence against Harry John for $40 in Justice Huff's court. F. J. Blatz is counsel for Hartpence.

Resetting Trolley Tracks.

The trolley tracks in the Netherwood district are being reset and the roadbed otherwise improved by a large gang of men.

GREAT MEETING OF THE CRACK RIFLEMEN

Big Shooting Tournament to Start at Sea Girt Ranges the Last of Next Month.

IT BEGINS AUGUST 29.

EVENTS OF NATIONAL, NEW JERSEY AND REVOLVER ASSOCIATIONS.

Marksmen Will Come From All Parts of the Country to Try for the Different Trophies, Many of Which Are Famous.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Sea Girt, July 31—The official programme of the interstate shooting tournament of the National Rifle Association of America, the New Jersey State Rifle Association, and the United States Revolver Association, which will be held at Sea Girt from August 29 to September 6, inclusive, has been issued.

The Wimbledon cup match, to be shot in squadded competition, will open the tournament. The Wimbledon cup was presented to the National Rifle Association of America by the National Rifle Association of Great Britain.

The famous Hilton trophy match will be shot Tuesday, September 2. The contestants will include teams from the United States army and marine corps and the National Guard of the several states, including the District of Columbia. The competition is also open to England, Ireland, Scotland and each of the provinces of Great Britain.

The trophy was presented in 1878 by the late Henry Hilton, of New York, to be shot for annually at Sea Girt. The trophy, which is valued at $3,000, is now in the possession of the National Guard of the District of Columbia.

The Interstate Military Match will be held September 4, open to the army, navy and marine corps of the United States, the National Guard of the several states or territories and the District of Columbia.

The prize, which consists of a bronze figure of the "Soldier of Marathon," valued at $350, is now in the possession of the adjutant-general of New Jersey.

The fourth event will be the President's match, to be shot Saturday, September 6, in squadded competition. The match will be for the military championship of the United States, for which medals will be awarded.

The fifth event will be for the championship of the National Rifle Association, open to members only.

The Lust cup match will be shot Friday, September 5, open to all at distances of 800, 900 and 1,000 yards. Besides the cup, three other prizes will be awarded.

The inter-club match, for the rifle club championship of the United States, is scheduled for Labor Day, open to teams of five men from any rifle club or association in the United States.

The remainder of the programme will be devoted to matches between members of the New Jersey State Rifle Association. This will include members' match, all comers' military match, and the Hayes and Meany medal matches.

The New Jersey State Rifle Association Trophy Match, has for its awards, besides the trophy medal, four special prizes, valued at $20, $15, $10 and $5.

The consolation match, an event set apart for those who have never won a prize in any individual match at any of the meetings of the New Jersey State Rifle Association, will be shot on the 200 and 300 yard ranges, with five shots at each distance.

The Perrine memorial match, open to officers and enlisted men of the National Guard of New Jersey, to be shot at distances of 200 and 300 yards.

The inspector's match, open to all inspectors and former inspectors of rifle practice, will be shot Saturday, August 30, at distances of 500 and 600 yards.

The Spencer match, for a gold medal, presented by Brigadier-General Bird W. Spencer, Inspector-General of Rifle Practice of New Jersey, will be one of the most interesting events on the programme. The shoot will be open to everybody at distances of 800 and 1,000 yards, with seven rounds at each distance.

The tenth event in the tournament will be for a gold medal presented by Lieutenant-Colonel Richard B. Read-

THEATRICAL.

Big bills of ideal summer vaudeville are maintained at Proctor's Twenty-third Street Theatre, New York, the topping feature of next week being Alice J. Shaw and her twin daughters in their clever whistling specialties. John Dunne & Co. will present "The First Lesson" as the leading dramatic sketch. Jessie Mae Hall will lead the Proctor Stock Company in a special production of her own play, "The Priucess of Patches," at the Fifth Avenue Theatre. Wallace Erskine will play the leading role in "David Garrick" at the One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street, supported by a favorite cast made up from the Proctor Stock Co. Last week's success of the play at the Fifth Avenue gives assurance of a great hit in Harlem. "Tue Wild Rose" will be the curtain raiser. Over in Newark another big bill of summer vaudeville has been scheduled. Low prices—special for the summer season—are charged for the evening performances. Chester Blodgett Johnson, bicycle expert; Ascott and Eddy, acrobats; Carrie Ezier and Nellie Webb; Haight and Dean; Fields and Wolley; the Garritty Sisters and Isabelle Sager will be leaders in a bill of a full dozen specialists.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Anna Most, of Myrtle avenue, is spending the summer in Maryland.

Mrs. L. H. Biglow, Jr., of Central avenue, is convalescing from a recent illness.

Lawrence Milne, of Willow avenue, has returned from his vacation spent at Westport, Conn.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. McGee, of Orchard palce, North Plainfield, are anticipating a trip to the Yellowstone Park.

DeWitt C. Brokaw and family, of Sycamore avenue, left today for Oyster Bay, L. I., where they will remain for a time.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Dreier, of West Front street, who have been spending a week in New York State, have returned home.

Mrs. Moore and daughter, Miss Carrie Moore, accompanied by the Misses Wood, of Central avenue, are summering in Maine.

Former Borough Councilman John Valiant and family, of Myrtle avenue, left today for Mouse Island, Me., where they will spend their vacation.

Acts Immediately.

Colds are sometimes more troublesome in summer than in winter, it's so hard to keep from adding to them while cooling off after exercise. One Minute Cough Cure cures at once. Absolutely safe. Acts immediately. Sure cure for coughs, colds, croup, throat and lung troubles. L. W. Randolph.

New Jersey Night at Manhattan Beach.

New Jersey night will be celebrated with one of those brilliant displays of fireworks, which occasionally are made the special features on particular occasions in the Amphitheatre at Manhattan Beach, on the evening of Thursday, August 7. Notwithstanding the elaborate programme in preparation there will be no curtailment in the grand spectacle of "Ancient Rome" which will be seen in all its brilliancy and with all the exciting and interesting sights of the chariot races, grand ballets and choruses, imposing processions, acrobatic feats and exploits on the wire rope extended at considerable height across the full length of the lake in front of the great stage of the amphitheatre. The great number of people from our next door neighbor, the State of New Jersey, suggested to Mr. Pain the idea of making a special night for the people of Jersey. A fire picture of Governor Franklin Murphy will be one of the conspicuous set pictures fired on the occasion. To judge from the preparations being made, the "Jersey Night" programme will rank among the most interesting pyrotechnical exhibitions of the season. c

Vacation Days.

Vacation time is here and the children are fairly living out of doors. There could be no healthier place for them. You need only to guard against the accidents incidental to most open air sports. No remedy equals DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve for quickly stopping pain or removing danger of serious consequences. For cuts, scalds and wounds. "I used DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve for sores, cuts and bruises," says L. B. Johnson, Swift, Tex. "It is the best remedy on the market." Sure cure for piles and skin diseases. Beware of counterfeits. L. W. Randolph.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

If City Judge William N. Runyon, of Plainfield, is at all superstitious, he should at once withdraw from the contest for State Senator. He is advertising for a lost charm.—Newark News.

An old fireman of Plainfield has been very signally honored by both the President of France and the Emperor of Germany, a silver medal having been conferred upon him by the former and one of gold by the latter. The fire laddies of that city are to be congratulated upon their having been recognized by two so prominent rulers. The local fire fighters, though quite as worthy, have not been the beneficiaries of such a pleasant experience, possibly because they have been so busy as to be unable to journey to Europe and exhibit their skill and prowess before kings and presidents.—Elizabeth Journal.

President Roosevelt's praise of General Quincy O'M. Gillmore was praise indeed, but no more than the sturdy old warrior deserved. Nowhere is the General's efficiency better recognized than in New Brunswick. In Rutgers College he is known as the disciplinarian who brought the cadet corps to its highest point of excellence, and in the town he is known as the commander of the Second Regiment, one of whose companies is stationed here. Trenton may pride herself in being General Gillmore's home, but New Brunswick lays claim to being the scene of some of his best endeavors.—New Brunswick Home News.

The Plainfield Press says that Andrew McCardell of that city as a bona fide candidate for sheriff, notwithstanding Judge Runyon's alleged candidacy for senator. It adds that this fact complicates the political situation still further. We think not. If Mr. McCardell is a candidate for sheriff he will get the nomination in all probability; but it will greatly reduce Judge Runyon's chances. The fact is simply this, Judge Runyon is, at best, an experiment. Senator Cross is one of the best and most satisfactory senators this county has ever had, and one of the highest respected legislators in the whole State of New Jersey. Union county cannot afford any such change as Judge Runyon's candidacy suggests.—Elizabeth Journal.

"If a reporter calls upon you in search of information concerning facts with which you are well acquainted," says the Burlington Enterprise, "don't turn him down with the excuse that you don't want it published, and then complain if the story you find printed does not suit your fastidious ideas. We are here to print the news and print it we will, and if a statement is not forthcoming from those particularly and originally interested in the affair in question, you may rely on us to do the next best thing—get our information from other sources. The news must be published." There is a germ of solid common sense in the above. The newspapers must have the news—all the news that's fit to print—or they will not be newspapers and will soon go out of business. But there is still another feature which those who keep back the news rarely consider. As a rule, it is impossible to prevent news from spreading. If an attempt is made to suppress it, suspicion is aroused and the story is then spread like wildfire, with innumerable additions, exaggerations and inuendoes. Long experience has shown that the truth is best, and that to publish a true story checks all rumors and exaggerations, since the report printed in the papers is generally accepted by the people and practically ends the matter.—Elizabeth Journal.

Again the improvement of the meadow lands of East Jersey comes to the front. This time it is said that a company with twenty-five millions back of it proposes to buy up land along the coast and the Hackensack and Passaic rivers, with a view to their development and improvement as manufacturing and residence sites. There is no part of the State more susceptible of quick improvement with generous returns than the marsh lands which fringe the Hackensack rand Passaic rivers. A system of dykes would make them habitable and useful, and their proximity to railroads and water transportation give advantages which have been manifested by several of the largest manufacturing enterprises in the State. The marsh lands along Staten Island sound from Elizabeth to Perth Amboy have all been taken up by private owners and a branch railroad run along them, with the result that Elizabeth and Rahway marshes have become a hive of industry. The most of the factories utilize their waste by filling in the land and so have doubled their holdings of fast land and at no expense. The Newark meadows are susceptible of the same treatment and with equal profit. It is, therefore, not surprising that capital has sought them out for investment.—Trenton True American.

A TREASURER IN TROUBLE.

Bowker Fertilizer Company Likely to Lose Heavily.

BOSTON, July 31. — With the announcement of the assignment of the Dudley Hosiery mills at Newton Upper Falls came a report in financial circles of the misuse of notes of the Bowker Fertilizer company to the extent of $120,000 by Treasurer Henry F. Coe of the hosiery mills, who also had been treasurer of the Bowker company.

The report affecting Mr. Coe's financial administration was confirmed by Frederick Higginson, who succeeded him as treasurer of the Bowker company three weeks ago, he stating that Coe had confessed to the officers of the Bowker company that he had taken the money, represented by $120,000 in notes. Mr. Higginson added that it was yet impossible to learn from the company's books the exact sum lost.

Coe's troubles grew out of the difficulty of borrowing money upon the Dudley mills paper and the ease with which the banks were persuaded to accept paper of the Bowker company. Coe used the Bowker company's credit for the benefit of the Dudley mills, concealing the transactions for some time.

The Bowker company has entered an attachment for $200,000 against the Dudley Hosiery mills, but as the latter company has been placed in the hands of a receiver and is a small concern there is little hope that the Bowker company will receive much by the liquidation.

The Chinese Indemnity.

WASHINGTON, July 31.—A report from Shanghai that the United States and Great Britain had abandoned their efforts to get the powers to agree to accept payment of China's indemnity in silver at the value of the silver tael prevailing when the indemnity protocol became effective is pronounced on authority to be untrue so far as this government is concerned. Contrary to the report, the United States is still insisting that the proper interpretation of the protocol is that the then tael value should continue to be recognized for the entire period of payment. The tael then rated at 74.2 cents, and the protocol provided that payments should be made in gold with the tael recognized as being of that value. It is estimated that payment under the rule insisted upon by a majority of the powers will compel China to pay $70,000,000 more than the amount of total indemnity fixed in the protocol.

Iowa Republicans Nominate.

DES MOINES, Ia., July 31.—The Republican state convention yesterday named the following ticket: Secretary of state, W. B. Martin; auditor of state, B. F. Carroll; treasurer of state, Gilbert S. Gilbertson; attorney general, C. W. Mullan; judge of supreme court, Scott M. Ladd; judge of supreme court (short term), Charles A. Bishop; clerk supreme court, John C. Crockett; supreme court reporter, W. W. Cornwall. Nearly 1,100 delegates attended the convention, practically full delegations representing every county. The only controversy was over the tariff and trust utterances of the platform, and that was settled in the committee on resolutions in favor of a reiteration of last year's utterances, with an addition to the trust plank congratulating President Roosevelt on the inauguration of judicial proceedings to enforce the anti-trust laws.

Gotti Favorable to Americans.

ROME, July 31.—Cardinal Gotti, the newly appointed prefect of the propaganda, said regarding his elevation by the pope, "I neither expected nor wished my appointment; but, like a soldier, when my chief commands I obey." The appointment has produced a favorable impression. It is generally believed that American affairs will be dealt with under Cardinal Gotti with greater equanimity than under his predecessor, Cardinal Ledochowski, who had the reputation of favoring Germans and Poles to the detriment of Irish-Americans.

Michigan Democrats Meet.

DETROIT, Mich., July 31.—The Democratic state convention to nominate a governor and state officers convened in Light Guard armory late yesterday and will continue in session until tonight. There appears to be a lack of competition for the nominations. Several prominent Democrats suggested for the nomination for governer have declared their unwillingness to make the run.

RIOT AND BLOODSHED

Four Policemen and a Score of Strikers Shot.

SCAB MINERS MOBBED AT SHENANDOAH

The Sheriff Asks the Governor For Troops—It Is Estimated That One Thousand Shots Were Fired. Story of the Fight.

SHENANDOAH, Pa., July 31.—A score of strikers and four policemen were shot in a riot here last evening, and Joseph Beddall, cousin of Sheriff Beddall, was beaten so badly that there is but slight chance of his recovery. The others seriously injured are:

Frank Uraitis, a policeman, shot through the head, will die; Chief of Police Fry, shot in arm and badly beaten, condition serious; Policeman Rengheisher, shot in shoulder and hand and beaten with stones and clubs, condition serious.

One other officer and about twenty of the strikers were wounded. The condition of the injured strikers is not known, as they were hurried away by friends. Sheriff Beddall soon arrived from Pottsville and at once asked the governor for troops.

The trouble started about 6 o'clock in the evening, when Deputy Sheriff Thomas Beddall attempted to escort two nonunion workers through the strikers' line of pickets. The workmen were dressed in their street clothes, but one of them carried a bundle under his arm, and this aroused the suspicion of the strikers. The bundle was torn from him, and when it was found to contain a blouse and overalls the man was taken from the deputy and beaten almost to death.

In the meantime Beddall opened fire on the mob which had gathered by this time and emptied his revolver. Two of the shots took effect, one man being shot in the leg and another in the foot. The deputy and the other strike breaker were now compelled to fly for their lives and took refuge in the Philadelphia and Reading railroad depot. The depot was soon surrounded by an angry mob of 5,000, which was becoming more threatening and demonstrative every moment. Joseph Beddall, a hardware merchant and brother of the deputy sheriff, was seen making his way through the crowd in an effort to reach his brother, and the mob, divining that he was carrying ammunition to those inside the depot, seized him and beat him with clubs and billies into insensibility. He died en route to the Miners' hospital.

Shortly after this the entire borough police force arrived on the scene and escorted the deputy sheriff and his man to an engine which had been backed into the depot for that purpose. When the mob realized that their prey was about to escape, they surrounded the engine, and the engineer was afraid to move. In a few moments, however, the police fired a volley, dispersing the crowd for a brief period, and the engineer turned on full steam and got away with his men. Stones were now thrown thick and fast about the heads of the police, whereupon Chief John Fry gave the order to fire. At the first volley the mob fell back, and several were seen to fall.

Their retreat, however, was but momentary. They turned, and, with revolvers, stones and even a few shotguns, they charged on the little band of policemen and made them fly for their lives. The policemen turned in their flight at short intervals and fired volley after volley at their merciless pursuers, but the mob seemed thoroughly infuriated, and smoking revolvers seemed to have no terror for them. When the Lehigh railroad crossing was reached, a passing freight train blocked the progress of the police, two of whom were caught and most brutally beaten.

It is estimated that upward of 1,000 shots were fired, and the wonder is that more fatalities did not result.

Seven Miners Held For Trial.

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 31.—Seven striking miners have been held in $300 bail each for trial on the charge of threatening the lives of Charles Frank and family. The defendants, it is alleged, have frequently threatened bodily harm to Frank, who is employed as a pumpman in the mines at Lykens.

Troops Ordered Out.

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 31.—At 11:45 p. m. the Eighth and Twelfth regiments and governor's troop were ordered to Shenandoah.

Daily Rain Does Great Damage.

MEADVILLE, Pa., July 31. — The long continued rains have played havoc with the farmers of Crawford county, and the damage to wheat, corn, hay, oats and potato crops will aggregate hundreds of thousands of dollars. There has been rain every day since June 30, and a downpour of twenty-four hours' duration is not uncommon. Wheat is growing in the shock, and the grain will be worthless except as feed for hogs.

Situation In Haiti.

CAPE HAITIEN, Haiti, July 31.—General Albert Salnave, commanding an army in support of M. Firmin's candidacy for the presidency, is camped with a large body of troops about three miles from this place. General Nord, who went out to give battle to General Salnave, was defeated, and his army retreated in panic to Cape Haitien. The volunteers have abandoned their posts.

Postmaster Shot by Robbers.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., July 31.—L. D. Zimmerman, postmaster for a quarter of a century at Linnville, this state, has been fatally shot by two robbers, who secured over $500 in money.

BASEBALL TEAM HIT

One Killed and Six Injured at a Railway Crossing.

ILION STATE LEAGUERS THE VICTIMS

Accident Occurred at Binghamton, N. Y., While En Route to the Field For a Match Game.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., July 31.—The band wagon which was conveying the Ilion baseball team to Suburban park yesterday afternoon was struck at the Broad street crossing in Lestershire by Erie train No. 2 and the driver instantly killed, and six others were injured, one seriously. Both horses were also instantly killed.

The dead and injured are: Charles H. Lewis, colored, driver, Binghamton, skull fractured, instantly killed; Arthur Signor, seven years old, Binghamton, left leg cut off, three severe scalp wounds, injuries serious; L. W. Hess, Nanticoke, Pa., left leg broken, injured internally, bruised about body; Harry Hess, Nanticoke, Pa., pitcher Ilion team, back wrenched, bruised about body; Howard J. Earl, New York city, manager Ilion team, back wrenched, badly bruised; George Hanley, Oswego, right fielder Ilion team, back wrenched; Charles Morse, Auburn, Me., pitcher Ilion team, back and neck wrenched, bruised about body.

The other occupants of the wagon were badly shaken up and bruised.

The view of the track west of the crossing is shut off by the station and a high bluff, and the occupants of the wagon claim that the engineer of the train, John de Lancey of this city, failed to blow his whistle or ring the bell. It is claimed by passengers that the train, which was forty minutes late, was running seventy miles an hour. The band wagon was descending the hill toward the crossing slowly, the brake being on. The players were laughing and joking, and the horses were almost on the crossing when a young boy, Harry Wheeler of Lestershire, at great risk jumped on the track and tried to warn them.

The driver, without thought of himself, turned to the others in the wagon and yelled to them to jump. He had plenty of time to save himself, but stuck to his post, and when the train struck the horses he was thrown head foremost against a freight car and instantly killed.

FAST MAIL WRECKED.

Four Killed on Pennsylvania Road Near Johnstown.

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 31.—The fast New York mail train on the Pennsylvania railroad due here at noon was wrecked at the famous "Pack Saddle," twenty miles west of Johnstown, yesterday. The engineer and fireman and two mail clerks were killed.

The train, which is one of the fastest in the service and carries the New York morning newspapers to all western cities, was going at a high rate of speed when it left the track and went over the steep embankment.

Missionaries Ask Protection.

PEKING, July 31.—Dr. Canright, the American missionary, has telegraphed Minister Conger that the missionaries in Szechuen have made repeated demands upon the Chinese authorities for protection without result, that massacres of native Christians and the destruction of their property continue daily and that the missionaries themselves are in imminent danger. The foreign office, however, repeated the assurances it gave Minister Conger a month ago, saying the government had the situation well in hand.

Was Richer Than He Knew.

LONDON, July 31.—A curious instance of unsuspected wealth has come to light as a result of the death of Mr. Sutton, a well known London goods carrier. In 1900 the sworn value of his estate was £8,673. The deceased himself appears to have supposed that his estate was worth about £200,000, and he left a residuary estate in trust to build "Sutton's model dwellings" for the poor. The estate has now been resworn, and it turns out to be valued at £2,095,850.

Castro Abandons Eastern Ports.

WILLEMSTAD, Curacao, July 31.—All eastern ports of Venezuela, including Barcelona, have been abandoned by President Castro, all of whose forces and resources are being concentrated near La Victoria, which is three days distant from Caracas and near the mountainous district of Guarico, where the advance guard of revolutionists under General Mendoza appeared some days ago.

Russian Troops to Stay In China.

LONDON, July 31.—In a dispatch from St. Petersburg the correspondent there of the Daily Mail says the order for the withdrawal of Russian troops from Manchuria has been rescinded, as that country is overrun with Chinese robber bands. Quantities of Russian goods in transit have been looted, says the correspondent, and two Russian merchants in Manchuria were recently burned alive.

Chinese Railroad Agreements.

PEKING, July 31. — The amended Chinese railroad agreements were signed today. The differences between Great Britain and Russia were compromised by the omission of the provision for military directors and the stipulation that any line north of Peking to be built by Chinese should not be controlled by a foreign power.

GRAIN SPECULATORS ENJOINED.

An Unheard of Proceeding by a Firm Short In Oats.

CHICAGO, July 31.—The ban of the courts has been placed on the corner in July oats. On the application of Waite, Thorburn & Co., one of the firms heavily short in the July option, a temporary restraining order has been granted by Judge Claytraus in the superior court prohibiting James A. Patten and associates from continuing a corner in new July oats and from bidding up the price of the cereal or calling for further margins. This is the first time in the history of the Chicago board of trade that dealers who are short have resorted to the courts to assist them in a dilemma like the present, and the injunction came as a decided surprise.

"We have nothing left to do but to default," said one of the unfortunates. "Those in control of the corner will not sell, but tell us to go into the pit and buy. If we should do that, the price would go up into the clouds. A dollar a bushel could easily be exacted, as the receipts of standard new oats will not nearly fill our contracts."

Waite & Thorburn, the firm that requested the injunction, issued the following statement last night in explanation of the course they have taken:

"For a year or two there has been a regular epidemic of manipulation and attempted cornering in the market on the Chicago board of trade, which have inflicted immense injury on the legitimate grain interests of this city and in the country tributary to Chicago. These attempts to squeeze the trade have now become so extreme and unscrupulous that it has become high time for some one to make a fight and find out where the trade stands and whether it is to be for all time possible for groups of millionaires to turn upside down the grain business of the country and inflict heavy losses on the trade. We have decided to make a test and find out where the trade stands."

Illinois Railroad Sold.

CHICAGO, July 31.—The Record-Herald today says that the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad has been sold, and the purchaser is said to be the Illinois Central. The latter company has quietly executed a coup whereby a presumptive dangerous competitor, the Louisville and Nashville, will be kept out of Chicago. That the Eastern Illinois has at last changed hands little doubt remains, the information to that effect coming from one of the large stockholders who is also a close friend of H. H. Porter, chairman of the board. It is understood that the control was obtained by paying $250 per share for the stock owned by H. H. Porter, the largest individual stockholder, and the stock held by certain of his friends.

Mammoth Railroad Merger.

NEW YORK, July 31.—Articles of incorporation of the Rock Island company have been filed in Jersey City. The capital stock is placed at $150,000,000, and a fee of $30,000 was deposited with the county clerk of Hudson county, N. J. The stock is divided into 54,000 shares of preferred and 960,000 shares of common. The purpose of the corporation is declared to be "to acquire, purchase and hold subscriptions, stocks, bonds, securities, shares and other evidences of corporations generally and to merge corporations one into another." Dividends of 4 per cent on preferred stock are guaranteed up to 1903 and of 6 per cent from that time up to 1916.

Members of the Mafia Sentenced.

BOLOGNA, Italy, July 31.—The trial before the assize court here, which had been going on for some time, of Trapani, Fontana and Palizzolo, the latter a former deputy from Palermo, on charges of murder was concluded at 11 o'clock last night. The jury returned a verdict of guilty against Trapani and Palizzolo for the murder of Signor Miceli and against Fontana and Palizzolo for the murder of Signor Notarbartolo. Sentences of thirty years' imprisonment were imposed upon the three guilty men, who are members of the Mafia.

The King Improving Steadily.

LONDON, July 31.—King Edward's progress continues to be in every way satisfactory. During yesterday he slowly paced the deck of the royal yacht Victoria and Albert without any assistance, and the exercise is reported to have done him good. The Earl of Denbigh, one of the king's lords in waiting, speaking at a public meeting, said he saw no reason why the king should not be strong enough to undergo the fatigue incident to the coronation on Aug. 9.

Foreign Yachts May Enter.

BERLIN, July 31.—Emperor William has removed the restriction that the yachts entering the contest for his majesty's Cowes cup must be built in Europe. This race will now be open to members of any recognized yacht club in the world. It is understood that this change was made with the hope that American yachts would enter the competition.

Negro Lynched.

OCALA, Fla., July 31.—An unknown negro was lynched at San Antonio, Pasco county, for criminal assault on a white woman. He was identified by his victim, after which he was strung up on a tree in sight of the railroad station and his body riddled with bullets. The negro had not been seen in San Antonio previous to his crime.

Fire In Havana.

HAVANA, July 31.—A fire in Ignacio street yesterday resulted in a loss to the dry goods firm of Prendes & Co. of $168,000, $90,000 of which was covered by insurance in the Manchester Insurance company. Other dry goods firms, including Pella & Co., also lost heavily.

Senator Platt Says State Will Be Solid.

A CONFERENCE AT OYSTER BAY.

Political Situation, State and National, From a Republican Standpoint Discussed—The Story of Odell's Retirement Denied.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 31.—"President Roosevelt will have a solid delegation from New York state to the next Republican national convention." This statement was made by Senator Thomas C. Platt of New York after a conference with the president at Sagamore Hill.

Senator Platt was accompanied to Mr. Roosevelt's country home by Colonel George W. Dunn of Binghamton, chairman of the Republican state committee of New York. The visit to the president was by appointment. At 9:30 in the morning Senator Platt and Colonel Dunn boarded the government yacht Sylph at New York, and fifteen minutes later the trim little ship was under way for Oyster Bay. They arrived off the J. West Roosevelt landing at 12:38 and were conveyed immediately to the shore in a launch. At the landing they were met by one of the president's carriages and driven directly to Sagamore Hill. After a cordial welcome by Mr. Roosevelt luncheon was announced.

During the two hours' conference which ensued both national and New York state politics were discussed, the discussion quite naturally revolving principally around state affairs. Senator Platt briefly but comprehensively reviewed the political situation in both the national and state fields. He already had declared himself to be a supporter of Mr. Roosevelt for the presidential nomination in 1904, and he expressed the opinion that, barring serious contingencies, the president would be nominated to succeed himself. It was in this connection that he made the statement which is quoted at the beginning of this dispatch. Mr. Platt assured Mr. Roosevelt that perfect harmony existed among the leaders and among the rank and file of the Republican party in New York and that without doubt the entire Republican ticket would be elected this fall.

The story that Governor Odell might retire from politics to accept a handsome business offer was adverted to, but merely in the form of a denial of its authenticity. Governor Odell has had, it is understood, several offers during the past year or two to go into business in a way particularly advantageous to him, but all of them have been rejected. He is a candidate for re-election and will be nominated in September, it is confidently stated by Senator Platt.

In response to inquiries the senator said that he and Colonel Dunn had had a very pleasant talk with the president.

In response to other inquiries Senator Platt said, after announcing the assumption, of course, that Governor Odell again would be a candidate: "The candidates on the state ticket will not be decided upon until the Republican convention meets at Saratoga in September. Of course the president has no candidate for lieutenant governor. He is urging the claims of no man."

Boer Generals Sail For England.

CAPE TOWN, July 31.—Generals Botha, De Wet and Delarey have sailed for England. The boys of the Dutch schools dragged the carriages carrying the generals to the steamship dock through cheering crowds. Previous to their departure the Boer generals called upon Sir Walter F. Hely-Hutchinson, governor of Cape Colony, who received them with the greatest cordiality. The only untoward incident of the demonstrations was the conspicuous waving of one Transvaal flag.

Irish Leader Entertains.

LONDON, July 31.—John Redmond, leader of the Irish party in the house of commons, entertained Sir Wilfrid Laurier, prime minister of Canada, and E. Barton, prime minister of the Australian commonwealth, at dinner last night in the house of commons. The twenty-two guests included John Morley, Sir James Charles Mathew, lord justice of appeal; Father Cronin of Buffalo, Darcy Scott of Ottawa and W. T. Stead.

Internal Revenue Receipts.

WASHINGTON, July 31.—The commissioner of internal revenue has prepared the annual preliminary report of the operations of his bureau for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1902. The report shows that the receipts from all sources of internal revenue for the year aggregated $271,867,990.

Chase Leaves Chile.

SANTIAGO, Chile, July 31.—George B. Chase, a millionaire who was placed under judicial restraint here on June 4 for examination as to his sanity and who was set free on July 1 after having taken refuge in the United States legation, sailed for Europe on the steamer Liguria.

Forty Lost at Sea.

SINGAPORE, July 31.—The steamships Prince Alexander and Banhenguan have been in collision off Malacca, Straits Settlement. The Prince Alexander sank and forty lives were lost. The Banhenguan was towed in here.

Pope Will Not Interfere.

ROME, July 31.—The pope unconditionally approves the policy of Cardinal Rampolla, the papal secretary of state, in not interfering in the disturbances in France caused by the closing of unauthorized Catholic schools.

ELIZABETH'S SHARE.

In its editorial column, the Elizabeth Journal has attempted to prove that in past years Plainfield Republicans have had their share of the good things which have been distributed in Union county. It is a well-known fact to every disinterested observer who has followed the fortunes of the Republican party in Union county for any length of time that the lion's share has gone to Elizabeth. Furthermore, Plainfield, while receiving better treatment perhaps than some of the smaller municipalities in the county, has not received the honors which would naturally come to the second city of the county when its overwhelmingly Republican vote is taken into consideration.

Elizabeth has boasted of the Governor, United States Senator and Congressman, all at one time, not to mention a host of county offices. The surrogateship has gone to Elizabeth for two decades. The senator has hailed from the county seat for over ten years. The county clerk generally makes Elizabeth his home. It has been the custom to have every alternate sheriff from that city. At least one Assemblyman comes from Elizabeth. Sometimes there are two from that city. Then there are a host of minor offices, most of which are appointive, which are filled by citizens of Elizabeth. At present, the important county offices filled by Plainfielders are those of Assemblyman, county attroney, director of the Board of Freeholders and assistant county clerk.

Of course, it may be that the people of Elizabeth consider this a fair division. To the disinterested observer, however, it certainly looks as if Plainfield had been "coming out the little end of the horn" with much regularity and that the less Elizabeth says about a fair division of spoils, the better it will be for the county seat.

A number of the New Jersey newspapers have been publishing accounts of an alleged political conference that was said to have been recently held at the Murray Hill Hotel, New York, by the leaders in the Fowler Voorhees faction. Among the Plainfielders who were reported as having been present were City Clerk J. T. MacMurray, City Collector Frank H. Smith and Andrew McCardell. The Daily Press heard rumors of this same conference but as all these three men denied that any such conference took place, we cannot but believe that the whole affair originated in the mind of some newspaper man or politician who was looking for a sensation. In plain language, it was a "fake."

Almost any kind of advertising will bring results of some kind, remarks the Philadelphia Record. The object of advertising is to inform the largest number of buying people that something desirable is for sale. The wisest advertising is intended to convince the people that what is offered for sale is necessary and the prices reasonable or low. That the morning newspaper of largest circulation is the best medium for communicating with the people is the testimony of experienced and succesful advertisers.

It is evident that the horse thieves of Jersey have been reading what the anti-annexation newspapers have had to say about the wonderful beauties of Somerset county for since all Somerset's advantages were pointed out to the people of North Plainfield, there has been a remarkable frequency of horse thefts in the confines of that county.

In reading the description of the improvements at the pumping station of the Plainfield Water Company, just notice that there is a water meter there has been found to be perfectly accurate. If one can be obtained, what is the matter with giving the people of Plainfield the benefit of others?

The fatal shooting which occurred in Camden county when the Republican Congressional primaries were held is a blot on the State's record. It was a bitter campaign and there were many who were not surprised that it should terminate in some unfortunate fashion.

Even if the recent Congressional primaries held in this city did not develop a wonderful amount of enthusiasm, there seemed enough and to spare when the delegates from all over the new Fifth district gathered at Washington and nominated C. De Witt Flanagan.

WOODHULL & MARTIN.

BROKE THE PLEDGE.

John Kelly Thereby Lost His Chance and Was Sent to Jail.

Six days was the best John Kelly, of Filmore avennue, could do with the pledge which he took a week ago before City Judge Runyon. Arrested at that time, he agreed on July 24 to wholly abstain from the use of intoxicants. Yesterday, he was brought into the city jail again, charged with drunkenness and disorder, consisting of disturbing the neighbors by the use of vile language and by beating his wife.

In court this morning, Kelly denied the charge but said he would never do it again. His appeal for mercy was lost upon the City Judge, who decided that the prisoner had forfeited any claim to further consideration. The sentence was made thirty days in jail.

Death of John Carey.

John Carey, aged seventy-two years, a brother of T. J. Carey, of Plainfield, died a few days ago at his home in Clinton, Hunterdon county. The funeral services were held yesterday from the late home, and Mr. Carey, of this city, attended.

Entertained Firemen.

At fire headquarters last evening Benjamin A. Mumford entertained the members of the department with a number of phonograph selections. The firemen greatly appreciated the entertainment.

Harold Chandor, of East Ninth street, and LeRoy Radford, of Park avenue, have not returned from Asbury Park as stated. They will not return until next Monday.

CARS SMASHED STATION.

Reading Depot at Trenton Demolished and Ticket Agent Given Close Call.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, July 31—An unattached train of fourteen freight cars on the Reading Railway broke loose at Prospect street, this city, yesterday, and, running about half a mile, crashed into the rear end of the company's station. Three of the cars were piled up inside of the station, and the building is so badly damaged that a good portion of it will have to be rebuilt.

The ticket office was directly in the line of the runaway cars and was smashed. Fortunately there was only one man in it at the time, and he escaped an instant before the wreck reached the spot where he was at work. It is not known that there were any other persons in the station.

A wrecking train cleared away the debris. There were two brakemen on the train, but they were unable to hold it and jumped off before the crash.

Great Kindness.

Among those who are assisting the King's Daughters in their grand work at the Baby Camp on the mountains is Mrs. M. F. Quass, of Plainfield avenue. Every week she sends to the camp a gallon of cream for the sick babies. The kindness of Mrs. Quass is greatly appreciated.

Rev. Charles E. Dunn, of Freeport, Illinois, who has been spending a vacation in the east, arrived last evening at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Dunn, of Park avenue.

J. A. METS' NEW BOOK.

County Superintendent of Schools is Author of Historical Volume.

"Naval Heroes of Holland," is the title of a book recently issued from the Abbey Press, of New York, which ought to interest readers of Dutch ancestry. Superintendent of Schools J. A. Mets, of Somerset county, is the author of the volume, and the touches of ancestral enthusiasm and pride which pervade its chapters add to the vivid descriptions of Dutch heroism.

The building of the navy of the Dutch Republic from its first beginnings is described in the opening chapters, and the author forges what he terms a "missing link" in the chain of the world's events, on a chapter entitled "The Beggars of the Sea." He considers these men as no mere piratical plunderers. "The rights and liberties enjoyed by us here now, are the outcome of the heroic deeds of these 'Beggars of the Sea,'" writes Mr. Mets. It was found impossible to deal with all the Dutch naval heroes, but the four most prominent were chosen and their exploits described with a vividness which will delight every boy who peruses the volume. The events brought out are healthful and inspiring, as well as instructive, and comprise some of the most thrilling exploits during an epoch of heroes.

Plans Out.

G. J. Tobin has plans out for the erection of a building at the corner of Fourth street and Watchung avenue. The upper part will be used for flats and the ground floor for business purposes.

Poisoning the System.

It is through the bowels that the body is cleansed of impurities. Constipation keeps these poisons in the system, causing headache, dullness and melancholia at first, then unsightly eruptions and finally serious illness unless a remedy is applied. DeWitt's Little Early Risers prevent this trouble by stimulating the liver and promote easy, healthy action of the bowels. These little pills do not act violently but by strengthening the bowels enable them to perform their own work. Never gripe or distress. L. W. Randolph.

WATER CO. ENLARGES CAPACITY OF PUMP

of the brick wall plastered with cement.

The foundation for the new pump was laid in hydraulic cement its bottom being five feet below the bottom of the iron casing. The floor of the pit not covered by the foundation of the pump was filled in with layers of concrete, tar paper and asphalt eighteen inches thick. The inside of the brick wall is to be painted white. Amos Andrews, engineer of the company, designed and supervised the construction of the pit and has been highly complimented on the success of his clever achievement.

By locating the water end of the pump so far beneath the surface of the ground it was necessary to place the suction pipes connecting the wells with the pump twenty feet below the surface. This work is now being done. There are twenty-five wells in all, ranging from fifty to 400 feet in depth. The pipes connecting five of the wells have already been lowered, and it will require several weeks, perhaps months to lower the others. The work can only progress slowly because of the necessity of keeping the pumps constantly in operation.

When the entire improvement as planned shall be completed the company will be able to pump 10,000,000 gallons of water a day. The cost of the work, it is said, will exceed $35,000 and work and material costing nearly as much will have been discarded.

There are several curious devices in use at the pumping station. One is an arrangement of pipes and tanks, invented and patented by Mr. Andrews, whereby cylinder oil is recovered after passing through the pumps and is used again and again. As a large quantity of oil is used this arrangement effects a considerable economy in operation.

Another interesting apparatus, recently installed, registers the elevation of the water in the tank on the mountain so that it can be emptied and filled every day without the trouble of looking into the tank to see whether it is full or empty. The device consists of two machines, similar to clock-works, one located at the tank and the other at the pumping station connected with a wire and operated by electricity.

But perhaps the most mysterious thing about the place is the Venturi meter, which measures the water delivered by the Plainfield Company to the Union Company at Netherwood by the pressure and velocity of water in the main. This very ingenious device cannot be explained without a model or in the presence of an actual machine in operation. The company has tried in many ways to catch the meter in error, but it has never failed to measure the water with almost absolute accuracy.

When the improvements now being made are completed a visit to the pumping station will be a pleasant and very interesting trip. The engineer in charge is always glad to receive visitors and show them around.

GREAT MEETING OF THE CRACK RIFLEMEN

Short Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

This is the way "Bill" Grattan tells the story of the "snake picnic" held in the vicinity of Galvin's Park on Sunday of this week. While taking a walk through the woods, the veteran stumbled upon a clearing which was the scene of the occurrence which so upset his mental vision. Four snakes—real ones—were ranged about on the ground, one gorging itself on a chicken, another on the remains of a rabbit, the third absorbing blackberries from a pail evidently dropped by a frightened picker, and the last one coughing out scales from a fish whose fins and head showed that a meal had just been made off the other portions. To add to the wonderful effect of the circumstance, Bill declares that two mud turtles also were in the party, munching harvest apples. By the time the spectator had recovered from his amazement so as to tell the story, the reptilian picnickers had packed up and slipped away. But Bill says it's all true—every word of it.

A little girl living in North Plainfield who is noted for her obedience to her parents, unfortunately did something a few days ago that called for rebuke. The mother has always used the back of a hair brush to impress upon her daughter's mind the necessity of absolute obedience, and on this occasion the girl was taken to the bath-room for the reprimand. It happened that the daughter had a girl friend visiting her at the time and she followed the mother and the child to the bath-room, reaching there just as the door was closed. In a few minutes the muffled sobs of the disobedient one were heard by her friends and they called forth the amusing remark: "Never mind, don't cry, your Mamma will soon have your hair combed." This was more than the mother could stand and her performance was cut short. The little visitor had been the means of saving her friend from further punishment and she did not know it.

PRIZES FOR BABY PARADE

ANNOUNCEMENT OF THE PRIZES FOR ASBURY PARK'S BIG EVENT.

Besides These, There Will Also be Souvenirs for All Who Participate in the Parade.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Asbury Park, July 31 — Of more value than ever are the prizes which are offered for the annual baby show to be held here next month. In addition to the handsome awards to be made, it has also been arranged to present to every contestant a suitable souvenir, whether in the class of survivors or only among the "also rans."

In all there will be 150 prizes, a partial list of which follows:

1—Doll coach, including costume of child: Prizes 1, 2 and 3, of $25 value or over; first prize, cup; prizes 4 to 13, silver souvenir spoons and other valuable trophies; captain, Mrs. C. E. Ancker.

2—Go-cart, in any decoration; prizes 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 of $25 value or over; first prize, cup; prizes 6 to 20, silver souvenir spoons and other valuable trophies; captain, Mrs. H. B. Ayres.

3—Baby coach, in any decoration; prizes 1, 2 and 3 of $25 value or over; first prize, cup; prizes 4 to 18, silver souvenir spoons and other valuable trophies; captain, Mrs. M. V. Dager.

4—Express wagon, driven or drawn by one or more children; prizes; prizes 1, 2 and 3 of $25 value or over; first prize, cup; prizes 4 to 14, silver souvenir spoons and other valuable trophies; captain, Mrs. J. L. Kinmonth.

5—Children in costume and portrayal of foreign life; prizes 1, 2 and 3 of $25 value or over; first prize, cup; prizes 4 to 18, silver souvenir spoons and other valuable trophies; captain, to be named.

6—Small pony turnout; prizes 1 and 2 of $25 value or over; first prize, cup; prizes 3 to 7, silver souvenir spoons and other valuable trophies; captain, J. Otto Rhome.

7—Allegorical floats and novelties; ridiculous features barred; prizes 1, 2 and 3 of $25 value or over; first prize, cup, prizes 4 to 18, silver souvenir spoons and other valuables; captain, F. J. Hopper.

Special prizes also are offered for babies from greater distance; bona fide residence must be established; prizes 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5, silver souvenir spoons; twins and triplets making best appearance; prizes, two sets; twins will organize in baby coach division.

Collected in Cranford.

Mrs. E. L. Hedenberg, who is greatly interested in the work of the Netherwood Fresh Air Home, where Miss Sara Curry is in charge, has succeeded in collecting $70.25 in Cranford for the Home and it has been sent to Miss Curry.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning Aug. 3—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Topic.—The call to separation.—II Cor. vi, 14-18; I John ii, 15-17.

It has always been the desire and intention of God that His chosen people in this life should be separated from the people of the world. While in the world, yet it was never His intention that they should be of the world. This fact is fully testified to in the history of the chosen people of God. God developed the Jews into a distinct and a separate people. He led them from the land of Egypt to the land of Canaan, which was to be their distinct and separate possession. He there surrounded them with peculiar customs and laws, that they should be distinct and separate from the people round about them. The laws and the customs of the Jews made them as separate and distinct from the surrounding nations as it was possible for a nation to be. Even in the matter of dress God distinguished His people from the nations. It is His intention that this separation, in a different way, should exist today. The church of Christ is a distinct and separate institution from the world. The disciples of Christ are also to be separate and distinct in their lives. This is set forth in the New Testament. Paul says in the first reference: "Be ye not unequally yoked together with unbelievers, for what fellowship hath righteousness with unrighteousness, and what communion hath light with darkness, and what concord hath Christ with Belial, or what part hath he that believeth with an infidel? Wherefore come out from among them and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing, and I will receive you and will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty." In the second reference John says: "Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him."

The necessity of emphasizing this truth of the Scriptures is very great today. It is evident to all that there is not the distinction between the church and the world and between the people of God and the people of the world that there should be. There have been days in the past when this separation was marked and distinct. In the early Christian centuries this was the case. By the difference in their lives it was possible for the Roman masters to distinguish their Christian and un-Christian slaves, and not only in these circles, but in every grade of church life, there was a distinct separation from the world. In the early part of the history of our own country there was this marked separation between the people of the kingdom of God and the people of the kingdom of this world. The Puritan fathers were particular to emphasize the duty of separation from the world. Today, however, there has been a great change in this respect. The church is in the world and the world is in the church to an extent that perhaps has never been equaled or surpassed in the past. The duty, therefore, to emphasize this truth of the Scriptures and this desire of God is evident, and we may well remember today God's call to His people to be separate and distinct from the world, a chosen people unto Himself and His peculiar possession.

The distinction between the people of God and the people of the world is not today to be manifested by any peculiar custom or the observance of different national laws, but purely in the manner of living. It is by the lives of God's people that they should be recognized as His people and as the followers of Jesus Christ. A clerical dress does not make a Christian minister, nor does a Christian Endeavorer badge upon the lapel of a young man's coat make a Christian Endeavorer. Christianity is a life. It is the life of God in the heart and the lives of men, and it is possible for the people of God to follow so closely in the footsteps of their divine model, the Lord Jesus Christ, as to be noticeably distinct and separate from those who are not believers in God or worshipers of Him.

Early Piety.

The command of God is to seek Him early in life, and the promise is that He will receive and bless those who thus come to Him. Youth is favorable to grace. The mind is not yet filled with worldly things; habits are not yet confirmed; associations are not yet settled. The child is more in sympathy with the finer and more spiritual things, because it is not warped and perverted by the evil that surrounds it and develops within. A life thus under the grace of God from childhood is purer and stronger in later years. It has had a solid growth and is firm in its texture and grain. It works up into whatever it is used for with more beauty than if part was spent in sin. It is a sweeter life, for there are no memories of sinful days which left their mark on the soul. It is a life nearer to that of the Child Jesus, whose unfolding was divine.—United Presbyterian.

The Saving Power of Hope.

In our strong reaction from the popular view of forgiveness as the blotting out of the inevitable consequences of wrongdoing, in our eagerness to teach that character is salvation, we must not ignore the saving power of hope. Souls burdened by sin and shame need not be pointed to the law of consequences. What they need is something to inspire in them new hope.—Presbyterian Banner.

The Love That Lives On.

Only one thing exceeds the loss—the love. That lives on, affording me such new experiences as make me understand the growth of a religion better than ever before.—George S. Merriam.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning Aug. 3, "The Call to Separation"—Text, II Cor. vi, 14-18; I John ii, 15-17.

The call of Christ to discipleship is a call at the present time, as it was in His lifetime and has always been since, to become different in some respects from other people. This necessity for separateness has not always been clearly seen, nor has the requirement been always faithfully observed. In too many cases Christians seem to the worldly to be no better than themselves and scarcely different in any way.

Some have gone to the other extreme and have made the difference extend to many things which Jesus never included and which should never have been brought into the question.

"Come out from among them, and be ye separate, and touch not the unclean, and I will receive you and will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be My sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty," gives no sanction for unneighborly conduct and makes no demand for any exclusiveness which is not entirely kind and helpful to every one. It gives no basis for arrogance and the spirit of unkind criticism. It is not a command to banish all pleasant things and cultivate the unlovely in dress or manners.

It is a perfectly natural recognition of the fact that if one becomes fully devoted to the good and pure the impure and unclean must be banished from companionship. The two are incompatible and cannot live together. One or the other must be chosen. If we are to be disciples of Christ and children of the Most High, we can no longer cultivate the merely fleshly appetites and worldly tastes.

We are heirs of all the divine inheritance. We are princes of royal lineage. We must fit ourselves for our high position and call to rulership. We must first become able to rule our own spirits, to control our desires, which, if left untrained, would wander into harmful ways. We are to think of the good and beautiful until we grow to love only that which is pure and admirable. We are to speak the true until we become incapable of the false and untrue. We are to do the kind things until it becomes natural and easy and all unkind deeds are painful and impossible to us in practice.

What a contrast this makes to all merely worldly living! How such consecration and working would make us actually different and separate from the world—not out of the world; still in it, actively, full of life and joy and zest, but blessedly conscious of peace and purity and love in place of the restlessness, unclean lusts and misery of the worldly!

Our pressing need is separateness unto God, leaving the earthly life to live here and now the Christly life—not monkishly and in unnatural constraint, but in perfect soul freedom and contentment.

Living For the Future.

Would it not ennoble our daily existence if we more vividly realized than we do customarily that our human life is not ultimate even in this sphere, not limited by its extent and duration, but has an immortal prolongation even in this world, even when pursued for personal ends? It is true that no man liveth to himself or dieth to himself, for life and death, though personal experiences, have a more or less remote projection upon the race. The energy, force and mental and moral power set free must have a certain continuance. God will not be put off or relegated to some other time and place. He is here at your elbow and at mine, telling us to use the day wisely, cheerfully, justly, to enjoy, to love, to worship, to act now, for in this day foundations are laid for a better time to come; in this day influences are going abroad through all worlds of highest moment; in this day deeds may be done to affect remote ages. All of beauty and truth lie within our reach if we take the healthy and sane view of life and cast from us all those diseased and anæmic thoughts that poison the spring of reflection and feeling at their source. The mawkish abnormality of our time seems sloughing off. Robust and glowing views of man's place in the universe and God's immanence seem about to blossom like the wondrous century tree that after long sterility puts forth a flower.—Christian Register.

God and Goodness.

The persistence of God and goodness through the ages is too often overlooked. Men are prone to give the devil more than his due of virtues. Especially is he credited with patience and persistence in accomplishing his nefarious designs. It is an easy and careless remark of the many that the devil never takes a vacation. As an example of industry and faithfulness to his deceitful purpose the conventional devil has held a pre-eminent position before the world, and many saintly hearts have been discouraged by the apparent success of the virtues of the evil one! It is curious and deplorable how men forget God and what God means in life. We glance over a little interval of time, and in it it appears that all things are going wrong, that God has let go His hold and goodness lies a bleeding victim at the feet of sin.—Universalist Leader.

Good Resolutions.

You picture to yourself the beauty of bravery and steadfastness, and then some little, wretched, disagreeable duty comes, which is your martyrdom, the lamp for your oil, and if you do not do it your oil is spilled.—Phillips Brooks.

Without Religion.

Without religion you cannot make the will equal to its task.—Mrs. Humphry Ward.

FIRM FOUNDATION.

Nothing Can Undermine It In Plainfield.

People are sometimes slow to recognize true merit and they cannot be blamed for so many in the past have been humbugged. The experience of hundreds of Plainfield residents expressed publicly through newspapers and other sources places Doan's Kidney Pills on a firm foundation.

Mr. Richard Day, of 134 East Front street, says: "I had a miserable pain across my back and a sort of lame feeling over my kidneys. Standing any length of time, or walking any distance aggravated it greatly. I was never sick much in my life and consequently never took much medicine, so when I first began having these attacks I paid little attention to them. They, however, grew worse instead of better so I had to look about for a remedy. I read quite frequently in our papers about cures brought about by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills so I got a box at L. W. Randolph's drug store and after taking them I felt greatly relieved. I have recommended them to my friends and those who have used them speak very highly in their praise."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

THE PRETTY PALETOT.

A Popular Garment Which Is More Ornamental Than Useful.

A pretty and summery garment is called the paletot, and, though it is not constructed with a view to affording much warmth, it is very dressy and therefore by a certain reflex action may tend to keep the heart in a certain glow of satisfaction. There are many of these paletots, and all are of extremely thin material, designed almost entirely with an eye to decorative effect. They generally have for solidity something in the shape of a yoke, to which the rest is attached, and this hangs as long as the wearer wishes her paletot to be. Some reach but little below the waist, while others fall quite to the knees or even beyond. Lace, chiffon, silk mull and other thin and fine stuffs are seen, but the Russian net with an application of some other black lace set on in motifs looks best. There is a fish net which lends itself well to this kind of trimming, and the open weave leaves the waist in plain view, which is a great consideration. All paletots hang open, and therefore the pretty waists are not hidden from view. I have seen a few without sleeves, but others have long, loose and large sleeves.

The yoke may be of velvet, silk, applique or indeed almost anything that suits the wearer. This is to be trimmed with lace and chiffon accordion ruffles. Pretty ribbon bows with long ends can be set in front at each side of the shoulders. The paletot illustrated has the yoke of black taffeta, while the body is of silk mull, with overlays of black lace around the bottom. There are no sleeves, the plaited ruffle of the silk mull filling their places.

This paletot is worn over a faint pink mistral dress, which indicates that we have not by any means abandoned the plan of the tucked skirt. The employment of narrow tucks at the upper part of the skirt and letting them fall free to form the necessary fullness around the bottom is as well liked and as often seen as ever. The skirt in question is laid in narrow tucks down to about eighteen inches from the bottom. There is a row of lace insertion which ends the plaits. Two other rows of the lace are sewed around, the pointed belt is covered with lace, and a pointed yoke is simulated with it. The whole dress, while very dainty and pretty, is easy to accomplish. It looks well in any kind of thin material.

Just at the present moment the summer styles are all "out" and the fall things are still in embryo, but every week some clever invention will be shown to keep up interest. The prettiest things just now are the paletots and the silk shirt waist dresses. Foulard is used to make many of these, blue and white or black and white and some few other colors always mingled with black.

The taffeta dresses show a greater variety of color, and they are really dainty and crisply fresh and summery. Lace, chiffon and narrow velvet and ribbons are employed to trim them. Many of these are tucked and have lace insertion. White and black india silks are also among the newest of the summer dresses to be made up with shirt waists. The black ones are trimmed lavishly with white lace, and vice versa. India silk is good value in that it can be laundered like muslin. White dresses seem to soil so quickly that it is a real boon to find a silk that will wash and look all right when it is done. You cannot tell that these india silks have been washed, for they always look new.

For runabout skirts quite a fad has developed for mohair and sicilienne in place of wash goods. These are nice, as they shed dust so well, and they, though inexpensive, always look dressy. They are offered in many colors just now, navy blue being the first choice, with black and gray next. The skirts are made up with a shaped flounce, and some have several rows of velvet or satin ribbon sewed around the bottom. The skirts are not lined.

There are sicilliennes quite as pretty as silk and in some respects more desirable for everyday skirts. I saw some in which the woof is silk and the rest mohair. They were in cream, brown, garnet, red, several shades of gray, royal and navy blue and black. The red and garnet are quite new in this fabric, but the cream is the handsomest of all. The sicilliennes run fifty inches wide and sell for from 50 to 75 cents per yard. They make up well and when worn with a trim and pretty shirt waist are all that one can desire.

HENRIETTE ROUSSEAU.

A KNAVE . . . OF CONSCIENCE.

By Francis Lynde.

CHAPTER XXXIV.

Dr. Farnham, driving leisurely home after his evening call in the neighborhood of the iron works saw a thing that made him wonder if his eye-glasses were not quite as well-fitted as they might be. In a quiet street he saw a man whom he made sure was Griswold stumbling along like a homing roysterer, and just behind him, dodging from tree to tree and shadow to shadow, another man who was evidently following the stumbler.

The doctor drove on, thinking he must have been mistaken as to the drunken man's identity. But he was not. It was Griswold; and when he reached the office of the iron works he let himself in and turned on the incandescent light, did this and wheeled quickly to confront his pursuer on the threshold of the open door.

For a fleeting half-second Griswold was startled, as anyone might be. Then he saw that the incomer was Griffin. So he greeted him guardedly and waited to know what the late visit purported.

Griffin seemed in no hurry to explain. On the contrary, he closed the door carefully behind him, snapping the catch of the night-latch as he did it, though this Griswold did not know. Next he drew down the window shade and, wheeling out the chair from Griswold's desk, sat down to clip the end from a very large cigar.

Griswold had watched his movements, first in wonder and then with a chill frost of despair slowly freezing him. For one brief instant he glanced aside at the rifle hanging upon the wall, but he quickly looked away from it, and, to be the farther from temptation, dropped into Raymer's pivot-chair and covered his face with his hands. It had come.

"I guess you know what I'm here for," said the detective, finally, when the big cigar was well alight.

Griswold nodded.

Griffin smoked stolidly for a full minute before he added: "I've had a devil of a time finding you; never should have found you if you hadn't gone off your head and got girl-crazy."

This time Griswold made no sign. Once again his eyes were marking the exact distance of the rifle on the wall. A silence surcharged with the electricity of possibilities settled down upon the cramped little room; and when it became unbearable the detective broke it.

"Where's the swag?" he asked, briefly.

Then Griswold spoke for the first time. "It's here in this plant; the greater part of it."

"Humph! I supposed so." And then, after another silent interval: "Why the devil don't you say something?"

Griswold spread his hands. "There is nothing to say—nothing that I think of. You have run me down, and that's the end of it." But he glanced once more at the rifle.

Griffin smiled. "The gun sort o' tempts you, doesn't it? You're wondering in your mind if you could jump quick enough to get the drop on me. You can do it if you want to. I left my arsenal at the hotel and came here bare-handed."

Griswold's eyes began to grow steely. Pardon me, but that was a very foolish thing to do, Mr. Griffin."

"Reckon so?"

"Very foolish. You lose sight of the cost of this thing which you are here to do; the cost, not to me, but to others who are innocent."

Griffin smiled again. "Hundred-thousand-dollar hold-ups are pretty likely to be costly for somebody."

"Yes. There may have been a time when I should have given you the key to my safety deposit box, but that time is in the past. The money is no longer in the bank; it is here in this plant, and my arrest and conviction will bring ruin upon my friend."

"Well?" said the detective.

"I was just thinking," said Griswold, reflectively. "Perhaps you can help me to decide a point—you've had a good bit of experience, I take it. If a professional highwayman had robbed Mr. Galbraith last spring, would any considerable portion of the—the swag, as you term it, be recoverable now?"

The detective gave an ex parte opinion. "Most likely not. It's easy come, easy go, with that lot."

"Precisely. Then I'll make you a proposal. Leave the recovery of the money out of the question, and I'll go with you peaceably and plead guilty."

Griffin laughed outright. "You're a cool one," he said. "What do you take me for?"

"For a wise man or a fool, as the event shall decide. Do you accept?"

"Not much I don't!"

"Then die!" yelled the man at bay, launching himself like a stone from a catapult on the detective.

The struggle was short and sharp, and the battle was not to the strong.

Griswold was the heavier man, and he had the strength of despair to help him; but the detective was lithe and wiry and able to match strength with a wily cunning born of many a fierce encounter with desperate men. Back and forth in the cramped office they reeled, locked in a death grip and swaying and stumbling as one man. But at the end of it Griffin broke his antagonist's hold, and there was a heavy fall, with the detective uppermost.

"Had enough?" he asked; and when Griswold gave over he rose and helped the beaten one to his feet.

Griswold set his teeth and held out his wrists for the manacles. Griffin swore gruffly and dashed the blood out of his eye. He had struck the corner of the desk in falling and the cut was bleeding freely.

"You be damned," he said. "You think you've got a lead-pipe cinch on all the soft-heartedness in this world, but you haven't. I've thrown up this job—threw it up before I came here to-night."

Griswold staggered back into a chair and covered his face with his hands.

"I—I don't understand."

"Don't you? Well, you ought to. Reckon I've forgot the night when you stood in that door and kept them strikers from killing me? I haven't, and by —— if I choose to be a man first and an officer of the law afterward, it's nobody's business but mine."

Griswold rose unsteadily, went across to the standing desk in the corner and leaned upon it with his face hidden in the bend of the arm. When he looked up again he was alone.

Princess with Many Godfathers.

Princess Irene, wife of Prince Henry of Prussia, enjoys the unique distinction of having about 4,000 godfathers. Born in the course of the war of 1866, her father, Prince Henry of Hesse, requested the officers and men of the Hessian regiments forming part of the cavalry brigade under his command to stand sponsors to his baby girl, and at the christening, which took place on the termination of hostilities, deputations of officers, non-commissioned officers and men from each regiment were present in order to express in the names of their respective corps the readiness of the latter to assume the customary spiritual, moral and material obligations toward their godchild. The name Irene—which means peace—was given to the little princess whose christening was coincident with the end of the war.—N. Y. Sun.

The Black Cap.

The popular idea that judges assume the black cap preparatory to pronouncing sentence of death, in order to mark the tragedy of the occasion, should be finally dispelled by the fact that they will wear the same sable headgear at the coronation. What the coronet is to the peer, the black cap is to the judge—the finial of his official costume. Until 1635 the habits of judges were governed by individual tastes, but in that year the occupants of the bench met and solemnly ordained their attire. It was decreed to consist of a scarlet robe with an ermine tippet as now, and "a caif or cap of black cloth." The judicial wig is a later innovation, and the black cap as an essential part of the official must be worn on all state occasions, of which the passing sentence of capital punishment is only one.—Westminster Gazette.

A Pap Thomas Story.

Tom Styles, of Fort Scott, grows reminiscent about Gen. George H. Thomas. Styles was detailed to guard a pay car from Memphis to Louisville. At Paris he was left alone with the car for a short time. A drunken soldier came along and tried to enter the car, and showed fight when he was ordered away. At last, after the soldier had commenced to shoot with his revolver, Styles opened fire with his musket and brought the man down with a hole in his leg. On arriving at headquarters the young soldier was ordered to report the affair to Pap Thomas. He went with fear and trepidation, thinking of nothing but a court-martial. "I hear," said Thomas, "that you shot a fellow down at Paris the other day." "Yes," responded Styles. "Where did you hit him?" inquired the general. "In the leg," responded Styles. "Well, let me tell you one thing, young man," said the general. "This country has about all the cripples it needs. If you have occasion to do any more shooting, shoot to kill."—Kansas City Journal.

Consular Clerks.

The recent appointment of a consular clerk under the department of state has called attention to the peculiar status of those offices. The law provides for 13 consular clerks and fixes their pay for the first five years of service at $1,000, but allows them actual expenses when traveling or serving in foreign lands, which is usually the case. They are appointed by the president and serve practically for life. The statute governing their tenure provides that a consular clerk "shall not be removed from office except for cause, stated in writing, which shall be submitted to congress at the session first following such removal." This is the only instance in the history of the United States where the house of representatives has a direct interest in an office in the executive branch of the government. In practically all presidential appointments the concurrence of the senate is essential, but this is the only case where congress as a body has an interest.—Washington Star.

Women's Faces on Postage Stamps.

For more than 50 years our government has been making postage stamps. The first issue, in 1847, represented but two values, and on each was printed the likeness of a prominent man—a policy ever since continued. Other nations have women's faces on their stamps. Why not the United States? Surely we have representative women enough. There was Dorothea Dix, for instance, whose work for the insane marked an era; Maria Mitchell, whose pure mentality and magnificent reasoning faculty made her preeminent; Frances Willard, whose reform work claims recognition; not to mention our many noted literary women. There is also a dusky face well worth considering: the face of a woman who holds a unique position in our history and who had much to do in keeping alive that struggling English colony on the James river—Why not her face? Why not Pocahontas?—Julia Fraser, in Ladies' Home Journal.

What Grant Saw in Canada.

Lord Dufferin, when viceroy of Canada, paid a visit to Washington while Gen. Grant was president. He casually asked the president whether he had ever been in Canada. The repiy was a striking example of Gen. Grant's brusque outspokenness: "No, I have never set foot on Canadian soil, but I have approached near enough to its shores in a steamboat to see the grass growing in the streets of the Canadian towns." Lord Dufferin saw that Gen. Grant shared with many of his countrymen at that time a common misapprehension in regard to the resources and destinies of Canada.—London News.

Thirsting for Knowledge.

A visitor to Porto Rico says that the schools are doing well, and that the intelligence of the pupils is as remarkable as their thirst after knowledge. He tells of a girl of 17 who walks 20 miles to and from school daily, and is so poor that she sleeps on a bare floor and begs most of her food. There's no need for truant officers down there, says this Mr. Preston. He went to a night school, where the men bring their own candles and sit on the schoolroom floor in groups of three, one candle to each group.—Philadelphia Record.

Changed His Views.

At the dinner given at the Montauk club, Brooklyn, to celebrate the 61st birthday of Senator Depew, the senator said: "When I was 21 I thought a man of 40 very old and that he ought to retire. When I was 40 I thought a man of 60 had grown senile and worthless. When I got to be 60 I reversed my opinion and thought that 50 and 40 and 30 and 20 knew little of the pleasures of existence and the utilization of cultivated power."—Detroit Free Press.

Evolution of the Ice Man.

"The prehistoric mosquito," said the learned professor, "had a bill ten feet long—a bill that certainly would alarm any man in these days."

"Professor," asked the man with the inquiring mind, "was the prehistoric mosquito the prehistoric ice man? If so, I begin to take some stock in Darwin's theory of ancestral traits."—Baltimore American.

ROW AT A FUNERAL.

Jews Attack Hoe Printing Press Shops in New York.

NEW YORK, July 31.—More than a score of persons were severely beaten, fifteen arrests were made, the building of R. Hoe & Co. was partially wrecked, the reserves from five precincts were called into action and half a dozen ambulances were summoned as the result of a riot yesterday afternoon at the corner of Grand and Sheriff streets.

The rioters were thousands of Hebrews who were following the funeral procession of Chief Rabbi Jacob Joseph, late head of the orthodox Hebrew church of America, to the Union Field cemetery, Cypress Hills, N. Y., where his body was buried late in the day.

The police give the following version of the affair:

Soon after the procession reached Grand and Sheriff streets a number of the many boys employed by Hoe & Co. began throwing cups of water at the mourners in the street. This caused a commotion in the passing ranks, and when the water throwing continued the mourners retaliated by throwing stones and anything else within reach at the windows where the boys were located. A number of the factory windows were shattered, and this moved the boys to increased deeds of violence.

There soon followed a shower of nuts and small bolts from the factory windows, and when the mourners began throwing them back the boys turned several streams of water on the surging mass of humanity in the street. By this time nearly every window in the factory had been demolished and heavy pieces of metal were being thrown by the boys.

Arbitration For Labor Dispute.

SCRANTON, Pa., July 31.—W. F. Hallstead, former general manager of the Lackawanna railroad, and W. H. Taylor, a leading business man, are announced as the choice of the Scranton Railway company on the board of arbitration which is to settle the dispute between the company and its union employes about seniority of service. President John Mitchell of the United Mine Workers and President William Corliss of the Scranton Typographical union are the arbitrators selected by the employees. The four men named will meet to select a fifth man. Nathan Straus and Ralph M. Easley of the Civic federation are among those discussed for the fifth place. This is the first time a labor dispute has been submitted to arbitration in this locality, and its outcome will be watched with great interest.

Devery's Great Excursion.

NEW YORK, July 31.—The William S. Devery fleet of two steamers and ten barges, with nearly 20,000 women and children on board, arrived safely at the Atlas pier last evening after a memorable day up the Hudson. Altogether such a tumultuous affair has rarely been witnessed along the banks of the Hudson. It was the biggest excursion that ever left a New York pier. Preparations were on a scale of lavish liberality never before approached, and it was all for the women and children of the Ninth assembly district, where Devery hopes to be elected Tammany leader.

A Twenty Million Copper Company.

SPORTING NEWS

ON THE DIAMOND.

Charley Smith, Y. M. C. A., is playing a phenomenal game in the field. At the bat he generally sends the ball for a safe one over the heads of the infield.

Scott was not seen in the St. Mary's game Saturday owing to an injury he received in practice. His place at second was ably and sensationally covered by Doyle, known to fame as "Doc."

S. S. Bowman, the new man on the Y. M. C. A. team, is reported to be a crack twirler, but it is not probable that he will appear in the box in a league game, as he is also a fast man in the field.

Burns has pitched every game for the Safe Works team so far. But there is a rumor in the air that the iron workers will shortly register a new man who will be capable of relieving Burns if the strain proves too heavy.

In every tentative nine picked by the fans to go up against Westfield the name of Allen, of the Safe Works team, was down for catcher. In his work behind the bat this season Allen has always given an exhibition of stellar baseball.

The Equitable Life team was beaten by the Pearsalls last Saturday, 5 to 1. Westfield defeated the Pearsalls, July 19, 6 to 2. The Watsessings, of Bloomfield, who defeated the Equitable Life, Decoration Day morning, go against Westfield Saturday and one of the prettiest games of the season is expected.

Monday of next week is the time that was set today for the meeting on the diamond between the firemen and police. If arrangements can be so made, this will be the first of a series of games between the two teams for the local championship. The public will be allowed to witness the first contest free of charge.

Rain stopped some one of the glory in the scheduled baseball game between the police and firemen yesterday afternoon. Each side of course claims that the other was saved from defeat by the opportune shower. The cops say they agreed to play in the rain, with their rubber coats on, but the firemen were afraid of getting wet. An early date will be arranged for the postponed meeting.

GOLF.

There will be the usual weekly competition for the President's cup at the Park Golf Club Saturday afternoon. An attempt was made to arrange a team match with the Westfield Golf Club for that date but it is doubtful whether the game will be played.

Several of the members of the Park Golf Club, who believe that there should be more opportunity for match play in the club events, have decided to offer a trophy, which will be known as the Kickers cup. There will be a qualifying round some Saturday afternoon, the same scores counting in it as are made for the President's cup. Sixteen will probably be the number to qualify. These will be paired off every succeeding Saturday until the finals.

Nearly all of the best players of the two local clubs have taken up the use of the "filled" golf balls. F. O. Reinhart has been using them for sometime and would hardly know what to do with the old kind. Every week sees a convert or two to the new style of balls. As a result, what few there were in town were immediately bought up and the local players have all sorts of troubles in securing them. Some enterprising dealer who brings a quantity here and advertising the fact will do a large business.

Lack of golf links is considerably felt by the players who make their home in Somerville. A number of the old Somerset County Club at Finderne have joined one of the local clubs and play on the Hillside and Park courses. J. C. Barcalow was one of the best of the Somerville players. He is now a member of the Park Golf Club and frequently takes takes part in the weekly competitions for the President's cup. Young Barcalow formerly attended school in this city and is well known here.

AT THE TRAPS.

The Independent Scheutzen Corps will open a contest next Wednesday for members who wish to finish their season's shooting. The shooting will begin at 1 o'clock on the Maple avenue range.

LOUDENSLAGER WON.

Present Representative Victorious Over VanSant by a Vote of 181 to 123.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Woodbury, July 31—The Congressional convention yesterday did not take long to get down to business, and, amid the cheering of the hundreds of delegates and Republican shouters, Representative Loudenslager was renominated on the first ballot by a vote of 181 to 123 for Mr. VanSant, the Camden candidate.

Loudenslager got 44 votes in Camden county, 67 in Gloucester and 70 in Salem. VanSant got 83 from Camden, 30 from Gloucester and 10 from Salem.

Before the convention assembled rumors were rife that the Camden delegation was coming down several hundred strong, and that a plan was on foot to make an alliance with the Salem county delegation and nominate a dark horse. These rumors, however, proved baseless. The convention was quiet.

Fire Scares Hotel Patrons.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Asbury Park, July 31—A slight fire at the Hotel Columbia caused a tremendous scare at 5 o'clock Tuesday while preparations for breakfast were going on. The hotel has several hundred patrons at present, who were aroused, and quickly swarmed the fire escapes half clad. The danger point was over, however, and, upon being reassured, the guests quickly returned to their rooms and beds.

Court Adjourns.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, July 31—The Union County Court yesterday held the last session for the summer and took a vacation until September 10. A. H. Barnet, a well-known cyclist, who petitioned for a license for Moffett's Hotel, Clark township, withdrew his application because of a strong remonstrance presented to court against him.

Time for Hearing Set.

Further hearing is to be given the case of Ralph I. Tolles against L. A. Hummer. Robert M. Clark, counsel for the plaintiff, has received an order from Vice Chancellor Emery setting November 18 at 10:30 o'clock in the city of Newark, as the time and place of the hearing.

Death of Mrs. Mitchell.

Mrs. Cornelia Mitchell, widow of the late James Mitchell, eighty-six years of age, died at her home on Grove street this morning after a lingering illness. The funeral services will be held at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Interment will be in Hillside cemetery.

Mother Always Keeps It Handy.

"My mother suffered a long time from distressing pains and general ill health due primarily to indigestion," says L. W. Spalding, Verona, Mo. "Two years ago I got her to try Kodol. She grew better at once and now, at the age of seventy-six, eats any thing she wants, remarking that she fears no bad effects as she has her bottle of Kodol handy." Don't waste time doctoring symptoms. Go after the cause. If your stomach is sound your health will be good. Kodol rests the stomach and strengthens the body by digesting your food. It is nature's own tonic. L. W. Randolph.

RED MEN'S PICNIC.

Big Gathering Celeorated Annual Outing in Park—Politicians Were on Hand.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Belvidere, July 31—There was a big gathering of Red Men here yesterday to celebrate their annual picnic. The public exercises were held in the park. Three bands of music, a vaudeville troop and numerous speakers kept the crowd in a good humor. Mayor Harris made the address of welcome, and was followed by Great Sachem White, Great Prophet Nowrey, Past Great Sachem Newcorn and others.

The politicians and office-holders were out in full force, and the impression seemed to prevail that Senator Cornish was repairing his fences for the fall campaign.

A big ball game between crack clubs was the feature of the day.

TAX RATES.

Increase in Tax Rates at East and West Orange.

The East Orange City Council has fixed the tax rate at 2.72. This is seven points higher than last year, five points being due to the increase in the county rate. Notwithstanding the increased expenses of the city and the amount spent for small-pox the local rate was kept down because of the large increase in valuations.

The West Orange rate is 2.78, an increase of ten points. The local raise was caused by increased expenses for schools, including the building of a new school, and by small-pox.
